

Sweetness Found in

Life's Little Things

It is as good a motto to expect the little of life as to expect the much.

So one is immune from trouble and so one has a monopoly of it, even if it is a most invidious form of mental intolerance—sometimes appears to amount to it.

So many of the sweetest things of life come almost unnoticed. We look forward, says the London Chronicle, to the time of the harvest, but often all the joy is in the sowing which, perhaps, are only more important to our well-being.

Autospection will sometimes make clear how much quiet pleasure a simple day has brought, better by the morning's post, a word of encouragement which has formed an under-tone of harmony to the melody of life, a child's gratitude for some little, even the welcome of one's dog with the snow in the sitting room of the hall.

There are, of course, days when duties pile, when friends seem to fall as, what we grow weary of ourselves. There are times of disappointment when some service, due on the whole, is a plain truth that—

In small measures life may perfect be.

Officers' Dignity Cut

No Figure Wait Pat

A young man who had spent three days at different C. K. T. C.'s was returning. He had several of the experiences in the camps and wound up by stating the following:

"We were all scared to death of an officer that first day in camp, but not so with 'Pat,' whose name, by the way, was Abraham Lincoln. The general rode up on his horse to observe the procedure of our being mobilized into service. On his appearance officers snapped to attention and we remained motionless until the general gave the customary 'at ease.'"

"Pat" stepped out of the line with a camera in his hand and took the general's horse by the bridle and turned it around. The horse started back and 'Pat' jumped it around again. Then he stepped off about ten paces, and with much deliberation looked the camera on the pointed officer.

"Now, smile," 'Pat' something requested, while the camera broke in to a roar, joined by the general on the horse.

A Land of Feary

A most marvelous sunset this evening, outside the Bab Egeded. The vast plain in its end destination gave the impression of a desert, flooded with the gold light of the low sun. The clouds hung over the narrow mountains of Tereza and Sebti, impenetrated with purple and stained with bright gold. It was a land of feary, dominating under the changing moment of the sun, whose power drew forth such fantasies in blue, red, green and yellow. Behind us lay the walls of the city, in the ray light of evening, which fell upon the towers and cupolas. Then in the still air as the world faded under an emerald sky came the clear voice of the muezzin calling the faithful to prayer, while through the pines the whispering of wind in their barks.—From the Diary of Ezzeddin Ezzeddin.

Inventions by Women

One woman had the idea to make silver socks and spoons with a curving handle, which prevented their slipping with the plate, such a good idea that it is strange to see ever thought of it before. The traveler who finds it impossible to get a job has a woman to thank for the invention. A lock fastener for metal containers is an invention in practical demand for hotel proprietors and an important safety device. The same woman invented also a handy device intended to use as sewing machines.

Loss of Open Inherent

The impulse to get into the open is primitive in us. We have the breath of the species not dimmed with houses and risk with the odds of civilized life. Under the stars and the moon we can think clear thoughts. From the busy fields we can drink impetuous unknown to the office and the counting house. In the song of the whistles we may hear the grand melodies of our infancy in the strange melodies which thus come, different and alone, to the individual soul.—Kansas City Times.

Gentle Hint

A Los Angeles sportsman returning from a fishing trip to another sunny spot, finding the following prodomant packed to a traw:

Business Disaster

Subject, seven years old, out riding with his parents, passed the local drug store, which had just changed hands.

Guess Again

"Being somewhat behind early terminations," that would like a stock market index, but it surely is not to the fellow who finally made up his mind to buy the thing.—New York Times.

ECHOES FROM CLASS-ROOMS

Even a casual student at our school would be impressed with the quiet activity and industry displayed in each class room, and a more thorough investigation would show that our school is doing a grade of work of which much larger communities could justly be proud.

The primary grades are all busily engaged in making and putting up Hallows-een decorations. The high first and low second have made splendid posters about drinking milk each day. One youngster had designed a milk bottle, rather unimpaired with a worm, legs and features chasing a coffee cup similarly equipped, the poster bearing the legend "away with tea and coffee, drink milk every day."

Mrs. John Johnson in their room mother, and has set a wonderful example for others, since she has not missed a week visiting her room, telling stories, and showing her interest in other ways.

Mrs. Street, in the primary room, has each pocket stuffed with dainty handkerchiefs, which are a really necessary part of her professional look, especially since the cold spell.

