Trustees set meetings to work on budget

Iowa Park school trustees got their first look at anticipated revenues and expenditures for 1985-86 during a called meeting Friday night.

And while nothing is yet settled as far as expenditures and a tax rate, one thing is generally concluded: taxes are going up.

Another meeting will be held on the budget Monday evening, and a second is scheduled Wednesday.

Trustees asked Supt. Glen Mitchell to have a computer printout of expenditures for the present year, so they can compare the present costs with the proposed budget for next year. They expressed hope of trimming the budget where they can, in order to hold down the rate increase as much as possible.

First proposed budget called for expenditures of $5,072,188, an increase of approximately $241,000 over the 1984-85 budget.

But what the trustees want to know, since any budget is a guess of expenses for an entire year, is how accurate a guess was the present budget with actual costs.

Part of the cost increase comes from a $9-million loss of tax base. Then, according to information from Austin, Iowa Park can expect to receive $133,988 less from state than it did last year.

Adding to the dilemma of the school board, is the knowledge more space for lower grade classrooms will be needed by next year. That is so the state-mandated teacher/pupil ratio of 22:1 can be met at Kidwell campus.

The preliminary budget calls for the following: high school, $1,101,415, up $163,527; vocational, $239,689, down $63,308; junior high, $580,733, up $57,616; Bradford, $518,864, up $14,706; Kidwell, $496,982, up $137,664; Special Education, $280,126, up $4,468; athletics, $99,372, up $14,670.

Also transportation, $169,450, up $5,451; maintenance and operation, $602,575, down $65,068; cafeteria, $343,000, up $10,000; administration, $355,956, down $33,314; debt service, $190,002, down $5,781; swimming pool, $24,637, no change; Chapter 2, $11,911, up $400, and Chapter 1, $57,476, no change.

While the anticipated surplus at the end of this year is projected at $1.4-million, trustees are already anticipating cutting into that fund.

However, Supt. Mitchell encouraged the board to not cut the fund below the million-dollar mark, stating he felt the school should have that amount to start each year, in order to not have to borrow until tax money is received.

OTHER ACTION

The board approved specifications to advertise for a new tractor mower and a scoreboard for Hawk Stadium. Members were told a tractor was now being leased, to keep up with mowing needs, because one of two others could not be feasibly repaired.

The scoreboard at Hawk Stadium has been pieced together so many years that trustees said it was time to replace it. Estimated cost is $5,000. The unit was purchased in used condition from Midwestern State Univ. when the local stadium was built in 1970.

When it was proposed that the concrete bleacher seats at Hawk Stadium be replaced in a multi-year phasing, the trustees balked.

Eventhough they heard figures of costs to maintain the present seating, they said such purchases should be put in the budget at the beginning of a year. "If it's so critical that it needs to be done, it should have been in the budget," stated Jimmy Howell. Martha Dudley agreed and suggested the bleachers be put in the budget

EMERGENCY TREATMENT - Yellow Freight System driver C.E. Smith receives a checkup by Iowa Park EMT Mike Dozier yesterday morning after his truck overran a pavement packer west of Iowa Park on US 287. His two-trailer truck and the packer came to rest some 280 feet from the point of impact. The packer operator was transported by pickup to Wichita General for treatment and last evening was said to be in fair condition. Smith was taken to Bethania Hospital, after the ambulance's tire was changed because of a flat, where he was treated and released. Both vehicles were headed west at the time of the accident, which occurred near the entrance to Quail Valley Estates.

Yule decorations ordered, November delivery

The first-year's order of Christmas decorations, financed by voluntary donations of citizens, is expected to be received sometime in November.

Mrs. Philip Welch, who offered the suggestion on financing the decorations and was appointed to a committee governing the project, said the initial order was valued at just under $3,000.

The 100 block of West Park will be the first to be decorated, because the committee felt, with its limited budget, decorating one block would be better than attempting to stretch the budget over a larger area would be futile.

