H.M. NIPPER

Banker, community leader retiring

By BOB HAMILTON

H.M. Nipper, executive vice president of State National Bank since 1963, will retire effective Feb. 1.

Though he will work one week each month, Nipper said he plans to spend more time playing golf, fishing, doing things around the house, and getting more physical exercise.

The Lefors native is observing his 64th birthday today.

His retirement, coupled with the death of Roberta Hill last month, represents the loss of 91 years banking experience for the local bank.

"He's surely going to be missed," commented bank president Bert Williamson.

"We've enjoyed his services here. His expertise and knowledge will be sorely missed. His service should be fully recognized by the community for his promotion of the general welfare of the community," he said.

Nipper will be an advisory director for the bank as he works a week each month, Williamson continued.

During his three years in the military, 1943-46, he served in both the Army and Air Corps, and in a number of capacities. He was a combat engineer, in counter intelligence, the infantry, and when he was shipped to the South Pacific, he was a paratrooper.

Prior to his years in the military he was a student at Texas Christian Univ., and he later was graduated from Southern Methodist Univ.

Upon graduation in 1949, he entered the banking field with Mercantile National Bank in Dallas. After five years there, he took a job with a bank at Albuquerque, N. Mex. and five years later joined the First National Bank at Lubbock, where he stayed until joining Citizens National Bank, also of Lubbock, before coming to Iowa Park.

