Candidate Ralph Hall makes brief stop here

A small delegation of local businessmen were on hand Monday afternoon to welcome Sen. Ralph Hall, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, when he made a short stop here in his helicopter.

Hall included Iowa Park on his 11-county itinerary, spoke briefly with those present, and continued on to Wichita Falls. He, his wife, campaign worker and pilot made their stop on the old fair grounds, west of Park West Shopping Center.

He said his intentions are to take his campaign into every Texas county and county seat during the coming weeks, and he plans to use the helicopter to accomplish it. He added that he will return to Iowa Park by ground vehicle later to tour the city and meet more people.

His Monday schedule began with a coffee with Carrollton and Farmers Branch supporters, followed by stops at Lewisville, Decatur, Bridgeport, Jacksboro, Archer City, Seymour, Vernon, Iowa Park, Wichita Falls, Henrietta, Bowie, Gainesville and Denton.

The tour climaxed with a reception that evening, hosted by rancher-businessman Rex Cauble at his ranch near Denton and attended by Hall supporters from throughout Denton County.

He opened his helicopter tours last week with a 10-county swing through Northeast Texas. Hall, 48, has represented the 9th Senatorial District 10 years, and previously had served as County Judge of Rockwall County 12 years. During his Senate tenure he has served as chairman, vice chairman and as a member of some of the most important committees in the Senate, including County, District and Urban Affairs; Senate Affairs; Banking; Finance; Insurance; Education; Water and Conservation; Youth Affairs; Consumer Protection; and Labor and Management Relations.

He served as President Pro Tempore of the Senate in 1967. Prior to his election to the Senate he served as President of the State County Judges and Commissioners Association.

Band Boosters seek members

Membership drive is underway by the Iowa Park Band Booster Club. Memberships, $2 for individuals and $3 for families, are urged to be turned in soon, either through members of the high school, junior high and elementary bands, or to membership chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson.

"What better way for you to let your friends and neighbors know that you support a cultural program for our community," state the chairmen.

The Booster Club is currently working toward its annual fundraising project, the Local Vocal Variety Show, which will be staged Mar. 17-18 at the high school auditorium.

SUPPORT JEWELRY -- Mrs. Ralph Hall, who accompanied her state office candidate here by helicopter Monday afternoon while he campaigned, wears unusual costume jewelry. Earrings, made by a friend of hers, were made of Hall's campaign buttons. "I don't go anywhere without them," she explained proudly.

Smith favors Clark, files for alderman City, school ballot lists are increased

The list of candidates for the April 1 city and school elections grew some as yesterday's filing deadline neared.

As of 3 p.m. Wednesday, seven candidates had filed for the school board race and 10 were set for the city's ballot.

There was one major change in the city election, however, only two remained in the race for mayor when Rip Smith withdrew and then resubmitted his candidacy for re-election as alderman.

Latest filings in the school board race, where only two seats are to be filed, include Delbert Catlin, who filed Wednesday afternoon; Jim Frazier, who filed Tuesday; and Les Curry, who signed up Monday.

The trio joins incumbent Jesse McCullough, Pete Koonce, Mrs. Pat (R.A.) Stewart and Mrs. Helen (J.C.) Huff.

City alderman candidate list was lengthened when Smith switched and then Tuesday when Arch Hughes signed up.

Other candidates include incumbents L.W. Peel and Herman Mahler, Mrs. Jeanette Brown, John Huff and Lee C. Turner.

Dr. Gordon Clark and Mrs. Pearl Brooks

are the two remaining candidates for the office of mayor.

The seven school board candidates do not include one of the trustees whose term expires, Cecil Streich.

Smith, stating his reasons for stepping out of the mayor's race, told the Leader, "After a long conference with Dr. Clark, and finding his goals for the community are very similar to mine, I decided to withdraw as a candidate for mayor in support of Dr. Clark. Also, because some citizens might feel that I was running for the same office as he, I was opposed to him. I didn't want this to happen and some bitter split in the community develop. I believe the change in my candidacy is best for Iowa Park."

Clark entered the race last week, when friends presented him with petitions containing more than 500 signatures urging him to place his candidacy in the election. He pledged a "conservative and progressive administration" if elected.

In the elections, which will be held at Kidwell and Bradford schools, the top vote receivers are named to the posts they week. Only in the race for mayor does one person directly oppose another for votes.

