July 4th: good, bad news

Independence Day is holiday for some, but work for others

There's good news and bad news whenever the Fourth of July rolls around.

The good news is that most residents will have an extended three-day holiday as the nation celebrates Independence Day Saturday, and the people will be enjoying fireworks displays, picnicking in parks and around lakes, boating, fishing, swimming, and in general, having a good time.

But the bad news is that some people will be working, especially members of fire departments who will be combating grassfires started by those thoughtless enough to not exercise good judgement when setting off fireworks.

Most of the business offices in Iowa Park will close Friday and Saturday. Confirmed closings include the State National Bank, post office, both utility office, city hall and the Iowa Park Leader. Retail sales places plan to be open both Friday and Saturday, according to those polled.

An unique event has been put together at Country Collections, the art gallery next to Gilmore Welding, by Mrs. Bill Gilmore.

From noon until night, members of the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department will be there to supervise children with their fireworks. A free service, it is made available in hopes that parents will take their children to the area where fireworks can be set off in a controlled area, rather than going out into the country and starting grassfires.

Donations will be accepted for the service.

A refreshment stand will be available during the day, manned by the Rotary Club. In addition, a form of garage sale will be held at the site. Restrooms will be available.

It is unlawful in the city of Iowa Park, not only to sell fireworks, but to set them off. According to Article 1, Section 8-2, "It shall be unlawful for any person to sell, offer for sale, or explode, any type or kind of fireworks, including firecrackers, torpedoes, rockets, Roman candles and any other types of explosives commonly used for such purposes, within the city."

Numerous complaints have already been answered by the Iowa Park Police Department, and more are expected as the holiday nears, according to Charles Whittingstall, chief.

Two fireworks displays are planned again this year in Wichita Falls. The first will be Friday evening at Sikes Center, and Saturday will be the traditional display at Sheppard AFB.

Sheppard will be open from 8 to 11 p.m. for the public, and its hour-long display will begin at 9:15 p.m. Entrance onto the base will be through the hospital gate and Missile Road gate, both off the Old Burk Road on the west side of the base.

Although some bleacher type seating will be available, it is suggested that spectators bring folding chairs or blankets to sit on, according to the base information office.

Grassfires could pose a major problem this year, because of the weeds and pastures have grown so deep due to an abundance of moisture in May and June. While the fires are serious problems during dry years, firemen are especially dreading this weekend.

Firefighters, civic leaders and county officials went to Austin this spring to try to get Texas to join other states who prohibit fireworks. The best they could get done was a law passed to take effect Sept. 1 that will outlaw bottle rockets.

Additionally, the Texas Department of Public Safety will be conducting "Operation Motorcade" for this holiday. To begin Friday evening and end midnight Sunday, all available troopers will be pressed into action to try to hold down drinking drivers and violators of the speed laws.

WICHITA COUNTY COMMISSIONERS COURT HELD MEETING HERE MONDAY ... small local turnout witnessed two-hour meeting.

County okays loan for local firm

Wichita County commissioners court appropriately timed taking action on a low-interest loan for an Iowa Park business to coincide with the court's meeting here Monday.

Commissioners met here as a part of their program to meet in each of the communities outside the county during the year.

One of two low-interest loans from bond sales enabling industries to expand manufacturing facilities approved Monday was for Production, Machine and Tool Co., which also does business as Mowery Gun Works, located on the Kamay Highway.

The local industry was approved for a $750,000 loan, while Dow Chemical was approved for a $2.8-million loan. Commissioners also passed a final resolution in support of a $7.5-million bond issue for Houston-Galveston Co., owners of Foster Cathed Co. in Wichita Falls.

Commissioners breezed through a 43-item agenda in less than two hours during their meeting.

At the conclusion, Judge Tom Bacus pointed out he and the commissioners were holding meetings in the surrounding county cities to encourage citizen attendance and awareness of county government.

Telephone solicitors bilking Iowa Parkans wanting to help

By KEVIN HAMILTON
History reveals that Americans are generous donors.

This is true, according to a newsletter from the Council of Better Bureaus, Inc., which states, "In 1979 alone, American support of philanthropy topped $43.3-billion, making charity one of the nation's biggest 'industries'."

With that in mind, it is safe to assume that some "less-than-honorable" money-seeker would work under the guise of a "charitable organization" to earn his profit-making company more dollars by taking advantage of generous donors who don't ask questions -- just give.

A totally profit-making company based in Peachtree City, Ga. is apparently using this method to sell light bulbs to local residents.

The firm, "United Helping Hand" has inundated this area with telephone solicitations. One Iowa Parkan, who asked to remain anonymous, purchased the bulbs, which range in price from $19.95 to $34.95 for a box of four, under the impression the company was a charitable organization.

"The caller told me the money was helping mentally retarded and handicapped youth," she said. "The only reason I paid such a price for the bulbs was because I thought they were a non-profit organization."

Not so, according to a representative of the Atlanta Better Business Bureau who said her bureau has received numerous complaints in the past, concerning "misrepresentation over the telephone" by the company.

"United Helping Hand has made restitutions to complaining parties in the past by either refunding the money or replacing the merchandise," the BBB official told the Leader by telephone. "But they do not fall under the guidelines set by the Council of Better Business Bureau."

Perhaps the biggest selling point for the bulbs is the five-year guarantee on each bulb. In the household, the bulb is guaranteed to give five years of service. In "...commercial, industrial or institutional use, your bulbs are guaranteed for five years or 10,000 hours, whichever comes first," the letter accompanying the bulbs explains.

But, according to a source close to the transport and delivery of the merchandise, "When a customer sends a bulb back for the 'free replacement guarantee,' he unknowingly has to pay freight costs for the replacement, which ends up costing close to $4."

Another point the source brought up was, "...do you know someone who would actually remember when he purchased the bulb, and if it actually works five years?"

For those who have received requests to make donations or purchase something for a charitable organization, the Better Business Bureau offers these 10 tips which, if used, may save you from making a serious mistake:

1. Give by check; never send cash--and your check payable to the organization, not the solicitor.
2. Use your head as well as your heart--ask questions. Legitimate charities with nothing to hide will encourage your interest.
3. Beware of appeals that bring tears to your eyes, but tell you nothing of the charity or what it's doing about the problems it describes so well.
4. Request identification when approached in person or by phone--and feel free to ask for facts in writing and the time to consider them.
5. It costs money to raise money--but don't hesitate to ask how much. Request the latest financial report to be sure most of the money raised is spent on charitable programs.

6. You're under no obligation to pay for or return unordered merchandise. In BBB experience, unordered items usually mean high fund raising costs, and are included with appeals in the hope donors will feel obligated to give.

7. When you're asked to buy merchandise or tickets to benefit a good cause, ask what the charity's share will be. If you care about the charity but not the merchandise or show, consider a direct contribution instead.

8. "If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is" applies as much to shady charity appeals as to any other scam.

9. Keep records of your charitable giving to document your charitable deductions at income time.

10. Call or write your Better Business Bureau for information about solicitations and soliciting groups before you give.

It may spell the difference between making a generous offering or being victimized by a group which cares nothing of supporting a needy cause, if you will use these suggestions.

Thefts, mischief reported to police

Two cases of theft and one of criminal mischief were reported during the past week to the police department.

Harry Skinner said sometime between Wednesday and Saturday, someone removed a 15-inch tire and rim, and electric sink from inside a pickup camper shell parked at his home at 100 E. Jefferson. The loss was set at $300.

Terry Ratcliff told police yesterday that he had washed his car at the local car wash, driven to another location to dry it, and when he returned, two fender skirts and four maroon floor mats he had taken from the car had been taken.

Sometime Thursday night someone reportedly slashed three tires on a vehicle at 802 S. Bond. Dwain Likin, who reported the incident, set the loss at $100.