Mrs. Guy Bradley was an enjoyable visitor in the second grade room Monday, when she read several stories to the children.

The third and fourth grade room are rejoicing that Miss Alta Rodgers is back at her desk again, even though Miss Letta is "next to the president" (The description came from a pupil). They welcomed Miss Alta back with a lovely fruit shower which she appreciated very much.

This room will have charge of the exercises at assembly next Thursday morning and will present a Hallows-een program.

The fifth grade room was buzzing with orderly activity. They have recently organized a Good English Club in each section of the class, and are beginning a drive for better English. In the low fifth Era Cup is vice-president, Raymond James is secretary and Jim Ellen Wells is clerk.

In the High Fifth Boy Smith is president of the club, Herman Whitehead vice-president, Edwin Hasley, secretary, Glenn Beverage, sergeant-at-arms and A. C. Hamilton, critic.

At the beginning of school their room mother, Mrs. E. T. Wells, offered a prize to the best student in each division. This month Robert Line won for the Low Fifth with an average of 98 and Glenn Payne for the High Fifth with an average of 98. The remaining three members of the Big Four are for the Low Fifth J. D. Hunt, Era Clap, and Jim Ellen Wells, for the High Fifth, Edwin Hasley, Woodrow Barber, and Kirby Munkit.

This class is planning a Hallows-een party Saturday evening from 8:00 to 10:00.

The High Fourth is working hard, each year trying to earn the fifty cents promised by their room mother. Mrs. Ben Cowden to the one making the best grades each month. The following pupils made 100 on Geography exams this week: J. W. Gardentiere, J. W. Tahlender, and Margaret Vermillion.

The Tall-tale and Lies while club had its best meeting last Friday when J. W. Gardentiere, Roy Elmo Everett, William Clements, and J. W. Tahlender told the stories.

The High Fifth and High Sixth grade rooms had charge of the assembly program Thursday morning, and it was splendid. Frank (Wilfred Gates) his wife (Vienna Mae Anderson) and their small daughter (Pearlina McKee) were going to the country to spend the week-end, and had ten minutes to catch the train when she remembered to phone a friend, pull down the shades, water the flowers and then change her dress, with three minutes left, he forgot his pocket book, and had to come back to lock the door, and train-time was past. After consulting little daughter who wailed and wept for her last holiday, she phoned the friend to tell her about missing the train, and learned that it was an hour late. They dashed out in a storm of open suitcases and ejaculations, and we hope, had a good time in the country. An amusing song by eight pupils completed the program. Quite a number of visitors were present. The pupils and teachers are always glad to receive guests in their rooms or at the assembly programs.

This room sent their room mother, Mrs. Middleton a lovely fruit shower, which made much less the pain of her burns.

The low sixth is doing splendid work on product maps of South America and the United States. They are also much interested in double weaving. They recently enjoyed a picnic sponsored by their room mother, Mrs. Homer St. Clair. They

Junior Coats Pleasant Scarfs of Self-Fabric

Cutting pockets, seams, collars and other style details which count so much in the happiness of the schoolgirl are conspicuously present in most of the junior coats for autumn and winter.

Touches of fur and another note of interest as pictured, went to an open section in the skirt part of down and spent some time in games. The most amusing was a mock foot-ball game, with a peep squad and all the other features.

Although white color is usually an invited winter in the pasture—coming in without being planned—it is one that should be welcomed more than it is. Plan to encourage this nutritious forage plant, which is rich by all classes of livestock, by giving it plenty of phosphate and also some lime. It may increase the value of your pasture, 100 per cent.

Why lose valuable plant food from the soil through erosion when much of this loss can be prevented by a winter cover crop? According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, soil erosion removes 24 times as much plant food as is taken out of the soil by crops. A winter cover crop to prevent waste is especially important in the south.

Every purchaser of a new Ford is entitled to Free Inspection Service for the first 1500 miles

THE modern automobile is a finely built piece of machinery and it will stand a lot of abuse. Consider the work it does. It gives surprisingly little trouble. But there isn't a car made that will not run better and longer if given proper care. THE first few hundred miles are especially important because that is when the mechanism of your car is being broken in. Proper attention during this period will lengthen its life and prevent unnecessary trouble later on. We are particularly interested in this matter because we believe it is our duty not only to make a good automobile, but to help the owner get the greatest possible use over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense. With this in view, the entire Ford dealer organization has been specially trained and equipped to service the new Model A car. Furthermore, we have instructed every Ford dealer to give the following Free: A checking-up by experienced mechanics, together with oiling and greasing every 500 miles, will add months and years to the life of your car and mean more economical and pleasurable motoring every mile you drive.

