Hail storm damage is heavy

Iowa Park was spared from a tornado funnel that tried to fully develop southwest of the city Tuesday afternoon, but hail ranging in size from pea to golf ball that fell from the same cloud caused damage that is expected to reach into the millions.

mar 3,1988

The county was already under a Weather Bureau tornado watch when a funnel was sighted in the Diversion Lake area.

Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department spotters were immediately dispatched and shortly later, about 4:45, on the recommendation of Chief Danny Skinner, the take-cover alarm was sounded.

Skinner's recommendation was made when a funnel began developing in the cloud as it hovered near the Kadane Corner area.

The funnel never fully developed all the way to the ground.

After the funnel drew back into the cloud, the cell began moving to the northeast, passing directly over Iowa Park.

Besides the hail, rain measuring

1.12, according to Virgil Woodfin, fell, washing leaves and other debris that had been knocked from trees down ditches and gutters.

Phil Welch, local State Farm Insurance agent, said the hail fell at his home from 5:20 to 5:50 without stopping.

His company's claims adjusters surveyed the outskirts of the city yesterday morning, and found damage to roofs all around the community, indicating the entire city was struck by the storm.

"It appears the bigger (hail) stones fell over the middle of the town and continued northeast as far as City View and Sheppard AFB," Welch said.

Because the damage is so extensive, Welch said a team of adjusters from Dallas would move to the area today to begin their work.

The preliminary estimate of his company's people is that some 2,000 vehicles also experienced damage.

"If they were outside, they probably got some damage," he said.

Welch, contacted shortly after lunch Wednesday, said his office had received between 100 and 200 phone calls already.

Police Chief Alan Sheffield said he saw a lot of hail stones outside his office that would measure two inches, indicating the size of the stones.

But the hail actually began falling west of Iowa Park. A state maintenance crew was dispatched to move a covering of hail estimated at three inches deep off Highway 25 between Electra and Kadane Corner.

No flooding was reported in Iowa Park, nor were any injuries from the storm.

Members of the local and area volunteer fire departments expressed relief from the welcomed rainfall, however.

JP race draws most attention

Eventhough all the state and national publicity is concerning the first "Super Tuesday," and Democrats and Republicans will be casting their ballots for presidential candidates, the greatest interest locally is who will become the new Precinct 3 justice of the peace.

Five candidates are vying for the post vacated by the resignation of Virgil Hill, who was elected in 1970, and stepped down because of health reasons.

The candidates, as their names appear on the ballot, are Wendell L. Bean, Vincent Rains, Bill G. Robinson, Tommy R. Key and Eddie French. All are Iowa Park residents, as is Hill.

Does your subscription to the Leader expire this month? check the list on page 4.

Because all are Democrats, and no Republicans filed as candidates, the county commissioners decided that whichever candidate won in that party's primary would be installed to fullfill Hill's unexpired term.

Unless there is a clear majority vote for a candidate, there will be a runoff.

Tuesday's ballots will be canvassed Mar. 11 at the commissioners' courtroom. A drawing for places on the runoff ballot for the top two candidates will be held immediately after the canvassing, should no clear majority be determined.

State senator's post to be voted May 7

Eventhough Sen. Ray Farabee's name is listed on the Democratic Party primary ballot Tuesday, the incumbent has resigned to become vicechancellor of the University of Texas system.

A special election to fill the vacancy will be held May 7. In-person absentee balloting will open April 17 and close May 3.

'Super Tuesday' polls are ready

Voters will to to the polls Tuesday to select Democratic and Republican party candidates for November's general election.

"Super Tuesday," as the new primary date that was moved from April has been nicknamed, will include offices ranging from the county level, all the way to the nation's president.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. And at most of the voting places, party precinct conventions will be held immediately after the polls close.

Democrats in the Iowa Park area will vote at the county agriculture building, if they reside in voting Precinct 32; at Faith Baptist Church for Precinct 33; Wichita Co-op Building (metal building north of Valley View School) for Precinct 34, and Chaparral Baptist Camp for Precinct 60.

Republicans of Precincts 34 and 60 will vote at the same places as the Democrats. Precincts 32 and 33 voters will cast their ballots at the First Christian Church.

firemen had been battling grassfires almost constantly.

The fires, primarily caused by control burning of pastures and careless trash burning, had little difficulty developing because of extremely low humidity and tenderbox-dry grass and weeds.

Iowa Park firemen, in a six-day period, answered calls to fight 28 fires. And that didn't include calls for their emergency medical team.

