Chamber banquet is Saturday

A crowd of 250 is expected to attend the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, which will begin at 7 p.m. Saturday in the high school cafeteria.

Keynote speaker this year will be Mrs. Merle Anthony, a retired Wichita Falls teacher who is one of the most sought-after speakers in the area.

One of the annual highlights is the announcement of recipients of the Chamber's annual awards.

Last year's recipients included Dr. Erwin Soell, Outstanding Citizen; Mrs. Ida Mae Lehman, Outstanding Senior Citizen; Jim Gotcher, Outstanding Educator, and Denny McCarthy, Outstanding Agriculturalist.

It is not known if a local business will be recognized this year. The past two years, Cryovac and State National Bank were singled out for their contributions to the economy of the community.

Chamber President Robert Palmer will serve as master of ceremonies, and he is to relinquish his post to newly-elected Kenneth Via.

Entertainment will be the popular Show Choir of Iowa Park High School.

The traditional ribeye steak dinner will be cooked and served by the Iowa Park MuleSkinners.

Local police make drug raid in Wichita Falls

The Iowa Park Police Department, with the assistance of the Wichita Falls department, executed a search warrant in Wichita Falls Wednesday evening of last week which resulted in one of the largest drug busts ever made in the county.

Chief Allen Sheffield explained the residents of 1031 Wesley had been suspected of selling "crank" amphetamine to several residents in Iowa Park.

And it is those buyers, Sheffield said, who are suspected of most of the thefts that occur here, in order to raise the money to make the buys.

Arrested in the bust were Nancy Jo Latham, 33, William Duane Latham, 35, both residents of that address, Tina Louise Mason, 24, of Denton, and Neil Edward Anderson, 36, of Mangum, Okla.

The four, along with a 16-year-old juvenile of the same address and a 17-year old neighbor, both males, were brought to the Iowa Park jail.

The young men were released, but the adults were transferred just after midnight to county jail.

Among the items taken in the raid were approximately 377 grams of amphetamine, a small amount of marijuana, two sophisticated scales, a plastic bag making appliance, approximately $2,200 in cash, five hand guns, two shotguns (one a sawed off double barrel), and a 9mm "Uzi" machine gun, a commercially-printed book on drug formula, and books of apparent sales records, names and addresses.

Sheffield said the books contained the names and addresses of several Iowa Park residents, suspected of being customers.

He noted there were no entries of apparent sales between Dec. 20 and 27, and quipped they had apparently taken a holiday for Christmas.

Much of the amphetamine was in small bags, with the weights marked on the plastic.

While the minimum street value of the amphetamine taken was set at $40,000, the Iowa Park chief said it could be "cut" with another material and be worth as much as $100,000 if sold on the streets.

Iowa Park is to file a request with the district attorney, as allowed by law, to confiscate some of the property, primarily the money and guns.

Sheffield said yesterday that his sources here have said drugs are a little harder to find in town, after the raid in Wichita Falls.

And he stated that, as a spinoff of the raid, his department was working on leads of more than one sales point in and around Iowa Park, but would not specify where.

"The message is that it doesn't matter where you live...if (drug sales) relate to Iowa Park, we're going to do something about it," he said.

