

Hawks to Weatherford Friday in area match

Iowa Park's Hawks will find the surroundings familiar Friday night, when they take on the surprising McGregor Bulldogs of Dist. 7-AAA for the area title.

They'll be returning to Weatherford, where the kickoff is set at 8 p.m. Iowa Park has been designated the "visitors," and fans will sit in the south stands.

The Hawks defeated Waco Robinson in Kangaroo Stadium last season for the area crown, but lost on the same turf in the quarterfinals against Lampasas.

McGregor, which finished last season with a record of 7-3, wasn't supposed to place higher than third in its conference, according to Texas Football magazine. But La Vega was the magazine's choice to finish in the district's cellar, too. And those two clubs wound up in a tie after defeating everyone else and playing to a 14-14 finish against each other.

The Bulldogs are no strangers to the state playoffs, but their experience has been in the lower classifications. They were there the two seasons before being elevated in 1986 to Class AAA, and went all the way to the semifinals in '79.

McGregor High is a small school, located some 18 miles west of Waco. The school was moved up in classification when it was two students over the dividing point, and hasn't had enough enrollment to qualify for AAA since then.

McGregor, now 10-0-1, opened the season with a 35-6 win over Hillsboro, a team that made it to the bi-district level and lost last week 14-0 to Springtown. In the Bulldogs' other two nonconference games, they dumped Mart 23-13 and Rosebud-Lott 14-6.

Then in 7-AAA competition, the Dogs defeated pre-season favorite Marlin 30-19, Robinson 14-0, Connally 7-3 and Gatesville 34-0 before the La Vega game. In their final two regular season games, they humbled Whitney 38-6 and ran wild against West, 28-6.

The West score doesn't reflect the real game, however. McGregor gained 193 rushing and completed 11 of 13 passes for another 234, and held West to only 67 yards total. After scoring all 28 points in the first half, Bulldog reserves finished out the game.

Last week, McGregor knocked off Burnet, 43-3, for the bi-district title. Burnet had also tied with Lampasas for that district's title, and La Vega beat Lampasas 22-7 the same evening.

The Bulldogs are large in the line and the backs are small but fast.

The interior offensive linemen include Ray Mays, 200, at center; Jeff Parsons, 245, and dMarc Fisk, 224 at guards, and tackles are Brad Waters, 215, and Ray Dietzman, 250. Ends are Steven Patterson, 180, and Andre Jones, 183. All are seniors.

Jimmy Hering, 160, is the quarterback of the veer offense. Corey Long, 162, is the wide receiver and runningbacks are Greg Ustanik, 150, and David Jackson, 172.

Ustanik was a member of the school's sprint relay team last year that had the fastest qualifying time in the state track meet, but failed to finish when the baton was dropped. He's the team's leading ball carrier, and missed some of the mid-season games, that wound up with close scores, because of an injury.

The Hawks enter the game closer to being at full strength than they've been since the opening of the Springtown game.

Jeff Huff returned to the playing field last week, wearing a special pad on his left arm, that was broken in the game with the Porcupines. While he played exclusively in the defensive secondary, he is still capable of supporting sophomore quarterback Jimmy Duggins, should the need arise. Huff was the starting quarterback when he was injured.

Also back is linebacker Chad Fielding. He was in on around a dozen plays against Bridgeport, and played almost the entire Ballinger game.

Tailback Joel Galloway is expected to be back to full power Friday. He injured a knee during pre-game warmup last week and carried the ball only four times.

The Hawk offense will have its hands full against McGregor's big linemen, opening holes for fullback Jim Cummings, the Hawks' workhorse. The big senior has carried 214 times in his 11 games, and now has 1,602 yards rushing, plus 12 pass receptions for another 199.

The Mean Green has been working hard this week in preparation for McGregor's passing game. Ballinger last week racked up 224 yards via the airways. But that wasn't unusual, because the Bearcats had 212 yards by the same route last year against the Hawks.

Playoff facts

Tickets for Friday's Iowa Park-McGregor football game in Weatherford will remain on sale at Iowa Park High until 3 p.m. Friday. The price will be $4 for adults and $2 for students, but at the gate all tickets will be $4, according to Principal Richard Davis.

All Iowa Park schools will dismiss classes Friday one hour earlier than usual, Supt. Glen Mitchell reported.

The pep rally at the high school will begin at 2:30 p.m., and a special rally, complete with the players, band and pep squad will be held at 9:10 a.m. in front of Kidwell Elementary.

