

ged Storekeeper Is Murdered; No Clue To Assailants Is Discovered

dy Found Monday Morning by Customer of the most brutal crimes in the history of Dawson county was discovered Monday morning when some of the pickers went to the store of W. W. Peacock in the Grandview community to purchase groceries.

While the store open, one of them found the body of the merchant lying on the floor of a room in a pool of blood. He returned to his car and told his companion of the discovery and they immediately notified Lamesa officers.

Mr. Gus White called the sheriff, Lynn and Howard county, and Deputy Jap Randle, County Attorney Louis B. Reed and Justice of the Peace D. M. Campbell went to the store and found an inquest ordered by Justice Campbell.

Peacock, who was about 70 years of age, lived alone in the rear of his store and it is said that he kept quite a lot of money on his person at times. The purpose was missing, it is the opinion of the officers that the time of the murder was established at around 10 o'clock Sunday morning. A partially filled sack of potatoes lay near the body and it is said that he was in the act of putting the potatoes in a sack when he was killed with a single blow to the temple with a blunt instrument of some kind. This blow must have been instantly fatal as there was no sign of a struggle nor any other violence on the body.

The only clue found was a piece of about 15 inches long and over an inch thick, which was found 50 feet from the store at the side of the road. There had been some rain during the night and it was difficult to find a trail of the assailant. Officers are working on the case and hope to make progress toward the solution of the crime.

Peacock was the victim of the murder and was held from the funeral of the Higginbotham Funeral Home at Lamesa at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Peacock, who had lived in the community for more than 20 years, is survived by two brothers, C. E. Elavick and C. E. Peacock, and one sister and other relatives.

Democratic Leader Thanks Dawson Co.

Mr. Martin, county chairman of the Democratic organization, has received a receipt of a telegram from James A. Farley, which reads:

"I have not yet been notified of the exact amount this state will be expected to raise, but I am certain that we shall have little trouble in raising it, if our campaign is as successful as the pre-election drive for funds," Mr. Miller declared.

The Texas campaign fund this year was made up of the largest number of individual contributions ever made to any political campaign in the history of the state, Mr. Miller said. He estimated that more than 20,000 individual donations to the party's "war chest" were received from Texas Democrats.

Fifteen thousand postcards—used to acknowledge contributions of one dollar or less were mailed to contributors from state headquarters. Some of the officials and employees at headquarters here were busy this week preparing a tabulated report showing the amount of contributions received from each Congressional district in the state and from each county in the state.

American Legion Auxiliary Sell Poppies

As has been the custom here for many years, Buddy Poppies will be sold on the streets during Armistice season by members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fern Allen post of the American Legion.

Due to illness of the secretary, this order for the poppies was delayed several days and will likely not be here in time to sell on Armistice day itself, but Mrs. Grady Gant, president, announces that this annual sale will be conducted through the business district on Saturday.

As everyone is aware, proceeds from the sale of these poppies are turned into the state auxiliary treasury to be used for the care of families of disabled veterans, hence go to a cause in which every patriotic citizen of this country should by all means be interested.

When you come to town Saturday, put a few extra dimes in your pockets to buy a Buddy poppy; remember that these boys went through mud, rain, cold, hunger, mental and physical hell, finally giving their own lives years of torture so that you and I might still enjoy the peace and grandeur of our country. Isn't a dime a mighty little bit to pay for service of that kind?

Texas Democrats Exceed State Quota

Austin, Nov. 12.—Contributions of Texas Democrats to the Roosevelt-Garnet campaign fund exceeding those of any other state in the nation with the exception of New York. State Campaign Director, Roy Miller, announced today.

With this states contributions already approximately $275,000, or $25,000 in excess of the quarter-million-dollar quota fixed by the Democratic National committee, each mail delivery brings more funds from rural sections of the state.

But a national party deficit of approximately $500,000 exists and Texas Democrats will be asked to do their share in helping balance the Democratic party's books.

"I have not yet been notified of the exact amount this state will be expected to raise, but I am certain that we shall have little trouble in raising it, if our campaign is as successful as the pre-election drive for funds," Mr. Miller declared.

The Texas campaign fund this year was made up of the largest number of individual contributions ever made to any political campaign in the history of the state, Mr. Miller said. He estimated that more than 20,000 individual donations to the party's "war chest" were received from Texas Democrats.

Ellis Chevrolet Co. Shows New Cars

The Ellis Chevrolet had their formal presentation of the new 1937 Chevrolet, November 7, with their show room filled with all new 1937 model Chevrolets. Several hundred people inspected the new car and all came away praising the new car very highly and from all accounts sales for the next few days will be high as most everyone wants to drive one of the new cars.

Mr. Ellis reports the sale of 1937 Chevrolets to M. E. Hermann and Mr. Braswell of Lamesa.

Lem Hamilton and Bill Ellis left on Monday last week for Oklahoma City to attend the mechanics training school for the new Chevrolets, returning the sixth. They were required to dismantle the new motor and familiarize themselves with the new features of the big 85 horsepower motor.