Seal coating project scheduled for old Wichita Falls highway

The old Wichita Falls highway is destined for a seal coating, according to the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

Loop 370, which is the official designation for the two-lane highway after the 287 expressway was built, will receive a seal coat from FM 1814, or Bell Road, to Loop 11, formerly Beverly, in Wichita Falls.

The project is part of a huge highway rehabilitation and improvement program recently approved by the Commission.

Dist. Engineer Jimmy Stacks said the work in this area is part of a state-wide effort to modernize roads and highways which are worn out or inadequate for today's traffic.

A number of roads and highways in this part of the country are slated for work under the project.

The 1982 Rehabilitation and State

Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm to Market Road Improvement Program will cost an estimated $218.9-million. It includes 5,335.3 miles in 892 separate projects in 214 counties.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

Hillard, Kerr marriage ceremony held here Saturday evening

Miss Linda Michelle Hillard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hillard, became the bride of David William Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kerr, Saturday evening in a double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Ken Cole at Faith Baptist Church.

Members of the wedding party walked to the altar down an aisle bordered with hurricane lamps decorated with white satin bows and lily of the valley atop church pews.

The ceremony was officiated at an altar centered with a brass archway covered with greenery and white silk baby's breath. Illumination was provided by candles burning in two seven-branched candelabra. The kneeling bench where the couple knelt for prayer during a solo "The Lord's Prayer" completed the setting.

Mrs. Billy Hacker, organist, presented a concert of prelude selections including "Prayer from Suite Gothique," "I Love You Truly," "I Love Thee," "For You," and played "The Twelfth of Never" for the entrance of the mothers. Wendell Burnam, vocalist, sang "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face," "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer." Mrs. Hacker provided accompaniment and played the traditional wedding marches.

When the bride's father gave her in marriage for her parents, she was wearing a formal gown of white organza and cluny lace. The slightly raised bodice featured an open neckline trimmed in lace and pearls, and long bishop sleeves trimmed and cuffed in lace. The charm of the full skirt was accentuated with three tiers of ruffles forming a chapel train.

She chose a waltz length veil of illusion trimmed in lace caught to a Juliet cap. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white and varying shades of pink silk roses, stephanotis and gypsophila touched with white lace streamers.

Mrs. Kevin Myers, sister of the groom, took part in the wedding as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Susie Painter, Miss Tessa Johnson of Iowa Park and Miss Lori Copeland of Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Myers wore a long dark pink polyester crepe gown gathered on a square neckline with a matching chiffon cape. The bridesmaids were attired in pale pink polyester crepe gowns designed with lace bodice, spaghetti straps and matching short lace jackets. Each carried a nosegay of pink and burgundy mums, white and pink baby's breath finished with burgundy streamers.

Kim Knecht of Wichita Falls and Crystal Gayle Morgan of Garland, the flower girls, wore identical long pink chiffon dresses featuring skirts with white lace ruffles and chiffon apron-type overlays that created bustle-type backs. They wore pink silk floral headbands and carried white satin baskets filled with pink rose petals.

Allen Nance of Garland, the ring bearer, was attired in a black western-style tuxedo worn with a pink ruffled shirt.

The groom wore a white wing tip shirt and bow tie with his gray ascot-style tuxedo. The best man, groomsmen, ushers and candlelighters were attired in black western tuxedos and white ruffled shirts trimmed in black.

MRS. DAVID WILLIAM KERR

Monte Kerr, brother of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Kevin Myers, Monty Britt and Don McCormick. Ushers were Keith Hillard and David Hillard, brothers of the bride, and the candlelighters were Terry Hillard, brother of the bride, and Curt Morgan of Garland, her cousin.

At appropriate times during the service, the bride expressed her love for her mother and the groom's mother when she presented them with long-stemmed red roses. Mrs. Hillard wore a pink Qiana sleeveless gown overlaid with matching chiffon caught up at the bodice with silver beadwork. Mrs. Kerr chose a long mauve georgette dress fashioned with a fitted bodice, cape sleeves and layered handkerchief hemline. Each wore an orchid corsage.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Iowa Park High School and he is employed by C.E. Myers Truck Co. in Kamay. They will live in Wichita Falls at the Raintree Apts. When the couple left for a weekend at Turner Falls, Okla., the bride was wearing a white voile dress trimmed in blue with a blouson top.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at K-Bob's Steak House and the bride's parents were hosts for the wedding reception held in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Guests registered at a table draped with white lace over pink satin holding the bride's book, white plume pen, and an arrangement of pink silk roses combined with a white candle and two white ceramic doves. Miss Becky Ice of Nocona, cousin of the bride, presided at the table.

Miss Denise Lemons and Mrs. Jim Moore of Burkburnett served at the bride's table draped with white lace over pink satin during the reception. The top adornment for the three-tiered pillar-divided white cake decorated with pale pink icing roses lent special meaning to the confection because it was made by the groom's mother. Favorite bride and groom figurines were pictured standing under a pearl-beaded archway laced with silk flowers in shades of pink in the ornament.

The table decorations were completed with the silver punch service, silver tray filled with daisy-shaped mints, and bridal napkins lettered with "Michelle-K-David, June 27, 1981."

Of special interest on the groom's table laid with white lace over burgundy satin was the hexagon-shaped, two-layer cake made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Danny Treitsch of Wichita Falls, and decorated with a brass cricket box from which purple grapes overflowed. A cupid centerpiece was filled with a bowl of artificial grapes. Mrs. Treitsch and Miss Sabrina Martin of Fort Worth presided at the cake and silver coffee service.

During the reception, pink and burgundy satin rice rosebuds were handed to guests from a white wicker basket by Micheal Moore, Shane Treitsch and Cory Morgan, cousins of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Ice of Saint Jo, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hillard of Nocona, grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sanders of Bartlesville, Okla. and Mr. and Mrs. Vand Griffin of Wichita Falls, grandparents of the groom, were special wedding guests.

Other out-of-town guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Tommy Martin, Eric and Sabrina of Fort Worth, Tommy Morgan, Curt, Cory and Crystal, Corky Nance and Allen, all of Garland, Jimmy Ice and Bradley, Donald Ice and Becky, Barry and Paul, Edison Waldrip, all of Nocona, Chuck Frazier, Steve Byrd of Bartlesville, Okla.

Smallwood, Loucks vows said Saturday

Miss Cathy Laura Smallwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.G. Smallwood, and Arnold Duane "Buck" Loucks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Loucks of Petrolia, were married Saturday evening in a double-ring ceremony at the home of

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kinnett. Rev. Jim McCurley, pastor of West Side Baptist Church in Wichita Falls, performed the service.

The nuptial area was centered with an archway and candelabra traced with greenery.

The bride wore a formal length gown of white crepe designed with a scoop neck of lace and a gathered lace collar tied with satin ribbon. The lace sleeves terminated in wide cuffs and the back of the gown was accented with a satin ribbon bow. She carried a gypsophila and blue accents and long white ribbons that dropped toward the floor.

Mrs. Robert Kinnett, the matron of honor, wore a formal blue Qiana gown with a halter-type slightly-raised bodice covered with a dolman-sleeved jacket, and accordion pleated skirt.

Robert Kinnett attended the groom.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School and received a B.B.A. degree from Texas Tech Univ. where she has worked four years.

High School and is employed by Falls City Casing Pullers.

Mrs. David Hutchens and Miss Janet Thames were reception assistants for the wedding reception. A two-tiered decorated cake with multi-colored flowers was served.

Following a wedding trip to Angel Fire, N.M., the couple will live in Wichita Falls.

Out-of-town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Theodor Alexander, Kevin Lewis of Lubbock, Janet Thames and Kevin Thames of Breckenridge.

