For outstanding service to the nation, two of the navy's current heroes were honored by Secretary Frank Knox (center). Lieut. John D. Bulkeley (right) received the Navy Cross, in addition to the Army Distinguished Service Cross he held previously. Lieut. Comm. Richard E. Hawes was awarded a gold star to accompany Navy Cross he had already received.

U. S. AIR MISSION:
Bad News for Reich

First body blows by the United States against Nazi Germany will be delivered from the air, it was forecast when Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, head of the U. S. army air forces and Rear Adm. John H. Towers, chief of naval aeronautics, arrived in London to "consult with British officials on details of Anglo-American military co-operation."

Air raids of a magnitude and destructiveness such as the world has never before seen will eventually be the sequel to plans perfected at the conferences, observers declared. In creating a second front against Germany, American planes and fliers operating with the British to bomb German factories, defenses and communications would be under their own command.

The "softening up" process forecast by joint American and British air offensives over the Reich would, it was believed, be a prelude to invasion by United Nations' land forces of the continent of Europe later on. This was confirmed by a statement of Lieut. Gen. Somerville that "America is ready to supply men and materials on a large scale to a European front."

The American air mission in Britain was regarded as a logical corollary to Gen. George C. Marshall's London conference on strategy recently. The U. S. army chief of staff's talks with Prime Minister Churchill and British chiefs of staff were known to have covered every war zone including Russia.

600 MILLION:
Fund for Housing

The appropriation of an additional $600,000,000 to provide living quarters for 1,600,000 war workers who will migrate to munitions producing centers was asked by President Roosevelt in a message to congress. Congress had previously appropriated $1,020,000,000 for war housing to provide shelter for workers producing essential munitions.

Mr. Roosevelt said in his message that while workers are being obtained locally as far as possible and new sources of labor supply are being called on, it will be necessary for at least 1,600,000 to move to centers of war activity during the coming year. Existing structures

LYBIAN FRONT:
Active Again

Although the weather timetable said it was too late in the season, active warfare flared again in the Lybian desert when Nazi Gen. Erwin Rommel's armored units opened an offensive against British forces south of Tobruk.

In the opening phases of what was regarded as Rommel's long-awaited general attack, the British held the upper hand and repulsed and inflicted heavy losses on the Nazis in a series of fierce tank battles.

British tank units were strongly supported by squadrons of Royal Air force planes, according to communiques from Middle East headquarters. The German army was reported operating with stronger air forces.

Observers speculated about what foxy General Rommel had up his sleeve. A master of "feinting" tactics, the Nazi leader was believed by some experts to be making a token thrust against the British southern flank in order to screen a general advance eastward along the coast toward Egypt.

TWO NEW ALLIES:
Mexico and Brazil

More effective measures against the submarine menace along the Atlantic seaboard and in Latin-American waters were forecast through the co-operative action of Brazil and Mexico in joining the United Nations' warfare against the Axis.

Operating under "shoot on sight" orders, Brazilian airmen were reported to have sunk three U-boats lurking off their northern coast. Brazil had to send her armed forces into action, said an air ministry communique, "to safeguard our sovereignty and the lives of our undefended sailors." Seven Brazilian ships had been torpedoed.

Mexico's action likewise came after the sinking of two of her ships. "We recognize the limits of our military resources," said President Camacho, "but we shall respond to the aggression of our adversaries, collaborating energetically in safeguarding America."

JOB FREEZE:
Aids War Output

In answer to the growing practice of "pirating" war workers from one industry to the other by inducements of higher wages and other incentives, the War Manpower commission moved drastically to hold "essential" workers in critical war industries and agriculture in their present jobs.

Primary purpose of the action was to step up war production hampered by shifts of workers.

Officials said the United States Employment service would be designated as the sole hiring agent for vital war industries. It was indicated that the service would be empowered to prevent any employed from leaving one job for another, except in cases where his skills were needed for a particular task and where there was a shortage of skilled labor.

Men in key positions would not be subject to military service under the draft deferment provisions of the proposal.

WAR WIVES' AID:
U. S. Is Generous

Substantial financial aid for the families and dependents of enlisted Uncle Sam's armed forces approved by the senate military committee, when members an allowance scale beginning in a month for wives.

