To the Voters of Precinct 3:

In the July primary I lacked a few votes of getting a majority, and a run-off has become necessary. I appreciate the splendid support given me and although it was impossible for me to see each of you personally in so short a time, I am again asking your support in the run-off primary next Saturday. And to those that did not vote for me I am still soliciting your support. If you lost your vote you lost it on a good man. I appreciate the high type of campaign conducted by my opponents. A campaign that has been free from all personal references. It is races like this that makes it possible to run for office and still be neighbors with everybody.

Again thanking you for past favors, and assuring you I will appreciate any thing done for me in the run-off primary Saturday, I am

Sincerely,

43% MORE NON-SKID MILEAGE

"You're too modest!"

Motorists who got the first G-3's put out—months before the public announcement—say, "You're too modest!" Many of them report 50% to 100% more non-skid mileage. Why, then, do we insist on only 43%? Well, 43% is a definite test-car-proved figure. Very likely it is low for normal use—because the tests which established the 43% average were gruelling: cars speeding up to 50, jamming on brakes, mile after mile, day and night. Very likely most motorists will get more than 43% more non-skid mileage. But we'll string along with 43%—because it's plenty to deliver at no extra cost. Come see the tire that's the talk of the nation.

HOOKED RUGS
By Christine Owens)

The hooked rug and mat demonstration was given in the Assembly Room of the college library building. This large room was on the third floor and it was divided into three divisions: the hooked mat division which consisted of a demonstration of hooking on burlap and fine woven material as feed sacks. In the exhibit part of the room hung about fifty beautiful hooked rugs made of silk and woolen materials. There were about one hundred and fifty silk mats and only a few of woolen materials. The hooked mats and rugs were all of beautiful colors and designs. The last division was the hooked rug department.

I gave demonstrations from 1:30 to 4 o'clock each afternoon. There was something like seventy-five or eighty different women that attended this special course. Each woman that took this course had to take a ticket to permit her to take the demonstration. Therefore, I was asked many questions outside the demonstration room by those who were not permitted to enter. These, I was glad and willing to answer to the best of my knowledge.

I tried to make the rug demonstration as interesting as possible and to bring out all the necessary information.

The design must be placed on the foundation material straight and traced carefully with a blunt point. In putting the burlaps in the frame it is very necessary to get it straight. If it is not the finished rug will not lie square on the floor.

I used the Bluenose Hooker in my demonstration, as it is the needle I use in my work. There were eight or ten varieties of needles brought by women who did not know about the use of them so I helped with those needles also. Care should be taken with any kind of needle so as not to break the thread of the foundation material.

The question was asked, "May silk and cotton material be used in rugs as well as woolen?" Silk and cotton may both be used in rugs; but the lasting quality is not as good as the woolen.

Each demonstrator gave a lecture on the color scheme and dyeing of the material for the hooked rugs and mats. The rugs should not contain outstanding or loud colors as they are to cover a large place and do not need these colors to attract the eye. But the mats should have these colors to some extent as they are small and are used in a dainty place.

As I did not have to give demonstrations in the mornings, I spent this time attending other lectures and demonstrations. Some of them were: The sub-irrigation tile demonstration; Miss Peggy Morris gave a lecture on the bedding of personality; "The Arrangement of Flowers for Home and Yard" by Miss Jacks; Miss Lola Blair gave some good suggestions for Achievement Events and Exhibits; Farm Makers Market demonstration sponsored by Miss McInnis and Miss Hearn gave some real good ideas for a real market for farm products. I also attended assembly of women and men each morning which was always beneficial.

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to the business men of Tahoka for helping make this trip possible. I have enjoyed giving these demonstrations and the information to the best of my ability. My desire is to help and see others enjoy rug making as I do.

Club Members Report On Short Course

MY TRIP TO THE SHORT COURSE

By Zelma Thraillik, Grassland 4-H Club

When I learned that I was to go to the Short Course at A & M College, it sounded too good to be true, and I could hardly wait to get started. After traveling Saturday night and Sunday I arrived at College Station tired, dirty, and a little sleepy but looking forward to a glorious week.

The mess hall where we ate was one of the interesting things of the week. It was a sight to see so many people eat in one building.

