Little League teams have shots at titles

Iowa Park's Senior Little League baseball team could win the area title tomorrow night with a win over Burkburnett.

Playing at Sheppard AFB, the all-star team defeated Olney 16-6 Monday night and Jack County 13-3 Tuesday.

Because the tournament has a double elimination format, Iowa Park would play the Burk again Friday night, should the team lose Thursday.

The winner of the tournament will advance to the district tournament.

In the Major League area tourney being played here, Iowa Park dropped the tournament opener Monday to Sheppard, 2-1.

Burkburnett beat Sheppard 10-4 Tuesday.

Iowa Park and Sheppard were to play last night, to determine which will take on Burk for the title and the right to advance to the district meet, which is slated to get underway here Monday.

In that first game, Sheppard scored both its runs in the second inning. Both were unearned and the scores were made on an error.

Iowa Park got back into the game also scoring an unearned run in the third inning, but a rally later in the game failed to produce a score.

Chad Thompson scored for Iowa Park on a base hit by Jason Miller.

Two stolen vehicles recovered

Acting on a tip, police and sheriff deputies Thursday recovered two stolen recreation vehicles, and charges were in the process of being filed yesterday afternoon.

Both vehicles, one a three-wheeler and the other a four-wheeler, were reported to police as being stolen on the same day, June 22, from 409 W. Washington and 502 E. Washington.

The officers found both vehicles in the possession of a yet unidentified person in an area southwest of town called "River Rat Road."

Both vehicles were said to be heavily damaged.

Police are asking for information from anyone knowing of a brindle female pit bulldog wearing a brown collar that may have bitten a little boy on North Pacific Monday evening.

Judy Burgess said her two-year-old son was bitten by a dog of that description, about 7:30 p.m. The dog left the area before an officer could arrive at the location.

Unless it can be determined if the dog is free of rabies, the youth will have to start a series of shots within 10 days of the attack.

Attempted arson was reported last Thursday by postmaster Ken Turman, who told police some had been dropping lighted cigarettes into a mail drop box, apparently trying to start a fire.

Turman told police it was not an isolated case.

