Cowley named superintendent

The Iowa Park school board, meeting in a special session last night, named Harold Cowley as superintendent.

Cowley, who has served as acting superintendent since last month when Faris Nowell resigned, has been a vocational education teacher, elementary principal, school business manager, director of vocations and assistant superintendent before being elevated to the top position.

Wednesday's meeting was a continuation of the regular meeting held Tuesday, when all school personnel except five received contracts for the 1980-81 school year.

Action on Cowley's contract was delayed because board president Bill Spruiell was absent Tuesday, and those present wanted the vote on the superintendent's issue to be done with all members present.

Contracts were voted on following a record-setting executive session which lasted three hours and 11 minutes. During that portion of the meeting, which was closed to the public, principals of each campus met with trustees and all personnel were evaluated one at a time.

Coaches resign

After all contracts were approved, it was announced four teachers, all of whom had received new contracts, had submitted their resignations.

Two of those resigning are basketball coaches: Keith Barrick, boys' coach; and Theresa Grace, girls' coach. Also resigning were Mary Rosborg and Judith Jones. Holle Lynn Humphries was granted a leave of absence.

Four of those who did not receive contracts will get jobs next year, if positions become open. All are employed at the Valley View campus, which will be closed next year. None is a classroom teacher.

Steve Parr's contract was withheld pending "a clearing of his certification records."

Trustees approved a resolution, which was proposed by trustee Roy Boutwell, commending the board's appreciation to the two resigning coaches for their good work and expressing regret that they are leaving the system.

Several personnel received changes in their bonuses, including: Jerry Gholson, named head teacher in the vocational agriculture department, $500 bonus; Greg Miller, band director, $200 increase in bonus; Tommy Watkins, head coach and athletic director, $25,000 in salary and a stipulation that as of March 1, 1981, the contract can be canceled by either Watkins or the board; Mark Cartwright, junior high band director, bonus raised to $2,100; John Sibley, $700 bonus; Georgia Kingcade, $500 bonus; James Merrick, raised to pay grade three, step two; and Julie Davis, raised from pay grade one to grade two.

Insurance bids

Barbour Insurance Co. was the successful bidder for building coverage, being chosen over two other bidders.

A low bid of $35,650 annual premium by Charlene Barbour, representing American International Assurance, was accepted over bids submitted by Phil Welch, State Farm and Casualty Co., and Carl Barnhill, representing Boley-Featherston-Huffman & Deal Ins. Co.

The insurance is to cover more than $10 million worth of property.

A bid submitted by Zack Burkett to pave half a block on West Texas, and curb and gutter that part to be paved as well as half a block on Second and Third Streets, was accepted by the board.

Burkett's bid was $8,516, some $5,000 lower than another bid offered by Timmins-Anderson. The work is to be done where the school purchased an entire block for future Building Trades class projects.

The 1980-81 school calendar was approved. It calls for classes to begin Aug. 25 and final day to be May 26. Included are two full weeks vacation for Christmas holidays, and another week off for Easter.

The calendar reflects the state's change back to the two-semester system from the quarter system which has been followed the past few years.

Trustees approved a list of three men proposed by Bill Steger, tax assessor/collector, to serve as the board of equalization. They are Clarence Mahler, L.S. Whisnand and Sam Fairchild. No date for the board to set has yet been scheduled, Steger said.

Board members also heard brief reports from counselors Carl King and Herman Escue, on seminars they recently attended.

At the end of the meeting, Jesse McCullough, who chaired the meeting in the absence of Spruiell, pointed out that it was his last regular meeting, since he is not seeking re-election next month.

"I think we've got the best school system in this part of the country, an outstanding school board, and I don't see any problems in the future," he said. McCullough has served 14 years on the board, seeing it grow from one campus to the present five.

HELPING HANDS - Five members of the Iowa Park Boy Scouts pause during their work at Oscar Park. The Scouts have pledged their strong backs to help the Parks Board improve the facility by planting and caring for young trees on the west side of Gordon Lake.

