New Building To Be Ultra Modern

Wednesday April 23rd at 2 p. m. bids now being advertised for the new home of the First National Bank will be opened. Bank President J. L. Shoemaker, jr. said Monday. The estimated $40,000 structure will be built on property directly across the street west of Mansell's. The building will be 42 by 100 feet containing 4156 square feet of floor space. It will be of concrete aggregate with light colored face brick. The interior will include seven teller cages and a number of banking offices as well as a modern safety deposit vault for the public. Furniture and fixtures, previously purchased and stored, are not included in the above cost estimates. The new bank home will include a drive in window and a nite deposit system. ### Clean Up Day Was Huge Success

By far the best response within recent years was given to last week's clean up campaign. Work began last Monday week with the climax being a half holiday for business men on Thursday for cleaning up. The cooperation was near perfect and the men, women and children went to work with vim, vigor and vitality. Huge piles of rubbish were burned, lots were cleaned and an estimated 150 truck loads of trash were hauled to the dump grounds. As an overall picture, the public seemed to enjoy the event and generally it was more recreation than work.

All who so faithfully worked in last week's drive are urged to be present. Chairman John Ellis said Mayor Jimmie Hash, John Ellis, The City Council composed of Chas. ### CANCER IS BIG KILLER

"While the span of human life has been lengthened 10 years during the last four decades, disturbing fact remains that there has been a marked rise in death from cancer during the same period," declared Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, and urged that the public be on the alert to "Cancer is not a hopeless, incurable disease. It is not contagious in itself hereditary. There are thousands of men and women in this country who have been successfully treated for cancer. The great hope of cancer patients lies in their having treatment during the first stages of the disease. Cancer announces itself by symptoms that are frequently painless and apparently trivial, thus giving the disease an unseemly advantage. Early diagnosis is the one powerful antagonist."

Mrs. Williams has taught us that a variety is the spice of life therefore, we are doing a variety of things. All are very interesting in English we are studying poetry and are we having fun! of course, our inspirations are varied, some are about the sand, some war, some birds and some inventions. We wish Mr. Smith had room to print all our poems but that is impossible, therefore, we are sending in two of our best. Hope you enjoy reading them.

Along with poetry we are studying dramatization of stories. We are working on a short play entitled "Sewing Society" to present to the P.T.A. Everyone is invited to attend.

Next week, is examination. The class hopes to report a goodly number of honor roll students. You will hear from us again soon.

National Sunday School Week
Will Be Observed April 14-20

The director of the Chicago Crime Commission, Nathaniel Leverone, has been named national chairman of Sunday School Week, April 14-20. This all-faith activity seeks to give recognition to the continuing constructive work of America's Sunday schools and to urge greater attendance on the part of both parents and their children.

In accepting the chairmanship of Sunday School Week, Mr. Leverone, also director of the Chicago Better Business Bureau, said, "We must have men who will call attention to the fact that the truths expressed in the Declaration of Independence are just as true today as then. We must not take these truths for granted, we must work to preserve them, recognizing the great danger in the rapid spread of communistic atheism among our people. A truly great influence in making better Americans is the contribution of Sunday School Week."

It is significant that the Laymen's National Committee, a non-profit group of religiously concerned business men and women, selected the Director of the Chicago Crime Commission to lead the national observance of America's eighth annual Sunday School Week. The past year has seen a revelation of the moral decline of our youth through the fixing of athletic contests, the misuse of public confidence, and the increasing use of drugs and dope.

Mr. Leverone is the founder and chairman of the board of the Automatic Canteen Company of America. He is the father of the modern vending machine which idea he conceived after noting the robbery of poorly serviced machines which took coins and gave nothing in return. During World War II he was Director of Salvage for the WPB for the state of Illinois, and served on the Army Council as chairman of the Air Force Committee.

Officers of Kiwanis International also announced that they will cooperate with other national organizations in the preparation and use of display and publicity materials to implement the register and vote campaign. This will avoid duplication of efforts and will make it possible to utilize existing funds for the organizing program, it is said. They further stated that the "Ballot Battalion" organization handbooks will be available for use by any local or national group.

One hundred and sixty-seven years ago America's first Sunday school was founded in Virginia, the first such school anywhere in the New World. This was just five years after Robert Raikes established the world's first such school in Gloucester, England in 1780. Today there are better than 215,000 such schools across America which weekly bring a knowledge of God into the maturing minds of children, and of their parents.

Few organizations have become so much a part of the American landscape as has the local Sunday school. Frequently it was the first religious organization of any type to reach a new community and its service to the church during the past eight generations is immeasurable.

During Sunday School Week this year men and women of all faiths and positions will be renewing their allegiance to the Sunday school of their choice. On April 20, parents will accompany their children to the local Sunday school and during this 7 day observance recognition will be paid to past accomplishments of the Sunday school movement in America.

Kiwanis to Sponsor National Vote Campaign

Kiwanis International will sponsor a great, nation-wide register and vote campaign for the next nine months. The plan was adopted by the board of trustees during a three-day meeting. The campaign has been named the "Ballot Battalion" and was presented to Kiwanis clubs throughout the nation during the month of March.

