Three incumbents unseated; trustee requests re-count

Three incumbents were unseated in Saturday's city and school elections, and the voters gave their approval to have a commission draft a new city charter.

But it will be at least a week before the school election is finalized, because a recount has been requested.

Jerald Brown, one of the three incumbents who failed to get a majority Saturday, has filed for a recount. He notified the school board at its meeting Tuesday, and filed the required paperwork yesterday.

Rex Wells had no problem in being re-elected as trustee, polling 504 votes.

But newcomer Marilyn Hale was credited with 450 votes, two more than Brown's 448. "With that many ballots being counted by hand, there's just a chance of at least one mistake. That could mean a tie and another vote," Brown said Tuesday.

Virginia Klinkerman, the fourth candidate for two open trustee positions, drew 370 votes of the 881 ballots cast in the election.

The board canvassed the election results during the meeting and accepted them. Members then instructed Superintendent Harold Cowley to have a committee of four who did not serve as school election judges to re-count the ballots.

The results will be presented to the board late next week or early the week following.

Besides officially notifying each of the election poll judges and the state attorney general by certified mail, Brown is required to put up a $90 deposit for the re-count. If the results remain the same, the deposit will pay the expenses. However, if there is a mistake in Brown's favor, the cost is borne by the school district, Cowley told trustees.

"We'll try to get this resolved as soon as we can," commented board chairman Roy Boutwell.

CITY ELECTION

The two challengers for alderman successfully unseated both incumbents in the race for city council, and Tim Hunter won his bid for mayor.

Bud Mercer and Don Decker were both elected aldermen. Decker received 547 of the 813 ballots cast, and Mercer drew 368.

Only one vote separated incumbents Bud Thompson, 327, and George Hammonds, 326.

Hunter, who has completed one year of his two-year term as alderman, drew 451 votes for mayor.

He easily defeated Freddie Simmons, the only other candidate on the ballot, who had 66 votes.

A write-in campaign by friends of former county commissioner Buck Voyles, to get him elected mayor attracted 288 votes.

On the issue of whether a commission should be permitted to draft a home rule charter, 448 voters approved the issue and 303 voted against it.

Because the issue was approved, all 15 candidates for the charter commission were voted on, and elected. There were numerous write-ins for the commission, but none received more than four votes.

The proposed charter will be presented to the voters after the commission has completed it, and an election held to determine if the majority of eligible voters in the city want to adopt the charter.

WORK COMES EARLY

No waiting period for young council

Two new city aldermen and a new mayor got their feet wet early in facing city problems, when the council met Monday evening.

They were asked to abandon some property, open a residential street, sell some water to a non-resident and hire an architect for renovation of the city library.

And the new mayor, Tim Hunter, used his inaugural meeting to announce his first proclamation, which sets next week "Annual Clean-Up, Fix-Up Week."

After canvassing the election results, retiring mayor Charlie Lee swore in Hunter as his successor. Hunter, in return, gave Lee a plaque in recognition for his service to the community.

Hunter then administered the oath of office to new aldermen Bud Mercer and Don Decker, after which he recommended appointing Alderman Johnny Coker mayor pro tem and received approval from the council.

Concerning appointment of someone to fulfill the year remaining on his term as alderman, Hunter said he would like to wait until the next meeting, so he could study the situation and persons available.

The mayor also appointed Alderman Lita Watson to the Friends of the Library board, to represent the council on that body.

A request from D.H. Hill that the city abandon a portion of unplatted right of way east of Farmers Grain and Elevator was tabled for further study.

A similar request was made in 1981 by Ed McDonald. The council offered to lease the land to McDonald, but the contract was never completed. Hill said he would be in favor of a lease, if it were long-term.

"I want the property to put a garden on it and clean it up, and also to put it on the tax rolls, where it has never been," Hill told the council.

Various relatives of Hill's have lived on the property 60 or more years, it was pointed out, but no taxes have ever been collected because it wasn't on the rolls.

Developer Bill Swan asked the city to open the 700 block of West Louisa, where he owns the north side and the school owns the south side. He said he was interested in a similar arrangement as was used to pave the 500 block of Coleman, when the city acted as the agent for contracting and financed the project over a five-year term.

Council members instructed Administrator James Barrington to contact the school board concerning the proposal, and report back for possible action.

Louis Sawyer, who lives south of the Johnson and Smith roads intersection, told the council his water well had turned salty, and asked to become a water customer.

He said he would pay all costs, and the council voted approval of the proposal.

Aldermen approved an earlier unofficial agreement made by the Friends of the Library to enter into a contract with Don Daugherty to do the architectural work on renovating the former Tom Burnett home for a

Burglar gets valuable loot

It's possible a local burglar has something worth a lot more than he might think.

W.C. McDonald of Wichita Falls said his motor home was burglarized while parked here late last week. Among the items taken were a field jacket, some coffee, small hand tools, hatchet and a couple of pocket knives.