Nowell employed by Region IX

Former Iowa Park school superintendent Faris Nowell is now employed by the Region IX Service Center in Wichita Falls, Dr. Mac Fullerton, executive director, said.

Nowell resigned his position with the local schools last month after 19 years here.

He began work with the regional center Mar. 3 as a technical assistance consultant, mainly working with smaller schools in the 12-county area to assist them in maintaining accreditation.

Two other men are employed in the same capacities at Houston. They are Dean Miller, former assistant superintendent to Nowell, and Don Brewer.

Johnson seeks early release

A motion to reduce the 17-year sentence of Bobby Johnson was filed this week by his attorney, Gene Douglass.

The Iowa Park agribusinessman is currently serving his sentence at a Texarkana federal institution after being sentenced by U.S. Dist. Judge Eldon C. Mahon in November.

Judge Mahon sentenced Johnson to seven years on one count of interstate transportation of stolen grain, and 10 years on another count. Eleven counts were dropped by federal prosecutors in return for Johnson's plea on guilty on the two counts.

The motion for reduction included a petition with 286 signatures. The petition stated the signers would "welcome his release from prison and return to our community."

Good reason to smile

Singing songs has brought more than smiles around the campus of Iowa Park High School.

In fact, twice as many smiles. Both the A cappella choir and girls' choir earned the coveted sweepstakes award in University Interscholastic League competition held Tuesday.

Local, county stock shows start Saturday

It's stock show time again. After a year's absence, the annual Iowa Park Project Show will be held Saturday at the FFA Barn on East Ruby.

The event was cancelled last year because of a regulation concerning swine entries. A change in the regulation has been made, permitting the local show to be resumed.

Approximately 120 FFA and 4-H members will be exhibiting some 200 head of livestock and fowl during the day.

Council accepts bids on street improvements

The Iowa Park city council Monday night accepted two bids for paving and street improvement work.

Though only $115,000 has been budgeted for the project, total of the two bids was $142,741. "We'll just have to do as much work as we can with the money we have, and put the rest off until later," Mayor Johnny Crawford said.

Timmins and Anderson of Wichita Falls were the low bidder on the biggest project, sealcoating and repairing some 230,000 square yards of existing streets. The bid was $137,300, $50,000 lower than the other bid by Zack Burkett.

Burkett was the winning bidder to complete a section of Park Plaza, however. His bid of $5,441 was $7,500 less than Timmins-Anderson.

Bids were also sought to tear out and replace a two-block section of the east lane of West Park. But with the lowest coming in at $23,800, Crawford said he felt the city's own crews could do the same work for about $10,000, and bids on that project were rejected.

In other business, aldermen hired a policeman, passed an ordinance concerning testing for an electrician's license, and approved a resolution calling for continued participation in the federal revenue sharing program.

The council, after a 42-minute executive session which was closed to the public, hired Ronnie D. Miller as a police officer. Miller served on the department 1976-78 and left to work a year for the Hemphill County Sheriff's Dept. He is presently employed by Anderson-Clayton Foods at Gunter.

The hiring of Miller still leaves the police force one officer short. Aldermen rejected an application from a 57-year-old former Wichita County deputy sheriff, and an officer presently employed at Littlefield who had been approved decided not to accept the job here.

An ordinance requiring any electrician who has not taken the city's licensing test since the electrical board was established in 1977, and intending to do work in Iowa Park, to take the test by the end of this year.

Aldermen approved a resolution calling for reauthorization of the revenue sharing program for local governments, pointing out that the funds amount to 10 percent of local taxes in Iowa Park, and elimination would require a 15 percent increase in taxes to provide the same level of income.

At the next council meeting, two new members for the Planning and Zoning Commission. Crawford said he would submit L.S. Whisnand and James Whitaker for appointment to the Commission.