In announcing the plan, Kiwanis president Claude B. Hellmann, a Baltimore, Maryland utilities executive said, "We are a service organization and we think it is high time for service club members to get into politics. Service clubs in general have been shy of the word 'politics' for much too long. Amer-

Tasty Cheese Makes Appetizing Snacks

(See Recipes Below)

Tasty Snacks

THERE ARE MANY occasions for snacks in every home, especially when the family is social. Perhaps you have people dropping in before dinner, and like to serve something in the living room whether they stay for dinner or not.

Then, too, there are evening get-togethers when a bit of snacking is in order. Perhaps you bring the evening to a close with a tasty snack, something not too much, but just enough to fill you, once the conversation or games have fanned the appetite.

Both men and women appreciate a snack which has some zest to it. If it's before dinner, a salty or tangy type of tidbit is indicated. After dinner and dessert, the same type of snack is in order since the sweet tooth has already been nourished with dessert.

Tangy meat spreads, tasty breads, salty crackers and various cheeses fill the snack role to perfection. Here are many suggestions from which to choose.

These tiered sandwiches may be made in advance and chilled. The base is a round loaf of pumpernickel bread and makes an attractive sandwich piece to set on a platter.

Tiered Sandwiches

(Makes 24 wedges)

- 3 ounces chive cheese
- 3 ounces relish cheese
- 1 6-ounce round loaf pumpernickel bread
- 3 ounces deviled ham
- 2 tablespoons catsup
- 2 ounces Gruyere cheese
- 2 ounces very sharp cheese

Let cheese stand at room temperature until soft enough to spread. Remove bottom crust from pumpernickel. Cut three 1/2-inch thick slices crosswise. Spread one slice with chive cheese; cover with second slice of bread, spread with relish cheese. Cover with third slice of bread. Mix deviled ham and catsup; spread third slice. Cut Gruyere and very sharp cheese portions in triangles and arrange on top layer of bread, alternately, with the pointed ends toward the center. Chill thoroughly. Cut in wedges, following outline of cheese slices.

Rye bread can be made into tasty sandwiches with relish cheese and olive-pimiento cheese spreads. Wrapped in waxed paper, they'll keep in the refrigerator until serving time.

Cheese Rye Wedges

(Makes 4)

- 1 loaf salty rye bread, about 2 1/2 inches in diameter
- 1 5-ounce jar relish cheese spread
- 1 5-ounce jar olive pimiento cheese spread

Slice rye bread into 66 slices about 1/4-inch thick. Set aside 11 slices. Spread remaining slices with cheese spreads, using about 1 teaspoon for each slice. Alternating the cheese spread, stack five slices together, topping each stack with one of the 11 unsliced slices. Wrap stacks in waxed paper and chill thoroughly. Just before serving, cut each stack into four wedges.

LYNN SAYS: Simple Combinations Keep Snacks Interesting

Celery stalks can be filled with this mixture: mashed avocado seasoned with lemon juice, salt and onion juice.

Perhaps you like as a snack just a thin slice of bread with well-flavored butter. Ground shrimp mixed with an equal quantity of butter is delicious; ground ham mixed with half as much butter and some sieved egg yolk is appetizing.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- Chicken Chop Suey
- Hot Rice
- Buttered Green Beans

Garlic Cheese Dip
1 6-ounce package garlic cheese
3/4 cup soured cream

Let cheese soften at room temperature, then beat until light and fluffy. Blend in soured cream and then chill until ready to serve.

Blue Cheese Spread
1/2 cup blue cheese
1/2 cup cream cheese
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
3/4 to 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Softened cheese and blend together with mayonnaise. Season with Worcestershire sauce, onion and lemon juice to taste.

Deviled Ham Dip
4 tablespoons deviled ham
4 tablespoons horseradish
1 teaspoon grated onion
2 tablespoons minced chives
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Blend deviled ham with horseradish, onion and chives. Fold in whipped cream and chill before serving.

Dried Beef Dip
6 ounces cream cheese
1 wedge blue cheese (about 1 ounce)
1/2 cup dried beef, finely cut
1/2 small onion, grated
1 tablespoon horseradish
1 tablespoon mayonnaise

Let cheese soften at room temperature. Blend together both kinds, and then mix in other ingredients. Serve with crackers or potato chips.

Avocado Dip
4 strips bacon
2 avocados
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 tablespoon lime juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup mayonnaise

Dice bacon, fry until crisp, then drain. Peel avocados, mash fine and add lime juice and seasonings. Soften with mayonnaise and add bacon bits. This may be used for dipping or for a spread on crisp crackers.

When you want a hot appetizer, these little meat balls are tasty and easy to serve as well as to eat:

Spicy Meat Balls
(Makes 24)

- 1/2 pound ground beef
- 1 egg
- 1 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 1/2 teaspoons minced onion
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon prepared horseradish
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- Dash of tabasco sauce
- Grated American or Italian Style cheese

Combine all ingredients except cheese, blending well. Shape into tiny balls. Saute in hot fat until all sides are lightly browned, which will take about 4 minutes. Roll each ball in grated cheese. Insert toothpick and serve hot.

