Elections Coming Up To Decide Problems

Elections coming up during the next few months in Texas will be lively affairs in Texas. In addition to the two liquor problems which will be decided on August 26, there will be two other unrelated problems for Texas voters to decide.

Six other constitutional amendments will be decided at the general election in 1934.

On the slate for August 26 are: Modifying the state constitution to allow the legislature to issue twenty million in bonds for unemployment, and perfecting the amendment exempting $3,000 homesteads from ad valorem taxes, so as to include certain coastal counties within its provisions.

Among the issues for determination in 1934's general election are the following:

Permitting cities to amend their charters every 12 months instead of every 24.

Permitting four year terms for city officers.

Abolishing the fee system.

Providing that tax shall be equal and uniform, and classifying property for taxation.

Permitting changes in county boundaries and providing for the consolidation of counties.

Five delegates are expected to represent each of the counties in the business session Saturday afternoon. At that time the constitution and by laws of the organization will be adopted, officers elected for the coming year, the next convention city selected and other matters will be handled in a democratic way by the entire congregation in a minimum of time.

Saturday evening a big free concert featuring professional singers on the program will be rendered. Sunday morning and afternoon class singing, quartets, trios, duets, solos, and specialty numbers will be on the program.

Over 5,000 singers are expected here from a radius of three hundred miles, Echols says.

"A Poor Married Man" To Be Staged Friday Evening

"The Poor Married Man", a three act comedy-drama, mostly comedy, will be staged at the high school auditorium Friday evening of this week under the auspices of the Loyal Workers Class of the Methodist Sunday School.

Under the efficient direction of Mrs. Carey Shock, some of the best amateur actors in this vicinity will take part in the production of one of the most laughable comedies which has ever been staged here.

Among the leading roles are those of the domineering mother-in-law, devoted to her darling "little Socrates," played by Mrs. Guy McGill, Mr. Omah McLaurin, taking the leading role as Professor John B. Wise, the poor married man, is well known from his participation in various of the plays in the dramatic circles of his community and of Lynn county. Jupiter Jackson, colored "chamber maid" is played with a bang! and a dog-gone by Glenn Everett, Howard Tredway capably fills the role of Dr. Graham. Russell Foster, who needs no introduction to play-goers here, takes the romantic lead as Billy Blake, a young college student who adores "his professor's" sister.

The spoiled and pampered daughter of the domineering Mrs. Ford, led away from the influence of her mother, is a sweet young thing who always wants to live on a ranch among wild Indians and fleas," is played by Mrs. Glenn Everett, whose ability to play ingenue parts is unquestioned. Mrs. Naymon Everett plays Mrs. Graham, the kind of a girl young men like to take home and introduce to their mothers. Miss Gladys Gibson portraying Rosalind Wilson, helps in starting the mixup which turns out to be very complicated indeed.

Plenty of between acts numbers insure you at least two and a half hours of fun. A small admission fee will be charged, proceeds to be used in work of the class and church.

This is a good, wholesome entertainment at depression prices. You are promised that no matter how blue, discouraged, worried or disgruntled you may be, if you are present and don't bust out laughing, your money is yours for the asking.

five thousand population as shown by the 1930 census, so that you can easily figure how many will be accepted from each county.

Veterans in order to be eligible to be considered by the Manager in making selections must meet the following requirements: Served in the armed forces of the United States during time of war and honorably discharged from such service.

Be a citizen of the United States unemployed and physically able to perform ordinary manual labor in work camps and be free from active or communicable diseases including venereal disease. Good character and general fitness are required and preferential consideration will be given to the unemployed Veterans who have dependents to support.

The procedure is as follows: Veterans must secure from the Regional office having jurisdiction application blanks which must be filled out in duplicate and returned to the Regional Office. An application must have the endorsement of four people, one of whom must be a representative of an organization engaged in relief work such as the American Red Cross. Other signatures may be obtained from officers of Veterans organizations.

Great care should be exercised in making these recommendations to see that no recommendation is made for a man if it is known that he is not physically fit for final acceptance. The reason for this is the quota for Texas is exceedingly small and no replacements will be allowed to take the place of those veterans rejected on account of physical condition. When the Veteran has received this application, have him fill it out in duplicate and return it to the Regional Office. If he is one of those selected by the Manager of that office he will be directed to report to the nearest Recruiting Station. Recruiting Stations in Texas are at the following places: Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Abilene, Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Wichita Falls, Tyler, Paris, Houston, Beaumont, Palestine Galveston, Port Arthur, Lufkin, Ft. Bliss, Big Spring, Lubbock, El Paso, Amarillo.

At this Recruiting Station he will be given a preliminary examination and will be sent at Government expense to a conditioning camp about two weeks. If he is rejected either at the Recruiting Station or at the Conditioning Camp he will be returned home (place of selection) at Government expense. If he is finally accepted of course he will be here for six months to one of the Camps selected for the Veterans contingent.

At this camp the hours of work will be eight hours a day, including travel too and from work, and lunch hour, for five days a week or a total of 40 hours a week. Many activities for recreation will be provided at the camp. There will be religious services on Sunday. ### LOW PRICE CARS VS. CHEAP CARS

We do not build a low-price car: the cost to us of building our car is pretty high.

But we do sell a high quality car at a low price.

Almost every new Ford V-8 car we have built so far this year; has cost more to manufacture than its selling price was. As you buy them at only $490 to $610, we have to depend on increasing volume to make up the difference.

The reason for this is simple: — a manufacturer who gives good value must expect to lose money on the first cars he sells because he cannot charge all his costs to the people who are first to buy.

But with the purchaser it is different — he cannot afford to lose anything on a car. It must give him full value from the first, and keep on giving him full value for years.

Two things make possible our combination of low prices and high cost quality:

1. Volume Production
2. Taking only one profit

First, we set our price at what would be fair to the public on the basis of economies we enjoy in volume production. Then, in order to justify and maintain our low price we must get volume sales.

Thus it comes that a car which is really high-cost to make, is also low-cost to buy.

There is a difference between a cheap car and a low-priced high quality car.

Ford prices are always fixed at a point which makes it profitable for a customer to buy.

Good and lasting business must produce profit to the buyer as well as to the seller. And of the two, the buyer's profit must be, comparatively, the larger one.

It pays us to sell the Ford V-8 because it pays you to buy it.
