

MAN INJURED THURSDAY DURING EARLY MORNING FIRE

Dr. Spradlin, mechanic at the O'Donnell Motor Company and a member of the Volunteer Fire Department, received an injury to his leg during a fire at the school building Thursday morning while he was taking to a Lubbock Sunday morning for examination and treatment, and it was one of the vertebrae had broken from its place when he fell, the back of his neck on a fire in a technical sense, he received a broken neck.

A small bone was replaced and the leg was held in tape and splints to prevent its displacement, and he was able to return home late in the afternoon. He will be unable to do his place at the repair shop for several days, however.

Spradlin had been seriously injured by the effects of the misplaced strain on the spine, and an extra operation has resulted, physicians in snapping the cord.

Dr. Spradlin joins with other friends in sending best wishes for his complete recovery.

PERSONS WARNED NOT TO CASH ORDERS FOR STRANGERS

The public is warned not to cash office money orders unless the beneficiary is the person offering them, Master Hal Singleton said Monday.

Information received by Singleton from the department has been a large theft of money orders, and in an effort to protect the interests of the public.

ATTEND POLITICAL RALLY IN LUBBOCK THIS EVENING

A number of local people are planning to make their trip to Lubbock this evening to hear Ross S. Sterling in the interest of his candidacy for the second term as governor. It is expected that at least 10,000 people will be present at this meeting, and Mr. Sterling has been invited to appear in practically every town and community on the plains, according to a statement from the president of the State Government League.

Nothing prevents, some six or seven years are expected to go on this evening.

REVIVAL BEGINS HERE MONDAY MORNING

The annual Baptist revival began Monday morning of this week. The preaching services in charge of C. C. Bishop of Ft. Worth are scheduled to begin Sunday, but wishing to interrupt the revival of the Nazarene revival under the tabernacle, officials decided to postpone beginning another revival. Bishop has preached inspiring and interesting sermons, and much interest is being manifested in the meeting, so that much good is expected to come from this series of revivals.

CARRIES INSURANCE ON VOLUNTEER FIREBOYS

View of the fact that injuries recently received by two members of the local fire department, it is of interest to our readers to know that the City of O'Donnell carries accident insurance in their behalf. The insurance, we understand, is paid to all injuries received in the line of duty while the fire boys are on their way to a fire, at the fire, or returning from one.

B. L. DAVIS RESIDENCE RECEIVES IMPROVEMENT

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Davis in the north part of town has just received a thorough renovation, beginning with a stucco job done by Bill Phillips, and concluding with a paint job by Chas. Clements. The stucco is a deep cream, and the exterior paint is dark brown with touches of orange, the entire effect being exceedingly attractive. Mr. and Mrs. Davis have made this one of the homiest and prettiest places in town.

LIGHT RAIN THURSDAY HELPS GARDENS AND LAWNS

A light, scattered shower fell over part of the territory Thursday evening, which was of much benefit to gardens and lawns, which were beginning to show signs of drought.

Growing crops were in no need of moisture, and farmers are really hoping that August will pass without much, if any, rainfall, as long continued wet weather will mean the coming of leaf worms.

As nearly as we can learn, the heaviest precipitation fell in O'Donnell, rainfall being estimated at three-quarters of an inch. Lawns and gardens, which were beginning to show the effects of three weeks without rain, were much helped, and young crops also look much fresher since the light shower.

TYLER CHILD IN HOSPITAL, TO OPERATE SOON

The ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Tyler of the Joe Bailey community was taken to a Lubbock hospital Sunday suffering from an attack of appendicitis, but no operation had been performed Wednesday at noon when the Index received its report from the hospital.

The little boy was in a seriously run-down condition due to having been a victim of tuberculosis of the bone, and it is thought by the surgeons building up his strength before removing the appendix.

It was erroneously reported Tuesday afternoon that he had already undergone the operation but the report applied to another O'Donnell patient in the same hospital.

The Index joins with the other friends of the family in extending best wishes that the operation be untroubled and a speedy recovery.

