PLAYOFF GAME

Graham, Childress play here Friday

Local high school football fans will be very familiar with the two teams that will be playing Friday night in Hawk Stadium.

Graham and Childress scheduled their area playoff contest here, and the kickoff is slated at 7:30 p.m. Tickets will be $6 per person.

Graham defeated the Hawks 41-6 enroute to earning the Dist. 4-AAA runner-up position behind Vernon, and the Steers' first appearance in the state playoffs in some 30 years.

But playing here is almost old hat for the Childress Bobcats, who bested the Hawks in a non-conference game this season 26-14. They lost here last year to 4-AAA runnerup Breckenridge, 20-7.

Graham earned its entry to the area level with a 25-14 bi-district victory last week over Denver City, while the Childress crew pulled off a couple of dramatic goal line stands to edge Floydada, 7-0.

The Steers come here with a 9-2 record, while the Bobcats are 8-3.

Actually, both teams were in trouble against their bi-district opponents.

Graham trailed the Mustangs 14-7 midway through the third quarter, while Childress held off the Whirlwinds on fourth-quarter plays from the two and one yard lines.

Friday's winner will take on the victor of the game between Alpine and Abilene Wylie.

And the winners of two other Region One area games being played Friday, Vernon vs. Tulia and South Lake Carroll vs. Reagan County, will meet each other.

Southlake and Vernon have been ranked first and second among Class AAA teams in the state all season.

High school playoff games are co-hosted here by the Iowa Park schools and the Chamber of Commerce.

SOLUTIONS SOUGHT - Kidwell Elementary Principal Ron Woods was one of the speakers at a meeting Tuesday afternoon, when community leaders gathered to discuss developing a program for "latch key" children, those who are home alone after school until their parents get off work. The meeting was coordinated by the Iowa Park Recreational Activities Center, which proposes to be the host facility for the program.

Trustees reject request to waiver transfer, fee

A couple's request to allow their children continue attending classes here by waving the transfer policy and tuition requirement was rejected during the school board's meeting Thursday night.

However, trustees and administrators told Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Brookshire the children could complete the current semester, and offered what assistance they could to have their home transferred into the Iowa Park school district.

The parents of three children explained they had moved to a home on the east side of Huntington Lane, assuming it was in the Iowa Park district.

However, during the week following the start of classes, they were told they did not reside in the district, and would have to transfer the children to the City View district.

The middle of Huntington Lane is the dividing line between the two districts, and buses from both districts pick up students living there.

The board's policy allows only high school students residing in the City View district to attend here, because that district has no high school. City View pays the tuition fee.

Policy does, however, allow children in lower grades to attend classes here, if their parents are employees of the district and do not reside in it.

The Brookshires told the board their attorney had advised them state law requires the district to approve a transfer. However, Supt. Glen Mitchell said the Iowa Park's district legal council disagreed.

"To some people, it wouldn't be important," Mrs. Brookshire said, "but to us, it is (important). We were both raised here. I feel like we are an exception."

Supt. Mitchell told the board they would either have to change their policy, or reject everyone who applies.

Trustees Robert Cook and Max Henderson suggested the children might be allowed to complete the school year here.

However, when a motion was made to allow the students complete the fall semester, and then transfer to City View, the vote was unanimous.

The Brookshires were told local officials would confer with officials in City View to see if the home could be transferred into the Iowa Park district.

Assistant Supt. Robert Palmer said he had been informed parents of two lower grade students were awaiting the board's decision, and that he takes as many as 35 calls each summer from parents wanting their children to be allowed to attend classes here.

The board's vote was split on a motion approving raising board policy on reimbursable travel from 20 cents per mile to 26 cents. Trustees Keith Fisher and Wendell House voted against the motion, which passed.

A proposal that Tim Stewart, who maintains the district's vehicles, an extra fee for him to use his own pickup failed. Trustee Martha Dudley had suggested Stewart receive an annual fee of $400, since Stewart not only uses his pickup for district business, but also is responsible for pulling the band trailer to events out of town.

The board approved appointment of Mark Newman to represent both the school district and city as a member of the Wichita County Tax Appraisal District.

Also approved was a proposal to revise the school calendar, allowing one

In addition, a "hymn-sing" will be held, and the Handbell Choir and Adult Choir of the Methodist Church will provide special music.

Another project of the Ministerial Alliance is the on-going Ministerial Outreach Ministries, which provides food and assistance to those in need.

Those in need can contact the Outreach Ministries, between 10 a.m. and 12-noon on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, by calling 592-4490.

Other members are Patrick Burke, pastor Christ the King Catholic Church; Mike Grubbs, pastor First Christian Church; Charles Hensley, pastor First Assembly of God; Philip McLarty, pastor First Presbyterian Church; Dr. Derrell Monday, pastor First Baptist Church; Ole Olds, pastor Lakeview Church of God, and Rev. Small.

News Briefs

Leader to print edition early

Next week's edition of the Iowa Park Leader will be printed early, so subscribers will have their papers to read over the Thanksgiving holiday.

The Leader's policy has long been to publish early whenever a holiday falls on a Thursday, the regular day the paper is sent out through the mail to subscribers.

Because of the early publication

Pecans free, but don't beat trees

Pecans grown on public grounds, such as the Tom Burnett Memorial Library, are available for the public to gather, but the trees themselves should be left alone.

City Administrator Gary Jones said some people who were throwing things into the trees at the library had to be warned by police officers.

"If the pecans are on the ground, they are free to anyone who wants to pick them up," Jones said, "but flailing is not allowed."

