Clean Up Week draws help of organizations

TOWA PARK, WICHITA COUNTY, TEXAS 76367

Results are already indicating this year's Clean Up week in Iowa Park will be as successful as the one in 1987, according to the Chamber of Commerce, one of the sponsors.

Vol. 19, No. 32

Various organizations have been busy all week, with members of the city council setting the pace Saturday by cleaning city hall park.

The observance is held each year in an effort to clean up roadsides, parks and other public areas.

At the same time, free dumping of trash, trimmings and debris at the

Incinerator on agenda once more

The Iowa Park city council is to hear a second report of a study on the use of incineration for disposal of municipal solid waste.

Terry Winn, who earlier reported on a study to use incineration and sell steam to Cryovac, will report this time on his findings of burning waste, but without producing steam for sale.

His earlier report, which had three alternatives, were deemed to not be financially feasible.

Aldermen will consider authorizing the city administrator to sell surplus items for auction prices received this afternoon. The council has the option to accept or reject any and all bids offered.

Aldermen will also consider a proposal for a baseball field site purchase, and authorizing painting at the sewer plant.

A proclamation will be read by Mayor Tim Hunter, declaring May 1-7 "Community Law Week."

Senior citizens to compete May 7

The fifth annual Fitness and Fun Day of North Texas, open to persons 55 years of age and older, will be held May 7 at Sheppard AFB.

Competition will be held in basketball free throw, frishee throw, softball throw, washer pitching, funning (50 and 100 yard dashes), twomile walk, bowling, dance, bridge, forty-two and dominoes.

Participants should register in advance at The Friendly Door or any senior service center in the area before May 7. The cost to enter is sanitary landfill, for residents of the city, is offered by the city, which also sponsors the promotion.

Hunt, Walls wedding held Friday evening

Miss Patricia Louise Hunt became the bride of Deryl Wayne Walls Friday evening at the home of the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P.L. Wright, in Iowa Park.

Rev. Ed Lane, pastor of Lakeside City Baptist Church, officiated the double ring ceremony.

The new Mrs. Walls is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George D. King of Wichita Falls and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Clayton of Iowa Park.

The couple exchanged vows in front of a fireplace, the mantle decorated with a white carnation flower arrangement and candelabras.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace sleeveless dress with a gathered skirt, complimented with a wrist corsage of springcolored flowers.

The couple was attended by Jennifer Kleinert of Lewisville as maid of honor, Edward L. Ewing of Iowa Park as best man, and W.L. Ewing and Danny Hunt served as ring bearers.

A reception followed the ceremony.

An elegant three-tiered cake decorated in spring colors was the focal point of the reception. The confection was topped with a Precious Moments bell featuring a bride and groom.

As I See It...

"Were some of those kids from out of town," a woman asked me Saturday after the Baseball Day parade had wound its way through the downtown area. "There can't be that many here."

Nope, they're all Iowa Park area school children, I responded, and there's a lot more than those who don't play baseball or softball.

Someone else commented on having heard an out-of-town visitor declare the youth participation in the summer ball programs as being outstanding, something they don't see in the larger cities.

The parade was outstanding, more than four blocks in length. And there were, I'm told, 672 participating in it.

For years, Iowa Park has held the reputation of providing a fine program of baseball and softball for the youngsters.

It's made possible by the dozens of adults who give of their time, and the businesses who provide the funds, to develop programs that our kids enjoy, and keep coming back for

This doesn't include the fine soccer program that experiences the same success and outstanding participation of both youngsters and adults.

And during the fall, we've got dozens of youth participating in the Top 'O Texas Football League which has attracted one of the largest cheer groups in this part of the state.

Now we've got a basketball program for youth under junior high age and it's going over great guns. This is an area I think we can expect to grow in popularity.

Athletic programs for the youth are a must, to develop well-rounded people. And with the increasing numbers of elementary students, caused by our increasing numbers of young families in the community, such program can only grow.

You'll not hear of gangs and wars in a community that cares for its youth.

Alaskan church work told

The program given Monday for the Night BW of First Baptist Church by Mrs. Glenn Mitchell was a continuation of "The Church Starts Here," a home mission book.

The setting for the study was Fairbanks, Alaska, where the Friendship Baptist Church was started by John and Lillian Isaacs in the early 1950s. The work of the David Baldwins, who followed them until he recently became director of churches in a large area of Alaska, was emphasized.

Mrs. Mitchell said that the church was so named because its purpose was to welcome people from all walks of like into its membership. She said that the membership included people who spoke different languages, but most of them trying to learn the English language.

Some of the different members she described were an Eskimo who was an alcoholic, a grandmother from Honduras, a middle-class American, a director of the Korean language at the University of Alaska, a couple from

UMW finalize plans for summer projects

During a meeting Tuesday morning of the United Methodist Women, final plans were made for summer mission projects.

Patsy Morris, district officer, and the UMW unit from Archer City will be the clubs guests in June.