DUCK SEASON IS EXTENDED A MONTH

The open season for hunting ducks and geese has been extended from one to two months for the coming fall by President Hoover at the recommendation of Secretary Hyde, the Department of Agriculture, is made possible by improvement in the situation which became serious for waterfowl after drought on their breeding grounds in 1931.

The earliest open season in any state will be October 1 and the latest opening date November 16, with the exception of Florida where the season will open November 20.

The new open season for ducks, mallards, and coots in Oklahoma is from October 16 to December 15.

In Texas it is from November 1 to December 31 in the western and northern part, and from November 15 to January 15 in the southern and eastern part.

JONES SAYS HOOVER UNFAIR TO AGRICULTURE

AMARILLO, July 30.—Charging President Hoover with unfairness and favoritism toward big business interests without regard for the farmer, Congressman Marvin Jones, chairman of the house agriculture committee, last night severely attacked the president's pocket veto of a bill to broaden loans of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to farmers.

"If the $80 million dollars commitment to Mr. Dawes to save his bank can be justified, certainly it seems that 125 million dollars to tide emergency farmers over is a great emergency would have been justified. I regret that the president can not get the view point of American agriculturists. He made a great mistake," Mr. Jones said.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bradley had as their guest last week, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lattimore of Lubbock. Mrs. Bradley will be head of the English department in the high school here this year.

INCREASE IN MONEY ORDER FEES QUOTED

A boost in the fees to be charged for the issue of domestic money orders became effective on July 29. This increase will amount to one cent for all money orders up to and including twenty dollars, according to postmaster, Hal Singleton.

Another change is that permits to mail third class matter without stamps affixed as nonmetered mail under the provisions of this section shall be accompanied by a fee of ten dollars. This does not apply to letters who have already taken out a permit, but to new ones. Heretofore no charges have been made for permits. If no mailings are made by the permit holders within twelve months, his permit shall be revoked and an application for another must be made, accompanied by the fee.

Registered mail fees have also increased, Mr. Singleton said. Sixty-five dollars, fifteen cents; more than five and not exceeding twenty-five dollars, eighteen cents; twenty-five and not exceeding fifty dollars, twenty-cents, etc.

MATHIS CHANGE RESIDENCE; MOVE TO HOWARD HOUSE

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Mathis moved Monday of this week from the Kelly house in the south part of town to the Howard residence on Sixth street, Mr. and Mrs. Howard moved the same day to their residence just west of the Will Brown place.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathis are to be congratulated on securing so convenient and attractive a residence. The stucco house is well-planned and decorated, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard have made it one of the loveliest little homes in town, with well cared-for lawn and grounds and shrubbery.

GERALD COX UNDERGOES OPERATION TUESDAY

Gerald Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Cox of the New Moore community, was taken to a Lubbock hospital Monday afternoon, and underwent an operation for appendicitis Tuesday afternoon.

Reports received here Wednesday are that he stood the operation in fine fashion, and is getting along nicely.

Gerald went to school in O'Donnell some two or three years ago, and is well known to most people in the town and territory.

The Index joins with other friends in hoping for a continuation of this favorable progress.

The meeting will begin promptly at four o'clock, Mrs. Bradley said, and all members are urged to be present for this, one of the most important meetings of the year.

FAIR PLANS CONTINUE, EVERYONE INTERESTED

The full program for the Community Fair to be held here next month will be ready for publication next week, according to a statement from R. H. Mathis, director general, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Mathis says that the entertainment committee will have an unusually interesting and worthwhile day's fun and enjoyment ready for the people who come in to help make the fair one of the biggest events of the year.

Chairmen from the various committees have been working on the matter of exhibits, and without exception their reports are exceedingly favorable. Apparently every man and woman and most of the children in this territory feel a personal responsibility for the success of the fair, which is just as it should be.

While most of the actual responsibility is vested in the board of directors and the committees, each one of us must make some contribution to the sum total in order that our fair may be one of the best, if not the best, community fair on the South Plains this year.

Directors in charge of the various departments are all experienced and fitted for their places, and each one is working each day to make his or her department successful from every standpoint. The board and chairmen of the committees again urge each one to feel that this fair is OUR fair, and that it's up to US to make it so over with a bang.

