MEDICAL DEDUCTIONS FOR THOSE 65 OR OVER

Printed for the first time last year, there's a new federal tax schedule to aid taxpayers in computing the more liberal medical expense deductions they are entitled to if they, their wives, or their dependent parents are 65 or over. It's Form 2498, available at Internal Revenue Service postoffices and many banks.

According to John J. Sloan, Administrative Officer, IRS, Lubbock, Texas, the law upon which the year old form is based, provides that the deduction for medical expenses incurred for a dependent parent 65 or over will be reduced by 3 percent of adjusted income.

However, if either the taxpayer or his wife has reached 65 before the close of the tax year, the medical expenses of both can be deducted without being subject to reduction by 3 percent of adjusted income.

The IRS representative added: "Most taxpayers are not affected by these special provisions and may continue to figure their medical expense deduction on the regular Form 1040 as they've always done."

Many taxpayer questions are being answered by telephoning the Internal Revenue Service office or by calling in person.

TOOTH DECAY VIRTUALLY INCURABLE CHRONIC DISEASE

The teeth of Americans contain at least one billion cavities, each a potential source of toothache, dental authorities now estimate. They say tooth decay is so widespread that it involves 95 of every 100 persons and is still increasing.

A virtually incurable chronic disease which must be prevented if it is to be conquered at all, tooth decay is a particular nemesis of elementary school-age youngsters although all ages are vulnerable to its ravaging pain.

Children are said to develop cavities at about the same ratio as do adults -- approximately one per child per year. But scholarly survey shows that whereas one-third of the adult need for fillings is being met, only one-fifth of the cavities in children's teeth are being repaired.

The reason, Texas Health Department dental officials speculate, is that so many parents still cling to the totally false notion that so-called "baby teeth" are unimportant because they are temporary. The frequent result is that good dental health for children is still a relatively scarce commodity.

In an attempt to reverse the trend toward almost universally poor dental health among youngsters -- particularly in underprivileged homes -- the dental division of the Texas State Department of Health gives financial and educational support to dental clinics in selected local health departments the State.

Good Rain Fall Record Vote

At long last a fine rain washed a wide area of the Plains. Last Wednesday an off and on rain netted one inch of rain -- the first important moisture in five months. The coverage was general. Although not a planting rain, the moisture was encouraging for more to come. The current cold soil is not suitable for early planting, anyway.

RABBIT FEVER INCREASING

Tularemia, alias "rabbit fever" increased in Texas last year compared to 1960. The actual number of cases, 13 during 1961 as against 9 for 1960, is not startling, but is of concern to victims and to people engaged in communicable disease control.

The figures are tallied each week by the Texas State Department of Health from reports throughout the State. In all probability there were actually more cases than were reported.

Tularemia is caused by an oval-shaped organism called Pasteurella tularensis in dubious honor of Tulare County, California, where it was first discovered as an infection of wild rabbit and squirrels.

The disease is transmitted to humans by the bite of an infected fly or tick, or when the germ is accidentally introduced into the body during the process of dressing wild game. It can also be acquired by eating insufficiently cooked meat from an infected game bird or animal. The death rate of untreated cases is usually about five percent.

The infection has been and is still known all over Texas, but it is reported most often from the eastern section of the State. Outdoorsmen are more susceptible than the general population because of a greater chance for exposure.

REVIVAL IS SET

Revival Services will begin at the Assembly of God Church Sunday April 15th. Services are nightly at 7:30 with Evangelist E. W. Way of Midland. There will be special singing nightly. Rev. D. R. Kirkendall, extends a special invitation to all to attend.

COTTON CLASSING SERVICE AGAIN AVAILABLE

College Station -- Growers who wish to have their cotton classed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture under provisions of the Smith-Doxey Act should apply for these services as soon as their cotton is planted, says Fred Elliott, extension cotton specialist.

The Smith-Doxey Act provides for one free classification of each eligible bale of cotton. Samples must be submitted by a bonded sampler or by a public warehouse which issues negotiable receipts, explains Elliott. Each cotton improvement group, except those in southern Texas, must file an application with the cotton classing office serving its territory not later than August 1.

The date of the hearing announced for Amarillo on the proposed national potato marketing agreement and order has been changed. The hearing is now scheduled to begin on April 12 at 9 a. m. in the auditorium of the Public School Administration Building.

Good year round management can help homeowners have that beautiful lawn. It is about time to give the lawn an application of fertilizer. Do it when the lawn grass begins to grow. A soil test to determine what kind and amounts of plant food is suggested.

The 11th annual Swine Short Course will be held at Texas A and M. College April 2 and 3rd. A breeding and selection program will be explained which could mean more pigs per litter, more pork produced on less feed and a still higher carcass at slaughter time.

Germination tests are recommended for all cotton planting seed by Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton specialist. He says recent field contacts have revealed that seed saved from last year's crop isn't measuring up to expectations. He suggests a germination test on each batch of seed saved. A test now, he adds, could save a replanting later.

TELEVISION TIME

NEW RULING GIVEN ON S. S.