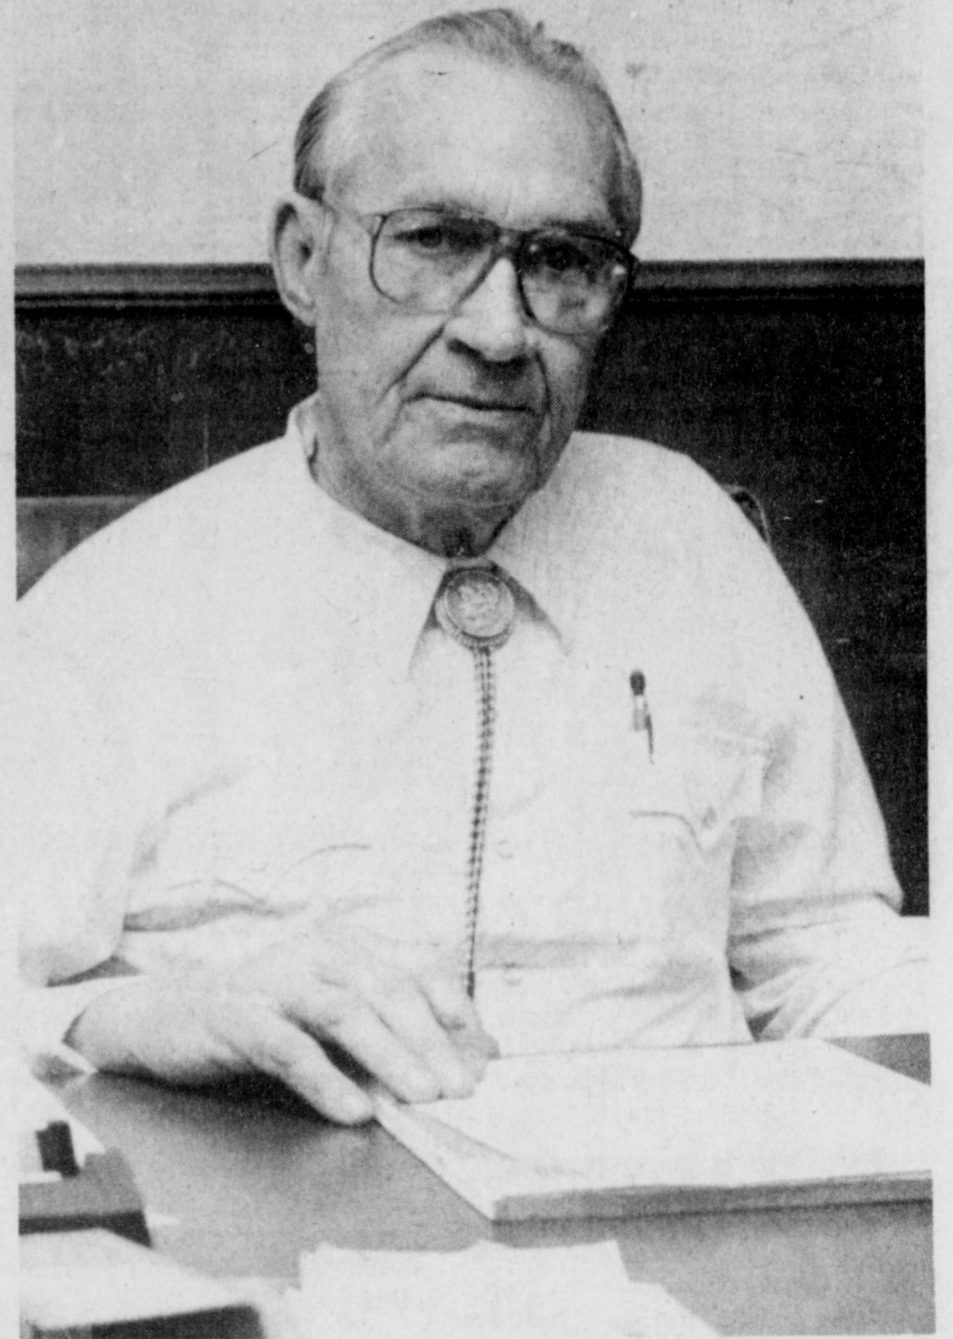

Nipper said he will continue his position as head of the Industrial Development Corporation, a branch of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce which, under his leadership, is responsible for attracting two major payrolls to the community.

The IDC successfully attracted Cryovac to Iowa Park, and later was responsible for locating Wal-Mart. Now the organization has purchased a tract of land on the north side of US 287 and will soon begin sending out brochures in an effort to bring in another business of some kind.

In 1983 he was named the Outstanding Citizen of the Year by the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce.

In the past few years, Nipper has successfully overcome a couple of serious physical problems.

Actually, he was more embarrassed than anything else, when he nearly shot off a foot. He was working in his shop when a loaded shotgun discharged. His limp is hardly noticeable anymore.

H.M. NIPPER

But three years ago, he was diagnosed as having cancer, that he describes as "the wrong kind," melanoma.

Soon after the discovery, he underwent abdominal surgery. But as soon as he could, he returned to his desk.

He's proud to announce that a test taken very recently failed to show any evidence of any cancer.

"Let me tell you," he commented, "when they tell you you have it (cancer), and it's the wrong kind, it gets your attention. You see lots of things differently."

The field of banking has changed a lot during Nipper's 40 years in the business, but he says the changes have been more significant during the last 10 years.

The federal requirements and regulations "...haven't done anything to help the consumer, but they've increased the cost of banking for the consumer."

He can spend an hour just giving examples, too.

To fill much of the void created by the loss of Nipper and Miss Hill, Williamson said he had hired Steve Riley, cashier of Electra State Bank, to begin work here next week.

Emergency phone, fines get council's attention

The city council took no action on a proposal to pursue reimbursement of expenses incurred with the E911 telephone project, but made it clear they wanted payment of one type or another from those who are fined in municipal court.

Their decisions were made during Monday's regularly-scheduled meeting.

A chronic lack of communications, coupled with an open rift between the mayor and the director of the E911 board, was brought into the open during a lengthy discussion about a reimbursement proposal.

What brought the subject to a head was a letter, signed by Alan Sheffield, chief of police, sent to the E911 board, asking reimbursement of $8,520 for a room constructed to house the equipment.

Sheffield said he initiated the letter after it appeared the city of Wichita Falls was going to request funds for money it will expend on the emergency telephone system.

He explained that the law, enacted by the state legislature, allows such reimbursement from funds collected from telephone customers of the district.

The expense was incurred when the city was informed a room, eight-foot square and climate controlled, would be required to house the equipment.

Information of the space came as the city was involved in an expansion project of the police department, but, as Administrator James Barrington explained, well after the city had agreed to participate in the project.

"We would have had no room for the equipment, and were just lucky to have been in the building program," he explained.

He said his understanding prior to receiving the information was that only desk space for a computer terminal would be needed.

The changeorder by the architect cost $8,520, he explained.

