PETS EAT TO LIVE

I'm very angry today. While backing out of the driveway to go to work, I noticed one of our neighbors' little yellow kitten lying quite still in our yard. Just last night he was huddled under one of our bushes apparently cold and sick—too sick in fact to drink water offered him.

I should have gone next door right then, but we have become accustomed to seeing cats and kittens, both healthy and ailing, around our house. In fact, for the past year we have been feeding the neighbors' furry menagerie as well as letting them into the house or opening the garage door so they can find shelter from rain and cold wind.

Last week we bought special food for the oldest one (a dear, gentle little yellow tom appropriately named Precious) because he was too sick to eat the dry catfood we feed our own cats.

These same people have two dogs in addition to their cat and (now) two kittens. We have never met them because work schedules conflict, but we do see their two children of junior-high age playing in the yard every day. Apparently that is all the youngsters do. When the grass needs mowing, or if their yard gets papered, the children sit and watch or play while hired men do the work.

It isn't that they are poor. This family owns a well-known prosperous cafeteria, and judging from appearances they frequently sample the fare. But the only time we have seen the animals being fed was the day Angela tried to force Precious to eat a Baby Ruth candy bar. Otherwise the cats come begging to us early every morning and meet us at the door when we reach home.

The whole point of the story is not that we are wonderful to feed hungry animals or that we resent doing it. But perhaps there are people who shouldn't have pets at all. Obviously our neighbors got them to please or entertain the children, who now have other interests and have not been taught that responsibility goes along with possession.

While we would like to believe that it is possible to live on love, we do know that a little food, a drink of clean water, and shelter from the elements tend to prolong life. Dead cats don't make very good pets.

Husband Dies

Martin H. Miller died in Wichita Falls Tuesday. Funeral service was conducted Wednesday in Tanner-Aulds Funeral Home with burial in Highland cemetery here. Miller was born Sept. 28, 1908 in Knox county. He was married Nov. 12, 1939, in Frederick, Okla., to Miss Letha Blackerby.

A carpenter by trade, Miller was a navy veteran of World War II and member of VFW. Survivors are the widow, two daughters, a son, his mother, three sisters, four brothers and seven grandchildren.

Woodbrier Apartments Construction Underway

Albert L. Reed, local business man, announced this week he has taken out building permits for the Woodbrier Apartments which have been planned for Iowa Park for more than a year. Plans call for 18 one-bedroom, 40 two-bedroom and 16 three-bedroom apartments.

The apartments will be of two-story design made into eight sections. The grounds will be artistically landscaped with many 14-foot trees, vines and hedges. All the streets will be private thoroughfares with ample parking spaces.

Built on five acres which are already in the City Limits, the Woodbrier Apartments will have easy access to the feeder road north of Expressway 287, coming out on North Johnson Road.

There will be a community building, playgrounds and swimming pool. All apartments will be air conditioned with each apartment individually controlled.

Mr. Reed expects to be able to accept tenants in June of this year.

City Council Buys Pump for New Fire Truck

Election has been called for April 7 to fill the two vacancies on the City Council that will occur at that time. To be re-elected or replaced will be Carl Davis and Bill Gilmore.

Deadline for filing candidacy for a position on the official ballot will be 5 p.m. March 8. George Leland appeared at the Monday night Council meeting to clear up title to some land he owns. He was advised to have a survey made to resolve the differences of opinions.

Bid of $2,275 by Fire Appliance Co. of Texas, Wichita Falls, to provide a new fire truck pump was accepted by aldermen. The pump will be used on a new grass-fire truck to be built by members of the volunteer fire department.

Discussion was had on the Revenue Sharing money already received and expected in the future. This led to consideration of hiring a tax assessor and collector, making the expense of running the city more and ending with more Sharing Funds!

Representatives of the Chaparral Baptist Camp met with the City Council again Monday to renew their request for city water service by tapping the 16-inch line from Wichita Falls. So far the City Fathers and the church men have been unable to reach a satisfactory arrangement.