For a spicy snack to serve before dinner, try some thin slices of salmon spread with cream cheese, then wrap around 2-inch sticks of celery.

You'll like these hot tidbits to serve before a meal: spread strips of uncooked bacon with peanut butter; roll tightly, fasten with a toothpick and broil until bacon is crisp.

Like to stick tasty tidbits into a grapefruit for a snack? Wrap rolled anchovies in a half slice of bacon and broil until bacon is crisp. Or, wrap shrimp in bacon and broil.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Light Muffins
Muffins will be much lighter if you grease the pans and place them in a hot oven for a few minutes before spooning in the muffin batter.

Pickles
Pickles preserved in brine are susceptible to spoilage. Use about one teaspoon of oil poured on the surface after the jar is opened to prevent the growth of mold.

Moist Bread
If you want to keep bread moist and fresh, store in a plastic bag and refrigerate. Unless the bag is used, mold may develop on the bread.

Cost Is Down On Wonder Drugs

One of the antibiotic "wonder drugs", which is used widely for many human and animal diseases is becoming less expensive for the patient. Since discovery of aureomycin in 1949, there have been several direct price reductions. Now Lederle Labs. is marketing the drug under a new low-dosage recommendation which is about half that for similar wide-range antibiotics, according to a company spokesman. This lower dosage will mean substantial savings for the patient. The new recommendation calls for only four 250 mg. aureomycin capsules per day, for an adult, as compared with the old recommendation of eight to 10 per day, for serious bacterial infections. "Two years ago," said the Lederle official, "our scientists, realizing that lower dosage of the drug would be effective, set in motion an extensive research program in our laboratories and in hospitals throughout the country. It again evidence. Meanwhile, independent reports from all over the world proved conclusively that a lower dosage is in order, a fact which has been recognized and approved by responsible authorities."

Aureomycin, which must be prescribed by a doctor, is indicated in the treatment of over 60 diseases which beset man, including "strip" throat, boils and carbuncles, "virus" pneumonia, tonsillitis, and a number of skin infections.

Now is the time to start fertilization program for the farm fish pond. Such a program makes possible the production of fish by the acre and greatly improves the farm fish pond so far as fishing is concerned. A stocking program plus the fertilization program for farm ponds can solve the question of where to go fishing - right at home.

Fox Known To Carry Rabies

Central Texas, fox population will have to be reduced by at least 50 percent immediately in order to avert serious fox rabies trouble this spring the State Department of Health has warned.

Unless livestock owners, fox hunters, and the public generally get on the ball, the whole region is in for increasing numbers of rabies cases, State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox predicted.

Five rabid foxes have been killed within Austin's city limits or adjacent to them since the first of the year, Dr. Cox said. All were found to be positive by laboratory tests.

The grim warning came on the heels of a report that the disease had been diagnosed in Fayette County for the first time in history.

The health officer said Central Texas rabies had been almost eradicated except for a small pocket in Milan County. Because no cases were reported for some nine months, fox thinning efforts were relaxed. That's when the trouble began.

Drench Bottle

In November of 1951, he reported the disease flared in the southern part of Milam County and advanced rapidly toward the heavier fox population of Lee, Fayette, Bastrop, and Travis Counties.

The direction of spread now, according to all indications, is westward and southwestward. New outbreaks can be expected in those sections.

He said there was only one way to stop the disease which is 100 percent fatal to livestock and humans alike, once symptoms develop. That way is to kill foxes "by trapping, shooting, poisoning—any way to cut their number in half and break the chain of infection."

Confusion can be avoided by thinking through plans for settlement of property, real and personal, and its disposal by having a properly executed will.

Sawdust has little value as a fertilizer but when used as compost or as a mulch, the texture of heavy soils is improved and the water holding capacity of a sandy soil is increased. Sawdust and wood wastes are low in nitrogen.

The 1952 goal for home gardens in Texas is 600,000. Where moisture conditions are favorable, home gardeners should begin to turn their attention to the planting of the warm season vegetables. Grow more, eat more and preserve more vegetables in 1952.

The annual Texas Safety Conference will be held at the Baker Hotel in Dallas on March 24-25. The Farm and Ranch section meeting is scheduled for the afternoon of the 25th.

See that your news gets to your home town paper;

To simplify drenching a sick cow or horse, as well as preventing the animal breaking the neck of the bottle and swallowing a piece of glass, fit the bottle with a rubber hose extension.

American Diets Improve During Past 15 Years

Americans as a whole are better fed than they were 15 years ago, nutritionists report. Compared to the period before World War II, people in the U.S. are eating 19 per cent more meat, poultry and fish; 42 per cent more eggs; 11 per cent more fruits and vegetables; and 20 per cent more dairy products except butter. They are eating 24 per cent less potatoes and 17 per cent less grain products.

Gen. Eisenhower, Sen. Kefauver Win in New Hampshire Election

NEW HAMPSHIRE—Political dopesters, both Republican and Democrat, have spent days trying to read a national trend into the results of the New Hampshire preferential primary. No one can be sure how the results can be applied to the nation as a whole, but there are several noteworthy facts as a result of the election which the average home town voter can apply to his own area.