Utilizing the three light poles in the block's median, the largest decorative piece will be placed on the middle pole. It will be a 15-foot frame in the shape of a tree, and be enhanced by 137 lights.

Each of the other poles will have two smaller trees, and each will have 22 lights.

Mrs. Welch said the committee has not yet decided whether to continue westward on Park, or go to other commercial areas, with the immediate future year acquisitions.

The committee is planning a lighting ceremony, possibly the week before Thanksgiving, complete with choral groups and encouraging a large turnout of residents.

FINANCING

It was Mrs. Welch's suggestion that the community might acquire Christmas decorations for the streets through a minimal, voluntary donation being added onto residents' city utility bills.

Iowa Park had been without decorations the past few years, with its decorations, purchased second-hand several years ago, became too tattered to be used and were destroyed.

The city council, after checking with legal counsel, readily agreed to serve as the collecting agency for the fund.

Monthly utility bills include the wording "Optional .10" on the right hand side of the statement. Residents have the option of allowing the city to continue adding it onto the bill, or of having it discontinued.

Estimates are that only four residents have asked to have the donation removed from the bills, and they were.

By the same token, residents also have the option of increasing their monthly donation. This can be done merely by contacting city hall, by phone or in person, and indicating how much the increase should be.

Those who might not receive monthly city utility bills, but want to make donations for the decorations, can do so by making donations at city hall. A tax-deductible receipt will be issued.

Because the program was begun late in the fiscal year, the full amount of the initial purchase will not be reached through the monthly donations. Mrs. Welch said she will be contacting various organizations, asking small donations to make up the balance, estimated at about $500.

On a personal note, Mrs. Welch explained her two children were proud to be participating in the fund donations. They do it by having 10-cents deducted from their monthly allowances, and the Welch family donation was increased by that amount after notifying the city for billing purposes.

The committee is planning to have a booth at the Whoop-T-Do, where pictures of the decorations ordered will be on display, and donations to the fund also can be accepted.

"We're very excited about the project," commented Mrs. Welch, "because our feedback is so encouraging."

Pre-registration set for new students here

Pre-registration dates for all students who did not attend Iowa Park schools last year have been announced by Supt. Glen Mitchell.

For students who will attend Kidwell Elementary, which includes early childhood through second grade, the dates will be Aug. 21-22, from 9 a.m. until 12-noon, and 1-3 p.m.

Melon show set Friday

The Wichita Falls Farmers Market will hold its sixth annual melon show Friday. Melons should be entered by 9:30 a.m. with judging to begin at 10.

Entries should consist of two melons per variety - one to be cut and the other for display. Tim Hunter, superintendent of the Iowa Park Experiment Station, will judge the entries.

Sliced watermelon will be given away from 10:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. and awards will be given to winning entries. The show is open to all area growers of watermelon and cantaloupes.

Council to receive street requests, development plat

The city council Monday night will hear a request to open a street, consider action to close another, and also receive a plat for a new housing addition.

Dale Williams is to appear before the council, when it meets at 7 p.m. in council chambers, to request permission to construct a home at the corner of Texowa and Richland, east of Garden Valley but on a dedicated street that has not yet been developed.

The council will then hold a public hearing on a proposal to close the unpaved portion of East Valley Drive, so it can be channeled to carry water from the housing area more efficiently and therefore relieve flooding conditions in that area during heavy rainfall periods.

Developer Rip Smith is to offer a plat for Shiloh 3, which if accepted by the council would lead to annexation of the area north of Shiloh 2. The area reportedly was proposed earlier as a golf course, which never got off the ground. Entrance would be off Johnson Road.

Another public appearance is sought by W.L. Atkinson, who is requesting water service to property on West Smith that adjoins the city limits. Tentatively scheduled, according to Administrator James Barrington, is a resolution which would require the demolition of a building at 105 W. Park.