A benefit system worked out by committee included a much more liberal war risk insurance plan than in World War No. 1.

The program's provisions would start with a government allowance of $28 per month for a wife with no child, to which would be added $22 from the monthly pay of her husband. A wife with one child would receive $40 from the government, plus the $22 allotted from the soldier's pay and $10 for each additional child.

In case of a soldier with parents, brothers, sisters or grandchildren dependent on him, an additional scale of benefits was provided, including $15 for one parent, $25 for two and $5 for additional B class dependents.

MISCELLANY:

Washington: Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, chairman of the naval affairs committee, predicted the Atlantic coast submarine menace will be "increasingly checked" through new plans being put into effect by the navy.

New Delhi: Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, British commander for Burma and India, disclosed that 80 per cent of the Imperial troops sent into Burma had been safely returned to the Indian frontier.

ARMY AIR SCHOOL

MIAMI BEACH, FLA.—It is very good to be back in Miami Beach, for I have looked upon the past few winters as a very pleasant place to rest. This year I have taken no holiday during the winter. I can hardly call the three months spent here now a complete period of rest, but they certainly have been both interesting and enjoyable.

I have seen a number of people who were glad to see me again. The technical school, which has just been established here, is one of the most interesting of the army air training centers. General Wavell was most kind and showed me the various things they are doing. Col. Horace Smith, who was a White House aide, did everything possible to make us comfortable and happy while we were here.

The representatives of the War Relief Administration took us to see the various improvements which have been made in the camps for migratory workers since I was last here. I was glad to have another opportunity to see the change that has come about in the living conditions of these workers, whose efficiency is so important to our production in this war period.

VICTORY BOOK CAMPAIGN

I felt I had hardly been away from the days in Miami Beach were full of interest. I have just been notified of a new idea which is being sponsored by the Victory Book Campaign, and which I hope will be successful. A number of college presidents and a small student group have formed a committee to organize that, at commencements, throughout the country bring a book with a personal autograph to some member of the armed forces. I ought to bring in a great many books and I hope will be a widely observed custom.

The Navy Relief society is joining with the Army Emergency relief in undertaking more work than has ever been done before for the families of the men in service. Up to this time, the navy has always taken care of its own people. For the first time, through a series of special events, they are asking the general public to join with them in raising their funds. I am sure there is going to be a very warm response.

From these funds the navy will lend money to the families of men who find themselves temporarily in need of assistance. Where the needs, social security and the Cross gifts do not completely take care of any home situation, the Navy Relief will be able to help in three branches of its service—the navy, marine corps and coast guard. These are war time appeals I am sure we shall be anxious to meet, so that no community will have difficulty in raising its quota.

WASHINGTON.—I had an interesting morning visiting one of the First I went to the school which Diana Hopkins has attended this winter—St. Agnes Episcopal school in Alexandria, Va., of which Mrs. Helen Macan is principal. The school is situated on Bishop Lloyd's old family estate. There are only a small number of boarders so that there can be a feeling of real home life. The additional number of day scholars allows for rubbing up against more varieties of human beings, which I think is very good for young people.

The staff seems to me very remarkable, for we went into no classroom where there did not seem to be absorbed attention on the part of the students. They go from kindergarten to high school and the school has just won a much-coveted standing in the state both in Latin and French. Something which seems to me almost as important as the educational side of the school is the evident realization by the students that their student government belongs to them and, having made the rules, they must abide by them. In study hall, there was no teacher, but I never saw a quieter and more orderly study period.

SPEEDY MOBILIZATION

As I think it over, the most interesting thing being done by the air corps at the technical training school in Miami, Fla., was the effort to classify men by examination and interview. As the man in charge told me, they are really trying to find round pegs and put them in round holes.

The other thing which impressed me was the speed of organization. It is barely two months since this set-up was started, and yet everything is running smoothly.

RUSSIA AND CHINA RELIEF

I hope that the magnificent effort which the Russians have made will spur all the organizations throughout this country to do all they can for Russian Relief. I was sorry not to be able to attend a meeting for this purpose in Miami or Los Angeles, for both places asked me. However, I am quite sure that my presence was not needed.

We owe so much to Russia and China today and we can only express our gratitude by sending them all we can in relief funds.