General Eisenhower's victory is an indication of the respect and popularity he commands from the average voter. This is important when it is remembered that Eisenhower backers made no all-out effort in the contest. On the other hand, Senator Taft stumped the state as if campaigning in the presidential race itself.

There is one obvious conclusion. Except for Ohio, and perhaps, a few other strongholds, Eisenhower appears to be the GOP's best vote getter. Whether or not he can get the nomination, of course, still remains in serious doubt. On the Democratic side of the picture, Senator Kefauver pulled something of an upset by defeating President Truman, who had the state's Democratic machine behind him. As a result, it is reasonable to assume that the Tennessee senator has a far greater vote getting potential than political forecasters realized, or President Truman is so unpopular the votes went to Kefauver as a protest of the Truman administration and policies.

It should be remembered, however, that results of the preferential contest are not binding on the state's convention delegates, either Republican or Democrat. Taft still retains a majority of the Republican convention delegates. Encouraged by the New Hampshire result, Eisenhower backers may now begin their all-out drive to corral delegates and thus the nomination.

Kefauver's victory in New Hampshire does not mean he is as popular in other sections of the country. Truman still has the nomination tied up if he wants it. Some observers believe, however, Truman will now hasten his decision about running, if he has not already made up his mind. By a quick announcement he might check growing Kefauver popularity.

DEADLOCK—With peace talks deadlocked over prisoner exchange and what nations will supervise the armistice, if one is ever negotiated, the big question on the battlefield is what effect spring will have on the two armies which have faced each other for nearly two years.

In this connection, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U.S. Eighth Army commander, indulged in a little speculation. The commander reported the Chinese and Korean Reds have built up a force of 900,000 men in Korea. He added that the Reds have more men, weapons, and planes than the Allies.

But he does not believe the Reds will launch a spring offensive, but if they did he would welcome it and stop it cold.

"I am confident we could stop any attack the Communists might throw at us," he said. "It would be a good thing if we could get those people out of their foxholes and dugouts to mow them down the way we did last April and May."

As for possible Allied plans, the general said: "The future operations of the Eighth Army are still on the conference table at Panmunjom." That was not saying very much, but it is generally believed there will be no all-out Allied offensive unless the truce talks collapse completely. If they should, then the people of the home towns of America must steel themselves for the explosion that of necessity must follow. It could mean an all-out war in Asia.

Meanwhile, the Department of Defense reported the latest American casualty total in Korea at 106,458. Of the total, 18,505 are known to have been killed.

TAXES—The all-powerful house-senate economic committee reportedly has agreed that there should be no general increase in tax rates this year. It was not exactly surprising news to the nation's taxpayers, since congressional opposition has been expressed from the moment President Truman announced his record $85,000,000,000 spending budget.

The committee went on record as favoring a $10,000,000,000 cut in the budget. By closing existing tax loopholes, the $10 billion budget cut, and with surpluses which go into government trust funds, the committee said it believed the budget could be balanced.

The President had asked congress to close the tax loopholes in his annual economic report, but had also asked an increase in taxation by whatever additional was necessary to boost government income by $5,000,000,000 a year.

AVERAGE FAMILY—A recent economic survey reveals there has been such a vast shift in income distribution in the United States in the past 20 years it can be classed as a social revolution.

The survey reveals the very poor have become fewer by two-thirds of their 1939 number. And the poor have become better off. Where three out of four families had incomes of less than $2,000 a year in 1939, only one out of three fell into that class ten years later.

The well-to-do and the rich have become more numerous. In the late thirties, one family in about 50 was in the $5,000 and over income class, and one out of 100 was in the $10,000 and over class. Ten years later, one family out of six was in the $5,000 and over class, and one out of twenty in the $10,000 and over class.

Over the years the very rich have become poorer because the rise in labor incomes has been accompanied by a decline in property incomes. The share of the upper 1 per cent of income receivers in total incomes has declined in 35 years from 16 per cent to 9 per cent.

NEW WATCH—A fantastic achievement in the science of time-keeping was revealed when Elgin researchers took the wraps off their latest development—a conventional sized wrist watch that stores its own source of electrical power and will operate more than a year before its tiny "energy capsule" expires.

World's tiniest cell, a powerful energy capsule smaller than a penny in volume, provides power for new electronic watch.

The electronic watch of tomorrow is still in the laboratory but its sponsors claim it will eventually revolutionize personal timekeeping. Its motor, the smallest practical unit ever built, replaces the mainspring which has been used in all watches made the past 450 years. Also eliminated is the winding mechanism, since the energy capsule does that job.

The capsule itself, smaller in volume than a penny, discharges power at such a constant rate that the new watch will keep perfect time. And when it expires, a watchmaker will be able to insert a new one in a few minutes at nominal cost.

Some estimate of the infinitesimal size of Elgin's "power plant" was given in the description that 10,000,000 electronic watches could be operated from the power consumed by a single 100-watt light bulb. And eventually they hope to make it smaller still, applying the same principle to a woman's watch.

