

Profit, $50—But Houses Are Built

Hammer's Cheerful Song Assures Homes for Vets

By BAUKHAGE

(This is the third of a series describing how American ingenuity is helping to solve one of America's biggest problems—the G.I.'s No. 1 headache—the housing shortage.)

WASHINGTON.—Have you been in York, Pa., lately? It's a big little town of 50,000 population in southern Pennsylvania with a hinterland of rich farm country, of the famous Pennsylvania Dutch, where tables groan with seven-sweet-and-seven-sour dishes, as good victuals as you'll find though you wonder the world between hors d'oeuvres and baked alaskas from pole to pole and back again.

York is a busy place, a place of bustling industries whose products are known from coast to coast. It is also a town which can lift its eyes from the plowshare and the forge to think, simply and soundly, about caring for its own. It's a town of ingenuity.

Walk out to the Midland avenue section with me. You come upon a batch of clapboard houses—they line both sides of the street for a whole block—in various stages of completion. One group of workmen is finishing the grading on lots; another hauls plaster into a house; still others unload door frames across the street, and put the finishing touches to the roof of a house being built for a veteran.

Go a little farther downtown and you come to the Elm street houses—neat, obviously new, two-bedroom bungalows which have just been sold to veterans for $5,250 each.

On the other side of town, in Park Village, you can drive for blocks through winding streets flanked by new houses, party completed houses, excavations for houses, and everywhere the cheerful song of the hammer and the saw, the lap of pouring concrete, the thud of the pick in the deep soil.

When the lights go on at night, you will notice that a great many of the old-fashioned, three-story row houses in downtown York are lighted from top to bottom. You'd guess that a lot of people were living in those houses. You'd be right. The buildings have been converted into small apartments.

It looks as though York is getting itself pretty well housed. A glance at the figures confirms just how well the town is doing. In 1946 York built 613 new houses—100 per cent more houses than were ever built in any previous year of the city's history. In addition, Yorkites added 481 new dwelling units by converting old houses into apartments.

Of course, this didn't just happen. It was made to happen by a great many local people determined that York's veterans would have a place to live.

The big drive got under way last year when a survey showed that one out of every three York veterans was living doubled up with friends or relatives in dilapidated old buildings in need of major repairs, or in trailers without standard plumbing facilities. That's the way it was in York a year ago when Mayor John L. Snyder appointed an 18-member emergency housing committee.

The committee's decision was that York should be able to provide 1,200 new units in 1946; another 1,800 this year. They called a meeting of every one concerned with housing; asked each builder to stand up and tell the group how many of the needed houses he would build in 1946—until the pledges met the quota.

Shortages of materials were a serious threat to this undertaking, but York builders had accepted their quotas and were determined to build houses. When they couldn't find the scarce materials near home, they went to Buffalo, to Ohio, to Hagerstown, Md.

Members of the housing committee pitched in with enthusiasm. One of them came back from a Sunday drive with two kegs of nails in his car—bought on the spot when he discovered a little country hardware store that had some. Someone else found a millwork concern in a nearby town which had some door frames for sale.

To keep prices down, local builders voluntarily cut profits. One went so far as to take a profit of only $50 per house on a large group of veterans' houses.

Because converting to apartments is quicker and takes less materials, York also undertook a campaign in this direction, aided by the Chamber of Commerce, the local housing expediter, banks, press and radio.

In 1946—a year when shortages brought building programs in many communities to a dead stop—York built twice as many houses as had been produced there in any previous year. York's goal for 1947 is 1,800 new living units. The folk in York aren't promising anything—they aren't talking about what they're going to do. But in the first four months of the year—with the building season just getting under way—they've filed over 1,100 applications to build houses.

School Boys Learn Constitution

On a 140-acre fruit farm a couple of miles from Olcott Beach where I used to go swimming and the name of which was taken by one of the sweet singers of the last generation (some of you remember Chauncey Olcott of "My Wild Irish Rose")—anyhow on that farm a young boy strained with the pruning knife; stretched to pluck the fuzzy, Niagara county peaches.

That was scarcely a decade ago. On a bright March day, this same fellow—now 17—came into my office. Since he was a graduate of a Buffalo school, we had something in common despite the gulf of the years. We had something else in common, too. I also had once won a prize in oratory.

Mine had to do with a gentleman named Spartacus when I was a Masten Park high school entrant. His was a far more timely topic—the Constitution of the United States. His name is Edward Smith and he's a graduate of St. Joseph's on Main street in Buffalo.

Smith is one of the four national winners of the American Legion's oratorical contest held each year to stimulate American high school boys to study and understand the Constitution. Never was such an understanding needed more.

Winning was no cinch. Two hundred thousand boys from every state entered this year. Smith (there weren't too many "Smiths" in this contest, he told me) had to face nine different critical audiences—one in his school; one in the city of Buffalo; one in Erie county; one in the district; one in the zone; one in the state; one in the region; one in the section, and then the final heat—the national contest at Charleston, W. Va.

Smith's theme was that Americans must not be too complacent about the dangers of Communism; that our Constitution in itself is not protection for our form of government—that its duties and privileges must constantly be exercised by every citizen. He told me, incidentally, that Communism in relation to the Constitution was quite a popular subject among this year's contest entrants.

Edward Smith of Buffalo, a winner in the American Legion oratorical contest based on the Constitution, is being quizzed by Baukhage, also an ex-Buffalo schoolboy, on the Bill of Rights.

SCHOOL AT NORTHERNMOST OUTPOST . . . There seems to be no evading the traditional "three R's." These little Eskimo residents of Point Barrow, northernmost outpost of the United States, are learning them at the Point Barrow school (background) from American teachers. Point Barrow, a little village covered by snow the year around, is the center of extensive oil explorations started by the navy in 1944.

Big 4 Parley Is Failure; Wheat Pact Is Delayed

MOSCOW CONFERENCE: Little Accomplished

After seven weeks of wrangling, the foreign ministers' conference at Moscow ended in a state banquet. Results of the parley were extremely disappointing, even to those whose expectations had been small. It had been hoped that a treaty for Austria would be worked out, but even preliminary agreements could not be reached. The more important matter of the German treaty suffered the same fate, as expected.

Secretary of State Marshall bluntly blamed the Russians for obstructing the negotiations. He charged that the Soviet delegation had "widened rather than narrowed our differences."

Principal points of controversy were the definition of German and Austrian assets which the Russians want as reparations and the disarmament and demilitarization plan, known as the "four nation treaty."

Failure to complete the Austrian treaty means that occupation troops of the four powers will remain in Austria for several more months.

WAR CRAFT: Garson Case Again

A new move in the drawn-out war contracts graft case of Representative May and the Garson brothers will be May's testimony in his own defense. His lawyer, Sawyer Smith, told the court that it is untrue that the 71-year-old Kentucky politician profited from deals between the Garson munitions plants and Cumberland Lumber company. "Andrew J. May will take the stand and explain to you how every dollar of that money was spent, and how not one cent went to Andrew J. May," the lawyer asserted.

On trial with May are Henry and Murray Garson, head of the war materials syndicate, and Joseph Freeman, the Garson agent in Washington. The government prosecutor contends that May received $5,000 outright from the Garsons and two checks for $1,000 each for "intervening with war department officials" in behalf of the companies.

New evidence turned up by the FBI, according to the prosecutor, is the typewriter used in preparing the false invoices of the lumber company, through which it is alleged May received the bribes.

WHEAT AGREEMENT: British Won't Sign

There will be no world-wide agreement of wheat-producing countries on prices and marketing procedures in the near future. This seems certain as the International Wheat conference in London has broken up on British refusal to sign the proposed plan. Negotiations have been in progress for many weeks in an attempt to formulate a five-year price and marketing schedule.