Welch said hail damage Tuesday was more extensive than any storm that has hit here in over 10 years. While the storm was pelting the area, traffic was snarled at all the overpasses on US 287, where vehicles had taken cover from the hail.

Schools to open doors next week

The Iowa Park school district will join the rest of the state in observing Texas Public Schools Week March 7-11, according to Supt. Glen Mitchell.

Parents are encouraged to call the schools their children attend and make arrangements to visit their child's classrooms and/or eat lunch with their children during the week.

Grandparents' Day will be observed Tuesday at Kidwell Elementary. They also are invited to make arrangements to eat at the school that Members of the Rotary Club are to hold their regular weekly meeting Wednesday at the high school. Principal Richard Davis will be host and present a program.

"A large number of parents visited the schools during Texas Public Schools Week last year, and we are looking forward to having many of you visit the Iowa Park Schools next week," said the superintendent.

Wilson, Culp wedding ceremony held Friday The Grant Street United Methodist Church in Wichita Falls was the setting for a Friday evening wedding officiated by Rev. Jack Meyers to unite Gloria Dianne Wilson and Charles William Culp, both of Iowa Park.

EADER

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Satre of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Trotter of Iowa Park, and the groom is the son of Jack R. Culp of Houston.

The altar decorations featured two large spring bouquets in brass bowls that flanked a tall white pillar candle.

Mrs. Jack Myers furnished the organ music for the wedding which included a medley of favorite prelude selections and the traditional marches.

The bride was presented in marriage by her father and wore an exquisite ivory satin gown enhanced with silk net, reembroidered Alencon lace and a generous sprinkling of pearls. The gown was fashioned with a wedding ring neckline of lace and pearls, a net yoke accented with the lustrous gems that formed a "V" in the back trimmed with self-covered buttons, Juliet sleeves of satin and net, and a fitted bodice.

The full skirt captured attention with a scalloped hemline of lace above a flounce of embroidered net that swirled to a chapel length train.

She wore a head wreath of silk flowers, silver leaves and a dainty bow at the back. She carried a nosegay of yellow roses, baby's breath, tiny peach bows and peach and ivory ribbon streamers.

Keeping traditions, the bride carried a lace handkerchief that had belonged to her late grandmother for "something old;" wore her dress for "something new;" wore a necklace for "something borrowed" from the matron of honor; and a garter for "something blue." She also wore a good luck penny in her shoe.

Mrs. Mark Veitenheimer of Windthorst, the matron of honor, wore a full length peach crepe dress styled with spaghetti straps, empire waist, and a chiffon cape that dipped in the back. She carried a smaller version of the bride's nosegay.

She emphasized that Easter is a good time for each one to take stock of his or her faithfulness and courage in telling and living out the good news of the resurrected, freeing, empowering Christ. She closed with a prayer poem by Frederick A. Styles entitled "For Gift of Easter."

Mrs. Dave Davis conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Gene Owens reported that five of the members attended a district study Saturday at the University United Methodist Church in Wichita Falls.

It was announced that the Book of Acts will be the church-wide study during March, and the meetings will be held at 6 p.m. each Sunday. The first session will be led by Mrs. Davis following a covered-dish meal.

It was also announced a new circle will meet Monday night at the church.

Mrs. Davis, chairman of the conservation poster contest, displayed posters drawn by the first grade students at Kidwell. These were judged by the conservation committee during the meeting and will be displayed later in the year.

Mrs. Compton appointed a committee to nominate a senior boy and girl of the Iowa Park High School for the outstanding awards given annually by the 23 Study Club.

Nineteen members, and one guest, Mrs. Greg Geer of Burkburnett, were present.

The centerpiece was a shiny yellow bag holding iridescent curly ribbons with attached white helium balloons and wedding bells, encircled with yellow candles in crystal holders.

What is an appetizer? According to Webster's dictionary it is "A food or drink served before a meal to stimulate appetite." One of the most popular cookbooks of the 20th century lists Green Cheese Ball and two cheese dips as appetizers. Carla (Mrs. Calvin) Leonard shares her Cheese Ball recipe with us today, and, even though it isn't green, it sounds like it will stimulate appetite.

Appetizers are comparatively new in American cuisine, yet they have been served in Europe for centuries. The custom seems to have started in ancient Greece and Rome. In the days of their fabulaous feasts, the Romans munched chicory endive or celery to excite hunger. Later, nations of Europe picked up the custom and elaborated on it. Some of those passed down are Russian caviar, Italian anti-pasto and French hors d' oeuvres.