It was later brought out in the discussion, however, that the actual cost of the space was in fact $3,408, because only 40 percent of the additional space in the changeorder was for the computer equipment.

Mayor Tim Hunter said the misunderstanding on that and in several other areas of the emergency phone project were the fault of the district's director, Sidney Smith.

He said Smith should be fired. "If we had someone on the city's staff who had made as many mistakes as Smith has, we'd terminate them on the spot," he said.

Alderman Bud Burch, who serves on the E911 board of directors, took exception to the city's attempt to get money from the district fund.

He said he had been informed the city would not ask the district for any money, and had reported that to the board.

"I've given my word to the board and my word is my bond," he said, adding that if the council decided to go ahead with its request, he would resign from the district board, to which he was appointed by the council.

Following the discussion, the council voted to table the topic.

Direction was sought from the council on how enthusiastic the police should pursue those who can not or will not pay fines levied by municipal court.

Some 80 warrants have been issued on persons who owe the city about $8,000 in fines and penalties, the council was told.

Alternative methods of collecting, such as jail time, public service work and even accepting credit cards were discussed.

The problem with putting non-payers in jail is the expense, council members were told.

Prisoners cannot be held in the local cells more than 12 hours, because of lack of facilities. So they must be put in the county jail, which charges $35 per day per prisoner.

And state law, according to municipal judge Dan Tomkins, requires a prisoner to receive $40 in credit toward what he owes per day.

The main problem with allow-

New business is established

Iowa Park's newest business was opened Wednesday of last week at 103 W. Park.

Park Cleaners and Laundry, owned by Kathy Riggins and Maxine Young, is located in the building formerly occupied by Dr. James Edwards.

BIG FLAME, LITTLE DAMAGE - Volunteer fireman Mark Wicks surveys the area where Nobby's City Cleaners caught fire early Friday evening, before attacking the source of the flame. Damage was restricted to the rear of the cleaners and the adjoining building, where a commercial drier was heavily damaged. Clothing in the cleaners was apparently unaffected by the smoke, as patrons were picking up their cleaning the next morning. Observers credited the quick response of local firemen for saving the structures.

Seven arrests reported

Among the arrests made by the Iowa Park Police Department during the past week were one on charges of possession of drug paraphernalia, one for warrants from Hemphill County and two cases of shoplifting.

Police executed a search warrant Thursday evening at 1311 Mockingbird, where they arrested Charles Lee Ribble, 24, on charges of possession of drug paraphernalia and two local traffic warrants.

He was transferred to county jail. William Raymond Freeman, 27, was taken into custody on South Bond Friday afternoon on warrants from Hemphill County for burglary and theft.

He was later released to deputies from Canadian.

Charles Ray Admire, 18, was arrested Saturday evening at Wal-Mart and charged with shoplifting a carton of cigarettes. He was released from custody after appearing before the justice of the peace.

Three male juveniles, two 15 years of age and the other 14, were picked up Tuesday evening at Wal-Mart and charged with shoplifting. They were taken to the county juvenile detention center in Wichita Falls.

Four cases of thefts were reported during the week.

A telephone was reportedly taken sometime Wednesday of last week from a home in the 300 block of W. Alameda; tools were reportedly taken the same day from a shed in the 700 block of E. Highway; a pickup tail gate was taken sometime Saturday from the 400 block of E. Cash, and a bicycle the same day from the 300 block of E. Pecan.

Bob Reames, 1600 Wagon Wheel, told police Monday he wanted to press charges against a man from Windthorst who reportedly ran over and broke his yard sprinkler system, and also a tree, while delivering a load of fire wood.

Weight program topic for Amity Study Club

L.J. Cavazos, assistant director of North Texas Medical Associates Weight Management Program, presented the basics of their clinically proven weight program for members of Amity Study Club Monday in the home of Mrs. Earnie Reusch.

Cavazos displayed an anatomically correct five-pound piece of human fat to illustrate what "humans carry around."

The weight program has four parts: 1. Medical backing and supervision; 2. Proper nutritional instruction; 3. An exercise program, and, 4. Behavioral modification classes are held weekly.

She outlined the different programs available from tailor-made diets to the fasts, and said total compliance with all the rules of the program is necessary for success.

Medical releases and physical exams are a part of the program as well as constant monitoring of physical condition. "We take steps to make sure you stay healthy during the diet," she said.