Boys and girls—talk it and plan for it, and bring in an exhibit of some kind—canned goods, livestock, poultry, agricultural or textile. Look among your family treasures and belongings for something that is grand and useful, or something that Aunt Sophronia made and bring it in to be listed among the exhibits in that department. Every family in this territory has something which will be of interest to their neighbors and friends. Round these things up and bring them in to OUR fair.

Rev. and Mrs. L. S. Jenkins and family returned Thursday from Sudan, where he has been holding a meeting.

VERSATILE THIEF MAKES HAULS HERE WEDNESDAY

Perhaps someone made a derogatory remark concerning his versatility, or perhaps he just wanted to see for himself what he could do. At any rate a petty thief ran circles around himself here Wednesday night and got away with gas, a pig, and a license plate, the depositions beginning at one end of town and winding up at C. J. Beach's hog pasture north of town. He seemed to have spite against Mr. Beach, as he robbed him of a license plate and 2 fine young pigs.

The gas, about ten gallons, was taken from a pump at the Highway Garage during that short period when Houston has been in charge. He was drinking his midnight coffee, and it is supposed that the other burglaries were committed about the same time.

Officers are working on the case and expect to trace the clues to the thief within the next few days.

REVIVAL CLOSURE TUESDAY AT CHURCH OF CHRIST

The revival which has been under way for the past ten days at the Church of Christ closed Tuesday evening with several conversions and additions to the church.

Evangelist James H. Childress of Houston has been in charge of the preaching services, and has delivered a connected series of splendid sermons, especially interesting were the "blackboard sermons" with their clearly defined points.

BURNETT IN MEETING AT RANDALL THIS WEEK

Rev. W. R. Burnett, pastor of the local Methodist church, is conducting a revival at Randall school building this week, with services at 8:30 each evening.

Attendance has been exceptional, good. Rev. Burnett said Wednesday, and much interest is being manifested.

Everyone is cordially invited to come and work with these splendid people. The preacher and the folks of our community will welcome all who care to come and take a part in the meeting.

NEW GARDEN PLANT OF INTEREST HERE

Mr. and Mrs. N. Saleh have a plant in their vegetable garden which is attracting interest of their neighbors, and which is a new variety to the country. At least, we have failed to meet anyone who was familiar with chery.

Mr. Saleh obtained the seeds from the old country, he said, and sowed a bed in his garden. The leaves, which are used as a salad, are a deep green with a vein of a reddish tint.

They are shaped somewhat on the order of lettuce leaves but are thicker and have a slightly bitter taste until combined with a french dressing. Like mint, a bed once started continues to grow until it is forcibly removed, the plants seed themselves, and a salad green among their countrymen, Mrs. Saleh said.

While discussing their garden, Mr. Saleh remarked that he believed they had some of the tallest corn in the country, and also mentioned his plan for planting radishes every two weeks. They are now eating the products of the ninth planting.

They have generously offered to divide chery seed with anyone interested in it, an offer which the Index passes along to its readers.

Miss Pauline Wheeler spent the week-end in town with Miss Wynona Huff.

Way Guy returned Friday morning from an extended vacation with friends and relatives in Breckenridge and Ft. Worth. He will again take up his regular bi-weekly broadcasts over KFYO.

Miss Edith Dean of Lamesa was the guest Sunday evening of Mrs. Naymon Everett.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Haynes took Mrs. R. C. Carroll to Lubbock Saturday evening, and visited with Mr. Carroll, who is in a hospital there, and also with Mr. Hayme's brother, Rev. Joe Haymes, and family.

POCKETBOOK FOUND SATURDAY, LOST SINCE HOLIDAYS

Mrs. Roy D. Smith is a firm believer in miracles since Saturday afternoon, and the reason for it is that her pocketbook containing more than seventy-three dollars in money and other valuables was found after being lost eight months.

On Tuesday before Christmas, Mrs. Smith brought to market all her chickens and turkeys, and sold them. After attending to several matters of business in and around town, she was making preparations to return home when she discovered that her pocketbook was gone from the pocket of her sweater. She went back over her route, searching and making inquiries, but no trace of the purse could be found, so the lady resigned herself to the loss of the profits of a season's work.

