

Library construction funding said confusing

Frustration, confusion, legality and doubt were the key words, dominating a lengthy discussion concerning construction of a new library building, during Monday night's meeting of the city council.

Mrs. W.A. George told the council the library board was ready to receive the $20,000 pledged by the city toward construction, but Mayor Johnny Crawford said he didn't understand the money was to be delivered until all the financing had been arranged.

Crawford also wanted confirmation from a federal agency that the city could legally contribute the money from the revenue sharing fund, if the library board intends to build without seeking competitive bids.

Mrs. George explained the library board felt it should go ahead and use the city-pledged funds to pour the flooring of the structure, which will be located at Wall and Cash, where Park Hotel once stood.

She said soliciting donations from local individuals and grants from foundations would be enhanced if some progress were visible.

"I don't think it would be prudent of the council and the board to give money to something we don't know whether will ever come to completion," Crawford said.

The library board has set a goal of $200,000 to build the building, but it may take two to three years to complete, Mrs. George told the council.

She said she was frustrated because she thought that once the $20,000 had been pledged by the council she would receive the money.

Attorneys O.N. Newman and Bruce Martin were summoned to give legal advice as to whether the federal revenue sharing money could be turned over to the board, if it were to be used to partially construct a building and be done without competitive bidding.

Both attorneys said the city could do it, if the money had not become a part of the city's general fund and the use had been announced in the budget hearing. It was then pointed out that revenue sharing money is kept in a separate fund and expended through a different budget than the general fund budget.

Crawford said he would not argue with the city's legal counsel, but asked that the attorneys seek written permission from the federal agency before the check was written.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, the council agreed to be the billing agent for street lights at the Horseshoe Lake housing development, advertise for purchase of a sewer line cleaner, appointed a representative to the county appraisal board and discussed a fire sub-station and revision of the mobile home ordinance.

At the request of developers of the housing development at Horseshoe Lake, the city agreed to collect a monthly fee for street lights and pay Texas Electric Service Co.

The flat-rate fee will be added to the city's water bill. TESCO manager Wayne House explained the residents of the area could save money by using the same plan as was used for residents of Pleasant Valley Estates.

A resolution naming Stanley Williamson as representative to the Wichita County Appraisal Board was approved.

No action was taken on construction of a fire substation for the south part of town. No site has yet been found acceptable or feasible. Also, it was pointed out that the building and land will easily exceed $40,000.

City administrator Steve Morath was instructed to prepare a map for the next meeting which would be considered for designation of a "blighted area." Tax-free interest bonds can be sold for improvements of structures in such an area, Morath explained.

A new zoning ordinance amendment may be ready for council's consideration within the next month which would provide for mobile homes, Morath said.

DIRT BY THE TRUCKS FULL ARE BEING MOVED ON OLD FAIR GROUNDS
... workmen are doing site preparation for Wal-Mart store.

Construction preparation begins on Wal-Mart store

Heavy equipment began moving last week at the old fair grounds, preparing the ground for a 43,770 square foot Wal-Mart Discount City store.

The structure, which will cost $805,833, is located between Park West Shopping Center and Shaw Motor Co., and will occupy, with the parking area, the entire space.

Jack Shewmaker, president of the company, said the Iowa Park store will employ approximately 60 area residents. Additional help will be hired during peak seasons. Prior to the store's opening date, interview dates and locations will be announced.

Wal-Mart Discount City stores feature a variety of merchandise in 36 departments including housewares, automobiles, sporting goods, jewelry, electronics, horticulture, and health and beauty aids. Also featured will be a full-line fabric and accessory department, wearing apparel for all family members along with an infant department called "baby world."

The Iowa Park store will include a garden center and pharmacy and an enclosed seasonal area for customer shopping convenience.

The first Wal-Mart Discount City store was opened in Rogers, Ark. in 1962 by co-founders Sam and J.L. "Bud" Walton. The original goals of offering quality, name-brand merchandise at everyday, low discount prices are still the basis for Wal-Mart's operation today.

Friendly customer service and "guaranteed customer satisfaction" have helped Wal-Mart to become recognized as one of the nation's leading regional discount store chains.

Wal-Mart currently employs over 38,000 people operating throughout a 13-state area. Currently, there are 469 stores open and approximately 32-million shares of Wal-Mart stock outstanding, trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The chain opened stores recently at Bowie, Graham and Granbury, and has announced construction plans for Burkburnett and Decatur.

Wal-Mart is headquartered in Bentonville, Ark., where general offices and three of the company's distribution centers are located.

Another distribution center is located at Searcy, Ark. and a fifth center opened in March at Palestine, Tex., adding 520,000 square feet of additional warehouse space to accommodate the company's growing trade area.

"Wal-Mart is looking forward to serving the merchandising needs of the Iowa Park community," Sam Walton, chairman and chief executive officer, said.

...gives a person a good feeling

The 1981 football season grinds to a close tomorrow night when Iowa Park travels to Burkburnett.