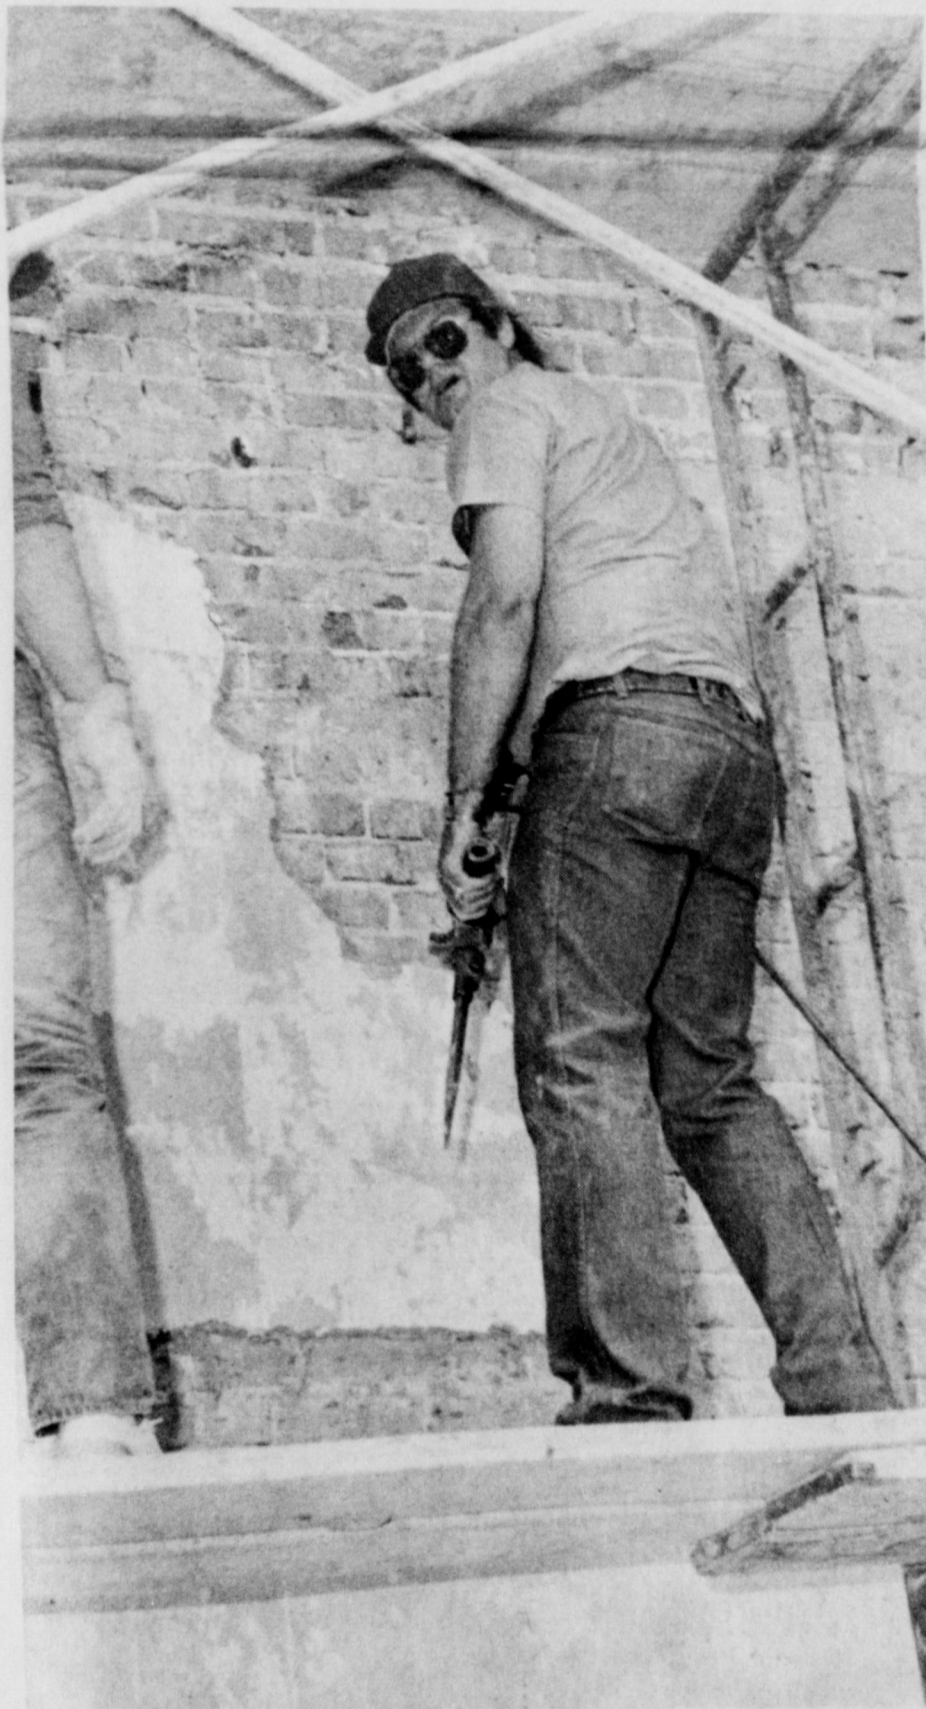

Police were also told Thursday by managers of both Iowa Park and Holliday Allsup's stores that a man who identified himself as Charles C. Reed III had rented VCRs and two movies at each store, but had not returned them.

Answering a complaint Sunday evening at Woodbriar Apartments that a man was creating a disturbance, officers arrested Roy Vernon Lackey, 35, on a charge of public intoxication.

The charge was dropped yesterday in municipal court, but Lackey was also wanted on an outstanding warrant from Wichita County Sheriff's Office for theft by check. He was turned over to a county officer.

Sherry Boss told police a vehicle had struck her car parked at 1018 Cornelia at 5:16 p.m. Sunday, and left the scene. Police are investigating.

WORKING TO IMPROVE - Tommy Key, owner of City Cleaners, pauses from his work of removing plaster from the east of his buildings. The work is in preparation for a crew to cover the brick plaster, similar to that used on the Iowa Park MuleSkinners' MuleBarn.

Council to request tax money be spent

The city council is expected to pass a resolution Monday night, requesting both the state and federal governments to spend tax money for the purpose it was collected.

The meeting is to begin at 7 p.m. in council chambers.

A warning from the Nortex Regional Planning Commission was received, indicating money collected for road improvement by both the state and federal government is being considered for use to balance budgets, according to James Barrington, city administrator.

The resolution to be considered will be directed to both governments, requesting the money be spent as intended when collected.

Both governments some two years ago added per-gallon taxes on gasoline for road improvements.

Aldermen will consider authorizing purchase of additional radio equipment for the police department, to be installed at the south fire station for cases of emergency.

A public appearance is scheduled by Mrs. Jim Barbour to request the city extend its concrete paving north on Johnson Road, in front of her home. The project is scheduled to be only to the north side of the intersection with Wagon Wheel, and the Barbour home is on the north side of that intersection.

The council will be asked to approve final payment for the public works building recently completed on FM 368 South, Barrington said.

Broyles, Yancey marry in ceremony July 4th

The Lakeview Church of God was the setting for a Fourth of July wedding where Miss Darla Ann Broyles and Monty Glenn Yancey, Jr. exchanged their double-ring vows in a ceremony officiated by Rev. Ole Olds, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Broyles and the groom is the son of Monte Yancey Sr. of Fort Worth and Mrs. Kenneth Garvin of Petrolia.

Illumination for the service was provided by votive candles flickering in crescent, spiral, and heart-shaped candelabra covered with boxwood greenery. The crescent candelabra that centered the altar was flanked by the spiral candelabra and on either side of these stood the heart candelabra. The tapers that burned in the unity candlestick during the ceremony added a glimmer of light to the setting.

The main floor of the church held brass stands of fern, white gladiola, carnations and mums, and the family pews were marked with long white satin bows.