Sir Herbert Broadley, British delegate, explained his reason for rejecting the draft was that the price scheme in it would not enable the price of wheat to fall quickly enough to a reasonable level. "The United Kingdom cannot afford to pay excessive prices for its imports," he said. "The world must face much lower prices for wheat than those ruling at present, but we want to see those prices achieved in a manner which protects the producer against hardship and enables necessary switches to be made without disaster."

Delegates from Canada, Australia and India followed the British lead. Leslie Wheeler, U. S. delegate, urged immediate acceptance of the draft. Brazil's delegate seconded him. This move was rejected. Wheeler then asked that the proposal be sent to the international wheat council, which will be held in Washington, and that countries not new adhering be invited to join. The conference accepted this request.

NO RENT BOOST: House Kills 10% Plan

The house banking committee, reversing its previous stand, voted down a proposal for a 10 per cent blanket increase in rents. It approved and sent on for action a bill continuing controls until December 31. The senate banking committee already has voted unanimously against any raise, and the senate's bill would continue control until March 1, 1948.

The vote in the house committee was 14 to 10. As outlined by Representative Wolcott, chairman, the house bill provides:

Continuance of rent control just about as it is now until December 31, with the President having authority by proclamation to keep ceilings in effect until next March 1 if he deems it necessary.

A new provision whereby tenants and landlords may voluntarily enter lease contracts for up to 15 per cent increases in rent, provided these leases do not expire before December 31, 1948.

maintain rigidly high prices by cutting down production and applying monopolistic controls, or if labor is going to insist upon maintaining rigidly high wage rates and to continue such increases in wages without regard to productivity, and to enforce such rates with scarcity policies which discourage consumption and throw people out of work and onto relief rolls.

"It is this approach which leads to economic chaos. Farmers believe in an economy of abundance and stand ready to join with industry and labor to achieve maximum production and maximum employment through price policies and wage policies which are geared to a maximum level of consumption."

'SEE AMERICA FIRST'

National Parks Are Major Lure to Vacation Throngs

WNU Features.

Vacation-hungry Americans are on the move. Tourist trains once again are jammed as the American public, with its vacation lanes unshackled of wartime restrictions, attempts to cram a full quota of fun and frolic, rest and relaxation, adventure and sight-seeing into the short vacation span of a few weeks.

The upsurge in vacation travel is noted in all forms of land, sea and air transportation. Trains and buses are crowded; airlines are booked with reservations; passenger vessels and even tramp steamers are unable to accommodate all those bent on sea-faring jaunts. With transportation, food and hotel accommodations in Europe still insecure in the war's aftermath, most Americans still are content, as they were last year, to heed the old slogan of "See America First."

The nation's principal attraction for vacationists is the national park system, embracing 169 separate areas in all parts of the United States. Last year the park system attracted a record-shattering 21,600,000 visitors, half a million more than in any previous year.

On the basis of attendance so far, Newton B. Drury, director of the National Park service, which administers the system, predicts that 1947 will set another new record. "What's more," says the park chief, "we hope to be able to take better care of our visitors than we did last year, when our park staffs had nowhere near recovered from the reductions of wartime."

Concessioners who operate the hotels, lodges, stores and transportation system in the parks also were shorthanded last year, Drury points out, but he adds that "they probably will be in better shape this year."

AS HAS BEEN the case for many years, one of the most popular travel objectives of the American vacationer will be Yellowstone National park in Wyoming, Montana and Idaho. Yellowstone is the oldest park in the entire system; it is, in fact, the oldest national park in the world, having celebrated the 75th anniversary of its founding on March 1 of this year.

Containing approximately 2,213,000 acres, it is noted for its geysers and hot springs, of which it has more than any other area in the world. Old Faithful, spouting its steaming waters high into the air at intervals of about an hour, day and night, summer and winter, has become a virtual symbol of Yellowstone.

Yet Yellowstone would be a great national park if there weren't a geyser or hot spring. While the two great falls of the Yellowstone and the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone with its vividly colored walls combine to form its most spectacular scenic feature, the park abounds in natural beauty. Yellowstone lake, with its hundred miles of shoreline and its eastern border of lofty peaks; scores of towering waterfalls; Obsidian cliff, of black glass; high and sweeping upland valleys and vast expanses of little-known wilderness—these merely suggest the variety of the scenery it possesses.

No other national park is as widely known for its wildlife. Yellowstone played an important part in restoration of the American bison, after it had come close to extinction, and there are hundreds of them in the park today. In quiet streams and marshes, the traveler is likely at any time to come across moose, Elk, antelope, bighorn sheep, grizzly bear, although not always seen by the traveler, are there and in numbers. Most familiar, perhaps, is the black bear, and this animal proves one of the most vexatious problems that confronts the National Park service. For, despite warnings that they are wild animals and dangerous, visitors insist on feeding the bears.

Accommodations for visitors in Yellowstone range all the way from luxurious hotels down through inexpensive housekeeping cabins to the campgrounds which are scattered throughout the park. Hotel and lodge centers are situated at Mammoth Hot Springs, location of park headquarters; at Old Faithful, Canyon and Lake, while cabins are available at Camp Roosevelt, near Tower Junction. There are highway entrances to the park from north, northeast, east, south and west. Because the demand for accommodations is certain to be heavy this year, those who plan visits to the park are advised to obtain reservations as far in advance as possible.

IN MARKED CONTRAST with the oldest of the national parks is the newest, Big Bend in West Texas, located in a big bend of Rio Grande river. The State of Texas made a present of this 700,000-acre park to the people of the United States in 1944—so short a time ago that there has been little opportunity to provide it with the developments found in most of the older parks.

While much of the park is semi-desert, where the desert vegetation is staging a steady recovery of its natural condition after many years of heavy grazing, its heart is the forested mass of the Chisos mountains, rising to elevations of more than 7,000 feet. Along the Rio Grande are three sheer-walled canyons, Mariscal, Boquillas and the Grand Canyon of Santa Helena, the deepest and most imposing of the three.

An improved road southward to the park from the town of Marathon is now under construction, and ultimately it will be reached by a first-class road. Accommodations in the park, for 40 to 60 persons, are simple but good; and many visitors find a visit to the area an interesting experience, in spite of, or perhaps because of, the lack of development.

STUDY IN CONTRASTS . . . Big Bend National park offers a combination of rugged mountainous terrain and semi-desert vegetation, as indicated by this view through the "window" in Chisos mountains.

Hyde Park Visitors Cause Damage

WASHINGTON.—Half a million visitors have worn such a path through Franklin D. Roosevelt's Hyde Park, N. Y., home, now a national historic site, that a bit of bracing and carpeting has become necessary, the National Park service reports. Furthermore, according to the park service, there has been "some wear and tear" on the grounds and lawns have been ruined.

Soldier Come Home

BY BETTY ZANE WATSON

Johnny Davis and his father, J. D., have tried for years to build a children's park and swimming pool, but old Jennifer Martin, Johnny's grandmother, refuses to grant any land for the project. When their only hope is shattered, Kit Whitt, reporter, who is engaged to Basil Martin, Mrs. Martin's only other grandson, persuades the two men to go see Mrs. Martin personally even though she has never allowed them into the house because of an old grievance. As Kit is standing at the door awaiting entrance, J. D. rushes up to her and receives the full impact of several bullets intended for Kit. They were sent by Jerry Murphy, town delinquent, who hates Jennifer Martin and thinks he was shooting at her.

CHAPTER XV

Jennifer Martin was taken back by Kit's actions and although she could see that John Davis, her son-in-law, was evidently unconscious in the car, she did not know what had happened. She turned to Thomas, returning from the hall where he had called the hospital.