The council is to consider an agreement to contract services of the Soil Conservation Service for work at the sanitary landfill and in the area of Lafayette and Hawthorn. Aldermen will also discuss advertising for bids for a pothole patching machine.

Rehab Center's drive success

Proceeds to date total $192,200 from the recent Crippled Children's Livestock Auction benefiting North Texas Rehab Center, Wichita Falls.

Buyers and donors "came through for another successful auction," Joe Parker, general chairman, said in expressing appreciation to all ranchers, farmers, merchants and others who participated in this 17th annual auction.

Cash donations and livestock sold at additional sales will continue to boost the total. All indications are that the two-day livestock and merchandise auctions will break last year's $200,000 record total, Parker said.

To date livestock brought $49,700; merchandise, $69,000; cash, $73,000. It's not too late to donate cash, Parker added. All proceeds remain with the Rehab Center to treat disabled children and adults.

The auction is the largest source of support for the Rehab Center.

Stanley Williamson, Iowa Park, is Wichita County chairman and Center board member. Other committee members from Iowa Park are Mike Castles, Rehab Center board president, and Gene Jordan, board treasurer.

Denton, Dozier wedding held Saturday evening

The setting for the Saturday evening wedding at the Church of God where Julie Carol Denton and Michael Kenneth Dozier exchanged their vows was created by a votive brass arch entwined with boxwood greenery scattered with ivory forget me nots flanked by spiral votive candelabra trimmed to match the arch.

The picture was completed with two footed brass stands that held spreading arrangements of white mums, carnations, snapdragons and gladioli, and leather leaf greenery on either side of the step leading to the altar, and the unity candlestick.

White silk bows marked the church pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cockrum and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Smith. The officiants for the double-ring service were Rev. Ole Olds, pastor of the Church of God, and Rev. Charles Hensley, pastor of the First Assembly of God.

Miss Patty Glover, organist, gave a prelude concert of favorite wedding selections. These included "Truly", "Theme from Ice Castles", "Whither Thou Goest," "If," and "You and I." She heralded the approach of the wedding party to the altar by playing "Lohengrin" and played the recessional by Mendelssohn while they were exiting from the church.

Scott Fowler played his own piano accompaniment for two vocal solos, singing "I Will Always Be With You" after the bride's father had given her in marriage, and "Flesh of My Flesh" while the bride and groom were lighting the unity candle.

For her wedding, the bride chose a special gown of ivory silk organza lavished with embroidered satin rosettes and leaves, pearls and iridescents. The bodice was completely covered with the glittering ornaments and designed with an off-the-shoulder bouffant ruffle trimmed with the embroidered satin accents falling to a V below the waist. Cut-out ivory satin roses and leaves were generously used on the skirt and cathedral train to enhance the distinction of the gown.

She wore silk organza gauntlets on her arms beneath the short sleeves. These were graced with the satin roses and leaves just below the elbows and at the wrists. She wore a complimentary silk organza hat turned up at one side with a top covered with Alencon lace sprinkled with iridescents. A bouffant bow at the back held her double tulle fingertip veil.

Choosing a bouquet that she could keep for a special reminder of the special day in her life, she carried a cascade of silk ivory roses, mint green daisies and forget me nots, gypsophila, baby's breath, English ivy with matching narrow ribbon streamers on an ivory lace fan.

Mrs. Steve Gannon, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She was attired in a mint green sheer organza gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, a scoop neckline bordered with a ruffle that extended to the back. A-line skirt with a deep hemline ruffle that lifted in the back for a bustle effect.

Her bouquet consisted of the silk flowers in the bride's bouquet, except the forget me nots, arranged on a small ivory lace fan.

Jessica Cockrum, niece of the bride, the flower girl, wore a frock duplicating the style of the matron of honor's gown, scaled down for a little miss. She carried a basket with mint green streamers filled with loose petals.

Justin Denton, son of the bride, and Andy Gannon, her nephew, shared the ring bearer duties and were dressed like the men who took part in the wedding.