Saturday at noon A. H. Koeninger, well-known business man, citizen and president of the school board, spied a glint of metal and leather near the driveway at the Highway Garage, and casually kicked it as he passed.

When he did, he found that it was the long-lost purse with its contents intact (excepting the watch, which was completely smashed). It had evidently fallen from Mrs. Smith's pocket as she walked away from the garage that day after leaving her car to be worked on. The streets were muddy at the time, and no doubt the pocketbook was soon covered beyond detection, and has remained there until other rains, winds, and the street grader uncovered it. The imprint of the purse and its contents were so vivid when the purse was moved that the entire time.

Needless to say, Mrs. Smith was delighted and profoundly grateful to the finder who returned her property within the hour.

SCATTERED SHOWERS WEDNESDAY BENEFIT CROPS

A light shower which spotted the O'Donnell territory early Wednesday morning was of much benefit to the young crops planted after earlier ones were haled out. Not more than half an inch was reported from any part of the section, but all received part of the rainfall.

The territory west of town, particularly the New Moore territory, received a good shower Monday afternoon, and other sections reported a varying amount of moisture.

Some have expressed the fear that a long continuation of present weather will delay maturing of cotton as well as cause a loss of leaf worms. So far no worms have been reported in the fields, but they are working havoc on trees here in town.

Melons and gardens as well as growing crops are suffering much since the beginning of the showers, and prospects are that more than enough melons for the local market will be raised in our territory this year.

RETURN SUNDAY FROM EXTENDED VACATION

Mrs. A. J. Austin and daughters, Misses LuVenja and Charise Wanda, returned Sunday of last week from a three months' vacation trip which took them to some half-dozen points of interest in New Mexico and Texas.

Albuquerque, North Garcia, and South Garcia, and Blue Water were visited in New Mexico, and Houston, Galveston, and eastern Texas cities were on the itinerary in our own state.

They report a wonderful trip, and that each one is feeling tip top since the change of scenery and climate.

CROP PROSPECTS BRIGHTER THAN EVER BEFORE

With the most phenomenal boost in cotton prices in the past ten years taking place over the week-end, and with prospects for a bumper cotton crop in this territory, farmers and business men are more optimistic than they have been in years.

Farms from all parts of the trade territory are confidently predicting a half-bale average, with numbers of them anticipating a bale to the acre. Bolls are maturing rapidly in spite of the cool damp weather this week, and stalks are literally loaded with blooms square, and bolls, with no indication so far of pests of any kind to disturb the progress of the best cotton crop O'Donnell had had since 1927.

Though maize and corn prices have not improved in proportion to that of cotton, hope started the climb back to normalcy, and the grain can be made to realize more than fifteen dollars per ton, according to experiments from the farm at A & M, when used in feeding hogs.

Much of the territory has young cotton, and everyone is hoping for a late frost so that it will have time to put on its full ration of fruit.

Every week there is something in the Advance that some reader does not like. The editor, above all other persons, can sympathize with you, for in nearly ever issue there is something in the Advance that the editor does not like, but in addition to having to read it, as you do not, he has to set it in type, proof it, read the proof make it up in a page print it, and buy the paper to print it on, and then pay postage on it as the papers goes to subscribers. If we don't like it why do we print it? Because we do not print only the things we like. We are not publishing a paper for ourselves. We intend to print those things that the people of the community have a right to have printed. We no doubt make many mistakes in printing what should not be printed and in not printing that which should be printed, but we are trying to serve the people and not please ourselves. We would not do all this work and go to the expense of printing things for our pleasure. We can have a lot more fun playing golf than setting type—Rotan Advance.

MORE BREAD, AND LESS SLUSH NEEDED

The public is now being regaled with the news that $10,000,000 will have to be raised to conduct the Hoover-Roosevelt battle for the presidency. In 1928 the two parties spent a total of $16,500,000.