The administrator said he hopes those who gather the nuts are residents, for their personal use, and not being harvested for sale as a profit.

Chamber elects new officers

Members of the Chamber of Commerce elected new officers, and heard an optimistic report on the future of the economy, during the organization's annual all-membership luncheon meeting Monday.

Larry Dutton was elected president, Kathy Riggins first vice president and Glen McGee third vice president, during the election, as were 11 directors.

The newly-elected officers will be installed at the Chamber's annual banquet in January.

Dutton, who has served the past year as first vice president, will succeed Gene Jordan.

Dr. Yoshi Fukasawa, economics professor at Midwestern State Univ., said, "I'm seeing recovery signs," referring to the national economy.

In the immediate area, he said construction and future military transfers at Sheppard Air Force Base will help the economy, as will anticipated government spending on highway construction.

He also predicted the "oil picture to improve, but not as much as the 1980s," and prices to farmers also are expected to improve for their products.

In the short term, Dr. Fukasawa said "I am more optimistic than most" other economists. He said the government must continue to "jump start" the economy either by allowing business investment interest or by government spending.

Long term, according to the economist, improvement will depend on increased productivity of American workers.

"The United States must remain a leader in free trade, and European and Asian economies must continue to grow," he said.

DR. YOSHI FUKASAWA

Directors elected to another three-year term of office were Joe Hughes, Gary Jones, Tommy Key, Derrell Monday, Glen Mitchell, Ruth Pirkle, Kathy Riggins and Philip Welch.

McGee also was elected a director, taking the place of Harold Smith for a term that expires in 1993.

Others whose terms expire next year are Dutton, Bob Hamilton, Sheri Kennedy, O.N. Newman, Robert Palmer and Kenneth Via.

Sherry Powell and Kathy Brothers were elected directors to serve until 1994, along with Jan Clapp, Melinda Gonzales, Jordan, Greg Moers, Ray Youngblood and Glenna Via.

Council to reconsider extending West Park

The Iowa Park city council will consider accepting property to extend West Park Avenue through Park West Shopping Center, when aldermen meet at 7 p.m. Monday in council chambers.

Along the same topic, a proposal is to be made by Lone Star Gas Co. to replace the existing lights in the 100 through 300 blocks of West Park with gas lights, according to the posted agenda.

The parking lot has long been confusing to the public. Most residents have long believed West Park was a city street, and complained about its poor condition.

However, it is not, nor has it ever been, city property. Its maintenance has been the responsibility of the property owner.

Aldermen considered the proposal earlier in the year. The issue was dropped, however, during the fiscal year's budget planning sessions, because of the projected costs.

Work to rebuild the thoroughfare was not included in the 1992-93 budget.

At the last meeting of the council, Mayor Wayne House told council members he had studied the cost of the towering electrical lighting fixtures on West Park.

The former TU Electric manager said 10 percent of the city's monthly electric bill goes to pay for the lighting of those three blocks.

Also on the meeting agenda, the council will consider confirming the appointment of Marc Newman to the Wichita County Tax Appraisal District board, and deciding whether to hold the regular twice-monthly meetings in December, or meet only once.

Iowa Park and the school district is jointly represented on the county board, with elected officials coordinating the appointment. If named, Newman will succeed Alderman Bud Mercer.

Baptist Women continue review on study of India

The Thelma Smith Baptist Women of First Baptist Church met Monday afternoon in the church chapel. Mrs. Eleanor Bell was the hostess and directed the review of the study on "India: Where Cross The Crowded Ways" by Marge Worten. Ten members attended the meeting.

Mrs. V.I. Woodfin was in charge of business, and Mrs. E.T. Patterson led the prayer period for missionaries on the birthday calendar for the day, and distributed new yearbooks that she had compiled.

"We Catch the Vision of Thy Tears" was the topic of chapter two of the foreign missions study book reviewed for the meeting. It featured the work of Dr. William Carey in India, starting when the Mission Society was organized in England in 1792 with the purpose to send out missionaries in other places. Carey responded to the call and chose to go to India, and on June 13, 1793, he and his wife, their four children, his wife's sister, and John Thomas boarded a Danish ship and sailed toward that country.

A high point of interest in the review was a skit "Speak Not of Dr. Carey" reenacted by Mrs. O.S. McLemore, who represented Carey and Mrs. Patterson who represented Alexander Duff, a Scotch missionary. The setting was in the bedroom of the Carey home in Serampore in 1834 when Carey was on his death bed. The conversation between the two men revealed the triumphs and tragedies of Carey's 40 years in India. It also described his work as a gardener, horticulturist, writer of scientific papers, translator of the entire Bible into three major languages, his help in founding Serampore College and being a real asset to the government.

Mrs. Bell gave highlights of chapter three of the book, "Make Haste to Heal the Hearts of Pain," which described the current work of the Bangalore Baptist Hospital. She said that it was built in 1973 and is still owned by Southern Baptists, but is managed by the Christian Medical College.

Concluding, she said that there had been a celebration in 1992 of the founding of the Mission Society in England in 1792, and a celebration of Carey's arrival in India.

During the social hour, she served Indian tea as a special treat in the refreshments.

Mrs. Chuck Dyer

Alice (Mrs. Chuck) Dyer insists that she doesn't cook much anymore. But we found after visiting with the lively high school teacher that she uses to do a lot of cooking. In fact, she would even grind the wheat that she used in baking loaves of bread.

Now, the busy wife and mother of three says food that comes out of a can looks good! Alice said that her recipes are for the woman on the go - easy, and you can't mess them up.

