Chemical Caponization Held of Limited Value

The question of whether chemical caponization is practical is one which poultry raisers ask most frequently. Many county extension services also receive numerous questions on the subject.

In experimental work, the treatment stopped fighting and crowing among the cockerels.

"All things considered, it would appear that chemical caponization has very limited value at present."

Ends Poultry Chore

Another poultry chore has been electrified and placed on an automatic basis as shown above. This time it is a feeding job which normally requires considerable time and personal attention.

It is being accomplished on an increasing number of electrified farms by mechanical feeders operated by small motors. The device illustrated here is fairly common in a number of larger poultry houses. Feed and supplements are placed in the top of the metal cylinder and then mixed by the rotating central shaft which has small paddles attached at the lower end. The shaft is lowered as the feed is ejected from the bottom of the cylinder by the spinning paddles.

Hadacol Is Praised At Famous Spa

HADACOL HAS SPECIAL OFFICE IN HOT SPRINGS TO HELP SUFFERERS

Hot Springs National Park, Ark.—(Special)—Health is a major topic of conversation in this world famous Spa and more and more conversation turns to the marvelous, health-giving blessings being brought to so many by HADACOL.

Realizing the importance of Hot Springs as a health center, Dudley J. LeBlanc, Founder and President of LeBlanc Corporation, makers of HADACOL, established an office in Hot Springs to advise suffering folks on how HADACOL can benefit their systems with its wealth of B Vitamins and important Minerals.

In this HADACOL office in Hot Springs are records of folks who have found improved health in a bottle of HADACOL. That is one reason why per capita sales of HADACOL in Hot Springs are among the highest in the country.

Look at the record of Mrs. Joan Waers, of Hot Springs, who started taking HADACOL only two months ago but now has her husband and other relatives and friends taking HADACOL with the same wonderful results. Here is her statement:

"I started taking HADACOL about two months ago with wonderful results. I was run down and suffered with indigestion and gastric disturbances. Food didn't agree with me. I was nervous. After taking HADACOL I feel stronger, eat what I want to without indigestion. I just feel better all the time. I have tried many remedies before taking HADACOL, but HADACOL has done me more good than all the medicines I have ever taken. My husband also took HADACOL because he was run down and suffered with nervous indigestion and headaches. He is a well man today due to HADACOL. I have several relatives and friends taking HADACOL with fine results."

Mrs. Waers was suffering a deficiency of B Vitamins and important Minerals, which HADACOL contains.

A lack of only a small amount of the B Vitamins and certain Minerals will cause digestive disturbances... Your food will not agree with you... You will have an upset stomach... You will suffer from heart burns, gas pains, and your food will sour on your stomach, and you will not be able to eat the things you like for fear of being in misery afterwards. Many people also suffer from constipation. And while those symptoms may be the results of other causes, they are surely and certainly the symptoms and signs of the lack of the B Vitamins and Minerals contained in HADACOL. And if you suffer from such a disorder, there is no medicine, drug or treatment that will cure you except the administration of the Vitamins and Minerals which your system lacks.

HADACOL contains not only one, but five of the B Vitamins. HADACOL contains not only one, but four of the necessary Minerals. It comes to you in liquid form, easily assimilated in the blood stream so that it can go to work right away. You cannot be satisfied with just temporary relief. HADACOL attacks and cures the source of such deficiency diseases.

It is easy to understand, therefore, why countless thousands have already been benefited by this amazing tonic, HADACOL. Accept no substitute—insist on the genuine HADACOL!

So, it matters not who you are... it matters not where you live... or if you have tried all the medicines under the sun, give this wonderful preparation a trial. Don't go on suffering! Don't continue to lead a miserable life. Many persons who have suffered and waited for 10 to 20 years, or even longer, are able now to live happy, comfortable lives again because HADACOL supplied the Vitamins and Minerals which their systems needed. Be fair to yourself. Give HADACOL a trial.

We are so firm in our belief that HADACOL will help you that we sell HADACOL on a money-back guarantee. If you don't feel perfectly satisfied after using HADACOL as directed, just return the empty carton and your money will be cheerfully refunded. Nothing could be fairer.