Mrs. Ole Olds, organist, and Miss Rhonda Hale, soloist, presented the wedding music. Mrs. Olds created the mood for the wedding with prelude music while the guests were assembling. She accompanied Miss Hale for her vocal numbers, "Endless Love," "Forever," and "Two Candles" and played the traditional wedding marches.

Escorted and presented in marriage by her father, the bride looked adorable in a formal gown of white sheer organza and Chantilly lace of great beauty. The natural waist bodice was designed with a Chantilly lace neckline showered with pearls and iridescents, and long fitted sleeves trimmed in lace ruffles.

The full skirt featured deep lace trim and a flounce of organza ruffles set off with a hemline organza ruffled flounce that extended to form a chapel train.

Her Schiffler embroidery-trimmed bridal illusion veil flowed to waltz length from a small cap of the embroidery enhanced with silk flowers and pearls.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of orchid cattelias and forget me nots, white roses, stephanotis, baby orchids, deep orchid pixie roses,

MRS. MONTE GLENN YANCEY, JR.

English ivy showered with orchid satin picot streamers.

She followed bridal tradition by wearing the wedding ring of Mrs. Charles Hensley, her grandmother, for "something old," her wedding gown for "something new," the groom's mother's earrings for "something borrowed" and the garter, a favorite of so many brides, for "something blue."

The bride's attendants carried nosegays of orchid roses and forget me nots, white daisies and deep orchid pixie roses delicately touched with orchid picot bows and ribbons.

Each wore a long lavender sheer gown featuring a princess neckline trimmed with white lace, a full skirt that attracted attention with a scalloped lace hemline caught with bows at the scallops.

The trio of attendants were Miss Lisa Selby, maid of honor, Miss Kim Smith and Miss Pam Alderson, the bridesmaids.

Candy Twilligear, the flower girl, wore a frock fashioned in the same mode as those of the attendants. She carried a natural basket that contained flowers and ribbons to match those in the attendants' bouquets.

The groom wore an all-white tuxedo with tails and a boutonniere highlighted with a white rose encircled with baby's breath and stephanotis.

Todd Twilligear, ring bearer, carried a heart-shaped white satin pillow. His attire matched that of the best man, groomsmen and ushers who wore silver tuxedos with lavender ties and cummerbunds and boutonnières of white carnations and greenery.

The best man was Doug Flack and the groomsmen were Mike Davis and David Mayo. The ushers and candlelighters were George Lathan and Johnny Twilligear.

The three fathers of the couple wore white carnation and greenery boutonnières with their black tuxedos.

Mrs. Broyles, mother of the bride, wore a corsage of white carnations, pink roses and baby's breath with her long pink beaded chiffon dress over Qiana, and Mrs. Garvin, mother of the groom, wore a corsage of baby blue orchids with her light blue pleated chiffon dress over Qiana.

The bride's parents gave the reception at the church following the wedding.

Impressive beauty marked the refreshment table draped with a white taffeta cloth accented with garlands of English ivy caught to white lace bows at each corner and in the center. The bows were adorned with orchid tulle bows and forget me nots.

The colors of silver, white and orchid were tastefully treated in table appointments and decorations to create refreshing charm. The silver candelabra centerpiece held white candles and a striking arrangement of white gladiola, roses, carnations, phalaenopsis orchids, lavender roses and forget me nots.

In the foreground, a silver dish held orchid heart-shaped mints, and the orchid napkins were marked with the names of the bride and groom and their wedding date and a wish "A Lifetime of Loving, Sharing and Caring."

The silver punch bowl and cake at either side of the table completed the decor. The beautifully and delicately decorated white cake featured a Rambling Rose theme expressed in garlands of tiny wild roses in shades of lavender complemented with tiny white doves. The cake set above Grecian pillars that gave room for a fountain splashing with orchid-colored water. The top ornament of white satin bells tied in effectively with the dainty theme of cake decorations.

Mrs. Al Harrison, Mrs. Bill Pettit and Miss Renee Smith presided at the table during the reception.

The reception assistants and wedding musicians wore orchid and white carnation corsages.

Mrs. Kenneth Garvin, mother of the groom and Mrs. Charles Roos, his aunt, were hostesses for the rehearsal dinner at the church.

The bride was graduated from Iowa Park High School in 1986 and is employed by Mary Kay Cosmetics. The groom was graduated from Petrolia High School and is employed by Ross Tile Co. They will live in Wichita Falls.

Early revival times recalled

The Night BW of First Baptist Church met Monday with Mrs. Bill Curry. Eighteen members and one guest were present.

During the business directed by Mrs. Roy Smith, it was voted to remember Eleanor Bell, volunteer missionary to American Samoa, with a stamp shower for the July outreach project. A nominating committee composed of Mmes. W.F. Booher, D.O. James and J.T. Parker was elected.

Mrs. E.T. Patterson had charge of the missionary birthday calendar and Mrs. Parker led the program taken from the Royal Service magazine entitled "The Way We Were Yesterday" which emphasized earlier revival movements in Europe, the American colonies Williams-town, Mass., India, Korea and Shantung, China.

