Recreation vehicles are reported stolen

Iowa Park police received two reports Sunday of small recreational vehicles being stolen, and both were from the same street.

Robert Weston said his 1985 Honda three-wheeler was taken from 409 W. Washington.

Later that day, a four-wheel Odessey, similar to a dune buggy, was reported by Richard Pennycuff as missing from 502 E. Washington.

Police are continuing their investigation into the thefts.

At 5:33 p.m. Sunday, officers arrested Tammy Denise Polk, a 21-year-old black female, on a charge of shoplifting at Wal-Mart.

She was taken before Justice of the Peace Virgil Hill, placed under a bond of $3,500, and transported to the Wichita County jail.

Melvin Lee Koerth, 33, was arrested Monday afternoon on a charge of reckless conduct.

He is alleged to have attempted an assault with a vehicle on a person shortly after midnight Friday.

Two men were arrested on outstanding warrants from Wichita Falls.

Friday evening, James Randel Brookshire, 31, was taken into custody in the 600 block of East Highway.

Brookshire reportedly had a warrant from the Wichita County Sheriff's Office for "bond forfeiture ($750) for possession of marijuana. He was later released to a county deputy.

Roy Rubalcado, 28, was taken into custody at Bell and East Highway Monday afternoon on a warrant from Wichita Falls Department of Public Safety.

Rubalcado's warrant was for no liability insurance, $96.50 fine, and $750 bond forfeiture. He was released to an officer from the sheriff's department.

Ayres' plans major change

A major expansion program has been announced for Ayres Tire on Johnson Road.

The company, according to a letter mailed last week by Bill Eugank, manager, said the Wichita Falls store would be closed later this summer, and the two outlets combined here. Enlargement of the building is to begin sometime after July 31, Eubanks said.

There was no announcement of personnel changes in the letter, and Eubanks said Tuesday, "I am not at liberty to discuss that yet."

United Way budget increased

The executive board of the United Way of Greater Wichita Falls set the goal for its 1986-87 fund raising campaign at $1,950,000.

Ray Clymer, board president, indicated that the goal represents a 2.9 percent increase over the 1985-86 amount raised.

Clymer noted the board's decision was very ambitious because the campaign must also raise additional new dollars to offset known losses due to business closings and gifts given on a one-time-only basis.

Ron Keeney, campaign chairman, indicated the goal would be a real challenge in the current economy. He noted, however, that the United Way is very encouraged by the strong employment and production position of many manufacturing companies.

"There are a lot of positive things happening in our community's economy," Keeney stated. "We're planning to reach and exceed this year's goal. Human service needs far exceed what we are raising now."

In other board action, the United Way agreed to admit two additional member agencies --- FOCAS (Foster Child Advocate Services) and Samaritan Counseling Center.

The United Way campaign will now be providing support to 30 agencies serving Iowa Park, Burk Burnett, Sheppard Air Force Base and Wichita Falls communities.

The campaign will kick off officially on Sept. 9.

Leader printed early this week

This week's edition of the Leader was printed June 24, distributed through the mails June 25, and carries a dateline of June 26.

The issue was printed early to allow part of the staff to attend the summer convention of the Texas Press Association in Kerrville.

Regular deadlines and publication dates will be resumed next week.

Chamber directors okay advertising campaign

The Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce board of directors took action at their monthly meeting Monday to develop a greater awareness of the organization among residents.

Directors approved an advertising campaign to acquaint the public as to who members of the Chamber are, and why the activities of the organization are important to the community.

Names of two new Chamber members were announced during the meeting: Frances Krause, an individual membership, and Flowers by Reba (formerly Petal Pushers), Reba Catlin, owner.

The Whoop-T-Do, Iowa Park's annual celebration which traditionally is scheduled in association with Iowa Park High School's homecoming, will be Sept. 27, it was announced.

Vice President Frank Gossett chaired Monday's meeting, in the absence of Rip Smith, president.

Hester, Nolen vows exchanged Saturday evening in Wichita Falls

The chaste excellence of white was pointed up in decorations and appointments for the Saturday evening wedding of Miss Dawn Hester and Dr. Robert E. Nolen, Jr. at the Faith Baptist Church in Wichita Falls.

The bride is the daughter of J.C. Hester of Mobile, Ala., and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Trusty of Sikeston, Mo., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Nolen of Iowa Park.

Dr. Sandy Sandlin, pastor of the church, directed the couple in pledging their troth to one another in a double-ring ceremony.