Just after breakfast each morning the boys and girls met together and enjoyed a program of songs and lectures. We went to different buildings and heard many interesting and instructive lectures during the day. The entertainments at night were all different. We toured the campus, saw horse races and had many other interesting entertainments. The most beautiful, and I believe the program which made me more determined to be a better club member, was the ceremony of the Gold Star girls and boys. Miss Horton, state demonstration agent, made a short talk after which she lit a large candle. Two girls and boys were chosen to represent the Heart, Health and Hand and the candle which they were holding was lighted by Miss Horton's candle. They then marched to the end of the four rows of girls and boys and the first ones were lighted from their candles. The lights were then passed on down the line, each one being lit by the one next to him. This was held in the open and as the candles were being lit all lights were turned out. The band then played the club song "Dreaming" real-ly while they marched by the platform where Miss Murry presented the pins to them and on out in front where they formed four large H's. While standing grouped this way with their hearts in their hands in a breeze, they all repeated the 4-H club pledge led by Paul Murry, the president of the club boys and girls. This was all very beautiful and made me want to strive to be a Gold Star club girl in the future.

I had never been to Galveston so my trip there was something new also. I went out in the Gulf about twelve miles on the "Galvez". The man who was piloting the boat let me drive for a while. As we went through Houston we went by the docks and took a boat ride there up the channel. We left Galveston about six o'clock and headed for home. We traveled all that night and arrived in Tahoka at 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening.

The week I was gone was the most enjoyable week I have ever spent and I hope that some day I can help some other club girl to take a trip to A & M Short Course.

RURAL WORK CENTER

By Mrs. Susie Bartley

The Rural Work Center was the most interesting thing I found at College Station. First was the log cabin which was built of small logs sawed open and the edges sanded smooth so they would fit together. I did not get the dimensions but it appeared to be about 40x20 feet.

I was mostly interested in the kitchen, in the center of which was built a furnace of brick with a flue. In the top of this furnace was a large iron pot and a large pressure cooker which would hold 50 No. 2 cans. There were racks which fit into the cooker and lifters with which to lift the racks filled with cans from the cooker. At the end of the kitchen near the furnace was a large cooling vat built against the wall in which to cool the cans of food. Along the west wall was a table on which to prepare the materials for canning. Over the table were shelves and cupboards for keeping pans, pots and other utensils for work. There was plenty of light from large windows. Against the partition wall were more shelves and cupboards and a large refrigerator. There were stools to sit on while at work.

Then there was the center room which looked to be about twenty feet square. There were 2 hand looms on which to weave small rugs, scarfs, shopping bags and many other useful articles, all made of silk stockings, silk underwear, and other cast off silks; also, a frame where a hooked rug was being made from each of clothing. Two ladies were making purses of toolled leather. One was making clothing for the relief work at Bryan. One lady gave a demonstration in mattress making. A cabinet maker had made some settees, the back of which when lifted up and slid over, made a table which would easily seat six persons. Under the seat there was a compartment where one could store shoes and rubbers and many other things or one could make a lid of the seat and have a nice box for storing blankets or winter clothing.

In another small room a man was making chairs and stools and bot-toming them with rawhide. A porch ran the length of the building on the north and a room, was built on the west end in which was a large box in which to put ice for the purpose of cooling out meat.

Out back of the house is the saw mill and syrup mill. The most of the logs from which these buildings were made were less than 20 inches in diameter. The sheds for the saw and syrup mills were made from the slabs sawed from the sides of the logs. The saw mill was purchased for the purpose of showing the farmer how to utilize their timber more profitably in their spare time.

Of course, such a thing is not practicable in this part of the country. But why can't we build a club house of the native rock which is so abundant in many sections of this country? I am sure many of the owners would gladly give the rocks if some one would take them off the place. Our own men and boys could do the work of getting and hauling the rock and putting up the buildings. The club women could raise the money for the cement, lumber, doors, and windows.

MRS. CADE APPRECIATES 4-H CLUB WORK

"I really think what interested me most of all the phases of the Short Course was that section devoted to 4-H club sponsors," writes Mrs. R. M. Cade, president of the Morriss H. D. Club and sponsor for the girls club.

"I did not get to take a special course," Mrs. Cade continued, "so I attended all the lectures and demonstrations I could, but the girls' club work was the most interesting of all. Our girls' clubs should be as good as our women's clubs, and they are never represented like the women's clubs. This year, the H. D. clubs from Lynn county had a 100 per cent representation, while the girls had only about a seventy-five per cent. I want to help our girls reach a perfect point next year. Let's all, as club sponsors, do all that we can to encourage the girls in their plans, so that they can be among the Gold Star girls at the Short Course next year."