Booster Club President Joe Galloway is encouraging all fans to be at the field house at 3 p.m. to give the Hawks a big sendoff.

City to make offer for landfill tract

The city council will try to buy a tract of land it is leasing for the sanitary landfill.

A decision on the move was reached during a called meeting of council members Monday.

That meeting was originally set to be at the site of a structure which had been condemned, but the extra topic was added later to the agenda. Council members met at 5 p.m.

at 325 E. Bank, at the request of the owner, Joe Harry Bower. A decision was to have been reached the previous week, but a delay was requested and granted.

However, once at the site, neither Bower nor his attorney was present and aldermen voted at the location to have the rent house demolished.

That work was undertaken yesterday morning by a private contractor as a lien against the property.

From the rent house location, aldermen met at council chambers where, following an executive meeting with attorney Jay Cantrell that lasted some 40 minutes, a motion was made and quickly approved.

The motion was to "authorize the city administrator and city attorney to make an offer for land in Tract No. 3, based on appraised value."

The land owned by Mrs. Mabel Karstetter and leased by the city is divided into three tracts of approximately equal 50-acre size. Tract three is the site currently being used for the landfill.

Aldermen will meet again Monday, for a regularly-scheduled session, beginning at 7 p.m. in council chambers.

An ordinance will be considered which, if passed, would set a "contact fee" for notifying water customers who are behind in making payments.

"Those who are always current with their bills would never be affected," Administrator James Barrington aldermen will consider bids, which are to be opened today, for the purchase of an elevated scrapper and motor grader.

Authorization to purchase street signs will be requested, as will a request for travel expenses to study the incinerator at Cryovac's plant at Simpsonville, S.C.

A public appearance has been requested by Robert Harper, seeking changes in the landfill sticker system and/or fees.

Also on the agenda is an executive session with two sub topics: "pending or contemplated litigation or settlement offers" and "personnel."

Palmer heads Chamber

Robert Palmer was elected Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce president during Monday's annual all-membership business luncheon.

The assistant superintendent of schools jokingly said he hopes to serve an entire year, pointing out the past two presidents have had to resign the post during their terms.

Palmer was moved up from first vice president to president a few months ago when Frank Gossett moved to North Carolina.

Kenneth Via was named first vice president and Harold Smith the second vice president. Susan Dillard was re-elected secretary.

Directors whose terms will expire in 1990 are Bob and Keith Aulds, Dee Blackwell, Bob Hamilton, O.N. Newman, Palmer, Smith and Via.

Also elected to fill unexpired director terms for one year were Sam Laird, Leon Stevenson and Glenna Via.

Palmer told the crowd that the organization's membership drive would be launched that same day, with letters being mailed out to prospective businesses and individuals.

Deadlines for the Thanksgiving issue will be moved up one day. Deadlines will 4 p.m. Monday for business display advertisements and 12-noon Tuesday for classified advertisements.

Organization news deadline will be Monday afternoon, unless the event takes place that evening. In that event, the deadline will be 10 a.m. Tuesday.

The edition will be printed Tuesday and go out in the mail and on the newsstands Wednesday. The Leader office will close at noon Wednesday and reopen at 7:30 a.m. Friday.

Couple arrested for possession

An Iowa Park couple was arrested after a search of their home Monday and charged with illegal possession of drugs.

Taken into custody at 10:48 a.m. were Paul Thomas Guyette, 33, and his wife, Anita, 29. They were taken before Justice of the Peace Virgil Hill to have their rights read and then transported to county jail.

Police, according to Chief Allen Sheffield, sought and received a search warrant after completing an investigation.

A small bag of marijuana was located under a couch cushion, and another small bag, containing about an ounce, of amphetamine was reportedly found in a thermos bottle under a pile of objects in a closet.

Chief Sheffield said this was but the first of an aggressive campaign by his department to try and rid the community of illegal drugs.

In other police business, investigations are underway into two vehicle burglaries which were reported.

Herman Rains said someone burglarized his van and a car at his home sometime Thursday night. A CB radio was taken from the van.

An equalizer valued at $30 was taken sometime Tuesday from Don Meissner's car while in the high school parking lot. But the thief broke out the driver's side window to gain entry, causing $50 damage.

Gasoline was reportedly siphoned from two vehicles parked over night Wednesday at Woodbriar Apartments.

Three other persons were arrested during the past week.