Sold at all the leading drug stores. Trial size only $1.25, but save money—buy the large family and hospital size—only $3.50.

If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Send no money. Just your name and address on a penny postcard. Pay postman. State whether you want the $3.50 hospital economy size or the $1.25 trial size. Remember, money cheerfully refunded unless you are 100% satisfied.—Adv.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to hot sun can slow down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backaches, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights of frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

 LIQUID OR TABLETS
IS YOUR ANSWER TO COLDS' MISERIES

Here's why! 666 is time-tested. It's different. Try 666 yourself!

THOSE ANCIENT SUMERIAN TABLES

TABLETS have been dug up in Iraq showing that the Sumerians who lived 1,700 years B.C. had knowledge equal or ahead of what we have in 1950. But there is no evidence they used it exclusively on quiz programs.

Archaeologists are still exploring, but every indication so far is that, despite all they knew, these ancient people didn't link super knowledge with super jackpots. (They painted their houses inside and out at their own expense.)

Professor P. Waddington Toots, this column's archeologist, is on the scene. He always thought our remote ancestors were smart cookies even if there was nothing in the records about mystery tunes.

His dispatch says: "Hit into a new layer of cuneiform tablets today. Am amazed at terrific amount of information possessed by a people not motivated by desire for mink coats, ice boxes, deep-freeze units, a complete new set of bedroom furniture and free maid service for one year."

"All reports that a tablet has been dug up with inscription which can be decoded as the question, 'Where are you from?' and the answer 'Brooklyn' (with Sumerian word for 'applause' after it) are false, as is the rumor that another tablet bore the words 'No, I'm sorry, but we are sending you a hog-head of oyster openers just the same, Mrs. Whittlesey.'"

"I have just unearthed an ossified man standing upright with one hand upraised. A colleague thinks this could have been a Sumerian saying 'I have a lady in the gallery, sir.' My colleagues insist that if I find a clarinet, a snaredrum, 10 silver dollars and any signs of a question like 'Is a halibut a fish, an article of wearing apparel or a kind of cosmetic?' It will prove that the intelligence of these ancient folk was on a level with our own."

Professor Toots goes on to say that the knowledge of mathematics among the Sumerians obviously was terrific, but not sufficient to figure income in trillions. "I found no figures running into billions 'even,' he adds. "This would seem to show that, despite their high intelligence, they knew nothing of deficit financing, the lucky stiff!"

"I am now striving to find if the Sumerians were in hot water most of the time, had one leg shorter than the other from running around in circles, confused pin-wheels and consumed 100 pounds of aspirin a year per capita. This will prove conclusively their civilization was precisely like ours, which I hope is not true."

MIRROR Of Your MIND Child's Heroes Are Important
 By Lawrence Gould

Does it matter whom a child picks as his heroes?

Answer: Few things matter more, for better or worse. For a child's personality is largely formed through the process of "identifying himself" with the people whom he feels it would be most desirable to be—or to "be like"—and if these are cruel, vulgar or dishonorable, he will tend to follow their example. With a boy, heroes are usually chosen on the basis of their seeming strength or power, so it's most important that the real or imaginary characters whose strength he admires—above all, his father—shall be worthy of his emulation.

done the same thing when my sleep was disturbed in the early morning hours. Since the function of dreams is to let you sleep by easing the tension that might keep you wakeful, if you can start dreaming in imagination, it may well serve as a short cut to real slumber.

Should you be afraid of being "under obligation"?

Answer: Not too much so. To be sure, no self-respecting person wants to think of himself as a sponger, but the fear of letting anyone do more for you than you can immediately repay can be carried to neurotic extremes. To refuse to allow an old friend to help you when you are in serious trouble is to picture him—at least, unconsciously—as gloating over you or wanting to get you under his thumb. Extreme "independence" which insists you never shall be beholden to anyone may be your defense against a secret wish to be dependent.