When the politicians of both parties are telling how much money it will take to conduct the Hoover-Roosevelt battle for the people this winter, it looks like an economic crime to raise $10,000,000 to be spent in black-guarding opening candidates.

Let both parties, if they are sincere in their advertised desire to help the needy, donate their millions to campaign funds for relief work this winter. And let the people vote a normal manner in their political choice, free from the high-pressure influence of a $10,000,000 slush fund.—Exchange.

LEST WE FORGET

That the U. S. Government about six years ago withdrew government aid from the Texas Highway Department and that it was Governor Sterling as chairman of the Highway Department, who went to Washington and got this aid restored.

If we should lose government aid now, there would not be a possible chance to get our highways No. 70 and 83 completed much less to have the State of Texas take over our county highway bonds which can never be paid by the taxes on property of our county.

We forget that Gov. Sterling went into the East Texas oil fields with military rule and saved the state the sum of $5,000,000 in revenue besides saving land owners of East Texas as thousands of dollars in royalty. The State budget was balanced and five-cent reduction was made in our State tax rate.—Exchange.

THE COMMERCIAL USE OF TEXAS HIGHWAYS IS A PRIVILEGE, NOT A RIGHT

● The highways of Texas are the property of its citizens. They constitute a system of nearly 200,000 miles of road of which 20,000 miles are designated as State highways and the remainder are county roads. All types of road are represented in this system, less than 5% have so-called "permanent" surface.

The total cost of these highways is unknown but it amounts to many hundred million dollars. From 1917 to 1930, inclusive, counties and road districts of the State issued $243,592,834 in bonds for the construction and improvement of roads and bridges. In the two-year period ending August 31, 1930, the State Highway Commission expended $89,032,825, of which $22,488,426 was for maintenance of the State highways.

In view of these tremendous costs the preservation of our highways from rapid wear and destruction is a matter of very vital interest to their owners, viz., the public. It is especially important that they be made to outlast the life of the bonds, which run from 20 to 30 years.

The use of the public highways for commercial purposes is not a right but a privilege which may be withheld or granted subject to such restrictions, regulations and charges as the Legislature may see fit to impose. Such regulations are intended to promote safety, preserve the highways and safeguard the interests of the public.

Texas Railroads, which pay the entire cost of construction and maintenance of their own roadbeds and, in addition, make substantial contributions to the cost of Texas highways, are thoroughly regulated with respect to their services, rates, methods and practices. There is no good reason why commercial users of the highways, built and maintained at the expense of the public, should not likewise be regulated to such extent as the public interest requires and pay such charges as will represent proper compensation for the privileges granted them.

● The statutes governing highway transportation as enacted by the Forty-second Legislature represent the wishes of the citizens of this State and express their desire to give equal rights to all and special privileges to none. These statutes should be given a fair trial and their value ascertained. Unless this is done, a chaotic condition in transportation as a whole will surely ensue.

Feeding Laying Hens

farmers and poultrymen who expect to reap the benefits of the increased egg prices which usually exist during the fall and winter months should now begin getting their flocks in condition for heavy egg production. It takes from six to eight weeks of careful feeding to get hens in top condition.

The hen might be compared to a modern manufacturing plant which consumes large quantities of raw products and converts them all into finished products. If the supply of raw materials is not adequate the factory must be stopped until an additional supply of this raw material is brought in. Likewise, the hen takes into her body certain feeds which she digests and then converts into eggs. If the hen fails to get all the necessary ingredients which go to make up the egg, she must stop laying.

Actual feeding trials have shown that the average hen consumes from five to eighty-five pounds of feed per year depending upon the size of the bird. Out of this amount the hen must first satisfy her own body needs. The remainder of the feed is converted into eggs, provided the hen has consumed make a balanced ration containing all of the ingredients which go to make up the egg.