SADDLE and RIDE

By ERNEST HAYCOX WNU-Release

THE STORY SO FAR: As a rancher, Morgan knows he must fight rustlers. But he doesn't like the methods used against them by big ranchers like Herendeen. Determined to play a hard hand rather than a crooked one, he defends the rustler, Ollie Jacks, when he is freed after his trial for stealing Herendeen's cattle. Herendeen promises to leave Jacks alone as long as he doesn't try to leave town. Morgan and his nine-year-old daughter, Janet, go to the cemetery where his wife is buried. Although two women, Catherine Grant and Ann McGarrath, are in love with him, Morgan cannot forget his wife, who had hated him and believing she should have married Herendeen. On their way back to town they see Ollie Jacks ride away. So it is no surprise when Morgan learns a little later that Jacks has been killed. Herendeen had kept his word and no more.

He sent his deep, blunt call at the shack, "Hey—come out here."

CHAPTER III

Clay Morgan ate breakfast by lamplight and was in the saddle before day crossed the eastern hills. Harry Jump and Cap Vermilye were in the Haycreek Hills, leaving only Mose, too old for such riding, and the Mexican cook, Panning, on the ranch. Morgan said to himself: "I'll probably be back after dark. Put some new crosspieces on the front gate—it's coming apart." He set forth southward across his ranch. At this elevation the night was sharp enough to bite through his vest and cotton shirt. The big horse shot away on a run. Morgan let him have his run.

watched the pale and heatless flame rise. He was across from Clay Morgan; his eyes searched the crowd. The edges of his vest fell away from the rounds of his shoulders and the deep stretch of his chest; his big arms and torso; it was a muscular bigness, a bigness of thick bones. "Lige," he said, "I hear there's a new homesteader come to the spring Jim Spackman used to squat on." "I heard so," said Lige White. "We'll warn him out of there tomorrow," said Herendeen. But when he stopped talking Clay Morgan knew he wasn't finished. Herendeen's thoughts were on his face, for everybody to see. "Or maybe we've got some great big soul in this crowd whose heart bleeds for people like that. Seems to be a hell of a lot of charity around here lately."

Herendeen pushed his horse over the yard, bound away for his ranch. As he followed the net of trails leading upward to the Mogul, Hack Breathitt had no cares and no serious thoughts. This was a fine, warm day. Ahead of him on the pine-shadowed trail occasional golden shafts of sunlight slanted through the tree tops. Here and there a swirl of dust showed where an antelope had been a moment before. The silence was thick and held its rank scent of resin; and at intervals Hack sang incomplete bits of such songs as he knew, the sound of that going out around him in widening waves. Dusk caught him in this rough land, still without any thought of direction; at full dark he turned a bend of the trail and saw firelight pulse against the side of a near-by ravine.

Morgan swayed forward to lift a burning sage stem from the fire; its oil-bright glow flickered against his cheeks, against his eyes. This silence held its waiting and its reserve. Morgan tossed the sage stem back into the fire, drawing a sharp glance from Charley Hillhouse. Lige White uncomfortably crossed his feet. Gurd Grant crouched by the blaze and revealed nothing on his scrupulously neutral face. Morgan relaxed gently on his shoulder blades and pillowed his head against the saddle. He said nothing but he saw the changing expression on Herendeen's cheeks. Herendeen had braced himself for trouble, he had maneuvered this talk around to make a break; but nothing happened and he stood a moment, uncertain and displeased, and afterwards walked away.

Somebody rode along the near-by trail slowly, and stopped. Hack Breathitt held his position, too clear of conscience to move. He poised the cigarette between his fingers, hearing the rider poke up the ravine. The rider said, "Just me—just old Parr Gentry lookin' for horses." He came to the fire, this owner of the lively stable in War Pass. He rolled in the saddle, staring down at Hack Breathitt a long moment before recognizing him. "Why, hello, Hack. Didn't know I'd find you on this side of the Mogul. Thought you liked the other side best."

Instead of turning west to his own ranch, Herendeen traveled due south toward a low range of hills which separated Running W from Three Pines. An hour's ride brought him within sight of a far-shining light, which was the mark of a homesteader's cabin against the hills; but when he came upon the homesteader's cabin, drifting into the heavy shadows at the base of these hills, a dog began to bark and suddenly the light died. He reined in before the cabin, feeling his contempt for the evident fear which had caused the homesteader to kill the light. They were all alike, these homesteaders, little men crawling as near the range as they dared, sticking their plows into the unplowed soil and slowly starving while the sun burnt up their crops and ruined the land ever afterward for graze. He could not tolerate this breed, or their sun-blackened wives, or their tow-headed children.