Alice grew up in Campo, Colo., attended West Texas State Univ. in Canyon, and graduated from Panhandle State Univ. in Oklahoma. She teaches Algebra II and Calculus at Iowa Park High School. Her husband, Chuck, is a welder.

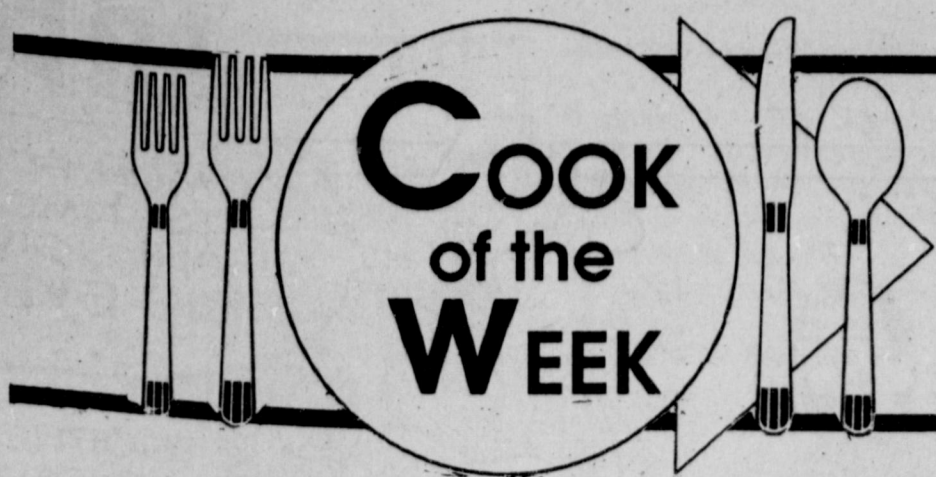

She has two daughters and a son. Seventeen-year-old Brande is a junior in high school; Kimberly is 12-years-old and in the seventh grade, and Stafford is the couple's nine-month-old son.

Alice likes to run to keep in shape, and is a collector of antiques. Both daughters play basketball, so that requires attending at least four games a week.

The recipe for "Delicious Brownies" has been in Alice's family for a long time. She often bakes these or "Green Chili Enchiladas" to take to school with her. For Thanksgiving cooking, Alice said the "Parker House Easys" are good, and they are fast.

As I See It . . .

By Bob Hamilton

Thanksgiving holiday is sorta like a race starter's gun, in a lot of cases.

Next week's event is the beginning of the busiest season of the year for most retail stores.

Just a month before Christmas, there are all those parties and different events connected with the season.

For the first time, it also signals the wind down of the fall semester for Iowa Park schools, since semester tests will be administered before the Christmas holidays, rather than after.

People will not only be looking forward to the Christmas and New Years holidays, but all the various activities that go along with them. For many, it's their annual vacation time.

And, while some hunters have already been out, many of them depend on the Thanksgiving weekend to get their guns out, and bags filled.

Thanksgiving also signals the beginning of the religious season for most denominations.

There was a time, several decades ago, when Thanksgiving Day afternoon was when high schools wound up their football seasons. That was when the big regional championship game was played by many, before the playoffs were changed to go all the way to state.

For a lot of us, however, it's a time when families gather.

Some families don't get together at Christmas, wanting their children to be at home for that big event (and not wanting to haul all those gifts around in the car).

So the gatherings are on Thanksgiving Day.

Thus far, our family has been lucky to gather both Thanksgiving and Christmas, and Dolores and I love it!

Of course, as I've said before, I have a carrot I can dangle in front of them so they will want to gather for Thanksgiving.

That's the day I take the picture of the grandchildren, which graces the front page of our annual Christmas edition.

So far, no one has wanted to miss out on that.

I'm glad I came up with the idea. It gives me added reason to give Thanks, on Thanksgiving Day.

Lake property up for sale

In a brief, called meeting of the city council Monday afternoon, actions were taken that could lead to the establishment of a new restaurant here.

The council approved the closing of North Park, an area between Gordon Lake and US 287 that was never officially opened, and then voted to offer a tract of land for sale.

The land, which includes 37.5 feet by 200 feet of what had been the North Bond right of way, is being advertised for sale, but with a minimum bid of $5,000.

That is the tract of land Paul Arrington has offered to buy, because he wants to open a restaurant there.

Arrington told the council he has already reached an agreement from the Lakeview Church of God, which received half the land dedicated for the closed street, to sell him the same amount as the city is offering.

The city is required by law to put the land up for sealed bids, because it is valued at $5,000 or more.

The land is in the extreme northeast corner of the lake property, adjoining the access road.

teacher inservice day to count in place of a teacher work day on Dec. 18, the final day of the fall semester.

A bid from Indeco for 10 chairs to be used in the administration building was approved. The bid was for $1,657.

The resignation of Terri Rodriguez, school nurse, was accepted.

Also accepted was the recommendation of the superintendent to appoint Amy Brown as administration office bookkeeper, pay grade three, step three; Becky Lovelady, receptionist and assistant superintendent's secretary, pay grade two, step six, and Deborah Rowland, compensatory aide at Kidwell to replace Mrs. Lovelady, at pay grade one, step zero.

The moves were initiated by the leaving of Barbara Teel, who has been the bookkeeper and has accepted a similar position at Holliday.