A diamond pendant made from a cuff link given to her by a great aunt added sentimental interest to the beautiful wedding gown made by her mother that Miss Janna Elizabeth Raley wore Saturday morning when she became the bride of Timothy Jay Rich.

The scene of the ten o'clock wedding was the St. Paul's Catholic Church in Electra. Rev. David Johnson, pastor, performed the double-ring rites to unite the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jefferson Raley III, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delos "Gus" Rich, all of Iowa Park.

The bridal gown, a picture of summer beauty, was fashioned of white bridal satin and imported Alencon lace. The lace covered the bodice featuring a pearl-beaded sweetheart neckline and a Queen Anne collar. The lace formed the long sleeves closed with satin-covered buttons at the wrists and a wide scalloped border at the hemline of the skirt and chapel train.

A Juliet cap of Alencon lace dotted with pearls held the bride's fingertip veil of illusion applied with lace motifs and defined with a fine white edge. The complementary silk bouquet carried by the bride consisted of white roses, stephanotis, starburst gypsophila and green rose leaves. A white satin bow at the top, lace and satin ribbon streamers enhanced its delicate beauty.

In keeping traditions, the bride wore the pendant for "something old," and her gown and veil for "something new." She wore earrings that belonged to her sister, Miss Valerie Raley for "something borrowed" and the "something blue" garter that her mother wore when she was married.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage for her parents.

The altar decorations followed a pattern popular with most brides today who are married in the church and featured floral bouquets, candelabra, the kneeling bench and unity candlestick. The floral arrangements were composed of fresh white gladioli and pink carnations and the seven-branched candelabra were entwined with boxwood accented with pink satin bows at the top. The face-to-face kneeling bench and unity candlestick were ornamented with the greenery and satin bows.

The pew markers, the handwork of the groom's mother, which was observed in the registry table and reception decorations, conformed to the impressive altar decorations. The large beaded hearts bordered with small hearts arose from puffs of pink net and white stephanotis atop white satin bows with long streamers.

Miss Valerie Raley, sister of the bride, pianist, and Mrs. Pat Loehrlein, vocalist, presented the wedding music. The latter sang "Longer" while mothers were being seated, "Treasures" during the lighting of the unity candle, and "Always and Forever" for the recessional. The pianist accompanied Mrs. Loehrlein and played the processional for the bridal party to enter the church and proceed to the altar.

Miss Teresa Rich, sister of the groom, directed signatures of the guests who signed the bride's book with a pink plume pen at a table in the foyer laid with white lace over pink. The appointments afforded the first glimpse of the ceramic angels that were highlighted in decorations in other areas. One of the heavenly figurines standing in clouds of pink net held two pink candles, one of them being in a holder accented with a pink satin bow that fell in streamers around the couple's wedding invitation engraved on a ceramic plaque.

Miss Andrea Dillon served as maid of honor for the bride. She was attired in a rosebud pink organza gown conforming to the newest fashion with a pleated bandeaux bodice, narrow shoulder straps and pleated skirt. She carried a natural basket of silk gladiola, carnations, rosebuds, starburst gypsophila and tulle puffs in shades of pink and white.

Miss Lynn Raley of Dallas, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She was clad in a white eyelet frock with puff sleeves, jewel neckline and a pink ribbon sash. She carried a smaller basket of flowers and accents in the honor attendant's basket.

Kelly Raley, another cousin of the bride, was candle lighter.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with tails and a solid white silk boutonniere of carnations and baby's breath. His father, who served as best man and other male participants wore gray tuxedos with tails.

Don Fritz and Mike Elwell were assigned duties of ushering.

As a gesture of love, the bride presented her mother and the groom's mother with long stemmed roses trimmed with pink net and ribbons during the service. Mrs. Raley selected an apricot crepe gown made with cap sleeves, ruffled neckline, high waistline and back tie. Her corsage was a silk apricot rose combined with starburst baby's breath. Mrs. Rich wore a yellow silk rose with baby's breath with her yellow silk crepe gown topped with a soft gauze capelet.

The wedding reception was given by the bride's parents in the Parrish Hall.

Special beauty of the bride's table draped with pink satin overlaid with white lace swagged with pink net caught up with pink silk stephanotis, lace and ribbons, was noted in the centerpiece, cake, silver punch bowl and napkins.

The center attraction was a clear hurricane globe filled with white silk gladiola, pink carnations and starburst baby's breath, banked with the same flowers and generous touches of pink net, and flanked by white ceramic kneeling angels. The beautifully-decorated cake lent itself to the pink and white color scheme in tiny white doves, cascades of pink frosting roses on the tiers and one set of filigree dividers, and a top ornament of white satin wedding bells and doves. The napkins were etched with wedding symbols and bore the names of the couple and their wedding date. Miss Judy Roberts served at the table.

The groom's table, covered with white lace over pink, was centered with a silver stemmed compote holding two kissing angels banked with the same flowers favored in the scheme of decorations. On either side, pink candles burned in single silver holders. The two-tiered chocolate cake frosted with chocolate roses and silver coffee service were other table appointments. Miss Becky Roberts and Mrs. Tony Huffman presided at the table.

Another table in the room held a special doll cake of two tiers. The doll wore a dress made from the material in the bride's wedding gown and lace from the gown trimmed her bouquet. She stood before a pearled heart matching the ones on the pew markers. The table also held a ceramic angel with candles, petits four and mints.

A garden scene in one area of the room featured potted plants and a bird bath filled with white and pink satin rosebuds holding rice for guests to shower the bridal couple with when they left for a wedding trip to Fort Worth, the bride wearing a soft green cotton knit sun dress. Stephanie Roberts distributed the rosebuds.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School, and the groom, who works as a carpenter for Hambrick and Craig, was graduated from Hirschi High School. They will live in Springtown.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents Friday evening in the Parrish Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Newman of La Perle, Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Raley of Baytown, the bride's grandparents, Mrs. Maude L. Weber of Houston, her great-grandmother, Mrs. Jack Rich of Houston, and Mrs. Clifford Roberts of Iowa Park, grandmothers of the groom, were special guests. Mrs. Clifton Roberts of Springtown was another out-of-town guest.

Cook of the Week

Certain foods are allied to certain holidays. Fried chicken and homemade ice cream have been associated with the July 4th holidays for many years. Many families will be celebrating the holiday Saturday at picnics and outdoor cook-outs while others will prefer to stay inside in their air-conditioned houses and keep cool. Whether inside or outside, one thing for sure is that homemade ice cream will be a grand finale to the meal.

Mrs. Charlie (Judy) Brown did not say whether homemade ice cream would be on the family bill of fare for July 4, but she is sharing two tempting recipes for the dessert today.

Ice cream has been a strong favorite of Americans since colonists from England brought the formula for making ice milk, as it was first known. Today it stands as something of an American symbol.

The first ice cream freezer suitable for family use was invented in 1864. Before that it was made in an "ice pot." A bowl containing the cream mixture was set in a pot filled with ice. The mixture was stirred until it thickened, then spun in the ice until it froze. Homemade ice cream had its heyday in America around the turn of the century when ice cream socials were a part of the American way of life. After that interest dwindled, but current enthusiasm for it has returned as a result of the electrification of the old-time ice cream freezer.

Judy Brown, a popular first grade teacher at Kidwell Elementary School for six years, resigned this spring when she purchased Wanda Adams' pre-school. The family also bought the house and moved in this week.

Mrs. Brown was graduated from Crosbyton High School and Abilene Christian College where she was a member of Ko-Jo-Kai, a social club. She taught second grade at Lubbock for three years before moving to Iowa Park nine years ago.