He tossed a fresh stick into the fire, the flare of it heightening the rusty shine of his hair. He had a dry, smart face; double wrinkles crossed his forehead. His eyes, on the edge of being green, were narrow-bright. He had been watching the livid heart of the flame, but his head rose and his eyes stared into the surrounding darkness. He was a tight, close-listening shape; and presently he rose and stepped into the shadows.

He sent his deep, blunt call at the shack, "Hey—come out here." They were talking, inside. A boy's voice said, "Pa, don't go." A woman was talking, quickly and with suppressed excitement. The door squealed open and somebody stood in its black square, speechless. "What you doing here?" demanded Herendeen. "This place is on Lige White's range. We drove Jim Spackman away from it last year." "You Lige White?" said a man in a dim, drawn tone. "What the hell is that to you? My name's Herendeen and I asked you a question."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for June 7

FRIDAY: THE DAY OF SUFFERING (II)

LESSON TEXT—Luke 23:33-46; Mark 15:33-34. GOLDEN TEXT—But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed.—Isaiah 53:5.

Dark and distressing days have often come upon the earth, but the darkest day of all history was that day when cruel men with wicked hearts laid unholy hands upon the Son of God and crucified Him. And yet, by the grace of God, it was a day of bright hope for the sinful sons of men, for on that day complete redemption was wrought out. The veil was rent and the new and living way into the holy presence of God (Heb. 10:20) was opened for you and for me.

The cross is popular as an ornament on a church or on a golden chain, but it is far more than that. It speaks of the black hour of the Saviour's cry, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" and it also tells us of the One who became sin for us that we might know the righteousness of God (II Cor. 5:21).

Three thoughts emerge from our lesson. I. Crucifixion—Bringing Light (Luke 23:33, 34a). "There they crucified him"—four words summing up the almost unbelievable thing that took place on Calvary. He died; but in that death life and immortality were brought to light (II Tim. 1:10).

As believers in Christ, we are interested in all that took place at the crucifixion, for we know that as we contemplate Him on the cross we can say with Luther, "For me, for me!" And yet it was not for us alone that He died—it was for all mankind. So we turn to our unconverted friends and direct them to "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world" (John 1:29). He was crucified that they might live eternally. He who had only a plea for the forgiveness of His persecutors (v. 34a) tenderly offers His forgiveness to men today.

II. Rejection—Bringing Acceptance (Luke 23:34b-43). Those who appear around the cross afford an interesting and striking picture of humanity. There were the indifferent ones, those not interested at all in who was being crucified, but only eager to share in the division of His garments.

There stood the people "beholding"—perplexed, unable to believe that the miracle-working Christ was about to die. Verily, they were as sheep without a shepherd. Then we see those who scoffed. They knew His claim to be the Son of God and hated Him for it. Now at last they had their chance to rail at Him, to ridicule and taunt. More ignorant and yet equally derisive, we see the mocking soldiers.

Even one of the thieves by His side "railed on him" (v. 39), ridiculing His claim. But here is the marvelous thing—the other thief, rough and wicked person that he was, saw in Christ a Saviour to whom he turned in faith, which was quickly and fully honored (vv. 42, 43).

The picture is thus complete. The Rejected One is "the way" to acceptance for all who believe (John 14:6). He said, "I am the door; by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved" (John 10:9).

III. Darkness—Bringing Light (Luke 23:44, 45; Mark 15:33, 34). Physical darkness fell over the scene at the cross, as though all nature would go into mourning, or sought to shield the suffering Saviour from the curious and hateful eyes of men. Then, too, it was God's sign that this was not the death of any ordinary man, even as it spoke of the judgment of those who had laid violent, sinful hands on His Son.

But deeper yet was the spiritual darkness into which Jesus went, as bearing the horrible load of the sins of the world He "was made sin for us" (II Cor. 5:21), and God the Father turned away from Him. We cannot fathom the full meaning of that hour, and we dare not attempt to explain it. We can only accept it and thank God that because He was made sin for us we may by faith be "made the righteousness of God in Him."