The groom wore an ivory tuxedo with tails and accessories to match and an ivory rose, baby's breath and English ivy boutonniere.

The best man, ushers, fathers, candlelighters and ring bearers wore ivory tuxedos with regular coats, matching shirts, mint green cummerbunds and ties.

Lynn Dozier, brother of the groom, was the best man. The ushers were Jim Cockrum, brother of the bride, and Steve Gannon, her brother-in-law. The candlelighters were Eric Smith and Aaron Smith, brothers of the groom.

The bride's mother chose a grape mauve polyester georgette dress of tea length styled with pleated bodice featuring a lace collar, pleated sleeves and skirt. The groom's mother wore a pink silk dress with long sleeves and pleated skirt. Mrs. Cockrum wore a corsage of ivory roses and daisies, and Mrs. Smith's corsage was formed of pink roses and white daisies.

Guests arriving at the church for the nuptial ceremony were invited to register by Mrs. Jim Cockrum, the bride's sister-in-law, who sat at a round table covered with an ivory satin cloth encircled at the top with grape ivy. It held the couple's framed wedding invitation, ivory plume pen, ivory candle in a brass holder, a gold bowl containing the couple's scrolls, and the book.

Immediately following the wedding, parents of the bride gave a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church to honor the newlyweds. The colors of ivory and mint green governed the decorations where only and artist with a brush or one with a masterful technique for description could describe the beauty of the setting.

The bride's table draped with ivory satin featuring a two-tiered floor level skirt held irresistible charm in the room. Grape ivy extended around the top of the cloth from a cascade in the front of ivory silk magnolias and greenery. A gold punch bowl and four point gold candelabrum holding peach roses, ivory magnolia blossoms, mint green baby orchids marked table extremities.

The special beauty of the table was stressed in the cake which abounded in novelty designs. The three-tiered ivory-iced structure was covered in frosting roses, petunias, bridal trumpets and forget me not in the bride's colors and set above a fountain splashing mint green water. Staircases on either side descended to small cakes following the same theme in decorations lifted by columns in beds of magnolia blossoms.

The complimentary blown glass top ornament was detailed with a heart topped with doves holding simulated wedding bands. The heart was rimmed with tiny gold bells and a bell in the center hung above a canopy where a bride and groom stood.

The mint green napkins were marked in silver with "Julie and Michael, August 3, 1985" and a gold tray held mint green wedding-bell shaped mints.

The groom's round table was also draped with ivory satin. It held a large round chocolate cake decorated with colorful marzipan fruit, an ivory candle sheltered with a clear hurricane globe, bronze coffee service, a bronze tray filled with boot-shaped chocolate mints, and napkins to correspond with those on the bride's table.

During the reception, refreshments were served by Mrs. Bill Streich, Mrs. Rick Thomas, Mrs. Teddy Ralston, Cindy Beisch and Renee Smith.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday evening at the church.

The special wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Cockrum, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thompson, grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Tip Martin and Mrs. Louise Ault, grandparents of the groom.

The bride and groom were both graduated from Iowa Park High School. She is employed by the Soil and Water Conservation District, and he is employed by Life Line EMS.

The bride wore a wine blouse and a black skirt with wine print border when she and the groom left for a wedding trip to San Antonio. They will live in Iowa Park.

Twin sons, Keith William and Kevin Russell, were born to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Thompson July 31. Keith weighed five pounds and eight ounces and Kevin weighed five pounds and two ounces. They have one brother, Andrew Michael, two years of age.

The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell D. Cashion of Ponder, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Thompson of Iowa Park, and the great-grandmother is Mrs. J.T. Allen of Kingston, Okla.

Green, Rowe marriage rites are held recently

Miss Kristal Cheryl Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Green of Wichita Falls, and Paul Curtis Rowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Rowe of Iowa Park, were married July 27 at the Iowa Park Church of Christ. Jack Cummings, associate minister of the 23rd & Grace Church of Christ in Wichita Falls, performed the double-ring ceremony.