She and her husband, who is purchasing agent for G.H. Bear Inc., and also an expert knife maker and instructor, have two children, Becky, who will be a high school freshman next year, and Toby, who will enter the sixth grade next year. They are members of the Faith Village Church of Christ in Wichita Falls where Mrs. Brown teaches a class of first graders in Sunday school. Her hobbies are camping with the family, cooking and sewing.

Mrs. Brown's children requested her to submit their favorite recipes when she was asked to be the cook of the week, and she complied with their request. One of them, the Wetbacks Delight, is one that most young people seem to enjoy putting together themselves, Mrs. Brown has observed.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

The Fourth of July is to American patriotism what Christmas is to Christians.

And with Independence Day to be celebrated, it's worth mentioning that I met a real, live hero-type patriot last weekend in Fort Worth at the annual summer convention of the Texas Press Association.

Retired Master Sgt. Roy P. Benavidez became only the 12th recipient of the TPA's "Texan of the Year" award, and no one has been more deserving.

The El Campo resident was presented the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest military award for bravery, last February by President Reagan.

I understand this man, who offered his life repeatedly to save others in Vietnam, is so patriotic that he actually stands at attention and salutes even while watching television in his livingroom, and the American flag is shown or the national anthem is played. He is now spending much of his time speaking to youth groups, promoting and rekindling "good, old-fashioned patriotism."

Let me tell you some of the incident for which Benavidez was honored:

As a staff sergeant with the Green Beret group in Vietnam, Benavidez volunteered to help rescue a 12-man reconnaissance team that had been ambushed in a dense jungle area. Realizing that all team members were either dead or wounded and unable to move to the helicopter pickup zone, he directed the helicopter to a nearby clearing, where he jumped from the hovering aircraft and ran about 75 yards "under the withering small arms fire to the crippled team," reads the metal citation.

He was wounded in the right leg, face and head, but took charge and repositioned the team members, directing their fire so the helicopter could land.

Despite his wounds, Benavidez carried and dragged half of the wounded team members to the waiting aircraft. He then provided protective fire by running alongside the aircraft as it moved to pick up the remaining team members.

As the enemy's fire intensified, he hurried to recover the body and classified documents on the dead team leader. As he reached the body, Benavidez was severely wounded by small arms fire in the abdomen and grenade fragments in his back.

At almost the same moment, the helicopter pilot was killed and the aircraft crashed. Benavidez secured the classified documents and made his way back to the wreckage where he aided the wounded out of the overturned aircraft and gathered the stunned survivors into a defensive perimeter.

He distributed water and ammunition to the weary men and used a field radio to call for air strikes from supporting gun ships to prepare for another extraction attempt. He was wounded again in the thigh by small arms fire while giving first aid to a wounded team member, just before another extraction helicopter was able to land.

As he was helping the wounded to the second aircraft, he was clubbed from behind by an enemy soldier. In the ensuing hand-to-hand combat he sustained additional wounds to his head and arms from a rifle butt and bayonet before killing his adversary.

He also shot and killed two Cong who were approaching the helicopter from a direction in which the crew gunner could not fire.

And only after he had once again checked the area for any wounded Americans, he allowed himself to be dragged onto the helicopter and removed from the area.

I'll guarantee you that Saturday, July 4th, whenever I see an American flag, I'll salute, and feel in my heart I'll also be saluting Sgt. Roy Benavidez: hero, Texan, American.

Why has the cost of electricity increased so much?

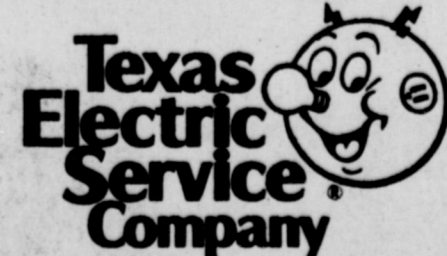

Mainly, fuel. Mainly, natural gas. We still have to use it to make more than half your electricity. Our fuel bill in 1980 was $198,900,000*; our estimate for 1981 is $450,000,000.

As the graph shows, Texas Electric's customers paid much lower fuel costs on their electric bills throughout the '70s. But now our biggest contract for low-cost gas has expired, and we have to pay the going rate.

Our lignite-fueled generating plants (and our nuclear plant in the future) will help protect our customers from rising gas prices.

You can help hold down your electric bill by conserving at home; learn how at one of our free Tighten-Up workshops, or request our conservation tips booklets.

Baca, Horn wedding vows recited Saturday

As the organist sounded the sweet strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, Miss Kimberly Jean Baca entered the sanctuary of First Baptist Church Saturday evening to stand beside Matthew Dean Horn, her betrothed, for the exchange of marriage vows.

Rev. Howell Farnsworth, pastor, officiated the double-ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D.W. Baca of Iowa Park, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leeman Horn of Burkburnett.

Arriving at the church for the wedding, guests were assisted with registering in the foyer by Misses Donna and Leera Guetterman of Schulenberg. The round table that held the bride's book, plume pen and the couple's wedding invitation framed in gold was draped with a floor length cloth of white polyester swagged around the top with apricot eyelet.

For the recitation of their marriage vows, the couple stood at the altar featuring a face-to-face kneeling bench backgrounded by a brass arch threaded with boxwood greenery and the meaningful unity candlestick. On either side were spreading arrangements of apricot tiger lilies in white porcelain urns lifted by tall matching stands. Votive candles burned in seven-branched candelabra at altar extremities to provide soft lighting and complete the decor. The church pews were topped with apricot silk bows with streamers.

Mrs. Glenn Schell, organist, presented a concert of prelude selections prior to playing the processional. Her offerings included "O Perfect Love," "Savior, Like A Shepherd Lead Us," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Panis Angelicus," "Liebestraum," and "Sanctus." She accompanied Norman Flowers for his vocal selections, "Wedding Song," and "The Lord's Prayer" and concluded her offerings with the traditional recessional.

A formal white organza gown designed with traditional elegance was chosen by the bride for her wedding. The gown was fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline enhanced with Venise lace appliques and long sheer sleeves cuffed in the lace. The rich lace was beautifully repeated on a hemline flounce of the full skirt that drifted into a chapel train.

The bride selected a two-tiered Alencon lace mantilla headpiece of fingertip length and carried a cascade bouquet of pixie carnations and roses in shades of apricot arranged with gypsophila.

She wore the wedding band of Mrs. W.W. Woods of Quitaque, her grandmother for "something old" and a garter crocheted by her grandmother for "something blue." She carried a handmade lace handkerchief made in Belgium, a gift from Miss Lisa Watson for "something new" and wore her mother's pearl drop necklace for "something borrowed."

The bride walked to the altar on the arm of her father, who presented her in marriage for her parents.

The bridal attendants, a matron of honor, and a trio of bridesmaids made an attractive picture in their long apricot chiffon gowns fashioned with blouson lace bodices, split sleeves and pleated skirts. They carried nosegays of pixie carnations in shades of apricot and baby's breath which emphasized the beauty of their gowns.

Mrs. Andy Sitgreaves, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Mark Simons of Temple, Texas, Mrs. Brad Costello of Iowa Park and Miss Lisa Watson of Dallas were bridesmaids.

The best man for the groom was Kyle Nickerson and groomsmen were Bill Horn, Scott Tucker and Jimmy Edwards. Ushering duties were assigned to Mark Gregory of Wichita Falls, Rodney Horn and Joe Horn of Fort Worth and Andy Sitgreaves of Iowa Park. The groom wore an all-white tuxedo with tails and ascot tie, and the male members of the wedding party wore toast tuxedos trimmed in dark chocolate.

Mothers of the bride and groom wore complementary corsages of apricot roses and pixie carnations with their formal gowns. Mrs. Baca wore a blue Qiana gown with a blouson bodice and wore a fingertip lace jacket with it. Mrs. Horn was attired in a toast Qiana long-sleeved gown with a sheer capelet.