Milk Routes Being Established by Cheese Co. Over County

As announced previously the Kraft-Phenix Cheese Corporation would open a cheese factory in the plan for the county by the new Texas Dairy Products Company. The opening date was set as November 5th and milk has been received daily at the plant since then.

The Kraft company has gone to considerable expense in remodeling and putting in cheese making equipment and can and will take care of all milk delivered to them, paying the best market prices for whole sweet milk in line with cheese prices.

Several routes have been established just as fast as the field men for the company can cover the entire county and running well into adjoining counties. Laying out these routes, so as to reach practically every milk producer, is a slow tedious job and takes considerable time. This work is being pushed just as fast as it is possible to get it done. Arrangements will be made to pick up milk for delivery at the plant daily.

The opening of the cheese plant here in Lamesa, giving the milk producers of Dawson county an all year market for any amount of milk produced, should and will be a large factor in dairy development not only in Dawson but adjoining counties as well.

Notice to Public

Due to a variety of circumstances over which I have no control, and also because of my own health, which has been gradually failing under strain of work, I have decided to retire permanently from the practice of general medicine, and hereby publicly announce that fact.

I wish to thank all my friends and patients for their interest, for the many marks of their regard to me and the members of my family, and to assure them that should I be able to help in any way, I shall be glad to assist them in their own lives.

To those who are indebted to me may I make an earnest request that you call on me and let us work out some way mutually advantageous to us all whereby I may not lose the fruits of years of labor and you may retain the full respect to which you are entitled in the knowledge that you have at least made an effort to meet all obligations.

Again thanking all my friends, I am

Will Your Name Be Next?

The past summer was one of the worst on record in the matter of automobile accidents and deaths.

And the most dangerous driving months are the ones to come—the months of rain and ice, and few daylight hours.

Every season sees better, more scientifically designed highways—and yet accidents grow worse, both in number and severity. Every year sees stronger, more easily controlled, and mechanically safe cars—yet the carnage grows.

It is true that a percentage of accidents can be directly attributed to the mechanical failure of automobiles, or to road conditions. This percentage marks but a very small part of the total of crashes. The human element is responsible, and alone responsible, for the great majority of accidents, minor or major.

Worst menace of all is the driver who attempts to push the throttle through the red board—who operates his car at excessive speeds, and excessive speed is a flexible term—there are times when fifty is safe, and fifteen too fast.

Then there are the drivers who pass on hills and curves, who hog the centerline, who allow their car to wander to the wrong side of the road—and drivers who commit a thousand and one driving errors that may save a minute and may also send themselves and others into eternity.

You see many headlines like: "Five Killed When Cars Collide." You read the names of the victims, go on to other articles and forget all about them. Next time you see such a headline just reflect that your name, or the name of a friend or loved one, may be in the next similar list of corpses. Then it won't be so easy to forget.

Centennial Will Be Reopened in 1937

Dallas, November 5.—Reopening of the Texas Centennial Exposition for a five month period in 1937 was assured this week. The Exposition, through its president, Fred F. Florence, served formal notice on the City of Dallas it would exercise its option for the use of the Exposition grounds during the coming year.

Tentative plans for the 1937 Worlds Fair are for its opening June 12 with closing set for October 31.

The decision of the Board of Directors of the Texas Centennial Exposition to reopen next year is the result of a general demand by the business interests of Dallas and Texas that the Exposition should carry on during 1937.

It is the plan of the Exposition management to make many drastic changes at the Exposition grounds.

LOCAL PEOPLE ATTEND OES GRAND CHAPTER

An important item which was accidentally omitted last week was that that Mr. and Mrs. Glen Allen, Mrs. Nayton Everett, Mrs. Waldo McLaurin and Mrs. Tom Vandell represented the local chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star at Grand Chapter at Mineral Wells two weeks ago.

They report a most enjoyable and profitable meeting.

Asperment — Planting seed for next year have been chosen by field selection from a plot of dwarf yellow milo by Willie Smith, Stonewall county farmer. Smith produced approximately 2,000 pounds per acre of the dwarf yellow milo this year by planting certified seed. Seed planted from him or common selection produced about 1000 pounds of heads per acre, according to I. L. Sturdivant, county agricultural agent. Smith states that both the certified and the common seed were planted at the same time of the year and on the same type of soil.

Pension Checks To Be Mailed November 20

Austin, Nov. 7.—Thirty-six thousand aged Texans will receive pension checks this month who will get none in December.

For several thousand of them, this month's will probably be the last pension check for many months.

The November total of 89,483 checks will probably be the largest issue by Texas for two years, possibly for ten. They are expected to be placed in the mails about November 20.

When this month's old-age assistance checks go out, extensive steps for the deliberalization ordered by the legislature will be under way.

The starting point of this is to leave on the approved rolls those pensioners who came in from relief. Those who received emergency consideration as distress cases, and those whom the state's existing records show have no property, no income, no support from children or of the eligibles.

That will leave a little less than 54,000 pensions on the roll. It will suspend payments to 36,000, pending re-examination and re-review.

