BURGLAR'S SMALL HOLE THROUGH VAULT WALL
... same hole used two years ago.

High school burglar returns

There is no question in the minds of those investigating, the same burglar who broke into the high school vault March 20, 1978 returned yesterday morning.

When school personnel arrived at the building Wednesday morning, they found five offices in disarray, a gaping hole in the cafeteria ceiling, and a familiar hole in the west wall of the vault of the principal's office.

When the burglar made his hole, all he did was knock out the brick that had replaced the hole he made two years ago. . . no more, no less.

School officials and police were still checking records at press time, trying to determine how much money was taken. But Bob Dawson, principal, said it couldn't have been very much. "He probably made about 75 cents per hour for his efforts," he said.

From the order of the articles found lying on the floors of the offices and vault, the burglar wanted only one thing: cash. Checks made out to the school and a few pennies were strewn about, but all the cash that could be found in various drawers and in bags were gone.

A policy adopted by the school board two years ago requires that all money taken in by faculty and office personnel is to be deposited daily, and that each personally is responsible for the loss of any money above $50.

Offices in which the burglar rummaged included the principal's, vice principal's, counselor's, choir director and band director.

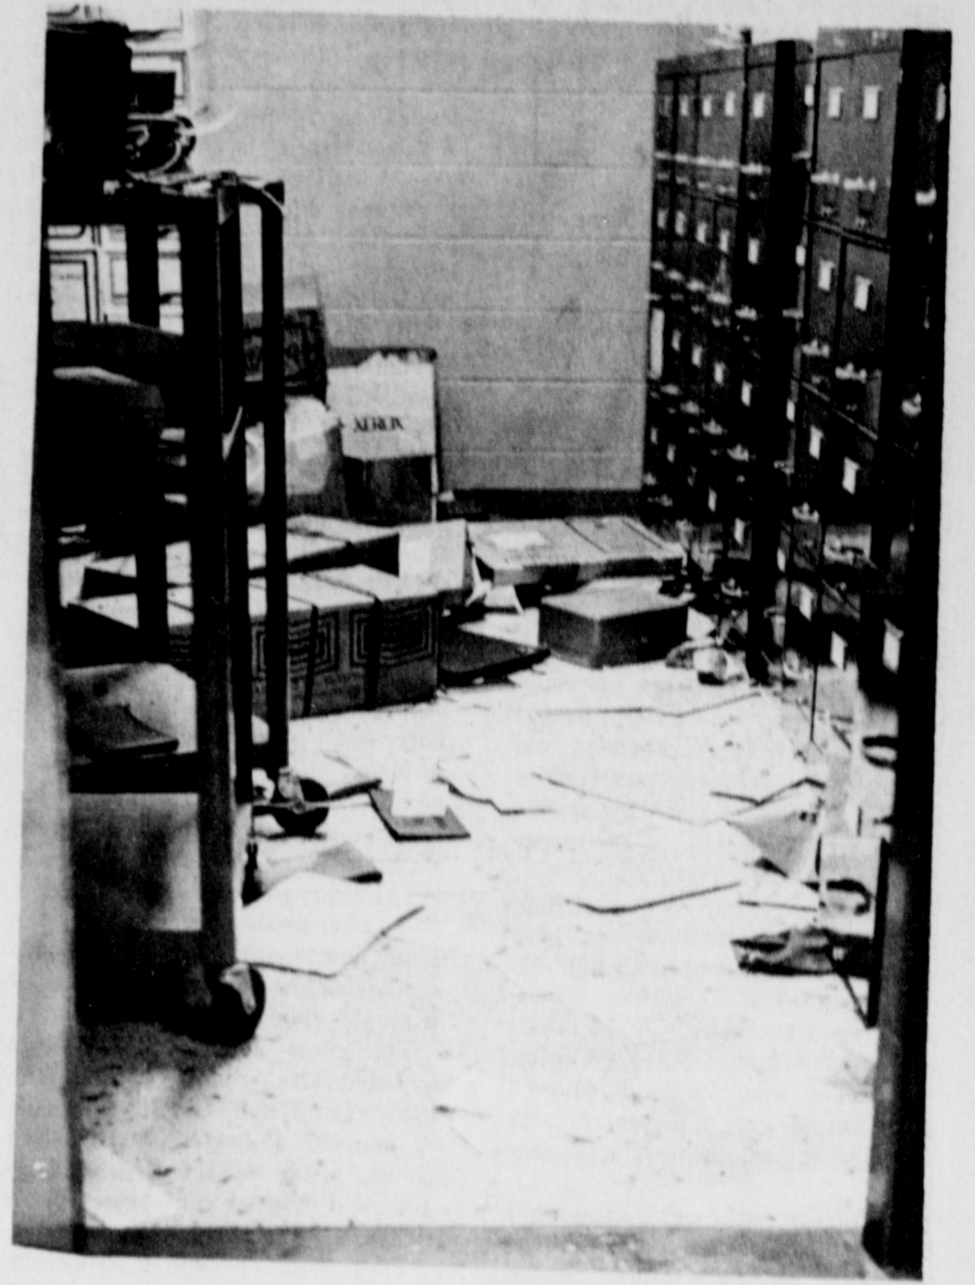

Entry into the building was apparently made the same way it was last time, by cutting a hole in an air conditioner duct. But, this time, instead of dropping 14 feet onto the gymnasium floor, the burglar made his way through a 12x18 inch duct to the cafeteria, and dropped 14 feet to the floor after knocking out a large circular vent.

The burglar apparently made his way to the offices through classrooms, because a large, double fire door was untouched.

Locked doors of each office were pryed open with a large tool of some sort, ruining the locks and inflicting heavy damage to the metal doors.

The event ruined an otherwise uneventful and untroubled school season opening. "We had a beautiful start of school," commented Dawson. "Everything went along real well. He probably thought we would have a lot of money here."

Some change used for sale of season football tickets and receipts from school-owned band instrument rentals was known to have been taken.

School policy requires illegal alien tuition

Iowa Park school trustees in a called meeting Tuesday evening approved a policy concerning educating children of illegal aliens, hired an elementary music teacher and amended the 1979-80 budget.

Eventhough the policy was just being approved, Supt. Harold Cowley told board members it could be outdated shortly, referring to court decisions handed down during the past couple of months on whether they should be educated free without tuition.

Trustees felt children of illegal aliens should be received only through tuition, and not at the expense of local taxpayers. The policy calls for a tuition fee and an additional cost of teacher fee if a bilingual teacher must be hired.

The policy states: "Every child in this state who is a citizen of the United States or a legally admitted alien and who is over the age of five years and not over the age of 21 years on the first day of September of that year in which admission is sought shall be permitted to attend the public free schools of the district in which he resides or in which his parent, guardian, or the person having lawful control of him resides at the time he applies for admission.

"The board of trustees of any public free school district of this state shall admit into the public free schools of the district free of tuition all persons who are either citizens of the United States or legally admitted aliens and who are over five and not over 21 years of age at the beginning of the scholastic year if such person or his parent, guardian or person having lawful control resides within the school district.

"In order for a person under the age of 18 years to establish a residence for the purpose of attending the public free schools separate and apart from his parent, guardian, or other person having lawful control of him under an order of a court, it must be established that his presence in the school district is not for the primary purpose of attending the public free schools. The board of trustees shall be responsible for determining whether an applicant for admission is a resident of the school district for purposes of attending the public schools.

"A child placed in foster care by an agency of the state or a political subdivision shall be permitted to attend the public free schools in the district in which the foster parents reside free of any charge to the foster parents or the agency. No durational residence requirement may be used to prohibit such a child from fully participating in any activity sponsored by the school district. Section 21.031, Texas Education Code.

"The Texas Education Agency is fully committed to complying with the provisions of the law. Therefore, the benefits of the Available School Fund will flow only to those children who are citizens of the United States or legally admitted aliens and who are within the scholastic age as provided by the statute.

"Alien children who are not legally admitted into the United States will be allowed to attend school in the Iowa park Consolidated Independent School District upon the payment of tuition based on the latest complete cost per student.

"Tuition rates will fluctuate from year to year based on the per pupil cost of education for the Iowa Park Schools. Charges for the current year are: Elementary, grades K-5, $126.90 per month; Junior High, grades 6-8, $146.90 per month; High School, grades 9-12, $146.90 per month; Special Education, $146.90 per month. Tuition rates set forth above shall be payable monthly and in advance. A month is defined as 18 school days. In the event the sufficient influx of illegal aliens impact the school district to the extent that a bilingual teacher is required, according to the mandates of state law, that additional cost will be added to and pro rated among the

Enrollment down

Student enrollment in Iowa Park schools continued its downward trend which was begun back in 1971, according to first-day enrollment figures released by Harold Cowley, superintendent.