With neither team in the running for the Dist. 3-AAAA championship, both teams will be playing for pride and renewing one of their oldest rivalries.

Both teams enter the game with identical season records of two wins, six losses and one tie. But the Hawks are 2-2-1 in district play and the Bulldogs are 0-3-1. While Iowa Park was being tied last Friday by league-leading Hirschi, 7-7, Burk was earning a 13-13 knot with Vernon.

One of Burk's wins was a 7-6 squeaker over the Hawks earlier this season in a non-conference game here. This was the second of a two-year agreement between the two schools to play twice in a season, with only one of the games counting on the district records. They won't have the same schedules the next two years.

Burk beat the Hawks 14-7 in their non-conference game of the 1980 season, but Iowa Park came back to wind up the season with an 18-0 win in the second game. That was their first win over the 'Dogs since 1974. Burkburnett's defense is rated as one of the better units in the conference, but its offense is less than desirable to Coach Pat Smiley.

The Bulldogs were out-scored 26-56 in non-conference play while the Hawks were out-scored 54-88. But in district play the 'Dogs have been outscored 32-81 and the Hawks 33-37.

Hawk fans have been buzzing about the improvement of their favorite team, especially after beating Vernon 12-0 and tying Hirschi.

The Mean Green is as healthy as it has been at any time during the season. Only the two seniors who were injured prior to the schedule's opening, Tim Smith and Danny Coltrain, are sidelined. Guard Steve Stewart is still nursing a sprained ankle, but he plans to play, as he did with the same ailment last week.

Both the touchdowns in the Iowa Park-Burkburnett earlier game were set up by pass interceptions. But Burk scored first and kicked its extra point. The Hawks went for a two-point conversion instead of settling for a 7-7 tie, but failed.

Iowa Park managed only 55 yards rushing and 15 more passing against the tough Bulldog defense. But senior tailback Jim Smith was missing, sidelined with a knee injury.

Smith will enter the game with a 3.9-yard average for the season, on 123 carries. Chris Nethery, the fullback, scored that touchdown against Burk. He's averaging 5.8 yards for each of the 101 times his number has been called.

But the play of two other runners, Lynn Fulfer and Steve Fairchild, has improved considerably since that third game of the season. Fulfer has carried only 21 times, but is averaging seven yards each time. Fairchild has carried 11 times in the past four games and gained 71 yards.

The Hawk punt coverage and punting has improved considerably during the past five games. Of 28 punts by Iowa Park, only three have been returned for 19 total yards.

She further emphasized that in human form he was in all points like as other people were, yet without sin. He was found in fashion as a man so that one could say that his form was truly human, but he was also the Son of God.

Phone customers should notice improvements starting Sunday

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. this week announced two important improvements in telephone service for Iowa Park customers, according to M.C. McGee, Wichita Falls district manager.

Sunday, Iowa Park customers will notice a different sound for dial tone. The new dial tone sound, called precise dial tone, will enable more accurate reliable testing of equipment by computer. McGee said that computer testing of customer service trouble reports will be more efficient and accurate and should help in providing faster repair.

McGee advises customers in Iowa Park to be aware of the change in dial tone on Sunday morning. The new dial tone sound will sound similar to that which Wichita Falls customers hear presently, he added.

Also, recent steps have been taken to rehabilitate Iowa Park central office equipment, McGee said. This is an on-going project according to McGee, and a marked improvement should be noticed in such items as switching through to the number that was dialed, less frequent cut offs of conversations, and a reduction in static and cross talk.

McGee noted that while the central office work will make a definite improvement in service, other items such as wet cable or frayed cords on telephones can cause telephone service problems such as static and cross talk.

Should residents experience these problems they should report the problems to repair service. For residence customers in Iowa Park the repair number is 4102, and for business customers the repair number is 4103.

Thanksgiving is emphasized

Thanksgiving was emphasized in the devotional phase of the monthly meeting of the Friendship class of First Baptist Church held Monday evening in the home of Mrs. D.H. Ford, with Mrs. L.B. Jones sharing hostess duties. Nineteen members were present.

Mrs. E.T. Patterson chose "Thankful Hearts" for the theme of the devotion using appropriate scriptures and closed with thoughts from "Garden of Love."

Mrs. Ford conducted the business when reports from officers and chairmen were given. It was voted to take articles of clothing to Faith City Mission for the November community missions project.

Mrs. Ruth Hill directed the recreation during the social hour.

Conservation is subject of 23 Study Club

The 23 Study Club's conservation program Thursday afternoon stressed how the most important question facing our nation today may well be: "How can we be assured of sufficient water availability and protect irreplaceable prime farm land acres from further encroachment?"

James Cowley, a junior at Iowa Park High School, presented a thought-provoking talk on "Water, Destiny of Man," and Mrs. Sam Hunter, through slides and narration, showed the consequences of farm land loss.