Will recalling last night's dreams help you sleep?
 Answer: I am not sure, but it is worth trying. A friend told me recently that he habitually puts himself to sleep by reconstructing his dreams of the previous night and trying to go on from where he was in them when he woke up, and I realized that I had often

KEEPING HEALTHY Shingles Subject to Complications

By Dr. James W. Barton

ONE OF THE commonest skin ailments, which is really believed to be a virus (tiny organism) infection of the nervous system is Herpes Zoster or shingles, as it is usually called. There is no special treatment needed, as shingles runs its own course.

to arouse enough body resistance to prevent another attack of shingles. In "The Journal of Neurology, Neurosurgery and Psychiatry," London, Drs. C. W. M. Whitty and A. M. Cook, describe three patients with shingles, all of whom showed myelitis (inflammation of the spinal cord) as a complication.

The outstanding point about shingles is that it runs a course of four to six weeks, and then clears up. The patient is assured that he will never have a second attack, just as in such diseases as typhoid and scarlet fever.

Two of these cases had several attacks of shingles in different locations in the body over a period of two or three months, thus showing a difference from the usual behavior which confers lifelong immunity by a single attack.

There are, however, many sufferers with shingles who will tell you that their particular attack lasted for months, not weeks, and they have had more than one attack.

The third patient had a zoster infection brought on by injury to the fifth nerve. Sometimes subsequent attacks are brought on by injury in the form of a growth such as cancer or tuberculosis.

Skin and nerve specialists state that the reason some cases last for months and second attacks occur is because the patient, by scratching the skin, infects it with other organisms which, of course, delay recovery. These other organisms decrease the power or effect of the shingles organism, so that its effects on the body are not sufficient

Should shingles occur, have the patient try to avoid scratching the eruption, and should the attack be prolonged, have the family physician consulted to prevent complications or treat any complications which may be present.

HEALTH NOTES

Vertigo may be caused by local conditions involving the ear.

Outstanding diseases of middle age and beyond are diseases of the heart and blood vessels and cancer.

Special schools can often make useful citizens of morons and teach imbeciles and idiots to be less care to family and institutions.

Shock treatment is the greatest step forward in the treatment of mental conditions in recent years.

Late appearance of tuberculosis may be due to an old undischarged infection becoming active.

AROUND THE HOUSE

An owner's guide is always included with your gas range. It's a good reference for time-saving hints on meal preparation and cooking, and simple everyday care.

When making pancakes that call for cornmeal and have no extra flour added, be sure to stir well each time you take a spoonful of batter up for frying.

When your hands feel puckered up or have that parboiled appearance after washing in soap suds, rub them with vinegar or lemon juice to make them soft and white. This also helps to prevent chapping.

Hadacol Is Praised At Famous Spa

HADACOL HAS SPECIAL OFFICE IN HOT SPRINGS TO HELP SUFFERERS

MRS. JENNIE WEBB

Hot Springs National Park, Ark.—(Special)—Health is a major topic of conversation in this world famous Spa and more and more conversation turns to the marvelous, health-giving blessings being brought to so many by HADACOL.

Realizing the importance of Hot Springs as a health center, Dudley J. LeBlanc, Founder and President of LeBlanc Corporation, makers of HADACOL, established an office in Hot Springs to advise suffering folks on how HADACOL can benefit their systems with its wealth of B Vitamins and important Minerals.

In this HADACOL office in Hot Springs are records of folks who have found improved health in a bottle of HADACOL. That is one reason why per capita sales of HADACOL in Hot Springs are among the highest in the country.

Take for instance Mrs. Jennie Webb, who shares a new home at 237 Conner Road in Hot Springs with her daughter and son-in-law. Mrs. Webb has a host of friends throughout Arkansas who were thrilled to know that HADACOL helped her in a wonderful recovery after several years of illness.

Here is Mrs. Webb's statement: "I started taking HADACOL in the early fall, buying two of the economy-size bottles of HADACOL. I had been feeling weak and rundown for several years. I suffered the horrors of gastric disturbances and indigestion. I had to be very careful in the selection of food that would agree with me. I had tried so many remedies without beneficial results and had just about given up hopes of feeling well again. Friends urged me to try HADACOL. I have never regretted their advice because I have felt better than at any time in years. I digest food better and do not have indigestion. I have more energy."