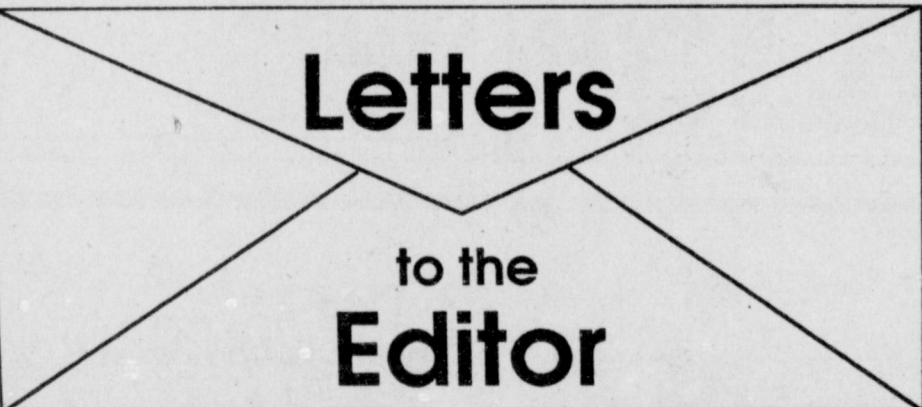

Supt. Mitchell told the board only one teacher has applied for the position of energy management coordinator, and the deadline was the following day.

He also reported on a meeting he attended in Austin earlier in the week, concerning the proposed legislation on school finance reform.

"I'm not supportive of the plan," Mitchell stated.

Trustees were informed of a problem concerning heating of the cafeteria at Bradford Elementary.

Palmer said a nine-inch underground steam pipe from the main building to the cafeteria had rotted out and had to be closed off. Heating "shouldn't" be a problem until workers take corrective action, the board was told.

Letters to the Editor

Thanks for help

Dear Bob:

We would like to express our gratitude to the firemen who fought the blaze on November 13 at FM 367 and Old Electra Road.

Words seem so inadequate. It is an awesome and frightening experience to see 10 to 15 feet high flames raging across dry fields! These men who fight these fires are really special, not just because they are so professional, and do their job well, but because every time they answer the call for help they place their own lives in jeopardy . . . without pay!!