But the estimation of value was set at $1,112.

McDonald said one of the knives, a Case brand, was valued at $1,000. It apparently is a collector's item, worth that amount only to a collector.

Quick response by a police officer thwarted a small-time theft early Saturday morning.

Police received a tip that a car was parked with its trunk lid open by the outdoor display of yard fertilizer in Wal-Mart parking lot at 6:45 a.m.

A police officer stopped the vehicle as it was leaving, inspected the trunk, and held the driver until the store manager arrived to retrieve three bags of fertilizer. No charge was filed.

Ron Schroeder said someone took an antenna from his pickup while parked Friday night at 1507 Douglas. Loss was set at $75.

Sweeping changes told for schools next year

Though all details have not yet been finalized, a school day in Iowa Park will be longer next year.

Highlights of new requirements in education were presented by Supt. Harold Cowley to the school board at Tuesday's regular meeting of trustees.

Senate Bill 246 is to be fully implemented by the 1985-86 year, Cowley explained, but most of the changes are expected to be in place when school opens here next fall.

The report was made after the election's results were canvassed and the oath of office administered to incumbent Rex Wells and newcomer Marilyn Hale.

During the annual reorganization of the board, Roy Boutwell was re-elected president, Jimmy Howell vice president and Martha Dudley secretary.

Bids for new band equipment were opened and will be held for study until the next meeting. This is the fourth year of a five-year period during which band equipment is purchased, with a $10,000 limit annually.

Another report was presented to trustees, which was a "functional salary cost analysis" recently completed. Iowa Park was one of 20 school districts across the state which was studied by the "Perot Committee." A complete report will be published in next week's edition of the Leader.

SCHOOL CHANGES

Supt. Cowley said the new requirements in public education are the "... greatest revolution in education since the Gilmer-Akin Bill of 1949."

He gave the highlights from a 246-page report and said he and his administrative staff had attended two earlier meetings on the changes and plan to attend another, April 25, in Wichita Falls. Thirteen "items" of well-balanced curriculum are courses identified. These items will be numbered and will be transferrable throughout the state because they are to be standardized.

The public is to be advised of courses to be offered each year. Students are to "master" the central elements (language, writing, spelling, math and science), or will be required to continue until the courses are mastered. The board is to review annually the entire instructional program.

A policy is to be adopted by all districts concerning uninterrupted classroom time. Each board is to adopt a policy of what is to be done with students in case of excessive absences.

Teachers are to instruct an entire

Slagle, Smith nuptial vows solemnized

Miss Pamela Kay Slagle became the bride of Richard Wade Smith Saturday evening in a double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Jack Busby at the First United Methodist Church in Henrietta.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Slagle of Henrietta and Mrs. Barbara Smith of Iowa Park and the late Billy C. Smith.

The candlelight altar setting was marked with candles burning in two 15-branched candelabra flanked by tapers ablaze in seven-branched candelabra, each holder entwined with fresh greenery studded with miniature blue flowers. Votive aisle markers completed the setting.

Mrs. Bill Yeager, pianist, presented a medley of prelude music and accompanied Miss Teri Hale for her vocal selections, "What a Difference You've Made in My Life" and "You and I." Mrs. Jack Busby, organist, played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was presented for marriage by her father. For her wedding, she chose a formal gown of white Chantilly lace fashioned with a natural waist bodice, a high neckline, sheer V yoke accented with pearls and bordered with a ruffled lace flounce, and long bishop sleeves that terminated in ruffles at the wrists.

The lace in the gown stood out beautifully in the skirt which featured two side panels of multiple rows of lace that covered the front of the skirt, the last two extending around the hemline of the chapel train.

The bride's illusion veil was trimmed in lace to match her gown and drifted to fingertip length from a Juliet cap of lace and pearls. She carried a striking bouquet of cascading white gardenias, freesia, sweetheart roses, carnations, almond blossoms and English ivy. To keep traditions of the day, she wore her mother's watch for "something old," and her diamond necklace for "something borrowed." She adhered to the custom of wearing a garter for "something blue;" and chose her wedding gown for "something new."

The bridal attendants were dressed identically in formal blue Qiana gowns designed with raised bodices, high necks, English net yokes bordered with deep blue lace ruffled flounces, and A-line accordion pleated skirts.

They carried long-stemmed blue roses made distinct with touches of baby's breath, apple blossoms and streamers in shades of blue, and they wore harmonizing hair combs.

The quartet of attendants was composed of Mrs. Charles Shinbaugh of Wichita Falls, sister of the bride, the matron of honor, Mrs. Randy King, Mrs. Bobby Lowery, both of Henrietta, and Mrs. Mike Crawford of Wichita Falls, the bridesmaids.

