HIS WEEK IN AUSTIN -

Preston Smith, Senator, 28th atorial District

A red hot issue which will bring untry boys of the Legislature of their seats is the recommen-ion of Gov. Daniel that the farm market road program be trans-red from the State's general fund to highway funds. Daniel insists the transfer, hether for two years or permanntly, will not damage the program.

But the transfer of the $15 millannual obligation will cut the Texas highway program by that amount annually. The goat will be the primary and state road system. he in-between of the farm-to-market construction program which is perpetuated by the mandatory mud to pavement spending pro-gram and the gigantic interstate highway construction program which is sustained mostly with ederal funds.

A joker in the state highway program consistently pointed out by the highway department is that after spending earmarked funds for arm to maket construction, and the state's 10 percent matching funds for the interstate construction, there remains the state obligation of maintenance on the entire farm to market system and the largely federally financed interstate system. But with practically all of the money earmarked for building. here is very little left to keep them from deteriorating thru lack of

The farm to market road program was one of the most important ever adopted by Texas in the develop-ment of its outstanding highway system. Texas has something over 30,000 miles of this relatively inexpensive construction, but roads located where traffic would not ustify the building of the US-des gnated highways or state-designated highways.

Ao proposal has been made, and one will be made, to abandon the program bearing the name of farm o market roads. It has too much support for that. Significantly, much of the support comes from business and industry interests of the cities with the the cities, which share with the farmers and the ranchers the benet of good transportation to and om the remotest rural areas. The program will continue, and more roads will be linked up as needed, whether the money comes out of the general fund's deficit or the highway fund's surplus.

Actually, one of the main pro-blems of the highway department, increasing the load of maintenance costs of the farm roads, is that e roads are so much more connient in many instances that the eavy truckers insist on using the The roads are not built heavily enough to support the heaviest legal traffic and often a truck will seriously damage a strip of farm road by a single trip over it. Thus maintenance is made more necessary and more expensive.

A "periodic check-up" is simply a careful medical study of a presumably healthy person, performed by the family physician to detect disease or body malfunction in an early stage. Early treatment reduces sufferisg and prevents some dis-eases from becoming cronic, and perhaps incurable.