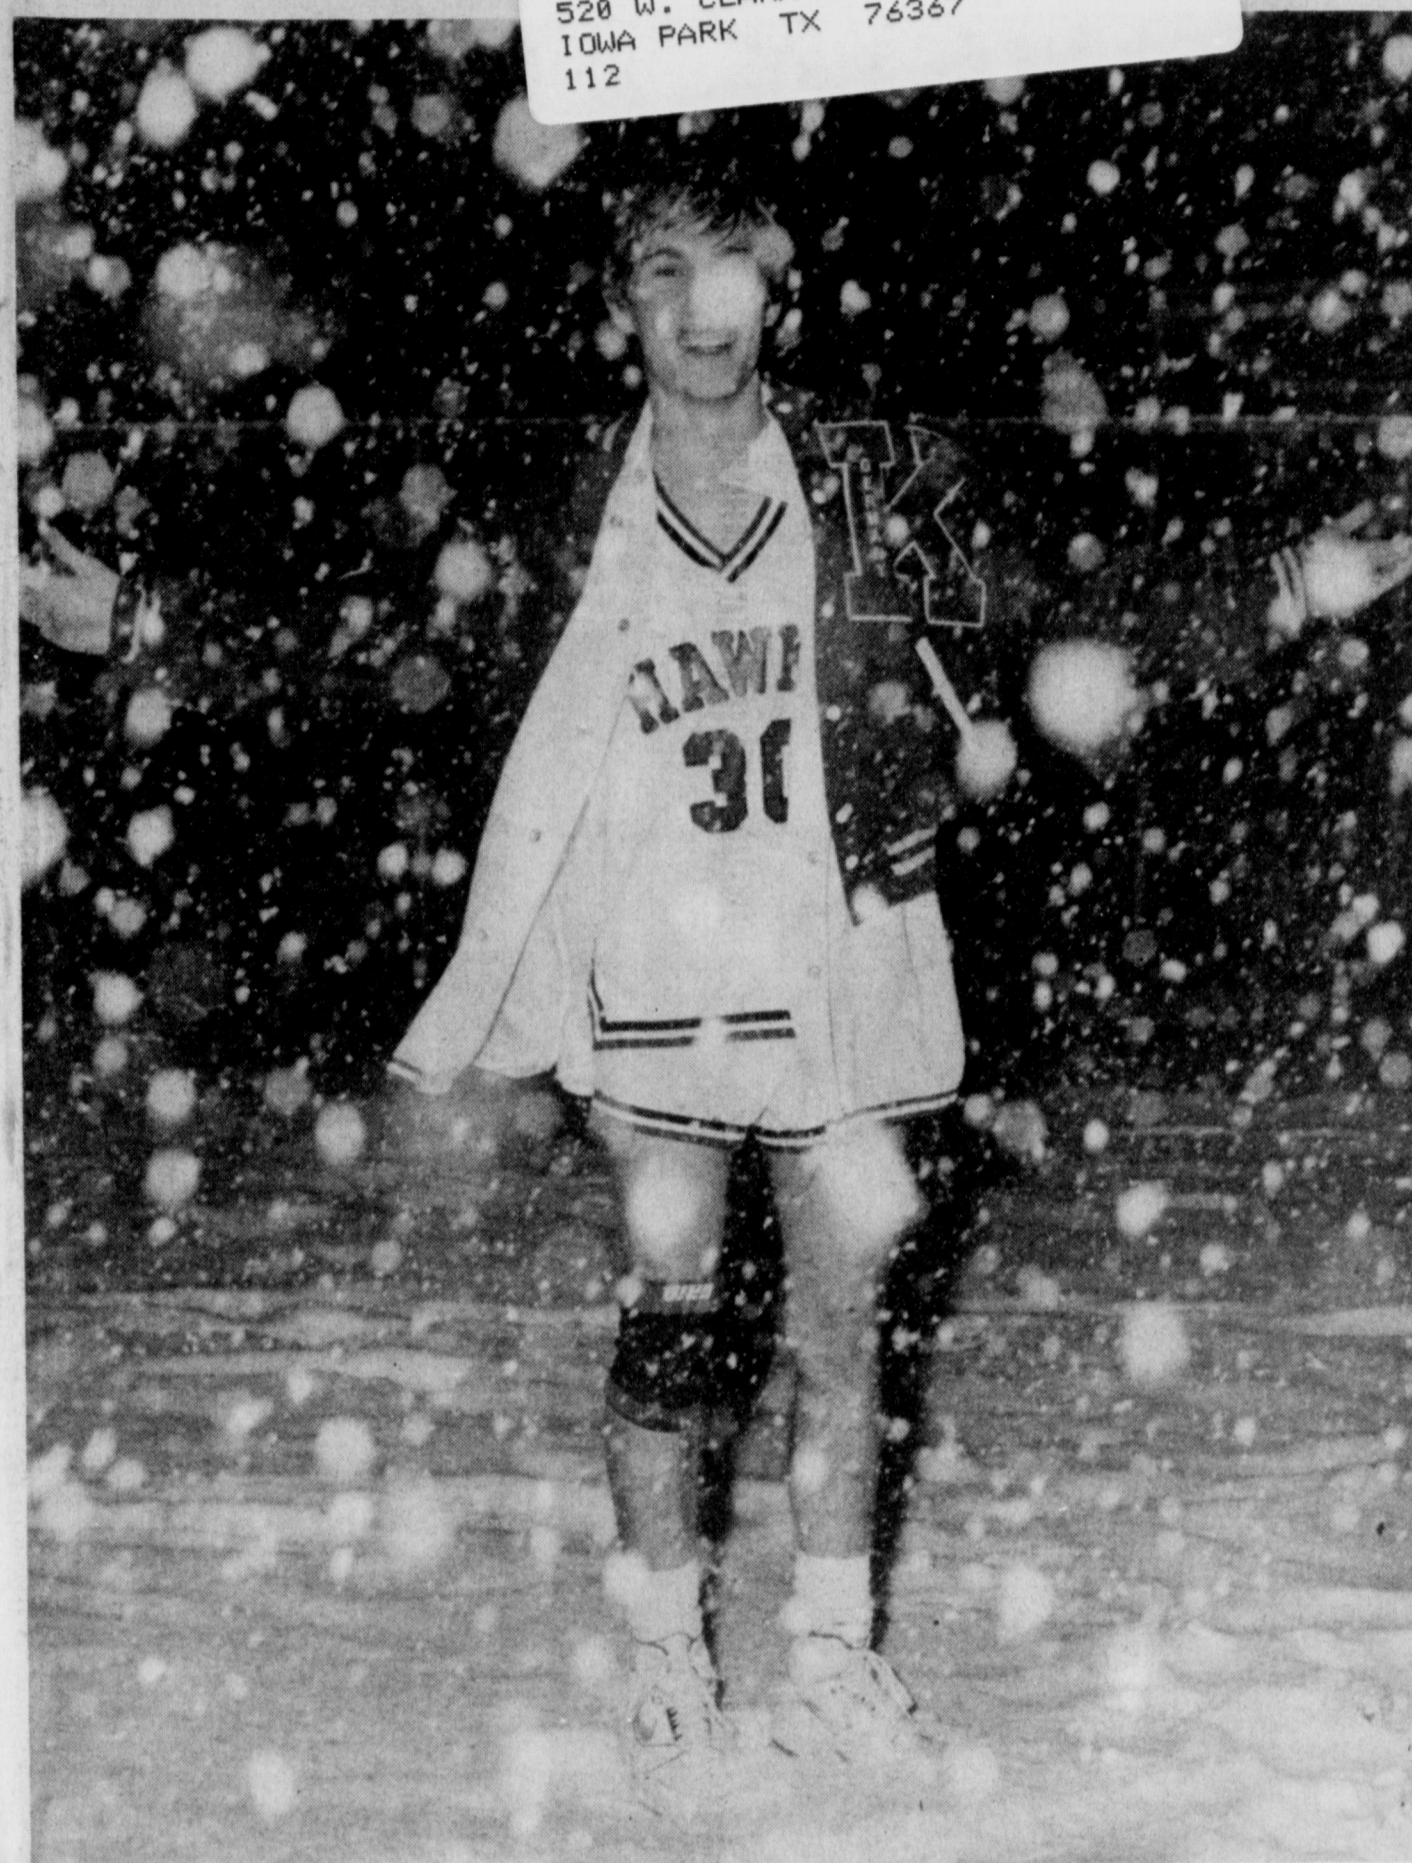

This was the fourth raid on the home of a suspected drug dealer by the local police in the past year.

The house where the drug raid took place is very inconspicuously located.

Wesley is only one block long, and is the first street off Old Iowa Park Road east of Loop 11.

The house, which has a chain link fence entirely around it, is next to the end of the block, on the east side.

And it is only two blocks west of the Hirschi High School campus.

IT SNOWED FRIDAY! - Hawk basketballer Bunkie Imboden couldn't wait to get out of the gymnasium Friday night after hearing it was snowing outside. He learned to love the white stuff while living in Germany. The farmers loved it also, because the 3.5-inch precipitation melted into .33 of an inch precipitation to give their wheat crops a needed drink. No accidents or other weather-related problems were reported in the immediate area. Most of the snow stayed around until Monday afternoon.

Superintendent's contract extended by school board

Supt. Glen Mitchell's contract was extended by the school board during a meeting Thursday night.

While the motion did not call for an adjustment in salary, it extended his contract by a year to maintain the three-year pact he presently has.

The motion on the contract was moved following an executive session, that lasted 24 minutes, which was closed to the public.

A request from Richard Davis, high school principal, to hire a special education aide for that campus was also approved by trustees.

Davis explained he had cut the position at the start of the year, to hold down his budget request. But, he explained, the need has grown and continues to grow for more help in that area at his school.

Responsibilities of the aide will be clerical help; supervision of classes, under other resource teacher, during scheduled and unscheduled meetings; CLASS testing of all students, and one-to-one aid to various handicapped students.

Board members approved renewal of a policy, which was adopted several years by a previous board but forgotten during a transition of people, which prohibits "any motorized two-, three- or four-wheel vehicles from being driven on school grounds. Paved parking lots and paved roads are excepted from the restriction."

The adopted policy is required by the police in order to enforce the school's request to that department to keep unauthorized vehicles off school grounds, which are not normally the responsibility of police.

Mitchell told the board rates of Blue Cross/Blue Shield insurance are to be increased, and he has requested the agents to seek more competitive rates.