The groom and his attendants, David Wagoner of Lubbock, the best man; Robert Smith of Iowa Park, brother of the groom, Danny Lasseter and Melvin Joyner of Wichita Falls, the groomsmen, wore navy blue tuxedos with white pleated shirts. The groom wore a light blue rose with baby's breath for a boutonniere.

Ushers were Max Slagle, brother of the bride, Charles Shinbaugh and Mike Crawford, all of Wichita Falls.

The bride's mother wore a light blue chiffon dress trimmed with pearl beads, and the groom's mother wore a pale pink pleated chiffon dress. Each wore pink rosebud corsages.

The bride's parents hosted the reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The wedding cake was the focal point of interest on a table draped with white Chantilly lace with graceful swags caught to blue bows centered with white wedding bells, over white satin.

The three-tiered white cake was decorated with cascades of frosting

Letter to the Editor

To The Editor

On March 28, 1984, my home was broken into and robbed of everything of value we own.

The Iowa Park Police were notified as soon as we discovered the robbery.

The police were available to us immediately - whereupon they found footprints and a good fingerprint possibly. They also took pictures of the prints, entry, etc. then told us they would get right on it.

After talking to my neighbors, I identified the vehicle and matched the footprints and positively identified a piece of my stolen property at a residence in W.F.

I informed the IP police of my findings and later had two suspects at my home when the police were called, they came and took them in for questioning. Later releasing them for no evidence. However, they would not search the residence where I had identified some of my property.

Disappointed at the attitude and unconcern of our police dept. I called the County Sheriff's office, there I was told they could not help me because the IP Police were handling the case.

I am disappointed that our police dept. did not seem to fully concern themselves with this problem.

I am not the perfect citizen, I have been in trouble myself, but I honestly believe that should have no bearing on the robbery of my home.

The policeman is there to give protection to all - and should exert all possibilities when a crime is committed.

If they would do their job thoroughly maybe there would not be so many robberies in our town.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

The folks who live east of Dallas generally look at our part of the country as flat and barren.

I never think of it like that, because most of my life was spent out in the Panhandle, where such a description might be more accurate.

But after last weekend's trip with Dolores to Tyler, I can kinda see what the East Texas people mean. At this time of the year, at least, our trees are way behind theirs, and so are our flowers.

East Texas is truly beautiful in the spring.

My bride and I made the trip to attend the 58th annual convention of the North and East Texas Press Association. I was retired after serving a year as president of the organization, but Dolores was elected to serve a second term as secretary.

Generally, the coffee talk at such meetings are about new equipment used for producing newspapers, postage increases, where to find good help, one's failing golf game and the ever spiraling cost of newsprint.

But this year the talk was more about the economic health of community newspapers.

Since most community newspapers are in small towns, i.e. heavy agriculture economy base, much of the talk was about how tough it is to produce as many pages with advertising as it was a year or so ago.

And the talk also centered around direct mail, where advertising that used to be run in newspapers is being sent straight from the advertiser to the consumer, i.e. loss of revenue for the newspapers.

There was also talk about competition, where large, well-financed corporations were knocking at the doors of small, family-style newspapers, doing what they could to get the business and let the community newspaper die on the vine.

But newspaper people are the closest to farmers I know, when it comes to tough years. They know they're going to have to work harder, and look forward to another year in hope of improvement.

Not one of the publishers at the meeting admitted to having a "boom" in growth or business. But every one of them would hang onto any mention of an idea to improve his newspaper.

Meetings like the one at Tyler are always a shot in the arm for me. I learn. I'm inspired.

class period, either to the entire class or individuals in the class. The superintendent explained that there will be no more assignment of pages to read and questions to answer from a book, while a teacher uses the period to grade tests given the previous period.

All classes here will probably begin shortly after 8 a.m., and continue until as late as 3:50 p.m., depending on campuses.

The general breakdown by campuses as to what will be taught includes:

KINDERGARTEN - 40 percent of the day on English language arts, 20 percent on math, with fine arts, health science, social studies and physical education (PE).

GRADES 1-3 - 120 minutes minimum daily in English language arts; 60 minutes on math; 100 minutes per week on science; fine arts and health taught weekly; and PE supervised, no longer the old "recess period."

GRADES 4-5 - 90 minutes daily on English language arts; 60 minutes on math; 45 minutes on science and social studies; 60 minutes weekly on health; 120 minutes weekly in PE; 120 minutes weekly in fine arts.

GRADE 6 - 45 minutes "academically engaged class" 175 days per year and issuing one-half "unit" (credit) per semester for the year student must receive two units English language arts; one unit each math, science and social studies; half unit PE (band and athletics not approved) and half unit fine arts, with other classes including health.

GRADES 7-8 - six units per year with each semester worth half a unit, required units given for grades 7 and 8 combined: two units English language arts; two units math; one unit life sciences (7th); one unit earth science (8th); one unit PE (competitive athletics can substitute); one unit Texas history (7th); one unit U.S. history (8th); half unit computer literacy (probably 7th); other units are electives.