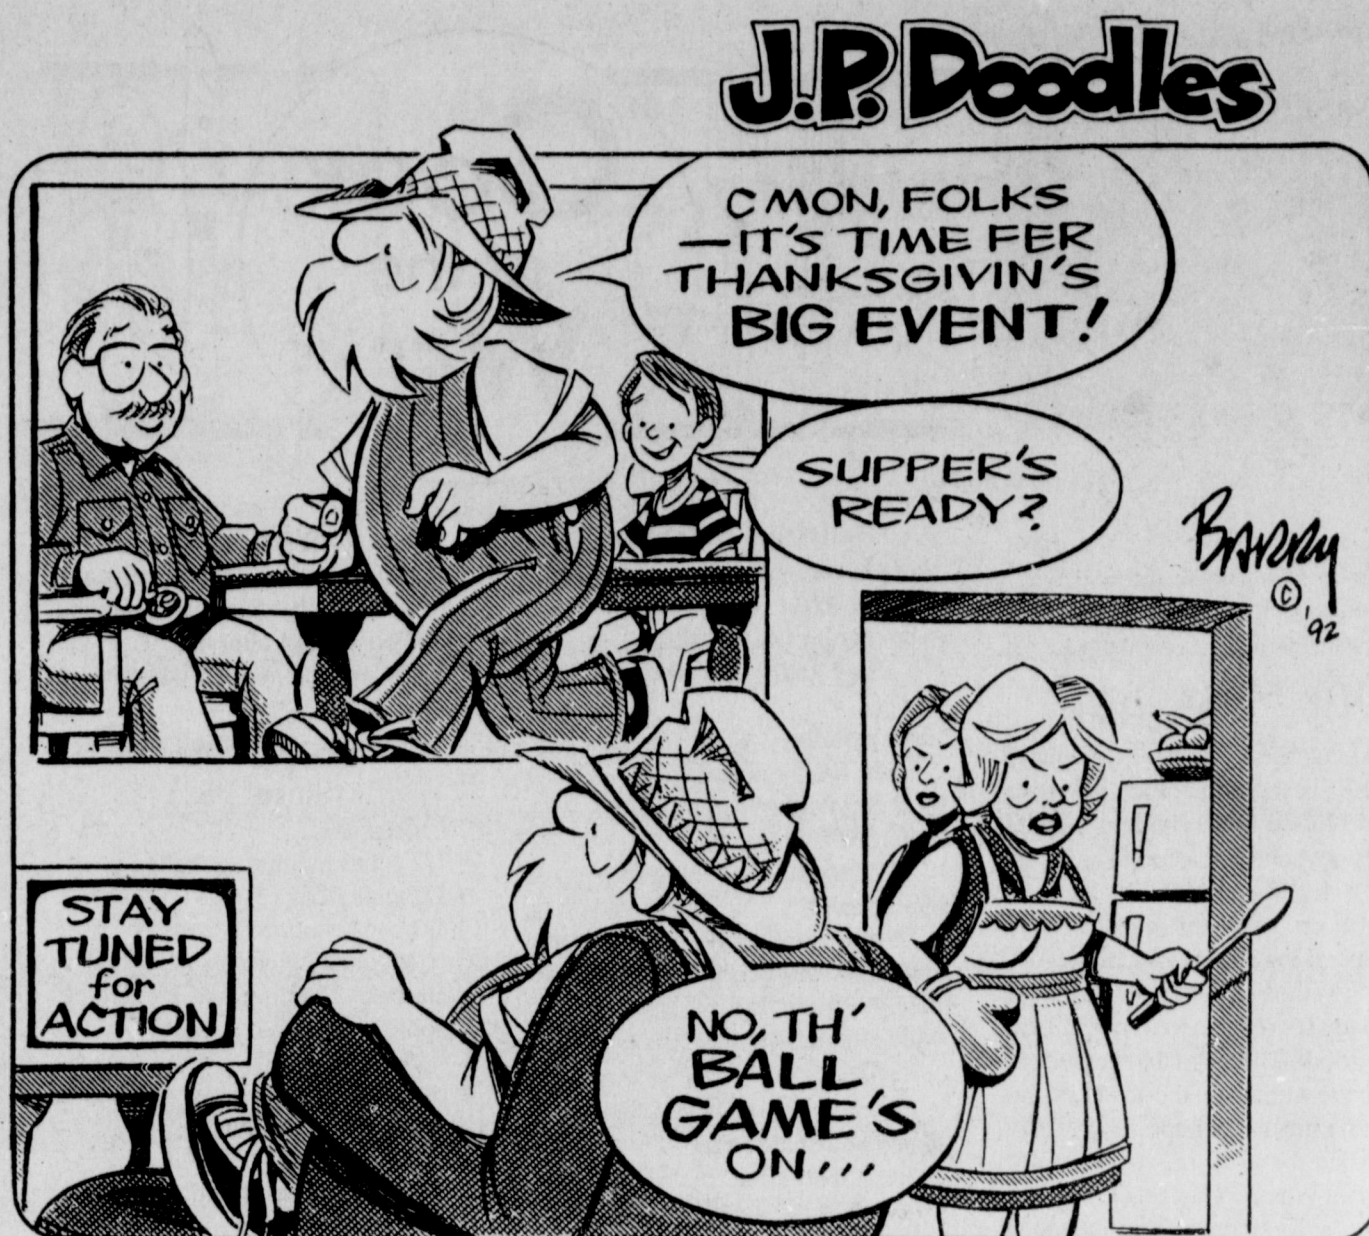

Thank you to each and everyone of you. You have our admiration and respect as well as our prayers that God will protect you from all harm and bless you and your families with His most wonderful blessings!

Special thanks to David Kerr, who had the presence of mind to turn off the pumping unit to the oil well on the adjoining property and to Junior Collazo, who helped the firemen to fix a much needed piece of equipment; to the gentleman with the beard, who lives up the road, the policeman and the many men who stopped, out of the goodness of their hearts, to see if they could help. We appreciate each one of you more than words can say.

Above all we want to thank God publicly for His constant mercy and goodness. It is only by the grace of God that no one was injured or homes destroyed. God is so good to us and we thank Him and each of you, who came to help, with all our heart.

Sincerely,
Dan and Lucy York

Police have busy week

Two arrests, arson, burglary of a vehicle and a dog bite were among the major entries during the past week in the police blotter.

The first arrest was reported Thursday evening in the 700 block of West Highway.

A driver was stopped on a traffic check, and it was determined she, Jo Lynne Lama, 28, had outstanding warrants against her issued by the Department of Public Safety.

She was taken before the justice of the peace, paid a fine, and released, according to the blotter.

Billy Ray Hill, 54, was taken into custody at 2:22 a.m. Saturday in the 700 block of Johnson Road on a charge of public intoxication. He was later released after signing a personal recognizance bond.

Two separate reports of juveniles suspected of setting grassfires were called in to police Saturday afternoon. They were said to be causing fires with matches in the 500 block of West Washington and 500 block of West Alameda.

Police spoke with the parents of two 13-year-old boys, but did not file any charges.

A report was received Saturday morning that someone had broken out a window of a car parked overnight in the 600 block of Coleman.

The only thing determined missing was knobs on the vehicle's stereo.

A child was reportedly bitten in a home in the 1000 block of Cornelia Sunday afternoon. A great dane was in the house at the time.

The child reportedly was taken to a hospital in Wichita Falls and received several stitches on face wounds, according to the report.

MADALYN O'HAIR MUST BE STOPPED!

Christians everywhere have sat back and let Madilyn O'Haire eliminate Bible reading and prayers from all our schools. It is our plea that she be stopped! Our country was founded for freedom of religion and she is trying to rob us of this privilege. She doesn't have to read the Bible or pray; neither does she have the right to prevent us.

History proves that when a nation forgets God, it goes under. We must wake up before it is too late. Are we going to let one woman and a few people destroy our nation?

Let's unite and fight to keep this a free nation!

Environmental issues discussed by Methodist Women

"The Environment" was the program for United Methodist Women of First United Methodist Church when they met Tuesday morning in the home of Mrs. Carlene Bennett.

"Just Imagine--Living in New and Creative Styles" was led by Gerry Thurlo. Others on the program were Betty Dyer, Jo Gilbert and Kay Cole. Listeners were invited to imagine what a new lifestyle for the future might look like if everyone took seriously the idea of a just and sustainable world.

It was pointed out that issues such as global warming, acid rain, depletion of the ozone layer, the glut of garbage, toxic waste, affect each person. These often create or increase devastating situations in which people live.

Mrs. Thurlo said, "We need to learn to make proper choices. Throughout biblical history, one person or a group of persons was able to make a difference in correcting societal ills.

"We need to look at our own lifestyle in three ways: Retrospectively-- How have we kept the faith with the covenant to be a good steward of God's resources? Introspectively-- As we examine our lifestyle what changes would we make: Where in our community can we make a difference?, and Prospectively--What legacy of renewal do we want to leave for the next generation?"

The program closed with a discussion on things each one plans to do at home and in the church to help correct some of these ills.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and co-hostess Evelyn Thompson. Henrietta Bennett and Donna Schoencker were welcomed as new members.