Police took Michael Alwin Schmidt, 25, into custody Thursday evening at 1001 Lincoln on an outstanding warrant for fleeing a peace officer. He was transported to county jail.

After being alerted at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday that an individual afoot was at a vacant structure at Fourth Street and Access Road, officers questioned Larry Dean Brown, 29. He was found to be wanted on an outstanding warrant in Electra for driving without a license and failure to appear. An Electra officer transported him to that city.

Police also arrested Joann Maxine Greenwood, 23, at 709 N. Wall on an assault warrant. She was released after posting a $49 bond.

STUDENT MAKING TRANSITION

From Norway to Texas

by KARI COLLINS

Looking at our culture through the eyes of a foreign student can be refreshing, if not eye-opening.

What seems easy or "every day" to most of us is still being learned by Tone Lie (pronounced "Tuna Lee"), a junior at Iowa Park High School, who moved here with her family three months ago from Norway.

Tone, 16, is the daughter of Maj. Hans and Eli Lie. Her sister, Annette, is a 19-year-old freshman at Midwestern State Univ. The family moved here from the country of 4,000,000 people in northern Europe, when Tone's father accepted a position as a pilot trainer at Sheppard Air Force Base on a three-year stint.

One of the first things a person might notice when he enters the Lie home is the closeness of the family.

The walls of the home are adorned with family pictures, some with the women dressed in national costumes. Tone and her mother, a pretty, blonde woman, agree that the costumes are worn with a great deal of pride.

The Lie family is striking both in appearance and in hospitality, all offering answers to any questions asked.

While Mrs. Lie was in the kitchen cooking dinner and baking some dishes native to Norway, Tone spoke energetically about her native homeland and her new home, showing books about Norway and pictures of her friends back home and of her family.

UW goal exceeded

Iowa Park exceeded its United Way goal for another year, according to local drive chairman Kenneth Via.

At a report meeting in Wichita Falls last week, it was announced the local workers and donors exceed the goal 106 percent.

With maybe as much as $1,000 yet anticipated to be received, Iowa Park's goal of $56,000 is now just over $59,600.

However, Ron Buffum, general chairman, said, "Although we are reporting these dollars today, we are committed to raise as many additional dollars as possible in order to meet the needs of our 33 member agencies. We will continue to explore new areas and accept pledges and donations during the ensuing weeks."

Holiday season topic of Garden Club meeting

Eighteen members of the Iowa Park Garden Club answered roll call with a favorite holiday recipe in a regular meeting held Friday morning at TU Electric Reddy Room. Mrs. Don Decker and Mrs. Jimmy Gilmore served as hostesses. Mrs. Gilmore gave the thought for the day, using "My Garden of Prayer" by Helen Steiner Rice.

Mrs. Bernice Compton presided over the business meeting. She gave a report on the District 11 Fall Convention held in Gainesville Nov. 10-11. The local members who attended were Mmes. Compton, Vernon Gilbert, A.E. Young, Billy C. Gilmore and Jimmy Gilmore.

Chapter holds holiday meal

Epsilon Eta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha held the annual Thanksgiving dinner Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Bud Mercer. The tables were decorated with baskets of fall flowers and miniature pumpkins.

Following the meal, a report of the state board meeting at Fort Worth was given by Mmes. Steve Turner, Connie Hrcirik and Mercer. At the meeting, they presented a stuffed clown made by Mrs. Hrcirik and her mother, Mrs. Georgia Joyce, to Sharilyn Sharon, the state president.

The projects of the chapter during the holiday season are to sponsor a visit from Santa Claus for patients at North Texas Rehab Center, and take Santa Claus pictures Dec. 12 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at King's Food in Iowa Park.

Gages married 70 years ago

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gage will celebrate their seventieth wedding anniversary Dec. 6 at the Community Room of First State Bank in Archer City. All of their nieces and relatives are invited to call between 2 and 5 o'clock. The couple request that no gifts be brought.

Mrs. (Leta) Gage is a former teacher in the Iowa Park Junior High School.

Book reviewed

Mrs. Terrel Silvers reviewed "No Turning Back," a chapter of the foreign mission book "Land of the Morning Prayer," for the Night BW of First Baptist Church in a meeting held Monday at the church.

The setting for the study was Seoul, Korea, and it told the story of Han Ki Man and what he had done within 15 years to make the Yoido Baptist Church one of the strongest churches of the country.

Mrs. E.T. Patterson opened the meeting with the missionary birthday calendar of prayer observance.