The topical discussions given by Miss Helen Reed, Mmes. Homer Blalock, J.A. Berg, James and C.L. McKinnon stressed the debt of gratitude owed to Martin Luther, Jonathan Edwards, William Carey, Marie Munson and others in the efforts to spread the revival fires in earlier days.

Cook of the Week

"I really enjoy cooking, and I treasure the recipes handed down by my family and those given to me by friends," stated Jtoy (Mrs. Scott) Toller.

Her recipes this week attest to the popularity of spices in today's cookery both by experienced cooks and those with less experience. Webster defines spice as "any aromatic vegetable product used in cooking to season and to flavor food." Some of the ones that Jtoy's recipes this week call for are basil, garlic powder and salt, onion salt, oregano and curry.

Basil is one of the spices that has an interesting history. It is a pungent herb related to mint and has been used in the kitchen since at least 400 B.C. The Greek physician-botanist, Chryssippos, described it as one of the favorite seasonings. According to an ancient legend, St. Helena, mother of Emperor Constantine, was told in a vision that she would find the "True Cross" in a place where the air was sweet with perfume, and she found it under a patch of basil.

Pagan cults attributed a religious character to a herb basilikon which meant "kingly." In many countries, custom demanded that the king himself cut the first basil of the season with a golden sickle iron. Sweet basil is a native of India where it was a plant consecrated to Vishnu and it played a part in religious observances.

Basil was a sign of mourning to the Greeks; the Romans classed it with the rose and with the jasmine as lovers' emblems. It is popular today to flavor turtle soup in England, the national chicken soup of Yugo Slav and the pesto of Genoa. It is planted around houses in Morocco because it is believed to keep the mosquitoes out. So much for its history, we who live in the United States use and appreciate basil as a spice to season and flavor foods.

The former Jtoy Chapman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Chapman, and Scott Toller, her husband, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Toller. They have one daughter, Amanda, 20 months old. They are members of the Faith Baptist Church where she is the nursery coordinator. He is employed by Taylor and Company in Wichita Falls. Jtoy likes cooking, sewing and cross-stitching.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

Somebody apparently is trying to promote an Iowa Park city alderman to the position of governor.

Bud Mercer found a professional-made sign in his front yard Tuesday stating, "Mercer for Governor."

He's still trying to find out who put it there. The promoter had apparently been in New Mexico recently. I understand there's a candidate for that state's top post named Mercer.

Either that, or Bud's sure got some high aspirations.

The National Football League players' union has made a major blunder by acting exactly like I figured they would, concerning that required drug testing the commissioner announced this week.

It makes no difference what the situation, who's affected, or anything. Boy howdy, if it's not in their contract, it can't be done!

When will the professional athletes learn?

If it's not fighting about something in their contract, it's demanding more money. And, coming at a time when an awful lot of folks don't even have a job, too.

I think I said it once before, "I've about had it with professional sports and the type of people who play them."

Hats off to everyone here, for the way you acted over the July 4th holidays!

Virtually everyone was careful with their fireworks, we didn't have any major accidents, vehicle or drownings, and in general, it was a good'un.

A good word should be put in for Sheppard Air Force Base, too. That institution's annual fireworks display probably brings more pleasure and entertainment to more people in this part of the country than any other single event each year.

Have you been out on West Magnolia and seen the Little League baseball fields?

If not, join a lot of local and area people at one of the games, and see how nice the fields look. It took an awful lot of work by a lot of unpaid people, and our community can be proud.

If you're not among those who have adopted the Neighborhood Watch policy, may I encourage you to begin?

There's been a lot of stealing here and in area towns, and I think it's going to get worse, because of the economy.

Some people who don't have work may try to get some money by taking your property.

And in some cases, the children of a family with financial problems might decide to get what they want.

It's not a crisis situation yet, but it could very well be as time passes and money gets even tighter, which has been predicted.

If you see someone in your neighborhood you don't know, or doing something suspicious, day or night, call the police to check out the situation.

I'll guarantee you our police are welcoming such an opportunity. It's much easier to make "dry" runs to find out what somebody's doing where they normally aren't, than to investigate a criminal act after it's already happened.

To the editor:

Saturday, on the way from my home to Iowa Park, I passed a beige pickup with a blue bug shield across the front of it. I took notice because strange cars and trucks can mean trouble. As they drove by I noticed the bed was packed with trimmings from a tree. I was in a hurry so I didn't follow this man and woman. I should have made the time!

Returning home I had to get out of the car twice and move their trash from the roadway.

These two people didn't even bother to throw their trash in the ditch where it would only clog ditches, cause flooding, etc.

They had dumped their's in the center of a paved road where it could cause a car accident.

I hope their fruit tree looks nice. We all have to pay taxes to have county trucks come out and pick up what people like them toss around.

If your neighbor has a beige cab and a half pickup with a blue bug shield on the front, beware. You may find his trash in your yard next.

Thank you,
Aquilla Carillo-Miranda

Worth Quoting

We don't remember his last name.

We remember his first name because it was Martin from Maryland.