Decorations for the reception hosted by the bride's parents in the Fellowship Hall possessed the quality of delighting guests and followed the same delicate theme that characterized the wedding in the sanctuary.

The bride's table was draped to the floor with an exquisite white lace cloth accented with garlands at the top caught by apricot satin bows with streamers. The centerpiece, featuring the bride's bouquet and attendants' nosegays stood out beautifully in the decor which included the cake, crystal punch service and napkins printed with the couple's names and their wedding date.

The three-tiered cake made and decorated especially for the occasion by the bride's cousin, Miss Cheryl Merrell of Quitaque, was worthy of much admiration. Built on an apricot lace border, the snowy white confection featured a square tier and two round tiers separated with Grecian pillars. Cascades of apricot frosting roses were deftly applied on the sides of the tiers to create interest and sprays of the roses that trailed from pillar to pillar to cover the divided tiers were a fascinating part of the decorations. The top ornament of three apricot satin bells rimmed with pearls and filled with lilies of the valley held by net frills played an important part in the eye appeal of the cake.

Miss Jana Smith of Lubbock, Miss Jayne Merrell of Quitaque and Miss Betty Stone of Wichita Falls served at the cake and punch service during the reception.

The groom's table was covered with beige lace over brown linen. It held a scroll-edged chocolate cake decorated in apricot lettering with "K H M," a bouquet of spring flowers in apricot hues and silver coffee service. Miss Karen Tullis of Burkburnett and Miss Jeana Smith of Quitaque presided at the table.

Cindy Guetterman handed out the apricot net rice bags from a basket on a white metal stand.

Members of the houseparty were Mmes. James Starkey of Plainview, Gail Gregg of Menard, Jimmy Davidson, Joe Edd Smith, Truman Merrell, all of Quitaque, Franklin Guetterman of Schulenberg, Ken Hines and John Cummings of Iowa Park.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at K-Bob's Restaurant.

The bride and groom are students at Midwestern State University where she is majoring in elementary education and his major is business. She was graduated from Iowa Park High School and is employed at B&B Dental Studio in Burkburnett. He was graduated from Burkburnett High School and works for Patterson Oldsmobile. They took a wedding trip to Lake Texhoma and are at home in Burkburnett.

The bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Woods of Quitaque were special guests. Others from out-of-town included Messrs. and Mmes. Gail Gregg and sons of Fort Worth, Bill Horn, James Huffaker, Darla and Sheryl of Burkburnett, Joe Edd Smith, Joe Kirk and Jeana, Jimmy Davidson of Quitaque, Curtis Baca of Houston, Arthur Junz, Franklin Guetterman of Schulenberg, V.C. Christian and Bill Starnes of Vernon.

Others were Mrs. Kate Fleming, Larry Lawson, Mart Gregory, Karen Tullis, Charles and Pat McCain of Burkburnett, Steve White of Dallas, Jon Davidson, Cheryl and Jayne Merrell of Quitaque, Jana Smith and Jimmy Don Davidson of Lubbock, Lt. Mark Simons of Temple, Mr. and Mrs. James Starkey, Steven and Tracy of Plainview and a number of guests from Wichita Falls.

Insect attacking shade trees

Twig girdlers are taking a heavy toll on shade trees and particularly on mesquite. Charles Tillery of Iowa Park is finding cut-off twigs in large numbers under his mesquite shade trees. Unfortunately, there is no chemical control for this pest. Fortunately the twig removal causes no serious threat to the affected tree.

This damage is evident by twigs about the size of a pencil being cut from a tree with a smooth, clean cut. In fact, the cut is so perfect, it appears to have been done with some type of sharp instrument. This is the work of the twig girdler, which is a large beetle about 1 1/2 inches long with an antenna much longer than the body. They work at night, so they are seldom seen. Eggs are laid under the bark of a twig. Then the twig is cut off of the tree by the girdler.

Tillery is combating this problem by picking up the falling twigs and destroying them. This will destroy the eggs in the twigs thus reducing the next generation. Since this pest never feeds on the tree, chemical control will not work.

The damage of the twig girdler makes the trees look ragged. However, it in no way endangers the tree. Actually, the pruning by the girdler tends to remove some of the leaf surface which in turn can help a tree to get through the hot, dry summer.

As spring vegetables go out of production, warm season vegetables can be replanted. R.L. Cramford has some beans which have about finished their production. He was wondering whether they should be left or plowed-out. I suggested he pull out the old beans and immediately come back with a replant of peas or beans.

Weather conditions are favorable now for replanting. Beans replanted now will be back into production by the middle of August, while black-eyed peas planted now will start bearing the later part of August. Other vegetables which can be summer planted along with the number of days to harvest include:

sweet corn - 70-90 days, cucumbers - 50-70, egg plant - 80-90, okra - 55-60, pumpkins - 75-100, and squash, 50-60. Pumpkins planted now will ripen just in time for Halloween.

The timing of the spray application for the first generation of the pecan nut casebearer was correct, according to an evaluation by Martin Raabe of Wichita Falls. He sprayed his trees on June 3 with Zolone. He has inspected the trees several times and has not found a single casebearer entry into any of the nuts.

His next spray application for the control of the second generation of this pest is scheduled for July 12-15. This is 42 days following the first application.

The timing of the casebearer spray was changed this year. An integrated pest management demonstration was established in the Jim Kuehler orchard. The actual findings of casebearer eggs and entry was used to determine the spray date rather than pecan banding which has been used for several years.

The telephone has been ringing off the wall about yellowing and browning of shade tree foliage. This phenomena occurs every year about this time as trees adjust from the cool, lush spring environment to the hot, drier summer days. Helen Simpson of Wichita Falls has an Arizona Cypress tending to shed foliage from this cause.

This condition is called leaf scorch, which is evident by marginal leaf burning. The leaves turn yellow with the entire leaf eventually becoming brown. This usually happens on the tips of the branches. In most cases, this condition should cause no alarm. It is the natural hardening-off process as the trees change to the summer time environment.

Rangers are champs

The Rangers, by virtue of two playoff wins over the Reds, are the Iowa Park Minor League champions.

It was the big bats of the Rangers that led them to 16-4 and 22-10 victories, but their defensive play should not be discounted.

In their first playoff, the Rangers held the Reds scoreless until the fifth inning, which the teams entered with the Rangers leading 11-0, and winning 16-4.

The second game started out like it was to be close, with the teams finishing the first inning tied, 5-5. But the Rangers scored in each of the five innings they batted, and won 22-10.

Vance Edwards, who had a double for an RBI in the first game, bashed a home run in the second game. Chris Hertzog's triple scored three, as did one by pitcher Charlie Smith.

MAJOR LEAGUE

Yankees 12, Pirates 2

Richard Morath, Jason Knecht, Tim Smith and Jason Yardley each had two hits for the Yankees, while Bret Barrick and Donnie Tyner matched them for the Pirates. The Yankees had 10 hits to the Pirates' six, but the Pirates could score only on the bottom of the fourth inning. Leading 4-2 after four, the Yankees wore out home plate with seven runners.

Girls' League

As of Monday, the Chargers are still in first place in the Beginner Division with a 6-1 record. They are followed by the Mermaids, 4-4, Rangerettes, 4-5, and Butterflies, 2-6. In the Intermediate Division, the Fireballs are still ahead with 5-2, Good News Bears 3-3 and Slick Chicks 2-5.

The Angels hold a 5-2 record in the Senior Division, while the Thunderbirds are 4-4 and Sizzlers 2-5.

The season ends this week with games played Tuesday and tonight.

