The Iowa Park city council Monday night approved an ordinance granting a 1.5 percent rate increase for Texas Electric Service Company, for less than the utility company had sought. Passage of the rate ordinance came after six days before the utility company could have set its own rate, under state law, after having been requested by the city. The city had examined a 2 percent delay in the request.

The amount of the increase, 4.7 percent, is considerably less than the 8.8 percent requested by TESCO, and less also that the 8 percent reportedly recommended by the Texas Public Utility Commission.

However, since the PUC has not yet approved a final hearing and agreed upon any other city, city officials took upon themselves to adopt a rate increase by a firm hired by the Texas Municipal League and study the request.

To adopt the ordinance, it is expected TESCO will immediately appeal to the PUC and probably request that it be combined with the final decision. The City Administrator Gene Britton told the council Monday night several other cities served by TESCO are reportedly also adopting the same ordinance.

Because he also approved a proposal which authorizes Mayor Johnny Crawford and Britton to negotiate the purchase of materials and construction of a 12x24 foot steel building to house the new bid board purchased for the sanitary landfill.

The motion contained a specification that the total price could not exceed $5,000, with the money to come from the contingency fund. The same contingency fund was tapped for $1,000 to pay the city’s share of the construction of the Recreation Center swimming Pool building.

However, during vandalism, Britton said, the council should have continued the action of the full council.

Commissioners said the full council approved construction of the bath house, for an estimated $6,000, and the council had $5,000 in hand at the time.

Several members approved a resolution that the council notify the citizens of the upcoming hearing.

The council agreed to pay the city’s share of the total price for the sanitary landfill.

In Quail Valley, a municipal building was to be constructed.

The council voted to pay $1,343.63 in its fund at the time.

Aldermen also approved a proposal which authorized the City Administrator to negotiate for the sanitary landfill.

The result was read aloud, stating:

"I deeply appreciate for the outstanding work you have done while in this job. I am writing you this letter of resignation to the city council with sorrow that I take this action, but unanimous approval to pay the bill, which was expected to be paid in two months, and continuing to see you become a better man."

"The Brittons built their home in Quail Valley."

After the reading of the letter, the mayor moved and seconded that the administration "I want to express our appreciation for the outstanding work you have done for the city." He then quoted a statement that Admiral John D. Bolt had in his department, apparently written down in the few minutes the council was in session.

Britton resigns as administrator

Gene Britton, Iowa Park’s first city administrator, tendered his resignation to the city council Monday night to accept the position of city manager of Porter council.

An announcement of the resignation came following a personnel meeting of the council, closed to the public, which lasted approximately an hour.

"I hereby tender my resigna tion as City Administrator effective 27 Oct., 1978."

Hit and run is reported

An Iowa Park youth earned serious injuries Tuesday night when she was struck as she crossed a road by three men. The vehicle made contact with the near left arm, and the arm was bruised. No suspects have been apprehended, police said.

Mary Brown Williams reported the theft of her vehicle Tuesday night at 8:20 p.m. from a driveway. The theft was not reported until Monday from S11 E. Coast. The money was taken from under a drawer in a bedroom.

Although there were witnesses to the forced entry or other disturbances, police found a window unbroken and the door back was not broken. Last Friday police received a report from Rhonda Waddell, 418 W. Louisa, who said someone had broken the license plates from her vehicle.

Bob Dawson big hit as banquet speaker

The consensus among the ex-students of Iowa Park High School who attended the annual banquet Saturday night was that the after dinner speech by Bob Dawson was the highlight of the function.

Dawson, who attended the Iowa Park High School in the 1940s, was the emcee of the event. He introduced the speaker, Robert Wilcox, president of the Iowa Park High School Alumni and Ex-Students Association.

Wilcox's speech was a reflection on the values of the past and the importance of remembering them in the present. He spoke about the importance of education and the role of the community in supporting it. He also discussed the challenges facing the younger generation and the need for them to build on the foundation laid by the past.

The consensus was that Wilcox's speech was a big hit, and that it was a fitting tribute to the efforts of the Iowa Park High School Alumni and Ex-Students Association. The event was well attended, with over 200 people in attendance.

New officers are elected

Officers of the Iowa Park High School Alumni and Ex-student Association were elected at the annual banquet Saturday night.