Out of the darkness of that hour shone forth the one light which nothing in time or eternity can dim.

Route to Happiness The truest and happiest of earthly lives, proven over and over again by hard actual experience, is that life which accepts and observes most nearly St. Paul's great postulate, "Here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come." Rightfully pursued, it in no way interferes with the intensest enjoyment of our time here on earth. We have but to see that we do God's will in everything.

PREPAREDNESS by the AMERICAN RED CROSS

TO THOUSANDS of Americans seeking news of their families and friends in war-torn countries, 25 words on an official Red Cross form have meant all the difference between hope and despair. Ever since the outbreak of the war, the American Red Cross has been for many people the only medium through which they could get news of their relatives in Poland, Holland, Belgium and the other occupied nations. Even when the news has been bad, even when it has been the worst possible, it has at least meant merciful release from torturing anxiety and uncertainty.

For a while it was possible in a few cases to maintain contact by letter over long roundabout routes. Since America's entry into the war, all remaining avenues of communication have been closed. Today, under the rules of the United States Office of Censorship, personal messages to residents of enemy or enemy occupied territory may be forwarded ONLY through the Red Cross inquiry service here and the International Red Cross committee in Geneva, Switzerland.

Regulations governing the sending of one of these messages from the United States are that the communication, which should be filled in at a local Red Cross chapter, must not be more than 25 words, and should be in English. If it is written in a foreign language, an English translation must be attached.

The United States Office of Censorship rules that no mention may be made of politics or military subjects, defense materials, shipping or weather conditions, business matters or geographic names.

But even the strict regulations cannot rob the brief message on the International Red Cross form of its human warmth and drama. The original message, made out in some local Red Cross chapter here, goes on its long and slow journey across ocean and continents. Space is provided on it for a reply message, to be returned to the original sender.

Navy Needs Men Now, Walker Says

"The U. S. Navy is in urgent need of men NOW," Neill Walker of the Lubbock Recruiting Office, who is in Tahoka every Monday, stated on Monday. "The Navy is building ships faster than they can be manned by men. For that reason the Navy is in very urgent need of apprentice seamen and construction workers."

"Men with no particular trade can join the Navy as apprentice seamen and can take up whatever trade they desire," he said. Men skilled in Every farm can get in the scrap—for Victory. So let's go—Today!

WHAT TO SAVE:

Scrap Metals — Iron, steel, brass, copper, zinc, aluminum, lead, etc. are needed. Dispose of discarded tools and farm implements such as worn-out rakes, mowers, hay loaders, cultivators, binders, tractors, scythes

(also barbed wire and fencing if you are within reach of a dealer with a hydraulic press), boilers, metal roofing, stoves, wash basins, broken milk pails, pipe and hardware, batteries, fruit jar tops, and anything else made of metal, except tin cans which in most communities cannot be reclaimed.

Burlap Bags and Old Rags—Cotton bags and all kinds of burlap can be re-used. Flour, sugar, and feed bags are needed too—for reuse in factories as wiping rags and as roofing and flooring materials in emergency construction.

Old Rubber—Discarded auto tires and tubes, rubbers, and overshoes can be reclaimed for military uses—and to make new tires and tubes.

Waste Paper—Save waste paper—don't burn it; Wrapping paper, cardboard cartons and boxes, paper bags, newspapers, and magazines are needed to make new paperboard to pack foods, airplane and tank parts, shells and ammunition, and other articles. Save baby chick boxes for reuse, too, if you can return them to hatcheries. Right now there is little demand for paper due to the recent drive, but before many weeks there will be a call for paper again.

HOW TO SAVE:

Keep rags, metals, and rubber separately.

Flatten out cartons, boxes. Tie in neat bundles; keep dry and clean.

Pile newspapers and magazines separately and tie in separate bundles.

Roll fencing and barbed wire into tight rolls or coils.

HOW TO DISPOSE OF WASTE

You may either sell your collection of waste metals and rubber to a collector (junk man) or give it to charities, schools, or other organizations which collect such materials or use the money to buy U. S. War Bonds and Stamps.

If you prefer to donate your collection, you may arrange with a local charity, or other organization to collect it, or else take it to them.