The Annual Performance Report, an extensively-researched booklet on the local school system, was presented to board members.

Enrollment increased following the Christmas holidays, particularly at the two elementary campuses.

Kidwell Elementary picked up eight students, and now has 486, 14 more than this time last year.

Bradford's enrollment was raised by three, to 461. Last January, the enrollment at that school was 422.

The junior high has one more student than before the holidays, but is still down two students from the January 1988 total of 530.

And there is one less freshman at the high school than before the holidays. The campus has 526 students, down four from this month last year.

The district's total enrollment as of last week was 1,880, as compared to 1,845 last January.

Revenue from football games, including varsity, junior varsity, freshman and junior high, dropped significantly this year from the previous year.

Total revenue this year amounted to $22,453.89, as compared with $35,091.80 in 1987, according to the report presented trustees.

Most significant decrease was at varsity games, where the numbers dropped to $23,841.39 for 10 games from $36,297.31 in 1987 when the Hawks played 12 games.

Gross varsity receipts in 1988 were $51,032.50, while the 1987 gross receipts were $79,488.60.

9-1-1 emergency phone goes into effect Mar. 5

Eventhough it's still more than a month away, publicity concerning the new emergency telephone number, 9-1-1, was set in place last week.

The 9-1-1 board, of which Iowa Parkan Bud Burch is a member, held a meeting for the press and community leaders to both seek ideas and ask cooperation for publicity.

9-1-1 will be activated Mar. 5 in all four cities of Wichita County, as well as Wilbarger and Archer.

The address of every telephone in the cities is now in the main computer in Wichita Falls, and related equipment is installed in each of the cities.

However, not all rural addresses have been identified and added to the computers. This will not be completed for another 30 to 45 days after Mar. 5, according to Sidney Smith, project director.

When a caller dials the emergency number, the operator will ask the nature of the emergency. Once that information is received, the call will be immediately transferred to the proper area dispatcher and help, fire department, police, medical, will be notified.

When the emergency is transferred to the responsible agency, that agency will have on its computer screen whatever information is in the computer concerning the address.

Until the rural addressing is completed, however, only the telephone number will be transferred to the

Landscaping is Garden Club topic

Dan Roberts, from Smith's Gardentown, presented a program on "Landscape Installation and Design" for members of the Iowa Park Garden Club, when they met Friday morning at Tom Burnett Memorial Library.

He said the three stages of a well-balanced landscape include the planning stage, the planting stage, and the post care stage.

"To begin landscaping a lawn, one should sit down with a piece of paper and draw the house, trees, shrubs, and flower beds, using accurate measurements," he said. "Then the type of trees, shrubs, and bedding plants should be chosen for the landscape."

Continuing, he emphasized that after the flower beds have been properly prepared, plants should be placed with a variation of height and color to create interest. Following the planting stage, the post care of these plants is very important. New shrubs and trees should be watered at least two or three times a week, allowing the area to slowly soak up the water so that the ground is watered deeply. Watering is very important to the survival of the new plants and for best results this pattern should be followed for the first two years.

Roberts brought several samples of shrubs and bedding plants, and several books on gardening for members to pass around.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. Don Decker, Mrs. Billy C. Gilmore announced that the Yard of the Year Award had been presented to Pat Ehlert, who lives at 207 West Aldine.

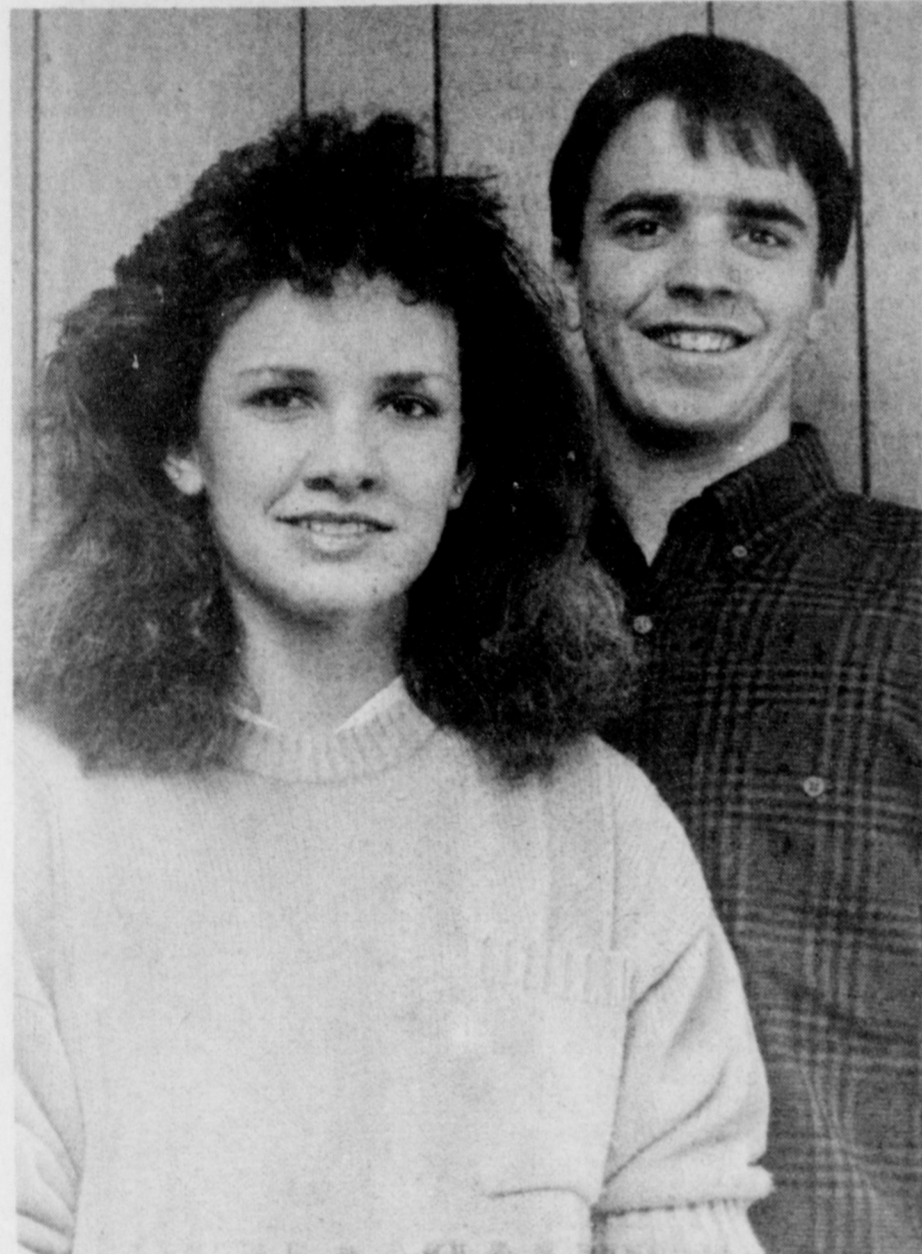

Members answered roll call by naming a native Texas tree. Mrs. Robert Illingworth gave the thought for the day, "Flowers Leave Their Fragrance on the Hand That Bestows Them," by Helen Steiner Rice.