The chosen white fresh flowers for the wedding were stock, fujii mums, calla lilies, and fern was the chosen greenery. They were banked on the baptistry and used in altar decorations. They were seen on either side of the white satin-covered prayer bench in the center of the altar, in the 15-branched candelabra in the background, and in spiral candelabra on either side of the prayer bench. The setting was softly illuminated with white cathedral candles glowing in the candelabra.

Two marble pedestals in the lower altar held fine white porcelain swans filled with the flowers and the unity candlestick was decorated in the same style. When the mothers of the couple were ushered into the sanctuary, they lighted the outer candles in the holder which burned throughout the ceremony until the bride and groom extinguished them after they had lighted the meaningful unity candle.

The church pews were garlanded with white maline from the front to the back, and those on the bride's white-covered aisle were distinguished from the others with nosegays of the white flowers.

Wedding guests registered before the ceremony at a long table in the foyer decorated at one side with a large white porcelain swan filled with mauve calla lilies, pink rosebuds, pink-throated orchids, white spider mums, stephanotis, wisteria, fern and baby's breath.

At the other side, three crystal oil lamps in graduated heights on a crystal tray encircled with stephanotis and baby's breath was a delightful attraction. The white plume pen and wedding book were in the center of the table.

The high-class music before the ceremony was provided by Dr. Ronald Hogue, celloist, Judith Tumlinson, pianist, and Jan McDaniel, pianist. They played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "On Wings of Song" and "Arioso." Debbie Watson, organist, played the tradition processional by Wagner and

Party fetes engaged pair

Miss Risa Roberts and Keith Hillard were honored Saturday at an engagement party held at the Lake Arrowhead weekend home of Mr. and Mrs. James Bowerman.

The party was hosted by Miss Laura Bowerman, Tom Holcomb, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony York and Mr. and Mrs. Randell Yarbrough. Approximately 30 guests attended.

Activities included swimming, skiing, fishing, volleyball and a catered barbecue meal. During the meal, an engagement cake, attractively decorated in the bride-elect's chosen colors, flamingo and pink, was served.

The special guests were parents of the engaged couple, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hillard and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Roberts.

recessional by Mendelssohn for the entrance and exit of the wedding party.

During the ceremony, John Sutton, uncle of the bride, sang "Just You and I" while the bride and groom were lighting the unity candle, and his daughter, Stephanie Sutton, joined him to sing the "Lord's Prayer" when they knelt on the prayer bench.

All eyes were on the beautiful bride as she was escorted by her fathers. She wore an original bridal satin gown of regal radiance lavishly trimmed with silk Venise lace and sparkling with pearls and iridescents. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a scoop neckline that dipped to a V in the back, and short puffed and ruffled sleeves.

The lace, pearls and iridescents were elaborately expressed throughout the full skirt and cathedral train that ended in a scalloped hemline of lace sprinkled with pearls and iridescents.

The striking effect of the gown was enhanced with a headpiece of crystal beads from which her imported bridal illusion veil cascaded to waltz length. The bride's bouquet reflected the classic beauty of white gardenias, pink sweetheart roses, gypsophila, English needlepoint ivy for a perfect complement to her gown and headpiece.

She kept traditions by wearing a pendant set with a diamond from her grandmother's engagement ring for "something old," pearl ear studs, a gift from her mother for "something new," a gold, diamond and pearl bracelet the "something borrowed" from the groom's mother, and a white garter accented with a "something blue" bow.

For an extra bit of sentiment, she carried a white linen handkerchief embroidered with a floral design and "Dawn and Bubba," a gift from the groom's mother.

The charming quartet of bridal attendants wore identical full-length gowns of fuschia taffeta fashioned in the latest style with off-the-shoulder ruffles and wide gathered cummerbunds. They carried cascades of pink rubrum lilies, pixie carnations and baby's breath showered with matching silk streamers tied in love knots.

Miss Kim Kearnes of Arlington, cousin of the bride, was her maid of honor, Miss Mona Miley of Wichita Falls, cousin of the groom, Mrs. John Romer and Mrs. James Long of Arlington were the bridesmaids.

The groom wore an all-white tuxedo with cutaway coat, satin ascot and a pink rosebud with baby's breath boutonniere.

The attendants and ushers wore grey tuxedos with cutaway coats, vests and ascots, and fathers of the couple wore pearl grey tuxedos with white wing-tipped collar shirts, grey cummerbunds and ties.

Jeff Nolen of Iowa Park, brother of the groom, was best man. The groomsmen were Dale Pittman, Mike Shelton, cousin of the groom, and Dr. Bill Wolar, all of Houston.