State's crude production said lowest since 1965

Despite a ninth consecutive year of maximum production schedules (the maximum efficient recovery rate) in nearly all of Texas' fields, the state's annual output of crude oil and condensate last year fell below the one-billion barrel mark for the first time since 1965. Moreover, a downward production trend continued for the eighth consecutive year since Texas' output peaked in 1972.

The total of 960-million barrels included more than 931-million barrels of crude oil. Also produced was 29-million barrels of condensate, according to figures compiled by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

Last Year's production level showed a drop of more than 64.5-million barrels from 1979 output and was more than 330-million barrels below 1972 production of almost 1.3-billion barrels. Nevertheless, cumulative total since 1889 is almost 45.7-billion barrels of crude oil and condensate.

Wichita county, which has had recorded production since 1910, last year produced 5,980,457 barrels of crude oil and condensate at the rate of 16,340 barrels per day. Production in 1980 boosted Wichita's production total through the end of the year to 739,068,133 barrels.

Archer county, which commenced oil production a year later, 1911, produced 3,770,623 barrels last year, averaging 10,302 barrels per day. The county's total production at the end of the year now stands at 432,438,651 barrels.

Edwin L. Cox, president of the Dallas-based Association, noted that despite the drop in output there is a very encouraging trend in one aspect of industry activity: Since President Carter began a gradual phaseout of crude oil price controls on June 1, 1979, a phaseout accelerated by President Reagan, the number of wells drilled in Texas has skyrocketed.

Last year's total of 18,697 wells completed was the largest number since 1957, Cox noted. This compares with 16, 149 drilled in 1979 and only 7,728 drilled a decade ago in 1971. At that time, the average price of U.S. crude oil was $3.48.

"Although exploration costs continue to increase, the industry is committed to a policy of intensive drilling in Texas. It is hoped that successes with these wells will help offset further production declines this year and in the future," Cox said.

The other top varieties in the Hick's demonstration and their yield were Improved Triumph - 59.4 bushels, Maverick - 57.2, Sturdy - 56.4, Larned - 54.4, TAM 106 - 52.3, and Texred - 51.8.

Those with lower production are Rall - 50.0, TAM 105 - 48.9, Concho - 47.6, Sage - 46.9, TAM 101 - 42.0, Newton - 41.9, and Tascosa - 35.2.

Each plot was 7 drills wide and 64 feet long. The entire plot was harvested with Hick's combine and weighed separately. I rode in the bin catching and weighing the grain as each plot was harvested. Ray Hicks operated the combine, and I must admit he is one of the smoothest operators I have ever ridden with. Usually the operator throws me all over the bin as the combine is stopping, starting, turning, and backing. This was not the case with Hicks at the controls. It was a smooth ride all the way. It was not necessary even one time to hold onto the side of the bin to keep my balance. So, I'm trying to talk Hicks into harvesting all of my plots for me.

Rightfully so, wheat growers are slow to shift from old, dependable TAM 101 and Sturdy to a different variety. In my opinion, I think growers are wise to go slow on changing from a variety which has performed well for them in the past. My suggestion is to try Vona or any other variety on a limited basis. A few sacks can be planted on a farm for comparison to the variety normally planted on the farm.

Vona is a semi-dwarf hard, red spring wheat and Scout. Our growers are a little critical of it's test weight in some years, the light colored grain, and the tendency to be less drought tolerant when compared to TAM 101.

It's strong points have been the yield record and the short straw.

Onstott, Boughton vows are exchanged here Friday

Wearing a formal wedding gown of her own design and fashioning, Miss Linda Ruth Onstott, daughter of Mrs. Helen Ratcliff Onstott, and the late Mr. Onstott, met William Duane Boughton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Boughton of Alvarado, at the altar of First United Methodist Church Friday evening to become his bride.

The couple recited their double-ring marriage vows under the direction of Rev. Clyde Markee, minister of the First Christian Church. The setting featured two arrangements of pink and blue carnations and baby's breath in addition to the church's permanent altar pieces, an open Bible, gold cross and candlesticks on the altar table.

Mrs. Julie Bell, organist, furnished the musical setting, playing before the ceremony "Down in the Valley," "Love Me Tender" and "Tell Me Why," while the mother of the bride, Mrs. Ruth Onstott, her grandmother, Mrs. Billy Don White and Mrs. Phil Page, close friends of the family, were being seated. She played Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus for the processional, "I Can't Help Falling in Love with You" during the ceremony, then concluded with Beethoven's "Song of Joy" for the recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by Billy Don White, a longtime close friend of the family. She wore a formal gown of baby blue poly satin, ivory organza and ivory Chantilly lace. The bodice of the high-waisted gown was styled with a V-shaped collar and deep V-shaped yoke of ivory organza appliqued with the lace roses and edged with a wide ruffle of the scalloped lace that extended over the shoulders and formed a capelet.

The skirt that flowed into a chapel train was overlaid with ivory organza trimmed with the lace appliques that covered the skirt down to a floor ruffle of the blue poly satin. She wore a fingertip mantilla of ivory illusion edged with the chosen scalloped lace and rose appliques. She carried a cascade-style bouquet of pink and blue roses, lilies of the valley, stephanotis and pale blue scalloped ribbons.

Completing her wedding costume with bridal traditions, she wore a gold cross set with a diamond, the "something borrowed" from Mrs.

MRS. WILLIAM D. BOUGHTON

Jimmy Stout of Seymour. She wore her mother's diamond and gold wedding rings for "something old" and carried a lace-edged handkerchief, a gift from Mrs. M.K. Anthony, one of her high school teachers, for "something new". She completed the rhyme with the "blue" garter.

Mrs. Glenn Gordon, the matron of honor, wore a long pastel green Qiana knit dress. The bodice with a high-pointed waistline, was covered with green floral print chiffon which also formed the full circle butterfly elbow length sleeves cut with long points. She carried a white lace fan decorated with a spray of white silk gladioli, yellow silk carnations and green eucalyptus leaves.

The groom and masculine participants in the wedding wore light blue tuxedos with dark blue trim, the groom wearing a pink rosebud and a sprig of lily of the valley boutonniere. He was attended by Frank "Lighthorse" McCoy as best man. The ushers were Don Fritz and Rick Bird.

The bride's mother was attired in a gown made by the bride of cascade blue batiste overlaid with floral print voile. In design, it had floating butterfly voile sleeves, bodice and full skirt gathered to a pointed midriff band. She wore a white silk cattleya orchid accented with blue scalloped ribbon.

The newlyweds and her mother hosted the wedding reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

Mrs. Stephen Cawthon presided at the bride's book laid on a circular table covered with blue Victorian print cloth, made by the bride's grandmother who also made the white pique cloth for a table nearby holding a silver tray of blue net rice bags.

Mrs. Ralph Sickels and Miss Linda King served at the refreshment table draped with a white hand-crocheted cloth over pale blue polyester knit. The centerpiece was a hand-painted porcelain vase holding a colorful summer bouquet of purple Dutch iris, tiny yellow carnations, lilies of the valley, coral pixie carnations, blue anemones, stephanotis and small purple cattleya orchids.

The three-tiered cake lent itself to a spring garden theme of blue and pink petunias, bridal trumpets, roses and forget me nots featured in the sugar flowers that covered the cake and formed a centerpiece for the top tier. One set of sugar pillars gave extra height to the structure. The napkins designed with silver bells and floral garlands, and the crystal punch bowl were other table appointments.

The bride and groom toasted each other with two fine blue crystal glasses, their gifts to one another.

The bride was graduated from Wichita Falls High School and he was graduated from R.L. Paschal High School in Fort Worth. He is employed by B.W. Gordon Pipe Co. When the newlyweds left on their wedding trip to an undisclosed destination they were wearing matching western shirts that they had made from leno-weave cotton/poly broadcloth printed with coral pink flowers. They wore hand-tooled leather belts, jeans and western boots. They will live in Iowa Park.