Newcomers

TSgt and Mrs. P. L. Corless and family moved into Iowa Park this week and are residing at 906 Cornelia.

The air force has given the Corless family an international flavor. The couple are natives of Monaco, Pa. Beth, 11, and Lou Ann, 9, were born in Madrid, Spain. Jodi was born in California, and Kelsy, 3, first saw the light in Japan.

Corless has been in service 14 years and has spent 10 of them overseas. He is an administrative supervisor and hopes to get duty at Sheppard AFB for a long time.

Death of LBJ

Texas and America lost one of their finest citizens Monday when President Lyndon Baines Johnson died Monday. His heart has been in deteriorating condition since an attack some 8 years ago.

LBJ became a servant of the people in 1937 when he was a freshman congressman in the House of Representatives. During the succeeding 36 years he has been instrumental in securing more needed legislation than any one man in American history.

His burial place near the Pedernales river will long be a shrine for all who love justice and social and economic rights for minority peoples the world over.

Cease Fire on Saturday

Peace which we hope will be a permanent and growing thing, will dawn in Vietnam this Saturday. The whole world looks forward with high hopes for fruition of the agreements that have been hammered out.

Let all of us give praise to God that His children have entered into an agreement not to kill any more. And let us pray for the forbearance to maintain that stance.

Read Books

Sounds of music were heard at Story Hour, Wednesday morning. The children are beginning to learn The Star Spangled Banner. They have been singing "America" after reciting the Pledge to the Flag each Wednesday. A book of illustrated nursery songs was enjoyed by the group, who joined in the singing.

Mrs. Baker led the children in an exercise game. Four fun-filled books were read by Mrs. Auld. Refreshments were furnished by Mrs. David Robnett. Twenty-two were present, including Scott Davis and Phillip Thames, who had come to Story Hour for the first time.

Our thanks go to Mrs. Pauline Steele for her donation of books to the library.

23 Study Club

Warren Silver of Channel 3 tv station was featured on the program on 23 Study club Thursday of last week. Topic for study was "We Salute America . . . with Thanks for Our Communications Media." Members met at Luby's for lunch and went in a group to the broadcasting station for the program and conducted tour.

Silver described programming and emphasized that it has to be done for the masses, a most difficult task. He urged listeners to make known their likes and dislikes. He gave assurance that suggestions in writing are forwarded to NBC. He thinks television is a great advertising medium and said the broadcasting companies do a lot of free advertising for good causes and public welfare.

His answer to the question—How do you know what the people want?—was most interesting as he told of surveys, interviews and "outering" done by the American Research Bureau.

Mrs. N. E. McKinney gave a meditation on the history of communication, beginning with the book of Genesis. She remarked that improvements in communication have gone hand in hand with development and progress; and closed saying that God is still trying to communicate with man.

Mrs. Lester E. Brooks was the leader and introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Earl F. Watson directed business and announced the blanks for reporting will be distributed soon. Mrs. D. O. James and Miss Ethyle Kidwell resorted purchase of another tree for Bradford school ground and that it has been planted. It matched one bought last year by the club for the grounds.

Others present were Mrs. C. E. Birk, Homer Blalock, T. M. Clark, Earle Denny, Sam Hill, M. L. Hines, O. E. Lechridge, C. L. Metz, James Sewell, Joe Singer, Travis Smith, Erwin F. Seel, T. M. Thaxton, Chaucer Weiler, Fred Widmayer, Rollins Woodall Mrs. Carral Dake joined the group at lunch time.

Scandinavian Trip AEO of BSP

Slides Shown

A triple feature program at the buffet dinner meeting of Christian Workers of the United Methodist church Thursday evening of last week gave 63 members and guests nearly three hours of entertaining fellowship. Mrs. Etta Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Mahler and Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Denny were hosts.