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN RECREATIONAL WORK

"This was the first time that recreational work has ever been taught at the Short Course," reports Mrs. Garland Pennington, Council Chairman. "There were 125 women from all over the state who took this work under the direction of Mrs. L. L. Bradley of Rockdale, and Miss Mary Wilson of San Antonio.

"Mrs. Bradley is chairman of the Milan county Recreational Association. Milan county is well organized in this work, every community in the county having its own leader. Folk games were directed by Mrs. Bradley, a method of teaching which was very interesting to most of the women. On Wednesday evening of that week, one street was roped off for folk, and the women who were enrolled in the course invited partners playing the folk games already studied.

"Stunt songs, patriotic songs were directed by Miss Wilson. A recreational club was organized and became a part of the Short Course. This work will be taught each year."

MRS. TREDWAY HELPED BY SHORT COURSE WORK

"One of the things that impressed me most at the Short Course," said Mrs. W. A. Tredway, who represented the O'Donnell club, "was the number of common, hardworking folks like us, gathered together from all parts of the state. And another thing which impressed me greatly was the emphasis placed in Christianity."

"Each morning in the assembly hall, someone talked on the importance of Christian living and the responsibility each person assumes in becoming a religious leader or a social leader in his or her respective community, and of the duties of a worthwhile citizen.

"From one to three people from each county were permitted to take part in, that is, really do the work, in the various demonstrations given. My ticket called for tufted or candlewick bedspreads, so I took that course, as well as the making of tile, grape juice making, cold process and rose propagation. I wish all of you could have seen the many lovely bedspreads on display, with such beautiful colors. There was also a beautiful negligee done in this work.

"The spread are made mostly of unbleached domestic. I saw one 200 years old. And the number of lovely hooked rugs and mats made me want to hurry home and get started on some for myself.

"We went through the museum, seeing so many rare and unique things that it would be impossible to even mention all of them.

"They have a veterinary hospital at the college, for horses, cats, and dogs, where they study and experiment in diseases peculiar to these animals. They are well-equipped operating rooms for dogs and cats, a kitchen with a large Frigidaire, all kinds of canned foods—and a sun parlor! There was also an operating room, with an adjustable table, for horses.

"The Administration Building is one of the most beautiful I have seen. We went through the Engineering building, and they make cloth, towels, cloths and rayon. We also saw the ice and power plant. It is a sight to see the entire plant. We saw the cattle for the canning plant. Bryan. Their capacity is 100,000 lbs. a day.

"Two of the most interesting things to me were the crocheting class, and the inspection of the kitchen. Between 2700 and 3000 sons can be seated in the mess hall and it was always full and again during the first two days of the Short Course. You had to get in line half an hour before you could get a seat at the first table. There were large ovens in the kitchen, 50 gallon pots, the 1,000 lb. day bakery, cold storage room, and other interesting equipment.

Candidate for election to the office of
COMMISSIONER, PRECINCT 3

Will Appreciate Your Vote and Influence
In the run-off Saturday

I have been ill for the past three weeks, and have been at Christoval for treatment. For this reason, I have not been able to make a canvass of the precinct and present my candidacy to each of you, but I wish every voter in this precinct to take this as a personal plea for your consideration and for your vote.

If you see fit to elect me to this important office, I assure you that I will heartily appreciate it, and that I will do everything in my power to make you the best commissioner I can.

I wish further to take this opportunity to thank each of you again for the courtesy shown me throughout this campaign, and to say that I value your friendship, whether you vote for me or not. (But I'd like to have that vote, too.)

Yours for service,

D. J. BOLCH

NOTICE TO PUBLIC!

Due to extreme shortage of feed and high prices, after September 1st, the price of milk will be:

Delivered Retail, per gallon 40¢
Delivered Wholesale, per gallon 30¢
instead of the old prices of 30c and 20c

It is not my desire now, nor in the future, to incur the name of 'one to hike prices' due to the fact of production of milk in the present feed crisis, to live and make a reasonable profit, like any man is entitled to. The above prices are only conducive to good business judgment.

At recent inspection by Gov't. Cattle Veterinary at my place, all my herd of dairy cattle were adjudged in fine shape, free from all diseases. And when six were reluctantly sold from my herd, not one was killed, all being sent to Gov't. pastures. This inspection should bespeak the quality of good milk and approved dairy service. I have just received a car of alfalfa hay from Artesia, N. M. My cattle are in good shape. Thanking you to observe the above prices which are fair to all.