Your U. S. Department of Agriculture County War Board, which is co-operating with the salvage committees of State and local Defense Councils, can give you advice or help in making arrangements. Consult them if your scrap is too heavy to move without dismantling.

Do not scrap useful machinery. Parts of discarded equipment, such as bolts, gears, etc. that can be useful in repairing newer machinery should be removed and stored and only the remaining useless metal parts scrapped.

LONG MAY HER PERMANENT WAVE!

HE: Hello... that you, Helen? Listen, I forgot to tell you to send the car over for greasing and an oil change.

SHE: Oh, all right Bob, but what about the tires and the battery and all the other things it might need?

HE: Right... everything should be attended to. Gosh!... can't you take some responsibility for the car?

SHE: All right, smarty... I have taken the responsibility. I joined the Once-a-Week Club today.

HE: Great Caesar's ghost! Another club! Didn't we just agree last night to cut out unnecessary expenses?

SHE: That's exactly what we are doing. This is a club without any dues, fees or anything.

HE: I'm listening... proceed with caution!

SHE: Well, you know that nice Conoco station over on Myrtle Street? I went in there this morning and Mr. Blevins, the Mileage Merchant, told me he would go over our car every Thursday morning; check the tires, the battery, water... in fact, everything... and if he saw anything needed, he would write it down for me.

HE: Atta girl! This war will make a business woman out of you yet!

SHE: Oh, yeah? Well, I may be a business woman, my dear, but I'm going to get a permanent this afternoon just to prove I'm still a female... and the price will be charged up to the extra life of our car and the savings we're going to have because of that Conoco Once-a-Week Club.

Pick up your phone or drive by and tell Your Conoco Mileage Merchant to let you in on his Once-a-Week Club. Ask him about changing to his Conoco Nth motor oil, to give your engine the great big change to OIL-PLATING. Continental Oil Company

FOR THE DURATION of your car

Don't depend on spasmodic and hurried stops for gasoline to have your tires and car checked. Join my ONCE-A-WEEK CLUB. Choose one day each week to bring in your car. I will check and properly inflate your tires, check oil, radiator, and battery. I will look for and report anything beyond this that appears to need attention. I will keep a careful record of greasing and oil change and remind you when these services are needed. I am here to help you get the maximum service and life from your car at the least possible cost and trouble to you.

You Can Help Win this War!

All Scrap Metal on Your Farm Must Be Salvaged Now

UNCLE SAM needs every gun, shell, tank, ship and plane that American War Industry can produce to win this war. The present shortage of scrap metal in this country threatens to slow down war production. You can help speed it up by collecting every piece of scrap iron and steel.

GET IN THE SCRAP—

A 3,000-lb. Aerial Bomb Requires 500 Pounds of Scrap Metals

A 30-calibre Machine Gun Requires 50 Pounds of Scrap Metals

SALVAGE for VICTORY!

The Farmer Build Now

STATION, May 27 — Construction Board orders construction of farm buildings mean rural families in Texas may build little and repair much for the duration of the emergency. Purpose of the orders is to restrict the sale or use of materials necessary to the war effort.

There are a few exceptions to the order. For example, a farm building which costs less than $1,000 and will not be used for residential purposes may be built if materials are available. However, cost of several new buildings within any 12-month period must not exceed $1,000. All agricultural construction exceeding the War Production Board. Individual applications should be filed

Your Scrap Metal is Needed Now for VICTORY!

A CRITICAL SHORTAGE of scrap metal now exists in United States War Industry. Unless more scrap is forthcoming at once, war production will slow down and months, even years will be added to this fearful battle.

It is of the utmost importance that every pound of scrap metal on your farm start moving now toward America's steel mills and foundries to make more war materials.

It is your patriotic duty to collect your scrap and notify this store at once

GET IN THE SCRAP—HERE'S WHERE IT GOES

New farm residential construction which will cost less than $500 is also exempt from the order. Mis. Bernice Claytor, Extension Service specialist in home improvement, says this means many farm families will need to do considerable repair on their homes to keep them in good shape and to protect health during the war period.

Farm residences costing $500 or more must be approved by WPB unless buildings damaged or destroyed by "fire, flood, tornado, earthquake, act of God or the public enemy" must be reconstructed or restored. Then no permit is necessary.