Other candidates could legally file and not be reported in this story. Deadline for filing was the close of city and school administration offices, or filing application bearing the postal cancellation date of Mar. 1.

Laurence named 4-AAA all district

Towering junior David Laurence was named last week to the All-District 4-AAA basketball team.

Laurence, who averaged 16.9 points in the 14 league games, is one of three juniors on the 11-man first unit.

Greg Frazier and Randy Alsip, also juniors, were named to the 11-member honorable mention list.

Champion Brownwood dominated the first team with three members, Burkburnett, Graham and Hirschi each had two, while Iowa Park and Vernon contributed one each.

Laurence was the fourth-leading scorer in the conference. Vernon's giant John Harris, who scored 20.8 per game, was the only sophomore on the list.

The Iowa Park center sank 94 field goals, 49 of 80 shots at the foul line and had 45 personal fouls for his conference statistics.

Frazier averaged 12.1 and Alsip 10.4 points per conference game.

Other first-team players were Mike Britton, Tammy Hollingshead and Truman Westfall, Brownwood; Ronnie Tatum, high scorer in the conference with 22.3, and Jimmy Harrod, Hirschi; George Green and Harmon Lewis, Graham; and Steve Cremons and Greg Leonard, Burkburnett.

Joining Frazier and Alsip as honorable mention were: Tim Reid and Ray Thompson, Brownwood; Don Patty and Rodney Roberts, Burkburnett; Paul Chapman and Billy Grissom, Stephenville; Darrel Bohannon and Ricky Morgan, Vernon; and Butch Hott, Weatherford.

Hawk thinclads to start season

Coaches Grady Graves and Don Lucy will enter their Hawk varsity track team in its first competition of the season Saturday at Vernon.

The team has been working hard the last two weeks and the coaches believe they have the athletes ready for competition.

Their schedule calls for meets every weekend until the Apr. 15 District 4-AAA meet at Weatherford. Next week they travel to Graham for the annual Possum Kingdom Relays.

Heavy agenda tackled by city council here

The city council was laden with an extremely lengthy and varied agenda Monday night, hearing numerous reports and taking action on at least half a dozen important issues.

Aldermen were brought up to date on progress of acquiring easements for the 16-inch water pipeline from Wichita Falls by O.N. Newman and Titus Mitchell, attorneys representing the city in the project.

They reported that at least two land owners probably would take the city to court, mainly on payment for easement rather than challenging the city's right to cross their land; several had signed releases; five were believed ready to sign and three owners wanted more time to discuss the project.

The council went into "executive session" with the attorneys to discuss some of the financial offerings to be made. The session lasted about 15 minutes, and the public meeting was resumed.

Harry Gray, chairman of the Wichita Valley Water Supply Corp., headed a three-man delegation which appeared before the council to ask permission to have a tap on the transmission line, near the intersection of FM 369 and County Road, from which about half the association's membership would be served.

Their request was for approximately 100,000 gallons daily, Iowa Park's contract with Wichita Falls, for the first year, is for a maximum of one-million gallons daily.

The council told the group the association would have to seek permission first from the city of Wichita Falls for such a connection. Iowa Park's contract with the larger city is to not allow a commercial or agricultural tap on the line between the two cities.

Gray was told the association could approach Wichita Falls with knowledge the city of Iowa Park considered the proposal favorably.

Two new members were appointed, with approval of the council, by Dr. Erwin Soell to the City Planning and Zoning Board, replacing Jack Schultz and Donald Hill for three-year terms are Dr. Richard Carver and Dean Miller.

Second reading of Ordinance 172, permitting Texas Electric Service Company to increase its rates in the city by six per cent, was held and passed without opposition.

TESCO office manager Wayne House told the council the federal government agency still had not given permission for the increase, and the new rate would not become effective until it was received.

Four library board members were also appointed by the council. They include Bill Sawyer, Mrs. James Sewell, Mrs. Erwin Soell and Miss Ethyle Kidwell.

Pete Shook, representing the Volunteer Fire Department, requested the city to institute a plan to build the department's depleted retirement fund and seek emergency assistance from a state fund.

He said the local fund was depleted with addition of two members retiring and another yet to come.

Retired firemen are supposed to receive $25 monthly. They do, at the first of the year, but the sum dwindles to $15 and then none along the latter part of the year, Shook stated.