"All life depends on water and the basic condition for life is that water be available to assure man's destiny," Cowley stressed. He reminded his listeners that the nation's present water shortage is just the beginning and that underground water will run out eventually. Attributing the waste of water by people as a strong contributing factor in the present shortage, he said that man needs to remind himself constantly that water has been both man's "master and slave, history and grave," to learn better how he can meet today's challenge to assure water availability.

He was accompanied to the meeting by his father, Harold Cowley, superintendent of Iowa Park schools.

The slides and narration by Mrs. Hunter revealed that every day in the U.S. four square miles of the nation's prime farm lands are shifted to uses other than agricultural by the thief, the urban sprawl. Highways, houses, airports, shopping centers have been built on land that once produced an abundance of grain, timber, forage, vegetables and fruits; and motels, reservoirs, industrial parks and power plants now stand where cattle once grazed and crops were harvested.

To put the issue in proper perspective, she quoted one conservationist who said that ten years from now Americans could be concerned over the loss of the nation's prime farm lands as they are today over shortages of oil and gasoline.

She closed by remarking that there was a growing concern over shrinking agricultural lands and that dedicated efforts were being made to learn how local, state and Federal governments could deal with the problem and return the land for agricultural purposes. She cited Suffolk County, N.Y. as the first in the nation to vote for the purchase of development rights for strategically-located prime farm lands.

Mrs. L.E. Brooks was program leader and Mrs. D.O. James used a fall theme for the meditation.

The art feature was given by Mrs. Joe Singer on "Treasures from the Sea." "A shell is a skeleton and each has its own special look," she began, then read "A Gift from the Sea" by Anne Morrow Lindberg and gave the legend of the sand dollar to enhance interest.

Her interesting treasure trove of bivalve and univalve shells on display included a special muscle shell found at Iowa Park Lake and a butterfly shell from Greece. Others came from the Philippines, Padre and San Aoella Islands, Brazil, Rome, Aransas Pass, Acapulco, Mexico, Guam and the Caribbean. She gave small shells to each one present as mementoes of the occasion.

Mrs. China B. Smith presided during the business and introduced a special guest, Mrs. Harold Campbell of Matador, president of Santa Rosa District, TFWC, who discussed the scholarships available in both district and state to aid young people in furthering their education.

It was voted to place the name of Mrs. Erwin F. Soell in the TFWC's Golden Book, which carries the names of outstanding federated clubwomen over the state. Her most recent contribution has been having the responsibility of compiling a Santa Rosa District cookbook just off the press.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Keith Aulds, with Mrs. O.E.

Lochridge and Mrs. T.M. Thaxton serving as co-hostesses. Refreshments were served from a table laid with an exquisite ecru lace cloth and appointed with a handsome fall arrangement of bronze mums, gold chrysanthemums, dried and fresh leaves, a birthday gift to Mrs. Thaxton from her children, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Thaxton of Little Rock Ark.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

While reading of Burkburnett's efforts to build more classrooms to relieve the overcrowded conditions, I couldn't help but remember something I said about that district a few years ago.

Burk had been promoting its very low school taxes in order to attract more and more families to build there, and also to land some of those industries. They were successful.

I recognized, in this column, that the Burkburnett district had such low school taxes because it received a ridiculous amount of federal money, since Sheppard AFB is in its district. And I also said that rooster would come home to roost some day.

Well, that day is here. Federal money has been cut considerably, and at the same time those low tax values and rates have been upped.

And while all that money was rolling in, the people loved it. The school board was praised. And families and industries beat the doors down to locate there.

The board saved so much money that it didn't keep up with reality. It was easy to see that new buildings were needed in the future to house the classrooms for all those students. Now classes in the junior high are taught in the auditorium and three teachers must move from room to room, teaching while the home room teacher has an off period.

And the taxpayers have become so used to saving money, paying such unrealistic low taxes, that they don't want to approve bonds needed to construct a new junior high.

Those supporting the construction are working hard. They doubtlessly will win out, in the long run. And the rooms will be built.

Now Burkburnett will have to find something else to crow about. They can't point their finger, laughing at Iowa Park any longer. We're in good shape, because our school leaders did their job.

We've already bitten our bullet.

Driver shoots self Tuesday

A former employee of Barbour Trucking Co. reportedly took his life with a gun in Wichita Falls early Tuesday morning when he was being approached by that city's police.

Dwight Cornelison, who was a driver for the local firm about two years until a month ago, had been chased by police, wrecked his pickup, and shot himself in the head.

Police were pursuing Cornelison after he was reported attempting to force an Iowa Park woman, Carla Key, into his pickup at Rodeo West, a club at 3911 Kemp. She had refused to go with him, police were told.

When police arrived, Cornelison fled, but collided with a utility pole at Kemp and Kell. A letter to the woman was found in the truck.

The 29-year-old was taken by ambulance to Wichita General Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival at 12:37 a.m.