GRADES 9-12 - minimum requirement of 21 units to graduate, but Iowa Park will undoubtedly require more because 23 credits are already required here; seven-class day instead of six; graduation requirements include: four units English language arts; three units math; two units science; two and half units social studies; one and half unit

PE; one unit fine arts; seven units electives.

Three different types of transcripts will be issued, but each student is to receive the same diploma upon graduation, Cowley explained. The transcripts will be designated as regular, advanced and honors. Additional requirements are noted for the latter two designations.

Transfer students from outside the state will be required to meet all Texas graduate requirements before they can receive a diploma.

Cowley also pointed out that, as of Aug. 31, no university in the state offers a correspondence course approved by the state. He expects those courses to be changed to meet requirements, however.

NEW ADMINISTRATOR

Following an executive session which lasted 13 minutes, the board approved Cowley's recommendation to name Ron Woods the new principal of Kidwell Elementary.

Woods, who has been vice principal at high school and substituted at the first of this year while Bradford principal Kenneth Davis was recuperating from a heart attack, will succeed retiring Kidwell principal James Ward.

Thank You

To the citizens of Iowa Park, I wish to express appreciation for your support and confidence in electing me your city alderman.

To be a candidate in an election is never an easy thing for me to do, but I continue to do so because I truly believe I have the knowledge and ability to serve in a trustworthy manner. It is made much easier by receiving the support of a great number of voters and it is to them that I wish to say

A GREAT BIG THANK YOU

Yours very truly,

FARMERS' GRAIN & FERTILIZER, INC.

HAY PLANTING TIME

It is hay planting time as soil temperatures near the 55 degree range. As soon as fields are dry enough for sowing, stockmen will begin to plant hay crops to replace all of the forage fed during the tough winter months.

Both the yield and the quality of hay are affected by seeding rate, placing the crop on good land rather than the poorest ground, and fertilization. "A bag (50 pounds) of seed per acre planted on good land with a little fertilizer will produce more hay than a fellow can afford to have baled," says Fred Dwyer in a joking manner. The heavy seeding rate will produce stems about the size of a pencil. If the hay is cut when it gets about "chest high," it will be top quality with about 10 percent protein.

Farmers Grain is the headquarters for hybrid sudan seed. We have Paymaster Sweet Sioux and 3 Little Indians; Golden Acres Haygrazer, Goldmaker, Chieftan; and Browning Tridan. Old "standbys" include hegari, redtop, and sweet sudan.

Couple sets May date

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Veasey and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Copeland of Wichita Falls announce the engagement of their daughter, Lori Copeland, and Robert Schreiber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Van Speybroeck of Iowa Park.

Miss Copeland was graduated from Notre Dame High School and Vernon Regional Junior College. She is presently employed as a LVN at Wichita Falls State Hospital. The groom-elect was graduated from Iowa Park High School and is employed by Cryovac.

The couple will exchange their marriage vows May 26 in the New Life Cathedral Church in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Bill Hrcirik, also a member of the chapter, installed Mmes. Bud Mercer, president; Luther Shaw, coordinator; and Darrell Gunderson, treasurer. Mrs. Steve Turner was named to serve on the board as seminar chairman.

Chapter members who received recognition during the awards were Mrs. Shaw, the outstanding educational director for 1983-84; Mrs. Mercer, second place Outstanding ESAer; and Mrs. David Parkey, service chairman, who received for the chapter first place awards for civic hours and money, and second place for service hours.

Assisting Aulds in recruiting workers are Tim Hunter, Mrs. Frank Gossett, Mrs. A.B. Thurlo and Joe Singer. Those wishing to make contributions can do so by calling 592-4151 or any of the volunteers.

The volunteers will be distributing educational information and a breakdown of how the campaign's money is spent.

"Research into the causes of heart disease and stroke has resulted in advances in diagnosis, prevention, surgery and rehabilitation," Aulds said.

"But more needs to be done. Heart disease and stroke kills nearly one-million Americans each year, 200,000 of them before retirement age.

"The American Heart Association, Wichita County division, is fighting to reduce this early death and disability, and volunteers are a vital part of the Heart Association fight," Aulds said.

Planning meals for traveling

Mrs. W.E. Karstetter gave a program on "Food for the Road" during the Wednesday morning meeting of the Park Area Extension Homemakers Club held in the home of Mrs. Reba Snow.

She suggested that it was wise to start with a detailed list of meals for one week, then prepare as much food in advance as possible. Among the foods that she mentioned as ideal for road travel were cheese, canned tuna, chicken or ham, peanut butter, yogurt, granola, smoked fish and other meats, all types of bread, dried fruits, fresh vegetables and fruits and instant drinks.

Mrs. Karstetter said that sliced bread doesn't travel well and that unsliced bread is more durable. She advised taking a good insulated cooler along.

Several recipes that can be prepared ahead of time were given to enhance interest.