The wedding setting was illuminated by tapered candles burning in seven-point candelabra decorated with pink rosebuds, English ivy and blue bows. Decorations consisted of two baskets supported by stands holding white gladioli, mums, roses and pink azaleas, and baskets with handles containing an assortment of pink and blue flowers placed in front of the candelabra. The three-branched unity candlestick was trimmed with pink rosebuds, English ivy and a blue bow. The pews for family members were designated with blue bows.

The a cappella music for the wedding featured the processional and recessional by a choir, and vocal solos by Craig Whisnand. He sang "In This Very Room There's Quite Enough Love" as the mothers and grandmothers were being seated, and "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

Presented in marriage by her parents, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a formal taffeta designer gown styled with high neckline outlined in lace, see-through net yoke, buttoned front, short sleeves and a full skirt bordered with wide lace. She wore three quarter length gauntlets, and a lace bandeau to hold her fingertip embossed tulle veil.

Mrs. Green wore a long blue formal dress designed with V-neckline, see-through short sleeves, and Mrs. Rowe was attired in a formal dress fashioned with a pink lace bodice, taffeta cummerbund and pleated skirt.

The bride's parents gave the wedding reception at Texas Electric Reddy Room. Guests were registered by Brandy Rowe, cousin of the groom.

The white lace cloth on the bride's table was accented with white bows at each corner and in the top center and laid over pink.

The appointments included a three-tiered cake, with one set of tall columns between the first and second tiers, decorated with pink frosting roses and a porcelain bride and groom top ornament, an attractive centerpiece formed of wedding bells, love birds and heart, favorite wedding symbols and the crystal punch service.

The groom's table was laid with light blue and featured a dark blue linen pleated floor length skirt set off with a blue bell and ribbon streamers. It held a silver candelabrum centerpiece with a silver candle and two blue candles. In front were hearts trimmed with wedding bells and bows and mounted on the candlestick was another heart that contained pictures of the bride and groom marked with "Rowe, P.K."

The double heart-shape cake and silver coffee service marked the sides of the table.

Reception assistants were Beth Johnson, Brenda Rowe, Cathy Gregg and Nancy Payton. Ginger Green, cousin of the bride, handed out the rice bags.

The groom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner held at K-Bob's Steak House.

The bride was graduated from Wichita Falls High School and is employed by United Supermarkets. The groom was graduated from Iowa Park High School and is employed by Howmet Turbine Co. They are at home in Wichita falls after a wedding trip to Dallas.

As I See It....

By BOB HAMILTON

While working on a truck wreck west of town yesterday morning, I attempted to interview several men of the paving crew, about the incident.

Only one or two could speak English.

I find it surprising that people, working on a Texas Highway paving project that is financed by state and federal monies, can't speak English.

I'm certain, now, that those dark splotches on the backs of their shirts were not caused solely from work sweat.

Being fresh out of the Air Force band school, my love for the trombone, music, and Dorsey's band in particular, were at an all-time high. And I made a pest of myself, hanging around the bandstand to meet him and members of the band.

It was my luck, and persistence, that led me to an invitation to stay after one evening's performance. The band had a practice session planned.

I guess it was as much to get rid of me as anything else, Dorsey allowed me to "sit in" with the band for a couple of numbers during that session.

Wow!

That was like one of our Little League players getting to take batting practice with the New York Yankees.

While I'm fully aware there are a great number of people in the entertainment industry who are natives of our great state, I'm now even more impressed to learn the great Jack Teagarden is among them.

And I plan to be in Vernon when his memorabilia goes on display in the museum.

I don't know how I missed it in the past, but I was greatly impressed to learn that one of my childhood idols, jazz trombonist Jack Teagarden, was from Vernon.

The information came out in Orlin Brewer's column in the Vernon Daily Record last week, when it was announced Teagarden's memorabilia will be housed in the Red River Valley Museum.