Cornelison had worked for Barbour Trucking at various times, but his last employment with the firm was approximately two years. He was employed by L.D. Burns of Wichita Falls after leaving here.

SAYS NRA

Gun control laws no curb to crime

A National Rifle Association analysis of the latest crime statistics published by the FBI reveals that those major metropolitan areas with strict gun laws lead the nation in their rates of violent crime.

Among cities whose populations exceed 500,000, Boston was listed as America's most violent town last year. The 1980 statistics are contained in the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports released Sept. 10.

Boston is followed by New York City, Baltimore, Washington, D.C. and Cleveland, all of which have extremely rigid gun laws.

Massachusetts, in 1975, adopted the Bartley-Fox Act, establishing a mandatory jail term for the unlicensed carrying of a firearm. In 1974, the year before Bartley-Fox took effect, Boston ranked fifth in overall violent crime. It now ranks first.

New York, which passed Bartley-Fox type legislation in 1980, has become America's second most violent city since the law passed, jumping from fourth place in 1979.

New York City also leads the nation in armed robbery with 1,429.2 per 100,000 population, more than 100 thousand last year.

Baltimore, with stringent gun licensing and registration requirements, saw a 19 percent increase in its rate of robbery last year over 1980.

And Washington, D.C., where the private ownership of handguns was banned in 1977, moved from eighth place in overall violent crime before the handgun ban to fourth place in 1980.

Since the District of Columbia enacted its handgun ban its murder rate has risen 17 percent, according to the FBI's data. In near-by Virginia, where there are relatively few restrictions on gun ownership other than those imposed by Federal law, the murder rate dropped 9 percent.

The UCR statistics show that, overall, the United States' murder rate has fluctuated in recent years. It fell from 9.8 per 100,000 in 1974 to 8.8 in 1976 and 1977. Then it rose to 9.7 in 1979 and rose again to 10.2 in 1980.

Firearm involvement in murder, however, has declined during those years, down from 67.9 percent in 1974 to 62.4 percent for 1980.

Additionally, handgun involvement in murder has fallen from 1974, when handguns were involved in 54 percent of U.S. murders, to 50 percent in 1980. This decrease has occurred despite the influx of more than 13 million new handguns into U.S. circulation during the same time period.

◆ News in brief ◆

Bonfire slated at 7 tonight

Despite the fact there's no title riding on tomorrow's football game at Burkburnett, the Iowa Park High School Student Council is whipping up enthusiasm for the game as if it were the biggest event of the season.

They've scheduled a bonfire for 7 this evening, and it will be held in the parking lot on the south side of Hawk Stadium.

Students didn't get to have a bonfire before the homecoming game, which is a tradition. There was a problem of an adequate and acceptable site to hold it.

But that problem has been resolved, and the entire community is being encouraged to attend tonight's burning, according to Wayne Watson of the Student Council.

Shot fired into school

A highpowered rifle is believed to have been used to shoot through the front door of the high school building sometime early Monday morning.

A bullet passed through a plastic door plate, shattering the interior glass door and lodged in the wood frame of the trophy case in the hallway.

The plastic is supposed to be bullet proof except for very highpowered weapons at close range. It was put in the doors about three years ago when the plate glass was shot out.

M.L. Hodges found the damage when he reported for work at 6:28 a.m. The doors had last been checked at midnight.

That same evening, someone knocked over a stop sign at the intersection of West Highway and Johnson Road, and damaged a portable sign at the Sonic.

Chamber election set Monday

The annual all-membership meeting of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce will be held at noon Monday in First Christian Church Fellowship Hall.

New officers for the coming year will be elected, and all members of the Chamber are encouraged to attend by Tommy Key, president.

Monday's meal will be catered by the Christian Women's Fellowship. Price will be $4.50, but reservations must be made by 4 Friday afternoon by contacting the Chamber office.

Wood cutting at lakes prohibited

Cutting of firewood at either of Iowa Park's lakes, Buffalo or Iowa Park, is prohibited by the city, according to Johnny Crawford, mayor, and offenders will be prosecuted for destruction of public property.

"Your cooperation is needed in order to protect the natural beauty of our city lakes," Crawford said in a prepared statement. "Therefore, information regarding violators should be given to the police department or county sheriff's office. Identity of any person providing this information will be kept confidential if requested."

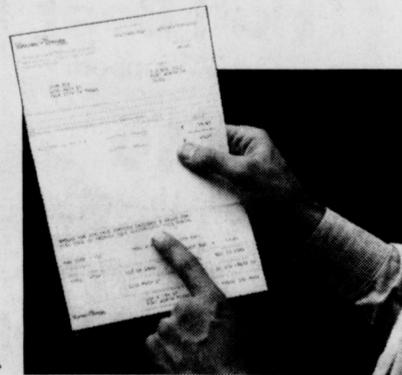

The cost of fuel. And why it affects your electric bill now more than ever.