Mrs. Snow conducted the business and members answered roll call by giving their types of blood.

A luncheon was served during the noon hour.

Conservation is program topic

Conservation program... show that our nation is rich with soil and water and that it behooves all of us to care and maintain the highlighted meeting of the Rotary Club Thursday evening... meeting was held in the home of Howard Mahler and Mrs. C.L. as the co-hostess.

L.E. Brooks served as the leader. Mrs. Sam Hunter led the meditation on "Water - We Can't Live Without It," and closed with "The Bridge Builder" poem.

An interesting creative arts program was presented by Mrs. Lee on sewing ideas for memorial remembrances. She displayed attractive laundry bags, flat draw string purses, billfolds and caddies, some that she made, and others loaned to her, as well as terms for each item.

"Soil and Water - Essential Elements of Life" provided the title of discussions by Mrs. Vernon Gilbert and Mrs. Riley Thompson.

Mrs. Gilbert's topic was "We're Losing Our Precious Farmland." She listed erosion, pollution, industrial and housing development as the main reasons for the loss of valuable farmland in America.

She said that it was estimated that one million acres are now lost each year to erosion and that two million acres a year are converted to non-farm use. She warned that the continuous loss of farmland could result in a world food crisis because the United States is currently furnishing more than 50 percent of all food and feed grains that enter the world market.

Mrs. Gilbert mentioned some of the bio-tech experiments that are now being worked on, then added: "With all this, we still need food and farmlands." The experiments mentioned were: growing plants in salt water; processing of plants to fertilize themselves from nitrogen in the air; a solution to spray on trees so that they won't freeze; and new products in place of grains as we know them.

Referring to the part pollution plays in the loss of farmland, Mrs. Gilbert listed fertilizers, pesticides, industrial drainage, toxic waste, radio active sediment, oils and grease that pollute the land, then wash into rivers and kill the fish or render it unfit to eat. She said that commercial harvesting of shellfish was closed in some bays because of toxic pollution of the waters.

She said that loss of farmland also means loss of fence rows, trees, vegetation which means that wildlife will be gone, destroying the balance of nature.

Looking ahead 50 years if the loss of farmland continues, Mrs. Gilbert asked "Will our nation still be America the Beautiful with barren fields, no top soil, or trees, polluted streams and rivers, no beautiful for spacious skies, amber waves of grain, purple mountains majesties above the fruited plains?"

On the bright side, she mentioned National Natural Resource Defense Council, State Farmlands Trusts, and State Conservation Agencies as organizations that are currently concerned with the problem. Mrs. Gilbert observed that private sector, state and local organizations and citizens committing themselves to care and maintain our farmlands, can offer more concrete solutions to the problem.

"Soil and Water Stewardship - Everyone's Responsibility" was the topic of Mrs. Thompson's talk.

"Water is the perfect metaphase of God's system for recycling the resources he has deposited on the earth," she said. She continued by remarking that it does not wear out and is not used up, even though it performs its functions repeatedly throughout the centuries. Instead, it returns again and again to the fields, streams, lakes, oceans and underground, always after having purified in the cycle of evaporation and rain. "Even today scientists can only emulate some of the more elementary facets of the process that restores polluted water to its pristine condition," she said.

Mrs. Thompson stated that the volume of water on earth is constant even though it may become contaminated, and that people are to help, rather than hinder, the process by which the constant supply of water is recycled and purified. She continued that water may become putrid and bitter by contamination, and if it is polluted beyond nature's capacity to restore its inherent quality all people punish themselves and destroy humanity of an essential resource.

The speaker said that when God allocated resources to America, he was particularly generous with water to support population ranging up to hundreds of millions. "Our first obligation is to minimize the amount of pollution permitted to seep into our streams and lakes; after that, we must turn our attention to more efficient methods to helping nature restore the purity of our water," she said.

Concluding, Mrs. Thompson warned that America could create a shortage of water by her own choice. "The matter is in our hands to preserve the supply and help keep it pure, to use it at a rate that will permit adequate return. Just as God was displeased with the Israelites when they abused the resources that he had given them, may we not imagine that he is equally displeased with us when we abuse, pollute, abuse and take from water its living properties making it a curse instead of a blessing?" she asked.

She reminded her listeners that water is not an unmixed blessing and that it could be a destructive force, the role depending on the rise and balance, pure or contaminated, controlled or unchecked in great floods. She said that even though we have the promise that the earth will not be destroyed again by flood, it does not assure that the top soil will be protected from erosion.

During the business conducted by Mrs. D.O. James, Mrs. Gilbert was elected secretary to fill a vacancy.

During the social hour, refreshments were served from a table covered with yellow linen and centered with an Easter egg tree complemented with bunnies, chickens and other symbols of the season.

The next meeting will be held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church at noon April 19 to honor the Outstanding Senior Girl and Boy of Iowa Park High School for 1984.