Officers for the 1989-90 year were elected. They include: President, Mrs. Gladys James; vice-president, Mrs. Don Decker; recording secretary, Mrs. Norma Fortner; treasurer, Mrs. Joe Kennedy; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Vern Mikkelsen; and historian, Mrs. Deryl James.

Mrs. Oscar Wells, Arbor Day Chairman, announced that arrangements had been made to purchase and plant a cedar elm tree at Kidwell Elementary School in observance of Arbor Day, January 20.

Reports were given by Mrs. John Clapp on the conservation posters on "trees" to be picked up Feb. 3 at Kidwell Elementary; Mrs. Decker on the club's trip to Tyler in the spring; and, Mrs. W.A. George, Community Service Chairman, on the plaque to be placed at the site of the Kidwell Elementary landscaping project.

Hostesses were Mrs. Illingworth and Mrs. Jim Gilmore. They served refreshments from a table covered with a pale blue cloth, and used a basket full of live pansie plants for the centerpiece.

Furniture refinishing ESA program topic

"Love of Old, Dry, Crackling Things" was the title of a program on furniture refinishing, given by Jo Bumgardner, at a meeting of Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

She told of the correct tools to use, and gave instructions on filling wood, sealing, finishing, and how to bleach wood.

The main topic of business for the meeting, held in the home of Mrs. Bumgardner, was the Easter Seal Telethon. The chapter will man the telephone phones in Iowa Park on March 4 and 5. Some members will be selling balloons at Sikes Senter, March 5, at the telethon.

Lela Mercer gave the service report, saying that 175 hours had been donated this quarter, $636.43 in donated goods, and $1259.63 donated to service.

It was reported that six members will be attending the District Six meeting, Jan. 22, in Fort Worth.

Prior to the meeting, four pledges, Mary Lyn Boyd, Toni Wood, Dee Dee Kelley and Skitter Clark, attended orientation.

The next meeting will be Feb. 7.

FFA Boosters' meeting tonight

A meeting of the FFA Booster Club will be held at 7 this evening at the vocational agriculture building, and is open to the public.

To be discussed will be the Fort Worth Stock Show, which is to begin Jan. 31.

Stewart-Smith vows exchanged in double-ring ceremony

Cindy Ann Stewart and Jerry Paul Smith exchanged vows Dec. 17 at First Baptist Church in Holliday. Gary Lyles, father of the bride, officiated the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lyles of Valley View, and Smith is the son of Elaine Briscoe and Boyt Smith, both of Wichita Falls.

The couple read their vows at an altar appropriately decorated in a Christmas motif. Poinsettias lined the outer extremities of the altar area, and two heart-shaped candelabras decorated in Christmas greenery and holding red votive candles stood to each side of the couple. A huge Christmas wreath accented with Christmas plaid bows and greenery hung above the altar, and was flanked by garland caught up in swags with red bows. The unity candle, the couple lit as part of the ceremony, stood in the middle of the altar.

Family pews were marked with greenery tied with Christmas plaid bows.

As guests entered the church, they were greeted by Tammy Heinen, who presided at the registry table. The round table held the bride's book and baby pictures of the betrothed couple.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her grandfather, Howard Lyles, was elegantly attired in an ivory lace gown featuring a stand-up collar and long lace sleeves with tiny pearl buttons. The bodice was lined with ivory satin, and featured a yoke covered with seed pearls. Rows of ruffles made up the full floor-length skirt, attached at the back with a large ivory satin bow.

A band of pearls secured the fingertip-length veil, accented with a pouf of net at the back. The bride carried a cascade bouquet made of red roses accented with English ivy, white flowers and ivory, red and white streamers.

In keeping with bridal tradition, she wore a pearl necklace belonging to her great-grandmother for "something old," her wedding gown for "something new," pearl earrings belonging to her matron of honor for "something borrowed," and the "something blue" garter.

Marcy Dombkowski of Wichita Falls was matron of honor, and Theresa Fulfer of Iowa Park, sister of the groom, and Laura Dittloff of Houston served as bridesmaids.

The trio each wore a flattering red moire tea-length dress with a square neckline and large puffed sleeves. Each carried a single red rose accented with greenery and tied with Christmas plaid bows.

Kaci Stewart and Kyle Stewart, children of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer, respectively. Miss Stewart wore an ivory floor-length dress, complimented with a wreath headpiece made of ivory roses with pearl accents. She carried a miniature version of the bridal bouquet.

The ring bearer was attired in a black tuxedo with an ivory shirt and red cummerbund and bow tie, and carried an ivory heart-shaped ring pillow.

The groom wore an ivory tuxedo with an ivory cummerbund and bow tie. A boutonniere formed of a single red rose and greenery complimented his attire.

Boyt Smith, father of the groom, was best man. Ronnie Taylor of Iowa Park and Jon Crawford of Addison were groomsmen. Assuming ushering duties were Scott Lyles of Houston, brother of the bride, and Chris Briscoe of Wichita Falls, brother of the groom.

Each of the members of the male wedding party wore black tuxedos with a red cummerbund and bow tie, and a red rose boutonniere.

Music played at the ceremony included "Just You and I," "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do," and "Theme from Ice Castles."

A reception followed in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The bride's table was covered with a white floor-length cloth overlaid with a red lace-covered cloth swagged at each corner with Christmas plaid bows. It held a three-tiered white bridal cake decorated with cascades of red roses. The cake was topped with wedding bells and love birds accented with tiny red rosebuds. A silver punch bowl stood at one end of the table, and a silver candelabra with red votive candles and the bride's bouquet served as centerpiece.

Cheri Edge, Virginia Brown, Pattye Graham and Kim Fox, aunts of the bride, served at the bride's table.

The groom's table was covered with a white floor-length cloth, overlaid with a green cloth and ivory and chocolate lace. It held a chocolate groom's cake, decorated with chocolate roses and leaves and the groom's initials. A silver coffee service stood at one end of the table, and a wood and brass candelabra holding green votive candles was centerpiece. Bride and groom bears in a brass sleigh, and red napkins reading "Jerry and Cindy, December 17, 1988" completed the table setting. Debra Jo Young, sister of the groom, Cissy Scheffe and Theresa Rhodes presided. The bride was graduated from Holliday High School and attends Oklahoma City Community College. Smith was graduated from Iowa Park High School.

When the couple left for a honeymoon trip to New Mexico, the new Mrs. Smith wore an ivory sweater and pants. The couple now reside in the Valley View community.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Bob Young of Fort Worth, Theresa Rhodes and David Ford, both of Oklahoma City, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Crawford of Addison, Jim Simmons of Petrolia, Laura Dittloff and Scott Lyles, both of Houston, and Patty and Ronnie Graham of Weatherford.