Total enrollment Monday was 1,808, the lowest since 1967.

Cowley said there were 642 students enrolled Monday at the high school, 424 at the junior high, 402 at Bradford Elementary and 340 at Kidwell Elementary.

Breaking down those enrollment figures by campus, Cowley said the Kidwell students included three in special education, eight in early childhood, 70 kindergarten, 132 in the first grade and 127 in the second grade. The student-teacher ratio on Kidwell campus is 25-1.

Bradford's enrollment includes 115 in the third grade, 146 in the fourth and 141 in the fifth grade. Student-teacher ratio is 22.3-1.

Junior high figures are: 136 in the sixth grade; 129 in the seventh; and 159 in the eighth grade. student-teacher ratio is 19.2-1.

First-day enrollment at the high school included 137 freshmen, 164 sophomores, 179 juniors and 162 seniors. Student-teacher ratio is 17-1.

Traditionally, enrollment at all campuses increase after the Labor Day holiday. Observations of school personnel as to the reason for the increases include families moving

City council accepts bid to expand police station

The Iowa Park city council Monday night accepted a bid to expand the police station, approved an ordinance prohibiting swimming and boating at Lake Gordon, and approved setting the tax rate for the coming year the same as last year, $1.75.

Miller and Holmes of Wichita Falls was the lowest of three bidders on the police station expansion. With completion to be by Jan. 31, the firm's bid was $39,868. The other two bids were $44,268 and $46,437.

Funds received from federal revenue sharing will cover all of the project except $10,000 in tax money, according to Steve Morath, city administrator.

Persons are no longer permitted to swim, wade without protective shoes, bathe or scuba dive at Gordon Lake, nor are they allowed to operate a boat with a combustible engine on the lake, according to an ordinance approved at the meeting.

A resolution of similar wording was passed in 1971 by the council, but record of it was somehow lost, aldermen were told.

After being told anticipated revenues for the coming year would be $1,367,854, an eight percent increase over the past year, and anticipated expenditures would be $1,423,994, a 12 percent increase, aldermen voted to let the tax rate remain at $1.75 per $100 evaluation, as it has been the past year.

Morath said general revenue sharing has not yet been budgeted by the federal government, and he had not included any anticipated federal funds in the revenue portion of the budget.

A request to close the south block of Jackson was denied, but owners of the two blocks on either side of the street, James Billingsley and Mark Raby, were given permission to fence the unopened street off to traffic.

The two were told that closing the street would not allow access to the south portion of the blocks, 177 and 178, should they ever be developed in the future.

Raby complained that motorists, especially motorcycles, were using the street at an unsafe speed and damaging private property not in the dedicated street area.

In other business, aldermen approved advertising for bids on a storage building for the street department, signed a mutual aid agreement with Sheppard AFB for fire fighting, and instructed Charlie Helms to step up mosquito spraying in order to completely cover the city twice weekly.

After completing items on the meeting's agenda, Mayor Johnny Crawford called for an executive session to permit the council to discuss legal matters without public audience.

Sirens to alert firemen again

Beginning today, the sirens will be used to alert members of the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department of a fire.

The practice of alerting firemen by siren was stopped about a year ago after the city council purchased portable radios with which to notify them. The radios, however, were said to be a hindrance to those carrying them and problems arose in attracting enough firemen when they were called.

One blast on the siren will be a call for firemen, but a long, oscillating blast is to alert citizens of impending danger, such as a tornado, according to Bud Thompson, civil defense coordinator.

CHANGES OVER YEARS

Enrollment figures at Iowa Park schools have been on a regular decrease since 1971, despite several hundred housing units having been built during those years throughout the district.

Monday's enrollment was actually five fewer students than were reported the first day of the 1968 fall, when 1,813 reported.

Peak first-day enrollment was in August of 1970, when 2,292 students reported for classes. One reason for the increase over the 1969 first-day enrollment of 2,041 was the consolidation of the Valley View district with Iowa Park.

First-day enrollment figures for the past 13 years include:

Cook, Spears wedding held here Saturday

Climaxing the important social events of last week was the formal dignified and sacred wedding in which marriage lines were recited by Miss Judy Lynn Cook and James Marcus Spears. The Church of God was the scene of the impressive ceremony during which the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cook exchanged double-ring nuptial vows with the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Spears. A host of relatives and friends of the popular couple witnessed the service directed by Rev. W.F. Williams, pastor.

The couple repeated their vows facing the audience as they stood before a white satin-cushioned prayer bench decorated with baby's breath inside a white wrought iron gazebo interwoven with sprays of plumosus fern in the center of the upper altar. Decorative appointments outside the ornamental structure featured heart-shaped votive candelabra entwined with flowering huckleberry behind the altar rail in the background, and two spreading arrangements of white gladioli, leather and gypsophila uplifted by pedestals in the upper altar.

In the lower altar, votive candles glowing in fifteen-branched arch candelabra furnished soft lighting. The candlestick that had special significance because it held the candle that the couple lit to symbolize their union was completely covered with baby's breath accented with white satin wedding bells and a lace bow.

White wrought-iron candelabra bedecked with sprays of white orange blossoms holding votive candles designated pews for family members. The remaining church pews were marked with the votive candles atop tall standing holders traced with plumosus fern.

Miss Celeste Glenn and Miss Julie Davis lighted the candles to illuminate the setting. They wore powder blue lustrous polyester gowns featuring shirred waistlines and bodices with spaghetti straps topped with sleeveless jackets of Alencon lace appliques.

The pre-nuptial music was offered by Mrs. Jim Miller, organist, and Mrs. Dennis Herder, sister of the bride, vocalist. Mrs. Medlinger played "Whiter Thou Goest", "Walk Hand in Hand," "O Perfect Love" and "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us". She accompanied the vocalist for her solos, "If" and "There Is Love" before the ceremony and also accompanied Mrs. Danny Bohannon for her solo rendition of "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt on the prayer bench at the close of the ceremony. Mrs. Medlinger played the processional by Lohengrin and the recessional by Mendessohn for additional contributions.

The bride was beautiful as she was presented in marriage for both of her parents by her father who had escorted her to the altar, the young lady attired in an exquisite gown of crystal organza and imported peupere lace. The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, modified Queen Anne neckline adorned with scattered pearls, and cap sleeves applique with lace medallions. Special back interest was achieved by a lace-bordered cape graced with self-covered buttons and loops that dipped to the waistline. The full skirt and chapel train captured attention with a wide pleated flounce and a generous touch of the sumptuous lace.

The bride's chapel length and face veils, drifts of bridal illusion with lace and scattered pearls ornamentation, were caught to a camelot cap of the same embellishments. A perfect complement to the lovely gown was the bridal bouquet, a long, formal, trailing cascade of white butterfly roses, gardenias and gypsophila.

She carried the groom's mother's white Bible, chosen for the "something old" and "something borrowed" traditions. The garter provided the "something blue" addition. Her pretty gown spoke for itself as the "something new", and a sixpence was worn in her shoe.

The bride presented a red rose of love to her mother on her way to the altar and another to the groom's mother as she and the groom exited from the church.

The five feminine attendants included Mrs. Dennis Herder, the bride's sister, and Mrs. Tim Kingcade as matrons of honor, Mrs. Howard Davis, sister of the groom, Miss Johnna Frederick and Miss Teresa Feltman as bridesmaids.

They were dressed in identically styled formal gowns of royal blue silesta designed with blouson bodices, off-the-shoulders French pouf sleeves, spaghetti straps and full circular skirts.

They carried open white lace parasols characterized by elegance in style, having handles holding bouquets of blue gardenias, petunias and phlox, and trailing blue and white lace streamers that tied in love knots centered with the same blossoms, to complement their gowns.

Miss April Sims and Troy Sims of Conroe, cousins of the groom, had the roles of flower girl and ring bearer in the wedding. She was attired in a long blue dotted swiss dress accented with a blue and white pinafore. She carried a closed white net parasol trimmed with white lace and blue satin ribbons with blue and white silk poppies, phlox and baby's breath spilling over the top. He wore a white coat and black pants and carried the rings on a white satin pillow trimmed with lace appliques.

The groom was attired in a formal all-white tuxedo with tails and wore a boutonniere formed of blue carnations and white roses. The male participants were attired in powder blue tuxedos, wearing white shirts trimmed in blue.

Best man for the groom was Greg Crawford of Burkburnett. Serving as groomsmen were Howard Davis of Wichita Falls, the groom's brother-in-law, Jeff Crenshaw of Kamay, Dennis Herder and Sonny Cook, brother-in-law and brother of the bride, respectively.

Ushers were Barry Bleeker, Randall Schram and Richard Spears, the groom's brother.