The city puts $5 per member per year into the fund, Shook reminded the council, and added they might have to follow ex-

Year's Chamber program is set

The stage was set and program put in motion for 1972 activities of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce when president Ralph Beall last week named his committee chairmen and set a budget of $5,000.

Seven committees of action were outlined by Beall as he listed their leaders and explained the responsibility of each.

Committees and chairmen include: Program of Work, John Maples and Don Hughes; Commercial and Industrial, Burge Smith; Budget and Finance, Hughes; Historical Aids, George Huckaby Sr.; Military and Government, Bill Steger; Membership, Don Youngblood and Keith Aulds; and Chamber Improvement, Bob Hamilton.

With announcement of each committee, Beall set the monthly meeting each would make reports.

It was announced that three new members had joined the Chamber. They are Farm Bureau, A&K and Jean's Cafe. The monthly board meetings, which are held on the third Monday, will begin at 11:45 a.m. and end at 1:15 p.m. The meetings are open to all Chamber members, Beall said, but when they plan to attend orders for food should be called to the office. Each meeting is a luncheon event.

The board approved two expenditures: $30 membership dues to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, representing a $5 increase; and purchase of a half page advertisement in the high school annual book.

DANGEROUS DEBRIS -- Police patrolman Gideon Swedberg stands watch over 10 sticks of dynamite found on the shore of Gordon Lake Friday afternoon, until help comes to dispose of it. The sticks were discovered by S/Sgt. George Sungy, off duty from Sheppard AFB, who was fishing and spotted them near the east end of the dam. After his report, about 1 p.m., Swedberg stood guard until an ordinance demolition team from Ft. Polk, La., arrived that night to dispose of it, by burning. Officers have no idea how the explosives got in the lake. Four of the sticks were dented and another broken in half. Because they had been wet and were drying, authorities say they were extremely unstable and dangerous.

Miss Denny's travels through Europe are told

A travelogue of the Netherlands, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Hungary and Austria by Miss Elga Ann Denny, who toured the countries during the summer of 1971, was the program for the Friday meeting of the Iowa Park Lioness Club.

The exceptionally clear pictures taken by Miss Denny showed the elaborate beauty and grandeur of several old castles, palaces, cathedrals, museums, churches, fountains and parks in some of the countries, and in stark contrast to the Berlin Wall and once magnificent edifices that had not been repaired and restored from the bombings of World War II. Her commentary heightened interest in the program.

Mrs. George R. Huckaby presented Miss Denny.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Don Youngblood, and the co-hostesses were Mrs. Hoyt Watson and Mrs. Huckaby.

In view of the proximity of the date of the meeting to Texas Day, Mrs. Carroll Duke chose "The Faith of Every Day" for the title of a devotion that portrayed both angles of heritage.

Mrs. Faris Nowell presided during the business. She appointed Mmes. Carl Barnhill, Jack Lott and Watson to serve on a committee to select the club's nominees for the 1972 Outstanding Teenage Boy and Girl awards.

It was voted to send wearing apparel, hats, ties and jewelry to the Wichita Falls State Hospital for both men and women to dress up in for Easter. Mrs. John Maples and Mrs. Barnhill were appointed chairmen of the project, and it was announced that members could leave items with Mrs. Homer Blalock at the Iowa Park Leader for delivery to the chairmen, Mrs. O.E. Lochridge and Mrs. Buck Voyles were appointed telephone chairmen.

A committee composed of Mmes. Maples, H.L. Abernathy, D.O. James, and Watson was appointed to work with Mrs. Nowell to study possible future projects.

Also present were Mmes. L.E. Brooks, Sam Hill and W.E. Karstetter.

MISS DEBRA RUTH SCHWENNEKER

Engagement announced

Mrs. Ruth Schwenneker announces the engagement of her daughter, Debra Ruth, to Jimmy Lee Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Harrison.

The couple will exchange vows of matrimony June 17. Miss Schwenneker was graduated from Iowa Park High School where she was assistant pianist of the A Cappella choir. She is employed by T G & Y Store.

Harrison, also a graduate of Iowa Park High School, received the Bobby Gilbreath award during commencement exercises. He is attending Midwestern University and is employed by Gibson's in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Smith coordinates WSCS program Tuesday

Mrs. Travis Smith was coordinator for the last lesson on the study of Africa for the Tuesday morning meeting of the W.S.C.S. of the First United Methodist Church. The program topic was "How the Church May Help Stabilize the Country".