Mrs. Webb was suffering a deficiency of B Vitamins and important Minerals, which HADACOL contains. A lack of only a small amount of B Vitamins and certain Minerals will cause digestive disturbances... Your food will not agree with you... You will have an upset stomach... You will suffer from heart burns, gas pains, and your food will sour on your stomach, and you will not be able to eat the things you like for fear of being in misery afterwards.

So, it matters not who you are... it matters not where you live... or if you have tried all the medicines under the sun, give this wonderful preparation a trial. Don't go on suffering! Don't continue to lead a miserable life. Many persons who have suffered and waited for 10 to 20 years, or even longer, are able now to live happy, comfortable lives again because HADACOL supplied the Vitamins and Minerals which their systems needed. Be fair to yourself. Give HADACOL a trial.

We are so firm in our belief that HADACOL will help you that we sell HADACOL on a money-back guarantee. If you don't feel perfectly satisfied after using HADACOL as directed, just return the empty carton and your money will be cheerfully refunded. Nothing could be fairer.

Sold at all the leading drug stores. Trial size only $1.25, but save money—buy the large family and hospital size—only $3.50. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order direct from the LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Send no money. Just your name and address on a penny postcard. Pay postman. State whether you want the $3.50 hospital economy size or the $1.25 trial size. Remember, money cheerfully refunded unless you are 100% satisfied.—Adv.

First Sow Ever To Raise
Nine Champion Litters
 America's champion production sow, the most prolific purebred sow in the country, has added still another star to her crown.
 One hundred and five pigs raised to weaning age is the remarkable new record of this queen of the hog world, the first and only sow of any breed to raise nine production star litters.
 To qualify for production registry, conducted by the purebred associations, a sow must raise a litter of at least 8 pigs to a minimum weight of 320 pounds within 56 days of birth. The pigs must be approved breed type, free from fault or defect, and at least half of them must be eligible for registration. The sow gains a star in her breed production registry books each time she repeats the performance.

Plywood Economical In Many Farm Uses

Brooder Houses Prove Utility of Material
Farmers are finding that the high strength and light weight of plywood makes it an economical and efficient material to use in portable farm buildings such as brooder houses, hog shelters, and range sheds.

A brooder house, a building magazine reports, should be of adequate size, warm and dry, and properly lighted and ventilated. To be economical, it should be relatively low in first cost, and yet be strongly built to give long life without expensive and troublesome upkeep. For convenience, it must be easy to clean and move.

Here is a "turkey feeder" that is easily and economically made from exterior plywood—weather can't harm it and it's easy portability appeals to farmers.

Portability, of course, is of prime importance. Some portable buildings, built by conventional methods, weigh as much as 2 to 3 thousand pounds. Farmers naturally hesitate to move a heavy structure frequently, and so invite exposure to disease. If moved often, particularly over rough ground, heavy buildings soon are loosened at the joints.

Knew What He Wanted

The dying man gasped pitifully, "Grant me one last request, Mary," he pleaded.

"Of course, Stanley," she said softly.

"Six months after I die I want you to marry Abner Jones," he said.

"Abner Jones?" she said in a shocked tone. "But I thought you hated that man."

"Exactly," he said with his final breath.

How It's Done

The story of an escaped lunatic occupied most of page-one of the newspaper and the small boy read every word avidly. Turning to his father after he had concluded the story he asked, "Daddy, how do they catch lunatics?"

His father, who had been busily writing out checks for the monthly bills, replied, "Oh, they use funny little hats, perfume, jewelry, and so many other little things like that."

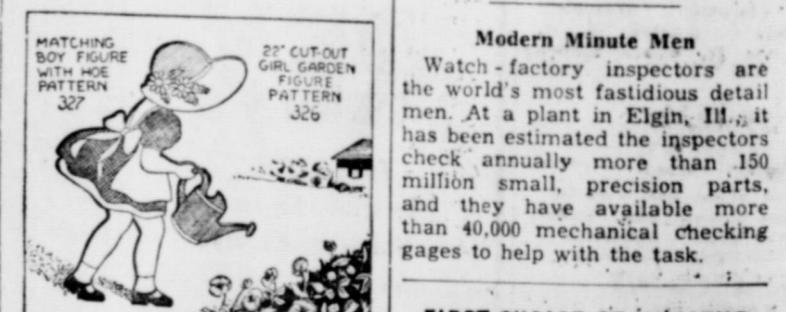

He ducked just in time to miss a platter as it came sailing out of the kitchen.