Robert Wilcox was elected as president, and Jim Medlinger was re-elected as second vice president. Danny Parkerson was elected as first vice president, and Josephine Ellis Patterson was elected as corresponding secretary.

The other officers elected were:
- Ruth Dorris Gard, treasurer
- Carolyn Mahler Richter, recording secretary
- Betty Chauncey Cole, second vice president

The officers will serve during the 1979-1980 fiscal year.

TRAVELED FARTEST

Jeanette Van Horn Short traveled from Kirkland, Wash., to attend the Iowa Park High School Alumni banquet Saturday night and won the prize for traveling the farthest. She discussed her trip with Robert Wilcox, retiring president of the association.

We hope you enjoyed our hospitality and took the time to see the interior changes we've made.

Last year, using lignite coal saved Texas Electric's customers $48 million, It's a step in the right direction.

Texas Electric engineer Damon Holditch said, "This year the cost of lignite coal was about $2.5 million, That means you saved $45 million to our customers.

Prior to 1972, Texas Electric used coal as its primary source of electricity. However, in 1972, the company began using lignite as a fuel. This decision was based on the fact that lignite is a more efficient and cheaper source of energy than coal.

Since then, Texas Electric has continued to use lignite as its primary source of electricity. The company has invested heavily in lignite mining and processing facilities, and it now produces more than half of its electricity from lignite.

The use of lignite has had a significant impact on the company's bottom line. By using lignite, Texas Electric has been able to save its customers over $48 million in the past year alone. This is just one example of how the company is working to provide dependable, economical electricity to its customers.

Bumble bees beneficial, but can be a problem

By DON D. DECKER

County Agent

Bee headlines may be beneficial, but however, when they are. It's not uncommon for bumble bees to be a problem when they are. However, they can be beneficial if they are controlled. Bumble bees are known for their ability to pollinate flowers, which helps in the production of fruits and vegetables. Bumble bees are also known for their ability to control pest populations, such as aphids, by preying on them. However, they can be a problem when they are. In some cases, they can cause damage to crops and gardens. Therefore, it's important to control bumble bees when they are. This can be done by using natural predators, such as ladybugs, or by using insecticides.

This one was written to show what good health could be had for housewives who went through experiences in a real life situation. We do not know if a housewife may have experienced a similar situation, but we do know that she had a good head of knowledge.

Mrs. Miller was the top shelf of her refrigerator to display the contents. She did not try to squeeze in just one more item, such as a jar of pickles. It is particularly true if there is only enough space for two or less of the bottom of the pickles jar to rest upon. Had this simple rule been followed, the jar would not have fallen out of our refrigerator when we opened the door Monday night.

Walking nomads, for charity sake

By LEWIS SIMMONS

Their home is a tent, and their loyalty is of iron. No hot showers, no soft beds, no color television. Where they go they walk.

But as the signs say on the side of their trailer, "Reach! Don't waste your money."

Nonetheless, the Davises were in a pick when they entered Iowa Park last week. They were almost out of money and food.

"We're a poor man. We're on our way through," said Davis with a smile, further adding, "The $200 they started with when they left Durango, Colo., July 9 was exhausted."

Their financial situation was brightened when the couple landed a job Friday at the municipal water plant here, not far from the same location on the eastern edge of Lake Gordon. With a surprisingly complete resume it was, considering all their belongings are transported on a four-wheeled plywood trailer powered by a hand-powered engine.

The engine was added at Chico, Texas, trudging their average mileage of 25-30 miles daily. The trailer transports personal, and kitchen supplies, dishes, food, gasoline and oil, space mats, sleeping bags, tarp, tent, folding chairs and table, three gallons of water, toilet paper and a 10 inch metal barrel nicknamed "the bath tub."

The entire rig weighs about 300 pounds including two barbecue cookers in tow. Because of the weight problem, ice is a luxury they do without.

When the facilities are available they try to stay in regulated campgrounds where safety and showers are available. Their pick camp is the last week. They were almost out of their trailer, "Relax! We don't want to camp on the shores of Lake Gordon. We belong from extreme heat, blisters and an abnormally hot Mrs. Davis, developed, the couple has had only one serious encounter.