Others present were Julia Berry, Marcella Childress, Rita Cogdell, Mildred Keeter, Rowena Miller, Lerverne Owens, Reba Snow, Elsie Sullivan, Hilda Thompson, Kim Klaus and the pastor, Karl Klaus.

Discover The Joy

NEITHER CATHOLIC, PROTESTANT, NOR JEW #2

Is the church of Christ Catholic? We share the same God, believe in the same apostles, and same great characters of the Old and New Testaments; we do not in many other instances believe and worship alike. We share with Catholics the great breadth of Christian virtues, faith in morality and faith in decent, wholesome living. We both believe the Bible to be God's Word. We share the belief that the church is universal in its scope, for Jesus gave the Great Commission. (Mt. 28:18-20; Mark 16:15, 16).

We come to a crucial dividing line over the position that should be given to the traditions of men. Our Catholic friends say, "we believe the Bible; we also believe in the traditions of the fathers." It is their conviction that those traditions of the fathers are equally authoritative with the inspired Word of God. At that point we part company. The true church today is governed by the Bible alone. (1 Timothy 6:3, 4).

The traditions of the fathers down through the centuries have developed a rather elaborate system of church government. The pope stands at the top, with the cardinals, archbishops, bishops, and parish priests beneath. Since we as members of the church of Christ are pledged to stand with the Bible and only the Bible, we cannot accept that system of church organization. The church of Christ acknowledges Jesus as its head. (Eph. 1:22, 23). The Roman Catholic church recognizes the pope as the head of the church.

The Catholic Church has an elaborate system of worship, involving the use of incense, the lighting of candles, and the use of images. Since we as members of the church of Christ do not follow the traditions of the fathers, we must leave these alone also. The church of Christ does not fit into the label called Catholic.

Is the church of Christ Protestant? We believe in the same God, the same Savior, the same apostles, and in the same worthies of the Old and New Testaments. We believe in the same basic moral principles. We believe in the same Bible. We believe in the same Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. We also join in protesting against the un-Scriptural practices and doctrines of the Roman Catholic church. We agree that the Roman church is an apostate church.

Here comes the parting of the ways. God has not approved modification and change in His original New Testament church. (2 John 9). We as members of the church of Christ do not believe in the decrees of religious councils, nor in the creeds which man has written. (1 Cor. 3:4). Rather we believe that the only authoritative and dependable guide to heaven is the Bible. Next week we will examine the topic "NEITHER CATHOLIC, PROTESTANT, NOR JEW" #3.

Also included in the items will be a framed money shirt, which has become a popular gift for a friend or relative. Bobbie has made several of them for her brother in St. Louis who saw them and wanted her to make several for him to give as gifts.

Bobbie and her husband, Charles, share the hobby of woodcrafts. He cuts out the figures from wood and she does the painting.

Bobbie calls herself a transplanted "Yankee". She is a native of Washington, Pennsylvania. Charles is a native of Indiana. But, they have lived in Iowa Park since 1962 and now consider themselves Texans. They have lived in the same house since moving here 30 years ago.

Bobbie also lived in St. Louis, where she and Charles were married in 1950. He was raised in Sikston, Mo., and was in the Air Force when they married.

They lived in Utah, North Carolina and Heacox was transferred to Sheppard AFB from Cheyenne, Wyo. They lived on the base from 1956 to 1959, when he was sent to Germany for three years.

While in Germany the couple took advantage of the proximity of other countries and visited Italy, Rome, Vatican City, Switzerland, Isle of Capri, and Holland.

Heacox was sent back to Sheppard where he retired as a Master Sergeant in 1965, after 22 1/2 years in the service.

Bobbie worked 23 years for the Iowa Park School System. She retired from Bradford Elementary School in 1991. She began working for the school as dish washer in the cafeteria, then she was a cook, and she retired as cafeteria manager.

The couple like to go to garage sales. Right now they are hunting for old handkerchiefs for her to make a bedspread. And she finds a lot of things she can use to make her crafts.

They also are looking for old picture frames. They want to use them to frame old family pictures.

Both Bobbie and Charles are interested in genealogy and have been doing some tracing of their families. Right now they are trying to find who or where the spelling of his name was changed.

They both love to fish and are planning a trip to Lake Texoma before the weather gets too cold to enjoy it.

Bobbie is publicity chairman for the Arts and Crafts Association. They are members of First Baptist Church. She is a member and president of Hope Sunday School class and he is a member and president of HHH Sunday School class. He is also a member of the Iowa Park Masonic Lodge.

They have been on 13 mission trips for the church, sometimes going on two a year, but they have not been recently.

In the past four or five months Bobbie has crocheted afghans for her grandchildren. She crocheted a version of the granny square for their granddaughter and one of the ripple design for each of their three grandsons.

The Heacoxs have a daughter, Barbara Price of Wichita Falls, a teacher at Crockett school. She has a daughter and a son, and their son, Charles of Iowa Park, who is production manager for Quail Plastics. He has two boys.

Bobbie says "We don't need any more in the family named Charles". None are juniors, but all are Charles R. Heacox is Charles Ray, his son is Charles Russell, and his son is Charles Robert.

1992-93 VARSITY LADY HAWKS

1992-93 VARSITY HAWKS

Lady Hawks win opener; Hawks to start Friday

The Lady Hawk varsity opened its season Tuesday with a 41-32 win over Wichita Falls High, but the varsity Hawks will have to wait until Friday for their season opener.

Tuesday's scheduled opener for the Hawks was cancelled because their opponent, Munday, is still in the football playoffs.

The boys are scheduled to travel to Crowell tomorrow, where the varsity is to follow a freshman game that is to tip off at 4:15 p.m.