Mrs. S. B. Keeter gave an over-all look at the church in every area and brought into focus the nationals in the program of education. She revealed how emphasis was currently being placed on education relevant to the needs of the people instead of the irrelevant education that had created so many problems in the past.

Mrs. Elgin Denny discussed the phenomenal progress of agriculture in Sierra Leone. She said that women were now being taught the basics of agriculture and responding favorably. The urgency of their learning was in order to assist the older men when the young men left the agricultural areas for the urban sections.

A panel composed of Mmes. J. W. Farmer, David Thomas, Donald F. Cook, James A. Sewell and Emma Gauntt, representing the leaders in the Women's Division in the New York office who made a tour of Africa. The resume of the trip brought Botswana into spotlight as an example of how denominations can work together as a congregational organization.

Mrs. Keeter, during the business, announced that the program next Tuesday directed by Mrs. David Whittington would be the first lesson in the series on the "Gospel of Matthew".

Mrs. W. M. Owens was honored by being made a life member of W.S.C.S. during the morning. Mrs. Miles Thompson presented her with a pin.

Others in attendance were Mmes. M. O. Cheves, L. A. Teal, E. H. Pearce, W. F. George, H. M. Mahler, Ray Low, Oris Davenport, Carl Sullivan, M. L. Hines, Paul Zink, Sam Hunter, Fred Widmover, C. C. Robinson, Gordon G. Clark, C. L. Thompson, Bessie Brohard, Etta Bennett, Carl Waldruff, Floyd Boyd, George Trammell, W. C. Albright, Lydia Hudson, Johnnie Starnes, Carroll Hester, Gene Lowrey, and Jerry Voyles; and Miss Ethyle Kidwell.

Story time hours set

Mrs. Keith Aulds is now in charge of Story Time at the Iowa Park Library each Wednesday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock.

In addition to story telling the activities include finger fun, exercises, poetry, music, pantomime and refreshments.

Mrs. Aulds stated that larger quarters at the library have been made available and this will enable her to accommodate more children between the ages of four and six. During the past three weeks under her direction, the studies have featured winter, the farm and transportation.

Mothers are invited to bring their children within the age bracket to the Story Time. The number in attendance has increased each week since Mrs. Aulds has been in charge.

Auto Body offers new challenge

By J. B. Williams, Instructor
Iowa Park and area citizens should be proud of the vocational program offered to their young men and women in their local high school. Through these programs they have a better opportunity to be prepared for life upon graduating from high school, whether they continue on to college, technical training school, or begin their lives work.

The purpose of all vocational courses is to prepare the student with the knowledge and skill of a particular trade. To have the knowledge and skill of a trade is good; but to be a professional in any trade is to develop a love in seeing that particular job done without a flaw.

Vocational courses are designed as a bridge between students and their work, helping to gain knowledge in a trade and practicing this knowledge with their hands, learning the skill of a trade. Seeing this completed with their own knowledge and hands creates a love for that trade. When all three have taken place in a person's life, it helps him to find a place of service in today's society. The Auto Body class is no exception. The students in this class learn to repair automobiles bodies from bumper to bumper; straightening metal, replacing parts, painting and care of automobiles. AutoBody is in its first year at Iowa Park. We have seen a number of jobs completed in this field this year.

Safety is one of the most important units to be taught in the auto body classes. The automobile is just like the tools it takes to work on them. They were designed and built for our convenience and pleasure. When used without thinking or misusing them can be dangerous to the person using them or to an innocent bystander. Each student must pass a safety assignment before being assigned to any job.

Classroom work includes different parts of the automobile and their specific place in the automobile body and the tools to work on each part.

Shop work includes working on every part of the automobile body and using the tools made for this operation. We have tools for almost every type of job. Pull dozier for straightening unitized car bodies and some types of frame repair. Porta power jacks rated 10 ton for aligning major parts to the automobile body. Three ton jacks for minor parts. Dollies and hammers for every operation. Grinders for straightening panels, doors, fenders and hoods. Tools for removing and replacing late model windshield glasses. Paint guns that are used in cleaning paint and wax that takes care of the automobile finish.