As I See It... By BOB HAMILTON

Under our "Worth Quoting" heading this week is a column by my friend James Roberts of Andrews. He has as his topic the late Fort Worth Star-Telegram columnist George Dolan, and quotes some of George's better articles.

I just couldn't let it go by without my own recollections of the man.

No sooner had the managing editor of the Star-Telegram assigned George to write his columns, back in 1957, I met him. In Dumas.

The Star-Telegram was THE daily news source of west Texas, back in those days. Every "stringer" called Fort Worth after a Friday night high school football game, and by golly it was there in print Saturday morning when it was delivered. Never did figure out how they did it.

Anyway, Dolan came all the way up to Dumas, looking for column material. And from there he traveled all over the western part of the state, more than once, until management clipped his wings and would not let him more than 100 miles out of town, on company pay.

It was Dolan who wrote the most astute observation of Melvin Joiner, the former publisher of the Ralls Banner, just east of Lubbock.

Joiner was one of those old-time publishers who said, in print, what he thought and observed. No one, and I mean no one, could get an edge on him to escape his written observations.

The Ralls terror moved out to California, after selling his paper in the early 1960s, and everyone in Ralls thought that was the proper place for him.

About the time he left, Dolan wrote his famous column on Joiner, and even though it's almost 30 years later, I can almost recite it, word for word.

He said:

The people of Ralls wait impatiently for Thursday to roll around so they can rush down to the post office and get their copy of the Ralls Banner.

They snatch it from the box, tuck it under their arms, and hurry out to their cars, where they hastily thumb through it, page by page.

And, if by the time they reach the back page and haven't found their name, they heave a sign of relief, and settle back to read what he wrote about somebody else.

That wasn't one of Dolan's more humorous columns. But it sure was an accurate observation of a town, its newspaper and its publisher.

receiving agency, and the caller will have to give needed information.

Smith confirmed that the term "rural" is any address outside a city limits, regardless of distance.

The system is designed, once all the rural addresses are included, to give the responsible agency all its information, even if the caller should hang up or be unable to talk.

The two rural volunteer fire departments in this area, Wichita West and Kamay, will be dispatched by Iowa Park and Electra. Any emergency in the western part of the county will be directed to the two police departments.

Iowa Park will dispatch for the Wichita West department, and Electra for Kamay's department.

Proper agencies in Iowa Park, Electra, Burkburnett and Wichita Falls are contacting about 10 percent of the telephone numbers in their communities, and asking them to call the 9-1-1 number, to check if all pertinent information has been put in the computers.

Unless there is some change in the future, all 9-1-1 calls for ambulance will be dispatched through the sheriff's office by telephone.

Lifeline Ambulance does not have a computer terminal, primarily because of cost. Smith said installation of a computer would be $25,000 and a monthly charge of $750.

When the subject of prank calls was brought up in the meeting, and each district where 9-1-1 has been developed has experienced them, Smith pointed out that such a call is against the law, and the caller's telephone number and address is "right there on the computer screen" for identification.

"It is an offense to call in a false alarm of any kind," Smith said.

An extensive education program is being planned, to educate the public about the 9-1-1 emergency phone, and a major concentration will be placed on school students and the elderly.

Gas rate hike pending

The city council is to receive a request for a rate increase from a representative of Lone Star Gas, when aldermen meet at 7 p.m. in council chambers Monday.

A public appearance is listed on the meeting agenda, requested by Lee Roy Olson of Lone Star.

An ordinance to be considered by the council is the final step in a series of hearings for the annexation of Lake Iowa Park into the city limits. The area encompasses 436 acres of land.

Another ordinance for council action would "clarify the intent of holiday pay" for city employees.

Three resolutions for council action include: authorizing the city administrator to enter into financial arrangements for city investments and authorizing signatory authority; authorizing the administrator to sign sales tax exemption forms for the city, and authorizing the administrator to enter into an agreement with Wichita County for jail services.

The council will also consider giving Administrator James Barrington authority to purchase public official liability insurance.

A carryover from a discussion among aldermen at the last meeting is on Monday's agenda. It is for the amending of a policy regarding new water services outside the city limits.

Also on the agenda is a public hearing, to determine if a structure at 314 E. Crystal continues to constitute a "public nuisance."

An earlier hearing on the subject was tabled when the owners promised to work to get the structure, a house that had been moved to the site, to meet city code standards.

Home burglarized in daylight

A daylight burglary of a home and arrest of three persons for public intoxication were the major entries during the past week on the Iowa Park police blotter.

Residents of a home in the 700 block of Park Plaza told police they had left the house to eat breakfast Sunday morning, and when they returned about an hour later, they found their front door had been forced open.

Most of the items taken were costume jewelry, but many of the items usually taken, such as VCRs and television sets, were untouched.

Value of the jewelry, and some Indian head pennies, was about $500.

A female called police at 11:48 p.m. Monday, saying two men were attempting to force their way into her home in the 400 block of West Diamond, and named the two.

A few minutes later, according to the police blotter, two men were taken into custody in the 900 block of S. Colorado. They were Lance Britain Farris, 19, and Chad Boyd Patterson, 17.

The two were charged with public intoxication, and released at 5:35 the next morning.

Also arrested on a charge of public intoxication, at 2:07 a.m. Wednesday, was Kevin Gray Lowder, 25.

Theft of a child's red wagon, valued over $20, was reported to police Sunday. It was taken from the front yard of a home in the 500 block of W. Coleman.

Worth Quoting

Before we get too far into the new year, we'd like to make a note of the passing of George Dolan of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

From 1957 until his death in late November, Dolan in his front page column chronicled the characters and oddities of West Texas. His columns were often quoted in this space because he was one of our favorites when it came to passing along West Texas humor.

Like most West Texans, we loved Dolan's stories about Hondo Crouch. He wrote: "Hondo Crouch raises goats and people's eyebrows. He wears blue denims -- shirts and trousers -- that are faded, soiled and torn. His boots are worn, scuffed and run down at the heel. He has gray hair, worn in an early Will Rogers style, melting brown eyes and lots of what photographers call character lines on his face.

Crouch was in uniform when he boarded a plane with cowboy cartoonist Ace Reid of Kerrville. The pair were going to a folklike festival in Washington, D.C. Crouch was carrying a large paper bag. The back foot or so of a rattlesnake, bearing about a dozen rattles, was sticking out of the sack.

Crouch's movements kept those rattles rustling...until the plane leveled off at 30,000 feet. Then he began crawling around on all fours, peering under other passengers' seats. "What are you doing?" someone demanded.

"Lost four of my little snakes," Hondo explained. He says its surprising how hysterical people can get when they're at high altitude.

Another time, Dolan wrote about Crouch:

"Crouch's appearance is distinctive. He's a celebrity of sorts in the Texas' Hill Country.