Bridal Showers

Pretty, but practical—that's the cue for this year's bridal showers. Chances are this year's bride will be an army or navy bride with but a whirlwind wedding with her husband on a short leave, so there won't be much time for the frills and fuss of other years.

Her plans will be sketchy, most probably, and very often they will not include a permanent home or bungalow. That means that bridal showers will be simple and inexpensive and gifts for the bride-to-be will include only things which are not too elaborate, and which can be packed in a small space in case she is to travel or take a small apartment by herself.

What kind of showers, then? Well, there are always the personal showers in which you give her lingerie or other personal toilet items that you know she needs or wants.

Another practical shower is the Kitchen Gadget shower. Get small items like dish mops, kitchen knives, forks, mixing spoons, dish cloths, soap flakes, clothes pins and a few sets of bowls. Glass sets are popular, coming three in a set, fitting together in a nest so they don't take up much room. They're practical plus, too, because they can be used for baking dishes if you get the heat-resistant kind.

Include measuring cups and spoons, custard cups and small skillets and pots in the kitchen gadget shower. A new bride will appreciate your thoughtfulness in getting necessities like these for her.

The Kitchen shower is extra nice because you can carry out table decorations in the theme of the shower. Make a bouquet of some of the items for a centerpiece and use the dishcloths for doilies or place mats.

Sewing Shower. Spools of thread in a riot of bright colors tumbling out of an attractive sewing basket can make the centerpiece for this party both novel and economical.

There's a variety of things to give the bride in this kind of shower and none of them will strain the pocket-book—needles, hooks, snaps, darning thread, thimbles, etc.—all these are "musts" on the bride's list.

Recipe Showers. Is the bride-to-be interested in cooking? Most of them are, and if they are not, they will be soon. That's why recipe showers get "most popular" rating often. For this shower you and your friends can gather together your most popular and favorite recipes on cards or in notebooks, or collect several cookbooks to give the guest of honor.

Decorations. Pretty up your table with pastel and white colors. This is the time to use your nicest linen and most fragile china to lend daintiness to the occasion. Color combinations may be white used plentifully with pink, green or pale yellow. Fresh sprays of garden flowers, even in small quantity add charm.

This Week's Menu

- Bride's Shower
- *Salad Luncheon Plate
- or
- *Asparagus Loaf
- Tiny Hot Rolls
- Preserves
- *Ice Cream With Green Gage Plums
- *Recipes Given

A light, dainty luncheon platter can be served by way of refreshment. Accompany this with tiny hot rolls or muffins and no shower guests could desire more:

*Salad Luncheon Plate. (For One Serving)

- 1/2 cup cottage cheese
- 2 deviled egg halves
- 2 to 3 slices of tomato
- 2 to 3 slices of cucumber
- 2 finger strips of sliced cheese
- 2 crapple pickles

Miscellaneous:

- 2 olives
- Slices of hard-cooked eggs
- Salad dressing
- Paprika

Heap cottage cheese in crisp lettuce cup arranged in center of chilled salad plate. Then around this center, arrange the remaining foods in neat, symmetrical fashion—the deviled eggs opposite the crapple pickles, the overlapping slice of cucumber next to the apples and opposite the overlapping slices of tomato on the opposite side of the plate, bread triangles topped with a slice of egg, opposite each other, 2 slices of cheese opposite each of the 2 olives. Garnish the cottage cheese with paprika, and pass french dressing with the salad.

If you prefer to serve a hot dish in place of the salad plate, you'll like this asparagus loaf in this versatile combination with cheese and white sauce:

*Asparagus Loaf. (Serves 6)

- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups grated American cheese
- 1 3/4 cups fine, soft bread crumbs
- 1 (1-pound) can asparagus tips
- Pimiento strips

Drain asparagus, reserve liquid. Line bottom of buttered loaf pan with half the asparagus tips. Place strips of pimiento between tips. Melt butter, blend in flour and mix well. Add milk and 1/4 cup of the asparagus liquid and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add salt, pepper and cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Fold in crumbs. Add gradually to eggs and fold in remaining asparagus tips, cut into one-inch pieces. Pour into loaf pan, place into a pan of hot water and bake 1 hour in a moderate (350-degree) oven. Serve on a platter surrounded with watercress and overlapping slices of tomatoes which have been marinated in french dressing.