Mrs. V.I. Woodfin directed the business. The group voted to help furnish the food for a Girls Auxiliary international dinner at the church Saturday.

Mrs. C.L. McKinnon and Mrs. Homer Blalock were hostesses for the meeting. Sixteen members and one guest, Mrs. Kathleen Hatten of Pasadena, were present.

Mrs. W.A. George, community service chairman, reported that the club will decorate the Christmas trees at the Tom Burnett Memorial Library Nov. 30. One tree would be furnished by the club, and another by Friends of the Library.

In other business, a nominating committee composed of Mmes. John Clapp, Lavena Harlina and Dorwin Wooten was elected.

Mrs. China B. Smith gave the conservation report. She asked members to consider having a live Christmas tree this year, and after Christmas is over they will have a beautiful evergreen tree to plant in their yards. She suggested that they gradually adapt the tree to the cold outdoors by setting it outside during the day and carrying it inside at night for several days before planting.

Mrs. Decker, program chairman, presented a narrated slide program of the "Gardens of Colonial Williamsburg and Williamsburg at Christmas." The popular tourist resort founded in 1699 has 1,000 acres in roses and various vines. Each year, 30,000 tulip bulbs are planted.

Mrs. Vernon Gilbert brought a Christmas cactus with beautiful pink blooms for the horticulture display.

Mrs. Greg Geer of Burkburnett was a special guest.

The serving table was decorated in a Thanksgiving theme using miniature pumpkins and wooden tele-painted Amish family.

A Christmas social will be held Dec. 11 at the home of Mrs. Leroy Foix.

Cook of the Week

Cookies - just mention the word and it brings back childhood memories. Even though they seem to have been invented for children, they are enjoyed by both adults and children at any season of the year.

The grandmothers of earlier years, likey as not, made the reputation of their cookie jars with a single recipe, but today even the novice cooks can make a dozen different kind of cookies that would make the early day grandmothers gasp. Modern cooks are making the kind of cookies that help build up a marvelous store of cookie memories. Chances are that Wanda (Mrs. Odie) Mayo's Sugarless Date Cookies will be one of the memory recipes.

Almost every community and country have their own kind of cookies. In Saxony, for instance, the long, narrow cookies, called "stollen," full of currants and sprinkled with sugar, are most popular. In the city of Hamburg, spice and honey and gingerbread cookies are the favorites. Some places are known for their Christmas loaves called "Christstollen" bursting with crispy crusts with fruit, citron and nuts.

Wanda Mayo was graduated from Wichita Falls High School and Foster Business College. She worked for Wichita Hardware Wholesale and Levi Strauss as a payroll clerk.

The Mayos live in Wichita Valley Farms where their home reeks with warm hospitality. When she was in the Leader office Monday morning she was preparing dinner for 12 that evening. Mr. Mayo is retired from ICX Motor Freight.

They are active members of the Faith Baptist Church where he is a deacon. She is secretary of the three- and four-year-olds Sunday School and a teacher of the two- and three-year-olds in Training Union. The couple have one daughter, Glenda Spence of Houston; four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

"Let's Talk . . . It's The First Step"

As I See It... By BOB HAMILTON

Probably the thing I like most about the winter season is that the sleeping conditions appeal to me.

First of all, I can't sleep when it's still light outside and have never understood how shift workers do it.

Since the sun goes down early and rises late, all of which gives me more possible hours for sack time.

But the primary reason for good sleeping is the fact that it's usually chilly at night, and I sleep best when I'm under a couple pounds of blankets and my head covered. I love it.

If I could afford it, I'd have the airconditioner turned down to freezing during the summer, just so I could sleep that way.

The first thing I do in the winter is to close off the central heat vent to the bedroom. And when I go to bed at night, the door is closed and sometimes a window opened, just so I can have my favorite sleeping conditions.

You might understand why I slept so well those two years I was in Alaska. Well, at least during the winter time. That darn sun never setting in the summer. But not really, because everyone in my barracks was a shift worker, and heavy shades were over the windows.

But the key to good sleep is to be warm and comfortable. If I don't have enough cover, and maybe my feet get cold, it just doesn't work. I've been known to be in such deep sleep, however, that I would be freezing when I awoke in the morning.

Those bears have the right idea. When it turns winter time, it's time to go to bed.

Worth Quoting

"The problem is representation, not discrimination," stated an Amarillo Daily News editorial Monday when it summed up "the situation in Hereford." The newspaper had just completed an eight-part series which dealt mainly with discrimination against Hispanics.