Shrapnel from a German Tiger tank had torn away a piece of the heart muscle -- and he had lain for hours on the battlefield in Italy before taken prisoner by German Panzer units.

We first met him in a POW hospital compound near Madgenberg, Germany. Later we were both transferred by cattle car to Stalag IIB near Danzig.

Because of lack of medicine, his injury never completely healed and he was troubled by an open wound that drained continually and refused to close.

All of his actions -- eating, walking, talking, dressing, playing were in slow motion because of his weakened heart.

But despite his wounds, he was a delightful person. He could find humor in any situation at any hour.

Drafted at the age of 22, he had been a shoe salesman in his father's store. His father was a native of England and had emigrated to this country around the turn of the century.

He could tell stories about women buying shoes that would send the patients in the POW hospital ward into gales of laughter.

And no one laughed louder and longer than Martin. He enjoyed telling the stories and his laughter was infectious. But he paid a heavy price. Prolonged laughter is hard on the heart and Martin would usually wind up in a spasm of coughing and gasping.

He passed the repatriation board as being unfit for further combat duty and we were shipped out of the camp on a Red Cross train to Switzerland.

At Bern, we got on the train bringing German POWs from the States and they got on the train heading back into Berlin.

With Swiss guards aboard, our train roared to Marseille, France where we went through a three-day de-lousing program on an American hospital ship before being transferred aboard the Swedish liner Gripsholm.

The luxury liner had five decks and the former air force, infantry, paratroopers and rangers were assigned to a deck -- and it was first class luxury to which few of us had ever been exposed.

A private dining room complete with table napkins, silverware, crystal, and a male waiter assigned to every two tables. And the food was out of this world -- except no one could really eat but a few bites of the rich food and wine without becoming nauseated.

The state department had notified families of the repatriated prisoners as to the arrival date at Staten Island, New York.

And the crew manning the radio room of the liner was kept hopping delivering messages from moms, dads, wives or sweethearts planning to greet the returnees.

And Martin informed us that not only were his parents driving up from Maryland for the occasion but his high school sweetheart of four years was to be on hand to greet him.

Arrangements had been carried out to supply everyone with new uniforms, new gear, pocket money -- it was a festive occasion.

And the morning of February 19th, 1945, a navy boat pulled alongside the liner and a 60-piece navy band was placed aboard.

As the skyline of New York came into view, everyone rushed topside to catch their first glimpse of the land that many had left three and four years earlier.

The liner moved slowly into the harbor and tugs started hooting, ships started blowing their horns and signals, and the navy band was playing loud, clear, and with enthusiasm.

It all seemed to come to a climax when the liner slid by the Statue of Liberty. Her outstretched arms seemed not only to welcome but to caress, and tears and emotion that had been kept silently locked away as prisoners, bubbled to the surface.

The tears, the emotion, the excitement were too much for Martin of Maryland.

Out of the corner of our eye, we saw him slip from the railing and fall to the deck. By the time corpsmen arrived at his prone figure, he was gone.

This week, we celebrate the remodeled, refurbished famous Statue of Liberty, and rightly so.

The old gal has welcomed home not only the poor, the hungry, the immigrant, but also the native son.

But sometimes, as a symbol of liberty and freedom, she's just too much!

Pork producers urged to vote

Area pork producers have through Friday to vote in the USDA sponsored state-wide election to select individuals to an industry-wide body that will administer a promotion, research and consumer information order for pork.

Candidates receiving the highest number of votes in each state will be eligible for appointment to the state's allotted positions on the National Pork Producers Delegate Body.

Voting in Wichita County is at the Extension office in Wichita Falls, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Every pork producer can vote in any county in their home state after signing a voter registration list certifying that they are pork producers in that state.

Votes will be tallied Tuesday morning at the ASCS office here.

Weather, wildflowers cause mowing delays

Weeds and tall grasses have all but taken over the right of way on many of the highways in the nine-county area of District Three, but there are some good reasons.

The right of way is never mowed until wildflowers quit blooming and go to seed. Normally the flowers go to seed sooner than they have this year, but weather has played a cruel trick on the wildflowers and the mowing alike this year.

In areas where there are no wildflowers, and no mowing as yet, the ground has been too wet to support the heavy tractors and mowers.

Wheat growers have experienced much the same problem. Often when mowing is done while the ground is wet, the result is worse than the weeds were.

Then, when the ground dries and the mowers can start, everything needs mowing at once...and it takes a while to get around to all the 2,655 miles in District Three.

Maintenance engineer Frank Ragland of Wichita Falls says the tall grass and weeds really go against the grain of the department because the department works at having attractive right of way.

But this year has been very unusual in that the winter was dry, then everything stayed wet for several weeks. Consequently, the timelock on the wildflowers went haywire and in some areas of the district the wildflowers are just now starting to bloom.

Ragland added that letting the wildflowers go to seed is an effective method of insuring that flowers will be back again, even more effective than seeding new areas with new seed and the department feels that wildflowers are important.

Ragland said mowing will be underway as soon as possible and the department appreciates the patience of the motorists in understanding why the mowers are not already out in full force.