Miniature pine trees placed in the center of the dining tables, with alternating mounted scenes from Scandinavian countries were appropriate decorations. Miss Elgin Ann Denny showed pictures she took on her trip to Norway, Denmark and Sweden last September.

The photography was colorful and clear; the narrative expertly done, and the information given as to people, history and customs gave each one present a feeling of having accompanied her on the tour.

Visiting with six foreign students from SAFB was also an interesting experience. They were: MSgt. Soetarno of Indonesia Sgt. Selski Zewede of Ethiopia Sgt. Harwood Falaq Al-Hamoud Sgt. Abdulaziz M. Basrana Sgt. Suliman Omar Baftana Sgt. Saud Haja Al-Masaudi all four from Saudi Arabia

Accompanying the students were Mrs. Ruby Swadley, clerk-steno, and Troy Gluver, bus driver. Mrs. Marge Lynch of Wichita Falls was also a guest.

Mrs. Paul Zink directed business and the Rev. Mr. Don Youngblood gave the evening prayer.

Mrs. Mahler was truly surprised when called forward. George E. Trammell presented her a lovely plaque honoring the years of service (and leadership) she has given the club.

Also present were Misses Mary Butcher, Ethyle Kidwell and Shirley Lowrey; Mr. Taylor George; Mesdames Johnny Starnes, Hazel Trammell, Ruth Johnson, Dorris Youngblood, Catherine Sue Jaquart, Lydia Hudson, Jessie Johnson, Opal Caddell, Emma Gaunt, Ray Low, Kathleen Hatten, M. L. Hines, Bertha McDonald, W. M. Owens, Ida Parker, Gladys Robinson, Kate Warner, Effie Winfrey; Messrs. and Mrs. George Smith, Floyd Boyd, Otis Gay, Carroll Hester, Neil Johnson, Gene Lowrey, J. C. Rakston, Swan Reaves, Travis Smith, Carl Sullivan, Fred Widmayer, C. C. Winfrey.

Jerry Whitaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Whitaker, entered the Herman hospital at Houston last Sunday. He had surgery Tuesday on his right hip and is recovering in Room 442 there.

Jackie Gwinn Ghelson of Iowa Park has been cited by the University of Oklahoma at Norman as an honor student. He has better than a 3.0 grade point average.

Electricity that helps broaden the path to knowledge.

Project a herd of charging elephants onto a movie screen, and a student sees what is happening in a far away world.

Play an album of Beethoven's symphonies, and the composer suddenly becomes more in a student's mind than just a name in print. Let a student watch the world of single-celled creatures through the illumination of a microscope, and he'll take a closer look at the world around him.

Test his ability against an electronic speed-reading machine, and he almost surely will respond to the spirit of the challenge.

Educators today are much aware of the value of audio-visual equipment in the classroom. Modern education is a sight-and-sound world in which electricity helps bring history, geography, literature and languages to life.

Electricity is hard at work for you just about anywhere you go these days. And the use of electricity is expected to increase in the years ahead.

When additional power is needed, we'll be ready to provide it to schools and to all our customers.

But getting ready and staying ready is an increasingly expensive, never-ending job at Texas Electric. Our construction expenditures are at a record high for facilities necessary to keep an adequate and reliable power supply at your service.

Methodist News

Miss Shirley Lowrey was leader of the 1973 Call to Prayer program in Randolph Duvall Clark chapel Monday evening when members of Wesleyan Service Guild and Women's Society met in joint observance of the annual week of prayer of the United Methodist church.

Mrs. James Sewell gave the opening meditation, emphasizing that "the one who puts back a little more than he takes out" does his bit to make a better world. Mrs. M. L. Hines led the prayer for a vision of world service with special mention of Mickey and Larry George and their Bishop Muzorewa, as they labor to bring the message of Christ in Rhodesia in upheaval.

Offerings taken each year by women of United Methodist church are divided between national and world needs. Mrs. George Trammell described the institutions and causes to receive assistance outside the USA this year. Leadership training for women in Asia is the major project. They are taught religion, Bible, nutrition, child care; reading and writing, as 87 per cent are illiterate.