In the rugged days of early America, hunger was the natural and best appetizer. But as the years passed, we have not only adopted European appetizers but added many of our own innovations.

Carla Leonard knows full well feeding the family is of supreme interest because she is the second oldest of 15 children. No doubt, she started helping her mother with cooking when she was quite small. It isn't likely that they devoted too much time to appetizers, rather they concentrated on good, wholesome meals

That's because I intend to vote in the Republican Party primary.

I wish the Republicans had the issue on our ballots, but instead, we have one on whether English should be the official language of the state.

I'd also like to cast my vote on the race for Precinct 3 justice of the peace. But the only candidates are Democrats. And to be involved in that decision, I would have to give up my vote on whom I think should be my party's candidate for president.

For you Democrats who will be voting, I hope you read and understand well the wording of the referendum on the ballot.

It's been rigged, in my opinion.

It states, "Texans shall maintain their right to select judges by a direct vote of the people rather than change to an appointment process created by the Legislature."

I agree with Democrat John Hill, who resigned his position as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas to campaign for a change in the method.

Judge Hill argues that candidates are beholding to contributors who put thousands and thousands of big bucks into their campaign funds, and a bipartisan appointment of qualified candidates would be better.

Check out the stories of how much money this year's candidates have received, and note that big legal firms are making the big donations.

Check out also the fact that the candidate with the largest treasury in this campaign is William Kilgarin, who was chastised recently for how he runs his office.

The key word in the referendum is "maintain their right." That means that business will continue as usual, unless voters vote against the issue.

I'm particularly impressed with a comment in an Atlanta Citizen Journal editorial which stated "We urge you to vote 'against' the sleazes who wrote the Democratic Party ballot." That's a Democratic paper, by the way.

But it must be understood that the referendum is non-binding. However, since the majority of the state legislature is made up of Democrats. they could be swayed to make up their minds, depending on how the referendum goes.

However you vote, cast your ballot Tuesday. If for nothing else, you can look back a couple of decades in the future and say, "I voted in the first 'Super Tuesday' ever held."

Some TV evangelists we can't stomach, a few we can tolerate, and one or two we listened to because we appreciated their speaking technique if not their message.

And Jimmy Swaggart was one of the latter.

As one who has faced an audience or two, we appreciate anyone who can stand up and mesmerize an entire audience with a combination of music, voice, and mannerisms.

Jack Kennedy could do it. Winston Churchill had the technique down pat and the former senator of Texas, Tom Connally, could do it.

I'm not certain whom I favor for president. But I am certain of one thing --

I don't believe the people of Iowa and New Hampshire should have the power to dictate the nominees to the rest of our 50 states. From the commentary we hear over the television networks this could happen.

It's the job of television and newspapers to report the results of the caucuses and primaries. It infuriates me, however, to have the newsmen stand before the cameras, look you straight in the face and state emphatically that if Candidate X does not do well in these first two outings he will be through.

Our state moved its primary date up to March 8 in order to have a say in the selection of nominees of both in Andrews county averages $29,000. In comparison, the after-tax household in Washington, D.C. averages $42,273 -- 42 percent higher than the nation as a whole.

But as a newspaperman, there's another thing we like about Swaggart -- he stood up and 'fessed up and took it on the chin.

In the 38 years we have served as editor of this newspaper, we have received more flack from the courthouse news column that all the rest of the stories put together.

Hardly a week passes, that we sneaky, don't get a call from someone wanting us to leave some item out of the courthouse news: divorce, driving while intoxicated, hot checking or some other item on the official record.

And we have a pat answer: a news item is like a boil or sore on the arm. You can pick at it, fool with it, mess with it, and it will simply grow, become worse, and fester and spread.

Or you can gut up, lance the boil in one swift, quick incision, remove the core and it's over and done with.

A news story is the same way. Try to hide or cover something up and it will simply spread, fester, and become worse in the long run.

Run all the facts, tell it like it is, and it's over and done with and the public moves on to something else.

A perfect example is the incident about Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby. Several years ago, he left a late night reception with one too many drinks under his belt and accompanied by one of the girls employed in his office.

He was picked up by Austin police, charged with DWI, and carried to the station where he made bail. Rather than coming up with lame excuses and a coverup, he immediately called a press conference, announced to all assembled that "he'd had one drink too many, made a dumb, stupid mistake, apologized to all Texans and to Austin people in particular."

The newspapers and TV stations carried the whole thing the next day and it was immediately forgotten.