When we say "fuel" at Texas Electric, we mean the fuel that we use to make your electricity—primarily natural gas and lignite coal.

The cost of fuel is a necessary part of the cost of making electricity. Next year all the fuels we use will cost more, especially natural gas. This is partly because an old contract for low-cost natural gas expires at the end of this year. The gas provided by that contract will have to be replaced with gas selling at the "going rate," which is about 15 times as much as we now pay under the contract.

We buy all our fuels at the lowest price available.* We charge our customers exactly what we have to pay for fuel. And we show the amount for "fuel" on your bill each month.

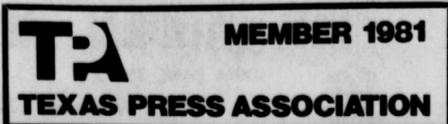

If you'd like more information about the fuels it takes to make your electricity, give us a call. At Texas Electric, we want you to understand what you're paying for.

*With completion of our Comanche Peak plant, the use of nuclear fuel will help hold down the increasing cost of our fuels.

Cook of the Week

The art of good cooking is certainly not dead. Even though today's cooks may have less time to spend in the kitchen, they still take time to prepare both elaborate and simple meals. Many of them make their cakes from scratch and use tried and tested family recipes.

Modern cooks also have a knack for combining meats and vegetables with staple foods for a completely well-balanced meal made in a hurry.

Betty (Mrs. Wendell) Bean, is a very busy young wife and mother who considers her true career that of a homemaker. Her recipes for this week indicate that she takes cooking seriously.

Mrs. Wendell Bean

The former Betty Engledow, she attended Iowa Park High School and was graduated from Jack's School of Beauty. She worked at two beauty shops in Iowa Park before she and Wendell moved to Monahans where she worked in a beauty shop and school cafeteria.

The couple moved to Jacksboro where they lived for six years before moving back to Iowa Park about a year ago. In Jacksboro, Betty worked at the Jack County Tax Office. She was president of the Jack County Squaws, secretary of the Wise County Tax Chapter and Sunday school secretary of her church.

In Iowa Park, she is bookkeeper for Bean & Morton Drilling Co., Sunday school secretary at Faith Baptist Church, secretary-treasurer of the Iowa Park Boosters Club. She loves horses and remembers with delight the times she has helped Wendell shoe them.

The Beans' children are Angel, a senior and Mike, a sophomore at Iowa Park High School, and T.J., a first grader.

Hirschi escapes with 7-7 tie

The scoreboard read Iowa Park 7, Hirschi 7, but it was a moral victory for Iowa Park.

Hirschi had been running roughshod over all Dist. 3-AAAA opponents and carried a lousy 6-1-1 season record into Hawk Stadium Friday night. Also, the Huskies had beaten Iowa Park (2-6 and 1-2) the past six consecutive seasons.

But when the final whistle blew, the hoard of Hirschi fans, as well as the team, silently withdrew from the area. They knew they had been lucky even to tie the game with the plucky Mean Green Machine.

All the scoring came within a five-minute period of the second quarter, with the Huskies climaxing a drive that started on their own 29 yard line.

Then the Hawks came roaring back following the ensuing kickoff to score on a 75-yard drive.

But why would Hirschi feel lucky to have gotten out with a tied score?

Well, first of all, it took a penalty against the Hawks for the Huskies to get their seventh point. An interior lineman was flagged for being off sides when Hirschi's first extra point kick missed the uprights, and they got another shot at it.

The Wichita Falls club was again relieved in the third quarter when Jeryl Brixey's 32-yard attempt at a field goal fell short. That came after the Hawks had advanced to the Husky six yard line on a second down, but were dropped back when Marc Klinkerman was sacked on the 15 the next play.

And only a few minutes later, Keith Mowery intercepted a Husky pass and returned it to the Hirschi 17. The return was nullified by a 15-yard penalty for an illegal block, however, and the scoring threat stalled at the Hirschi 32.

Incidentally, had Mowery's return been allowed to stand, that would have given the Hawks a 3-2 lead in penetrations, but the two clubs wound up tied at 2-2 in that department as well.

And one more time, in the fourth quarter, Iowa Park appeared to have a chance at breaking the tie. Lacking less than a yard, Hirschi attempted to go for a first down and came up six inches short, giving Iowa Park possession on the Husky 33 yard line. But four plays later a bobbled snap of the ball gave the visitors possession on their own 44.

Iowa Park held Hirschi just inside the 20 yard line with 3:02 remaining on the clock, and drove to the Hirschi 45 in four quick plays. But a long pass by Wayne Hodges was intercepted with 45 seconds remaining on the clock.

Steve Fairchild scored Iowa Park's touchdown, skirting through right guard four yards. It was his only carry from scrimmage the entire game. Brixey's extra point kick evened the score with 4:31 remaining in the first half.

Iowa Park's defensive platoon played a major part in the game's outcome, being called on to stay on the field much of the game.