The bride's mother wore a royal blue sheer crepe gown detailed with wedding band collar, split sleeves pulled together with tiny bows, a full circular sunburst skirt and complemented it with a blue gardenia. The groom's mother chose a white gardenia to wear with her peach frosted voile gown styled with a scoop round neck, split sleeves that tied above the elbows, a matching sash that hugged the waistline, and a hemline flounce.

The bride's parents honored the newlyweds at a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church where each decorative appointment lent itself to the general design to achieve a total effect of beauty.

Miss Melissa Spears, sister of the groom, dressed like the candlelighters, presided at the musical bride's book table. Covered with a full length white satin cloth overlaid with delicate blue lace, it held the couple's wedding invitation framed in gold, a white pillar candle embedded with a picture of the bride and groom, the blue feather pen and a wicker basket filled with the couple's scrolls thanking the guests for taking time to share in their joy.

Nearby the registry table was a white wrought iron table covered with blue lace under glass that held a large blue satin-covered heart full of light blue satin rice rosebuds tied with royal blue ribbons.

The dazzling beauty of the bride's table was noticeable from every point in the room. A tall china cherub stood back of the table holding a bowl filled with blue silk rosebuds, white gardenias, German statice and baby's breath enhancing the romantic mood of the long table, draped with a white satin cloth ruffled around the top and swagged with white satin roping caught up with strands of pearls.

The lavish tower cake at one extremity possessed special charm and grace. The elegant four tiers were decorated with a multitude of snowy frosting drapes, each centered with a cascade of roses in the chosen shades of blue. The first tier was lifted high by eight tall Grecian columns to give a refreshing view of a clear fountain bubbling with blue water below. Smaller columns divided the four tiers and raised the curtains on china love doves kissing on a twig and a cherub in a bird bath.

From the second tier, steps descended on two sides leading to small round cakes decorated in the same motif of the tiered structure, then terminated at two heart-shaped cakes linked together by a bridge in front. These were decorated with open Bible designs, one bearing the scripture "whither thou goest" and the other the names of the couple and their wedding date. The crowning touch of the cake was a blown glass knotted heart decorated with blown glass humming birds on each corner and tiny love birds in the center of the heart.

Blue punch was served from a modern silver fountain at the other table extremity. The blue napkins were lettered in silver with "This Is Our Life, Our Beginning - Judy-James, August 23, 1980."

The groom's table was laid with royal blue crepe, draped at the top and caught at intervals with white silk rope loops. The appointments included a gold and ivory-stemmed five-branched candelabrum set off with clusters of dark purple velvet grapes around the votive cups, the round chocolate cake decorated with colorful hand-moulded marzipan fruit and the initials "JSJ", and chocolate mints.

A white wrought iron cart decorated with emerald greenery and royal blue satin held the silver coffee service.

Also in the setting was a white lace-laid buffet table holding sandwiches, tidbits and a fruit-filled watermelon.

Other points of decorative interest in the room were a tall splashing water fountain in one corner, a white bird cage filled with flowers featured in the chosen scheme suspended from the ceiling, the gift table holding a miniature white and gold floriated cart.

Reception assistants were Mrs. Les Maple, Mrs. Anthony York, Mrs. Sonny Cook, the bride's sister-in-law; Misses Carla Ward of Bossier City, La., cousin of the bride, Tami Catlin, Deanne Patterson and Tena Posey.

Houseparty members were Mmes. Luther Skinner, Jerald Brown, Jim Ridlehuber, Jack Headings, Wallace Smith, George Carroll and Bobby Fox.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner on the eve of the wedding at Underwood's.

The couple, now honeymooning at Padre Island, will live in Iowa Park. They were both graduated from Iowa Park High School. She works for

MRS. JAMES MARCUS SPEARS

Cook's Flying Service and he is employed at Cryovac.

Special out-of-town wedding guests were Mrs. W.C. Sims of Floydada, great-grandmother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. J.M. (Buck) Sims of Orange and Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Spears of Quanah, the groom's grandparents.

Other out-of-town guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Tom Oliver of Orange, Eddie Spears of Anson, Henry Gossage and Lance Murrie of Oklahoma City, and Jimmie Sims of Conroe, Leon Goforth of Cleveland, Tenn.; Mmes. Ina Hammonds and Lois Guffey of Floydada and Nick Ward of Bossier City, La.

Soil testing underway

By DON DECKER
County Agent

Soil test week is Aug. 27 through Sept. 2.

The week of testing will be climaxed with farmers bringing their samples to the Soil Fertility Clinic at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the county tax office building in Iowa Park. Dr. Carl Gray will carry the samples back to the soil testing laboratory at Texas A&M. He says "We should be able to get the reports back to the producers within a week."

Soil test kits will be available from pick-up points over the county. Kits can be obtained at Texhoma Agricultural Products and McClelland Feed and Seed in Iowa Park, K & K Grain Company in Electra, Harlan Mullins Fertilizer in Burkburnett, and Berend Brothers or the county Extension office in Wichita Falls. Those who cannot attend the soil fertility clinic can return their samples to any of these locations by Tuesday, and they will be carried by Dr. Gray to the soil laboratory.

Least cost fertilization will be the theme of the clinic. Alternatives available in cutting production cost through fertilization will be discussed by Dr. Gray. He will also examine the question of applying gypsum or lime to soils in this area. Dr. Gray is thoroughly familiar with Wichita County soils as he formerly headed the agriculture department at Midwestern State University.

Most producers have been in a fertilization program for years. A build-up of fertilizer in the soil could change the fertility needs of the soil. James Brockreide of Punkin Center says "Our current soil tests call for less nitrogen than we have usually applied. Some of the samples are calling for only 50 pounds of nitrogen to make 50 bushels of wheat."

This is an example of the need for growers to retest their soil at 3-4 year intervals. Retesting is the goal of the current soil fertility drive.

The mood of the Wichita County farmer is at a "low." The traditional optimistic mood has faded as 1980 crop prospects have greatly diminished. At a recent meeting of the county crops committee, I picked up an extremely conservative attitude among producers. The drought situation is forcing producers to reduce their cost of production everywhere possible. The traditional maximum yield attitude is giving way to producing the crop as cheaply as possible.

Growers are talking about plowing up a lot of cotton and planting it to wheat this fall. W.H. McAlister of Punkin Center advised the group not to give up on the crop too soon. He said "If the price increase trend continues, a 100 pounds of lint per acre (1/4 bale) may be worth $80 per acre."

The talk on reducing production cost was aimed mostly at lower rates of fertilizer and less fuel costs. Freddie Daume mentioned the possibility of applying 80 pounds of 18-46-0 with the wheat seed at planting time. If conditions look better in the winter, the wheat could be top-dressed with another 30-40 pounds of nitrogen.

Larry McAlister mentions the possibility of fertilizing his wheat with anhydrous ammonia only. His land has been in a complete fertilization program for years, and he thinks there should be enough phosphorous carryover to make at least one crop.

Fred Dwyer talks about going back to the fertilization program he used several years ago. This involves putting 60 pounds of 25-25-0 with the seed at planting or 100 pounds of 25-25-0 broadcast prior to planting. Top-dressing can be applied in January or February to insure an adequate supply of nitrogen during the critical boot stage.

Cost of diesel fuel is one of the major production costs now. Producers are taking a closer look at whether or not every plowing operation can be fully justified. For example, Dan Glass said he cleaned a field with a single plowing using an old one-way. It would have required at least two plowings using the conventional chisel sweeps.

One thing for sure is farmers are "fighting back" at the current drought and economic situation. Farmers are flexible always adjusting to different situations.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Apparently, a small group of disgruntled parents who are upset because the schools aren't run the way the parents want them run, are hell-bent to do what they can to embarrass and discredit the Iowa Park schools.

Did you notice the television news report about the air conditioning not working in part of Bradford Elementary building Monday? It was on Channel 3.

One of the units had hardly stopped working Monday afternoon when one or more telephones from Iowa Park were running hot, informing not only the two television stations, but I understand all the radio stations as well.

Not one of those telephones attempted to dial the administration building to find out what the problem was, according to Supt. Harold Cowley. He's disappointed in the situation, and I couldn't blame him at all, were I in his shoes.

Cowley told me he had a commercial crew to check out every air conditioning unit in the school buildings last week, allowing them all to run, to be ready for school's opening. They all passed with flying colors.

But our critical parents apparently have never had an air conditioner to fail in their homes, or even heard of it. And I'm sure they will inform the same news agencies if it ever happens too.

Not all the rooms at Bradford were hot. Some of them have individual units and those students were cool. School people gathered all the fans they could find and had at least two in every classroom. They weren't adequate, of course, with the temperature over 100 degrees, but I'm sure they helped.