"Thomas, what has happened?" But her voice had lost its arrogance. "Mr. Davis was shot, madam." His voice was full of concern and he looked anxiously to the quiet form on the couch. "I called the police also," he spoke to Johnny, "and they will be here any minute."

"There is no need of them coming now. There's no question about it," Johnny said slowly.

"You mean you know who did it?" Kit looked at him in surprise.

Johnny's face hardened, his mouth set firmly as he answered, "I know exactly!"

"But why—why should anyone want to shoot him?" Kit asked incredulously.

"He didn't want to shoot him, Kit. He shot at you, thinking you were someone else." He lowered his eyes. "Dad stepped in front of you just as he fired," he explained slowly.

Kit studied a minute, trying to remember the whole incident, exactly as it had happened. "You say that the man thought I was somebody else? But who, Johnny? I was in Basil's car—and I had that coat of J. D.'s around—"

She stopped suddenly as if the realization of who the murderer had taken her to be hit her like a blow. She looked at Jennifer Martin, who, in the same instant had realized that Kit had been taken for her.

Neither of them spoke. They stared at each other and finally Mrs. Martin looked away from her and to J. D. on the couch.

Her face changed expression slowly, but it changed greatly. As she looked at him, the bitterness left the lines of her thin mouth, the severe scrutiny of her small eyes disappeared and left in their place the face of a lonely old woman.

Kit ran to her and put her arms about her. "Oh, I'm sorry for the things I said—you aren't to blame. They were trying to kill you!"

"Who was it, sir?" Thomas asked Johnny, now standing beside him by the window, watching for the lights of the ambulance and the police.

"Jerry Murphy. The same one who set the house on fire. If only we had turned him in then . . . if only I'd have known that he meant his drunken threats!" Johnny shook his head and his face suddenly looked old, as if he had seen too much of life.

"Poor Johnny," Kit put an arm around him. "If only J. D. had stayed in the car as we planned. Why did he change his mind, Johnny?"

"What made him come to the door? If he hadn't—"

She bit her lip to keep back a sob. "Oh, it would have been better that way—so much better if—"

"Kit—don't . . . please." He drew a long breath. "We can't change things. Maybe Dad knew somehow—maybe something told him to go to the door—we don't know."

Just then they saw the lights of the ambulance and directly behind them, following them up the drive, was the squad car. Thomas and Johnny ran to the door to direct them to where J. D. lay in the living room.

Mrs. Martin Looks At the Past

Slowly, J. D. awakened. His eyes tried to focus on his surroundings, but his vision was blurred to everything except one bright color above the fireplace. And suddenly Linda's face was clear before him, like the face of a dream, and it all came back to him. He had been sitting in a car and had seen her through the window and she had called to him as though she needed him and he had run to the door—and then. Kit was all right. Somehow he knew that for this reason Linda had called him—she had needed him to save Kit's life.

He smiled weakly with much effort. "I heard you, Lindy—I heard you," he whispered softly.

The doctor examined J. D. carefully and found that he could be moved to the hospital. He had again lost consciousness when Johnny and Kit returned.

Jennifer Martin stood in the archway of the living room, where she had stood watching J. D. When he had spoken to the portrait of Linda, her daughter, she saw more than the man lying on the couch. She saw the great love this man had kept for his wife through these many years. She saw the foolish resolutions she had made had not altered this love and the wall she had built against any recognition of her daughter's love crumbled, for it was a wall based on falsehoods and lies and bricked with bitterness.

Johnny and Kit followed the ambulance to the hospital, with instructions for the police to pick up Jerry Murphy and hold him for murder until they could get to the station.

When they got in the car, Johnny and Kit both thought how short a time it had been since J. D. had been sitting between them in the front seat. How they had so carefully planned how they would enter Martindale. And how fate had so intervened that they were quickly taken inside of the house that had been closed to them before. Neither of them spoke of their thoughts, but drove in silence through the streets of the town to the hospital.

It was still raining and so dark they could scarcely see their way from the parking lot behind the huge brick building to the front entrance. They waited in the room where Johnny and J. D. had waited such a short time before to hear word of Jackie Murphy, the son of

"You can rest now, Pop," he called in a low voice. "I killed her tonight. I settled our debt with her, all right! My poor dead father!" He wept tears that mingled with the rain on his unshaven face. When he looked up again after a few minutes, the vision of his father had disappeared and he started on his way again.

But he was not to travel far, for within twenty feet of him yawned the same open pit that had killed his father.

No one heard his scream as he went to his death. A tragic call for help that was to be answered only by the unrelenting rain and the darkness.

When Johnny and Kit reached room 307, both of them looked to the other for a moment before entering the room.

J. D. was just coming out of the anesthetic and he was conscious one moment only to fall back into a deep sleep the next. There were two doctors and a nurse standing beside his bed conferring in soft tones.

They walked quietly from the room then—leaving Johnny and Kit alone with J. D.

Johnny, anxious to know about his father, stepped out in the hall and called to one of the doctors who had left the room.

"What—what about Dad?" He asked slowly.

"You're his son, aren't you?" At Johnny's nod, he continued, "Well, son, there's nothing more we can do. We've tried everything we can—now it's just wait—"

He cleared his throat and looked at Johnny closely. "He doesn't seem—oh—seem to have much fight. It's nothing physical—more resignation, I should say. Is there any reason why he shouldn't . . . wait to—well—is there any reason why your father would give up?"

Johnny looked at the man a long time before he answered him. "My mother—she died . . . a long time ago. He still misses her terribly—although no one ever knows it. He's such a—great guy!" Johnny was very near breaking. The doctor laid a hand on his shoulder.

"Well, maybe you can talk to him . . . and get him interested in living again. I hope so." He smiled at Johnny.

When Johnny entered the room again Kit was standing beside the bed and he thought he heard her speaking to J. D. He walked to her side quickly.

J. D. had opened his eyes and was holding Kit's hand. He seemed to be smiling at her. They were not saying a word, but Johnny knew they understood the meaning in each other's eyes. Johnny walked around the bed to J. D.'s side and took his other hand.

"Dad—don't try to talk. You'll have to save all your energy to get well again." He smoothed his white hair back from his forehead. "The doctor says you're going to be all right, Dad."

"Johnny—Kit . . ." He looked from one to the other of them. "Jerry—wasn't fooling this time . . . was he?"

"No, J. D., he wasn't fooling. If only we had known . . ." Kit regretted.

"Too late for that—no, Kit just remember what I was saying—just . . . why it was only this afternoon, wasn't it?"

Kit and Johnny Worry About J. D.

"You said . . . some things sometimes get in our way—and after we get around them—we find ourselves better men for the experience." Johnny smiled as he remembered his father's very words.

"That's right, son. And you'll find that this is all a part of the—"

The pain caught him and he winced. "Part of the scheme of things . . . and that everything will work out all right."

"Sure it will, J. D.," Kit encouraged him. "Why, I bet Mrs. Martin will even come to see you here!" She laughed and tried to show a gayety she did not feel. "Remember how we tried to get inside Martindale . . . and all we needed to do was just have you get shot!" She laughed softly again, but somehow she felt that J. D. knew it was a poor attempt.

"Kit—Johnny will be needing you down at the office now, you know?" He asked her for her promise.

"And I'll stand by, don't you worry a minute about that! I'll be there to welcome you back, you old darling." She pressed his hand.

"Good girl—you've changed your mind, then?"

Johnny noticed his father's voice was much weaker than when he had started talking to them.

"Dad . . . won't you lie back now and be quiet? We'll stay close by you and you take a little nap and we'll be back just the minute you want us, won't we, Kit?" He looked at her with his true meaning in his eyes.

"That's right, J. D., we'll let you rest a while and be back real soon. Honest!" she assured him.

They started for the door.