Also to be considered at the next meeting will be the official closing of Texas Street between Bond and Victoria. The issue was to be voted on Monday, but official notice of intent to close had not been published, so action was delayed until the Mar. 24 meeting.

Housewife finds plenty to learn

By OLIVE BLALOCK

Education is a continuing process and does not stop at any age. When someone wrote, "Every man must educate himself. His books and teachers are but help; the work is his," he could have had a vision of the advantages of continuing education that is given so much emphasis today.

Irene (Mrs. Harry O.) Weaver of Iowa Park is among the thousands of adults who are finding that continuing education is worth the effort as a way to try something new or learn something different. The courses she has taken at Midwestern State University and the Yarn Shop this year have highlighted opportunities for her, from learning to quilt to refinishing miniature furniture.

"I am not a master at anything, but I enjoy learning a little about everything. It seems that I have always done things with my hands", she said. In those words she seemed to express that something definite and useful to do is one of the established conditions of happiness in her life.

Interest in MSU's continuing division was sparked when Mrs. Weaver learned about it on a television program which featured the opportunities to learn quilting that day. She went as soon as possible and enrolled in the quilting class. She has since taken eight courses at the university during the year, including upholstery, drapery making, how to utilize time to the best advantage, wood finishing and others that deal with home management.

She plans to take landscaping, apartment management, real estate, home maintenance and picture framing when the courses are offered, and she is looking forward to taking a home preserving course in April. In addition to the classes at the university, she has taken courses in crochet and needlepoint at the Yarn

Shop. Another established condition in Mrs. Weaver's life is work. In considering the different types of work she has done, there must have never been a time when her work became humdrum because she knew that she was qualified to move on to something more satisfying.

When her husband, now retired

Announce engagement

Mr. and Mrs. M.R. Compton announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra, and Terry Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Daniels. Miss Compton is a senior at Iowa Park High School where she is a cheerleader and belongs to OEA. Her fiancé was graduated from Iowa Park High School in 1978. He was president of Building Trades, played football and baseball, and is currently self-employed.

Conserving energy topic of Philia Club speaker

Eddie Cockburn, customer service supervisor of Texas Electric Service Co., was the speaker for the Philia Study Club meeting Monday evening. His subject, "Operation Tighten Up", lent itself to the general program theme, "Value of Conserving Energy".

In stressing energy conservation at home, the speaker used slides and narration to emphasize the important areas of management, preventing air infiltration and insulating attics.

The title of a devotion by Mrs. Deryl James was "Be Adaptable" and apropos for the changing times of modern living.

Mrs. James gave the federation counselor's report placing special emphasis on the Santa Rosa District Convention at Burkburnett Friday and Saturday, and the M.D. Anderson Hospital tv project.

Mrs. Roy Sawyer and Mrs. James were hostesses for the meeting held in the home of the former. A Mexican theme was carried out in decorations and refreshments which featured foods that the hostesses had learned to prepare in a recent class at Midwestern State University.

23 Study Club meeting features songs, drama

A well-planned program of vocal solos by Danny Parkerson and solo dramas by Mrs. China B. Smith for the annual 23 Study Club's guest day luncheon held Thursday in the Fellowship Hall of First Christian Church brought the audience to its feet, figuratively speaking.

Table decorations and programs were in keeping with the entertainment for the function. The tables were centered with green and gold runners topped with black musical notes and fresh pot plants placed at vantage points on the tables. Mrs. Joe Singer was chairman of decorations.

The front cover of the programs was centered with cut-out "23" numerals and the inside featured sketches of stage masks, clefs and notes.

Mrs. Erwin F. Soell, president, welcomed guests. Mrs. C.E. Birk offered the invocation.

Mrs. C.L. Metz, program leader, introduced the program and participants in remarkable style which achieved effective continuity.