A special trip to Dallas got the defective part replaced, and the unit was in operation by Tuesday afternoon.

At least it's operating. That's more than you can say for most of the schools in Wichita Falls, which has announced they will start classes an hour earlier in the mornings and get out early in the afternoons, because they have no air conditioning at all.

I also understand our disgruntled parents even called the county health officer and complained about the mosquitoes at Bradford.

Can't really blame them for that. The Bradford campus is the only place in Iowa Park, or the whole Wichita River Valley for that matter, that has mosquitoes!

It's a sad situation to be disgruntled. Nothing seems to go right. Even those things that are normal are enough to get you pulling your hair... or dialing your nearby television station.

The four, which is a record number to receive the Eagle Scout rank at one time in Iowa Park, were Wayne Watson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Earl Watson, and the brothers Henderson, Allen, John and Mark, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Henderson.

During the impressive ceremony held in the First United Methodist Church, 19 Eagle Scouts stood behind the four recipients while Joe Hughes of Wichita Falls made the presentations. There were 135 persons attending.

Hughes, who has awarded every Eagle Scout rank earned by Iowa Park scouts in the past, was recipient himself of an appreciation plaque, presented by Harold Cowley.

In the audience, besides families of the recipients and Eagle Scouts, were representatives of the Wichita District and Northwest Texas Council.

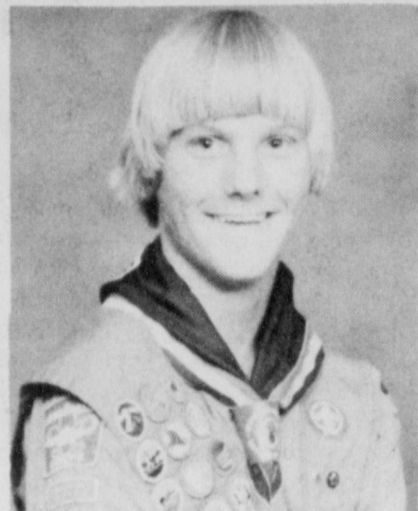

From the Wichita District were Glen Stout, district camping chairman; Olie Lazenby, past district commissioner; Maxene Carmony, assistant commissioner; Bob Brew, camp program director; Lynette McGee, Cub Scout day camp director; Suzie Payne, unit commissioner; and Don Bradford, Lodge 35 advisor of O.A.

Representing the Northwest Texas Council were Lou Schwoerke, council executive; Bob Bently, council exploring coordinator; Bill Todd, Wichita District executive; and Mrs. Homer Lewis, secretary at the Scout office.

Recovering lost plane part on the Waggoner a chore

By BARBARA HOLKUM

Last March a couple of pilots assigned to the 80th Flying Training Wing at Sheppard were flying in a training area near Vernon when their T-38 aircraft lost a small gear door. "We knew, within a 50-60 mile radius, where the part was lost," said Captain John D. Ragan, T-38 safety officer at the wing. "We also knew that metal fatigue caused the door to drop off, but we wanted to recover it for lab analysis and correction of the problem."

Capt. Ragan notified the base Public Affairs Office of the incident and asked them to put out the word for anyone finding the lost door to please call the base. With the help of the local public media, the word went out... but there was no response.

Then, on Aug. 6, Dick Yeager, ranch manager at the huge W.T. Waggoner Estate south of Vernon, called to say that one of his cowboys had found the missing gear door. He said it was lying in extremely rough terrain and suggested that a helicopter be used to haul it out.

Since Army helicopters rent for $160 per hour, Capt. Ragan decided to set out on the recovery mission in the four-wheel drive "power wagon" belonging to the wing.

"I thought sure the wagon would do the job," Capt. Ragan said. "Of course I didn't know when I started that the Waggoner Ranch covered more than 5,000 acres of some beautiful and, in places, some rough countryside."

They were met at the ranch by Boots O'Neal, ranch foreman, and Ricky Stone, the cowboy who had originally discovered the lost object.

"As soon as we got there," said Capt. Ragan, "I pulled out the aerial map and asked the men to show me where it was. When I saw where Boots was pointing, I immediately asked if Vicki and I could borrow a couple of horses."

But no horses were available on such short notice, so the cowboys loaded their animals into a trailer behind their pickup and drove ahead to show the way. Capt. Ragan and Miss Houston followed in the wagon.

Not having the advantage of the four-wheel drive, the cowboys were later forced to shift to horseback, but the intrepid searchers from Sheppard were still able to follow along in the wagon.

"We must have driven 40 miles over dirt roads and pastures," said Capt. Ragan. "Then we came to the Wichita River for the second time. We had forded it the first time, but this time the banks were just too steep. That's when we had to practice the tried and true military art of hiking with your boots dry."

Being a gentleman, he took off his boots, rolled up his pants and carried Miss Houston across the shallow water on piggyback.

"Just about the time we topped the bank on the other side," he said, "the cowboys came riding back and said they had found it about a mile on ahead."

But "it" wasn't what Capt. Ragan and Vicki expected to find. "Why, it was about four times the size of one of our gear doors," he said. "I first thought it was a piece of wing, but when I turned it over, I could see that it was indeed a gear door."

Upon closer inspection, Capt. Ragan found a small indentplate riveted to the inside of the door. It bore the engraved inscription "Boeing B-47E" and the number 1093.

"Ticky, who was horseback, tied his lariat around the gear door and drug it until the ground got too rough," said Capt. Ragan. "Then I picked it up and carried it on across the river to our vehicle. Vicki got lucky that time... one of the cowboys let her ride back on his horse."

Having recovered the old door, Capt. Ragan's curiosity got the best of him and he began to put his investigative skills to use in finding out what he could about the story of the aircraft to which it once belonged.

His search eventually led him to the Boeing Aerospace Company in Seattle, Wash., where he was put in touch with Gary Walker, an employee.

Walker did some research of his

WTCC seeks survey help

Municipal water needs, resource development, and availability of municipal water supplies are the subject of a comprehensive water survey currently being conducted by the Water Development Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Every chamber of commerce in West Texas is being called upon to assess their local and trade area water situations aimed at developing solutions that will assist in providing for long-range water supply needs.

Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield, chairman of the WTCC Water Development Committee, in a letter to chamber executives requesting assistance in developing a comprehensive water resource inventory for the area, stated that the WTCC believes that cities planning and working together can develop solutions for solving most of the long-range water supply needs facing West Texas.

The water committee plans to compile the data and use it as a basis for future recommendations to the state legislature, the Texas Department of Water Resources and the Texas Water Commission.

Pending water shortages, due to drought in some areas, and continually escalating costs of water projects have prompted the 62-year-old regional chamber to place renewed emphasis on this age-old problem.

A major portion of the WTCC's mid-year membership meeting set for Nov. 19-21 in Lubbock will be devoted to airing West Texas' water needs and efforts aimed at assisting communities in solving their future water supply problems.

A comprehensive program is being planned that will provide information on the legal, financial and engineering aspects of water development projects. The water committee expects to release the initial results of the water inventory surveys at the Lubbock meeting.

own and reported to Capt. Ragan that the B-47E Stratojet was manufactured from 1947 to 1957 by the Boeing Company in Wichita, Kans. It was the world's first swept-wing bomber.

More than 1,200 of the aircraft served with the Air Force Strategic Air Command until they were declared obsolete and removed from operational service in the late 1960s.

"Because of the time factor involved," said Capt. Ragan, "Mr. Walker said many old records were missing or incomplete and trying to trace the particular incident in which the gear door was lost would be like trying to find a needle in a haystack."

Walker did ascertain, though, that the door was probably lost between 1953 and 1956 and that the number on the indentplate was most likely the tail number of the aircraft. He said that they used to fly B-47Es out of Dyess Air Force Base.

"I've talked to a couple of people who flew B-47s," said Capt. Ragan, "and they tell me that it was common practice to lower the landing gear to slow the aircraft down in an approach pattern. That's one way it could have been lost."

Experts to appraise possessions

Priceless? Or Worthless? Now is the opportunity for residents of North Texas and Southern Oklahoma to really find the real value of their heirloom treasures or tag sale finds! Heirloom Discovery Day will be staged at the Wichita Falls Museum and Art Center, No. 2 Eureka Circle, by the Museum Guild on Saturday, Sept. 13 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m., with an invitational preview and social Friday, Sept. 12, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the museum.

Five experts from Sotheby Parke Bernet, the nation's most famous art auction house of New York, will be on hand to give a verbal appraisal for the treasure-at $5 per treasure at Discovery Day on Sept. 13. Their expertise will cover silver and pewter, porcelain and pottery and glass, Oriental objects, furniture and decorative objects, paintings, prints and drawings and antique jewelry.