MEAN GREEN DEFENDERS FORCE FUMBLE BY BIG HUSKY TIGHT END

Though Hirschi ran 64 offensive plays to Iowa Park's 44, the Wichitans managed only four times to penetrate the Hawks' end of the field. The Huskies scored in the second quarter, and advanced to the Hawk 31 in the third quarter, and to the 20 in the fourth.

That drive to the 20 gave Hirschi a tie on penetrations, and it was accomplished on a fourth down, by the length of the ball.

When the Huskies advanced to the Hawk 23 in the second quarter, they did it on three passes and a major penalty. But once they arrived there, things got tough.

Robby Hausler blocked a pass. Don Sidlauskas set back a runner to the 25 with a tackle that could be heard downtown. Quarterback Clyde McKenzie had to throw before he was ready when he was rushed by Greg Untalon. And on fourth down, McKenzie's pass was tipped into the air by Brixey, and then Steve Harris knocked it to the turf before it could be caught, ending the drive.

Another big credit for the Hawks' effort was the kicking game. Not one of Steve Harris' five punts was returned, and Hirschi could return its two kickoff receptions a total of only 11 yards.

Two other big plays by Hawks must be mentioned. One was a 54-yard pass from Klinkerman to Steve Fairchild, which gave the Hawks a first down at the Hirschi 11 and led to Brixey's field goal attempt. The other was an interception by Russell Hayley at Iowa Park's 27 yard line with 25 seconds remaining in the game.

Eagles whitewash Archer City 55-0

Class AA sixth-ranked Holliday jogged onto the playing field at Eagle Stadium Friday night with one objective in mind: to take Archer City as serious as any post season team the playoff-bound Eagles may face this year.

The result was a 55-0 whitewash over their county rivals, and enabled the Eagles to at least tie for the District 13-AA championship. For the season, Holliday is 9-0, 6-0 in conference play.

Archer City drops to 1-7-1 for the season, and 1-4-1 in district play for the rebuilding Wildcats.

Holliday travels to Nocona tomorrow night for the regular season finale, and the Black Hat defense promises to be one of the toughest the Eagles have yet to face.

However, if Holliday manages to hold its opposition without a score tomorrow, the Eagles will have allowed only .428 points a game in district, and one point per game average through 10 games, a school record.

Offensively, the Eagles totaled over 390 yards on the ground, but the most impressive note of the evening was the passing. Quarterbacks Joel Mankins and Mike A. Parker completed five of eight passes for 93 yards and two touchdowns, the best passing performance to date for Holliday.

Scoring on five of their first seven possessions, the Eagles quickly jumped to a 35-0 halftime lead.

Fullback Joe Chase started things off with a three-yard scoring run, followed by a six-yard touchdown run by Brad Harmon, then a 13-yard run by Ray Looney to give Holliday a 21-0 lead. A. Parker made each of the point after kicks on the first three scores, eventually making seven of eight kicks for extra points.

End Brad Hardin, who caught four passes for the night, made a leaping catch for a 20-yard touchdown in the second period from A. Parker. Fullback Jeff Belcher made it 35-0 before the first half ended on a 17-yard run.

SECOND HALF

Two plays after Steve Hill recovered an Archer City fumble, Donnie Bridges caught a 38-yard pass from Mankins to give Holliday a 42-0 lead. Reserve back Mike W. Parker made it into the scoring column with an eight-yard scoring run after the Wildcat quarterback was sacked on fourth down deep in Wildcat territory.

Early in the fourth period, Mark Rathman, the game's leading rusher, plunged over from three yards out to freeze the scoreboard at 55-0, Holliday. Rathman finished the evening with 99 yards in 13 carries.

Archer City threatened only once in the game, when they crossed the midfield stripe in the second half for the first and only time of the game. However, the Eagles' stonewall defense quickly patched up the holes and stalled the Wildcat drive at the