Duties of ushering were assigned to Tony Singer of Dallas, Bobby Owen of Graham, Mark Smith and Robin Fox of Iowa Park.

The mothers of the bride and groom and grandmother of the bride, Mrs. W.T. Crawford wore cymbidium orchids to enhance the distinctive look of the dresses they chose for the wedding.

Mrs. Hester wore an original beige lace tea length dress imported from Germany, accented with seed pearls on the front bodice, high neck and long sleeves. She wore a sequined beige hat, beige satin shoes and her cymbidium was orchid in color.

MRS. ROBERT E. NOLEN JR.

Mrs. Nolen wore a long mauve georgette dress over taffeta graced with an ecru lace jacket with V-neck, long sleeves and peplum. She wore a yellow orchid corsage, and Mrs. Crawford wore a white orchid.

Following the wedding, a reception was given in the Silver Square by the bride's parents to honor the newlyweds. The room held a wonderland of beauty in decorations and appointments that made it appear like the magic of fairy tales.

The registry, bride's cake and punch tables were draped with white satin cloths accented with raised satin hearts and lent themselves to table decorations to achieve a total effect of beauty.

The table where guests signed the wedding book featured garlands of lily of the valley around the top of the cloth. The bridal portrait stood at one side on a beveled edge rectangular mirror encircled with lilies of the valley. At the other side, a white porcelain swan held a smaller floral version of the one seen at the church.

A pleasing addition to the table decor was a pink candle imbedded with the couple's wedding invitation. At the top of the invitation were hand-painted wedding bells, tiny pink and mauve flowers, and the corners were accented with miniature double-pearled hearts.

The bride's cake table cloth was tastefully draped with white maline and lilies of the valley. The drape was caught up with nosegays of T spirea orchids, pink rosebuds, tweedies and baby's breath and gathered to white pagoda lace bows with long trailing white lace, pink and mauve ribbons tied in love knots.

The four-tiered cake with two sets of sugar posts was a white floral creation with hints of pink and rose. It had a special kind of beauty that was as satisfying as an artist's creation on canvas. The tiers were ornamented with cascades of sugar roses, petunias, orchids, stephanotis and lilies of the valley, designed especially for the cake. The top piece was formed of petunias, bridal trumpets, agapanthus, forget me nots, stephanotis and blossoms.

The cake was served by Mrs. Bobby Owen and Mrs. Mark Smith.

The cloth on the punch table where Mrs. Larry Pond and Mrs. David Styles served was swagged to match the cloth on the bride's cake table. It held a three-point silver candelabrum with candles and a floral arrangement, silver punch bowl flanked by silver bowls of iced bottles of champagne, an oval silver dish accented with silver doves that held pink and white double wedding bell-shaped mints.

The groom's table was covered with a grey silk linen weave cloth with charcoal silk cording around the top and a skirt of inverted pleats. It was centered with a silver container holding grey and mauve silk eucalyptus, bamboo, lily pods, phoenix palm leaflets, panchu springs and greenery backgrounded with a procelain duck.

Millie Crawford served the chocolate cake frosted with light and dark chocolate defined with fancy borders and a center decoration with the letter "N". Trays of chocolate hearts and mixed nuts were also on the table.

The long food table was covered with a white cloth and overlaid at the center with a mauve colored cloth that dipped to points. The centerpiece was a swan ice carving based with poufs of maline and fern.

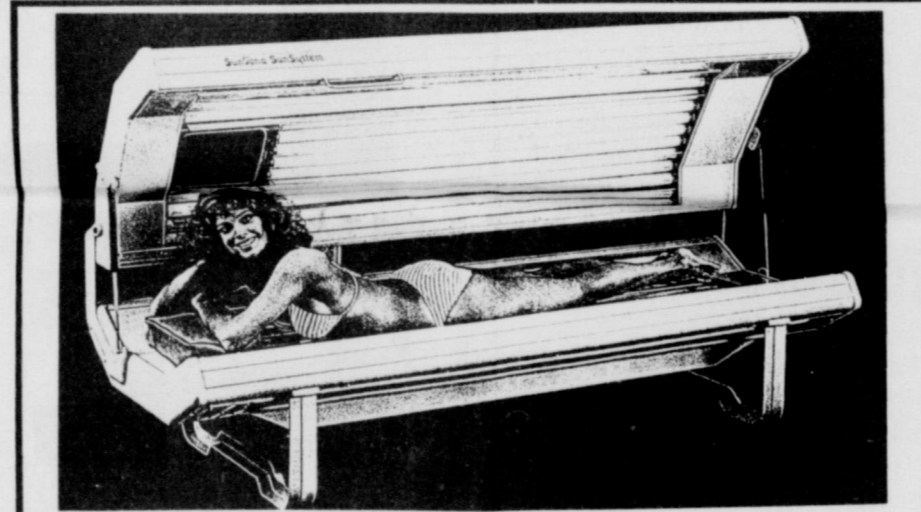

The gift table held a tall doll dressed in formal bridal attire, and the piano held a silver candelabrum.