The museum will be divided into five areas to cope with the various categories of treasures for appraisal only. Should an unearthed valuable treasure be sold or auctioned off at Sotheby's at a later date, the museum will receive a portion of the commission. Arrangements for such sales can be made on Heirloom Discovery Day.

In Wichita Falls, at the first Heirloom Discovery Day in February, 1979, an area woman brought a tiny vase she had purchased at a garage sale for 75 cents. The Sotheby experts valued the item at several hundred dollars!

In addition to offering a verbal appraisal of a treasure, and placing a monetary value on it, be it art of antique object, these experts provide information on style and period as well as restoration and sale.

MRS. KYLE SINGLETON

Owens, Singleton nuptials are exchanged

The doubling exchange of wedding vows by Miss Cynthia Denise Owens and Kyle Ranson Singleton took place Saturday evening in the Faith Baptist Church in Wichita Falls. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Owens of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Singleton of Canyon.

Larry Shields, minister and youth director of the church, was the officiant for the ceremony which was performed before a brass candle arch flanked by brass spiral candle trees backgrounded by a white trellis entwined with lemon leaf and emerald, and palm trees. A face-to-face prayer bench and two arrangements of white gladioli raised by brass pedestals completed the altar setting.

Pews for the parents were set apart with votive lights in hurricane globes, and the holders for candles on other church pews were wrapped with greenery.

A program of traditional music was provided by Miss Debbie Watson, organist, and Jerry Morgan, vocalist, the latter offering "For Baby For Bobby", "Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted by her father and presented for marriage by both parents, the bride was a charming picture in a formal gown of white organza enhanced with silk Venise lace which adorned the neckline and fitted bodice. The full sleeves were trimmed with the lace and schiffli embroidery. The beauty of the full skirt graced with lace medallions that drifted into a chapel train was heightened through a pleated overskirt and hemline flounce ornamented with the lace and embroidery.

She wore a short illusion veil edged with Venise lace appliques that fell from a lace bandeau sprinkled with pearls. The bride carried a cascade bouquet centered with pink roses, that were lifted out later for her going away corsage, encircled with gypsophila and stephanotis enriched with white satin ribbons dropping downward.

Her jewelry included pearl earrings and necklace, the "something borrowed" furnished by her mother. A penny worn in her shoe for "something old" and for good luck was one that had belonged to her late grandmother, Mrs. Dawson Owen, and was dated the year of her birth. Her garter of blue and new wedding gown completed the rhyme.

Mrs. Lewis Simpson of Spearman served as matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Pam Barton of Wichita Falls, Miss Liz Eaton of Dallas, Mrs. Ricky King of Amarillo, sister of the groom, and Miss Dianne Towery of Denton. They wore fashionable pink crepe dresses styled with butterfly sleeves and wrapped skirts that formed tulip hems at mid-calf length. Their bouquets consisted of dusty rose silk flowers and dogwood, the latter blossoms cascading from the bouquet.

Cindy Joy Frisby of Amarillo, the flower girl, wore a floor length white polyester frock trimmed in pink, and Jeremy Johnson of Brownwood, the ring bearer, wore a white tuxedo to match the attire of the groomsmen and ushers.

The groom was dressed in a white tuxedo trimmed in satin with tails and wore a white rosebud boutonniere. His attendants were Kerry Singleton of Grand Junction, Colo., his brother, who was best man, Shayne Owens of Wichita Falls, the bride's brother, Joe Cave, Ken Wynne and Gregg Gillette, all of Amarillo, the groomsmen.

Ushers were Jim Ridd and Vince Price of Amarillo and Mark Wells of Wichita Falls.

Shannon Owen, brother of the bride, and Gil Gilbert took part in the wedding as candlelighters.

Following a wedding trip to Dallas, the newlyweds are at home in Dumas where he is employed by Diamond Shamrock Oil Co., and she will be teaching at Sunray. The bride was graduated from Holliday High School, and he was graduated from Caprock High School in Amarillo. Both earned degrees from West Texas State University.

The bride's parents were hosts for the wedding reception held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Mrs. Jennifer Vaughn presided at the bride's book at a round table draped with white organza cloth accented with a white on white applique hem. A special decoration was a piece of crewel embroidery, the handiwork of the bride's mother, on a brass easel.

Guests signed their names in the bride's book with a feather pen lifted from a heart-shaped well.

The bride's table, which was the focal point of interest in the setting, was covered to the floor with pink satin overlaid with a white organza cloth identical to the one on the registry table. The centerpiece was the three-tiered cake, a queenly confection, attractively decorated according to the mood of the occasion with pink frosting shaped like roses with realistically curled green petals, green grapes and two sets of Grecian pillars. A bouquet of the roses was held by two sweet china cherubs for the top ornament.

Other appointments on the bride's table included the silver punch service, pink rice napkins engraved with "Cindy Kyle", and a five-branched silver candelabrum decorated with sprig fern.

The groom's table was laid with an ecru cutwork cloth over candlelight taffeta. It held white candles in graduated brass holders, the chocolate cake trimmed with marzipan fruit, and ecru napkins bearing the couple's names in copper letters.

A small table arranged between the two tables was covered with white organza and held a crystal bowl filled with vanilla ice cream.

The background for the serving tables was provided by white trellis entwined with greenery and palm trees. Another point of interest in the room was a large white gazebo where a tall cherub stood inside.

Reception assistants were Misses Tammie Allen, Kim Tewell, Amy Smith, Debbie Thayer, Shelly Willis, Mrs. Ken Wynne and Mrs. Jo Lana Johnson.

Houseparty members were Mes. E.E. Sledge, Oneal Hlevins, Don Barton, Larry Felthauer, Don Shores and Helen Gilbert.

Shannon Shores and Michele Shores handed out the couple's scrolls inspired by 1 Cor. 13 to wedding guests as they arrived at the church.

The groom's parents gave the rehearsal dinner at the Boston Tea Party.

Mrs. Owen, mother of the bride, chose a silk print dress of pink and orchid genteliese featuring a peplum etched in pink and a pink satin sash. She carried a purple orchid on her white beaded bag. Mrs. Singleton, mother of the groom, wore a yellow and green polyester dress with long sleeves and full skirt and a yellow orchid corsage.

ENROLLMENT:

Elementary up, high school down

Enrollment figures for the 1980-81 school year at Holliday show a decline in the number of high school students, and a substantial increase in the elementary enrollment.

According to Bill Lee, high school principal, the total enrollment for grades seven through 12 is 360, the same total enrollment figure as last year. Twenty four new students enrolled in either high school or junior high, but at the same time, 24 students expected to return from last year did not report Monday.

In high school, grades nine, 10, 11, and 12, 238 students enrolled, compared to 246 last year, or a decline of eight.

Sixty-one students enrolled in eighth grade, as well as 61 in seventh grade.

"It's kind of hard to believe we have a loss in enrollment," Lee commented, "in fact, I was expecting an increase of at least 17 in high school alone this year."

Fourteen students from last year's sophomore class alone apparently moved from the school district.

"We are expecting a few to enroll over the Labor Day weekend," said Lee. Traditionally, schools receive a number of students over Labor Day weekend when their school begins before that time.