NOT WAITING - Eventhough the annual Clean-Up, Fix-Up Week doesn't start until next week, city workers aren't waiting until then to to their work. The workload of usual tree prunings being bolstered by all the shrubbery killed by last winter's heavy freeze has put the city's brush chipper into almost daily activity.

PROMOTING SATURDAY'S SALE - Three members of the Friendly Door exhibit a small portion of what will be on sale 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday at the organization's annual Bazaar and Bake Sale. Proceeds from the event help finance

Pecan budding, grafting clinic set today

Home owners that have small native pecan trees in their landscape can change that tree into one that will grow large pecans instead of small ones. How can this be done? By budding and grafting.

The time to have pecan trees budded and grafted will soon be here. As a matter of fact, it is here this week.

The time to do this is when the sap begins to rise in the trees and the bark starts slipping.

Many would enjoy doing this themselves but do not know the technique. Those wishing to learn will have the opportunity today and tomorrow.

The Extension Service pecan and fruit committee is holding a pecan budding and grafting clinic that will give growers and home owners a chance to learn and practice this art.

Members of the committee who will be teaching this include Virgil Woodfin, Wesley Davis and Tim Hunter, all of Iowa Park. Each of the men has several years of experience and is qualified to help individuals learn the skill.

The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. today at the 4-H Auditorium, 1626 Midwestern Parkway. This will be where techniques will be taught and participants can see how to bud and graft.

The second part of the clinic will be held Friday at the Iowa Park Experiment Station off the Old Iowa Park Road. This will be where growers can get "hands on" experience as trees will actually be budded and grafted by clinic participants.

This is open to all interested home owners and growers and is free of charge.

Charges anticipated in case of missing Kamay teenager

Charges will possibly be filed in the near future in connection with a missing 15-year-old Kamay resident.

Iowa Park Police Chief Tom Fenley said investigation apparently is leading to a filing of a charge of "harboring a runaway child," a class A misdemeanor which is punishable by a maximum fine of $2,000 and a year in jail.

"I would anticipate there is a good possibility that we will be presenting a case against one particular individual to the Wichita County Attorney's Office within the next day or two. . .," Fenley said.

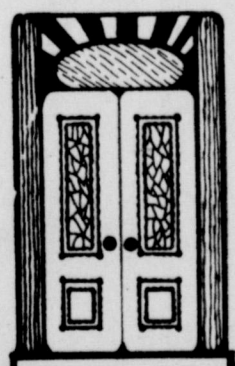

The investigation is centering on people who may have been helping Leila Admire avoid apprehension.

Fenley said his office received a telephone call from a female who said she was the missing girl, saying she was "safe" but hung up before any other information could be learned.

CORRECTION

The Iowa Park Garden Club has selected the yard of W.D. and Marjorie Bagwell, 105 W. Pecan, as the Yard of the Month. Their yard is a picture post card of tulips, and in last week's paper the name of the recipient of the award was given as Margery Boswell. We regret the error.

AN UNWELCOME GUEST visited the home of Mike L. Duerson, Southgate Gardens located just south of the city limits, Friday. Namely, a wild javelina, which is a rare sight in North Texas. County enforcement officials were called to a scene, including a representative from the Humane Society, and two shots from a sheriff deputy's rifle felled the dangerous animal. The head was reportedly sent to Austin to determine whether or not it was rabid. Though no one was injured or attacked by the boar, it reportedly killed a dog in the same area earlier.

Cook of the Week

This week's cook, Mrs. Marc Newman, No. 40 Surrey, credits her husband instead of her mother for tutoring her in the kitchen. This might appear inconsistent with most women, but Mrs. Newman, the former Janice Harris, insists it wasn't because her mother was lacking in the cooking department. Far from it. "She was too good," the 1979 Iowa Park High School graduate said. "She pampered me constantly, to the point where I wasn't doing much at all around the house."

Mrs. Newman says her husband has slowly weaned her from her relaxing predicament she enjoyed at home. An insurance adjuster for the General Adjustment Bureau, and a former Iowa Park policeman, he shares equal cooking time with his wife of over three years.

She has lived in Iowa Park her entire life, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Harris. Employed as a secretary with the City of Iowa Park for the past five years, her hobbies include reading, spending money, and working with her indoor plants.

"Marc and I like recipes that are quick and easy to prepare, and with plenty leftover for other meals," she says. "I like to stick to conventional, tried and proven recipes," she added. "It's hard to find time to really try new recipes, but, occasionally we will make the effort."

She also notes that the spaghetti and chili recipes are considered as favorites both at home and with the couple's friends that have shared a meal with them. They currently have no children, but their two cats, Tigr and Froderick, are doing an adequate job of keeping them company.

Birk Circle meets

Miss Titia Belle Blanks taught the Bible lesson for a meeting of the Lucy Birk Circle of First Presbyterian Church Tuesday morning at her home.