Shower fetes bride elect

Miss Georgia Alsop, bride-elect of Paul Blackwell, was feted at a lovely miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Joe Singer.

The co-hostesses were Mmes. Richard Davis, Kenneth Davis, Bill Curry, Alton Yeakley, Bill Bates, Clyde Patterson, John Roberts, Joe Ward, Vern Horsky, Johnny Coker, Ross Roberts, Afton Pike and Bob Cole.

The honoree's colors of blue and white were tastefully reflected in decorations throughout the house beginning with a blue and white heart-shaped wreath on the front door.

The bride's book where guests registered was placed on an antique music stand decorated with a blue bow accented with white wedding bells in the entry.

As guests entered the game room, they were greeted by Barbie and Ken dolls standing on an ivy-entwined arch on top of the pool and gift table dressed like the other gift tables in several rooms in the house. Each was draped with ivory satin to the floor and accented with a blue silk top and full length ivory lace overlay.

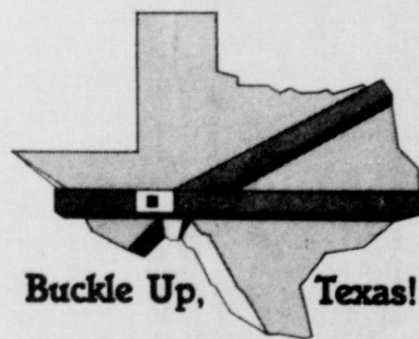

The bride and close friends who assisted her in unwrapping her handsome assortment of gifts sat at a table in the den covered with a blue hand-loomed cloth made in Ireland overlaid with an antique hand-embroidered cloth.

The cloth on the refreshment table duplicated the ivory satin and lace complemented with blue silk covers on the gift tables. The centerpiece was an old pressed glass bride's basket filled with white daisies and blue-tinted baby's breath flanked by pressed glass holders filled with light blue candles. White feathered love birds holding rings were suspended over the centerpiece to enhance the romantic mood.

The white cake was adorned with wedding bells and blue roses, and the table decor was completed with the silver coffee service and crystal punch service at table extremities.

Special guests were Mrs. Jimmy Alsop and Mrs. George Blackwell, mothers of the betrothed couple, and Mrs. Tim Blackwell, of Wichita Falls, the future groom's sister-in-law.

The couple will exchange their matrimonial vows Aug. 2 at the First Baptist Church.

Auction to benefit children

"You name it and we'll probably have it," says Joe Parker of Byers, head honcho of the Crippled Children's Livestock Auction coming up July 25 and 26 in Wichita Falls.

The annual two-day auction is the largest source of support for North Texas Rehab Center for treatment of disabled children and adults.

Stanley Williamson of Iowa Park is Wichita County auction chairman. Other workers from Iowa Park are Mike Castles and Gene Jordan. Persons wishing to donate livestock, merchandise or cash should contact either of these workers. There have been many patients from Iowa Park who have received treatment at the Rehab Center.

Livestock will be sold at 11 a.m. Friday, July 25 at Arrowhead Sales Co. on the Jacksboro Highway. An all-day silent auction of handcrafted items, new and antique merchandise and a baked goods sale will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday with the big merchandise sale and barbecue at 5 p.m. at Wichita Falls Activities Center, 1001 Indiana.

The Light Crust Doughboys will play from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday.

Parker predicted the auction would be a good one and urged the public to "come out to both the livestock and merchandise sales." The auction, he said, is unusual in that donors are generous in giving quality livestock and merchandise and then in coming to the auction and buying.

"We've always been able to count on farmers and ranchers to come through for this auction. We need help more than ever this year to treat the increased number of disabled children and adults who come to the Rehab Center."

Garnish workshop set July 21-22

You do not have to be a gourmet cook to serve meals that look like they came out of a picture in a magazine. Fruits, vegetables, a small sharp knife, and little time can turn a simple meal into a masterpiece.

Two days of learning how to create food garnishes are scheduled July 21 and 22 at the 4-H Auditorium, 1626 Midwestern Pkwy. in Wichita Falls. Classes will be from 2 to 4 p.m. each day.

The workshop is being sponsored by the Wichita County Home Economics Committee. Instructors will be Barbara Cornelius and Bethann Oswald, Wichita County Extension Agents, and Pam Prather, Wilbarger County Extension Agent.

A small registration fee will be charged to cover the cost of foods used in the workshop. Reservations are due by July 18 and can be made by calling the County extension office, 766-0131.

An Optimist club is a voluntary organization of civic-minded men banded together in the modern tradition for progressive thought and action in community service. Typical memberships, to which members are admitted by invitation only, are composed of solid citizens drawn from business, industry, agriculture and the professions. Community service is their byword, objective and creed, recognizing that they must contribute something to the life of the community from which they and their families draw daily benefits.

There is no greater opportunity for personal participation in community affairs and service than that to be found in an Optimist club. Couple uproots after 35 years in same home

By RAFAAN GALENTINE
Special Writer

How many of us could live in the same house 35 years, a house that holds the memories of children growing up, of close friends and neighbors, and then sell almost everything and move 1,500 miles away from it?