Many people think that hens will lay just as many eggs when fed a straight grain ration as they will when fed grain with mash and minerals also. This is a mistaken idea. It has been found from feeding experiments conducted by our State Experiment Stations that no hen will lay more than eighty eggs per year when fed a straight grain ration. The grain feed is only about one-half of the hen's ration. Hens fed a straight grain ration put on body weight and many people say that such hens are fat to lay eggs. This is another mistaken idea that people have about poultry. Scientists have examined the bodies of such hens and have come to the conclusion that the reason why extremely fat hens do not lay many eggs is because they do not get enough of the necessary ingredients which go to make up the egg whites and the egg shells. Inside the bodies of extremely fat hens can be found numerous egg yolks hanging to the egg cluster. Many of these yolks will be full size ready to be laid but the hen can not lay them because she has no material with which to form the white of the egg and the shell of the egg. These fully formed egg yolks remain inside of the hen for a few days and are finally absorbed by the hen's body which causes her to become heavier than ever.

The grain portion of a hen's ration adds body weight and causes the egg yolk to develop but adds very little towards the formation of the whites and shells. The mash part of the ration, if properly balanced, furnishes the protein out of which the egg whites are formed. The mineral portion of the ration which usually consists of oyster shells furnishes the lime out of which the egg shell is formed.

Farmers who have plenty of milk for their hens, will find the following ration most satisfactory. For the mash portion of this ration, mix up one hundred pounds of corn or milo meal, one hundred pounds of ground oats, two hundred pounds of finely ground wheat. If no wheat is available, one hundred pounds of wheat bran and one hundred pounds of wheat shorts may be substituted for the two hundred pounds of finely ground wheat. The scratch part of this ration should be made up of three pounds of shelled corn or threshed milo with one pound of whole wheat.

The mash should be placed in a self-feeder and kept before the flock at all times. The flock should be given all of the scratch grain that they will clean up each day just before the birds go to roost. By following this practice, the birds go to roost with full crops and have all night in which to digest the grain which they have eaten.

Birds fed according to this practice will get off the roost with an empty crop and will be far more active and will consume more of the mash feed than they would had they been fed grain early in the morning. For those farmers who do not have plenty of milk to feed their hens, the following ration is recommended to give satisfactory results in egg production. For the mash part of this ration, mix up one hundred pounds of corn or milo meal, one hundred pounds of ground oats, two hundred pounds of finely ground wheat, one hundred pounds of meat scrap of 50 per cent protein, and one-half pound of salt per one hundred pounds of feed. Again it is all right to substitute one hundred pounds of wheat shorts and one hundred pounds of wheat bran for the two hundred pounds of finely ground wheat if there is no wheat available. For the scratch part of this ration, mix up two pounds of cracked corn or milo, one pound of whole wheat, and one pound of oats. This scratch feed should also be fed to the flock at night just before the birds go to roost.

There are also several prepared commercial feeds on the market that have given excellent results. Commercial feeds for poultry says the time and trouble of mixing the ration at home but in cases where the farmer has plenty of home grown feeds, it is generally considered cheaper and more practical to mix the poultry ration on the farm.

Poultry experts tell us that when eggs are selling for less than 6c per dozen, it does not pay to feed poultry for egg production. During the past several months, egg prices have been unusually low and very few farmers have been feeding their hens anything more than just a little grain each day. Those farmers who did this used excellent judgement, but now that egg prices are likely to advance during the coming Fall. Winter months, a different feeding program should be adopted. The flock should be put on a balanced ration now so that by the time Fall gets here, the birds will be laying at their best. Those farmers and poultrymen who go to a little extra trouble and expense with their poultry now, will likely be well repaid for their efforts this coming Fall and Winter when eggs are selling around thirty cents per dozen.

LASATER PROPHECY OF HOOVER ADMINISTRATION COMES TRUE

(Editors Note.—The following article was published in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram in its issue of Tuesday, October 16, 1928. This article was re-published in the Cranbyton Review recently, and The Index is printing it in full to show the fulfillment of the prophecy, and proof that Hoover is re-elected.)

"DALLAS, Oct. 15.—It would be a terrible blow to the hopes and aspirations of the average man and woman of America if Herbert Hoover should be elected President of the United States and his election would work irreparable harm to the American ideal of government, it was declared in a formal interview here Monday by Ed C. Lasater of Falfurries.