He's a conversation piece. When people go there to visit, they tell Hondo stories.

Television's "Gunsmoke" series crew went to the Hill Country for some filming and Hondo encountered Festus.

"You must be Hondo," Festus said.

"Yep," said Hondo. "You must be Festus."

"Yep."

Neither spoke for a full minute. Then Hondo said: "Are you as disappointed as I am?"

One of Dolan's favorite characters was Garth "Tangle Eye" Garrett, sheriff of Haskell County. He wrote: When "Tangle-Eye" was running for sheriff of Haskell County, he did some door-to-door campaigning.

At a house in Rochester, a woman responded impatiently to his knock on the door.

"Lady," Garrett said hastily. "I don't want to bother you, but just let me leave you a card and remind you that you'll never have another chance to vote for a cross-eyed sheriff."

His little speech was so disarming that the woman invited him in for a visit.

Garrett's pitch was equally effective with the voters. He was elected.

"It's a good thing I was elected," he mentioned one day. "We've had three courts going. It takes a cross-eyed sheriff to look after them all."

Garrett was a mechanic before he became sheriff and it was his boast that he could look at a V-8 engine and see down two cylinders at once.

He was driving one day with a one-eyed man and, in his characteristic self-needing manner, the sheriff told him:

"You watch the center stripe and I'll watch both bar ditches."

Dolan's humorous stories kinda put the smug and mighty in proper perspective through good times and bad.

His columns made folk heroes out of the ordinary among us and brought humility and intimacy to the famous, and permitted all of us the glimpse of ourselves that permitted laughter to ease the pain of the problem.

He'll be sorely missed in West Texas.

JAMES ROBERTS
Andrews County News

A recent survey of the Texans in Congress reveal that most of them believe the proposed 50 percent pay hike for themselves and other top federal officials is a bad idea.

Can you imagine a 50 percent pay raise?

If the pay is that far out of line then they must have been too long giving themselves gradual raises.

But the most disturbing part of the pending pay hike is that the Congressmen might not even have to actually vote on the bad idea. It could become law automatically unless both houses of Congress vote against it by Feb. 8.

That's how Congress got a 15.6 percent ($12,000) raise in 1987. That time the Senate voted 88-6 against it, one day before the deadline. Then the House did it too, a day after the raise took effect... in a meaningless voice vote.

The latest proposal, endorsed by Reagan, would raise the salary of rank-and-file members of Congress and federal judges from $89,500 to $135,000 a year. It also bans "honorariums" -- the outside fees of up to $2,000 that members and their aides can accept for speeches and personal appearances.

Are you sure it includes federal judges, you ask? Sorry, the answer is "yes."

One of the most disturbing factors of our governmental process these days is that Presidents serve a limited number of terms, but congressmen, senators and federal judges do not.

Some are calling the pay raise maneuver "procedural hocus-pocus" of an existing law. There's little doubt that some of the comments being made about "not wanting a raise" are hypocritical.

The recommendations directly affect about 2,500 senior federal jobs and indirectly affect another 10,000 positions whose pay is tied to the top scale.

If there's no disapproval (in time) the estimated cost the first year would be $128 million -- not counting added retirement benefits the recipients would get by having larger salaries.

The prospect of these pay raises being approved are very good, when you realize it will take "quick action" by both houses to kill it.

And just think, it's taking place at the same time we're beginning to work on last year's (new) income tax form.

DICK WHITE
Pittsburg Gazette

Now that the festivities of the holiday season are over, the heralds of the new year have already appeared. Most of us, after retrieving Christmas cards and catalogs from the mail for months, found our personal edition of the 1988 Internal Revenue tax forms in the mail shortly after Christmas.

Nothing will dash the warm feeling of the holiday season like a reminder that Uncle Sam is looking for his cut of your good fortune during the last year. The cold wind of the coming tax season effectively swept away the last of the Christmas spirit.

Accompanying the IRS forms this year is a notice that tells the taxpayer approximately how much time they will invest in completing the forms. As usual the IRS only estimates how long each part of the operation will take, i.e.; record keeping, learning the law, preparing the form, and etc. In the hope of not frightening the taxpayer the total time is not calculated.

Brace yourself. Following the IRS guidelines, a taxpayer that files a 1040 form with Schedules A, B, C, and E will spend over 32 hours completing the forms. Working eight hours a day, that is over four days wasted scratching our collective heads over the federal tax law.

To be generous, let's assume that the average taxpayer spends one day each year assembling all the records, receipts, and other scraps of paper necessary for the completion of a tax form. There are approximately 110-million taxpayers in the nation, so collectively we will spend 110-million days dragging together all the information necessary to comply with the tax system.

That is over 300,000 years of time that we as citizens will spend trying to figure out what we owe our government in taxes. No wonder productivity is slipping in this nation.

The authors of tax reform have concentrated on the financial cost to the tax payer of income taxes, but they have ignored the time cost. Time, just like money, is a valuable commodity. Because everyone is issued the same 365 days at the beginning of a year, time is becoming more valuable than money.

In the next session of Congress, our solons should concentrate on removing the time as well as the dollar cost of our tax system. A nation that spends 300,000 man-years on a project should have more to show for the effort than a huge pile of multi-colored pieces of paper.

Emergency loans available to farmers

Wichita County is one of 89 in Texas recently named by Sec. of Agriculture Richard Lyng as eligible for loans to cover part of actual production losses resulting from drought conditions which occurred between Jan. 1 and Aug. 31 last year.

Farmers Home Administration county supervisor Joe Gilbreath said farmers may be eligible for loans of up to 80 percent of their actual losses not to exceed $500,000.

For farmers unable to obtain credit from private commercial lenders, the interest rate is 4.5 percent.

"As a general rule, a farmer must have suffered at least a 30-percent loss of production to be eligible for an FmHA emergency loan," Gilbreath said. Farmers participating in the PIK or Federal Crop Insurance programs will have to figure in proceeds from those programs in determining their losses.

Homemakers club studies nutrition

"Nutrition Nonsense" was the program at the meeting of the Park Area Extension Homemakers Club held Wednesday at the home of Gaber Reneau.

Nancy Henderson gave the program, telling members that misinformation about nutrition does exist and it misleads many. She cited numerous fallacies such as taking vitamin C to prevent a cold, or drinking vinegar or ginger to relieve arthritis.

She said that nutrition misinformation can be harmful to those believing that diet can prevent or cure diseases such as hypertension, diabetes, cancer or arthritis. Mrs. Henderson closed by telling members to check with a reputable nutritionist or County Extension Home Economist when in doubt.

Eight members answered roll call naming her favorite winter pastime. Opening exercise was "A Second Chance."

During the business, year books were passed out, and Mabel Karstetter gave the council report.