The series on Hereford really didn't present anything new, except some sensational headlines that didn't always mirror the content of the article. We don't discount the fact that there is some discrimination in Hereford, nor that representation of Hispanics needs to be improved. The same can be said for Amarillo and most Panhandle towns who have a number of minority residents.

We do resent the manner in which the reporters gathered and presented their reports. Many of the discrimination charges came from just a few citizens, including unsuccessful political candidates, unhappy welfare recipients, convicted felons, and representatives of the Texas Rural Legal Aid and the American Civil Liberties Union.

The Daily News has the right and freedom to express its views on Hereford's conduct of community affairs. This community has the right to resent and to protest the manner in which reporters, with little feel or experience for the area, have judged our community.

Representation needs to be improved, says The News. But they never mentioned Paul Abalos' service on the city commission and the fact that he was elected before districts were gerrymandered to try to guarantee the election of a Hispanic. Nor do they point out that Sheriff Joe Brown is Hispanic as are a number of courthouse workers; that Art Gonzales is a former board member of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and an active Hereford Hustler for a number of years, or that Ruben Gutierrez is president of Whiteface Kiwanis Club. They should have talked to some teacher aides. One of them told us, "Some of the Hispanic Rights' activists call me a brown-assed Anglo because I have a good education, a good job and participate in community affairs."

The News editorial Monday summed up the situation in Hereford with a statement: "It isn't that they can't see the solution, it is that they can't see the problem."

The quote, it seems to us, aptly describes the series of articles in the Amarillo newspaper. They wind up with the conclusion that some problems need to be addressed. We are and have been addressing those problems. Progress has been made, as reflected in our schools, our governmental bodies, our civic clubs and our community. More progress will be made, with or without the urging of Amarillo reporters who have little interest in this community.

Growing up in a small town in the Texas Panhandle, in the Depression era of the early 1930s, I developed an early distaste and distrust for the type of travelling evangelist whose principal accomplishment seemed to be extracting money from congregations of the faithful. That bias has carried over in this more affluent age of the television evangelists who extract money by the millions of dollars from the gullible faithful and devote it mainly to their own comfort and aggrandizement.

As a youth in a small-town West Texas where there were usually only two main-line churches (Methodist and Baptist) and summer "revivals" were annual two-week affairs in each church, the visiting evangelist was usually a showman who attracted big crowds nightly with histrionic pulpit performances, building to emotional climaxes in which tearful sinners poured down the aisles to repent loudly and, no doubt, soulfully. Never mind the fact that many of them were annual repeaters, who usually resumed their sinning ways shortly

New site sought for post office

HOLLIDAY - The U.S. Postal Service is seeking a suitable site upon which to build a new post office building here.

A preferred site would be within the city limits, 21,875 square feet or a lot with dimensions of 125 by 175 feet, particularly those with a corner location.

Proposals will be accepted until Dec. 16 by Michael E. Ward, real estate specialist, Facilities Service Office, U.S. Postal Service, Box 667180, Dallas, 75266-7180.

after the revival meeting closed.

But the final day of revival was always "pledge Sunday" in which the visiting evangelist made inspired pleas for donations to continue "God's work," and if he was good at it (and many of them were) the pledges and cash contributions (the emphasis was on cash...those fellows weren't interested in IOUs with a future payment date) would pile up in the collection plates and the evangelist would stuff his pockets and hit the road.

The resident ministers in those small churches were poorly paid, eking out a bare existence as they worked in congregations of people who also eked out a bare existence for their own families in those Depression years, and their cupboard was always a bit barer after the revival evangelist had separated the faithful from whatever ready cash they could scrape up. Many times I witnessed those collections and realized that the preacher's kids...my own personal friends...and families weren't getting a dime out of it. If there was ever profit sharing with the resident pastor, I never saw evidence of it.

Today's television evangelists with their million dollar gates make those practitioners of another era look like pikers, but in the context of the times, those itinerant preachers of the 1930s may have been pretty well on a par with Oral Roberts and the Jimmy Bakkers and the others of their modern ilk.

At any rate, they were cut from the same cloth, and used much the same tactics, although today's big-timers have an electronic weapon that expands their congregations multi-fold.

The television evangelists of the 1980s are obviously the philosophical descendants of the religious hustlers of the 1930s. Both have a talent for fleecing the faithful.