Heading the slogan, "Don't delay, check today" could very well put some social security payments in your pocket, according to John G. Hutton, District Manager of the Lubbock Social Security Office. This slogan was made especially meaningful by Congress when it passed the new retirement test law. Basically this law allows many persons over 65 to receive some social security payments even though their earnings are substantially in excess of $1200 a year. The new provisions are effective with 1961 and provide that $1 of the total social security benefits payable to a family during the year will be withheld for every $2 the old age beneficiary earns between $1200 and $1700. Deductions for earnings in excess of $1700 will be on a dollar for dollar basis. Perhaps an example of how this works will explain it better.

Let us suppose that John earns $3,000 a year. He has had this job for years at the same salary and wants to continue. On the basis of a $3,000 a year salary, his monthly social security check at 65 will be $95. His wife at 65 will receive one half of her husband's benefit or $47.50 - total monthly benefits to both - $142.50. In this example, if John retired and kept his earnings under $1200 a year, he and his wife could receive checks for all 12 months of the year or $1710, but John wants to continue his $3,000 a year job. Can he receive any social security payments: we'll apply the test and see.

1. Since John is earning over $1200 a year, he and his wife will not be able to receive the full $1710.
2. For the first $500 he earns over $1200, a deduction of $250 must be made ($1 for each $2 earned) Subtracting $250 from the $1710 leaves $1460.
3. Since his total earnings are $3,000 over the $1700, we must subtract an additional $1300 (dollar for dollar) from the $1460 remaining from step 2. This leaves $1160 the amount of social security payments due John and his wife for the year.

John and his wife received some social security benefits for the year. Maybe you can too.

BACTERIAL BLIGHT OF COTTON
NEW PUBLICATION SUBJECT

College Station, April—Bacterial blight occurs throughout the world wherever cotton is grown. It is one of the most damaging plant diseases in Texas, and during recent years has caused an estimated $37 million yearly loss to Texas growers.

Several races and varieties of this pathogen are known, but only two are widely distributed. The organism enters the plant through open stomata and wounds in the leaves, bolls and stems. The bacteria break down the cell wall of the spongy tissues, releasing cellular juices.

Infected leaves soon turn yellow and are shed, and excessive leaf shedding reduces the yielding ability of the plant. Boll lesions provide ports of entry for boll-rotting fungi, thus bacterial blight is one of the principal causes of boll rots.

The blight organism may overwinter in the soil on undecomposed plant debris, but more commonly is carried from season to season within and on planting seed. Once in a field the disease is spread from plant to plant and from old to new tissues by wind-driven, splashing rains. The disease may also be disseminated from field to field by whirlwinds, running water equipment and gin trash.

Bacterial blight can be controlled by a combination of four practices: rotating cotton with other crops, planting disease-free seed, growing resistant varieties and fertilizing with nitrogen.

No chemical control for bacterial blight is now known, so cultural practices are very important to the grower. For more information on this disease and on preventive cultural practices, ask your county agent for a copy of MP-534, "Bacterial Blight of Cotton."

Know Your Law

WHY LAWYERS DEFEND CRIMINALS

If you do not provide for the proper defense of all who are accused of crime, then the innocent, when falsely accused, have no way to prove their innocence. So, under our law, we look on a man as innocent until he is found guilty under proper court proceedings.

From this it follows that all of us have the right to be represented by a lawyer. Since the lawyer has a duty to represent you, much criticism of him for doing so is unjust. Should a lawyer defend persons in court if he knows or thinks they have done the acts of which they are accused? Yes, the worst criminal has a right to a fair trial. This he cannot have unless a lawyer sees that he has a fair jury and that it hears only lawful evidence against him.

Sometimes the defense counsel arouses public feeling by his sincere efforts to see that his client has every proper legal safeguard. The public may misunderstand these legal moves. For the public they seem to be an unethical effort to defeat justice, by delay or by taking advantage of certain "technicalities."

Attorneys should tell people that it is one of our basic democratic rights to be considered innocent until legal evidence proves our guilt beyond a reasonable doubt.

All who are charged with crime have a right to an attorney's aid. An attorney swears to see that the accused gets each protective legal right to which he is entitled.

With warmer weather at hand, hatching egg producers are advised by Bill Doran, Poultry Science Department, Texas A-M, to give more attention to the care of their product if high hatchability rates are to be maintained.

Texas farmers and ranchmen who need fence posts and have pine woodlands available may find it profitable to use pine posts treated with wood preservative. Bill Smith, extension forester, says the useful life of such posts can be greatly extended by the cold-soak preservation method. Local county agents can supply details on the correct method.

Bacterial blight in recent years has cost Texas cotton growers up to $37 million annually by reducing yields and lowering grades. It occurs throughout the world wherever cotton is grown. A new publication, MP-534, "Bacterial Blight of Cotton," is now available from the offices of county agents or by mail from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas. It is a joint publication by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Agricultural Extension Service.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES:
Culling unprofitable dairy cows is always good business. Now is an especially good time, point out Texas extension dairy specialists, because the market for cull cows is favorable and the surplus milk production season is just ahead.

New research facilities to be used for developing better methods of boll weevil control were dedicated at Mississippi State University on March 22. The laboratory will be the center for a concerted effort against the cotton pest by U. S. Department of Agriculture and cooperating state experiment stations.