TOMIE SUE COCKBURN CHALLENGES LADY BLUE PLAYER

Varsity teams drop district contests

Iowa Park's two varsity basketball teams dropped their games to Graham and Bridgeport during the past week, and are still looking for their first Dist. 5-AAA wins.

The Lady Hawks almost pulled it off here Friday night against Graham. Trailing only three points going into the fourth period, they tied the score at 38-38 with 5:31 remaining on a bucket by Valerie Hedrick, but finally lost 47-42.

Tuesday night at Bridgeport, the Lady Hawks trailed by only eight points at the half, 18-10, but lost 48-27.

Tomi Sue Cockburn led in scoring in the Graham game, with 14 points, and Kerri Dorner had nine. At Bridgeport, Dorner was high with eight, and Cockburn and Michelle Cannedy each had four.

Jimmy Duggins, wearing a brace he received that afternoon, played in Friday's game against Graham, but it apparently was a mistake. The talented junior re-injured his leg and will be out of action at least two weeks.

Duggins didn't even make the trip Tuesday to Bridgeport, nor did the three seniors who started the season on the team.

All three, Jeff Floyd, Scot Davis and Clay Miller, checked in their equipment Monday morning.

Coach Earnie Reusch was short another player Friday. Brian Luney, who had been moved up from the junior varsity, was still sidelined with a sprained ankle received a week earlier

So Reusch brought up two players, freshman Robert Denton and junior Bunkie Imboden.

Imboden, who had not played organized basketball before this season, wound up high-point scorer for the Hawks against Graham.

Despite his 14 points, 11 by Wayne Chitwood and Bruce Palmer's 10, however, the visiting Steers beat the Hawks 81-46.

Tuesday, Bridgeport knocked off the Hawks by a 78-38 margin.

Imboden and Chitwood each had nine.

The varsities will host Vernon Friday, and travel to Bowie Tuesday. First game each evening will be 6:30.

Mrs. Brian Beard

Dianna Beard and her husband, Brian, have lived in Iowa Park almost one year. He is an officer with the Iowa Park Police Department.

They have two sons, six-year-old Jonathan, a first grade student at Kidwell Elementary School, and Ryan, who is one.

They moved here from northern Idaho, which probably accounts for Dianna's interests, which include snow skiing, snow mobiling, horse-back riding, hiking, and traveling.

Her love of travel began as a child. She was born in Cambridge, England. Her mother is English, and her father was in the U.S. Air Force. The family traveled frequently, and Dianna received her schooling in several different countries. She met her husband after the family moved to Idaho.

She said for the past few weeks, she has been cooking a lot of German foods. But, she decided not to submit those recipes because they require a lot of spices not available here. The spices Dianna uses are supplied by her sister-in-law, who lives in Germany.

She said most of her recipes are kept in her head, but wrote down the following, which are some of her favorites:

GERMAN BOLOGNA SALAD

- 1 red bell pepper
 - 1 green bell pepper
 - 1/2 small yellow onion
 - 1/2 cup grated mozzarella cheese
 - 1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
 - 2 slices ham
 - 2 slices bologna
 - 2 Tbls. Heinz gourmet salad vinegar
 - 1 Tbsp. Wesson Oil

- 3 slices uncooked bacon, cut in half
- 1 bell pepper, sliced into strips
- 1/2 white onion, cut into strips

ITALIAN STYLE TROUT (may substitute other fish)

- 3 or 4 filets of trout
 - 1 - 16 oz. jar Ragu spaghetti sauce
 - 1/2 yellow onion sliced
- Line baking dish with foil. Place fish in dish and cover with onion and Ragu sauce. Seal top with foil and bake at 300 degrees one and a half hours.

Nigerian Baptist study completed

Mrs. C.L. McKinnon completed the review of "Baptists in Nigeria: A Story to Tell" by Carleon F. Whitley Monday evening at a meeting of the Thelma Smith Baptist Women, held in the parlor of First Baptist Church.

The first part of the review featured Baptist work in Ogbomoso and stressed the heritages of obedience, Christ's example, pioneer missionaries, church planting, teaching, planning, and the care for the whole people. She noted that the first Southern Baptist missionary arrived in Lagos, Nigeria in 1850, established a mission at Ogbomoso and his first convert was a "juju" priest.

She further stated that the first Baptist Church was organized there in 1880 and that it was the forerunner of the magnificent O'Kelerin Baptist Church, and mentioned some of the names of many people written in the Baptist history of Nigeria.

In conclusion, Mrs. McKinnon noted the review of historical facts enhances the understanding of the people of Nigeria and helps to anticipate the future of Nigerian Baptists. She said the Southern Baptist missionaries are now in the country at the invitation of the Nigerian Baptist Convention.

Following the meeting, the members attended the second session of the January Bible study directed by Rev. Travis Monday, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church at Colorado City.

Fire Department receives donation

The Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Department recently received a $100 check from Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in support of the Volunteer's Community Fire Prevention and Protection Program.

"The telephone company has been a supporter of the volunteer fire departments for many years," said Dan Adams, area manager for the company.

"Years ago, when there was a fire, it was the local telephone operator in many communities who would receive the call and sound the fire bell or siren, and volunteer firemen would then call the operator to find out the location of the fire," he said.

"Southwestern Bell Telephone believes the Volunteer Fire Department's Fire Prevention and Fire Safety Programs have greatly reduced the number of fires in Iowa Park. However, it is reassuring to know that we have the trained volunteer fire fighters ready to help when they are needed," he added.

Pine Wood Derby explained to local Optimist Club

Martha Harris was guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Iowa Park Optimist Club. She told about the Cub Scouts involvement in the upcoming Pine Wood Derby. She said the scouts make small cars out of pine, any shape and color, then take them to compete against others in the Pine Wood Car Derby in Wichita Falls.

Prior to the Wichita Falls race, there will be a derby held at 6 p.m., January 23, at the First United Methodist Church. This will allow the boys to see how their cars can run before the Wichita Falls race. Harris ask the Optimist members for help in judging and running of the derby, and to present the awards.

In other business, Lt. Governor Louis Sefcik reminded members of the Board of Directors meeting in Wichita Falls next month. He presented Allan Shewmake and Howard Smith with their five-member Gold Leaf pins.

Allan Shewmake gave a report on the alcohol and drug free party at Sikes Center on New Years Eve. He said that two dances had been scheduled for February. A dance for junior high students is planned for Friday, Feb. 10, and a senior high dance will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 on Saturday, Feb. 11.

Ralph Carrillo-Miranda thanked everyone who helped on the Christmas tree lot. Blaine Horton was given special recognition for his help and the use of his truck.

Connie Laudermilk was welcomed as a new member, and Peggy Casper was a special guest.

Booster Club honors football players with banquet Saturday

Six athletes and two adults were recognized Saturday night during the annual football banquet, sponsored by the Iowa Park Booster Club.

Each athlete recognized received a plaque, and has his name inscribed on permanent plaques which are displayed at the high school.