GAMBLING TAX

Yield Far Less Than Congress Expected

The internal revenue bureau reports the government's new gambling license and tax has yielded far less than expected when it was enacted. The total yield from November through January was a mere $1,455,393. When congress passed the license law, it was estimated that the annual yield would be 400 million dollars. Sales of the $50 a year occupation stamp in November, December, and January netted $484,429 from 16,029 professional gamblers. The 10 per cent tax on gross receipts amounted to $970,964. For December, the first full month to which the tax was applied, the return was $759,182. The 10 per cent tax on gross business for January has not been tabulated and is not included in the total gross receipts.

TELEVISION DISCOVERS MAIN STREET

New Electronic Science Born in Cottage

(This is the last of a series of three articles on the coming of a nationwide television service.)

To the people who will receive this new ultra high frequency television service, various considerations will govern their selection of home equipment.

In some areas, under the FCC plan, only UHF channel will be received. Present set owners, who have perhaps been picking up a distant VHF signal, will be able to purchase a simple and inexpensive fixed channel tuner to go with their present sets.

For residents of areas where several UHF channels can be received, full range tuners have been designed.

In many new television areas, the projected coverage will include both types of service. And combination UHF-VHF sets are likely to be the industry's answer. These sets will probably gravitate toward the major population centers since the allocation plan envisages both services in all but three of the country's 50 major market areas.

In addition to tuners and combination sets, the public will probably have an opportunity to purchase various types of antenna for UHF reception. In the course of their long experimentation, RFC engineers designed numerous effective receiving antenna of remarkable varied shape. One of the simplest is known as a "bow-tie" and looks just like an enlarged version of this male neckwear. Another is known as a "Double V", and consists of two sets of dipoles (metal rods cut to a critical length) attached to a pole in the form of two V's. There is a parabolic antenna, with metal bars attached to a curving semi-circular shaft, and there is an antenna with the colorful name of "Yagi."

These are the antenna which in a few years might dot the rooftops of farms and ranches and city residences. When new stations begin to go up, the industry will undoubtedly standardize on a few of many experimental antenna models, giving full consideration to both performance and sightliness.

The industry has already made formidable gains in overcoming the problem of designing UHF station transmitters with sufficient power to provide required area coverage. The first test models were one kilowatt, but units of from 10-12 kilowatts are now being tested.

Ample Power
New gain antenna have also been developed, and the industry is looking toward UHF antenna that can radiate 200 kilowatts — more than ample power to meet nearly all conditions.

Of course, the UHF service has its limitations like every other service. UHF transmissions, like VHF, are dependent on line of sight between transmitting and receiving antennas. In addition, they are more directional and the location of transmitter sites is of prime importance. Mountains, hills and other physical impediments can block effective transmission.

In addition to promising television to presently vacant areas, UHF offers new hopes for thousands of set owners who live in "fringe" areas. These areas are on the outskirts of the effective telecast coverage from present VHF stations.

To obtain a home picture in these fringe areas, towering antennae are frequently required, and often the pictures are too faint and "noisy," and lack the contrast required for enjoyable home viewing.

SUCCESS HILL—The lofty antenna of the Bridgeport UHF station towers over the white frame station house at the left. In the foreground is a station wagon equipped with UHF receiver and portable antenna. It has been used to test signal strength throughout the Bridgeport area. Station KC2XAK is the first and only UHF station in the country to operate on a regular daily basis. It is located on the crest of Success Hill on Bridgeport's outskirts.

New stations are the obvious answer to fringe viewing, but if they are VHF stations they might conflict with the signal, however faint, from the more distant VHF transmitters.

With UHF, however, new stations with new channels can go up in the very shadow of existing transmitters and a clear, bright picture can be enjoyed by everyone.

A small Cape Cod cottage which sits atop a wooded hill on the outskirts of Bridgeport, Conn., is the cradle of a new electronic science. For two years, field tests on the transmission of television signals in the upper regions of the air waves have centered around the cottage. Out of these tests has come a new system of video transmission that will soon have a very real impact on the life of residents of Tazoo City, Miss., and Thief River Falls, Minn., and Wolf Point, Mont.

Center of Interest

Despite its lack of pretension, the cottage has been a prime attraction in recent months for government leaders, for scores of executives in the radio and television industry, for some of the nation's outstanding electronic scientists, engineers and technicians. Even the Connecticut State Police have been lured there for extra-curricular duties.

Since December 30, 1949, the little cottage on Success Hill has housed the first and only Ultra-High Frequency television station in the nation which operates on a regular daily basis. It has been the field headquarters for the television industry's march into the untapped UHF band.

The station was built by the Radio Corporation of America and the National Broadcasting Company as the culminating move in a long campaign to find sufficient space in the air waves for a national television service. A lofty 250-foot UHF transmitting tower was erected outside the cottage. The interior was stocked with television transmitting equipment. Inside, it looked much like any other station, but its special tubes and circuits were designed for UHF rather than VHF channels now standard for video transmissions.