Just a Moment

"This is the end!" shouted hubby angrily as he prepared to slam the outside door. "I've stood for all I'm going to from you, woman."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

British Laborites on Rocky Road; Scientists Warn of H-Bomb Threat; Senate Spy Hunt to Be 'Witchless'

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.

REPORT ON MASS-DESTRUCTION WEAPONS . . . Sen. Brien McMahon (left) chairman of the joint congressional atomic energy committee, confers with Gen. Omar N. Bradley shortly before Bradley, who is chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff, reported to the senate-house group on possible types of mass-destruction weapons an enemy might use against the U. S.

BRITAIN: Close Call

British Prime Minister Clement Attlee and his Labor party were still holding the reins of British government—but it had been a mighty close call. There was a serious question of how long the Labor government could stand as a result of its meager majority in parliament.

Added to that was the peril of an intra-party strife in which it was reported left-wingers in the party were planning a test of strength with more moderate leaders of Attlee's government.

THE PROBLEM was an easily obvious one: Should the Labor party walk easily in the face of its hairbreadth escape from defeat in the elections, or should it strike out boldly for continuation and expansion of socialism?

The primary interest in the election for Americans was, of course, whether or not the British people were committed to more socialism and resultant nationalism of industry and their way of life, or had they grown apprehensive enough concerning the direction of government to change it?

The answer was clear to the extent that a bare majority of the people are satisfied with conditions—enough at least to return the Labor government to power. But, significantly enough, the balance of that power had waned so much in the past five years that it was almost nonexistent.

WHAT DID IT MEAN? It was much too early to gauge the election's effect on the American economy or on Europe's overall recovery program, but disappointment in the U. S. was widespread and there was some concern lest the uncertainty of the Labor government's position interfere seriously with American recovery plans abroad.

One American newspaper woman was able to put into print concisely and graphically the divergent British viewpoints when she reported a Conservative as saying that England would never recover until the Laborites were completely thrown out, and a poorer-class workwoman declaring that she didn't care how much she had to do without, just as long as the rich didn't have any more.

H-BOMB: More Warnings

More and more came the warnings from experts of the dread potentialities of the hydrogen bomb. True, there was some disagreement, but a poll would show at this stage that a majority of scientists who should know what they are talking about believe the bomb could kill everyone in the world.

Four top scientists have issued that warning. They have declared that the bomb, if it works, could be a suicide bomb. Why? How?

Here's what they say: IF THE BOMB is ever made and used, it would kill slowly by poisoning everything and everyone with radioactive dusts.

The dusts would be carried around the world by the winds.

The dust would be in the air people breathed.

It would settle on and poison plants and trees, everything humans eat or use.

THE H-BOMB, they add, could be intentionally rigged to do just that—and it would be relatively simple to do it. Makers of the bomb would have only to put harmless chemical elements

EDUCATION

Military Effort at School Rule Charged

According to scores of educators and other prominent people in the United States, there is a "systematic and well-financed effort" by the national military establishment to "penetrate and influence the civilian educational life of America."

This charge was contained in a booklet of 80 pages of fine print, put out through the national council against conscription. Among the around the H-bomb. The bomb itself would turn these chemicals into the fantastic killing dust. Dust of that sort could be made so that it would remain active a few days, a few months or as long as 5,000 years.

That is a frightening, appalling possibility.

But there is a ray of hope. These same scientists say it will be another three years before anyone will know if the bomb can be produced.

That gives mankind a little time in which to make up his mind. The decision had better be right.

SPY HUNT: No 'Witches'

There was to be "no witches—no whitewash" in the senate foreign relations subcommittee's probe of alleged infiltration of Communists into the U. S. state department.

That's what Sen. Millard Tydings (D., Md.) said of the investigation when he was named chairman of the committee which was to conduct it.

THE NAMING of the committee stemmed from charges by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R., Wis.) that an unnamed group of Communists hold—or have held—high state department posts.