July has been set for a salad luncheon that will feature Sarah Wilkie from Wesley-Rankin Center in Dallas as guest speaker. Thirty church in the Wichita Falls District will attend as special guests.

In August, Ellen Palmer of Floral Heights Methodist Church will speak to the club and will collect eye glasses and cotton material for a visit to Haiti she has planned for the fall.

Mollett, Chrstian Susan Personhood Chairperson, discussed the Reading Program for 1988 and asked members help in selecting titles of books to be purchased for President Nan Davis gave copies of the constitution and bylaws to officers and circle leaders. She announced she was giving the study of Acts to the Joy-Vashti Church on Sunday evenings during April. Mrs. Davis gave the same study at First United Methodist in March.

Conservation District sets Stewardship Week observance

The Wichita Soil and Water Conservation District has announced it will join the national observance of Soil and Water Conservation Week to take place April 24 through May 1, Fred Dwyer, district chairman, said.

Theme of this year's observance is "Stewardship Is Our Future." The focus is "especially appropriate as our need for stewardship is vital if we are to maintain the productive capabilities of our basic natural resources of soil and water.

"Together we must work for the good of all to utilize, conserve and properly manage those resources in our care. Participation in Soil and Water Stewardship Week activities offers an opportunity to reflect on the nation's natural renewable resource problems and consider actions to resolve them or reduce their impact," Dwyer said.

The Wichita SWCD was organized for the purpose of offering farmers, ranchers and the local community a voluntary conservation technical assistance program through which individuals could seek and request conservation assistance to meet their individual land's capabilities and

"Basically it is the district's responsibility to provide technical assistance when requested relative to proper soil use and treatment, erosion control practices, solve drainage problems and assist farmers and ranchers with crop, range and pastureland management," Dwyer said.

One thing this week's Cook of the Week knows is the secret to true

Cajun cooking. Born and raised in Baton Rouge, La., Sondra (Mrs. Troy) Thompson grew up with Cajun cooking, and is quite proficient at preparing the dishes.

While some of us may think a good chicken fried steak with cream gravy is about the closest thing to heaven, Sondra says that in Louisiana it is different.

In the first place, Cajuns serve a brown gravy with chicken fried steak, and secondly, their staple foods are crawfish, shrimp, crab, wild game and rice, according to Sondra, and, she says, alligator is an occasional delicacy most in those parts enjoy.

She says the secret to making a Cajun recipe is the seasoning as well as the base (roux) of the recipe, sort of like the first step in making gravy. And as a special treat to readers this week, has given five classic Cajun recipes.

Generally, Cajun recipes have a generous amount of seasoning, giving it a distinct taste, and those who like it are sure to never feel hungry when they leave the table.

The former Sondra Smith is employed at Wal-Mart, and her husband, Troy, is employed by Koonce Oil Co., and also owns a body shop with his brother. The Thompson's are expecting their first child in July.

Her hobbies include yard work and shopping, and the couple shares a mutual interest in car races.

A WORD FITLY SPOKEN

"I got two A's, "the small boy cried, his voice filled with glee. His father bluntly asked, "Why didn't you get three?" "Mom, I've got the dishes done," the girl called from the door. Her mother very calmly said, "Did you sweep the kitchen floor?" "I've mowed the grass," the tall boy said, "and put the mower away." The father looked at the rug and said, "Didn't you clean off the clay?"

The children in the house next door seem happy and content. The same thing happened over there, but this is how it went.

"I got two A's," the small boy cried, his voice filled with glee. His father proudly said, "That's great! I'm glad you belong to me." "Mom, I've got the dishes done," the girl called from the door. Her mother smiled and softly said, "Each day I love you more." "I've mowed the grass," the tall boy said, "and put the mower away." His father answered with much joy, "Son, you have made my day."

You know, there is a fine line between encouraging someone to do better, and pushing them beyond their ability. I believe this idea is present in Paul's admonition in Ephesians 6:4, "And ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

Nurturing demands lots of praise. The same can be said of our relationship with others. Praise for a job attempted, rather than prodding for more to be done often results in greater accomplishments. Encouragement will serve to greater accomplishments and greater work in the kingdom of God. Remember, "A word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver." (Proverbs 25:11)

· Keep ladders and trimming tools away from overhead wires.

Don't dig if you suspect there are underground wires-call us first!

· Make sure you're clear of all wires when installing or removing a TV antenna.

Please remember, think about where your power lines are before you work around the house. They may be above or below ground. Find out the exact location, or you might become just another statistic. And that's the shocking truth.

ATTENTION GOLFERS A set of Professional Line Golf Clubs, "First Flight Golden Arrow," consisting of 3 through 9 irons was mistakenly sold at a garage sale at 1310 Mockingbird Lane on Saturday, 16 April, 1988. I was the owner of those clubs and they were sold at the above named garage sale. Please contact Gregory Ross at 592-5549 or Anita Childs, 592-5777.

These clubs have great sentimental value.