Amy Brown gave the devotional, reading a poem "Home is the Place Where Love Has Come to Live," from "So Many Kinds of Love," a collection by Dean Walley.

Marilyn Hale gave the Federation Counselor's Report on arts and crafts contests available to members.

Dawn Coffman was introduced as a new member.

Following the meeting, the hostesses served finger sandwiches and blueberry cheesecake.

A sign-up sheet for a Genealogy Workshop is posted at the library. The workshop, presented by Peggy Maier, will be held soon. If you are interested, contact Pat at 592-4981, or come by the library. A date will be announced when enough people have expressed interest.

As I See It... By BOB HAMILTON

I haven't heard or read anything from members of the Texas legislature except "we're going to have to find more money."

Members apparently feel the so-called "sun-set commission" is doing everything it can to cut all areas of service that aren't needed.

All the elected officials say more money is needed to "continue service at the present level" and "to meet the challenge of the future."

One almost gets the feeling that everything being done by the state, and all monies being spent by the state, are absolutely necessary.

I'm afraid their meeting the "challenge of the future" might be tempered unless they can figure out some way for the taxpayers to "meet the challenge of the present."

As I said a few weeks ago in this space, you're going to see a major attempt by a bunch of liberals down at the state capitol to put an income tax on the people of Texas.

If and when that's done, you will not see a significant reduction in sales taxes or ad valorem taxes, and what we'll wind up with is a whole lot more taxes.

And little to show for it.

ing someone to work out their fine doing tasks such as picking up trash, is the city's exposure to liability in case the person is, or claims, injury.

The person, in the eyes of the law, becomes an employee of the city and must be covered in case of injury, Tomkins explained.

Additionally, there is a cost of supervision on work projects.

Each alderman expressed a desire to enforce, in some way, payment of fines. "I feel we're obligated," said Alderman Johnny Coker.

The judge and police chief were instructed by the council to draft a plan, which would include a contract with the county for housing prisoners, and also for accepting payment by credit cards, for consideration.

In other business, the council took the following action:

- * approved an ordinance which decreases the minimum footage requirement for mobile homes in R-3 zone;

- * approved a three-year extension of a lease on a 6.25-acre tract of land southeast of Lake Iowa Park to Virgil Duffy;

- * approved purchase of new com-modes for jail cells;

- * and authorized travel expenses for council members wishing to attend a legislative conference Feb. 13 in Austin, sponsored by the Texas Municipal League.

Superintendent's contract up for renewal tonight

Among the many items to be considered during tonight's meeting of the Iowa Park school board is the extension of the superintendent's contract for another year.

Trustees traditionally consider extension of the top administrator's contract at the January meeting.

Also on tonight's agenda is a request to hire a special education aide at the high school.

Supt. Glen Mitchell will ask the board for a date to be set to meet with Gary Keep, a specialist hired to make a study of facility needs here.

The superintendent will also discuss with the board those who will be named "key communicators" to serve on the Project 2000 Committee.

Mitchell is also to discuss insurance carried by Blue Cross/Blue Shield, and make an athletic department financial report.

Trustees will be asked if they want to maintain a policy adopted by a board several years ago, of prohibiting two, three and four wheel vehicles from operating on unauthorized areas of school grounds.

Tonight's meeting, which is to begin at 7:30 in the administration building, was postponed from the usual second-Tuesday date because of the recent holidays, and time needed to prepare reports for the meeting.

Cook of the Week

Love of family, extensive travel, education, and a variety of interesting occupations and hobbies compose the life of Anita (Mrs. Charles) Childs.

Oldest of the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory L. Ross, living in different areas of the United States and the world has always been a way of life for her. Her father retired as Chief Master Sergeant after serving 31 years in the Air Force. Anita was born in Galveston, but the family moved when she was three months old. She credits her mother, who loved to travel, with making each move an adventure and encouraging the children to derive the benefits of each new home. This resulted in a very close-knit family.

She attended elementary school in Okinawa, Japan, and graduated from Kaiserslautern American High School in Germany. In 1967 she received her BA degree from the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque, with a major in English and a minor in German. Then in 1976, she received a Master of Education in Counseling degree and elementary and secondary certificates from North Texas State Univ. in Denton.