Near the Continental Divide in northern New Mexico a bear attacked their camp, chased Davis up a tree and drove away their supply. The closest supplies were 40 miles away.

"The only thing the bear didn't eat was the oatmeal," Davis said. For two days they lived on oatmeal and the fish Davis was able to catch. The obvious question was why, would a 450-pound man and his 30-pound wife attempt such an undertaking?

"My big much pet me into this one," said Davis, who is writing a book about their adventures.

In 1974 the couple covered 5,287 miles in feet on foot in honor of America's bicentennial. During a television interview in Philadelphia Davis was asked if they would do anything like it again. For charity, Davis said, it would be considered.

The response from charities was overwhelming, and Davis says he's a man to go back on his word. It's the same spirit that keeps him going when the going gets rough on this undertaking.

Mean Green defense too stingy for Friars

Iowa Park’s Mean Green defense almost held the Friars of Bishop Lynch to zero points as the Hawks earned a 12-0 victory before an enthusiastic crowd of IPHS homecoming celebrants Friday night.

The defense dominated not only the visiting Dallasites, but accounted for five points on the scoreboard in the final quarter. Two of the points were on a safety after Mean Green Tim Blackwell, Blaine Kidwell and Terry Taylor covered a Dallas fumble to set up the score, and kicked the extra point to give the Hawks a 7-0 lead winding up as fumbles lost.

The second one was for a minus six yards, but out of bounds on a pass play the Mean Green defense required.

TROY THOMPSON picks up seven yards around his Id t and his bare right foot sent the ball sailing 42 yards through the uprights.

Early in the final stanza, Taylor pulled the ball 20 yards, then at the Friar 15. A jarring tackle by Tim Blackwell jarred possession of a Friar fumble to end the threat.

TROY THOMPSON picks up seven yards around his left end during third quarter play against Bishop Lynch. "The senior has been working out with the team one week. And they were."

Juniors high posts wins over Graham

Iowa Park's junior high football teams proved again on Friday evening that they can run with the big boys. The seventh grade gridmen ousted Blackwater's junior high team 28-6, while the Mean Green eighth graders nosed past the Bears 22-6.

In the seventh grade contest, Blackwater's eighth grade qb, Tony Cavinder, supplied the only significant score of the game, a 44-yard TD from four yards out, then returned for the extra point run.

Iowa Park's junior varsity got to see the winning side of the scoreboard again this week, defeating Decatur 36-0. The Bears were unable to score only in the third quarter.

This week's action was early season, as numbers were not as high as they will be later in the year.

The Freshmen on the Hawks roster were most familiar with the game, having seen each other twice in practice.

Seymour game building excitement

Griffins fans hungry for more excitement after the field day Holiday had with Henrietta last week should get their appetite satisfied tomorrow evening when the Eagles travel to Seymour. The contest will kick off at 7:30 p.m. and should be a fast-paced affair, and if history proves its self a contest will be exciting.

The two pointed positions teams will enter the contest with 3-1 season marks. Seymour opened Monday 7-2 in a season opener. The Panthers came back the next week to push off Crowd 60-0. The nursery won by their first defeat of the year last week to Holliday bottled them 20-7.

Coach Don Lucy and the varsity unit should be near top physical condition in time for Friday night's ballgame, including runningback James Porter whose injured thigh had him doing parttime duty last week.

Elsewhere in District 14-A, here's how things were shaping up as far as pre-conference standings.

Petrolia, who took their season opening the year in on top with a 7-0 record. They beat last week's opponent, Weiss, has added some validity to the season marks. Weiss and Anchor City each are 1-2, while Chico is 2-1, and Holliday on a sweep that is, with a 3-0 record.

Texas may not have to pay for food stamps

Texas participating in the food stamp program will soon be able to save much of its own money for other purposes.

The purpose of the Food Stamp Act is to help the poor in the United States. In many cases, the households are the only ones who will be able to function on the extremely low food stamp amounts. The program is administered by the Department of Human Resources (DHR) and is controlled by the Secretary of Agriculture (USDA) which passes the money on to the states.

The Texas Hoard of Agriculture (USDA) which administers the food stamp program, has decided that the rules concerning food stamp participation will be treated as confidential by the public. Therefore, the department cannot release any information concerning the food stamp program to the public.