In this year's class there are 22 members. There are six in the morning class. It includes Michael Duty, Stephen Duty, Fred Pavlovic, Mike Price, Richard Weaver, and Richard Crozier. The afternoon class includes Royce Atcherly, John Bexsie, Al Denton, Eddy Dickerson, Speedy Dickerson, Jackie Downs, Jim Harris, George Huckaby, Craig McCord, Rodger McBay, Bill McNeely, Don Miller, Joe Petty, Randy Sutton, Jack Witherspoon, and Zeral Gilbreath.
Members of the Auto Body classes have the option to join the VICA club (Vocational Industrial Club of America), which is a national organization for young people who are enrolled in a vocational program.

BODY REPAIRS include painting, and that takes big masking job.

SOME JOBS get done a little quicker and easier with lots of helping hands available.

Wichita tops in member drive

Wichita County Farm Bureau was announced winner of a trophy given in district competition for most new members written during Farm Bureau Week, Feb. 14-24, in Wichita Falls Feb. 24.

Carl Moeller of Electra, membership chairman, announced that his committee secured 50 new members during this period. Moeller was presented the trophy at a District III Conference Thursday by Melvin Dansby of Bowie. Moeller presented a billfold to Ed

Foster, Jr., Loys D. Barbour, J. W. Tole and Carl Barnhill for securing five or more new members during this statewide effort.

Wichita County has 795 members during 1971 and the county farm organization has set a goal of "1002-4-72" or 1002 members for 1972. Although the contest officially closed Feb. 24, volunteer workers will bring in additional members.

In addition to above named Rex Wells, Ruth Gard and Dennis Mitchell attended the Thursday meeting.

TODAY IS TEXAS DAY

It is through this club that local students have the opportunity to meet other students in fellowship and contest; and the winners of these contests go on to state and national meetings. The auto body class has three men serving it in the capacity of an advisory committee, meeting when necessary to help us keep better informed in changes in this trade and also how to be of greater service to this community. Their names are Dean Miller, Sam Fairchild, and Ralph Beall.

The sun room of the L.W. Teel home each Friday from 1 to 4 p.m. may not exactly resemble the studios of such painters as Rembrandt, Dutch 17th century; Raphael, Italian 15th century; Picasso, 19th century Spanish; and Millet, 19th century French. Neither do the local artists who paint there claim the magnitude of the noted painters in the field of art. Nevertheless, it cannot be denied that they evidence talent in original and traced creations, expression and achievement in Decorative Art and Tole Painting.

Under the tutelage of Mrs. Walter Robertson of Wichita Falls, assisted by Mrs. Teel, the women who have dedicated the "Painters' Pleas" to their families are Mmes. Gary Batte, Kenneth Garrett, E.F. Soell, O. R. Ackerman, Earl Watson and Joe Singer.

The lines of the plea, so appropriate for those who have a painter for a wife or mother are: "Dear family, the laundry overflows, The dust and cobwebs sorta show, But with such talent please let me sit, Paint for hours 'Cause I can't quilt, Paint with practice And paint with haste. Fame could come: You'd want me ready Just in case. Love, Mom"

When the women were asked what they painted, they answered with one voice, "If it stands still we paint it." They also expressed the same sentiment that "Decorative Painting fulfills something basic in each of us-- the need to create lovely accessories for the home." And they are accomplishing this in grand fashion.

According to Mrs. Robertson, this type of painting is divided into five different subjects: strokes, leaves and greenery, fruits, flowers, figures and people. They work with oils and acrylics.

One of the most beautiful sights to the eyes of the artists at the moment is an old wood pile which, for them, just reeks with possibilities. And one of their chief joys in life is raiding old wood piles. This pilfering to retrieve wood could very well bring on a soliloquy of the inanimate objects, if they are capable of such, as they speculate which would be the better lot--to fall into complete deterioration or to be subjected to the treatment of being transformed into something graceful and beautiful for years to come.

The painters also use new wood, lids off canisters, door panels, shingles, milk cans, canvas boards, boxes, crockery, glass and literally "anything that stands still." Rather than being an unheard of thing, it is more or less the order of the day for one of the women's husbands to get this reply when he asks his wife what she wants for her birthday, "Oh, a saber saw, a wood rasp, sander or blow torch--I am not particular, I will be happy with either one."

The wood is used in its natural state or it can be stained with a mixture of turpentine and burnt umber, depending on the preference or the capricious inclinations of the painters.

The finished products of the artists are proof positive that they are putting their hearts wholeheartedly into their work and creating lovely accessories for their home and for the homes of relatives and friends. The following resume of their productions merely cracks the door to their Decorative Art Gallery where one can get a brief, but breath-taking, glimpse of their treasures.