During the reception, special music was provided by the celloist, violinist and pianist who performed at the wedding.

The rehearsal dinner was held Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O.N. Newman. Co-hosts were Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Nolen, N.E. Guthrie, Dub Crawford, and Dr. and Mrs. Richard Carver.

The bride was graduated from Henderson High School and works as a dental assistant at Arlington Family Dental Center. The groom was graduated from Iowa Park High School, Midwestern State Univ. and the University of Texas Dental School at Houston. He is practicing dentistry at the Arlington Family Dental Center. Following a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico, the couple will live at Arlington.

Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Crawford, grandparents of the groom, were special wedding guests. Out-of-town guests included friends and relatives from Alabama, Chicago, New Orleans, Houston, Longview, Dallas and Arlington.

Tax base lower in most school districts

Two-thirds of the state's school district experienced a loss in tax base between 1984 and 1985, according to the annual study prepared by the State Property Tax Board (SPTB). The agency's 1985 Property Value Study estimates that Texas school districts contained a total of $702.6-billion in taxable value as of January 1, 1985.

Ron Patterson, SPTB's executive director, says a low inflation rate coupled with economic problems in agriculture and the oil and gas industry--two of the mainstays of the Texas economy--helped shrink the tax bases of many districts during this period.

"Our figures may not reflect this year's drastic drop in oil prices until the 1987 study is prepared," he noted.

State law requires SPTB to estimate the taxable value of property annually for each of the state's 1,063 school districts.

"A school district's taxable wealth is an important factor in determining how much financial aid it may receive from the state," explained Patterson. The Texas Education Agency will use the 1985 values in calculating education aid allotments for the 1986-87 school year.

"Although our figures show that total taxable values grew by 1.6 percent between the 1984 and 1985 value studies, we believe the actual growth rate was closer to five percent," Patterson said. "This is because the taxable values of nonbusiness vehicles and bank stock were excluded from our 1985 study as a result of changes in state law."

By comparison, statewide taxable values grew by 8.7 percent from 1983 to 1984.

Among the 732 school districts that showed a loss in taxable value during 1984-85 were the Houston and Dallas Independent School Districts, the state's two largest. In general, many districts that lost taxable value could be eligible to receive more state aid.

Figures from the study show that a majority of the school districts with the largest growth in tax base--20 percent or more--were suburban school districts in the areas surrounding Dallas, Fort Worth, Austin and San Antonio.

Districts that lost 20 percent or more of their tax bases were located, with few exceptions, in rural counties across the state. "Small rural districts are more directly affected by problems in agribusiness or the oil and gas industry," said Patterson.

"Districts with shrinking tax bases may be forced to increase tax rates in 1986 just to bring in the same amount of local revenue," he added. "The tax burden will also shift away from those types of property that decline in value."

The study estimated the total market value of the school district tax base at $830.9-billion. From that total, the study deducted $97.4-billion for homestead and other exemptions. The remaining $732.6-billion represents the taxable value of property statewide.

SPTB released preliminary findings of the 1985 Property Value Study to school districts in late January. The agency provided an appeals process for reviewing the evidence that districts provided to show their preliminary value findings were in error.

After ruling on the appeals, the State Property Tax Board certified the final results to the commissioner of education on May 30.

Single-family residential real estate accounted for 30.4 percent of the market value total in 1985. Business property, including utility companies and commercial and industrial real estate, equipment and inventories, made up 31.6 percent of the 1985 totals. Oil and gas values accounted for another 10 percent, while rural acreage represented 17 percent of total market value.

Patterson noted that two clear trends emerge when figures from past SPTB studies are compared. "Since 1981, residential, commercial and industrial real estate have accounted for steadily growing shares of the school tax base. In the same five-year period, the oil and gas share has steadily declined."