Teagarden, who died some 20 years ago, was a man among men when it came to playing the trombone. Tommy Dorsey probably had more publicity, but he played a different style. Both were featured in movies back in the 1930s and '40s.

My fascination with Teagarden and Dorsey came natural. I began learning the trombone in the third grade, during the years both were in their brightest periods.

While my appreciation of Teagarden had to be limited to records, movies and the radio, I did have a chance to meet the great Dorsey.

"Mr. D" brought his band to Denver, while I was stationed there in 1950 in the Air Force. He played at one of the open air dance places that community featured.

Hawk Band to practice

Pre-season practice for the Iowa Park High School marching band will begin Wednesday and continue until Aug. 30, according to Greg Miller, director.

August 14-16, the flag and drum corps will meet from 9 a.m. until noon, and again from 1:30 to 5:30 p.m. The squad leaders and drum majors will meet from 1:30 to 5:30 the same days.

On these days, band members should pick up their music folders and check out school instruments. Instrument rental is $50 for the year and $25 for half year and must be paid when the instrument is checked out, Miller said.

Sectionals will begin Aug. 19 and run through the 30th. The schedules are: all woodwinds and percussion meet 4 to 4:50 p.m.; all brass to meet 5 to 5:50 p.m.; and full band will meet 6 to 9 p.m. The sectionals and full band will meet each day, Monday through Friday.

Uniforms will be checked out Aug. 26 through 30. Band members wanting their complete old uniforms should check out Aug. 26. Thereafter, seniors should check out their uniforms the 27th; juniors, 28th; sophomores, 29th; and freshmen, 30th. Uniforms will be checked out from 4 to 6 p.m. each day.

The uniform fee will be $10, payable when the uniform is checked out.

now being studied.

Rusty Rusk, recalling other costs related to athletics that hadn't been in the budget, such as drainage of the field, said he thought enough had been spent on athletics and any other expenditures ought to be on education.

Another athletic expenditure was on the agenda before Rusk's comment. It included repairs on the junior high field's scoreboard and addition of lights taken from Hawk Stadium when new lights were put there. Trustees had approved this proposal.

Cook of the Week

Today, the potato, a vegetable which we all take too much for granted, enjoys a wide-spread popularity with both the young and experienced cooks. Many of the women who are responsible for the meals are often heard to say that their husbands are "meat and potato" eaters.

The versatile little white tuber believed by some to be of Irish origin has an interesting history. The potatoes were found growing in Peru by early Spanish explorers. Sieza de Leon introduced potatoes into Spain, and from there they spread through Europe.

They are perhaps called Irish potatoes because they once sustained people during a famine in Ireland. They became so important that the crop blight in 1847 caused the emigration of a million and a half Irish to America.

In Civil War days, the women packed potatoes in barrels of brine, and sent them to prison camps to save lives of the undernourished prisoners.

Today, most everyone likes potatoes and using their imagination the cooks have found many new serving ways. With the introduction of potato mixes, it is easy to prepare exciting potato dishes because tasks of peeling, long cooking and slicing have been eliminated.

Mrs. Bob Evans, Shelly and Sheila

However, the fried, baked, boiled, mashed and scalloped potatoes still remain the favorites of many people. After reading Mrs. Bob Evans' recipe for Scalloped Potatoes, who can resist trying it?

Mrs. Evans is the former Carolyn Chesser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Chesser. She and her husband, Bob, who works for Cryovac and is the public relations chairman of the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department where he also does fire prevention programs, have two daughters, Shelly, six, and Sheila, two.

Carolyn attended Iowa Park High School and was graduated from Wichita Falls High School. She said that being a good homemaker, wife and mother was a full-time job. She does help the firemen in any way that she can. The family attend the New Life Cathedral Church in Wichita Falls.

Those two big Hawk linemen who were lost to spring graduation, Charles Perry and Mark Copeland, will be playing in separate all-star football games this weekend.