35. For the game, the Wildcats managed only 24 yards on the ground and nine more passing.

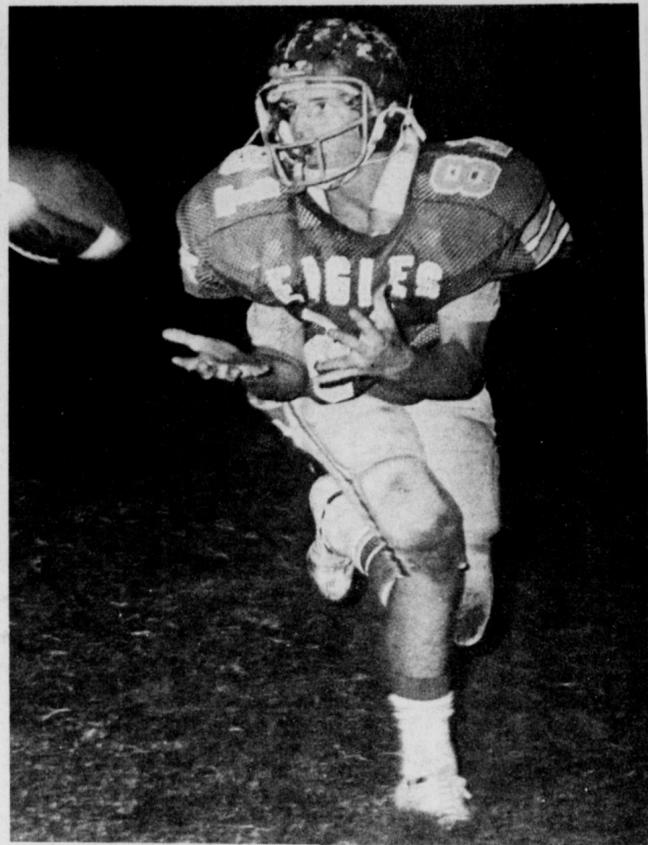

Standouts defensively for Holliday were Looney, Hill, Morris Davis, Kevin Blankenship, Mankins, A. Parker, W. Parker, Belcher, Eddie Flowers, Harold Parsons, Timmy Stubblefield and Chase.

Offensively, the entire line can be praised for providing much of the running room for the backs, as has been the case the last nine games.

For the season, Holliday has outscored their opponents 368-10, and the Eagles are riding a 12-game winning streak dating back to their 37-6 win over Archer City in 1980.

'Free' vacations can be costly

The best things in life may be free, but not all "free" vacations are without cost. More and more consumers are getting caught up in this expensive scheme. While vacations and trips are often used as legitimate sales promotions, notes the Better Business Bureau, any offer far below its market value should be carefully analyzed and understood before being accepted.

The "free" trips are frequently to Las Vegas or other popular resort area. The prospect of a luxurious vacation makes many consumers drop their guard, when they should do just the opposite.

These vacations are offered in various ways—by telephone, in direct mail solicitations or in retail store promotions. In the in-store instance, the owner who purchased these vacation packages in good faith, may become a victim, too. What the retailer buys to create favorable customer relations sometimes generates nothing but ill will.

A consumer who is approached about a vacation opportunity should get full details about what is included, what special conditions are in effect and what additional expenses are likely before making any deposit or payment.

Charges Get Added On

Many of these offers eventually mention "service charges," "handling fees," and "reservation deposits." These costs can add up and make the dishonest offerer a tidy profit. And some promoters don't disclose their charges at all causing unpleasant surprises in the form of bills for people who gave the seller their credit card number thinking it was only for "verification purposes."

This is especially true when the vacation package is less than was promised or nonexistent. Postal inspectors have been kept busy investigating complaints of fraudulent vacation "certificates" by consumers who found getting a refund difficult or impossible.

After paying the service charges, some consumers find that room reservations at the specified hotel are "subject to availability and written confirmation prior to arrival." Victims then find that requests for reservations are met with "regret" letter advising them that no rooms are available on the desired days.

As the expenses accumulate, so do the complaints. Some consumers have charged that they paid more for their rooms through vacation packages than the hotel's regular rates. In Las Vegas, for example, there are numerous cost-saving packages available free at information booths and through local newspapers.

These free packages include meals, show discounts, casino tokens and other promotions to draw customers at off-hours. Some unscrupulous promoters amass these free coupons and sell them to unsuspecting customers.

Potential travelers should inquire about any obligations on their time. Some land developers and real estate firms use resort trips as a sales technique, but consumers should be aware in advance that their vacation will be interrupted by guided tours of property and meetings with sales agents.

Actions to Take Before Going
The time to find out about the promoter and the vacation is before you send off any money or give your credit card number to charge a "deposit." Be sure to:

- * Contact your Better Business Bureau for a reliability report on the promoter;