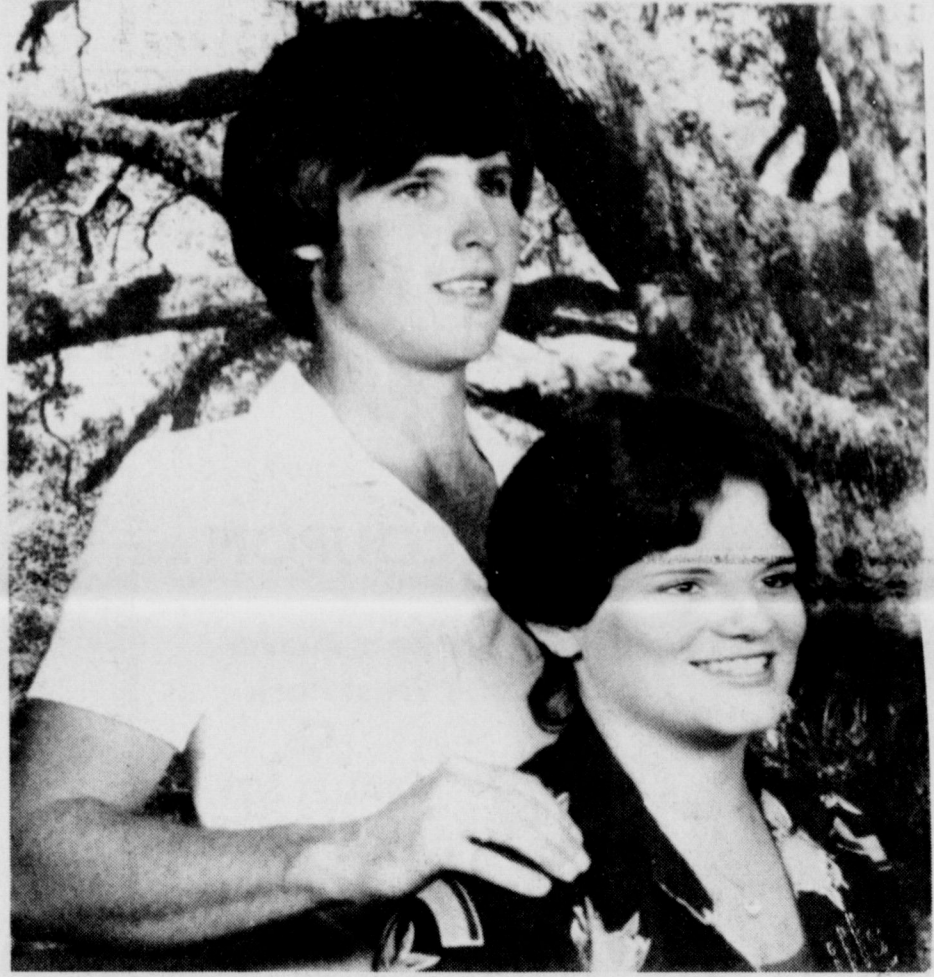

Elementary school principal Dan

Owens reports a total enrollment of 384, 29 over last year's figures.

According to Owens, starting his fourth year as principal at Holliday, everything went smoothly the first day of school.

"It was just a matter of getting started and finding one's homeroom," he said.

The elementary building was worked on extensively over the summer, according to Owens. Chalkboards were repainted as were the baseboards in the hallways and some classrooms. "We are expecting a shipment of furniture soon," commented Owens, "mainly desks for the first and second grade rooms."

TERRY AYRES and MOLLY RICHARDSON

Announce engagement

Mr. and Mrs. C.G. Richardson of Lampasas announce the engagement of their daughter, Molly Gee, and Terry Jack Ayres, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Ayres of Holliday.

Miss Richardson, who is a student at Midwestern State University majoring in radiology, was graduated from Lampasas High School and attended Angelo State University at San Angelo. Her fiancé was graduated from Holliday High School and is employed by Ayres Welding Co.

November 1 is the date chosen by the couple for their wedding.

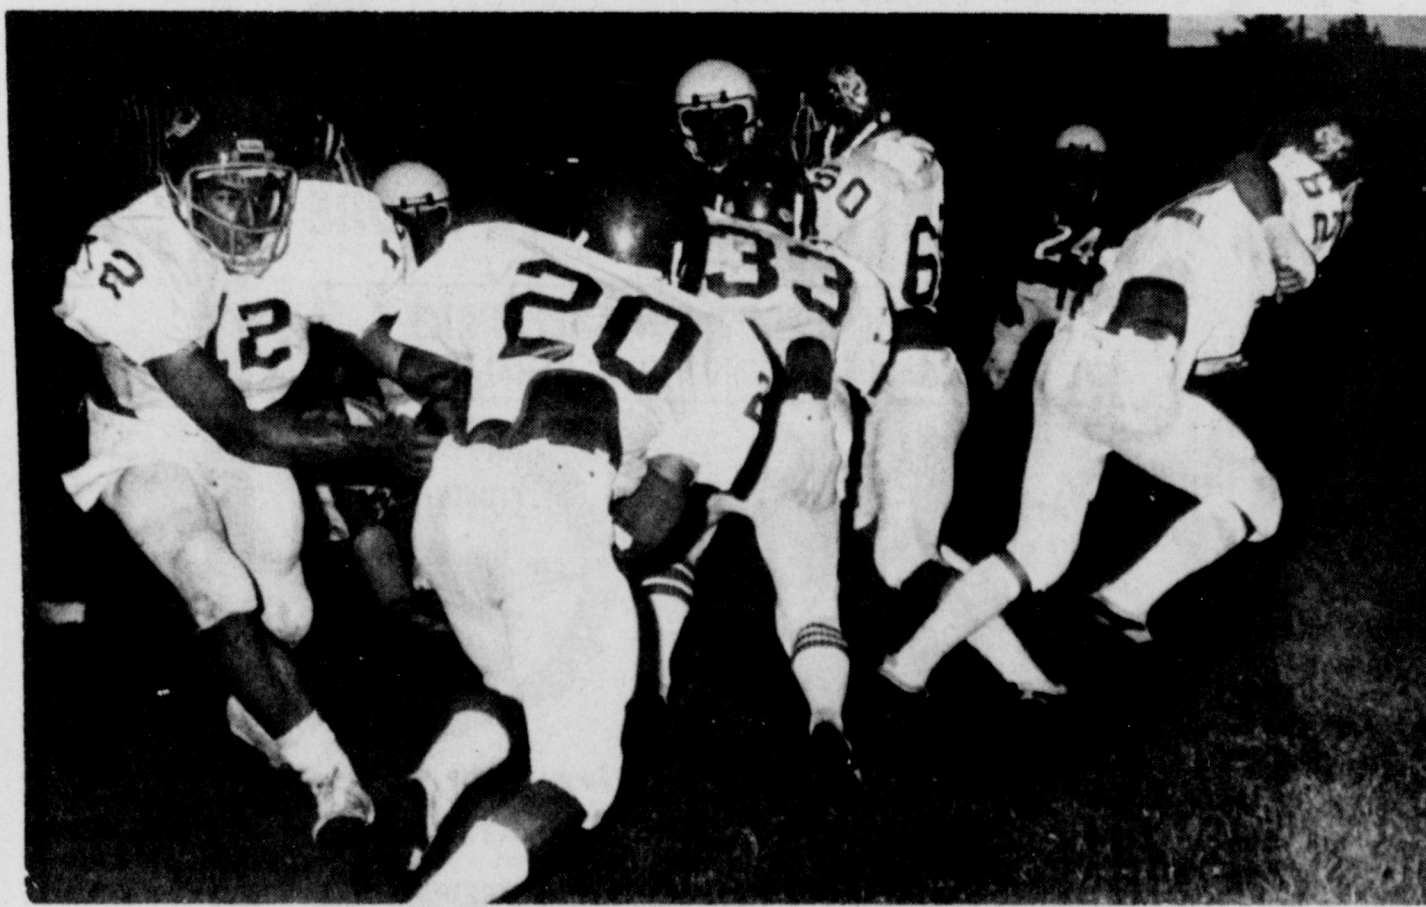

Correction

In last week's edition of the Leader, it was reported that the Holliday school board set the tax rate at 65 cents per $100 evaluation.

According to Louis Hodge, Holliday Tax Assessor/Collector, the rate was passed for budget purposes only, and the final tax rate will be set soon. "We are doing all we can to keep the rate within a three percent increase," said Hodge.

Lucy happy with Eagles

P-TA has project

"An Apple for the Teachers" was the welcome back to school gift provided to each teacher and school employee in the Holliday schools by the Holliday P-TA. This was the first P-TA project for the 1980-81 school year.

The P-TA is currently conducting a membership drive. Dues are $1.50 per parent and meetings are held once a month. The first meeting is scheduled for Oct. 13, in the Holliday cafeteria.

Interested parents are asked to contact any of the following persons: Debbie Haggerty 586-1610; Carol Parker 586-1497; and Sylvia Stone 586-1760.

Eventhough the potentially potent offensive attack of the Holliday Eagles rarely surfaced in their scrimmage against Knox City Friday night, head coach Don Lucy saw some encouraging signs from his players' overall performance.

"I guess you could call it an average performance," said Lucy, "but being the first scrimmage of the season, I felt they played well, better even than last year's first scrimmage."

First team offensive units from both teams scored one touchdown apiece during their 20-play offensive possessions. Junior fullback Joe Chase scored for the Eagles with a dazzling 58-yard run off tackle in Holliday's second offensive session.

The junior varsity scrimmage also ended in a 1-1 tie. Holliday will travel to Bowie tomorrow for its final preseason scrimmage before the season opener against Seymour Sept. 5.

The scrimmage is scheduled to start at 6 p.m., with the freshman playing first, followed by the junior varsity and varsity teams.

Season ticket supply limited

A limited number of season tickets are still available for the Holliday Eagles' 1980-81 football season, according to Pat Holt, secretary.

Approximately 60 season tickets are left for sale, and can be purchased at the superintendent's office in the Holliday elementary building.

Hawks to scrimmage Lawton Friday

Hawk football fans will get their first view of the 1980 edition of Mean Green tomorrow night when Lawton MacArthur comes to Hawk Stadium for a pre-season scrimmage.