They also have a talent for letting things get out of hand, obviously. The Washington observers have gleefully (and appropriately) dubbed the current scandals as "Pearlygate." BEN EZZELL

AREA OIL & GAS NEWS

A new producer was brought on line in Wichita County's Cash Field, with Heydrick Petroleum of Wichita Falls as the operator.

The operation pumped 72 barrels of oil per day, plus 39 barrels of water. It bottomed at 4,100 feet, and production will be from perforations in the Strawn Formation at 3,930 to 3,946 feet into the wellbore.

Drillsite is 1,550 feet from the north line and 1,450 feet from the east line of the lease.

The Wichita Regular Field gained a new producer when the W.T. Waggoner Estate completed the No. 47 W.T. Waggoner Estate "AA" 1.5 miles south-southwest of Electra.

The well indicated ability to pump 15 barrels of oil per day, plus 200 barrels of water. It was taken to a 3,634-ft. bottom, and was plugged back to 2,205. Production will be from perforations in the Cisco Sand Formation, 1,710 to 2,192 feet into the hole.

The operation is in a 42-acre lease in the H&TC Survey, A-784. Location is 2,390 feet from the north line and 350 feet from the east line of the lease.

Three new developmental wells in the Wichita Regular Field are planned by L&S Oil of Wichita Falls. The operations are designated as the Nos. 2, 3 and 4 McCarty "K", and will be located two miles north of Kamay. Drillsites are in a 60-acre lease in the W.R. Eaves Survey, A-447. The No. 2 well is under authority for 1,500-ft. total depth, while the other two wells carry permit for 1,810-ft. TD.

Drillsites are approximately 3,450 feet from the north line and 950 feet from the west line of the survey, 3,400 feet from the north line and 1,100 feet from the west line of the survey, and 3,150 feet from the north line and 1,250 feet from the west line of the survey, respectively.

Krot Oil of Burkburnett has revealed plans to drill three 1,700-ft. developmental wells in the Wichita Regular Field. The operator has 138 acres leased, with drillsites in the RRVL S/D Survey, Blk. 16. The ventures have been designated as the Nos. 8, 9 and 10 Hicks. Drillsites are 2.5 miles southwest of Burkburnett.

The No. 8 well will be located 765 feet from the south line and 1,698 feet from the west line of the lease; the No. 9 will be located 565 feet from the south line and 804 feet from the west line of the lease; and the No. 10 will be drilled 1,547 feet from the south line and 655 feet from the west line of the lease.

The No. 7 Heiserman, a 2,000-ft. developmental well, is scheduled to be drilled in the Wichita Regular Field. Haynes & Shirley Production is the operator. The well will be spudded in a 300-acre lease six miles north of Iowa Park in the HT&B Survey, A-478. The operator is based in Electra.

The well will be situated 1,950 feet from the south line and 150 feet from the east line of the lease.

J.C.L. Production of Wichita Falls has filed for permit to drill the No. 35 Roller Estate, a 1,400-ft. developmental well three miles south of Burkburnett. Location is in a 167-acre lease in the CTRR Survey, A-50, Wichita Regular Field. The well will be drilled 2,326 feet from the north line and 1,119 feet from the west line of the survey.

Two different operators have completed wells in the Wichita Regular Field.

W.D. Vestal Oil's No. 1 Lewis "A" is located one mile southwest of Kamay in a 79-acre lease in the KWFVL S/D Survey, Blk. 20. It pumped six barrels of oil per day from perforations in the Cisco Formation at 1,730 to 1,734 feet into the wellbore. Total drilling depth was 1,797 feet. Vestal is based in Iowa Park.

Wichita County Commissioners' Notebook

The county commissioners have agreed to let a consortium of three companies, comprised of Arthur Young & Co., MAI Basic 4 and Atlantic Bell, do a management review of Wichita County, at no charge.

The three companies specialize in audits and consulting work to governmental entities, and have approximately 150 years combined experience in governmental environments, according to Jon Wallace, representative of one firm.

The group is setting up a program in Texas where they will select "model counties" to set up a showcase where clients and prospects can review their work and at the same time receive national exposure through their professional and trade journals.

Wichita County was selected to be considered a "model county." Judge Nick Gipson will meet with representatives to decide when the review will begin.

Nov. 9 was a day for bids in commissioner's court when commissioners authorized to advertise for bids and award bids.

Bids were awarded to Copy and Litho for a copier for Family Court Services, and to Longhorn Chevrolet for vehicles for the Sheriff's Department.