But, McCarthy rather put the committee on the spot at the start when he said that if President Truman persists in his refusal to make state department employee loyalty files available, "an investigation would be useless." Mr. Truman has so persisted and declared he would ignore the senate's action in granting subpoena rights to the committee.

Indications were that a court test of the President's position was in the making if the committee chose to use its subpoena rights and called upon the President to deliver the wanted records.

TYDINGS DECLINED to pass on this issue at the outset, and said, instead, that he expected a "full, fair and complete investigation" of McCarthy's charges.

"We will let the chips fall where they may," he said, "and this will be neither a witch-hunt nor a whitewash."

The senator's intentions no doubt were good—but there might be little to worry about where the chips would fall, so long as Mr. Truman declined to pass the committee the axe they needed.

Answer Still 'No'

President Truman persisted in his refusal to give confidential loyalty files on federal employees.

However, he said he had promised the senate foreign relations committee he otherwise would cooperate in disproving what he called false charges made by Senator McCarthy (R., Wis.) that a Communist ring exists in the state department.

He told newsmen that subpoena powers voted by the senate for committee investigators would "make no difference" to him, pointing out that it would be difficult to serve a subpoena on the President of the United States, since the government affords him protection from such services.

And, indeed it would. But, it doesn't say anywhere that the President may not give information—if he chooses—to those seeking to ascertain the degree of this nation's security against subversive elements.

signers were famed scientist Albert Einstein, author Louis Bromfield and a number of prominent church leaders.

The report centered on the activities of the reserve officers training units, military science teaching, research contracts with universities, and what it sees as a trend toward putting military men in high educational places.

SPUD TALK: Ethics vs. Dollars

It was ethics versus American taxpayers' dollars as the senate argued whether it would be honest for congress to remove the price supports already promised on the 1950 potato crop.

AS ALMOST every schoolboy knew, the government's potato program was one of the most jumbled, fantastic, reason-assaulting procedures ever evolved in the U. S.

Farmers were being paid a subsidy on potatoes to compensate them for market price differentials, each year the potato surplus was growing, and farmers were permitted to buy back the subsidized potatoes as low as one cent per hundred pounds for use as fertilizer. And all this in the face of world food shortages and a real need for the surplus potatoes by local relief agencies and school lunch programs over the nation.

ODDLY ENOUGH, many Republicans were stringing along with the jets-not-destroy-subsidies thinking, with Sen. Scott Lucas, Illinois, Democratic floor leader, sponsoring a move to cancel price supports for all 1950 potatoes not already planted. Republicans favoring retention of the 1950 subsidy plan included Senators Brewster, Maine, Aiken, Vermont, and Millikin, Colorado.

Lucas was on firm ground as far as economy and mathematics went. Already the record showed, the U. S. is in the red 109 million dollars for price support operations on the 1949 crop alone.

Lucas jibed at Republicans for talking about the need for economy and then opposing his potato-curb legislation.

PROGRESSIVES: Support for Henry

Too much attention to name-calling and too little attention to issues. That's the way O. John Rogge, former assistant attorney general of the United States, summed up the trouble with the new Progressive party of which Henry Wallace—one-time vice-president of the United States—is the chief figure.

ROGGE'S STATEMENT was made in support of Wallace, who had made a virtual demand that the party stop trying to "save face" for the Communists in declarations of policy.

The party held a convention in Chicago to develop aims and objectives during which Rogge declared of the party's being called "Red baiters":

"We should be as unafraid of that label as we are of the labels 'Communist' or 'Communist front.'"

There were delegates who found signs of new attitudes among Soviet-friendship groups as an outgrowth of the Tito-resistance. The resolutions committee was reported to have shelved quietly an anti-Tito statement. Rogge touched on this schism briefly when he said:

"WE SHALL NOT BEND reason backward in order to attempt to justify the conduct of the Cominform countries toward Yugoslavia. But when the Soviet Union offers a plan in the field of atomic energy which, with all its faults, at least offers a better basis for opening and continuing negotiations than the Baruch plan, we are going to say just that."

No one doubted Rogge's stand. The Progressives, whether they were happy about it or not, were so completely tagged with Soviet-sympathy labels that there would be no confusion in the minds of the voters when its candidates offered for office.