Mrs. Batte is presently working on a wall plaque for her daughter's room, which even the novice recognizes as something of rare quality and excellence. She has finished a bird on an easel, geraniums in a pot painted on a shingle and cut-out Christmas ornaments.

Mrs. Garrett, at the time a reporter and photographer from the Leader just "happened by", was working on an exciting painting of pink mushrooms on a small board. She has painted daisies on door panels with most pleasing effects, according to her co-workers.

Last Friday afternoon, Mrs. Soell was putting the finishing strokes on a novel box for cards, and it was something that one could easily covet or wish that he had the ability to duplicate it. Her fellow painters said that she had painted flowers, fruits and vegetables on boards that were of equal merit.

Mrs. Ackerman's current painting is "Young Love", and it is not only an eye-catcher but something that makes the eyes linger a little longer for a closer look. Daisies have a special attraction for her and, consequently, they have been the subject for several of her creations.

Mrs. Singer's co-painters voiced their sentiments that the watermelon slice she had done on a door panel was their selection for her Oscar winner. According to them, she has shown enviable skill in her reproductions of daisies, peppers, mushrooms and young people done on boards, fruit and vegetables on a crockery pitcher, bowl and cutting board.

Mrs. Teel was pleased that the painting she is doing at the present time seems to be her husband's choice of all her works. It shows in detail the process of baking a cherry pie. The fresh cherries in the picture have a most realistic look, and the rolling pin and fluted pie crust already in the baking plate are conducive to an understanding of the fundamentals of baking a cherry pie.

She has completed a family tree and a garland of lemons that are now hanging on the walls of the den, and an inch worm, which is her mother's favorite. At Christmas, several of Mrs. Teel's Tole paintings hung on their tree to heighten its attractiveness.

Mrs. Watson was not present for the work session Friday, but knowing her artistic talents, one can be sure that she, too, has turned out some lovely work.

YOUR BIBLE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Has God always had a chosen people?

ANSWER: Yes he has. In the Old Testament he first chose Abraham and made a covenant with him, to give him the land of Canaan, (Nehemiah 9:7). "For thou art a holy people unto Jehovah thy God: Jehovah thy God hath chosen thee to be a people for his own possession, above all peoples that are upon the face of the earth... because Jehovah loveth you, and because he would keep the oath which he swore unto your fathers," (Deut. 7:6-8). Later Abraham's descendants grew into a great family that sojourned in slavery in Egypt (Exodus, chapters 1-14). After two centuries God's people marched out of Egypt a mighty nation. They were strong enough to conquer the land God had promised to their forefathers. They possessed the land as God's chosen nation, with few exceptions, until the Messiah was born. Yes, God had a chosen people. Does he have one today? Answer next week.

If you would like to have a question answered please write to "Bible Questions and Answers," P. O. Box 520, Iowa Park, Texas, 76367.

Marker set at mines

The Copper Mines historical marker was dedicated Sunday afternoon in ceremonies held at the site on Highway 25 by the Archer County Historical Survey Committee.

Invocation for the program was given by W. Clayton Hoffman, pastor of First Baptist Church, Holliday. Jack Loftin, chairman of the committee, reviewed the history of the copper industry in north Texas. He stated that knowledge gained by geologists in their search for ore probably led to the later discovery of oil deposits and the problems of leasing rights laid the foundation for the more complicated oil leases which followed.

The group of twenty-five members and guests were taken on a tour of the copper ore area after the dedication ceremony.

I have been a resident of Iowa Park for 5 years and of Wichita County for 51 years.

I am employed as a mechanic for 20 years at Wilson Manufacturing Company. After serving with the Military Police during World War II, I was a Wichita Falls police officer. In the 1960's I served as Deputy Sheriff.

My wife, Margaret, and I reside at 210 East Garden Drive, Iowa Park. We have 4 children and 4 grandchildren.

My parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morgan. My father was a Wichita Falls policeman, Constable of Wichita County, and Deputy U.S. Marshall. I have 8 brothers and sisters.

With my past experience on the police force and with my interest in Iowa Park, I feel that I am qualified to serve as your Constable. Your vote will be greatly appreciated on May 6 in the Democratic party primary.