The groom hosted the rehearsal dinner at Ken's Pizza. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Phil R. Page of Azle and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Stout of Seymour.

FORMER POLICE CHIEF

Campbell returning as local policeman

Former Holliday police chief Lomax Campbell was hired Tuesday afternoon to replace Larry Spencer, who resigned June 25 as Holliday's lone policeman.

Lomax, 53, is currently employed by the Olney Police Department, where he has worked since resigning as Holliday's police chief in 1976. He has a wife, Mary, and six children.

Holliday city councilmen met in a special called meeting Monday to screen applicants and, if possible, hire a new police chief at that time.

Out of six applicants for the position, councilmen narrowed their choices to three primary candidates, including Iowa Park policeman Raymond Russell, who was interviewed during the closed executive session.

"I was surprised at the number of applicants we had," Jim Hamill, city administrator, said. "Especially when Electra, Archer City and other cities in the area have been advertising for police recruits."

When council returned to open session, mayor pro-tem Jim Virdell explained that three primary candidates had been decided on, out of six candidates screened, explaining further that personnel had been discussed and Russell interviewed during the closed session.

The council then instructed Hamill to personally interview the three Tuesday morning, then name a replacement for Spencer.

Tuesday afternoon, Hamill decided on Campbell. "The fact that he (Campbell) has eight years experience, maturity, and has been police chief here before were the deciding factors in choosing him," Hamill stated.

Although Hamill couldn't say when Campbell would be able to start, he said it would be "... in the near future." In addition to working in law enforcement in Holliday and Olney, Campbell also worked for the Electra Police Department two years.

High school, athletic complex to receive fresh coat of paint

Local resident David L. Wylie was awarded the low bid for painting the high school building and athletic complex. The decision was made at a special called meeting of the Holliday school board Monday night.

Wylie's bid of $3,087.36 for labor only was lowest of four bids submitted. Trustees agreed to purchase a 55-gallon drum of paint for $675.

The highest bid submitted for labor and materials was $7,000 from Ralph J. Gardner of Burkburnett. Wylie's bid including materials was also the lowest of the four at $3,900. Fire Craft Construction's bid was $6,300 including materials, and W.T. "Dub" Crawford, Jr. of Iowa Park submitted a bid of $3,460.

After awarding the bid to Wylie, trustees went from open session into executive session on a motion from trustee Durhl Caussey. When the board reconvened in open session two hours later, no formal action was taken resulting from discussions in closed session. Although the executive session was not on the meeting's agenda, Caussey stated that executive sessions aren't required to be listed on agendas when they are emergencies.

In other business, trustees agreed to have a restroom installed in the south wing of the elementary building for kindergarten students, and an exit door in the science lab of the elementary building.

Beisch, Stewart wedding held at Kamay Baptist Church

Altar decorations for the marriage ceremony of Miss Rae Nell Beisch and James Robert Stewart officiated Saturday evening at Kamay Baptist Church were keynoted by beautiful simplicity. A brass archway entwined with ivy flanked by spiral candelabra holding tall white candles and the unity candelabrum accented with white wedding bells provided the impressive setting. The white silk bows on church pews were touched with apricot silk flowers.

The double-ring ceremony that united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin E. Beisch of Route One, Iowa Park, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Stewart of Uvalde, was performed by Rev. Frank Ashby, pastor.

A musical background for the wedding was provided by Miss Lee Ann Brixey, pianist. Her prelude selections were "My Sweet Lady," "You Needed Me," "Annie's Song," "Love the World Away" and "Still." She played "The Lord's Prayer" during the service and the traditional wedding marches for the entrance and exit of the bridal party.

The bride's father, who escorted her to the altar, answered the minister's question, "Who giveth this woman in marriage?" with "Her mother and I."

The bride wore a lovely princess-style gown of white bridal satin overlaid with Chantilly lace. The bodice was distinguished with a high scalloped neckline over a modified scooped neckline and long sleeves that terminated in deep cuffs accented with pearl buttons and lace loops. A deep pleat from the waist to the hemline provided skirt interest in the back.

The bride's waltz length veil of illusion made by her mother fell from a beaded-lace Juliet cap. To complete her costume, she carried a silk bouquet of white and vari-shaded apricot carnations, gypsophila with a cascade of English ivy.

She wore a peach and cream-colored cameo for "something new" and carried her mother's Bible covered with white lace for "something old and borrowed," and followed the tradition of wearing the "blue" garter.

Mrs. Robert McLaughy was matron of honor and Miss Cindy King of Houston was maid of honor. Mrs. Ervin Beisch Jr., the bride's sister-in-law, was bridesmaid. Their identical floor length gowns were fashioned of floral apricot organza over apricot crepe and designed with fitted bodices, wide scoop necklines bordered with wide circular ruffles and short full sleeves. The A-line skirts fell from waistlines encircled with matching ribbon sashes that tied in square knots in the back, then dropped in streamers to the hemlines.

The attendants wore off-white floss hats defined with apricot ribbon interwoven in the bands that tied in square knots at the back then dropped to fingertip length. They carried raw wicker fans that held their bouquets of silk apricot mums, yellow stephanotis and baby's breath.

Miss Amanda Beisch and Miss Anginette Beisch, the bride's niece and cousin, the flower girls, walked to the altar immediately in front of the bride and her father carrying wicker baskets filled with miniature carnations in shades of apricot and peach and baby's breath. They wore long dresses made of the same material in the attendants' gowns styled with plain necklines, puffed sleeves and ribbon sashes. They wore matching ribbons in their hair.

Ross Alex Beischer, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer and carried the rings on an apricot satin pillow trimmed with lace. He was attired in an ivory western tuxedo like those worn by the groom and all men who participated in the wedding. The groom wore a white silk carnation boutonniere.

John Echols of Greenville, Miss. was best man. Scott Clark and Danny Naylor of Vernon were groomsmen. Ushers and candlelighters were Ervin Beisch Jr., brother of the bride, and Joe Tom Collins.

Both mothers wore long peach gowns for the wedding. Mrs. Beisch wore a crepe dress made with empire waistline, pleated skirt and matching cape jacket. Mrs. Stewart was attired in an empire-waisted knit dress designed with pleated skirt and matching sheer jacket. Their corsages were formed of silk apricot and peach cushion mums and baby's breath.

On the eve of the wedding, the groom hosted the rehearsal dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Beisch at Clear Lake Ranch.

The wedding reception was given at the church by the bride's parents.

Mrs. Larry Beisch sat at the table where guests signed the bride's book with an apricot plume pen. Covered with white lace over apricot polyester, the floral touch to the table was given through peach and apricot silk flowers in a bud vase.

The bridal attendants' fans were grouped with the flower girls' baskets to form an attractive centerpiece for the bride's table covered with apricot polyester overlaid with white lace.

The three-tiered white cake was a picture of beauty from every perspective. The base of each layer was bordered with frosting stars draped with stringwork and reverse shell borders trimmed the tops. Shaded apricot drop flowers and sprays of lily of the valley decorated the sides of the two lower layers, and the two sets of filigree dividers were trimmed with clusters of the drop flowers. The top tier was encircled with lilies of the valley and pale green leaves and topped with a miniature bride and groom in formal wedding clothes standing under a beaded arch trimmed with apricot net and flowers and white silk leaves.

Miss Bebbie Hoke and Miss Gwene Gates served at the bride's table which also held the crystal punch bowl and ivory bridal napkins accented with brown roses and "Rae-Bob, June 27, 1981."

The interesting appointments on the groom's table laid with white lace over brown were a brass cuspidor filled with peach, brown and beige carnations and the chocolate cake. The top of the sheet cake was iced to give it the appearance of a yard where two children were at play. A miniature girl doll dressed up in her mother's clothes, shoes, hat and purse had roped a boy dressed like a cowboy and was dragging him across the yard.