Whadda You Think?

According to a group of Hollywood photographers, Tony Curtis, a new star on the movie horizon, is the possessor of a profile worthy of comparison with that of the late John Barrymore, whose profile was an international classic. In this composite photograph, you can compare Barrymore's (left) with Curtis' and make your choice.

LOOTER: Force of Habit

Leslie C. Potter, the 40-year-old Detroit factory personnel expert who turned burglar by night was a victim of habit, he told police. Admitting some thousand or more burglaries in the Detroit area over the past seven years, he said looting homes was his "avocation."

Incidentally, there was quite some profit in Potter's hobby—possibly as much as $80,000, authorities said.

The Living Faith
Lesson for March 19, 1950

MANY a funeral sermon has been preached over the Christian church, but somehow the corpse never stays put. What keeps it going? All sorts of explanations have been given by unsympathetic outsiders. The church (we are told) is an upper-class hobby, or a lower-class opiate; it is a social club, it is a burial society; it panders to pride, or it is a perverse form of self-torture; it is kept alive by a well-run organization. Such explanations do not explain. The truth is at heart quite simple: The Church is kept alive by faith. What is Christian faith, the faith of the church? A study of the Scripture for this week, or a broader search through the New Testament from end to end, will convince any impartial reader of the falsehood of some of the notions about what Christian faith is.

Some have claimed that it is nothing but faith in the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. Let the reader try to find this in the New Testament if he can. If you had said this to an early Christian, he would have replied along this line: That is just the problem—how can we become sons of God? How can men achieve brotherhood? Others tell us that faith is belief in a series of doctrines.

Let the reader search the New Testament and see if he can find there anything about faith in a creed. Sometimes this notion takes another form—that faith originally was a belief that Jesus' beliefs were true; in other words, that faith is accepting the "religion of Jesus."

Now the church from the beginning believed that Jesus' thoughts were true thoughts; but faith was never a simple second-hand acceptance of any one's creed, not even that of Jesus. The faith we find in the New Testament is none of these things. Still less is it faith in the saints, in Mary, or in an "infallible" church.

Faith: Not About, But In . . .
THE FAITH that broke out in glorious light in those early days of the church, and has continued shining down through the centuries, was not belief about anything or anybody, it was belief IN Some One; and that Some One was Jesus Christ.

There is a simply astonishing variety of ways in which he is spoken of in the New Testament. He is Son of Man, he is teacher and healer, he is the first-born of many brothers; he is Priest and Sacrifice, he is the Propitiation, the Reconciler of men to God; he is Master and Lord, he is the Word—that is, what God has to say to us; he is the Son of God, he sits on the throne of the universe, he will judge every man; he is the pattern for every man's character.

To put it quite bluntly, the church believed (and still believes) in a supernatural Christ and not only in a human Jesus. They believed in him as a teacher, as the Teacher indeed; but not merely as one whose teachings had been interrupted by an untimely death. They did not "play down" his death, on the contrary they played it up.

Christ crucified for us is always strongly in their minds. But they were far from leaving him as it were on a crucifix. Any form of Christianity that thinks of Jesus chiefly as a Christ-mas baby; or a starry-eyed idealist; or as a pathetic figure hanging on a crucifix is a perversion of New Testament ways of thought. Everywhere in the center is the Christ who "was dead and is alive forevermore."

There Is No Other
A YOUNG MOSLEM who became a Christian and is very happy about it, was asked what it was that changed him, for Moslems are hard to change. It was not an argument, he said, it was the lives of some missionaries in Iran whom he knew.

He wanted what they had—it was as simple as that. And he went on to say this: "Christianity doesn't have much in theology that Mohammedanism doesn't have. There is just one thing Christianity has that we didn't have, nor anything like it; Jesus Christ."

That is what—that is who wins men today, and that was the secret of the early church, and that is the secret today of the living church everywhere: Christ alive by faith in the lives of those who love him.

Atomic Time
To count atomic particles and measure their speed, there has been developed an electric stopwatch that measures time intervals as brief as one-thousandths of one-millionth of a second. Light, which travels at the rate of 186,000 miles a second, would move only one foot during the measured period.