Perry will be playing Saturday in the 48th annual Oil Bowl in Wichita Falls. He has accepted a

When it's hot enough, it's football season

Everyone in this part of the country knows from past experience, that when summer weather turns its hottest, it's time for football.

And that's just the situation here, and at all other high schools across the state.

Approximately 90 candidates were expected to turn out in the 100-plus degrees yesterday at the high school field house for issuance of shoes.

Monday, two-a-day practice starts, with morning sessions beginning at 9 and afternoons at 5, according to David Baugh, head coach.

The players will work out in shorts four days, finally getting into full gear a week from tomorrow.

Baugh has scheduled an intersquad scrimmage Aug. 17.

The teams will host Jacksboro Aug. 22 for their first test against players from outside their own ranks, and have their second scrimmage at Olney Aug. 30.

The season opener will be Sept. 6.

Baugh expects to divide the 90 players into thirds, with one group making up the freshman team, another the junior varsity and the balance the varsity.

Most of the athletes have been running and working out on their own the past few weeks, preparing themselves for the season ahead.

Junior high footballers will receive their equipment the first day of school.

$100 prize fish

Albino catfish may be rare, but worth $100?

That's what Mrs. K.J. Prefontaine of Iowa Park got for her 2 1/2 pound catch last weekend.

She was participating in a tournament at Midway Fish Farm.

Cottrell, Mankins vows are exchanged Saturday

Miss Carla DeAnne Cottrell and Joel Thomas Mankins exchanged double-wedding ring vows Saturday evening at the First Baptist Church in Holliday with Rev. David Hardage, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake W. Cottrell of Holliday, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Mankins of Dundee.

The altar setting featured a brass archway trimmed for the occasion with boxwood greenery, azalea pink carnations, stephanotis set off with a pair of white doves. Spiral candelabra used to flank the archway, a double prayer bench and the unity candlestick followed the same style of decorations. The modesty rails were entwined with the greenery.

Decorations in the church were highlighted with votive candles burning amid azalea pink bows and greenery in the windows. White satin bows trimmed with the chosen flowers and greenery marked the pews for family members, and the other pews were marked with unadorned white satin bows.

The wedding musicians were Clay Morgan, pianist, Rodney Moore, organist, Mrs. Lonnie Moore, vocalist, who sang "To Me" while the bride and groom were lighting the unity candle, and "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony. Mrs. Bennie Ezzell, who played a flute solo, "Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Us" before the bride entered. The pianist played the wedding marches with the organist, and accompanied the vocalist and flautist for their offerings.

The bride was presented in marriage by her parents. She wore an exquisitely-styled formal gown of white chiffon over taffeta with silk Venise lace enhancing its splendor. The lace was applied in good taste to adorn the Queen Anne neckline, long fitted sleeves of the bodice. It was used in vertical rows graced with satin bows on the gently gathered skirt, and edged the hemline of the skirt and the chapel train.

The bride's fingertip double illusion veil was trimmed with the lace and seed pearls and caught to a headpiece embellished with sparkling sequins.

She carried her first Bible to hold her cascade bouquet of white gladiola florets, white stephanotis, pink sweetheart roses, gypsophila, Hahn's ivy and lemon leaf.

The bride carried her great-grandmother's handkerchief for the "something old" bridal tradition, and wore her grandmother's wedding bands for "something borrowed." She wore a gold bangle bracelet, a gift from the groom, for "something new," and a garter for "something blue."

The matron of honor, Mrs. Rod Cottrell of Snyder, the bride's sister-in-law, carried a bouquet of pink gladiola florets, pink roses, azalea pink Liptoe and Hahn's ivy.

The bridesmaids, Miss Tammy Stevens, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Barry Lawson of Wichita Falls, Miss Leslie Mankins and Miss Laurie Mankins of Dundee, sisters of the groom, and Miss Cindy Davis carried bouquets to match Mrs. Cottrell's except for azalea pink carnations instead of roses. Each wore a hairpiece comb decorated with pink roses and gypsophila.