The county will advertise for bids for indigent burials, prescription drugs, road materials, insurance for 1988 and for fire fighting equipment.

The court accepted the votes as canvassed for the 1987 general election. Three of the voting precincts showed one over in each precinct and four voting precincts showed one short in each, and one precinct showed 11 short.

The county clerk informed the court that this would not affect the final outcome.

Next commissioners court meeting will be 10 a.m. Nov. 23 in room 200 of the courthouse.

Phone rate below national average

Southwestern Bell Telephone customers in Texas continue to pay less than the national average for local telephone service, according to a study released by the Federal Communications Commission (FCC).

In a nation-wide survey of 95 cities -- including six in Texas -- the FCC found the national average charge for one-party residential telephone service was $12.51 as of April 1987, down from $12.55 October 1986.

However, Bell's average charge for flat rate telephone service in Texas is $9.71, or $2.80 below the national average.

The rate in Iowa Park is $8.80, according to company representative Dan Adams.

Texas cities included in the FCC survey were Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston and San Antonio.

The average local monthly telephone rates do not include federal subscriber line charges or taxes.

to an aerobics class. "Too many hamburgers," Tone said, laughing.

One thing that Tone says she can't understand are people who ask if English is spoken in her home as a first language. She says that is silly because if an American moved to Spain they would speak their native language in their home, not Spanish.

The differences in most aspects of the two cultures are vast, beginning with the schools.

Tone started out in school here knowing very little English, and with the help of friends and teachers, she now speaks the language with little difficulty.

Tone says in Norway, children begin school at the age of seven and continue through the ninth grade. From there, they go on to a specialized school for the vocation they choose.

A freedom Tone hadn't expected was that of choosing her own classes. In Norway, classes are chosen for them by the government, and they go to school five days a week with a different schedule everyday.

There are no organized sports such as American football (what they consider soccer) incorporated into the schooling there, nor is there a school band. If a student wishes to participate in sports or band, other than gymnastics, required of all girls in Norway, they participate on their own time after school hours.

Tone did participate in school gymnastics and played the clarinet in the band there.

Another thing taken for granted, at least in this part of the country, are pep rallies, which are as common as the football games they precede. Again, in Norway there are no pep rallies, and for Tone her first pep rally was a spectacular event with the band, the cheerleaders and pep squad and the student body filling the gym with loud encouragement for the football team.

Along the same lines, Iowa Park's Homecoming was another new experience for Tone. Tone's first homecoming will surely hold special memories for her with the mums, garters, the Homecoming Parade which she participated in on the Junior Float Entry, and the Homecoming Queen ceremonies.

"I was so excited for Staci," she said of Staci Boren, the Homecoming Queen chosen this year by the student body.

Tone's date to homecoming presented her with a mum which she proudly displays on her bedroom wall.

Academically, Tone is still adjusting to the new language and the new way of doing things. She said, "You have to keep attention to everything all the time."

Reading the English language has proved to be more difficult for

16-YEAR-OLD TONE LIE OF NORWAY
...The I.P.H.S. student is adjusting easily to her new lifestyle.

Tone that speaking "it. In the Norwegian alphabet, there are three more letters than in English. Also, most of the vowels are pronounced differently, so reading and writing the new language is quite a challenge.

She was also awed at the amount of testing done in the schools. "There are tests all the time. In Norway, there are only one or two tests before Christmas."

Making friends wasn't difficult for Tone, who is a pretty and outgoing girl. She said at first she didn't know how to act and was embarrassed to talk much since she didn't know much English. "To be myself is hard," she said.

She thought people would laugh at her when she spoke English, but soon found out that most were more than eager to help her learn the new language.

Dating is one thing teenagers around the world have in common. Tone has definite likes and dislikes in that area. She says one thing she likes about boys and dating in United States is that the boy will call and ask the girl out on a date. In Norway, that isn't done very often, usually the two just meet.

When teens do meet, usually they don't go out to eat, it's very expensive in Norway, they go dancing, a thing Tone loves.

A popular pastime in this area is "dragging Kemp," something that Tone finds boring. "Driving Kemp up and down is so boring," she says "it's just a waste of time, energy and effort.

Dragging Kemp is a popular way to meet friends and potential dates, but Tone has no problem in that area, as she was asked out on her first date when she had been here just two days.

One thing she does prefer to boys with long, curly hair, something not in style in this area, but quite popular in Norway.