Mrs. Lon Youngblood told of the many vital human concerns from Alaska to Florida with special assistance to Appalachia that will receive aid this year. She mentioned also repair and new projects for the Espanola and Navajo areas in New Mexico; the South Side community center in San Marcos, and McDonald center in Houma, La.

Refreshments of cookies, hot punch and coffee were served in the church library.

Others present were Miss Mary Butcher and Mesdames Kathleen Hatten, W. M. Owens, Floyd Boyd, Margaret Carter, Gene Lowrey, Barney Jo Wynn, Myrna Robinson, Judy Baker, Herman Mahler, Miles Thompson, Ray Low, Etta Bennett, Carl Sullivan, Bob McClelland, Georgia Flanagan, J. W. Farmer, Freda Beals, Johnnie Combs, Lydia Hudson, Martha Smith, Thelma Gay.

Members of Senior Citizens club enjoy the fellowship of meetings each week but sorely miss the presence of the couple who founded the organization—Mr. and Mrs. Hill Spruiell. He has been in the hospital several weeks recovering from a stroke, and the group were glad to hear Monday that Hill is improving.

Hines, Johnny Starnes, Shirley Trimm, Gladys Thompson, Anna Chesler, Lydia Hudson, Myrtice McDonald, Myrtle Travis, O. M. Jones; and Messrs. Raymond God, F. A. Mann, T. M. Clark, Les Pierce.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Plan now for conservation in 1973, advises District Conservationist Garry Batte of the Soil Conservation Service in Iowa Park.

Most farmers and ranchers in this area are busy making plans for the year. "Why not plan to fill that wash or build terraces you have been putting off?"

"If you don't already have a plan on your land, then now is a good time to make one," Batte said.

Next spring promises to be a good one for conservation work, which includes grass planting. The moisture now in the ground will help grasses get a good start. See the SCS office for recommended seeding dates and rates.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Lane have been sick since Christmas but were able to be up and out Tuesday. He went to Las Cruces, N.M., to visit his mother; and she was in Bess Cafe for lunch.

Mrs. Kenneth Young directed activities when a covered dish supper was a feature of the fellowship at the annual meeting of the Camp Fire Board in the ASCS building last Saturday evening.

Tables were covered in white; decorated with red, white and blue snowflakes; with several snowmen and snow-women couples standard arm in arm, as centerpieces.

Following the meal, Mrs. John Chapman directed fun-time when all became better acquainted, as each learned all he could about his neighbor to the right in three minutes of questioning—and then reported the life story to the assembly. A skit "Miss Popularity" climaxed entertainment. The little lady had so many callers she had complications in hiding the young men to prevent their meeting. Mesdames Davidson, Young, Lunsford and Linder. Etoy Charman was the maid negotiating the front door traffic.

Mrs. Ken Young stated there are 97 girls enrolled in Camp Fire here and reported the candy sales are going well. She introduced the officers and board members and said they are seeking a chairman to serve with Ray Watson, vice-chairman. She introduced Mrs. Austin Webb as one who has been director at Camp Letoli and who will serve in that capacity this next summer.

Dads are reminded they should keep free the evening of Feb. 24, as that is date for Dad-Daughter banquet.

Williams - McDonald Wedding

Miss Debra Lou Williams and Billy Lewis McDonald were married last Thursday evening in a ceremony directed by the Rev. Mr. Jacky Newton of Faith Baptist.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams, she exchanged promises with a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud McDonald in the home of her parents.

The nuptial space was beautiful with white mums and white spiral candelabra arranged by the Iowa Park Florists.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk organza over bridal taffeta designed with fitted bodice of Venice lace overlay, a Victorian neckline and sheer full sleeves with lac cuffs. She carried blue and white carnations enhanced with white streamers.

Cindy Windham was maid of honor for her aunt. David Windham, nephew, was ringbearer.