Even though rural acreage made up 17 percent of the 1985 market value total, most of this land is either agricultural or timber land taxed at less than market value. As a result, the taxable value of acreage amounted to only six percent of the statewide school district tax base.

The findings of the 1985 Property Value Study are based on an SPTB sample of more than 170,000 properties. The agency compares its values for the sample properties with the values on local tax rolls to calculate the value estimates for each school district.

The study was done in conjunction with another study that analyzes the quality of tax appraisals performed by county appraisal districts.

Fruitless mulberries are tough on yards

By DAVID FINLEY
County Agent

Tree problems seem to be abundant now! I've been asked numerous questions on why leaves are falling off of fruitless mulberries and what can be done to those trees broken by our recent windstorm.

One such caller concerned with leaves falling off his fruitless mulberry was Ray Snyder of Wichita Falls. He said the leaves were turning yellow and falling off of the lower branches.

There are a lot of reasons why leaves fall off these trees, but before I discuss them, let me say a few words about the fruitless mulberry itself.

This tree is one that is popular among a lot of home owners. It is popular because of its "fast growing" capabilities, but it does have several problems that need to be discussed.

This medium-sized spreading tree gets 25 to 35 feet tall and will have a spread of 30 to 40 feet. Its rapid growth rate is maximized when given optimum growing conditions. It has large, dark green leaves that really provide a lot of shade.

It does have shallow roots, however; and this fact, along with the heavy shading, is where a lot of problems stem from. Since roots are shallow, the tree should be planted at least six to 10 feet from sidewalks and homes. If it is planted out in the country, put it in a location away from water lines and septic tanks. This tree really loves field lines and wells, as roots seem to grow right to them.

The tree also has little or no heat tolerance; and when the summertime gets here, we start seeing premature leaf drop. This is why the trees' leaves are turning yellow and falling off.

Also, this tree does have some problems with leaf spot, especially during periods of wet weather like we are having now. Spraying with the fungicide Zineb has shown some promise in controlling this problem.

I guess the major problem that I see with the fruitless mulberry is not being able to grow much underneath it when it gets larger. Bermudagrass will certainly not grow under this tree. As a matter of fact, the only grass I know that even has a chance of growing under this tree is tall fescue.

Some trees will not even let fescue grow, and in those cases, I'll recommend making a bed underneath the tree and plant shade-loving ground covers like English ivy, monkey grass or asiatic jasmine. All three of these will work well.

As far as a remedy goes for falling leaves on mulberries, keep ground under the tree moist, spray with fungicides if evidence of leaf spot is present and finally, hope for cooler weather. Good luck!

Let's talk.

Information about your changing telephone service from Dan Adams, Manager-Community Relations

SWBT sponsors wagon train

Southwestern Bell Telephone is committed to preserving our state's rich history, because we're proud of Texas' distinctive roots. They're our roots, too.

Wagon trains, like telephones, have played a key role in Texas' development. And in keeping with our Texas commitments, we recently joined in the sponsorship of the Sesquicentennial Wagon Train, through proceeds from the sale of Sesquicentennial calendars.

While we enjoy helping bring the past to life, we never lose sight of our most important job: providing Texans the best telephone service possible — advanced, futuristic telecommunications systems — today.

You might say we do just that on the wagon train. While today's wagon train riders are living a lifestyle reminiscent of the 1800's, they do have at least one edge over the pioneers who settled Texas. We've made sure today's adventurers enjoy the best of two worlds, if they want to, by providing portable payphones at campsites during their 6-month, 3,000-mile journey.

As the wagon train — longest and largest in American history — blazes a new trail across Texas, it's making modern-day history. The wagon train not only commemorates our state's 150th birthday and ancestors, but is a symbol of Texas to the world.

A festive journey's end

On July 3 the 4-mile-long convoy of 150 wagons, 800 horses and 300 horseback riders will roll into their final campsite, Fort Worth. Not only will the "eyes of Texas" be upon them, but millions of people from around the world will also be watching.

Reporters, newsmen and camera crews from across the U.S. and world will be on-hand to cover the Texas-sized celebration planned at the end of the trail.

And we're happy to be a partner in this historic event, sharing in Texas' past, present and future.

Teaching good phone usage

With the kids out of school for the summer, it's a good time to teach or review good phone usage, both for good manners and for security. Some of your personal emergency numbers for the youngsters during the school year will be changing now that school's out.

And we're here to help. We've got a free booklet, "Phone Use for Children," for youngsters and their parents. With a little help from Mom and Dad, this booklet can help even a pre-schooler understand the proper way to use the telephone.