Tone loves the food here, especially hamburgers, and said in Norway, fried foods aren't very common.

Television and radio are also worlds apart in the two countries. In Norway, only one television station is aired, and it shows mostly children's programs and a lot of news. The first set of television programming is from 9 - 11 a.m. and at 6 p.m. the news airs and occasionally American programs such as "Falcon's Crest" and, ironically, "Dallas" are shown. Also, there are no commercials.

In radio, she said they play some music, but not much, so a tape player is a necessity. Here, she says they play a lot of music, but it's mostly the same songs over and over.

Before she came to Texas, she had heard a lot about the cowboy hats, boots, and yes, the cowboys. She also heard about the country and western music, which she doesn't care for. But she loves the horses that are so common here and at her own home where she worked with and groomed them before moving here.

She does miss her homeland, where the snow falls much of the year, and is already missing the fact that she probably won't have a "white Christmas" this year.

A passion that is common in Tone's family, and most likely in many Norwegian families, is skiing. The Lie family owns a cottage in the mountains where they spent a lot of time cross-country and down hill skiing, usually in April, when they celebrate Tone's birthday.

Tone enjoys the same things most American girls do such as dancing and skiing, and also likes gymnastics. In school here, she is in the speech and drama class which she said she loves.

Tone's aspirations lie in fashion designing, as does her sister's, and her style of dress shows she has a penchant for it. She is quite comfortable in loose clothing, accessorized with jackets, hats, and large earrings and pins, and strongly dislikes jeans, which she finds uncomfortable.

She hopes someday to design everything a person can wear, shoes, clothing, hats and jewelry, and get her own label.

When she left Norway, her best friends gave her a going away party, and she said she promised to write them often. "I think I promised too much," she said. Her school work takes up much of her time, leaving her with little time to write letters to her friends at home or socialize with her new friends.

As much as Tone likes it here, she misses her native home and her friends in Norway. "I have my best friends there and I miss them," she said, a little sad.

When she returns home, she should return with memories of new experiences and friends from this country. For she has done something not many people are able to - experience a foreign world, learning about different ways of doing things, and teaching others about her way of life.

KEY FIGURES at Holliday Thursday evening were State Rep. Charles Finnell, left, State Treasurer Ann Richards, Railroad Commissioner John Sharp and Mrs. Finnell.

Over 400 attend Finnell fish fry

More than 400 persons attended a fish fry in the Holliday school cafeteria Thursday for State Rep. Charles Finnell.

The traditional event featured State Treasurer Ann Richards and Railroad Commissioner John Sharp, both of whom endorsed Finnell's legislative work and his return to office.

Sen. Ray Farabee and Rep. John Gavin of Wichita Falls were also in attendance.

"The opportunity for meaningful public service is actually greater today than ever before because of the economic challenges we face in Texas," said Finnell. "I am ready to accept the challenge.

"I am proud to serve the people of this great district. Kay and I appreciate very much your encouragement and support," he said.

In appreciation of Finnell's work on the Retirement and Aging Committee, a hand-made red, white and blue goose-down pillow was presented Finnell by senior citizens of Petrolia.

Contributions have been received from every precinct of the nine-county district Finnell represents, according to Don Talley, campaign treasurer.

Mitchell named to state board

An Iowa Park resident has been elected to a major position on one of the Texas Baptist boards during the annual meeting Nov. 10-11 of the 2.4-million member Baptist General Convention of Texas in Fort Worth.

Glen Mitchell, superintendent of Iowa Park schools, was elected to the 193-member BGCT executive board.

The executive board, composed of pastors, church staff members and laypersons, conducts the business of the BGCT between annual sessions.

Institutions of the BGCT include eight universities, one academy, seven hospitals, four children's homes and four homes for the aging.

CHOLESTEROL SCREENING PROGRAM

250,000 lives could be saved every year if people only knew their cholesterol level. Smoking, high blood pressure, and cholesterol all contribute to coronary disease. Heart disease is the #1 KILLER in the United States. The cholesterol check will be at our church annex at 305 E. Bank, directly north of the church building. It makes no difference on whether you have eaten or not when you take this test. Cholesterol checks will be on Nov. 19th from 9 that morning until 8 that night. On November 21st the hours will be from 9 in the morning until 6 in the evening. Our prayer for you is: "Beloved, I wish above all things that you may prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth." (3 John 2). Make a good day for yourself and your family by doing all you can to keep and enjoy good health.