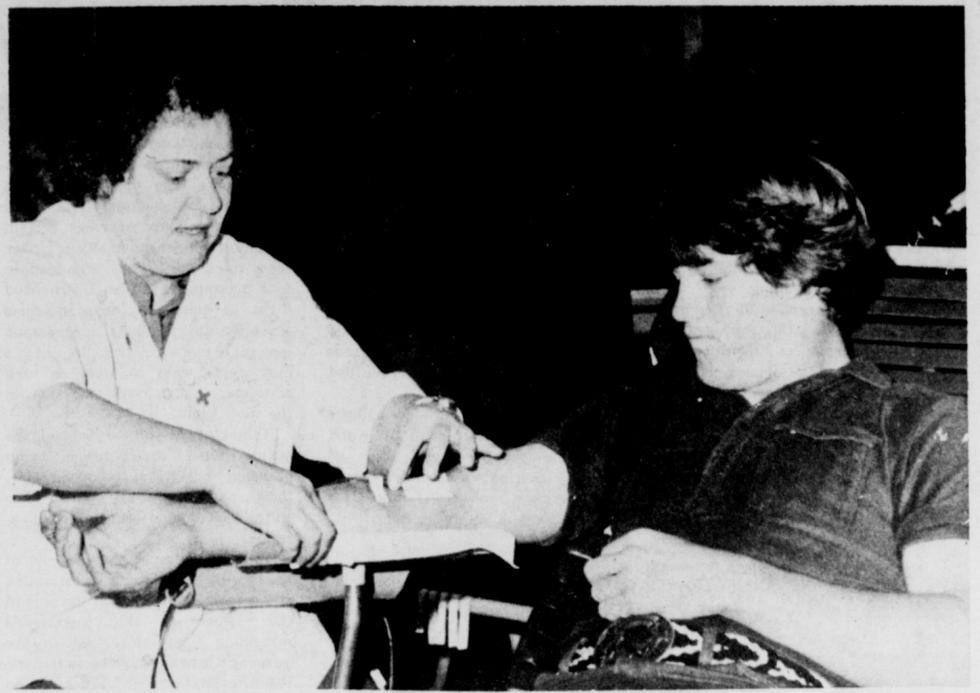

- * Find out just what the package contains: room? transportation? meals? when? where?

- * Learn exactly how much money must be put down, whether the deposit is refundable and how to obtain a refund;

- * Get the name of the hotel and personally call ahead and confirm the reservations; and

- * If airline tickets or car rentals are also in the package, be equally skeptical of those arrangements and check them out in advance.

If victimized by a "free" vacation scheme, report your experience to the Better Business Bureau and the U.S. Postal Service.

The rights of air travellers

The air transportation industry carries millions of passengers and pieces of luggage safely and on time each year. When a problem occurs, however, it can cause inconvenience or hardship. The Better Business Bureau reminds passengers that they have certain specified rights to be aware of when travelling.

Delayed or cancelled flights are rare, but bad weather, air traffic delays and mechanical difficulties are obviously beyond the airlines' control. Nevertheless, airlines routinely help stranded and inconvenienced passengers when schedules aren't met.

If a flight is cancelled, the airline is expected to place the passengers on the next available flight regardless of the airline. Policies vary, but if a delay is expected to last longer than four hours, most airlines will:

- * Pay for a telephone call or telegram to the passenger's destination;

- * Arrange and pay for a hotel room if the passenger is stranded overnight away from home enroute to his or her destination.

- * Pay for transportation costs between the airport and hotel; and

- * Pay for or issue a voucher for food at an airport restaurant.

If delayed for several hours and the on-site airline staff can't or won't help, be sure to keep track of out-of-pocket expenses and write to the airline's consumer office for reimbursement after the trip.

Denied Boarding Compensation

Overbooking and "bumping" passengers sometimes happens and it is the responsibility of the airline to assist the passenger. The Civil Aeronautics Board specifies certain minimum compensation levels. Under these rules, the airlines can negotiate with passengers on an overbooked flight to voluntarily give up their seats for any mutually agreed-upon amount of money. A traveller not in a hurry may want to accept a cash settlement and a confirmed seat on the next flight.

If the plane is still overbooked, the airline must involuntarily bump passengers. With a few exceptions, these passengers are entitled to on-the-spot denied boarding compensation.

The airlines must pay the cost of the fare to the traveller's destination at a rate of 200 percent of the sum of the values of the passenger's remaining flight ticket up to the passenger's next stopover, or if more, to his destination with a $75 minimum and a $400 maximum. However, the compensation shall be one half the amount with a $37.50 minimum and a $200 maximum, if the carrier arranges for comparable air transportation which is arranged to arrive at the traveler's destination within two hours of the original flight (or four hours for an international flight).

This compensation is in addition to the passenger's ticket, which can be used on another flight or refunded. These guidelines are minimum reimbursement for inconvenience. If passengers believe the bumping has resulted in greater losses, they can try to negotiate a higher settlement with the airline's complaint department.

Problems With Luggage

Sometimes passengers arrive on time, but their luggage doesn't. If a traveller's bags are delayed, lost or damaged on a domestic flight, the airline will pay for its mistakes, up to a maximum of $750. Like insurance companies, airlines consider the depreciated value of lost possessions, not their replacement cost. The exact amount paid will be negotiated between the airline and the passenger.

If suitcases arrive damaged, the airline will usually pay for repairs or replacement of the luggage and clothing packed inside. The exact settlement will also have to be negotiated with the airline. Be sure to fill out a damage form provided by the airline before leaving the airport.

If bags are misrouted, misplaced or otherwise delayed, airlines will generally absorb reasonable expenses incurred while the missing luggage is being tracked down. If a traveller's luggage doesn't arrive with the flight, the passenger should report the loss before leaving the airport, fill out the appropriate forms and keep records of expenses incurred.

Airlines are generally very responsive to customer complaints. If the customer service representative at the airport of the airline's consumer office isn't able to resolve the problem, then contact the Better Business Bureau or the Civil Aeronautics Board's Bureau of Compliance and Consumer Protection.