Boosters to meet Tuesday night

The Iowa Park Booster Club will meet Tuesday night at 7 in the high school athletic fieldhouse. The meeting, usually scheduled for Monday nights, was changed due to this Monday being Labor Day.

A film of tomorrow's scrimmage against Lawton MacArthur will be shown.

This will be the only game-condition tuneup for Iowa Park before the Sept. 5 season opener at Breckenridge, the top-ranked Class AAA club in Texas.

Coach Tommy Watkins, speaking Tuesday to the Noon Lions Club, revealed that his team was to have scrimmaged Bowie last Friday, but a mixup on Bowie's part had made it impossible, and he was not able to schedule another team.

Instead, the Hawks held an intra-squad scrimmage Friday afternoon, he said.

Lawton, a team which in the past has been made up of large and speedy players, has always proven a good test for the Hawks.

Signup continues

Boys who are interested in participating in the Top O Texas football program and were unable to register at an earlier date are still eligible to register by calling Gordon Griffith at 592-4840.

The program is for boys who will be eight years old and not 12 before Sept. 1.

Barring any more injuries, the 1980 edition of Hawks should be a better team, overall, than last year's team that finished with a 6-3-1 record, Watkins said.

But he emphasized his key players would have to remain healthy, and some who had been able to work out on a limited basis this fall would have to get in top playing condition.

He told of losing starting fullback Mike Ray the first day of contact in pads. The senior was also slated to see starting duty at the nose guard position on defense. Ray's injured knee will be in a cast six weeks, and rehabilitation and conditioning make his return to the team questionable before the season ends.

Senior Toby Smith and sophomore Steve Stewart will be replacing Ray offensively.

One of the key players who has been among the "walking wounded" throughout the two-day practices has been junior Steve Harris, who Hawk coaches are counting on heavily as an inside linebacker. He underwent surgery on his chest in July and has not returned to form as yet, Watkins said.

Marvin "Bode" Brandt was also injured the first day of workouts in pads but is expected to see some action against MacArthur. Brandt suffered a pinched nerve in his neck.

In comparing this year's team with the one last year, Watkins said his offensive backs and defensive secondary are much more experienced. His line, however, must develop as the season progresses for the

MEAN GREEN OFFENSE MOVES DOWNFIELD IN INTRASQUAD SCRIMMAGE

Hawks to live up to the rating Texas Football Magazine gave them.

The magazine listed the Hawks as the team most likely to win the new District 3-AAAA. Watkins, however, said Burkburnett should have been the team picked, with Vernon and Hirschi close to the Hawks.

One reason he said the defending champion Bulldogs should be favored was because of the size of the school and number of players out for the team. Burk is one of the larger schools, along with Vernon, in enrollment in the state for this classification, and Iowa Park and Graham are among the five smallest, he said.

Burkburnett has more athletes out for the high school teams than all the Wichita Falls public schools put together, he said.

Tomorrow's scrimmage is expected to begin at 6 p.m. for the junior varsity and the varsity will play between 7:30 and 8. As of Tuesday, Watkins did not know whether Lawton was bringing its JV, and if they don't, the Hawk JV will scrimmage Notre Dame of Wichita Falls.

No freshman team fielded

Iowa Park High School will not have a freshman football team this year.

Twenty two players reported for the ninth grade team when two-a-day practice started, and the number dwindled to 11 by last Friday.

Coach Tommy Watkins said two more had reported Monday, the first day of school, and with one injured who had been training, that gave the team 14 players.

The 10-game schedule has been cancelled, but games with Holliday, Breckenridge and the Henrietta JV will be honored by using some Hawk junior varsity players with the freshmen in order to field a team, Watkins said.

Burns, Richardson vows are exchanged Friday

Double-ring wedding vows were exchanged Friday evening in the Calvary Baptist Church in Seymour by Miss Jeanette Burns and Jimmie Lee Richardson. The officiating minister was Rev. Arthur Tigrett, pastor of the church.

The bride's parents are Mrs. Cindy Burns of Wichita Falls and Jimmy Burns of Dallas, and the groom's parents are Mrs. Thena Richardson of Iowa Park and Elmer Richardson of Bryson.

The altar of the church was decorated with two sunburst arrangements of blue and white carnations, white sweetheart roses and baby's breath and spiral candelabra filled with lighted candles. Church pews were marked with white bows and greenery.

Mrs. Arthur Tigrett furnished the organ prelude music and the wedding marches, all flavored with tradition.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, L.L. Burns of Gorman. She chose a gown of white organza accented with Chantilly lace, featuring a high neckline with cameo inset, split bishop sleeves and a cathedral length train. A Juliet cap of lace sprinkled with baby pearls held her facial and cathedral veils. She carried a cascade-style bouquet of light and dark blue carnations and white sweetheart roses.

Adding sentiment to the bride's costume which was her "something new" tradition, was a strand of pearls loaned to her by her grandmother, Mrs. Buster Storey of Charleston, S.C., for "something old" and "something borrowed", and she added the garter for the touch of blue.

Miss June Burns attended her sister as maid of honor and Miss Tammie Richardson, the groom's sister, was bridesmaid. They wore long Qiana gowns in different shades of blue styled with smart off-shoulder draped bodices, draped skirts and matching chiffon capes. They carried nosegays formed of the same flowers in the bride's bouquet. Miss Royal Crawford of Seminole,

MRS. JIMMIE LEE RICHARDSON

Okl., the groom's cousin, was flower girl and Miss Shannon Lasseter of Graham was the train bearer. They wore light blue crepe frocks overlaid with rose lace.

The groom wore a light blue tuxedo with tails and cummerbund and ruffled shirt, and the men who took part in the wedding wore light blue vested tuxedos. William Hitch of Newcastle was best man. Dwight Pool of Iowa Park was groomsman and Anthony Crittenden, also of Iowa Park, was usher.

During the service, the bride presented long stem white sweetheart roses to her mother and to the groom's mother.

The bride is a student at Hirschi High School. The groom was graduated from Iowa Park High School and works for Cryovac. They are spending their honeymoon at Possum Kingdom and Dallas and will live in the Islands Apartments when they return.

The wedding reception was held at the church. Assistants were Misses Diane Bumpass, Sherry Stone and Barbara Haynes.

The bride's table covered with rose lace over blue held a centerpiece of blue and white carnations and sweetheart roses. The appointment of special interest was the four-tiered cake featuring a bubbling fountain beneath the confection and three staircases on the sides where miniature replicas of the wedding participants were descending. The top ornament was a ceramic kissing bride and groom.

The groom's table laid with blue linen held the chocolate cake iced in blue, and the registry table was appointed with a white sweetheart rose in a bud vase.

The bride's father was host for the rehearsal dinner held at the church.

Church renovation nears completion

First Presbyterian Church will again resume holding its Sunday morning worship in the sanctuary of the church.

Extensive renovations, lasting one and one-half years, are nearing completion. Pews will be moved back later this week in time for next Sunday's 11 a.m. service.

On Sunday, Nov. 2, throughout the day, there will be a service of rededication combined with a 90th anniversary celebration. Members who have moved away, former pastors, denominational officials, and area congregations, as well as townspeople will be invited to the day's events.

News

Officers who will serve the Iowa Park 4-H Club during the 1980-81 club year were announced during the Monday night meeting.

Terry Taylor will serve the group as president. Other officers elected to serve were Bruce Whitaker, vice-president; Tracy Taylor, secretary; Misty Hicks, treasurer; Becky Whitaker, parliamentarian; Rose Soell, reporter; Scott Young, 4-H Council delegate; and Darin Coffman, alternate delegate.

Plans for the new year were discussed during the meeting. These included a float for the Homecoming Parade, pony ride at the Whoop-T-Do, a booth at the Wichita County Fair, and food and animal projects.

The chain gilt project was explained for those interested in raising a hog for a project. The initial requirement is for the boy or girl to write a short letter stating the reason for wanting the animal, where it will be kept and the disposition that will be made of it. The letter must be signed by the parents and delivered to Jim's Market by Sept. 15.

The club meets the fourth Monday of each month and students between 9 and 20 are invited to attend.

ABORTION

Questions and Answers

Q: WHY IS ABORTION WRONG?

A: Abortion - whether in the first hour of pregnancy or the ninth month - takes the life of a living human individual. If you believe taking a human life is wrong, then abortion is wrong.

Q: BUT ISN'T ABORTION ON DEMAND NOW LEGAL?

A: On January 22, 1973 the Supreme Court made it possible through interpretation of its ruling, for any woman to have an ABORTION ON DEMAND through the first 6 months of pregnancy and an ABORTION ON REQUEST through the entire nine months, when the woman agrees and ONE physician consents - a physician who may be the abortionist himself.