Despite shooting only 26 percent from the field the Lady Hawk defense was credited as the primary reason for Iowa Park's win Tuesday in Wichita Falls.

However, Gina Inman found the bottom of the basket for 15 points to lead the Lady Hawks, while Misty Cook and Christal Goad each contributed eight. Jennifer Ricks had five, but tacked on seven important rebounds.

The Lady Hawks, coached this season by John Hoelter, played most of the game without two starters. Cheri Halady was sidelined with an ankle injury, and Cook was in foul trouble and saw only limited action.

Neither team had much success in shooting through the first half. Iowa Park held an 8-6 lead at the end of the first period, and the Lady Coyotes narrowed the margin to 15-14 with a 8-7 second quarter.

But a 12-1 third quarter was the major difference for the Lady Hawks, who finished with 23 personal fouls to only 16 for the hosts. Cook was the only player to foul out, however.

In the preliminary games, the Lady Hawk JV was forced into an overtime before winning, 48-45. Jodi Young was high for Iowa Park with 21 points.

The Freshmen had a much easier time of it, winning 51-22 behind Dusti Welch's 12 points. Julea Ricks and Lori Spruiell each scored eight, and Melissa Collins seven.

All three teams are expected to have their hands full when they host Jacksboro Friday.

Jacksboro's varsity girls are ranked 10th among Class AA schools in the state in one pre-season poll.

First game of the triple header is scheduled at 5 p.m.

The Frosh are to play at Quanah Monday, starting at 5 p.m., while the Varsity and Junior Varsity are to host Archer City Tuesday, with the first game starting at 4 p.m.

Both the Lady Hawk and Hawk varsities are entered in the Fantasy of Lights tournament Nov. 27-28 in Wichita Falls.

But Coach Tim Clark will have only two opportunities to see his young club in action before traveling to the tournament in Wichita Falls.

After the Varsity Hawks' game at Crowell tomorrow, their other contest will be against Archer City, which will be played here Tuesday.

The Hawk Junior Varsity is entered in a JV tournament today through Saturday at Seymour, and also will see action against Archer City, prior to the Varsity game.

Freshman Hawks, besides playing at Crowell, are to host Jacksboro at 6 p.m. Monday.

Junior high girls playing

In their season openers here Monday, the Seventh Grade "B" Lady Hawks edged McNeil 31-27, but the Eighth "B" lost to McNeil's "A" 19-13.

It had been agreed when scheduling that McNeil would bring their Eighth Grade "B" team for the game, but didn't. Sara McCarty and Andrea Wright led the Seventh Grade game scoring with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

Lindsey Thompson had four and Teresa Fields three in the Eighth Grade game.

It was the regular season opener for the local teams.

When they did meet each other, in a scrimmage last Thursday, the Eighth Grade "B" defeated McNeil's "B" team 26-12. Christie Rauls led Iowa Park with 10 points, while Thompson had eight and Alora Foster scored six.

McCarty led the Seventh "B" in their 27-25 scrimmage win with McNeil last week, racking up 17 points.

The Seventh and Eighth "A" teams are to host City View, starting at 4:30 this afternoon, and travel to Henrietta Monday, where both "A" and "B" teams are to play, with the first game at 4:30 p.m.

The Junior Hawks are to play at City View Monday for their season openers, with the Seventh and Eighth "A" teams seeing action, starting at 4:30 p.m. They will host Henrietta in "B" and "A" games Monday.

Old scores were settled in last week's AAA playoff games. Waco Robinson had lost to eventual state champion Groesbeck 34-0 last year, and revenge that loss Friday with a 28-17 victory.

Meanwhile, down at McGregor, the AA Bulldogs pulled off an upset of their own. They had lost 40-3 earlier in the season to Rogers. But Friday, McGregor advanced to the area playoffs with a 22-19 win over that same club.

Childress was in the same boat. The Bobcats were humiliated earlier in the season to Floydada, 28-0. But last week they shut out the Whirlwinds 7-0, and advance to the area playoff against Graham here Friday night.

Duerson delights South American guests with down-home cooking

By DWIGHT E. SHEAD
ON BOARD USS CUSHING (DD 985) - He might not be an internationally-known chef, but Navy Petty Officer First Class Ronald G. Duerson is more than capable of holding his own with a saucepan.

Duerson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lee Duerson and husband of the former Dori Lynn Burton, all of Iowa Park, has been working in food service for nearly a decade.

"Even before I decided to join the navy, I was already associated with the food industry," explains the 1980 Iowa Park High School graduate, now a mess management specialist assigned to the Commander, South Atlantic Force, U.S. Atlantic Fleet (USCOMSOLANT).

"I've worked for several fast food operations and I was also the produce manager for a large super market in my hometown."

On July 14, 1992, when U.S. COMSOLANT embarked on the destroyer USS Cushing to begin the annual Unitas 33-92 cruise, Duerson knew that his services would be called upon to uphold America's reputation for good food and gracious hospitality.

Over the course of a four-month long voyage, as the flag mess supervisor and head mess specialist for the cruise, Duerson has catered and helped to host numerous luncheons and receptions for South American guests and dignitaries.

Duerson, and the other members of the USCOMSOLANT staff, are part of a multinational task force operating in South American coastal waters alongside the navies of South American countries. The task force of U.S. and South American ships take part each year in the naval exercise known as "Unitas," which is the Latin word for unity. This is not Duerson's first visit to the other America.