Bridgeport was picked for the field tests because the undulations of its terrain make line-of-sight television transmission difficult. In addition, it lies in a "fringe" television area, picking up remote signals from New York and New Haven.

Under these extreme test conditions, the Bridgeport station, which was given the experimental designation of KC2XAK by the Federal Communications Commission, began picking up the video signals of Station WNBT, the National Broadcasting Company's New York outlet which beams off the Empire State antenna. These signals, in turn, were rebroadcast via UHF to Bridgeport area.

To pick up this broadcast, engineers of the RFC Victor Division designed and built 50 UHF experimental sets, and 50 tuners to permit present set owners to receive both UHF and VHF telecasts.

The test equipment, together with various experimental receiving antennas, was installed in local homes within a 25 mile radius of Success Hill. In about half the homes, there were no receivers and service men installed both UHF and VHF antennas. This permitted comparison of the pictures picked up direct from New York and New Haven with those beamed over the Bridgeport experimental unit.

There were hundreds of offers of voluntary cooperation from residents of Bridgeport and its suburbs. The homes selected for the tests were carefully spotted to obtain a full area study. Engineers made regular rounds of the test homes over a period of months to analyze the pictures and to compile reception ratings.

But even this was not enough for a full picture. A station wagon was equipped with precise measuring equipment and receivers, and a truck was fitted out with a collapsible antenna that could be quickly elevated.

Making Signal Patterns

Up and down parkways, highways, country roads and lanes, the unique electronic caravan rolled along with police cars fore and aft.

Nearly all of the television industry moved into Bridgeport on the invitation of RCA. Sixty-four manufacturers, in fact, descended on the industrial town to use the UHF signals. In hotel rooms, homes, stores and display rooms the technicians of the industry designed and set up equipment that would pick up the unwavering signal from Success Hill. They developed tuners to be attached to present sets; they perfected new antennas; they devised effective equipment for combined UHF-VHF reception.

Members of the Federal Communications Commission, headed by Wayne Coy, then chairman of the FCC, visited the workshop. RCA engineers and technicians maintained a steady flow of information into the Commission headquarters, and on the basis of this technical data the plan for a national service began to take shape. In August and September of 1951, Mr. Coy and more than a hundred engineers from TV stations throughout America attended demonstrations of the latest UHF equipment. They saw a clear, flickerless picture brought in by a variety of tuners.

At last UHF was ready. Mr. Coy spoke of 3,000 television stations in America "soon," with two-thirds to three-quarters in the UHF band. "I am sold on UHF," the FCC chairman declared, and the industry echoed his words.

Service to Mankind

Today, there are 2,400 AM and 680 FM radio stations in America. Daily broadcasts reach 95 per cent of the country. More than 105,000,000 radio sets have been sold. There are more than 33,000,000 radio equipped homes. It can be claimed, without exaggeration, that in a quarter-century radio has become as much a household utility as the electric light or the telephone.

All signs indicate that television will acquire a comparable status in the next decade. The industry in typical private enterprise fashion, has gambled millions on the perfection of VHF and the development of UHF. It has paved the way for small-town television, and the speed with which the small towns capitalize on this opportunity is in part a local question.

Under FCC procedure, television station license applications will be accepted for a fixed period. It is then the responsibility of local people—businessmen, educators, newspaper publishers, bankers, labor and religious leaders—to see that local license applications are filed and that the opportunity does not go by default.

The government won't build the stations. The broadcast industry operates under the old American tradition of free enterprise. Industry can provide the equipment, the government can provide the license, but the people of America—must make the final decision—on whether their towns will be linked to the world via television.

SHORT STORY

With All The Fixings

By Michael Tiff

AS USUAL, stepping out of the exclusive Bankers and Manufacturers Club building, I felt that I had a lot to say to the world in general and to my favorite shoe-shine boy, Mickey McKenzie, in particular. In fact, I was overjoyed to see him coming toward me through the crowded sidewalk, with his business stock and equipment housed in a crudely constructed box with a shoe rest. The feeling of satisfaction within me, born of recent pyramidal successes in the stock market, glowed with pleasant warmth; and I wanted presently to transmit that glow to Mickey himself.

"Hi, Mr. Crowley. Shine?"
"You bet, Mickey. How's your business?"
"Okay, Mr. Crowley. How's your business?"
"Okay, Mickey."

I watched him again with satisfaction. I approved of the way he worked, with his long sandy hair falling from one side to the other as his slight body swayed to his task.

Noticing Mickey's curious glances at the other members of the club walking into or out of the building in greater numbers than usual, I informed him, "Today is the anniversary—the hundredth—of the Bankers & Manufacturers' Club. Nice sunny day for it, too."

"Sure's an old club. I once belonged to a club, too. It was a hiking club. But I got plenty of walking all day looking for customers, so I lit out of it."

"I'm doing pretty well right now, Mr. Crowley, with my own business."

I was suddenly interested in his personal life—and I was positive Mickey had one. "I suppose, after your day's work is done, you can't wait until you're in a movie theatre watching your favorite Western hero? Eh, Mickey?"