Many people seem to feel that this Supreme Court decision - while they may not agree with it - has relieved them of the responsibility of forming an opinion on abortion, and that there's no point in even considering this issue.

These people are wrong! The Supreme Court ruling is final only if the American people - by giving their passive support to abortion - allow it to be final.

Q: BUT WHAT RIGHT DO WE HAVE TO FORCE OUR VIEWS ON OTHERS?

A: Abortion is a human issue that affects all of us. If you found a newborn child that had been abandoned, you'd feel a responsibility to see that it was cared for so it wouldn't die from neglect. And yet, thousands of babies born alive in hysterotomy abortions are allowed to die. And hundreds of thousands more are mutilated or poisoned in the womb.

We have the same responsibility toward these children that we have toward any other human being. We have the right to demand that a human life be protected by the state of which we are a part.

You are involved, one way or the other. By not opposing abortion, you're giving it your tacit support. You're even helping to pay for abortions through your tax dollars and often through your insurance premiums as well.

We believe that we all have not only the right, but the responsibility, to do everything in our power to restore the value of human life.

Change YOUR passive support of abortion to an ACTIVE FIGHT AGAINST ABORTION.

"Appearances are often deceiving." Aesop

Cook of the Week

Being alive and healthy are two things any human would want, over all else.

But taking advantage of being alive and healthy with respect from one's peers is what Gayle Parish, Holliday High School secretary, strives for.

Gayle's husband, Alvin, a farmer-rancher in the Holliday area, and two daughters, Melissa and Lana, are glad recipients of Gayle's eagerness to please, especially for her cooking.

Gayle and Alvin both graduated from Holliday High School, and are active in the First Baptist Church in Holliday. Gayle also played a major role in the Archer County Centennial as a Centennial Belle. Her interests include all sports, and she walks and jogs from two to four miles a day.

Gayle previously worked at the Wichita State Hospital as a medical secretary for four years, and has been secretary at Holliday High School going on five. "I enjoy being around these kids, and I like working here," Gayle said.

Ironically, Gayle's heritage plays a major role in her love of cooking, which makes her a perfect choice as Cook of the Week. Her maiden name, Gayle Szenasi, is attributed to her full-blooded Hungarian father. And the most focal stereotype of a Hungarian is their love of rich and tasteful food.

The only way Gayle will measure her expertise in cooking is the measure of satisfaction on the faces of those who dine with her. One recipe in particular, a pinto bean cake, remains nameless until her guests have a chance to taste it. Needless to say, most are surprised.

PINTO BEAN CAKE

- 2 cups sugar
 - 2 eggs
 - 1 1/4 cups flour
 - 1/2 cup oleo
 - 1 cup nuts
 - 2 cups whipped pinto beans
 - 1/2 t allspice
 - 1/2 t cloves
 - 1 t soda
 - 1/2 t baking powder
 - 1 t cinnamon
 - 1/2 cup coconut or more
- Drain off juice after cooking beans (do not put seasoning in the beans while cooking). Mix sugar, oleo and eggs. Add beans and dry ingredients. Mix well. Cook 1 hour at 350 degrees.

ICING

Powdered sugar, oleo, milk, vanilla. Combine to smooth consistency.

POLISH SAUSAGE SALAD

- 2 lbs. Polish sausage
 - 8 1/2 oz. sour cream
 - 1/2 cup vinegar
 - 1 T sugar
 - 1/2 small can jalapeno peppers
 - 1 can ripe olives
 - 1 can green olives
 - 1 red onion (ringed)
 - 1 bell pepper (ringed)
- Slice sausage and simmer for 15

Mrs. Alvin Parish

minutes. Drain and let cool. Mix all ingredients together. Store in refrigerator overnight. Stir good before serving and sprinkle poppy seeds on top.

Omit the hot peppers if you wish, for they make the salad rather hot.

PEAR RELISH

The fall is a good time to make pear relish, when all the pears are still green. This relish is especially good with red beans and corn bread. According to Gayle, her mother-in-law gave her this recipe when she was first married, and the Parishes have enjoyed it very much.

- 2 quarts ground peeled pears
- 4 green bell peppers
- 4 red bell peppers
- 4 large onions
- 1 quart sour pickles
- 1 quart cider vinegar
- 3 hot peppers
- 1 T salt
- 1 t each: Cinnamon, allspice, cloves, turmeric and celery seed
- 4 cups sugar

Grind all together. Cook for one hour after it comes to a boil. Stir occasionally. Makes about 8 pints.

PINEAPPLE SALAD

- #2 can pineapple chunks (drain, save juice)
- 1/2 apple peeled and chopped
- 1 cup pears chopped fine

JANE DEAN and STANLEY HAWKINS

Announce engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Dean are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Jane Ann, and Stanley Ray Hawkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hawkins of Wichita Falls. The date of the wedding has been set for February 28, 1981.

Miss Dean was graduated from Iowa Park High School in 1978 and is now employed at Cryovac. Her fiance, who is also employed at Cryovac, was graduated from Rider High School in 1974.

Cosmetology students are required to work a certain number of hours on live studies in order to adequately prepare for passing the state licensing examination. Rates are considerably lower than those at commercial businesses.

Pecan spraying need 'on hold'

We are still "on hold" as far as it goes to spraying for the control of the pecan weevil. Most pecans are still in the water stage, however, some have reached the dough stage prematurely. No weevils have emerged into the trap of Virgil Woodfin which are located in the Wichita Gardens area.

All of the pecans County Agent Don Decker has cut open with a knife have been still in the water stage. However, some growers are finding pecans in the dough stage. In cutting pecans with a knife, it is essential to cut through the kernel area. The kernel starts development at the stem end and develops toward the base. Emory Boring, Extension entomologist, is of the opinion the pecans are running behind schedule in their normal development.

Observers are expecting the first spray application will probably be made near Sept. 1. Two sprayings at 10-14 day intervals are required.

Jimmy Howell of Valley View reports the best pecan crop he's ever had since owning his orchard. This 10 acre orchard is under irrigation. He says, "I'm not taking any chances on the weevils destroying this crop. I have already made one application using Sevin and Torak." Two more sprayings will be made based on our weevil emergence dates.

Sevin is the best chemical for the control of weevils, Decker says.

Tommie Lane, a two pound, one ounce son, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lochridge in Fort Worth July 11. The baby is still in the Fort Worth Children's Hospital.

Autumn preparations for spring flowering

Gardeners anywhere can grow bulbs wherever the sun shines. Simply plant them properly in the fall, and they will burst triumphantly into bloom each spring for years to come.

Follow these instructions, based on the latest university research, to ensure that your bulbs live as long and bloom as bright as Mother Nature intended.

Preparing the soil

Prepare the entire planting area by loosening the soil to a depth of 10 to 12 inches. This makes it easier for tender roots to penetrate the soil, and it also improves drainage—an important factor in bulb growing. To improve drainage in heavy soil, add peat moss, sand or vermiculite.

Before planting, mix one ounce of bone meal and 4 1/2 ounce of fertilizer rich in phosphorus and nitrogen into each square foot of soil.

Without some added fertilizer, soil quickly becomes depleted of the nutrients necessary for continuing healthy growth.

Planting and watering

Set the bulbs firmly in place, with the pointed ends up. Plant tulips, hyacinths, daffodils and other large bulbs about eight inches deep and about six inches apart.

Plant smaller bulbs, such as crocus and muscari, four inches deep and about three inches apart.

In the deep south, planting should be four inches deep for large bulbs and two inches deep for small bulbs.

Fill the bed halfway with prepared soil, and water thoroughly. (This provides ample moisture directly around the bulb, settles soil and prevents air pockets.)

Then add the remaining soil, and cover with a two to three-inch deep layer of protective mulch—leaves, hay, straw or bark—and water again. Water the entire bed regularly until the first frost appears.

Mulches serve a variety of functions but most important is the stabilization of ground temperatures. They protect the bulbs from the cold in northern areas and from excessive heat in the south.

They further help to retain sufficient moisture during dry spells. In very cold areas, a deeper layer of mulch should be added in the fall and removed in the early spring before the bulbs begin to grow.

Spring care

When the first green shoots appear in the spring, feed the bulbs again with 4 1/2 ounce of nitrogen and phosphorus fertilizer per square foot. This insures an adequate supply of nutrition when your bulbs need it most: before, during and immediately after flowering.

After flowering

Once blooms have faded, remove them from the plants but allow the foliage to grow until it turns yellow. During this period the plants are building new bulbs and storing up food for next year's flowers.

If your bulbs are properly planted in well-conditioned soil and provided with the essential nutrients and winter protection, they should continue to burst into bloom reliably every spring for many years.

We have a big selection of lots and floorplans for families wanting to build a new home.