There have been 21,923 applicants rejected so far, to 90,000 approved. It was found the Texas law is far more liberal than the nation's average eight times more liberal than the New York law. Federal social security board served notice it would not match pensions on so liberal a basis. The legislature cut back the grants to the basis of need, and the old-age assistance administration, just now brought under the board of control, has started the machinery for the extensive re-evaluation of the eligibles.

Texas now is paying an average of $13 a month in the counties of heavy negro population, and as high as $18 in some counties, half contributed by the state, half by the federal government.

The restrictive procedure will be applied to the remaining 98,000 of the 209,000 applications. With all the relief and distress cases weeded out, these will produce far fewer than the past percentage of eligibles. Possibly 25,000 new pensioners will be found out of these 98,000 applications.

The 36,000 withdrawn from benefits this month will be given a formal re-check whose procedure has been worked out by the state to the satisfaction of federal matching authorities.

Except for the first cases, mostly received from relief rolls and known to remain eligible, the assistance administration has compiled in its records information which will help in its re-check.

First, all the data about property, income, support from children or other relatives as shown in the case reports, will be checked. If this is adequate to pass on the case, the pension allowance will be reallocated, reduced or disallowed.

In other cases, the application and report will be passed back through the hands of district supervisors to the reviewers and interviewers, usually to the same people who prepared the original reports. In most cases, the data in the reports will be ample to permit new recommendations, under the terms of the amended law.

There will be left off a small remaining body of applications which the case workers must take and go back and re-interview the applicants. Reports on these cases will move back through channels as fast as possible, for reclassification of the records.

One cent item amounting to about $4,000,000 was saved, when the federal government refused to match retroactive payments. The original law provided for such payments, but became a nullity when it could not be put into effect, and was repealed. It means if a person filed an application in March or April and did not get it finally approved until September, pensions should date from time of filing.

The same retroactive ruling is going to save the state other millions of dollars in December of this year, and the first six months of next year.

Those who fail to get December checks in December cannot get them later. When they miss a month, or longer, it is final.

New pension payments will date only from the time of new approval of those cases withheld in the deliberalization process.

A staff of more than 100 clerks, 100 supervisors and field workers, and mechanical record making and record keeping equipment, which cost thousands of dollars will be occupied in making the voluminous and complex record of the changes in the pension allowance.

The records have been so mechanized that, despite all the detailed thought, the human element, the planning and purpose and discretion, when in December pension checks are withheld from the 36,000, the actual, physical operation of doing it will be like this.

Endless stacks of cardboard cards, each with a combination of narrow slits punched in it, will be run through electrically operated machines. An operator will set a lot of pins or tabs, corresponding to various of these holes. The cards are assorted according to the way in which the pins and holes match. In December the setting of a pin that will shut cars of a certain classification, and other pins that will file track those of other data, will be the physical gesture that removes the names of the 36,000 from the month's pension roll. When the cards are sifted out, it means no check will be written, and the persons who received earlier payments will get no December pension.

YEAR BOOK QUEENS NOMINATED AT A. C. C.

Miss Sybil Fambrough of Ackerly was elected by the Sophomore class to be one of the candidates for the "Queen of the 1937 Prickly Pear" and for the personality pages of the Abilene Christian College year book. Eighteen girls were selected in class meetings on November 4, to be candidates for the richest honor that the student publications afford.

Final selection of six girls for full page pictures in the book will be done by an expert who will consider only the special photographs of the girls which the Prickly Pear is having made, according to Batsell Barrett Baxter, editor of the year book. No further distinction according to classification will be made. Any of the eighteen candidates may be Queen of the Prickly Pear. All plans are complete and the contracts let for the 1937 book, according to the editor, and virtually all of the photographing is done.

Chevrolet Prices Show Little Change

New York, Nov. 8.—Prices for the new Chevrolet passenger cars for 1937 were announced here today by W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager, upon his arrival for the National Automobile Show.

It was revealed that for 1937 Chevrolet would have a completely new line of cars, incorporating one wheelbase and with identically the same appearance. Heretofore, there have been two distinctly different lines of cars with two length of wheelbase and quite a wide variance of specifications.

Prices of the Master Deluxe Chevrolet now cover features formerly offered as optional at extra cost, including knee-action, safety plate glass all around, fenders in color matching the body and larger tires. The individual model prices are as follows:

Coach, $595; sedan, $650; town sedan, with trunk, $820; sport sedan, with trunk, $985; business coupe, $550; sport coupe, with rumble seat, $675.

The list prices of the Master Chevrolet, which also include the added equipment except knee-action, are uniformly $60 under the Master Deluxe prices.

Body models in the Master Deluxe and Master lines are the same except that the Master cabriolet with rumble seat takes the place of a sport coupe in the Deluxe line. The Master wheelbase is 3 1/4 inches longer than that of the 1936 models and this model also includes as standard equipment synchro-mesh transmission, larger tires, safety plate glass and fenders in color to match the body.

Both models are completely new in engine, chassis and bodies, and are identical in design with the exception of knee-action and special features of equipment and interior trim supplied only in the Deluxe models.