Did you know that the "deficitreduction" package passed by the House in that arm-twister by Speaker Jim Wright last week contained a pay raise for congressmen?

Wright was trying to beat out a compromise bill between Congress and the White House following the stock market crash.

In order to get the vote on what amounted to a $12.3-billion tax increase, Wright created another legislative day last Thursday so a required 24-hour delay could be avoided before considering the revised measure.

The deficit reduction package was supposed to be a 50-50 deal, that was what was reported out to the media, 50 percent tax increases and 50 percent spending reductions.

What passed was more like a 12to-1 deal, with $12-billion in tax increases and $1-billion in spending cuts. And hidden among all the wording was a three percent pay hike for all federal employees which included members of Congress unless the representatives specifically excluded

The three percent pay raise tacked on last week would raise the congressional salary to around $92,200. It would among to two raises in one year -- at a time when Congress is supposed to be looking for ways to cut the federal budget by $23-billion in order to meet the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings mandated cutbacks by Nov.

Wichita Falls' Hospice topic of Lioness speaker

Pat Kidwell, a two-year volunteer for the Hospice of Wichita Falls, was the speaker Thursday evening for the Evening Lioness Club. She was introduced by Mrs. Sam Hunter.

She said that the word "hospice" was a medieval name for a place where travelers were refreshed and cared for. Today, with the establishment of hospice programs in England in the 1960's and in America in the 1970's, the word has become to mean a philosophy of care that allows terminally ill patients and their families to live as fully and comfortably as possible.

She said that the Hospice of Wichita Falls was incorporated as a non-profit organization in Dec. 1983 and began service in April 1985. Since that time it has served more than 150 people. She listed the services that it provides to terminally ill people and their families to include: skilled nursing in cooperation with the patient's physician, counselling, pastoral care, companionship, shopping, help with financial questions, funeral arrangements and support during bereavement.

Mrs. Kidwell said for one to be admitted to the program it could be a direct referral from the physician, friends, family members, community agencies, hospital personnel, or requests from patients themselves. She said that the care may be paid for by Medicare or private insurance but that Hospice leans heavily on donations, fund-raisers, memorials, foundations, churches and organizations.

In closing, she stressed the need of more volunteers, who have to have 30 hours of training programs to become skilled workers in the patients' homes.

Mrs. D.O. James used an article "Star Fish Flinger" for the meditation preceding the business directed by Mrs. C.L. Thompson when Mrs. Allen Bennett was inducted as a new member and a nominating committee composed of Mmes. Hunter, Gerry

For the third consecutive year, Iowa Park High School's Mock Trial team will compete in the state tournament in Dallas next Thursday and Friday.

The team earned the honor by defeating Holliday in the regional round.

Team members are Sheri Cravens, Steve Catlin, Markita Savage, Jana Coltrain, Chris Blalack and Jenny Salan. The team is being assisted by attorneys Frank Trotter and Ron Poole of the law firm of Gibson and Hotchkiss.

SPAACE (Students Provided Advanced Academic and Classical Education), is a new program that will be provided for students in grades nine and ten through a specified English class during the 1988-98 school year.

Students named to the program recently toured departments of the Wichita General Hospital and Midwestern State University's Fine Arts division.

"It was interesting and fun at the same time. We learned about responsibilities of hospital workers and toured the radiology, obstetrics and cardiology departments," Misti Murray, freshman, said.

Qualification for SPAACE is based on I.Q., creativity, achievement and motivational intellect tests. The students must also be interviewed and receive recommendations from the faculty.

"I am very excited about working with these gifted students. I'm going to enjoy not having any limits. Too many teachers are afraid to go out on a limb, you have to be a risk taker to get the most out of this class," Candice McKee, high school SPAACE coordinator, said.

Students who will participate in the program are David Lyons, Dawn Beeman, Tommy Ashton, Gary Green, Paul Lee, Marsha Glass, Kerri Dorner, Emily Short and Misti Murray.

The Stakes Are Too High!

While all of life contains a certain measure of risk, you'll have to agree that some chances are just too great to take. Perhaps you've heard the tale about the tenderfoot who asked a woodsman, "How can I tell mushrooms from toadstools?" The woodsman replied, "Eat some before you go to bed. If you wake up in the morning, they were mushrooms! No doubt the method was foolproof, but not worth the risk! Millions of our friends and neighbors are taking chances with their very souls!

Many people are betting their soul on the possibility that God does not exist. Others are risking all on the longshot gamble that God was not serious what He said in the Bible. Those lost have not taken time or thought to realize the stakes are much too high.