AERIAL SERVICES AT WORK

Duke Abernathy and his pilot Tommy Hart, both of Iowa Park, are shown in their Piper Pawnees, spraying greenbugs in the wheat on the Gordon Parkey farm southwest of Iowa Park. In the spring and summer his white Pawnees are a common sight flying on the ground, spraying insects in the crops as well as weeds and mesquite trees for control.

Aerial Services, Inc. features the latest in methods and equipment to furnish the farmer and rancher the fastest, most economical means to control all pests, both insects and vegetation, as well as seeding and fertilizing.

Duke has been in business over 10 years, doing most of his own flying. He says the hazards are not as great as they appear (we wonder); the worst ones being inexperience and complacency. He prefers fixed-wing aircraft over rotary-wing because they offer more effective coverage at a much faster rate as well as being more economical for him and his customers. (ADV.)

With the declaration of independence of Texas from Mexico on March 2, 1836, one of the most colorful histories ever recorded was inaugurated. In observance of Texas Week, let us review one of the events that is of especial significance to this area - the settlement of Peter's Colony.

The Texas Homestead Act of 1839 whereby a man was allowed to keep his home and tools to maintain his livelihood regardless of his debtors demands, attracted many colonists. The town of Preston in Grayson County had by then become a gateway to Texas and the Texas legislature was encouraging settlement of the northern area.

So in 1840, W. S. Peters and Associates were given a contract to bring colonists into an area of 16,000 square miles of land bounded on the north by Red River and on the east by a line 100 miles long running through what is now near Dallas. The southern boundary ran parallel to the Red River and the western boundary went about as far west as any foolhardy settler wanted to homestead.

Headquarters for the company were at Farmer's Branch and for a time the settlement threatened to out grow the place on the forks of the Trinity where John Neely Bryan had built his lonely cabin. Several years later Bryan and his heirs sold land for $1.50 an acre, but many considered the price too high for land which was subject to flooding. One wonders how much land a dollar and a half would buy at that location today - downtown Dallas.

Peters & Co., later known as Texas Emigration Land Co., brought 2,205 families into the state between 1841 and 1848. Apparently many had faith that they could live peacefully with the Indians because the records of Wise County note that in 1843 settlers signed a peace treaty with eleven Indian tribes. That peace was not kept we know from the many stories of Indian raids and counter raids by the settlers. Every family has these tales as a part of its family history.

By 1850, so many immigrants had come in that officials in Austin decided colonization might not be such a good idea after all, so attempts were made to cancel contracts. One result of this action was the Peters Colony Rebellion, or the Hedgecove War. One hot July day in 1852, armed settlers marched on the office of land agent Hedgecove because they had reason to believe that their land was about to be taken from them. Hedgecove escaped to Bonham with some of his records, so no violence was committed, but controversy continued until the following February when a compromise bill was passed.

Land squabbles, Indian raids and the experience of learning to live on the prairies made life so difficult that many families returned east, but the harder ones continued to push westward and were rewarded. In the year 1872 we find a recruiter encouraging settlers by publishing this notice in the city of Jacksboro.

Join Our Expedition
God has blest this favored land,
With an inspiring, yea, a bounteous hand,
And rich full harvest from the upheaved soil
Rewards the husbandman for his toil.
Peace fills the state with presence pure
Men ply their trades, content and secure,
Let us revere with pride, this out adopted land
Her present glory and a future grand.

As I See It . . .

Curiosity finally got the best of me, and so I finally got over to Wichita Falls to view "The Last Picture Show".

Most of the acting, I felt, was surprisingly realistic and natural; the scenes shot around Archer City (hometown of the author) and in the county made me feel right at home; but the focal point of the movie left me cold and disappointed.

A large number of the bit part actors were from Archer City and surrounding towns, some of whom even have relatives living here. They, as well as the major characters, did an outstanding job of portraying everyday life people. No script reading here.

The morals of the characters portrayed did justice to a stray alley cat. Because the author of the book, from which the movie was made, also wrote "Hud", I've got to wonder about his outlook on society and how he was raised.

It was my opinion that the author attempted to excuse, in this case, adultery. That was the subject of interest of the main characters and the climax of the movie. And for that reason, the movie was a flop.

Joe Stults, publisher of the Archer County News, says he didn't like the movie and wouldn't read the book.

In his column last week he quoted a letter which has appeared in the Phoenix, Ariz., newspaper which stated "If what we viewed is the best our film industry has to offer and is praised so highly by critics, then perhaps it should indeed be the last picture show."