That's exactly what Len and Judy Meyers did, two years ago.

"We had visited our daughter, Karen Church, and her family, here for 10 years," explains Judy. "About the same time Len was to retire, Karen told us they wouldn't be moving back east. So we decided to move here."

It was a decision made with few regrets, though leaving a lifetime of friends was the hardest part. But the telephone makes keeping up to date a little easier.

Moving 1,500 miles from the hustle of New Jersey to the relaxed setting of Iowa Park gave them a few surprises.

"In New Jersey, when you get groceries, you have to bag everything yourself. Here, they not only bag them for you; they take them right out to the car. I really enjoyed getting used to that," she laughs.

Married 42 years, Len and Judy are full of contradictions that compliment each other. Her favorite music is Country and Western, while his is the big-band sound of Frank Sinatra. His favorite season is summer and her's is winter. But their closeness is evident in their humor, enjoyment of sports, and their hobbies.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Meyers

Their home is filled with the results of both their talents. Almost every room contains furniture hand-made by Len. Hutches, end tables, night stands, cabinets and a coffee table all show his ability to bring out the beauty in a piece of wood. A record cabinet is concealed within a small settee that he designed.

"When I'd come home from a rough day at work, I'd relax in my workshop making furniture. Over the years I've made pieces for Karen, the bedroom furniture for her children, and lots of pieces for our nieces and nephews. I like working with wood and having something nice come out of it," he said.

While his talent graces the floor, Judy's adorns the walls.

In their livingroom are four paintings: on one wall hangs a vase of roses done in muted pink; another wall holds an antelope leaping across a mountain boulder; a third wall has a lake scene, and on an easel sits an unfinished painting of a flowing river draped in snow.

Also in her workroom stands her much-used sewing machine and all of her crochet yarns and patterns.

With all of their hobbies and talents, Len and Judy still find time to travel, having just returned from Nashville, where they enjoyed a vacation of siteseeing.

It would be a tribute to Iowa Park if it were 35 years before they decided to move again.

Pecan trees need care

By DAVID FINLEY
County Agent

Pecans need special attention in the summer. That means applying sprays controlling casebearer aphids and scab, pruning and irrigating. The time for applying the second generation pecan nut casebearer spray is here.

I have already begun seeing eggs on the nutlets of some varieties. Sprays containing Zolone, Diazinon and Sevin are being used by home owners. Commercial growers are using Pydrin.

Pecan growers have had to worry about sticky, sugar-covered leaves every summer due to aphid infestations. Zolone and malathion sprays can give home owners good control of these pesky pests.

Summer drought is a sure bet every year, and pecans will suffer if they do not receive at least one inch of water per week from June through September. Actually, two inches is optimum.

A mature pecan tree will use more than 100 gallons of water per day. If trees go more than three weeks without water, serious crop loss can occur.

Weeds and grass also use soil moisture, so keep competitive vegetation to a minimum under pecan trees. With shallow soil and vegetation under trees, a weekly irrigation will be needed.

On young pecan trees, weeds slow down growth more than anything else, so use a contact herbicide such as Roundup to keep the limb spread area weed-free.

Pecan trees less than four years of age should have only one main trunk. If two, three or four trunks develop, simply cut the weaker ones out and leave the strongest one.

Summer pruning of small limbs less than one inch in diameter can also be practiced. My old saying on pruning pecan trees is prune when the pruners are sharp and that is just about any time.

Young trees also should receive zinc sprays every two weeks to insure maximum growth. Make your final nitrogen application this month because later applications can, and probably will, result in freeze injury in December or January.

Freeze injury is showing up in parts of Texas on mature pecan trees.

Varieties which were productive last fall, such as Wichita or Mahan, have been hit the hardest. Since the pecan has a short chilling requirement of only 400 hours, it can have active sap as long as weather is mild.

MOTHER'S STRESS CAN AFFECT NEWBORN'S BIRTHWEIGHT

Stress, particularly physical stress, experienced by pregnant women can affect the birthweight of babies born to these women.

These are the findings of the Institute of Medicine's Committee to Study the Prevention of Low Birthweight.

The committee found that maternal physical stresses are associated with infants of lower birthweight.

The evidence is less conclusive for psychological stress.

Growth retardation was most pronounced among babies born to mothers whose jobs required standing much of the time, especially late into the third trimester.

COOPERATIVE CELEBRATORS - Residue from the July 4th celebration line an area on the south side of Lake Iowa Park. Area residents were encouraged by officials to be as safe as possible with their fireworks this year, and the public was cooperative. Very few grassfires were reported over the weekend.

Three teachers hired

HOLLIDAY - The school board at its meeting Monday evening approved hiring of three teachers and two bus drivers, and accepted the resignation of a teacher.

Hired were Virgil Womack, assistant Vocational Agriculture teacher; Jerry Tuck, high school social studies; Sharon Barker, to be assigned, and bus drivers Carol Parker and Danny Holman.

The resignation of Mary Lou Schaeffner, fourth grade teacher, was accepted.