"The first time I participated in Unitas was in 1990. Then I was a petty officer second class augmenting the flag mess staff," explains the 31-year-old Navy man. "I came aboard with two goals in mind -- first to get my enlisted surface warfare pin, and second to become a permanent staff member. By the time the cruise ended, I had accomplished both of my goals."

"Since my first cruise, I've been meritoriously advanced to petty officer first class, and I'm currently making my third Unitas cruise," he said.

Duerson joined the Navy in June 1982 for what he said was a "much needed change of pace. Although I was born and raised in an Air Force town, I always had a great passion for the sea," he says. "At first, I thought about attending college, but I admitted to myself that I didn't have the discipline right then to complete it."

Instead Duerson looked for a place where discipline was built in. He liked what he found so well, that he is now a 10-year veteran of the naval service.

Duerson says that being a Navy mess management specialist is a challenging and rewarding career.

"So far I've worked with the marine Corps, helped to manage a hotel when I operated a bachelor officers quarters, and served as a front line supervisor at a major Navy commissary store," he says.

Duerson says that he can't see himself doing anything but what he's currently doing.

"There aren't many jobs that can be challenging yet rewarding, arduous yet entertaining," he said. "Every day, I'm faced with something new and I love it."

"The only drawback to navy life is the family separation," he added, "but I'm one of the lucky ones. My wife, Dori, supports me and my career one hundred percent. When I'm down, she's the one who motivates me because she feels that she's just as much a part of the Navy as I am -- and she's right."

Duerson says that he definitely plans to make the Navy a 20-year career. "My future plans are to get orders to the state of Texas. I want to buy a home and start to set myself up for retirement," he said. "I want my children raised in Texas and become as proud of Texas as I am."

"Before I call the Navy quits, I plan to have a degree in culinary science," he concluded. "Eventually I will pursue my dream of becoming a dietician for a major hospital."

(Dwight E. Shead is a journalist assigned to the navy Public Affairs Center in Norfolk, Va., and is currently deployed to South America.)

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — On opening day of the special session last week, Rep. Pete Laney, D-Hale Center, claimed he has enough votes to be elected speaker in January's regular session.

Meanwhile, across the rotunda, senators quickly adopted a proposed constitutional amendment to shift money from property-rich to property-poor school districts, then prepared to confirm some 300 of Gov. Ann Richards' new appointments.

But in the session's opening days, Laney's announcement completely overshadowed the called purpose of the session: to remedy the state's system of funding public schools.

Sources close to lame-duck Speaker Gib Lewis said one scenario has him stepping down this session — when all other business is finished — to let House members elect Laney immediately.

Lewis, D-Fort Worth, did not seek re-election, and the House must elect a new speaker at the beginning of each regular session.

Organize, Save Time

By installing a new speaker now, the House could make the January election a formality, avoiding the traditional two-week slow period while the new speaker hires his staff and makes committee appointments.

By week's end, all other major speaker candidates had conceded to Laney, fueling the early House organization theory.

Ironically, Laney's victory claim came one day before former House Speaker Gus Mutscher pleaded guilty to conspiracy to commit mail fraud in a land development scam that bilked investors out of nearly $1.5 million in Washington and Fayette counties.

Mutscher, 59, pleaded guilty minutes before he was to stand trial before a federal jury in Galveston on 14 felony charges including mail fraud and money laundering. Sentencing is set for Jan. 8.

Senate Passes Amendment

Senators approved, 29-2, a proposed constitutional amendment labeled the "Fair Share Plan," drafted by Gov. Richards, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock and Lewis.

It makes no provision for a tax increase, but opponents — mostly Republicans — say it will necessitate a state personal income tax in the near future.

The Senate plan would write minimum school funding standards into law and allow property tax dollars to be shifted from rich to poor school districts.

Crazy Enough to Do It

State District Judge Scott McCown has threatened to cut off state revenue to schools — shutting them down — unless the Legislature equalizes funding by June 1.

Last week, Lewis warned House members, "the judge is crazy enough to do it. I've had him checked out and he's crazier than a stone-dead possum."

Culberson told members Judge McCown "is determined to control the entire school finance system in Texas from his courtroom."

McCown has been often quoted for saying: "If there's no education in Texas for six months, who cares?"

BACK & NECK CHIROPRACTIC

HEADACHES

Headaches are the most frequent reason people seek medical care. Pain from headaches ranges from mild to severe to the daily activities of many patients. Causes of headaches are genetics psychological, neurological, vascular, biomechanical, environmental, etc...One of the most commonly over-looked causes of headache is cervicogenic headache or headache related to the neck. Many headaches are caused by irritation to the nerves that exit the spine in the upper neck. These nerves provide most of the sensation to the back and sides of the head and to the forehead over the eyes. When these upper nerves are irritated, headache radiating from the back of the skull to the temple or over the eyes may result. Irritation of these nerves often caused by whiplash injuries, jobs that require one to hold their neck in a fixed posture for long intervals such as a secretary, assembly worker, telephone operator, dentist and factory workers.

The most appropriate treatment for this type of headache is chiropractic manipulation. There have been many studies done on manipulation as a treatment of cervicogenic headaches with the latest being done by researchers at Maribor General Hospital. A group of 100 patients with these headaches were treated with spinal manipulation. Within three weeks of treatment, 75% had a good reduction in the headaches. When questioned after one year, 25% had had no headaches, and 65% had maintained a good improvement in the number and severity of the headaches. These were exceptional results when it is considered that most of these patients had had their headaches on and off for years.

The more that is learned about headaches, the more apparent two facts become. The first is that many headaches are caused by nerve irritation in the upper neck, and the second is that chiropractic manipulation is an effective treatment for this common problem.