New models and THE OPEN MIND THE public, with its healthy desire for the new and the better, insists upon continuous improvement, and will withdraw its patronage from any product or service which stands still. Nowhere is this more true than in the automobile industry. The car is more than a utility. It is a personal thing, involving your convenience, your comfort, your safety, your sense of beauty and color, your pride of ownership, your complete environment for many hours of your life. Customs and habits of living change fast, and the past holds many warnings of how quickly your motor car shifts when an automobile, for even a single year, fails to show progress. So continuous improvement is more than a policy with General Motors. It is a vital necessity. THE PUBLIC DEMANDS NEW MODELS And the public is right. Out of that demand have come electric starting and lighting, the closed body, Duro finish, four-wheel brakes and hundreds of refinements, big and little. Improvements that might have taken a generation have been born within a few years because people want greater performance, beauty and comfort. Equipped with the largest research laboratories, proving ground and body building plants, and guided by an Open Mind which is ready to revise its thinking in response to new facts, General Motors believes that it is peculiarly fitted not only to sense but to anticipate public demand and to give the people better automobiles at better values year after year. An evidence of that faith we presented you months ago the New Chevrolet, the New Pontiac, the New Oldsmobile. Your dairy cow may be getting all the nutrients she needs, but is her ration well balanced? For example, if the cow's maintenance requirements and production are such that she needs 2 pounds of digestible protein and 14 pounds of non-protein feed nutrients, the protein can be supplied by feeding her 20 pounds of timothy hay and 19 pounds of corn...

The hen that lays a small egg is a bad influence. It takes nerve to cull her out of the flock, especially if she is a high producer, but rigid culling of small-egg hens must be done to improve the flock and to avoid price cuts that go with small eggs.

Plumbing pipes exposed to the winter weather may prove more troublesome than the old "tankette and pump" combination. Remember the pipes that froze last winter? For protection, commercial coverings, or homemade wrappings of felt or bagging, may be used; or parts of the pipes may be boxed and surrounded with material such as sawdust, straw, or granulated cork. The old saying that "beauty is only skin deep" may apply to the soil. Many farmers assume that if the surface of the land looks good, it is all right, and discard possible hard-pans and other impenetrable sub-soils which retard drainage, prevent the upward movement of soil moisture, and resist root penetration. The best way to know the soil thoroughly is by a soil survey of the county. The Bureau of Chemistry and Soils of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has mapped and described the soils of more than half the agricultural counties of the United States.

Those enjoying this pleasant occasion were, Lena Mae, Mary Frances, and William Edward Singleton, Harold Burkhalter, Jim Ellen Wells, Fay Tomlinson, Miriam Chandler, Wanda Zell and Roy Elmo Everett and Martin.

GENERAL SCIENCE STUDENTS CONDUCT EXPERIMENTS

Students in General Science B, had the pleasure Wednesday of conducting their own experiments in forming coal gas. The apparatus used in this experiment consisted of crushed coal placed in a glass test tube with a one-hole rubber stopper. A very small glass tube, was inserted in the hole, after which the test tube was heated over an alcohol flame. In a few moments tests proved the presence of gas formed by the hot coal. Mr. Burkhalter is making this usual disliked subject one of the most interesting and popular subjects in our high school.

The garage may be useful for storing something besides the family auto. If it is dry, well ventilated, and free from danger of freezing, onions can be stored there on a shelf this winter, thereby keeping the odor out of the house. Late tomatoes may also be stored there. Be sure to gather these before there is danger of injury by frost. Green tomatoes are better stored in a room that is kept at a temperature of about 65 degrees. Potatoes may be kept in the garage until the cellar can be gotten cool enough for them.

MISS GLYNDON COMPLETE JOURNEY OF 3468 MILES

It was perhaps only fitting that during the same year that a woman for the first time flew the Atlantic another woman should record what is claimed to be the all-time woman's record for a trans-continental automobile journey. At any rate, Miss Telle Glyndon, of Atlantic City, driving a Chevrolet sedan, completed on September 9th, the 3468 miles that separate her native city from San Francisco. The expired time for her "non-stop" journey was eight days, eight hours and 15 minutes.