In California, she taught high school English, speech and drama, and was employed as a social worker. She was an assistant to an Army Colonel in Thailand; worked five years in financial services for Gulf Oil, and was editor of "Protocol," a publication of the Air Force Officers' Wives' Club of Washington, D.C.

Anita's husband, Charles, is employed in route sales by Dolly Madison. Two years ago, he earned a trip for two to Portugal for increase in sales. The couple decided that this should be a family affair, so they took their three children and her parents with them on the one-week memorable vacation.

Mrs. Charles Childs

Their children are Dan Fannin, a senior at Iowa Park High School, Mark Childs, an eighth grade student, and three-year-old Samantha.

The family belongs to Christ the King Catholic Church. Social life is centered around the children's activities. Anita is secretary-treasurer of the Hawk Booster Club.

Anita's first love is family. Next comes her love for drama. She appeared in numerous plays while in college and little theater. In addition to her other activities, she has accumulated 42 hours of flying time.

The recipes she submitted for this week are an accumulation from her travels, and offers a new and interesting variety for our readers to try.

City progress is summarized

James Barrington, city administrator, gave a progress report on what the city had accomplished in 1988 and some of the proposed projects for 1989 Tuesday for the Evening Lions. He was introduced by Dave Davis.

Some of the accomplishments during the previous year included: expansion of the police department, naming a park for the late George Hammonds, starting an annexation program for land west of the city, summer activities in the park for both youth and adults, building of volleyball courts, improvements in the parks, street construction projects, and numerous other things.

Barrington stated that one of the first projects being considered for the current year was to improve Texova Street leading toward Bradford Elementary School to make the street safer for children. He said that real police efforts to crack down on dope had already been started and that efforts would intensify. He said that the city officials were studying how to improve the water system and what can be done to maximize it. He further told of plans to create a campsite and make improvements at Gordon Lake and to continue to make street improvements.

Visitors were Danny Collazo, Andy Pruett and Howard Everline.

Michael Isbell and Charles Morton from the Soil and Water Conservation Service gave a slide presentation to fifth grade students this week. The program was entitled "What Is Soil Erosion?" It discussed some causes of soil erosion as well as many methods of conservation that are used today. A question and answer period followed the slides.

The students are preparing to draw conservation posters which will be judged and the best posters chosen from each class. The overall winner will then go to Wichita County for further judging.

Book covers with conservation messages were distributed to each student. The students gained much useful information on how our soil can be conserved.

'Sing Praise' here Sunday

"Sing Praise" will perform at 4 p.m. Sunday at the First Christian Church of Iowa Park.

The interdenominational group features former Iowa Park schools choir director Darrell Dick, and Scott McLeroy.

The two began singing together while on a choir tour to Europe in 1984.

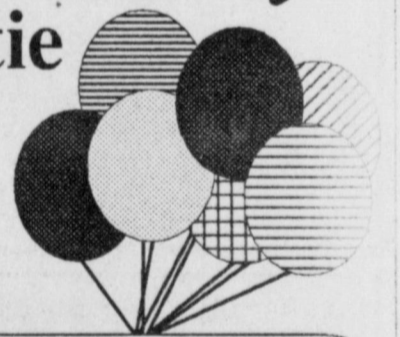

While they perform generally in North Texas and Southern Oklahoma, their major emphasis has been an ongoing music ministry in the Texas prison system the past two years.

ACTION AND REACTION

What you believe will effect how you behave. Doctrine determines duty. For every assignment in the Christian life, there is a corresponding enablement given by God. The Christian is to be a servant using his God-given abilities. (Romans 12).

One of the truest tests of our Christianity is not what we give, but what we give back. Read Romans 12:9-12 slowly before answering these questions. What is your reaction when...

someone cuts you off on the highway? (12:10).
a fellow employee "goofs off" on the job? (12:11).
a long illness leaves you bedridden? (12:12).
an angry neighbor curses at you? (12:14).
a business partner takes advantage of you? (12:19).

Write out this thought and carry it with you:
Good for good is man-like
Evil for evil is beast-like
Evil for good is devil-like
Good for evil is God-like.

Hawks open district play Friday

The Hawks had to play their final two non-conference games without the services of their leading scorer, Jimmy Duggins, and lost them both.