Singing with taped orchestration, Danny Parkerson presented "Sing a Song", "Just the Way You Are", "After the Loving", "Be Yourself" and "Those Were the Days".

Mrs. China B. Smith, former drama and speech teacher in the Iowa Park High School, presented a series of humorous character sketches including "Let a Woman in Your Life", taken from "My Fair Lady", "Convention Report" and "Is It Art?".

She changed and added clothing accessories to be properly dressed for each impersonation.

Among the special guests and members were Mmes. Earl Watson, president, Joe Singer, secretary, and Deryl James, treasurer of Santa Rosa District.

Cook of the Week

The hallmark of a good hostess is to be relaxed and make her guests feel comfortable and at ease. Many hostesses seem to feel that they must spend hours cooking and planning a meal for it to be a success, and the guests are conscious that they have spent more time over the stove than with them.

Beverly (Mrs. Alton) Yeakley apparently is the kind of hostess that set her guests at ease. She enjoys inviting people in on the spur of the moment and preparing "hurry up" meals. Chances are that she very often relies on Apple Crunch for a quick dessert. Apple dishes are always popular because the flavor is universally liked.

Mrs. Alton Yeakley

Crisp, juicy apples are one of the delights of autumn but they score high in appetite appeal the year round. They have been a part of North American cookery since the 17th century when the first European colonists brought them to our shores. Some variety of the fruit flourished in each of the colonies and became a staple food, eaten fresh, cooked or dried.

The Yeakleys moved to Iowa Park about three months ago when he was promoted to license and weight sergeant of the Department of Public Safety. He has been with the department for several years and they lived at Vernon, Crosbyton, Seymour, Decatur and Spring.

Mrs. Yeakley was graduated from Wichita Falls High School. She worked as a teacher's aide at Spring, the town where they lived before moving to Iowa Park, and she has substituted at both junior high and high school since she has been in Iowa Park.

The couple and their children, Lisa, a high school freshman and Jay, a seventh grader are members of First Baptist Church and Mr. and Mrs. Yeakley sing in the sanctuary choir. Her hobbies are tennis, bowling and ceramics.

Do NOT stir these ingredients together. Bring to boil over medium heat. Let boil until reddish brown color appears. Pour over 2 quarts popped corn (and Planters Peanuts if desired). Stir, then spread mixture on wax paper to cool.

PINEAPPLE ICE BOX PIE

1 pkg. Dream Whip, prepare according to directions
1 can Borden's Eagle Brand Milk
1 small can crushed pineapple
Mix above ingredients together, then add 1/2 cup lemon juice. Pour into a graham cracker crust. Chill.

PINEAPPLE ICING

1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 stick margarine
Mix above ingredients and cook over medium heat until clear. This is very good on a yellow layer cake.

ENCHILADA CASSEROLE

1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 can green enchilada sauce
1 can green chilies (diced)
1 lb. hamburger
Corn tortillas, broken
Garlic salt to sprinkle
Grated Cheddar cheese
Brown hamburger; add other ingredients, except tortillas and cheese. Place in layers of tortillas, sauce and cheese. Cook in 350 degree oven until bubbly.

APPLE CRUNCH

1 cup brown sugar
1 cup flour
1 stick margarine
Melt margarine; add to sugar and flour. Line pie plate with part of the mixture. Fill with sliced apples. Pour lemon juice over apples; sprinkle with nutmeg and cinnamon. Put remaining crust on top. Cook 1 hour at 325 degrees.

CARAMEL POPCORN

In saucepan, just pour:
1/2 cup water
1/4 cup margarine
1 1/4 cup sugar
1 3/4 T vinegar

AEO members elect officers

Officers of Alpha Epsilon Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi were elected Monday evening during a meeting held in the home of Mrs. Wilbur Garrels.

The new slate is composed of Mmes. Danny Holman, president; Ron Fullerton, vice president; Roy Dorman, recording secretary; John Conklin, corresponding secretary; Gayle Cleghorn, treasurer; and Jerry Peeler, council representative.