"Kit," he called, "Kit, come here a minute. Don't worry, Johnny—I'm just fixing up a date with her . . ." he tried to laugh.

Johnny saw that his father wanted to talk to Kit alone and he started for the door. "So long, Dad," he called softly over his shoulder, looking back at him.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

Meat Makes Fine Main Dish Salads

(See Recipes Below)

Spring Salads

"Most women know how easy it is to whip together a salad," said my next door neighbor. "Why don't they think of using a meat or fish salad to make spring lunches easy?" Naturally I agreed with her wholeheartedly, and promised to remind my readers of this thought now that the weather is becoming warmer. What is better when you've been hanging out clothes or gardening, than coming in to lunch on a crisp, chilled salad? You know you can slip the salad together before you start the morning's work and place in the refrigerator until luncheon.

Protein is an important requirement of our body, whether we are young or old. Thus, it's wise to plan a main dish salad that makes use of one of the good protein foods such as eggs, fish, cheese or meat. But make it crisp and crunchy, too, using vitamin and mineral-laden greens right from the garden.

Veal Salad

(Serves 6)

- 2 cups cooked macaroni
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 6 sweet pickles, chopped
- 6 sliced radishes
- 1/2 cup cucumber, sliced
- 3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 2 1/2 cups diced, cooked veal

Mix salad ingredients. Toss together with just enough mayonnaise to moisten all ingredients thoroughly. Serve cold on crisp greens.

(Note: If desired, roast leftover or stewed veal may be used.)

Potato Salad

(Serves 6)

- 6 new potatoes, sliced
- 6 slices uncooked bacon, diced
- 1 small onion, minced
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 1/4 cup sour cream

Boil potatoes in their skins until tender. Peel and slice. Fry bacon until crisp; remove and brown onion in fat. Add vinegar, salt, pepper and sour cream. Add potatoes and bacon. Serve hot or cold, garnished with sliced tomatoes and weiners prepared thus:

Broiled Weiners

- 6 frankfurters
- 6 slices bacon
- 1/4 pound American cheese
- Mustard

Slit frankfurters, spread inside with mustard and insert strips of cheese. Wrap a strip of bacon around each frankfurter and place under broiler. Heat to brown and crisp the bacon and melt the cheese.

Hearty Salad Bowl

(Serves 6)

- 1 clove garlic
- 1 head lettuce
- 1/2 bunch watercress
- 1 cup French dressing
- 1 cup celery, cut in strips
- 1 cup cooked ham or tongue, sliced
- 1 cup cooked chicken, sliced
- 1 cup Swiss cheese, sliced
- 1 cup cooked or canned peas
- 1 hard-cooked egg, chopped

LYNN SAYS:

Use Leftovers Well If You Would Budget

If you have plain cooked macaroni, this can be combined with a number of leftover vegetables, hard-boiled eggs and used with mayonnaise as a main dish salad.

A simple entree to stretch leftover chicken is to combine it with bright peas, green pepper and pimiento in a white sauce. Serve this piping hot over tenderly cooked golden egg noodles.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- Hot Consomme
- Cheese Sticks
- Hearty Salad Bowl
- Butterscotch Pudding with Cream
- Ice Box Cookies
- Beverage

*Recipe given.

Rub salad bowl with peeled clove of garlic. Shred greens in the bowl and toss in with 1/2 cup of dressing. Add remaining ingredients and remaining dressing. Toss well and serve garnished with the chopped hard cooked egg.

Jellied Fish Salad

(Serves 6 to 8)

- 1 1/2 cups grated tuna fish or flaked salmon
- 2 shelled hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 1/2 cup chopped, stuffed olives
- 2 tablespoons capers
- 1 tablespoon chopped chives or minced onion
- 1 tablespoon plain gelatin
- 1/4 cup cold water
- 1 1/2 cups mayonnaise
- Lettuce or greens
- Tomatoes, sliced or quartered
- Avocado slices, marinated in lemon juice

Combine tuna fish, eggs, olives, capers and chives. Soak gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes, then dissolve over hot water. Add dissolved gelatin to mayonnaise, stirring constantly. Add to fish mixture and mix together thoroughly. Turn into a mold and chill until firm. Unmold on bed of greens and garnish with tomato and avocado slices. Serve with additional dressing, if desired.

Green pepper and eggs go together like bread and butter. You can chop hard-cooked eggs together with minced green pepper and use as the basis of a salad sandwich, or if you want to fuss a bit more you can make a pretty-pretty salad this way, when you invite your next door neighbor over for a spot of lunch. Prepare this salad in advance and it will slice more readily.

Stuffed Green Pepper and Egg Salad

(Serves 6 to 8)

- 3 medium-sized green peppers
- 1/2 pound cream cheese
- 3 shelled, hard-cooked eggs
- 1 sweet pickle
- 1/2 cup chopped stuffed olives
- 2/3 cup mayonnaise
- Lettuce
- French dressing

Wash peppers, cut off tops and remove the seeds. Meanwhile cream the cheese until it is smooth. Put eggs, pickle and olives through a food chopper and add to cheese with mayonnaise and combine to make a thick paste. Pack this mixture into the peppers and chill for several hours. Slice peppers crosswise, 1/4 inch thick, and arrange several slices on lettuce. Serve with french dressing, if desired.

The fresher the stain, the easier it is to remove. How to remove it depends upon the type of stain, the color, and kind of fabric and the washability of the garment. Here are some suggestions: For egg and meat juice stains: scrape excess food off with a dull knife, then soak stain in cold water. Wash in warm suds. Hot water will set the stain if not first treated with cold water.

Honey, plus a bit of grated orange, plus cream cheese, make a sandwich filling that's nutritious. Add one tablespoon of honey and a bit of grated rind to a package of cream cheese. Mix together until fluffy. This filling is particularly good in sandwiches made from nut or fruited breads.

Don't water houseplants too often, the experts say. Never just wet the surface of the soil. Apply enough water so all the soil in the pot is saturated and water drips from the drainage hole in the pot. A plant needs water when tapping on the side of the pot makes a hollow sound.

Spring House Cleaning

A good old fashioned spring house cleaning in every city and community in Texas would do a great deal toward furthering good health in this state, according to the State Health Department. From a practical standpoint the old adage that Cleanliness is next to Godliness is still well worth emphasizing.

A general clean up program of state wide proportions with the objective of bettering health conditions for our citizenship should include the surface cleaning of streets and alleys, proper drainage or the fill-in of low areas, cleaning all parks and playgrounds and the clearing of weeds and rubbish off of vacant lots.

The destruction of mosquito breeding places and rat harborage, the proper disposal of garbage and trash and the general cleaning up of all premises will be of inestimable value in helping to keep down summer health hazards such as dysentery, typhoid, and poliomyelitis. Good community housekeeping and ordinary sanitary measures require the prompt removal of all waste matter in and around yards and homes in order to abate the danger of such diseases, and insure good health protection throughout the State.

The fact is that many dangerous diseases are filth borne and the only possible way to control them is to eliminate the insanitary conditions responsible for their spread.

Announces Details of $20,000,000 Price Reductions

PRODUCT	NO. OF MODELS	$ REDUCTION	% REDUCTION
FARM TRACTORS	12	$10 TO $134	UP TO 10.6%
MOTOR TRUCKS	12	$50 TO $300	1.9% TO 3.6%
2-ROW MOUNTED CORN PICKER	1	$52	6.4%
MILKER UNITS	2	$12 TO $17	14.4% TO 18.4%
PLOWS	52	$9 TO $20	3.0% TO 10.7%
CULTIVATORS	13	$5 TO $10	4.5% TO 7.4%

This is a partial list of price reductions. Others listed as right.

Details of the International Harvester policy of making price reductions to save customers approximately $20,000,000 a year have now been worked out.