All gambling is serious, dangerous business. But gambling with the soul, with eternity, is nothing short of ludicrous! Mark it down. God is alive and well, "from everlasting to everlasting". (Ps. 90:2). And His word, according to Psalm 119:160 is "true from the beginning." Don't take chances with your soul - the stakes are too high. If you've been gambling with your soul, and know it's time to make a change, give us a call. You'll be glad you did.

To The Editor:

Please print this, so others won't find themselves in the same situation that we did: During the recent tornado warning and the sounding of the sirens telling Iowa Park to take cover for their safety, our family found that all neighbors are not good neighbors. We've lived in Iowa Park for almost two years, and had never really asked where we were supposed to go in the event of a tornado. With the sirens sounding we took out to seek safety

Coach overlooked Dear Bob,

What is it about our school administration that we inadvertantly overlook talent and ability already on our faculty and look elsewhere whenever we have a position available?

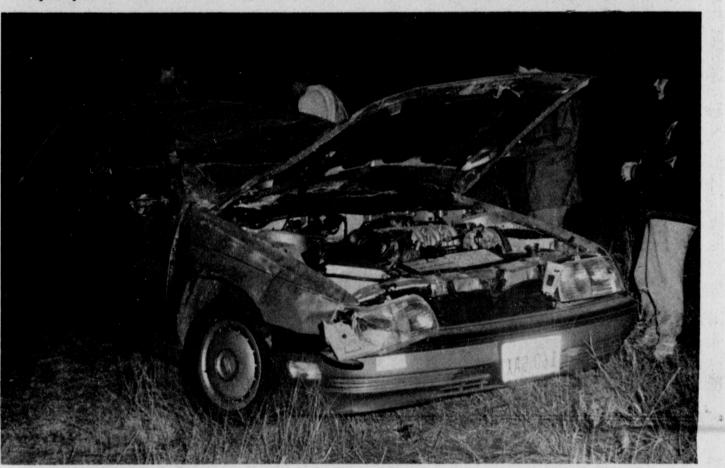

From the conversations I have heard among parents and students, I'm not the only one who feels that we had the person for the Head Coaching position right here in Iowa Park.

By the new Head Coach's admission one of the coaches from the

Dear Bob:

You stated in your February 8th "As I See It" column that "the fact that a person is married to, or a relative of, a politician does not necessarily make the person a deserving and eligible replacement."

I contend that being a relative or spouse of a politician also does not make a person un-deserving or ineligible to serve as their replacement.

for our family. We had noticed a cellar across the alley from our home. But, when we went to ask for shelter in the neighbors cellar, we were turned away from an empty shelter, with the neighbor telling us it was saved for certain people. When I asked if she could take me and my 5 month old baby, she said, "No."

I possibly could understand this if the cellar was already filling up or reaching its capacity, but it was empty. I have seen the time when we have put people shoulder to shoulder in an underground shelter and had room for all the neighbors plus others. I would never of thought of standing over our shelter and deciding whom would be safe and whom wouldn't.

I'm thankful that the need for the safety was not urgent. For now is the time to seek out safety for our families. I would also urge those who live next to or close to a neighbors cellar, not to assume that you are safe. Because ignorance from both sides of the fence is dangerous. And anyone needing safety in a storm is welcome to pile into our shower, and to help protect those privileged few, we'll hand out mattresses. And to those who have a cellar or underground shelter, it's not a cup of sugar tht people are coming to borrow.... it's safety.

One of the good neighbors, The Matthew Hall Family school he left is being "promoted" to Head Coach. Why does that never (or if ever, seldom) happen in Iowa Park?

We shouldn't have coaches on our staff who do not have the potential of leadership. We have a good coaching staff. And it is my opinion that Coach Kirk (Dean Kirkpatrick) should not have been overlooked for the position of Head Coach. We have a good athletic department so why does everything need changed? Just one more example of the way the Iowa Park School Administration does things. My son, for one, has upmost respect for Coach Kirk. Thank you, Frances Reasor

Shame on you for comparing Helen Farabee with "Ma" Ferguson. Helen Farabee's record of unselfish humanitarian service speaks for itself. I also feel she would champion the rights of the elderly and students in this senatorial district. She could also become quite familiar with railcrossing safety in short time.

Some candidates for higher office, who boast of 19 or 20 years tenure, have only authored minor bills and never served on more than one or two meaningful committees. It appears to me that they have only served one term, five times. Sincerely,