The study, based on the second and third chapters of Mark's Gospel, centered mainly on sayings of Jesus, each being an answer to three accusations raised against him.

The first accusation was made by the scribes and Pharisees who asked why he ate with tax collectors and sinners. Miss Blanks emphasized that they were blinded by their spiritual pride to their own needs and needs of others, and warned that the danger to be like the scribes and Pharisees still exists today.

The second accusation concerned the practice of fasting, which the Pharisees, in their love for pious ceremony, had established the practice of fasting twice a week instead of only on the Day of Atonement required by the Mosaic Law. Miss Blanks said that Jesus' reply showed that the new spirit of the gospel should not be combined with the old forms of Judaism.

The third accusation was made by the scribes who accused Jesus of casting out devils by the prince of devils. His answer showed that a kingdom divided against itself could not stand.

Mmes. L. Shelton, Edna Lemond and C.E. Birk assisted Miss Blanks in the presentation.

Brown ground beef, drain. Stir in onion, sour cream, cheese, parsley, salt and pepper. Cover and set aside. Bring to boil remaining ingredients, stirring occasionally. Reduce heat. Simmer uncovered 5 minutes. Pour sauce into ungreased pie plate. Dip each tortilla in sauce to coat each side. Spoon ground beef mixture onto each tortilla and roll. Arrange in ungreased oblong baking dish. Pour remaining sauce over enchiladas. Cook uncovered in 350 degree oven until bubbly, about 20 minutes. Garnish with shredded cheese, sour cream, and chopped onions. Serve with Tomato-Chili Sauce.

Parker mayor

Former city alderman Mike Parker was elected as Holliday's new mayor in Saturday's city election, while one incumbent alderman won and another lost in a bid for another term on the council.

In a special called meeting of the council Monday night, votes were officially canvassed, with Parker receiving 66 votes in the write-in mayoral race, while alderman Elizabeth Gorman tallied 57 write-in votes and Bob Vales 40.

Leon Addison lost in a bid for a third term on the council, losing a close one to J.R. Franklin, 123 to 85. Franklin will now assume Place 4 on the council, as the third candidate for Addison's seat, Ricky Sternadel, received 38 votes.

For Place 2 on the council, Gorman won reelection over Rudy Molina by a margin of 158 to 85. Parker, Gorman and Franklin will be issued the oath of office Monday night at the council's bi-monthly meeting at the community center.

Birdwell joins board

New Holliday School Board trustee Mike Birdwell and incumbent trustee Alice Carver were sworn in to new terms Monday night at the board's regular monthly meeting, and president Tommy Mankins received a vote of confidence from fellow members, returning once again as head of the board.

Birdwell and Carver, both running unopposed in the school's at-large election last Saturday, garnered 290 and 273 votes, respectively. The votes were canvassed by the board as the first order of business, followed by unanimous consent of nominees for the board's reorganization.

Mankins was given the nod as president, as was trustee Gene Harmon for vice president and Carver for secretary.

CONTRACTS RENEWED

Personnel highlighted the group's agenda, and approval was granted for rehiring of all aides, secretaries, bus drivers, cafeteria and maintenance personnel.

A request from classroom teachers for an equitable bonus incentive was denied by the board, although re-evaluation of the program will be made next year. Under the incentive program, passed just last month by the board, all full-time math and science teachers receive an additional $300, and the group's contention was that all teachers were worthy of an equitable bonus.

LEDBETTER SETTLES

Larry Ledbetter, formerly head of Ledbetter Enterprises based in Oklahoma, agreed to pay the school district $20,500 through monthly installments for a one-year period as restitution for an incomplete painting contract with the school four years ago. Ledbetter was hired to paint the high school's porous walls with a latex-sealant mixture to prevent flooding of the classrooms. A series of efforts by school administrators was climaxed early this year when the school's attorney was advised to begin legal proceedings against Ledbetter.

BUS PURCHASE MADE

The board also agreed to purchase a 60-passenger bus for the 1984-85 school year in an effort to upgrade the school's transportation system, which has greatly improved since high school principal Bill Lee was placed in charge of the department at the beginning of the 1982-83 school year.

The board also tabled employee insurance for the May meeting.

Talley, Rogers wedding vows exchanged

Miss Bridget Michele Talley of Holliday and Tommy Kevin Rogers of North Richland Hills exchanged their wedding vows in a traditional ceremony Saturday evening at the Floral Heights United Methodist Church in Wichita Falls, as they stood before an altar decorated with candelabra trees laden with fresh fern. Urns of the fern were placed at the base of the trees and on either side of the altar.

Church pews were marked with large ivory lace bows accented with fresh greenery and enchantment roses.

Dr. James Palmer, minister of the church, officiated the service that joined the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ray Talley of Holliday and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom H. Rogers of Graham in holy matrimony.