Prices have been reduced on 163 models. These cover 12 basic models of farm tractors, 123 basic models of farm machines, 16 basic models of industrial tractors and engines, and 12 models of motor trucks, as well as certain motor truck attachments. The new lower prices are effective as of March 10, 1947.

These reductions were made not because of any decline in demand, but because the company believes nothing is more important than to lower the prices of the goods people buy.

While prices have not been changed on all products, reductions have been made wherever possible, in the amounts possible. Prices of many of the most popular products have been substantially lowered.

Altogether, more than half of the company's customers will be benefited by the reductions, which range from 1% to 23.8% and from $2.50 to $300 per item, based on the company's list prices.

The ability to maintain these lower prices will depend on the supply and price of materials the company buys from others and on uninterrupted production at reasonable wage levels.

The prices listed here carry out the announced policy that "Any price is too high if it can be reduced." As dealers in this territory, we will do our part!

Soldier Come Home

BY BETTY ZANE WATSON

Johnny Davis and his father, J. D., together with Kit Willett, a reporter with whom Johnny is in love, go to see Jennifer Martin, Johnny's grandmother, who has never acknowledged the two men because of an old grievance. They intend to ask for the land she had promised for a children's park before the death of her daughter, Linda, who was Johnny's mother. Jennifer Martin, sees Kit at the door of Martindale, and, mistaking her for the old woman, shoots at her. He misses her but only because J. D. intervened for her. Jerry Murphy, in running away, falls into the same pit that killed his father.

CHAPTER XVI

Johnny and Kit stayed on at the hospital until daybreak. They had had nothing to eat since the noon before and when the nurse at the desk suggested they go out and get some breakfast they decided they should, even though neither of them felt hungry.

Johnny checked with the private nurse on duty before they left and she assured him they would call him at the restaurant if there should be any change in his father's condition. J. D. was resting more comfortably when he asked and she offered Johnny some encouragement.

Kit awaited him anxiously in the waiting room and was relieved when Johnny told her the good news. They walked out of the hospital together and around back where they had parked Basil's car last night.

They got in the car and drove down to the main part of town to the restaurant where Johnny and J. D. had eaten for the past twenty years. Everyone knew what had happened by this time and Johnny did not realize until then just how many friends his father possessed. Each newcomer in the restaurant asked immediately about J. D. and he knew the sincerity in their hopes was genuine.

As they were leaving Johnny looked at Kit and asked, "Kit, after we run over to the hospital again . . . and find out that Dad's still all right . . . what do you say we go down to the office and get out the edition? Maybe nobody will expect us to—today—but, well, I'd sort of like to show Dad we were on the job—take him over the paper to read this evening, huh?"

When they reached Basil's car, Kit opened the door, then hesitated a moment and then closed it again. "Look, Johnny, let's leave this here and take Moses. This one only brings us bad luck."

Johnny looked at her and smiled. He had wanted to suggest the same thing, but thought she might object. They walked to the Clarion office and found Moses parked obediently at the curb. When they got inside both of them felt relieved to be back with an old friend again. The shiny convertible car that Basil prized stood deserted outside the restaurant as they drove past on their way to the hospital.

The nurse at the desk informed them that J. D.'s condition was unchanged and that he was still resting. However, Johnny had to verify this with J. D.'s private nurse before he felt he could leave the hospital. She assured him that this report was correct and that she would call him when J. D. awakened. He thanked her for her kindness and left with Kit for the Clarion office.

They had only been at the office a short time when the word came about Jerry Murphy. McKinney came into the office about nine-thirty with the news.

"Well, we found your man Murphy all right!" he said in a disgruntled tone.

"You did?" Johnny was on his feet. "Where is he?" he asked the chief quickly.

Sympathy for Mrs. Murphy

"At the morgue—what's left of him!" he announced casually.

"What do you mean, McKinney? Who killed him?"

"Nobody! The good-for-nothing bum fell in the same trap that got his old man! Good riddance twice, I'd say!" He bit hard on his cigar as if to show his disgust.

Johnny thought a moment, trying to get the events straightened in his befuddled mind. Jerry had been on his way out of town, then, after the shooting and had crossed over Brown's hill. He shook his head slowly.

Kit came into his office just then and McKinney went over the whole thing again to her. Hearing it the second time it seemed almost as unreal as it did the first.

McKinney left finally and he turned to Kit.

"Did you ask him if Mrs. Murphy had been notified yet?"

"No. I can catch him, though." She started toward the door by which he had just left.

"Wait," he stopped her. "It's all right. It isn't important, anyway. She'll find out soon enough." His voice was low.

Kit drew a deep sigh. "She seems to have had more than her share, doesn't she, Johnny?"

Johnny remembered what J. D. had said to them, but as yet they were bitter-tasting in his mouth.

"She's better off without him, but—will she realize it?" he asked aloud, but Kit knew he was merely thinking it, and thinking of little Jackie. How would the child be raised? The child of a would-be murderer?

The phone cut through his thoughts like a bowie knife. He knew what it was. He knew who the voice would be and what it would say before he picked up the receiver. When he reached for it his hand was shaking.

"Yes, this is he. . . . I can come right. . . . You mean. . . . Yes, I see. Thank you, I'm—sure you did." He put the receiver down and looked at Kit. There were tears in his eyes.

"Dad—won't be back," was all he said.

J. D.'s funeral was on Sunday. It was perhaps the largest funeral Lexington had ever known. Friends came from near and far to take a last look at the man they had so loved.

Kit stayed with Johnny almost constantly during the three days. They had managed with the help at the office to get out the editions each day, as J. D. would have wanted them to do.

After the funeral, Kit went to the office with Johnny. It was home to Johnny and the only place he could take Kit with him. Once or twice he had thought about Kit's constant companionship during the last few days and had wondered how she had managed to stay away from Basil so long. Anyway, she had arranged it somehow and he could not tell her his gratitude.

Jackie Makes a Deal With Johnny

With her terrible loneliness was pushed back. The gap in his life that J. D. left was almost unbearable at times.

Kit had sensed this and had dropped all her plans to be with Johnny until he was more reconciled to his father's death; Basil and his father were hunting in Pennsylvania, although she did not mention this to Johnny, thinking it might upset him to know they would return the last of the coming week in time for the date they had set for the wedding.

Johnny walked into the inner office that had been J. D.'s and his. He sat down at his desk wearily and rested his forehead on his hand.

"It's all over, Kit," he said slowly.

"Johnny—you haven't slept since that night, I know. Why don't you go to your room and try to get some now?" she asked, sitting on the edge of the desk.

"In that room? No, Kit. . . . I can't. It's so awfully empty. Everywhere I look. . . . he's there!" He shook his head.

"I know. . . . I know," she answered, not knowing any reply to give him but this.

"If I could just get away from— from everything—the room—this office—the park site—Lexington—everything, Kit. If I could start all over again, where there weren't any memories or any—failures." He was remembering the park. "If I could chuck it all. . . ."

"Oh, Johnny, you don't mean that! Don't you see you'd only be running away from yourself, and the ideas you'll always have, no matter where you'd go? Do you think that J. D. would want you to do that way? Why, Johnny, he'd expect you to step in and take his place here, like you always planned to do. Maybe he died before he should have, but lots of people do, Johnny; it's just one of the things we don't understand, and it's something we just have to take—and when it comes you can either keep going or—quit. And I know your Dad knew that you wouldn't quit—ever."

"I guess you're right, Kit. It's normal to want to run away at a time like this. . . . but it's not normal to let yourself do it. I suppose

I can be worth something to somebody around here. I'll fall a long way short of filling his place, but I can try."

He got up quickly then and put on his topcoat.