The groom wore a white tailed tuxedo with white shirt, tie and cummerbund, and a pink rose combined with stephanotis for his boutonniere.

The men who took part in the wedding wore azalea pink carnation boutonnieres with their silver Winslow tuxedos, white shirts, silver ties and cummerbunds.

The groom's brother, Mark Mankins of Waco, served as best man. The groomsmen were David Sterling of Memphis, Texas, Morris Davis, Mike Hewitt, cousin of the groom, both from Holliday, Matt Hubbard of Eules, another cousin of the groom, and Rodney Alford of Eules.

Guests were ushered to their seats by Rod Cottrell of Snyder, brother of the bride, and Kelly Henke of Wichita Falls.

The bride and groom presented their mothers with red roses before exiting from the church.

Mrs. Cottrell wore a dusty rose floor length chiffon gown designed with a pleated peplum, a sash that tied at one side of the waist, accordion pleated skirt. Mrs. Mankins was attired in an ivory full length chiffon gown fashioned with a Schiffler lace bodice, scoop neckline, flounced covered shoulders and dropped waistline. Corsages of pink gladiola florets were worn by both mothers.

The wedding guests registered at tables in the church foyer and in the reception room. They were covered with white satin draped with azalea chiffon with attached pink ribbon bows, and held the bride's book embossed with silver bells and pink plume pen. The table in the foyer held a white wicker basket filled with the couple's scrolls that were given to the guests, and the table in the reception room held a picture of the bride in a carved oak frame on a white easel. Mrs. Butch Battles was in charge of registering guests.

The white satin cloths that draped the refreshment tables lent themselves to the decorations and appointments to make an enduring impression upon the guests. The cloth on the bride's table was headed with a light pink chiffon drape and pink bows, and the one on the groom's table featured a silver grey overlay.

The bride's cake iced in white vividly reflected her wedding flowers and colors in spirals of frosting pink roses, carnations, and gypsophila that decorated the square and round layers of the three-tiered structure. A Precious Moments top ornament pictured a bride and groom standing under an archway of pink flowers.

The table decor included silver appointments which were a punch bowl, nut and mint trays, toasting glasses, and a five-point candelabrum holding pink carnations, gladiola and roses. The azalea napkins were inscribed in silver with "Joel and Carla, August 3, 1985."

Those who presided at the bride's table were Mmes. Brit Robertson, Mark Peters, Reco Chazarette and Miss LeeAnn Moore. The servers at the groom's table were Mrs. Dickie Callahan, Mrs. Mark Mankins and Miss Courtney Hubbard.

Brass services stood out in prominence on the groom's table in a tray that held a fruit arrangement centerpiece, a samovar, nut trays and servers.

The double-layer chocolate cake was decorated with Texas Tech Univ. emblems and various farm and ranch scenes representing the groom's major field of study at the university. The napkins duplicated those on the bride's table except for gold lettering.

The rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at K-Bob's Steak House.

The bride was wearing a two-piece variegated mauve striped dress with an alstermeria lily corsage when the couple departed on a wedding trip to Missouri and Arkansas. They will live in Lubbock where he is a senior at Texas Tech Univ. majoring in mechanized agriculture. Both were graduated from Holliday High School where she was a varsity cheerleader for four years, played basketball and tennis. He played football, basketball and ran track.

The special wedding guests were Mrs. Edith Winkles and Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Cottrell, grandparents of the bride, and Mrs. Effie Lester, grandmother of the groom.

Among the out-of-town guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Jim Sevens of Houston, Robert Leath, Oscar Leath of Longview, Bill Holt of Crowley, Don Herring and Skip of Olney, Janell Lester, Crystal and Cassidy of Anadarko, Okla., Jim Bateman of Denton, Nancy Jo Hubbard of Eules.