Your figure-conscious young guests will appreciate the good news about ice cream. Recent tests show that ice cream has much less calories than other favorite desserts such as cake and pie, but nutritionally it is excellent.

*Ice Cream With Green Gage Plums (Serves 6)

- 1 quart of vanilla ice cream
- 1 No. 2 1/2 can green gage plums

Drain syrup from green gage plums. Arrange big spoonfuls of vanilla ice cream in center of a large glass bowl. Garnish or surround with plums. Serve immediately, with a jug of syrup, drained from the can of plums.

Plums may be rolled in shredded almonds or finely chopped nuts, if desired.

A Gentle Way to Treat Constipation!

Get up and cheer, constipation sufferers! If you are one of the millions of people with normal intestines who suffer due to lack of "bulk" in the diet—here's news of a gentler, pleasanter way to win welcome relief!

You see, many medicinal laxatives prod the intestines into action or draw moisture into them from other parts of the body. But KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, a crisp, delicious cereal, acts quite differently. It works principally on the contents of your colon, helping you to have easy and normal elimination. Eat it often and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is not helped, by this simple treatment, see your doctor.

Wool Is Precious

Two or three times this nation's domestic production of wool will be necessary to meet military needs in 1943. With the manufacture of wool blankets prohibited and a similar order for clothing expected shortly, homemakers should take the best possible care of these articles.

These suggestions will make woolens last longer:

Collect all winter clothing, blankets, and woolen accessories which will not be used again until next fall. Inspect the garments carefully for soil and grease spots. If they are spotted or dingy send them to the cleaner. Dry cleaning or washing in a correct solution of neutral soap kills all forms of moths.

Articles not soiled enough to warrant cleaning or laundering should be hung out to air on a sunny, breezy day and given a thorough brushing.

Give each garment as much chance as possible to keep its shape. If articles are packed in chests or trunks, place the heaviest things at the bottom and the lighter things on top. Fold everything lightly, sprinkling flake naphthalene or paradichlorobenzene between each fold.

There are dust-proof bags on the market made of heavy paper treated with a moth preventative. These will hold several garments and will allow the garments to hang in natural lines. Stuffing the sleeves and body of the garment with wads of tissue paper will help keep it free of wrinkles. Do the same with folded garments.

Save Lard — The World Has A Shortage Of Fats And Oils

Many Texas farm families have large quantities of sweet, high quality lard on hand, and with a little extra work and ingenuity they can save it for use during the fall and summer.

Moisture, air, light, and hot weather causes lard stored in big containers, such as five or ten-gallon vats, to become rancid.

Lard may be stored in syrup buckets, and the friction lids may be completely sealed with paraffin or sealing wax. No larger than gallon buckets are recommended, and No. 3 cans or quart jars are even better.

Since lard containers do not have to be processed in pressure cookers, it is possible to re-plate tin containers for this purpose. It is safer to put lard in used tin than fruits, vegetables, meats and other products which must be processed to keep well.

Families who have on hand large quantities of oil or beer cans may use these as lard containers if they are of a size which can be sealed with their home-owned equipment.

Save lard by using no more than necessary in cooking. Bacon and sausage drippings, which are suitable for seasoning other foods, should be strained and stored in a cool place as carefully as new lard.

If lard is strained through several thicknesses of cloth to remove foreign matter used in deep fat frying, its frying life is increased. Heating fat to the smoking point will reduce the number of times it can be used effectively.

Frances Porterfield, Allen Luallin Wed

Although the news reached this publication rather belatedly, it will still be of interest to many to learn that on Saturday night, May 23, Miss Frances Porterfield of O'Donnell became the bride of Allen Luallin of this city, the marriage rites being read by Rev. H. H. Hollowell, pastor of the O'Donnell Methodist Church, in that city.

On the next day the couple left for San Diego, California, where Allen hoped to get employment in an aircraft factory.

Allen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ovid Luallin of Tahoka. He graduated from the Tahoka High School two years ago, and since that time he has been employed as a mechanic in the shop of his father.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Leona Porterfield of O'Donnell and she graduated in the O'Donnell High School with the Senior class of '42.