The program for the evening was given by Mrs. Louise Somerville.

owner of the Yarn Shop, who brought a colorful display of needle craft articles and explained the classes that are offered at the shop.

Members told what their favorite crafts were and gave reasons why they favored them, for roll call.

Rituals were led by Mrs. Dorman and Mrs. Garrels.

The members will attend the Backdoor Theater Saturday night, and the installation service will be held April 14.

Shower fetes bride elect

Pink and white were combined in delicate and meticulous decorations and appointments for a prenuptial shower Tuesday evening given complimentary to Miss Patricia Cummings, who is betrothed to Brad Costello and will become his bride April 12 in a ceremony at First Baptist Church.

The home of Mrs. D.O. James was the setting for the affair. Other friends who composed the hostess list were Mmes. Eddie Sasser, Charles Heacox, Ken Hines, Gilbert Mueller, Pete Hughes, Alton Hunter, Vern Horsky, James Adams, Robert McIlroy, Joe Ward, Joe Singer, Jack Railsback, Glen Miller, Bill Curry, Clyde Patterson and Wayne Williams.

Upon arrival at Mrs. James' home, Miss Cummings was pinned with a corsage of pink carnations accented with white ribbons to complement her pink sheer knit dress that she chose for the evening. She was assisted with opening her gifts for display by Misses Jan Tennant, Cindy Riley and Sandra Sorey.

Mrs. John Cummings and Mrs. Leon Costello, mothers of the engaged couple, were presented with white carnation corsages.

The outstanding decorative feature of the table which held the bride's book where guests registered was a brown basket filled with pink satin rosebuds. The touch of brown suggested the color of the tuxedos that will be worn by the groom's attendants in the wedding.

The refreshment table in the dining room was a picture of pink and white beauty and clearly stood apart in the party suite. Draped with a fine cutwork embroidered linen cloth, each appointment complimented the other.

The centerpiece was an artistic bouquet of pink and white carnations and gladioli topped with three votive candles. The white sheet cake set apart with lavish pink frosting roses and "Congratulations, Patricia and Brad" in pink letters was a pleasing part of the picture. The pink bridal napkins imprinted with the names of the couple, party mints and crystal services completed the decor.

Mrs. H.E. Cummings of Bonham and Mrs. Ruel Davis of Wichita Falls, grandmother and aunt of the bride-elect, were special guests.

To climax the party and to express appreciation to the hostesses, Miss Cummings presented each one with a ceramic dish that she and her fiancé had made.

Stephen Andrew, a four pound, fifteen ounce son, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Steve Gannon of Wichita Falls March 2. Mrs. Gannon is the former Cheryl Cockrum of Iowa Park.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James Cockrum of Iowa Park, Nathile Gannon and Roy Gannon of Woodbury, Tenn. The great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Talley, Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Cockrum of Iowa Park, and Mrs. Les McKnight of Woodbury, Tenn. Mrs. Minnie Womack of Dallas is a great-great-grandmother.

Miss Titia Belle Blanks was hostess for the meeting of the Lucy Birk Circle of the Women of First Presbyterian Church Tuesday morning. Mrs. Mae Shelton, circle chairman, was the presiding officer.

Rev. Norman Nettleton taught the Bible lesson title "Baptism: Grace Enacted." He used Romans 6:1-11 for a scriptural basis, a passage showing Paul's belief that believers are identified with Christ through baptism, and that they become crucified with him that they may live in newness of life.

The group also reviewed other teachings concerning baptism that are found in the Bible, and consideration was also given to how it can be made more meaningful and impressive to the congregation.

Those who took part in the discussion were Mmes. John Clapp Sr., Norman Nettleton, Gale Lowrance, Lois Holloway, Edna Lemond and C.E. Birk.

Mrs. Preston Leath was a visitor. A covered dish luncheon followed the Bible lesson.