"I better go over to Murphy's, Kit. I haven't been there yet. They will be needing someone to look after them," he decided quickly.

"Can't I go too, Johnny?" she asked.

He turned around and faced her, put his hands on her shoulders and looked deeply into her eyes. "Kit, if ever I had a friend you are that friend!" His sincerity touched her.

They got to the house just as Mrs. Murphy and Jackie were arriving home from Jerry's funeral. Johnny had wondered if there had been more than a few people at the services. Jerry had few friends and after the shooting he had less.

Johnny and Kit thought Jackie and his mother had seen them stop, but they noticed that the two hurried on into the house.

"Jackie. . . . come here," he called tenderly.

The little boy shook his head and bit his lips to keep back the tears, but they tumbled down over his cheeks regardless.

"No. . . . I can't. . . . Mama says you won't have any more to do with me now. . . ." He hung his head in shame.

Kit ran to him and, opening the door, took him in her arms.

"Jackie. . . . don't say such a thing. Of course, Johnny still loves you, honey," she promised him, holding his thin little body against her.

Mrs. Murphy came up behind them and Johnny nodded to her. She started to speak, but he silenced her.

"Don't try, Mrs. Murphy. We both have had sorrow," he answered her attempt.

"Thank you, Johnny." Her face was dry and only her eyes showed the agony and shame she had endured these last few days.

Jackie looked up at Johnny, idolizing his every move. He reached for his hand hesitatingly, found it and pressed it hard with his small fingers.

"You aren't mad. . . . Johnny?"

Johnny stooped down beside the child and put his arm about him.

"Listen, young man, I couldn't be mad at you if I wanted to be—and who said I wanted to, anyway?"

"I'm gonna get me a paper route, Johnny—on your paper, so's I can keep Mama," he declared boldly.

"Well, I think that would be pretty fine, Jack. And seems to me the Clarion needs an office boy about your size for Saturdays and summers," he suggested.

"About my size, Johnny?"

"That's right!"

Jackie looked worried for a minute. "But suppose I get a bigger size by next summer, Johnny?"

Johnny smiled and pretended to consider this. "Well, I expect the job might grow along with you, Jack!" he answered, laughing.

After Kit and Johnny had left the Murphys' house, Johnny had driven Kit to her uncle's house. He had promised her he would try to get some sleep that he needed badly.

He went to his room alone about dusk and when he reached the house he almost turned back.

Mrs. Morrison called to him from her living room as he started up the steps.

"Johnny?" she asked. "Someone has been trying to get you on the phone all afternoon."

"Who was it? Did they leave any word?" he asked without enthusiasm.

"No, they wouldn't give me their name; said they would call later. There—" The ring interrupted her.

"There the phone is now. Answer it, will you, Johnny? It might be your party again."

"I'll get it," he answered, as he walked to the phone.

"Hello. . . . yes. . . . this is he speaking. Who? Oh. . . . yes. Yes, I understand now. I—I was just going to get a little sleep, but that can wait. . . . You're sure you're not mistaken? She wants me to come there—now?" His face changed expression. "I guess I can—all right."

To say that this turn of events puzzled him was a mild explanation. Jennifer Martin had sent for him.

Waiting to See John Davis

When Jennifer Martin followed Kit and Johnny to the hospital the night that she would get to see J. D., her son-in-law. She could only hope she would not be too late. . . . that she might persuade them to let her see him for only a few minutes. That might be long enough. Not long enough to make up to him the unhappiness she had caused him in the last twenty-four years, but time enough to ask forgiveness and perhaps to give him the promise of something she still possessed the power to give.

She was informed of the seriousness of John Davis' condition and was not given any hope that she might see him. But she waited patiently in the waiting room and the nurse on duty, seeing the earnest desire of the little old lady to see the man in 307, did not have the heart to tell her that J. D. would not be receiving visitors for some time

Memorial Service Will Note First Landing in New World

WNU Features.

JAMESTOWN, VA.—Tribute to that intrepid band of colonists who embarked on Jamestown beach May 13, 1607, to mark the first landing of permanent English settlers in the New World will be paid at annual commemorative ceremonies here Sunday, May 11.

In the hallowed little Jamestown Memorial church religious services will be conducted as the main feature of the observance. Jamestown Day, as May 13 is designated, has been observed under sponsorship of the Association for Preservation of Virginia Antiquities annually for half a century.

The tower of the original Jamestown church, long the only visible relic of Old Jamestown, dates back to 1639, perhaps longer. Of particular interest are the loopholes in the tower through which colonists fired at Indian marauders. Original and unrestored, the tower is constructed of hand-made bricks and mortar, laid in English bond.

Built as Memorial. In 1907, the tri-centennial of the founding of Anglo-Saxon civilization in the Western Hemisphere, the memorial church was erected over the massive three-foot foundations, buttresses and tiled chancel of the church of 1639. The old church was burned during Bacon's rebellion in 1676, rebuilt not long after, but at some unknown period in the 18th century was abandoned and gradually fell into ruins.

There was a still earlier log church with cobblestone foundations, fragments of which may be seen in the graveyard. It was built in 1617, that the first legislative assembly in the New World was convened July 30, 1619 by Sir George Yeardley, the royal governor, presiding. This historic event took place more than a year before the Mayflower set sail from Plymouth.

Back of the chancel railing among the remains of the 1639 church may be seen the "Knight's Tomb," formerly inlaid with brass, which was

Out of consideration for fox whelps at Owatonna, Minn., a flight of America's mightiest army bombers changed course. Informed by Wayne C. Lidell, manager of a fur farm near Owatonna that the roar of even one plane makes the female fox extremely nervous and fearful for her young, army officials revised the scheduled course for a flight of B-29's making a simulated attack on Minneapolis.

CAA LISTS 4,431 PORTS. In connection with the national airport plan under the federal aid airport act, Civil Aeronautics administration has listed 4,431 airports which should be constructed or improved during the next three years. From the list will be selected projects to be included in the fiscal 1948 construction program, depending on the amount of funds appropriated by congress and relative urgency of each project.

Included on the list are 417 large airports (those with paved runways of 4,200 feet or longer), 3,850 smaller airports and 164 seaplane bases. Grand total cost of construction is estimated at $985,800,000, which would be divided between federal funds of $441,600,000 and sponsor's share of $544,200,000.

Of the 4,431 projects, 2,550 would be entirely new airports while 1,881 are existing fields requiring improvement.

A dramatic example of the use of air freight when combined with a bit of ingenuity spared some 20 families in Alaska the necessity of spending the winter in igloos or other improvised housing. The ingenuity came from Williamson, Inc., of Sheboygan Falls, Wis., which built 20 prefabricated houses in such small sections that Northwest Airlines was able to fly them to Anchorage, Alaska.

FASTEST BOMBER. . . . America's fastest bomber, Consolidated Vultee's jet-propelled XB-46, is completing flight tests at Muroc army airfield. Under secret development for two years, the XB-46 is powered by four J-35 turbojet engines housed in two low-slung nacelles. The needle-shaped fuselage is 106 feet long, only seven feet less than the 113-foot wingspan.

PREFER FACING BACK. Ninety-four per cent of transcontinental army air transport command passengers prefer to sit facing the rear of the airplane, it was shown in a five months' survey. The command conducted the experiment on its "statesman" flight between Washington and Fairfield, Calif. Of the 1,020 passengers queried in the survey, 959 favored reversed seating. Riding backward, ATC surgeons report, is safer in the case of crash landings since passengers have the entire seat for support.

Racing Responsible For Taxless County. SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—Virtual elimination of taxes is possible in Saratoga county as a result of the county's cut from pari-mutuel betting at the race track.

Under a state law passed primarily to aid New York City, Saratoga county last year levied a 5 per cent tax on race track betting. The county's cut amounted to $1,062,000, and the budget is about $750,000.