Wicker fans held the peach, apricot and ivory satin rice rosebuds that were handed out during the reception.

Reception assistants were Mmes. S.M. Bradberry, Eldon Dowell, Buddie Bridwell, Jimmy Bradberry, Pete Shook and Miss Laura Dowell.

Following the reception, the newlyweds departed for a wedding trip to the Big Bend area, the bride traveling in a sleeveless apricot knit dress with a pleated top, high collar bordered with a small ruffle that formed a V in front. She wore an apricot silk rose corsage.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School and attended Texas A&M University. She has been working as secretary for Continental Emco. The groom was graduated from Uvalde High School and received a B.S. degree in agriculture economics from Texas A&M Univ. He is a sales representative for American Cyanamid and the couple will live in Vernon.

Mrs. Claude Beisch of Kamay and Mrs. Marion Wood of Wichita Falls, grandmothers of the bride, were special wedding guests. Others from out-of-town were Miss Robin Roundtree and Snapper King.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 21 de Julio de 1981, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 15.8 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell.

Carender, Beggs wedding held in Wichita Falls

Glowing tapers provided the illumination for an impressive service which was performed Saturday evening at the Tenth and Broad Church of Christ in Wichita Falls to unite Miss Lori Lee Carender, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Carender of Iowa Park, and Bradley Keith Beggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Beggs of Fort Worth.

Lynn Rhodes, minister, officiated the double-ring ceremony in the candlelit setting where votive candles burned in fan-shaped candelabra centered with a spray of silk flowers in the bride's colors of pink, blue, yellow and green, and in pyramid candelabra trimmed with boxwood greenery and a white silk bow.

The unity candlestick was accented with a single yellow silk rose encircled with the silk flowers in pastel shades tied with matching ribbons and streamers. The front edge of the altar was covered with the greenery and flowers.

The church pews were decorated with miniature bouquets of silk flowers in pastel shades and cascading streamers attached to small lace fans.

The wedding music, presented by Miss Kristi Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Grisham, Mrs. Jody Goldman and Jackie Grisham, featured ensemble, duet and solo numbers.

Miss Hudson and Mrs. Goldman sang "The Rose" and Mrs. Hudson and Mrs. Goldman offered "Wedding Song" for prelude duet numbers. The group sang "Sunrise, Sunset" during the ushering and seating of mothers and grandmothers, "If" for the processional, "God, Man and Woman" while the bride and groom lighted the candle to seal their vows, and "Be With Us, Lord" for the recessional. Tony Grisham contributed "The Lord's Prayer" for a solo near the close of the service.

Escorted by her father who gave her in marriage for her parents, the bride wore an exquisite formal gown of white silk organza over peau de soie enriched with Chantilly lace to compliment her youthful beauty. The lace added beauty to the gown in a bodice overlay, wedding ring neckline, a wide border showered with sequins around the sheer yoke that formed a capelet over the shoulders then dipped in the back. The lace sleeves terminated in ruffled cuffs trimmed with organza-covered buttons and the full skirt fell gracefully into a chapel train.

Her lace-trimmed veil of bridal illusion fell from a Juliet cap of lace and pearls and flowed to chapel length. The silk bridal bouquet consisted of white orchids, miniature pastel carnations and yellow rosebuds designed in a traditional crescent style and it was carried on a white lace-covered white Bible that the bride's mother carried at her wedding. The orchids in the bouquet were lifted out later for the bride to wear with her going away dress.

The Bible was used for both "something old and borrowed, and the bride wore her "new" gown, "blue" garter and good luck penny to complete traditions.

Mrs. Charles Beggs of Wichita Falls, the groom's sister-in-law, took part in the wedding as matron of honor. She was attired in a long pink sheer dotted swiss dress fashioned with a carefully shaped scoop neckline bordered with a wide Chantilly lace collar. Claspings the gown at the waistline was a sash that tied in the back, and the full skirt featured a wide hemline flounce. She wore a ruffled headpiece covered with flowers to match her dress, and silk carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath were fashioned into her bouquet attached to a white lace fan.

Mrs. Albert Alambar, Miss Melissa Beggs of Fort Worth, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. Their gowns, headpieces and flowers were duplicates of those selected for the honor matron, except for color. Mrs. Alambar wore blue and Miss Beggs wore green.

Miss Jana Carender and Miss Julie Carender, twin sisters of the bride, were ring bearers and flower girls. They were clad in yellow frocks styled the same as those worn by the attendants. They carried the flowers attached to white net baskets trimmed with Chantilly lace which held the yellow satin pillows where the rings were secured. They wore wrist corsages of miniature pastel carnations, yellow rosebuds tied with yellow ribbons.

Beige tuxedos trimmed in chocolate brown were worn by the groom's attendants and fathers of the couple. He chose an all-white tuxedo with tails and wore a boutonniere formed of carnations in spring hues.

Robert Beggs of San Clemente Calif., brother of the groom, was his best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Bobby Moore of Graham and Charles Beggs of Wichita Falls, another brother of the groom.

To complement the gowns they selected for the wedding, mothers of the bride and groom wore shoulder corsages formed of full bloom white silk roses and baby's breath. Mrs. Carender wore a long pink crepe gown with spaghetti straps accented with a floral print pink sheer cape made with long sleeves and ruffles at the neck and wrists. Mrs. Beggs wore a long aqua polyester empire-waisted gown styled with round neck and long sleeves.

The round registry table in the church foyer, covered with white lace, held a white vase of spring flowers in pastel hues, the book and feather pen. Mrs. David Carender secured signatures of guests.

Following the wedding, the bride's parents were hosts for the reception at the church. They were assisted by Mmes. Jackie Grisham, Phil Hudson, Evelyn Black and Miss Kristi Hudson. Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Cecil Hudson and Mrs. Jackie Grisham.

In decorations of the room, the bride's chosen colors were emphasized, especially on the refreshment tables.

The bride's table draped with blue lace over blue satin held a bouquet of silk roses, daisies and anemones accented with two white feathered doves in the center of a branched silver candelabrum bearing lighted candles for the centerpiece.

The three-tiered cake was a white confection decorated with petalled velvety-pink, blue and yellow icing roses clinging to the sides in cascades, and two sets of Grecian pillar dividers. The top tier was held aloft by the pillars and crested by white feathered doves. The cake and silver punch service marked table extremities, and the napkins lettered with names of the bride and groom and their wedding date added bits of romantic interest.

The cloth on the groom's table duplicated the one on the bride's table. The unusual centerpiece was a mailbox painted white, lettered with Mr. and Mrs. Brad Beggs and filled with pastel silk flowers "mail." The interlocking rings chocolate cake trimmed with pastel colored frosting roses and silver coffee service completed table appointments.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Iowa Park High School. She was listed in Who's Who two years, belonged to V.O.E. and is employed by the city of Iowa Park. The groom is a senior caster for Howmet Turbine Corp. They went to Dallas on their wedding trip and are now at home on Huntington Lane, Wichita Falls.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents Friday evening at the church.

Out of town wedding guests were Mrs. Pete Rust and Deloris, Lynn McIntosh, Tracy Hainline of Lawton, Okla., Mrs. David Lambert of Durant, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Donald Satterfield, Mrs. Darla Davis and Amanda, Darlene Morse of Irving, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie McDaniels of Oklahoma City. Others were Mrs. Willie Lou Carender of Kingsbury, Calif., Mrs. Freddie McAden, Mrs. Lollie McAden, Mrs. Woodrow Ayne, Charles Lindsey, all of Denison, Texas, Mrs. Herbert Anderson, Mrs. George Raef and Mrs. Jim Donaldson, all of Amarillo.