What difference Duggins might have made, had he not been sidelined with leg problems, is unclear, because Iowa Park was taking on two of the best teams in this part of the country, Burkburnett and Henrietta. Duggins, who is averaging over 20 points per outing so far, is hopeful of being back in action when the Hawks open Dist. 5-AAA play here Friday night against Graham. That contest is to get underway at 8 p.m.

The Hawks were no match for the 17-2 Bulldogs Saturday at Burkburnett, and lost 81-32.

They fell behind 26-13 by the end of the first quarter, and were even further behind, 49-19 at the half.

To make things even tougher, besides playing without Duggins, Jeff Floyd had a conflicting activity that prevented him from showing up until the first quarter was over, leaving only eight players warming up.

Added to that was the fact that Brian Luney injured his ankle and was sidelined, hardly one minute after Scot Davis drew his third foul with 5:13 remaining in the first period.

Wayne Chitwood finished the game with 10 points to lead the Hawks in scoring.

Tuesday at Henrietta, the Hawks trailed by only four points, 26-22 at the half, but lost 58-33.

Chitwood again was high-point for Iowa Park, scoring 19. The Junior Varsity had no better luck at Burkburnett than did the varsity, trailing 45-5 at the half and losing 68-20.

But at Henrietta Tuesday, the JV won 59-44, after the Freshmen won 67-39.

The JV and Frosh are to travel to Graham today.

Tuesday, the Hawks will take on their second district opponent, Bridgeport, there. That game is to start at 8 p.m.

Lady Hawks drop opener

The Lady Hawks were edged in their Dist. 5-AAA opener here Friday, 55-44, by Bowie.

The visitors jumped out to a 21-10 first-quarter lead, continued to lead 31-18 at the half and 45-31 going into the final period, before the Lady Hawks put on a rally.

Kerri Dorner led Iowa Park scoring with nine points.

The Junior Varsity also lost to Bowie, 50-40, but the Freshmen won 30-27.

The Lady Hawks will host Graham at 6:30 Friday, and then travel Tuesday to Bridgeport.

Eighth Grade girls suffer first loss

The Eighth Grade girls suffered their first loss of the season when the team lost 18-15 to Vernon Monday, after winning the championship Saturday of their own tournament.

Playing short-handed, the Junior Lady Hawks were led by Michelle Robertson and Cheri Halady, who scored seven and six points, respectively.

The team beat Vernon "B" 45-23 in the first round of last week's tournament, and then took 27-23 measure of Henrietta for the tourney title.