The New Book of Everyday Etiquette

Introductions

DO YOU get tongue-tied and flustered when you have to make introductions? It's easy to avoid embarrassment when you know the rules.

In introducing a man and a woman, speak the woman's name first unless the man is very old or very distinguished. If the people are both the same sex, present the younger to the older. As "Mother, this is Janet Smith" and "Mrs. Lane, do you know Miss Young?"

Worried about your table manners? Note-writing got you down? Our Reader Service booklet No. 45 covers these and many other phases of everyday etiquette. Send 25 cents (coin) for "New Book of Everyday Etiquette" to Weekly Newspaper Service, 243 W. 17th St., New York 11, N. Y. Print name, address, booklet title and No. 45.

Traveled Around World On High-Wheeled Bicycle

In April, 1884, Thomas Stevens left San Francisco to ride around the world on a high-wheeled bicycle, a feat considered impossible at the time as few persons had yet learned to handle this tricky contrivance, even on a paved street, says Collier's.

While Stevens traveled by boat across the Atlantic, Pacific, etc., he pedaled his way over 13,500 land miles, through the United States and 11 other countries from England to Japan, and arrived back in San Francisco in December, 1886.

MISS SLICK CHICK OF 1947?

WE ARE RESENTFUL . . . Hens, resentful and envious of the "Slick Chick" designation, which with utter abandon has been bestowed upon human females, at long last have come to the fore and demanded their equal rights. The Poultry and Egg National board, realizing the justice of their claims, is conducting a nationwide search for the most beautiful hen in all America, who will be crowned "Miss Slick Chick of 1947," and will be guest of honor at world premiere of "The Egg and I."

Home Garden Goals Established for 1947

Six million farm gardens and 13 million urban, suburban, and small-town gardens will be the goal of the 1947 national garden program. The necessity and desirability for the garden program is to insure better nutrition in millions of American homes, to help all families in meeting the cost of living and to provide better qualities of vegetables and fruits, especially for the lower-income families.

Fans were used in religious ceremonies by the Christian church during the Middle Ages. Deacons waved them to drive flies and insects from the sacramental vessels.

During the winter months, hands need special care to keep them soft and attractive looking. Improperly washing and rying your hands is often a cause of chapping.

they produce an exceptionally fine class of fleece. The Cheviot may be classed as one of the very best. It contains the right degree of fatness and is high in grain and flavor. A beautiful breed, with fleece 4 to 5 inches long in one year, rams clipping between 8 and 10 pounds, it has proven its worth as a general purpose sheep. According to breed standards a mature ram should weigh 185 pounds or more and a mature ewe, 145 pounds or more.

Helping the Farm in The Family Forever

Thousands of elderly farmers carried on while their sons were fighting the war. Many of them now are finding a way to retire and transfer their farms to younger hands. These retiring farmers want to leave their farms to the son and to his wife and sisters. Today's swift-moving events demand that farm property arrangements be kept simple and continuous for the well-being of nation and family.

Hike Potato Sales By New Packaging

Paper Bags Provide Ideal Retail Units

Millions of pounds of potatoes are getting a new ride to market this year. They are riding in new paper bags, made of "wet strength" paper which absorbs moisture without breaking. They are going in 10, 15 and 50 pound quantities which retail stores can sell immediately without further sorting, sacking or handling.

Wet strength paper bags meet with consumer acceptance.

At one time, not so long ago, all grades, sizes and quantities, including culls, were shipped in burlap bags. Merchants had to sort and package the vegetables. Today an ever-growing number of shippers are pre-packaging potatoes in the new paper bags. This means a little more work, but it pays in providing a better-selected, higher quality and more uniform product. The store gets clean, graded potatoes packaged in retail-size bags which can be sold at once.

Wet strength paper was developed before the war but its merchandizing potentialities were not utilized until this year.

Home, Farm Lead in National Accidents

With the accident rate skyrocketing over air, rail and highway as the scene of most accidents, it is time we settled down to some constructive thinking and acting along safety lines. Most of these accidents would not have happened if someone had been a little more careful, thoughtful or alert, or if the farmer would inspect his equipment before using it.

Herd Improvement by Artificial Breeding

Co-Ops Can Lower Cost By Proper Management

By W. J. DRYDEN
An increasing number of farmers use artificial insemination in order to speed up dairy herd improvement and increase their income.
In the urge to expand rapidly, many farmers sometimes have overlooked the importance of technical problems in dairy husbandry, genetics and veterinary medicine.
By joining together within a certain zone, farmers may cooperate in forming an artificial breeding association. This has decided advantages, chief among which is the financial one. To be successful the bulls purchased by the group must be outstanding—better than any one of the individual farmers could afford to maintain.

To properly conduct the insemination, the group should have available a qualified veterinarian. He need not be on a full time basis, but should devote sufficient time to check on all breeders as well as perform the actual insemination. If the organization is sufficiently large he could be engaged on a full time basis, devoting part of his time to disease control and preventive work.

If food boils over on your electric range unit, it's best to let it char and then brush off.
Smudge form orchard heaters can be minimized by the proper handling of the individual heaters.

Anchored Soil Will Defeat Dust Storms

Farmers in the Great Plains states are heeding a warning that another cycle of dry years may bring back the disastrous dust storms of the early "thirties," Paul T. Scott, South Dakota State college, writes in Capper's Farmer.

The farmers propose to beat nature to the draw by anchoring at least a portion of the susceptible acreage with hardy grasses.
Most important discoveries made in the fight against erosion were the adaptation of certain tame grasses and new methods of seed harvest for the Plains natives. Brome grass now has spread over the eastern portion of the Plains states and into the Corn Belt. Crested wheatgrass is proving a near-miracle as a land cover and pasture in the northern part. Mechanical processes have been developed for harvesting and seeding buffalo grass, the grammas and wheat grasses.

Backyard Brooder

Small Brooder For Backyard Poultrymen

This brooder, large enough for 25 to 50 chicks, is recommended by University of Maine. It can be made of wood or corrugated box the size indicated in the illustration, or slightly larger. Chicks can be brooded in the basement up to six or eight weeks.

Not only proteins but two other basic food materials, fats and carbohydrates, constitute available substances for the manufacture of chemicals, as do such food accessories as vitamins and minerals.
These materials, however, are rarely found in nature in a degree of purity comparable with that of some mineral deposits usually occurring in heterogeneous form.
These multiple combinations must be separated into their components if they are to be utilized in the chemical industry.

When buying new pillows, a combination of down and waterfowl the naturally curved shafts of these feathers retain their resilience longer. And when choosing between two pillows of the same size, you will find the lighter pillow softer.

In 1746 with full orchestral accompaniment. The "Glasspiel" was played on 18 beer glasses arranged on a cloth covered board. Water was poured into each to alter the pitch, and the sound was produced by passing the moistened finger around the rims. Sometimes the sides of the glasses were struck. Instead,

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Use kitchen scissors for dicing fruit, celery, peppers, for trimming fish and cubing meat.

When painting stairs which are used every day, paint every other step and when they are dry, paint the remaining steps.

You may find it easier to iron a man's shirt in this order: Collar first, yoke, cuffs and sleeves, then back and front of shirt.

Save buttons from old garments. String them in sets so that they will be all together when needed for other garments.

A good crack sealer for cisterns, tanks, etc., can be made by mixing boiled linseed oil with cement. Mix to a consistency of paint and apply with a brush. Sometimes a second coat will be needed.

This is a new idea for a shower gift, and it's very handy. Select a set of tools (hammer, pliers, screwdriver, scissors, etc.) and paint handles a bright color. The bride will find the set useful as well as ornamental.