A change in school policy on which action possibly will be taken at the next meeting will be adopting the Texas Education Agency's form of teacher appraisal for the career ladder, to be used in cases of contract non-renewal, according to Supt. Dan Owens.

Board members established an action which will be followed in the future, that all local policy adoptions will be approved only after a second reading.

Policies handed-down by the state, however, will be adopted with only one reading.

Two changes were made in the school's Discipline Management Policy, and were forwarded to the Texas Education Agency for final approval.

They were the procedures of listing offences and consequences, Owens said.

The superintendent was selected by the board to represent Holliday ISD on the Region Nine Service Center board.

No date has yet been set for the board to work on its 1986-87 budget, Owens said.

He explained information from the state on how much money to expect from that source is still being sought.

Holliday's school district lost some $31-million in tax values, due to problems in the oil industry.

Owens said the board will have to take a long look at taxes this year, because of state finances, not knowing whether the average 97-percent local taxes will be collected, and with the knowledge public education will cost more because of mandated programs of House Bill 72.

State's money picture looking worse - Bullock

Lawmakers should expect the state's budget deficit to go higher, according to the state comptroller.

"A skyrocketing unemployment rate will be one key factor moving the state's budget deficit well above the current $2.3-billion. Workers without jobs and paychecks reduce economic activity and taxes," stated Bob Bullock.

He said the 10.5-percent jobless rate announced last week is not the only economic indicator that will push the budget higher.

"We expect to finish a new revenue estimate before Aug. 1, and, frankly, none of the indicators contain an ounce of good news," he said.

Bullock said losses in the oil and gas industry are having a detrimental effect on most other areas of the Texas economy as well as other industries.

"I'm not going to second guess the exact number we'll be facing at the end of the month, but with deteriorating conditions in the Texas economy it will be substantially higher than the current estimates."

Bullock said besides oil, construction and unemployment there are other factors affecting the state's revenue picture.

Federal energy rulings, court cases, Gramm-Rudman, loss of state income interest, to name a few, pose potential losses in the hundreds of millions, Bullock said.

He said analysts working with the latest tax and economic data have preliminary findings that indicate the state's budget crisis has not leveled out.

The camp is open for all people over 16 years of age wishing to participate.

Beginning at 8:30 a.m. both days, the camp is considered to be an excellent chance for prospective students wanting to play on the school's first team this fall, to be seen by Coach Danny Watkins, as well as the Phillies scouts.

No admission will be charged, but athletes should take with them spikes, cap, workout clothes and glove, but no personal equipment.

Tryouts will be held at the VRJC baseball field, on campus.

Hints For Homemakers

Reap The Harvest In Fresh Fruit Salads

Light, easy-to-prepare meals are popular, no matter what the season. America's bounty of fresh fruits provides creative cooks with endless possibilities for salads that taste delicious, provide important nutrients and require little in advance preparation time.

Cooks who like to prepare meals early in the day often meet the problem of cutting up fresh fruits that can turn an unappetizing brown by serving time.

Many busy homemakers have discovered a solution to the dilemma. There's a product available that keeps apples, pears, bananas, peaches and other fruits temptingly fresh for hours.

It's an ascorbic-citric acid mixture known as A*C*M Ever-Fresh and it not only retards browning but enhances the flavors of most fruits.

Try this fruit wheel salad as an impressive delicious dessert or snack.

FRESH FRUIT WHEEL (Serves 8 to 10)

For Crust:

- 2 Cups Sifted All Purpose Flour
- 1 Cup Butter
- 1/4 Cup Granulated Sugar

For Filling:

- 8 Ounces Cream Cheese
- 1/2 Cup Whipping Cream, whipped
- 1/3 Cup Sugar
- 2 Tablespoons Lemon Juice
- 1 Teaspoon Almond Extract
- 1 Teaspoon Vanilla Extract

For Fruit Topping:

- 2-3 Peaches
- 2 Bananas
- 2 Pint Baskets Strawberries
- 1/2 Lb. Seedless Grapes
- 1 Teaspoon A*C*M Ever-Fresh

2 Tablespoons Water
1/2 Cup Light Colored Jelly (Apple, Apricot, etc.)

Make crust by combining two cups sifted all-purpose flour, one cup of butter and a half-cup of granulated sugar in mixing bowl. Blend with electric mixer until soft dough forms. Chill for half an hour. Place chilled dough in 12-inch round pizza pan and press firmly to make smooth, even, flat crust. Bake 20 minutes at 350° until golden brown. Cool.

For filling, beat together eight ounces of cream cheese, one-third cup sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice and one teaspoon each almond and vanilla extracts. Fold in one-half cup heavy cream, whipped. Spread filling on cooled tart shell.

Dissolve one tablespoon A*C*M Ever-Fresh in two tablespoons water. Slice two peeled bananas and two or three peeled peaches into solution. Toss to coat evenly. Wash and stem two pints of strawberries and a half pound seedless grapes. Drain on paper toweling and pat dry. Drain bananas and peaches and pat dry. Arrange fruit in circular rows on top of filling. Brush fruit with a half-cup light-colored jelly (apple, apricot, etc.) that has been melted to make a glaze.