I expected, when he raised his rather large blue eyes, to see them aglow with sudden fire. Instead they were quite calm, perhaps skeptical. "The movies are oke, Mr. Crowley, but they're mostly for kids."

"TELL ME, Mickey, what do you like to do besides shining shoes?"

"Eat, Mr. Crowley. Just eat. My specialty's hot dogs and—fishcakes. But gimme hot dogs any time—with lots of mustard and onions and saurkraut. 'Course I go for fishcakes too. But hot dogs is my specialty. When I get home mom's got potatoes and beef stew and that's okay with me. But I always sneak down to the hot dog stand on the corner with two or three nickels—sometimes as many as six—and get myself hot dogs with all the fixings."

"Guess I'm just about the hot-dog-eatenest guy in the city. Gosh! Guess I'm always hungry for 'em. Mom says I got a barrel for a stomach, always going after 'em eats the way I do. But mom's a pretty good sport any way for letting me have some of the nickels I take in over the day."

I could tell, by the rapt expression on Mickey's gold-flecked face, that he was mentally immersed in those delicious frankfurters, with "all the fixings"—concocted by this genius Mike. That small tongue of his seemed to move faster as if it were curling about a portion of his favorite delight. I could almost taste with him that incomparable flavor, laden with the essence of onions, mustard and saurkraut. But Mickey was straightening up and packing his brush, his rags, his cans of polish back into the crude little box. His small grimy palm hovered toward me and with a burst of generosity, I placed on the little hard-earned palm not one nickel but three. I watched the freckles for the sign of joy. But a man happened to pass close by me at the moment, one of my fellow club members, and he placed a brotherly hand on my shoulder.

"Fred," he called me by my first name, of course, "don't you forget the dinner tonight. Hundredth anniversary of the club, you know. And it's going to cost you just one hundred dollars for your plate, whether you come or not. Cheap at that."

One hundred dollars a plate! I saw Mickey pocket the three nickels I had given him and when I looked into his eyes, they stared back at me, very wide and very blue, and I had nothing to say.

A good way to handle pie dough is to place it on waxed paper. Gather up the paper into a bag and manipulate the dough through the paper until it forms a ball and is well blended.

Slicing Cheese

Do you find cheese-slicing difficult? If you cut cheese with strong thread you'll find it easier and the slices neater.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

Some Minds Act In Vicious Circle

By Lawrence Gould

May your mind work in a "vicious circle"?

Answer: Yes. The phrase describes most neurotic patterns of behavior. A "vicious circle" is a situation in which what you do in the attempt to improve something actually makes it worse, so that you "go round and round" instead of getting anywhere. One of the most frequent cases is that of the mother who gets angry at a child for being naughty and by punishing him harshly makes him still more frightened and rebellious. You may get out of a vicious circle by learning to act on the basis of what you know will be the consequences of your actions, and not merely to "relieve your feelings."

May misfortune be a "challenge"?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Sandor Rado, Professor of Psychiatry at Columbia University. "To a healthy person a serious loss is a challenge. He meets the emergency by calming his emotions, marshaling his remaining resources and increasing his adaptive efficiency." But a "depressed" and neurotic person does the exact opposite. He tries to repair the damage by reverting to the techniques of his childhood and depending on someone else to console him for his loss, as his mother once did. Unhappily, his attempts to gain strength from another person rather than from within himself leave him more helpless than ever.

Should we stop using the word "insane"?

Answer: I wish very much that we—and I, especially—could do so. For "insane" is neither accurate nor scientific; it is a legal term denoting someone who has been judged (frequently by people who know almost nothing of psychology) to be incapable of "knowing right from wrong" or of managing his affairs. But it is possible for a person with no moral sense whatever to pass all the legal tests for sanity, and conversely, someone may be driven by irresistible "neurotic compulsions" to do what he knows to be morally wrong. In everyday speech and writing we are forced to go on using the word "insane" simply because the correct, scientific term, "psychotic" still means nothing to most people.

KEEPING HEALTHY

Dental Suggestions and Safety Hints

By Dr. James W. Barton

"CHILDREN sitting or standing on the front seat of automobiles are in the most dangerous position in the car and frequently their teeth are fractured by hitting the dashboard at sudden stops."

I am quoting Dr. Harry Marsh Wilbur, professor of children's dentistry, University of Louisville School of Dentistry, in The Journal of the American Dental Association. It is also stated that front-seat passengers in autos suffer injuries, especially to the mouth and teeth, three times as often as drivers.

Dr. Wilbur cited recommendations of experts that crash pads be installed on dashboards to protect children and other front-seat passengers from violent impacts with knobs and instruments that jut out from the dashboard. Also, it is important that parents be informed of the necessity for professional attention as soon as an accident involving the teeth occurs. "Splints may be applied to a block of teeth which have been fractured or a single tooth which has been loosened, and other treatment as the case demands."

It is surprising how much a dentist can do in cases of broken or loosened teeth if the patient visits him immediately after the accident.