Small children seldom tell you when they are tired. They show fatigue more often by becoming cross or restless than by wanting to sit or lie down. The child under three years is usually better off if some of his outdoor play is of the quiet type.

The spirit of collecting things is a part of most people. One kitchen we know houses a collection of white china and milk-glass. An open three-tiered wall shelf painted inside and out a bright cherry red holds the collection of cups, plates, jugs and pitchers as a daily treat to the eyes of the owner and visitors.

THROW AWAY HARSH LAXATIVES!

Millions Have Ended Constipation with Healthful Fresh Fruit Drink

Don't form the habit of depending on harsh, griping laxatives until you've tried this easy, healthful way millions now use to keep regular.

It's fresh lemon juice and water taken first thing in the morning--just as soon as you get up, the juice of one Sunkist Lemon in a glass of water. Taken thus, on an empty stomach, it stimulates normal bowel action, day after day, for most people.

And lemons are actively good for you. They're among the richest sources of vitamin C, which combats fatigue, helps resist colds and infections. They supply vitamins B₁ and P, aid digestion and help alkalize the system.

Try this grand wake-up drink 10 mornings. See if it doesn't help you! Use California Sunkist Lemons.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work. Do not let it get so far advanced—call to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be sagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, itching, or slight swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feeling of nervousness and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been helping new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

DOANS PILLS

MOTHER-OF-THE-YEAR . . . Mrs. Frederick G. Murray, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who has been chosen by the Golden Rule foundation as the "American Mother-of-the-Year." She has raised five children and devotes considerable time to child welfare work.

DENMARK'S KING . . . King Frederik IX, Denmark, who became head of the ancient throne upon the death of his father, King Christian X, 76-year-old monarch, who ruled his country for 35 years.

WHO IS AFRAID . . . This boa, 10 feet long, was flown to the Chase wild animal farm, Egypt, Mass., from South America. Far from fearing death by constriction, Mrs. Marion Chase wraps the boa around her neck as some gaudy oversized ornament.

NEW DODGER MANAGER . . . Burt Shotton, who has been appointed as the manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers to succeed the suspended Leo Durocher. Shotton went to Brooklyn from Pensacola, Fla., and took immediate charge of the "Bums."

STATUS DOUBTFUL . . . Pauline Betts, national women's singles tennis champion, arrived at New York after her tennis tour of Europe. U. S. Lawn Tennis association has ordered her to end participation in amateur events due to question on her standing.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Make the Most of Your Strawberries! (See recipe below.)

Strawberry Favorites

Those luscious ripe red berries of which we are so fond have a mighty short season, but today's recipes should help you make the most of them. Eat what you can get now, but put up the red ripe strawberries so you can enjoy them next winter.

If you want to have fresh strawberries all the year around for very special occasions, you may want to freeze them, if you are fortunate enough to have a freezing unit. Otherwise, can them whole, or put them up as marmalade, jam or jelly.

If the berries seem a bit expensive, you can stretch them by using fruits that go well with them in jams, such as pineapple or rhubarb. Budget your canning sugar now, too, so you'll have enough for all your needs of the season.

Strawberry Marmalade (Makes 12 6-ounce glasses)

- 2 oranges
- 2 lemons
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/4 teaspoon soda
- 1 quart strawberries
- 7 cups sugar
- 1/2 bottle fruit pectin

Remove rind from oranges and lemons. Cut off white membrane. Force rinds through food chopper. Add water and soda, and bring to boiling point. Cover and simmer 10 minutes. Add orange and lemon pulp with juice. Simmer for 20 minutes. Add crushed strawberries. Measure 4 cups of prepared fruit; add sugar. Bring to boiling and boil 5 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in fruit pectin. Let stand 5 minutes. Skim and seal in hot, sterile glass jars.

Another strawberry favorite for the season is jelly, but in this recipe the precious fruit is extended with young, strawberry-pink rhubarb.

Strawberry-Rhubarb Jelly (Makes 12 6-ounce glasses)

- 4 cups juice
- 8 cups granulated sugar
- 8 ounces liquid pectin

To prepare fruit, cut about 1 pound of fully ripe rhubarb into one-inch pieces and put through food chopper. Crush thoroughly and force through the food chopper 1 quart of strawberries. Combine fruit and place in jelly bag to extract the juice. Measure sugar and fruit juice into saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over high heat and add liquid pectin at once, stirring constantly. Bring to a full, rolling boil and boil hard 1/2 minute. Remove from heat and skim. Pour into sterile glasses and cover with paraffin at once.

Strawberry Jam is an old favorite with hot biscuits on every special occasion. If you can spare the three pounds of sugar necessary to make 10 glasses of this delicacy, then here are the directions:

Strawberry Jam (Makes 10 6-ounce glasses)

- 4 cups prepared berries
 - 3 pounds (7 cups) sugar
 - 1/2 of an 8-ounce bottle liquid pectin
- To prepare fruit, place 2 quarts of fully ripe berries through a food chopper; or, crush completely, one layer at a time. Measure sugar and fruit into saucepan, mix well and bring to a full rolling boil. Stir constantly before and while boiling. Boil hard 1 minute. Remove from

LYNN SAYS: Run Home Smoothly With These Tips

To dry lettuce after it has been washed, place in a small cloth bag and shake it thoroughly. The bag will absorb the water but the shaking will not bruise the lettuce leaves.

To assure even browning of pancakes on the griddle, rub the griddle with a small bag of salt. This eliminates smoking and simplifies cleaning as well.

heat and stir in liquid pectin. Stir and skim fruit by turns for 5 minutes. Pour into sterile glasses and cover at once with paraffin.

Strawberry-Pineapple Jam

Combine equal parts of strawberries and shredded pineapple with sugar equal in weight to the fruit. Boil until thick and clear, as for jam. Pour into sterile jars and seal at once.

If your taste turns to cool, refreshing desserts that make use of strawberries immediately, then you'll want to hang onto these two which take it easy on the sugar supply. Both of these may be made easily in an automatic refrigerator tray.

Strawberry Ice (Serves 4)

- 1/4 cup granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup light corn syrup
- 1 cup cold water
- 1 quart washed, hulled strawberries

Cook sugar, corn syrup and water until mixture spins a thread, or until thermometer registers 228 degrees. Mash strawberries, and add to syrup; mix well and chill. Turn into freezing tray and let freeze until firm, stirring the mixture once or twice with a fork.

Strawberry Sherbet (Serves 4)

- 1 1/2 cups strawberries
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/2 cup canned sweetened condensed milk
- 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Press measured berries through a sieve. Add milk and lemon juice, then chill. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into freezing tray and chill in automatic refrigerator until frozen around the edges. Turn mixture into bowl and beat thoroughly with egg beater. Return to tray and freeze until firm.

If you are lucky enough to have one of the crank freezers, then you'll want to make a share of strawberry ice cream for the week-end. Truly there is nothing more tasty and delicious than the pale pink ice cream made with crushed, fully ripe berries. Serve it plain in all its splendor and you won't need a thing to go with it. Do be sure to have enough for seconds, because there's nothing better than homemade, crank freezer type, strawberry ice cream.

Strawberry Ice Cream (Makes 1 1/2 quarts)

- 1 1/2 cups milk, scalded
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- Dash of salt
- 6 tablespoons granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup corn syrup (light)
- 1 1/2 cups heavy cream
- 1 quart washed, hulled strawberries
- 1/4 cup sugar

Stir milk into eggs in top of double boiler. Cook until mixture coats the spoon. Stir in vanilla, salt, 6 tablespoons sugar and corn syrup; Cool, then add cream. Mash strawberries and add to them 1/4 cup sugar. Fold in custard mixture. Freeze in a two quart freezer, using 8 parts of crushed ice to one part of salt.