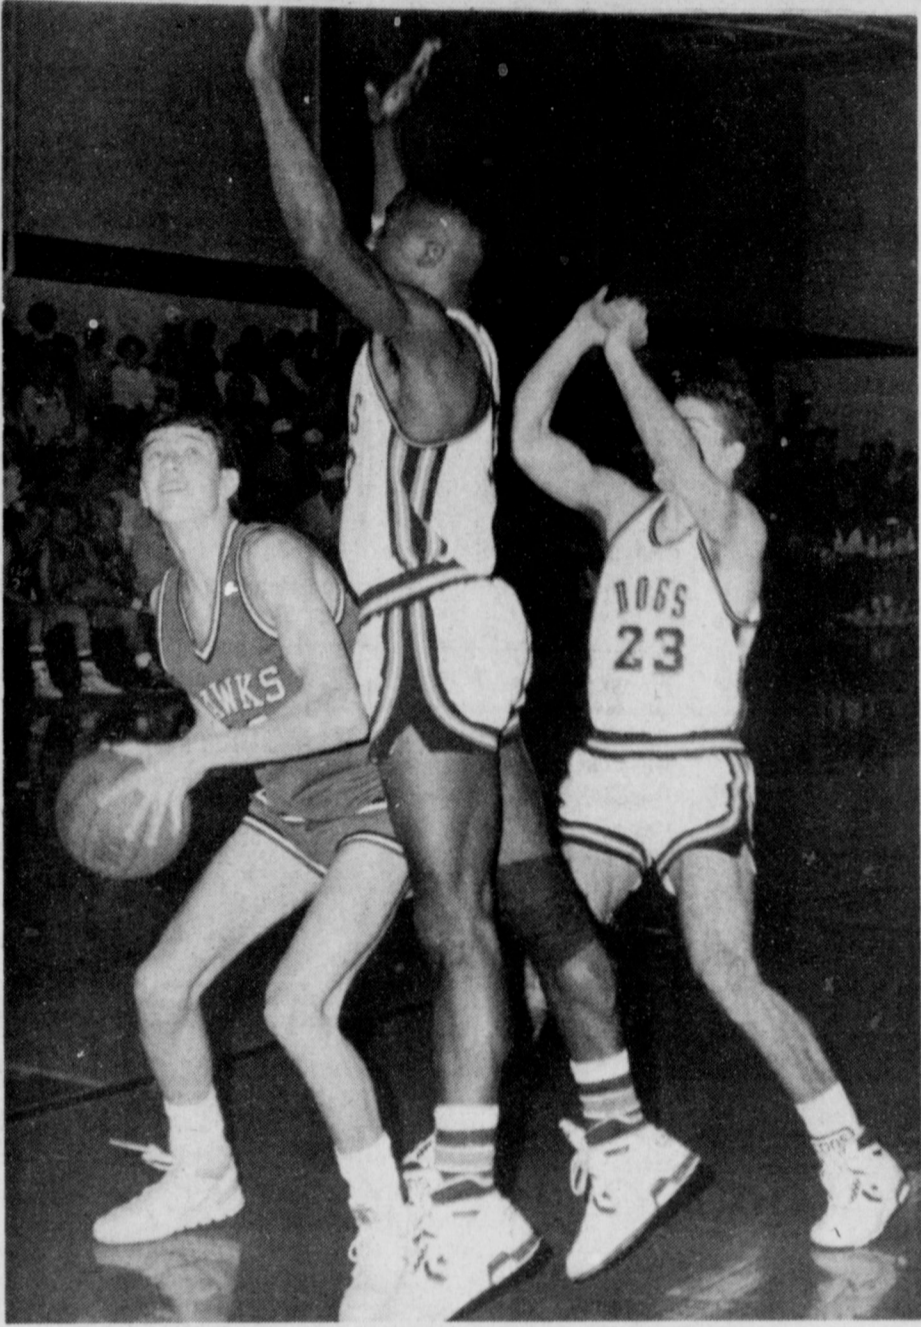

Halady had 22 points against the Vernon "B" team, and 10 in the title bout. Michelle Robertson and Christie Catlin scored the same six and five points respectively in both games.

The Seventh Grade girls "B" team beat Henrietta 21-19 in the first game of the tournament, but lost 23-11 to City View in the championship game. Christal Goad had six points against Henrietta and four against City View, while Kacey Gray had six in the first game and Lisa Walsh scored three in the second, for runner-up honors.

Vernon edged the Seventh Grade Monday, 39-31. Top scorers for Iowa Park were Brande Overman, nine; Jennifer Ricks, six, and Cristal Fisch, five.

Wild game, fish donations sought

Northwest Texas Field and Stream Association is soliciting donations of meat and fish for a wild game dinner, said Lewis Simmons and Frankie Sears, co-chairmen of the event.

Simmons is editor of the Clay County Leader in Henrietta, and a former reporter for the Iowa Park Leader.

"The association's wild game dinners have been popular in the past, and we are planning to sponsor another one sometime this spring," he said.

"Right now we are making a big push to get donations of wild game and fish," he continued.

The association is requesting donations of all types of wild game and fish. Sears will process any donations, and the association has freezers to store the donations.

"Our ability to sponsor the wild game feed is dependent upon the amount of donated game and fish we receive," Simmons said. "The dinners have been real popular with the public in the past because people enjoy having an opportunity to sample various types of wild game."

Persons wishing to make donations can contact the association office in Wichita Falls at 692-1141, Larry Scruggs at 528-2211, David Shoop at 691-3560, Sears at 691-0312, or Simmons at 538-4333.

'88 building permits equal past two years

Eventhough December's building permits fell off to only $37,316, the year's total was more than the past two years combined.

Permits totalled $1,241,496 in 1987 and $1,356,417 in 1986.

However, the permits last year did not reflect a lot of building, but rather was caused by the March 1 hail storm that affected almost every structure in the city.

Frank Guyette, 301 W. Pecan, repair, $2,200;