The prelude music and marches of long standing were provided by Donald Unwin, church organist. Mrs. Kane Whitaker, the groom's sister, sang "The Wedding Song" for a prenuptial selection. During the ceremony, Ken Woods of Holliday, accompanied by Clay Morgan, also of Holliday, sang the "Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar by her father who presented her in marriage, the bride wore an exquisitely-styled pale ivory taffeta gown with a beautiful overlay of chiffonet. The Queen Anne bodice of ivory lace with its bishop sleeves touched with appliques of matching lace flowed gracefully into a natural waistline. The full skirt trimmed in Venise lace dropped gently into three tiers of Wedgewood lace which flowed into a chapel length train.

The bride's full length mantilla veil bordered with wide lace was attached to a flowered Juliet cap. She carried a cascade of ivory roses and small flowers complemented with iridescent ribbons.

Mrs. Randy Romines of Holliday had the matron of honor position in the wedding. She wore a fashionable coral taffeta gown designed with a ruffled scooped neckline inlaid with lace, a cummerbund, and full skirt. Matching rosettes adorned the neckline ruffle and cummerbund at opposite sides. She wore a wreath of coral flowers in her hair and carried a traditional nosegay of matching flowers accented with iridescent ribbon streamers.

The bridesmaids, wearing identical gowns, head wreaths and carrying the same nosegays, were Mrs. John Little of Wichita Falls, Miss Rhonda Talley of Holliday, sisters of the bride, Mrs. Kane Whitaker of Ft. Stockton, and Miss Dana Rogers of Graham, sisters of the groom.

Brittany Ford of Wichita Falls, cousin of the bride, wore an identically styled dress scaled for her size, and carried a white lace basket with trailing iridescent ribbons filled with coral roses in her role as flower girl.

The white satin ring pillow was embroidered with "Bridget and Kevin, April 7, 1984" and carried by Stuart Marl of Wichita Falls, who was dressed like male members of the wedding party.

The groom and his party and fathers of the couple were dressed in Pierre Cardin designer cutaways with matching pin-striped pants, wing-tipped shirts and gray bow ties. The groom's boutonniere was an ivory rosebud and baby's breath taken from the bride's bouquet. The attendants wore coral rosebud boutonnieres and the fathers wore white rosebuds in their lapels.

The groom was attended by Robert Granado of North Hollywood, Calif. as best man, and Kane Whitaker of Fort Stockton, Mark Styles of Crosbyton, his cousin, Jayesh Naik of Galveston, and John Little of Wichita Falls as groomsmen.

Guests were ushered and seated by Steve Milhollen and Louis Pressel of Wichita Falls, and candles for the service were lighted by Craig Rogers, of Keller, cousin of the groom, and Brian Lane of Wichita Falls.

The bride's mother was tastefully gowned in periwinkle blue chiffon overlaid with matching hand-embroidered lace adorned with satin ribbon trim and a row of buttons down the back. Her corsage was an ivory lily.

The groom's mother wore a fashionable original gown of aqua silk crepe de chine. The draped bodice and waistline featured tucks and pleats. A cluster of small ivory rosebuds formed the corsage that she wore to complement her gown.

Following the wedding, the reception was given by the bride's parents in the Fellowship Hall. The guests entered through a walkway of flowering topiary trees with matching ribbons leading to the registry table which held a candle inset with the couple's wedding invitation, guest book and plume pen. Mrs. Bennie Ezzell directed signatures of the guests.

Other reception assistants were Miss Karri Sadberry, Miss Kelly Morgan, Mrs. Joe Giles, Mrs. Lloyd Ashley, Mrs. Bill Lane and Mrs. Jimmy Willis.

The bride's table, covered with ivory lace over ivory taffeta holding the traditional wedding cake, stood out beautifully in the setting. A five-light silver candelabra glowing high above the table was based with sonia roses, alstroemeria and enchantment lilies.

A silver punch bowl was used on a separate table draped with a matching cover and set off with a garland of roses and lilies that graced the candelabra.

The groom's table was appointed with a German chocolate cake decorated with flowers and marzipan fruit, silver coffee service, and a centerpiece of fresh fruit and flowers.

A table for finger foods was covered like the bride's table and centered with a candelabra and fresh flower arrangement. The guest tables were decorated with fresh flowers to coordinate with the theme of fresh flowers, ferns, green plants and trees throughout the reception area.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at K-Bob's Steak House in Wichita Falls.

The bride was graduated from Holliday High School and Midwestern State Univ. The groom was graduated from Ft. Stockton High School. He attended MSU and is employed by Denton State School. They will live in North Richland Hills. For her going away costume, the bride chose a grey suit, wearing with it a pink sweater and ivory rose corsage.

Honored guests at the wedding were Mrs. C.V. Bryans of Wichita Falls, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Opal Rogers of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Leone Latham of Andrews, the groom's grandmothers, and his great-grandmother, Mrs. Annie Crouch of Wichita Falls.