Ronnie Smith, nephew, lighted the candles.

Bud McDonald was best man for his son.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams were hosts for a reception following the ceremony. They were assisted by Teresa Russel, Rhonda Smith and Sondra Smith. Jody Hicks registered guests.

The bride's table was laid with a blue, pink and white handmade lace cloth and carried the two-tiered cake trimmed with pink roses and topped with white lace bell; and a crystal punchbowl containing lime punch.

The bride has been employed here with Pauline's Beauty Shop. She is a graduate of Aladdin Beauty college and of Beauty and Modeling school of Wichita Falls.

After graduation from IPHS the groom attended Midwestern university. He is employed with the Crawford Construction Co. in Dallas, where the couple are now making a home.

Adults - Teens Judge Drivers

Is the average teen-age driver the typical Hot Rod Harry who rudely zooms through traffic, running red lights, speeding and playing "Chicken" with other drivers?

Or is that stereotype more just another indication of the generalization?

Results of a three-week Mazda poll show the generations agree in their view of the teen-age driver as having all the attributes of Hot Rod Harry and maybe a few more.

The poll sponsored by Mazda Motors of Texas, divided drivers into two groups. Those 21 years or older voted at one poll while those under 21 voted at another. Participants were asked to decide which age group is most often guilty of certain driving faults.

On the question of speeding, motorists showed signs of a generation gap, but the majority agreed that young drivers are more likely to break posted speed limits. Eighty percent of older drivers said the young drivers are speeders, and 69 percent of the young motorists agreed. Biggest fault of young drivers, according to 80 percent of the voters, is a tendency to drive aggressively rather than defensively.

Sixty-five percent of the older drivers and 80 percent of the younger ones agreed that drivers under 20 are more cautious under hazardous road conditions. Young drivers with their quick reflexes and fondness for rock music, were voted to be the most likely to respond to emergency vehicles, the most able to tolerate noise inside the car, and the most likely to be good at parallel parking.

Seventy-nine percent of both old and young drivers felt adults tend to "tailgate" the car in front of them most frequently.

Parking was another weak point for adult drivers with 60 percent of the youth and 51 percent of those over 21 deciding adults are most likely to take up two parking spaces with one car.

Adults also took the blame for too often turning without giving the proper signal. Ninety-one percent of the young voters thought so and 72 percent of the adults agreed.

Penalties for drunken driving revealed some difference of opinion but a surprising general agreement that the current tendency toward leniency was acceptable.

Under Texas law, first conviction of drunken driving means suspension of the driver's license for one year, although this penalty is not generally enforced. Only 56 percent of the adult drivers thought the law should be strictly enforced, and only 38 percent of the younger drivers agreed.

Though both groups tried to be fair in rating the other generation, there was one area where neither wanted to accept blame.

Fifty-five percent of the young drivers were convinced that adults are most likely to "roll through" a stop sign. Yet only 39 percent of the adults wanted to accept this fault as their own.

Use of seat belts proved another source of disagreement. Adults were almost never split on this issue with 49 percent saying the young are most likely to wear seat belts. Sixty percent of the youth felt their age bracket is more likely to wear the safety straps.

Neither group won a Gold Star for being most likely to keep the mind on the driving. Voting was split 50-50 by the older drivers. While young drivers gave adults a scant 51 percent edge.

Neither teen-agers nor adults feel that young drivers are unfairly penalized by Texas car insurance rates. Less than 30 percent of the voters felt the rates are unfair.

More than 60 percent of all the poll participants thought the maximum speed limit on Texas highways should be raised from 70 to 75 miles per hour.

Other changes favored by both age groups include allowing drivers to make right turns on red lights after coming to a complete stop; requiring all drivers to pass the driving part of the license exam at least every 10 years and requiring drivers 65 and over to pass driving tests at least every three years.

Mazda Motors sponsored the 94-question poll at the 1972 Texas State Fair.