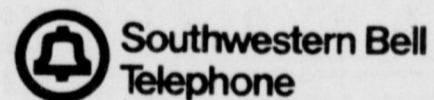

The booklet shows children how to answer the telephone, what to say to callers and what to do in an emergency. It also talks about "calls that cost extra money" — like long distance or other toll calls. And it describes in words and pictures good phone manners to learn and remember.

Having good phone manners, well that's just one more thing about your children you can be proud of. But knowing they understand how to use the phone in an emergency will make your summer relaxation a lot more relaxing.

To order your free booklet, write to:

State spending above average

Texas government spending in May continued to outpace the average monthly spending for the first six months of the state's budget year, according to figures released recently by Bob Bullock, comptroller.

Figures from the third in a series of monthly reports on state expenses showed spending from all funds was up by 80.5 percent and spending from general revenue increased by 2.6 percent.

Spending figures in the report reflect bills paid by the comptroller's office in May regardless of when state agencies might have incurred the debt, Bullock said.

The all-funds total for May was $2.36-billion -- some $1.05-billion above the monthly average for fiscal 1986 -- because of large payments for Texas schools, refinancing of veterans land bonds and payments on an unemployment debt.

Without these large payments, the all-funds increase would have been 23.1 percent.

Bullock noted that some state general revenue expenses showed decreases compared to the base period. Employee pay was down 7.8 percent, out-of-state travel decreased 22.3 percent, office leases were down 15.6 percent and utilities went down 27.5 percent.

General revenue expenses in May amount to $404.1-million, up by some $10.3-million over the September-to-February six-month average.

In May, the largest part of the increase in funds spent from general revenue was due to the Department of Human Services' spending on Medicaid programs.

TEXAS GARDENER TIPS

Growing Eggplants For Taste And Beauty

Eggplant is one of the most tasty and beautiful vegetables you can grow in Texas gardens. It comes in a number of varieties and can be used in many different delicious recipes.

Eggplants are somewhat difficult to grow when temperatures are at either hot or cold extremes. It prefers warm weather but will stop setting fruit in the heat of summer, and it can't be started too early in the spring.

For best results, start eggplant seeds in the greenhouse or indoors under fluorescent lights eight to 10 weeks before they should be set out in the garden. Daytime temperatures should be consistently in the 70s before you set transplants into the garden, which will be March or April for most Texans. That means you should start transplants sometime in January or February.

When transplanting into the garden, place Oriental and dwarf varieties 18 inches apart in rows, leaving 36 inches between each row. Larger, fruited types need to be spaced 24 to 30 inches apart within the row. One way to get transplants off to a good start is to use a level tablespoon of slow-release fertilizer placed in the hole, 1 to 2 inches below the roots. Then, apply a tablespoonful of 12-24-12 fertilizer per each 2 feet of row every two weeks to keep the plants growing vigorously.

Eggplants are at their best while the fruit still has a high gloss, so harvest them anytime from when they're half of their full size on. If the skin develops a dull look, throw them away.

The major pest of eggplants is the spider mite. Unfortunately, Kelthane, which is the most commonly used pesticide for spider mites, cannot be used on eggplants. Mala-thion, diazinon, wettable sulfur or nicotine sulfate are possible substitutes. Fruit rot also can be a problem, but proper applications of Maneb usually will keep it under control. When using any pesticide, be sure to follow all label directions carefully.

Another common problem with eggplants is bitter fruit, which usually occurs when weather is hot.

Dangerous driving ahead during July 4th weekend

Major V.J. Cawthon, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety said, "Everyone should know the most dangerous time to drive is on weekends, during the summer, and on holidays. This July 4th holiday is going to combine all three."

The Texas Department of Public Safety will be conducting "Operation Motorcade" from Thursday, July 3 at 6 p.m. until Sunday, July 6 at midnight. During this time all available troopers will be working to assist motorists, so they might have a more safe and enjoyable holiday. But Major Cawthon also stated these same troopers will also be on the alert for the motorists who continue to be traffic hazards for everyone and that will be the drinking and the speeding driver.

Major Cawthon warned, "Motorists also need to be on the lookout for people that are using the back road areas to discharge fireworks, especially the smaller children. The people that drive out into the country to discharge fireworks need to be especially cautious and watch out for fires and protect other peoples' property."

So whether you plan a trip across town or maybe across the state, by observing all traffic laws, not drinking and driving and driving as if your life depends on it, you can make this July 4th holiday safe and more enjoyable for everyone.