"Lasater took sharp issue with the declarations of Secretary of the Treasury, Andrew W. Mellon, made in a radio address at Washington on the night of Oct. 11, in which Mellon gave unstinted praise to the Republican party for its 'fulfillment of promise' and to Hoover as the ideal man to carry out the 'prosperity program' of that party.

"Lasater was war time associate and subordinate of Hoover as United States Food Administrator.

"Prior to the World War period, Lasater had achieved national-wide prominence by virtue of his activities among livestock producers. In Texas he had been prominent in the 'Bull Moose' movement that attended Theodore Roosevelt's candidacy for the presidency in 1912. He had been the Republican nominee for Governor in Texas. He had been among the most active officers of the American National Livestock Association, and the Cattle Raisers Association. He was regarded as a natural choice when, as Food Administrator, Hoover called him in July, 1917, to be the chief of the division of Livestock and Animal Food Products. He had not arrived in that office four months before he was moved to tender his resignation in a two sentence letter that contained this one declaration:

"I do so because I have become convinced that the policies which control it are harmful to the common welfare."

"After his connection with the United States Food Administration had been severed Lasater wrote:

"I was convinced that the action of Mr. Hoover as Food Administrator destroyed the confidence of the farmers and stock raisers in the fairness of their Government, caused directly an incalculable loss to them as a body with the effect of financial ruin to many, and above all, put this nation in a position where, if the war had lasted the expected five years, or had continued one year longer than it did, it would have been impossible to produce the necessary fats and meat supplies for the Allies and ourselves. If Mr. Hoover's 'policy of reason' will, we meant anything, we might well under circumstances have been faced with defeat.

"I sincerely believe," Lasater said, "that I am no alarmist and I know that I am utterly sincere in the fears I entertain of the dominion of this country's affairs by a man of Mr. Hoover's mental attitude. I believe that accepting all my powers of reasoning that no more dreadful thing could come to the masses of the country than for Herbert Hoover to be elected the president of the United States. I sat by his side for months, I examined his mind as he examined mine, when we sat in council over the food problems of the war. I believe I know his sympathies—and he has none for the common man. I came to believe as we sat and tried to solve the problems that came to us, that he looks on the American farmer precisely as he had looked on the coolies who had worked under direction in China. Mr. Hoover is not a conservationist and he never was. He has been always the exploiter and he knows naught of men as units of society and industry but to exploit them as the agent of big business that he is and ever will be whether as Secretary of Commerce, President of the United States or promoter of mining enterprises. A great number of the people have been hypnotized by a myth of a man who does not and never has existed.

"The Hoover that I knew in 1917, when the producers of agriculture and livestock needed a friend and found none in Mr. Hoover, has not changed his spots. I believe it is conceded now by all persons, and certainly Secretary Mellon not only concedes but boasts, that all is well with the commercial and industrial fabric of the country, but no man will say that prosperity has blessed the pocketbook of the man who produces agricultural commodities in any of its forms. For every hour of the time that Mr. Hoover has been a member of the cabinet of two presidents agriculture has stood in need of a friend in the Government. Of all the men who have sat in those two cabinets he had most reason to know, beyond all peradventure of doubt, that the rest of this country was prosperous at the expense of the producers of our basic wealth. In repeat admiration Mr. Hoover has been called Secretary of Commerce and under-secretary of all other departments. When he took his seat in the cabinet the pleas of the producers of this country for a square deal were still ringing in his ears. He has made no move to give them even the semblance of a square deal and promises of Herbert Hoover to bring relief to agriculture when he is a candidate for President of the United States are worse than idle, these are little short of insults to the intelligence of the American producers of raw material."

Women who patronize Conoco Service Stations are delighted with the courtesy and helpfulness of Conoco salesmen. There is nothing forward or obtrusive about their service, but it has the little touches of respect and thoroughness that make it pleasing.

Conoco men always see that your windshield is polished clean, that your tires are checked accurately and that the radiator is filled . . . without splashing. They are glad to furnish battery water, if you desire.

Women are especially pleased with the spotless, plainly marked Conoco rest-rooms which are available for them.

Women who are traveling by car find Conoco service invaluable.