Another suggestion to help educate parents in the proper attitude toward child and dentist is that they stay out of the dentist's operating room while children are receiving dental treatment. This was suggested in The Journal of the American Dental Association by Dr. Frank L. Lamons, chairman of the department of orthodontics (straightening teeth) at Emory University and Dr. Mary Lynn Morgan, both of Atlanta, Ga., who say that parents should be informed fully about the condition of their children's mouths and the treatment needed.

"Departure of the parents from the scene of action brings miraculous results in every instance of behavior difficulty."

★ HEALTH NOTES ★

Health organizations advise weight reductions for millions.

Sometimes reducing weight can make you look older.

Overeating sometimes is just a family habit and not heredity.

Overweight brings lessened muscular activity, lack of ambition, mental sluggishness.

Each pound of fat holds over three pounds of water.

Elderly folk need more than just economic security.

Rehabilitation of the patient is an important stage of medical care.

Water prevents friction in the body by moistening all the various surfaces.

Probe Violations

THIS column has repeatedly reported concerning the violation of civil rights of citizens who are called before congressional committees as witnesses in the many probes now going on. The utter disregard for these rights, the brow-beating of witnesses, the star-chamber sessions without reference to any rules or the justice of jurisprudence has become scandalous.

It remains, however, for a freshman senator to really rebel at the tactics used in these probes and administer a verbal lashing to his colleagues in the United States senate. He is Sen. Herman Welker of Idaho, a member of a senate crime investigating committee, elected for his first term in 1950.

Senator Welker was particularly incensed at the use of radio and television which has made a spectacle of many of these senatorial inquisitions. In a television forum sponsored by Georgetown University he charged that these probe committees have no rules of evidence, no rules of demeanor and could brow-beat a witness and force him to testify about something he would not like to mention; that the committees are not governed by any sacred rules of law, admit hearsay evidence and conclusions; that the witness is subject to the whims of the men conducting the investigation and that such tactics invade the constitutional rights and the right of privacy of the witness.

He further declared that radio and television broadcasts were using the testimony of the witnesses in the hearings in commercial enterprises and for commercial purposes, certainly a violation of the individual's rights and for which the witnesses are uncompensated.

Said Senator Welker: "... here an unfortunate individual that some of our detectives or investigators want to bring before us have never perhaps seen a United States senator before. They are racked up before us, before these cameras and microphones and the august body of senators presiding, and they are nervous and it affects them, and by one slip of the tongue, they may become guilty of perjury, they might incriminate themselves, or they may find themselves in contempt of the body investigating them."

Continuing the gentleman from Idaho said: "... we are putting on a good show, dealing with morbid curiosity of the people who like to witness these "people before congressional hearings where we literally put the heat upon them. . . I say there has been too much mugging on the part of many senators who have enjoyed this limelight of being on the television and before the radio audience, and I say it is about time to get back to fundamental justice, and decency and get some courtroom judicial demeanor into this matter."

Harold Ickes

In the recent passing of Harold L. Ickes from the Washington scene, death has stilled one of the most powerful voices in the nation's capital against the persistent efforts by large special interests to grab the nation's natural resources.

During his more than 13 years as secretary of the interior the "old curmudgeon" had his sights raised above the petty chisellers in and out of government in a continuing fight to preserve the country's public lands, to preserve the natural resources in water and electric power, and to keep for the people generally the untold millions in wealth of the nation's oil-bearing tidelands.

Not even as he lay upon his death-bed the big oil companies which he had held at bay, with the aid of a presidential veto and two supreme court decisions were moving in again.

Settlement of this dispute, under the guise of states' rights, will be one of the major issues in this campaign. In two decisions, in 1947 and in 1950, the supreme court has held that coastal states have jurisdiction over submerged lands in bays, rivers and inlets and along the coast from high to the low-tide mark, but that farther out to the continental shelf, these submerged lands belong to all the people of all the states.

California, Louisiana, Texas and Florida have joined with the oil lobby in an effort to wrest this bonanza oil reserve from federal jurisdiction. There is now up in the senate a compromise bill, which is merely an entering wedge, which would give royalties from oil produced from these tidelands to the public school system.

Grain Investigation

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan is urging the senate agricultural committee to call as witnesses operators of warehouses from which government stored grain has disappeared. . . What movies have to do with price controls may be nothing, but the President went to the National Motion Pictures Association to get Eric Johnston and now he has gone to the Independent Motion Picture Producers Association to get Ellis Arnall to succeed Mike DiSalle.

YOU NEED NOT SUFFER

the tortures of Arthritis or rheumatic pains.

This man's wife had lain in bed some years as an invalid suffering the tortures of aches, pains, soreness, etc. He compounded this medicine and soon after she began taking it, her suffering began to subside. When her sufferings were all gone and she was back enjoying normal life and health again, he put it on the market. Now several thousand people have already taken it, and it is surprising how many of them have found that their rheumatic aches, pains, soreness, etc., begin subsiding even before they finish taking the first supply. If you are interested in more information, if you will give your name and address to Brazil Compound, 932 Byrnes Street, Houston 3, Texas, the manufacturer's representative, he will give you the names of people who have already taken this medicine, whom you can contact personally. This is one man who has a medicine who is not afraid for his own to contact any person who has taken it.