Named Outstanding Hawk was lineman Jay Loggins.

Lee Cokendolpher received the BallHawker Award.

Hawks' Best Hustler award was shared by Rual Swanson and Scot Davis.

Brian Luney was recipient of the Jackie Denton Award. Though the award is given to the outstanding Junior Varsity player, Luney was moved to the Varsity in the latter part of the season.

This was the first year the David Ross Fighting Hawk Award was presented. It will be awarded annually to a non-starter, based on his contribution to the team.

Initial recipient was Dan Fannin, who happens to be the nephew of the late "Red Hoss" Ross, a cancer victim who is rated among the best backs ever to play for Iowa Park.

The two adults recognized were Carlton Hicks and Robert Wilcox. Each was presented jackets.

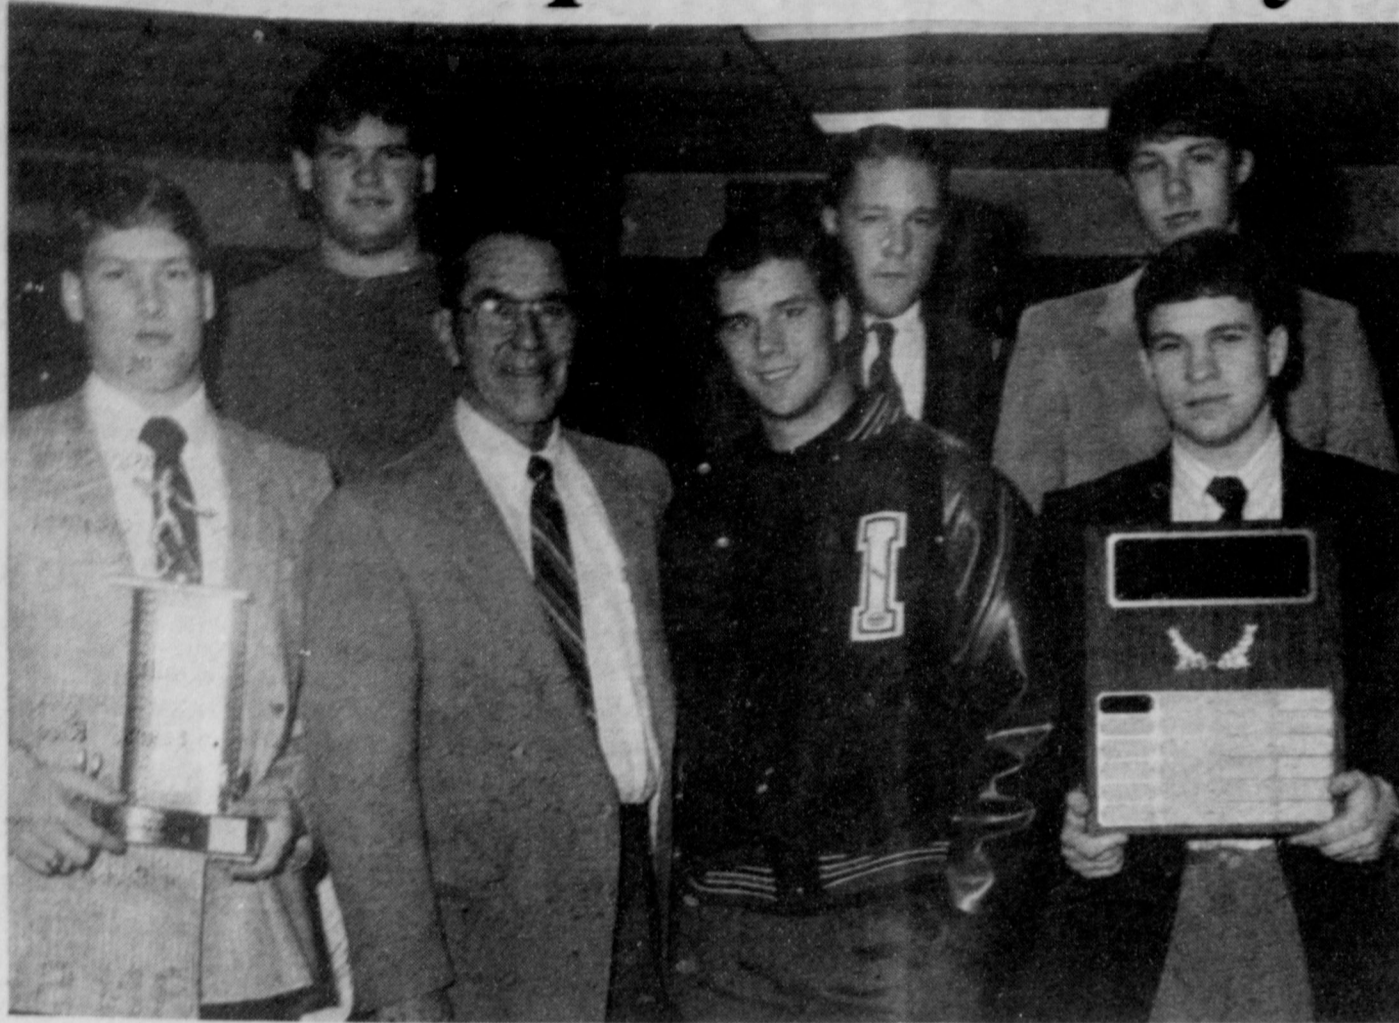

Hicks was the time keeper for all Hawk home games 30 years, but was forced to retire for health reasons. He was succeeded last season by Norman Hodges.

Wilcox completed his 41st year as public address announcer in 1987.

Guest speaker for the banquet, which was held at Chaparral Baptist Assembly, was Jess Stiles, assistant athletic director at Texas Tech Univ.

He recalled having spoken at football banquets here three times in the past, when the Hawks were coached by Bill Carter, Tommy Watkins and David Baugh.

Head Coach Len Williams, speaking to the mothers in the audience, said, "I want to thank you for allowing me to work with these young men this year."

Young boys' team winning in league

Iowa Park's Mavericks have won their first two games of the Wichita Falls Boys' Club Junior League for players 11 and 12 years of age.

They bested the Wichita Falls Bulls 36-16 in the first league game and doubled the Holliday Eagles, 32-16, in the second.

All five starters scored in the first game: Josh Castles nine, Mickey Mayo and Terry Winter eight, Jason Young seven and Clint Witherpoon four.

Mayo had 15 points against Holliday, as well as seven rebounds, four steals and two assists.

The Mavericks are sixth graders at Iowa Park Junior High, and have played together three years.

Steve Smith, Wayne Hodges and Mike Castles are the coaches.

The Junior League is composed of two divisions, each with seven teams. The Mavs will play four non-division and six divisional games. Division games will determine play-off parings.

Other players on the team besides the starters are Barry McCord, Casey Moser, Clint Scobee, Jeff Taylor and Joe Vickers.