Stults, commenting that the movie was bad and degrading, admitted however it had some truth in it "which we hate to admit." He didn't say the truth was of society in general, or things that used to happen in Archer City.

"These truths, should remain untold and not displayed before the public for entertainment," he stated.

Though the book and movie had very little to do with movies, as the title might indicate. There was a short scene about the final showing in the Royal Theatre in Archer City, but it had almost nothing to do with the plot.

It's interesting to note, however, that Mrs. Alan Berry and her late husband, former druggist here, owned and operated the Royal back in 1942-44. Their time there was almost 10 years before the plot of "The Last Picture Show" was to have taken place.

Valley View almost had a part in the movie. The director wanted to lease the old Valley View school gymnasium, fix it up a little, and use it for a school basketball team workout scene.

Its chance to appear in "An Academy Award nominated movie", however, was scuttled with the local school board stamped an official "NO" on the request. Members had heard the movie was to be an "R" rated affair, and they wanted to contribute nothing to it.

After seeing the thing, I'm glad they did.

amples of Electra, which puts $10 in per man, or even $20 as other city governments in the area do.

Council approved payment to Shaw Motor Co. of $3,229 for a new sanitation truck which is already in operation. Shaw was low bidder to supply the truck.

Approval was also voted by the council to purchase two, 30-inch horns which will be used to complete Washington Street and intersect with Highway West. Cost is $5.25 per foot for 14-gauge material, and the horns are 45 feet long, each.

Council delayed decision on a request from Mrs. R.B. Sisk to purchase some city land which adjoins her property. The land is part of the city's original design for a park. Similar land in the area has already been sold to private ownership.

Approval to send two employees to training schools. Louis Sawyer will attend an inspection school at Abilene Apr. 4-5, and George Trammell will go to San Angelo for a tax assessor school.

An ordinance governing soliciting and selling by out of town individuals and firms was passed by the council. Ord. 173 sets permit costs of $30 per day, $500 for six months and $650 per year. Fines for soliciting without permit range from $25 to $250, per offense.

The council authorized engineer Bill Wischmeyer to lay a two-inch water line to the new sewer plant, replacing a smaller line. A line from FM 365 to homes on the street will be increased from two-inch to four-inch. Costs will be included in the plant construction.

A payment of $2,223.65 was authorized to the firm of Reilwe and Wischmeyer, for work on the sewer plant construction.

The council voted to purchase three siren kits for the fire department, which will be used on private vehicles to answer calls. Cost is $100 per siren and $25 each for assembly.

A request for permission to establish a taxi service in the city was received from Ralph Stone, but no action was taken until he appears before the council to discuss his intentions.

Noting that amendments to a proposed ordinance permitting a cable television franchise to Marvin Athens would have to be written into the original document, no action was taken until next meeting. City Attorney Newman is to have the ordinance drawn for approval at the Mar. 13 meeting.

On the recommendation of Wischmeyer, low bid submitted by Nortex Engine and Equipment Co. of Wichita Falls on a pump for the water pipeline project was accepted. Low bid was $10,780. The company offers a Peerless pump.

City's '71 growth shown by phones

Despite the nation's generally sluggish economy in 1971, Southwestern Bell continued to experience "substantial" growth in Iowa Park, according to Jim Hall, manager for the company.

"Perhaps the best measure of our growth here is the fact that we gained more than 80 telephones, for a year-end total of 3,145 in service in the Iowa Park calling zone," Hall said.

Not only were there more phones in Iowa Park, but customers here were using them more often during 1971. During the average business day in 1971, more than 17,600 calls were placed in the calling zone, an increase of 1,000 over the daily pace in 1970. Of that number, customers here completed 430 Long Distance calls on the average business day, an increase of more than 15 per cent over 1970.

"This growth was a challenge for Southwestern Bell people," Hall said, "and a major part of meeting that challenge was the addition of new switching equipment here."

He noted that Southwestern Bell also contributed to the economy of Iowa Park by paying nearly $2,700 in ad valorem property taxes and more than $3,900 in gross receipts taxes here during the year.

"In all, we think it was a very good year -- and we're looking forward to another good year in 1972," Hall said. "Our forecasters say we'll add about 150 phones here by the end of December, and we remain quite encouraged with the overall growth potential of this area."