Miss Glyndon was accompanied on her journey by her brother-in-law, and a friend, neither of whom has ever driven an automobile. Alone, it was up to her to drive every inch of the distance, and this she did. "It was an endurance test solely," she explained when she checked in at the San Francisco ferry. "I did it to prove that woman's endurance is as great as man's and I think the result of my journey has done this."

Miss Glyndon's trip was given official endorsement by Mayor Anthony M. Ruffo, Jr., of Atlantic City, who timed her start and bade her bon voyage with message of greeting and the official key of Atlantic City for delivery to Mayor Rolph, of San Francisco.

"I got so sleepy at times, especially the third night out, that I thought I would have to quit," Miss Glyndon said. "I don't feel as though I ever again want to drink a cup of coffee or inhale from a bottle of smelling salts."

"It was the detours that delayed us. Out of Pittsburgh was a terrible stretch of road, necessitating a long detour. Also, in certain sections of the far west, we encountered more than one heart breaking detour."

Not once during the trip did Miss Glyndon enter a hotel for food or sleep. Ten minute nods at the wheel sufficed for rest. Sandwiches and coffee eaten with one hand, while the other steered, were her only refreshments. She is an experienced driver, and for the last six years has driven Chevrolets exclusively. Just before the trip she purchased a new sedan and drove it 1,200 miles before starting on her record breaking journey. The only stops the car required were those made to take on gasoline, oil and water. No change of tires or adjustments of any description were necessary.

$350,000 DORMITORY FOR BAYLOR UNIVERSITY

In a historic and educational setting amid great enthusiasm and viewed by at least 3,000 persons, dirt was broken at eleven o'clock last Thursday morning for $350,000 memorial dormitory for girls at Baylor University, the money having been raised by the Women's Missionary Union of Texas. This event marked the beginning of a building program of $1,000,000 for Baylor.

Mrs. George W. Truett of Dallas, was in charge of the ceremonies. Mrs. Fannie Rodgers Harris of San Saba, the oldest living graduate of Baylor University, having graduated at Independence in 1858 turned the first spadeful of earth. Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor, opened the exercises with prayer.

The primary step of a state-wide speaking program will be conducted on that date when more than 100 pastors will devote their services to the campaign for $2,000,000 or introduce visiting speakers in their pulpits.

PEP SQUAD SUPPORTS HIGH SCHOOL TEAM

The creed of our Pep Squad is that the proper time to yell loudest for a football team is when the score doesn't look so good.

Last Friday week when the big end of the score piled up for Post, the loyal support of the thirty-five members of the Pep Squad helped the Eagles keep a stiff upper lip and finish out the game with bloody but unbowed heads.

It was a good game and a fast game, and even if the boys did lose several teeth and eyebrows and a score of 24-0, nobody came home discouraged. Come on, Coach, we're backin' you and the game bunch of boys on the South Plains.

In selecting corn for seed or breeding, farmers in the Southern States are advised to choose ears having husks that are at least long enough to cover the tip of the ears and that close tightly around the silks. Very long, tight husks are an aid in preventing injury from the corn earworm and the weevil and also from birds.

The importance of legumes in adding nitrogen to the soil is far greater than is commonly realized, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A 2-ton crop of vetch, if turned under, will add more than 100 pounds of nitrogen to the soil. Vetch should be planted early enough so that the plants are well established and firmly rooted before winter begins. Delayed seeding is a frequent cause of failure of this crop.

Lack of housing and of proper care of farm machinery means a loss in dollars and cents. By housing farm machinery, its life is doubled and the annual repair bills cut in half, says the U. S. Large Island Unexplored

The fifth, and possibly the third, largest island in the world, is almost unknown. It is Baffin island in the Arctic circle, and its area is estimated at from 200,000 to 300,000 square miles. It is owned by Canada. The Norsemen probably knew it in the year 1000. In 1576, when Martin Frobisher was seeking the Northwest passage, 100 English colonists actually tried to make their homes on its bleak southeastern coast. Some day, perhaps, when the world becomes overcrowded and modern conveniences make a cold climate livable, Baffin island may be the home of a nation.—Copper's Weekly.
