Hawks, Buckaroos have eyes on playoff position

There's no lack of incentive for either team to win Friday night, when Iowa Park travels to Breckenridge for an important Dist. 4-AAA contest.

Kickoff time will be 7:30 p.m.

Both teams are 1-1 against conference opponents, and still in the running for the championship, or at least a place in the state playoffs.

The Buckaroos opened their district schedule two weeks ago with a 28-9 win over Bowie, but last week fell victim to Graham 34-0.

Meanwhile, the Hawks defeated the pre-season favorite Vernon 17-14, but fell 13-6 to Bowie.

This will be the 14th meeting between the Hawks and Buckaroos, and Breckenridge holds a slight 7-6 win margin. The two teams have alternated winning in their last seven meetings.

For the Hawks, this will be their opportunity to break their road game jinx. All four of their losses have been away, while their three wins have been in the friendly confines of Hawk Stadium.

Oddly enough, Iowa Park's last three victories over Breckenridge have been in Buckaroo Stadium. The Hawks won 10-6 at Breckenridge in 1991, 25-14 in 1989 and 20-7 in 1987.

Iowa Park's 20-6 loss to the Bucks at Breckenridge in 1986 was the Hawks' only conference loss that season. The Bucks edged Iowa Park 14-13 in 1988, 20-10 in 1990, and last year won by a one-point margin, 21-20, when a game-winning two-point conversion pass was dropped in the end zone late in the contest.

Besides Bowie, the Bucks have faced one other common opponent this season. They defeated Burk Burnett 20-6. The Bulldogs opened the season with an 18-14 win over the Hawks.

Breckenridge won two of their other four nonconference games, defeating Abilene Wylie 28-21 and Sonora 38-7. The Bucks' two losses were to strong AAAA teams: 34-24 to Sweetwater and 62-3 to Stephenville.

Leading the Buck offense is runningback Adam Bowen, who has averaged 5.14 yards on his 127 carries, and scored 58 of the team's 141 points. He's also been on the receiving end of 12 passes for an additional 113 yards.

Bobby Alvarez has been handed the ball about half as many times as Bowen, 61, and gained 247 yards for a 4.04-yard average.

Quarterback Will Mobley has had considerable success with his passing game, completing 76 of 160 attempts for 1,054 yards and five touchdowns. But he's been intercepted 14 times.

When the Bucks were shut out last week by Graham, Mobley completed a third of his 30 passes for 130 yards, and was picked off three times.

Pat Alvarez is far and again Mobley's favorite target. He's made 35 receptions thus far this season for 501 yards and two touchdowns. John Patterson has 14 receptions for 242 yards.

This year's edition of the Buckaroos is young, with only eight seniors on the squad. They are Bobby Alvarez, Cory Lee, Chad Heck, Lee Johnson, Bill Ed Brown, Slade Stoker, Rocky Boggs and Richard Sanborn.

Countering the Buck backfield for the Hawks are ball carriers Scott Byrd and Don Ellis, both seniors. Byrd, who missed the season opener and didn't carry against Childress, is averaging 4.5 yards on his 67 carries, while Ellis has a 3.7 average on 82 times with the ball.

Ellis' talented toe not only is used for kickoffs and extra points, but as a long range scorer. He has booted six field goals thus far this season. Over half of those were more than 40 yards, and one last week was a 50-yarder.

Tony Lozopone has seen most of his offensive action as quarterback, but the senior is alternated at various times with junior Jason Young.

Couple caught stealing

Among the seven persons taken into custody by Iowa Park police during the past week were two who were caught with stolen bicycles in their possession.

The radio dispatcher was notified by telephone at 1:14 a.m. Tuesday that two persons were loading bicycles into their pickup truck in the 500 block of East Lafayette.

An officer stopped the vehicle near Peterson Road, and detained the two occupants after seeing the bicycles.

James Anthony Streadwick, 32, and Mary Rene Collins, 21, were detained over night in the local jail facility. The next morning, both were charged with theft over $20, and taken to county jail under $500 bonds.

But Collins was also facing an outstanding warrant issued by the sheriff's department for bond forfeiture on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, and bond was not available on that charge.

When an officer stopped Tom C. Sims, 27, in the 300 block of West Highway on a traffic check at 4:42 p.m. Monday, it was determined he had an outstanding warrant against him issued by the sheriff's office for capias pro fine, driving while license suspended, and a $492 fine.

According to the report, Sims was placed in the back seat of the patrol car, and en route to the station, damaged a window separating the front from the back by kicking it.

The damage to the vehicle was $39, and Sims received an additional charge of criminal mischief, before he was transported to county jail.

An officer on patrol shortly before midnight Wednesday of last week heard a loud banging noise, and checked for its source. According to the report, he observed Jason L. Boyd, 19, kicking on a newspaper stand at Scobee's.

Boyd was arrested for public intoxication, and released on a personal recognizance bond.

Larry Tompkins, 33, was arrested in the 200 block of James Drive at 11:56 p.m. Thursday, when it was determined he was in violation of a protective order issued by the Wichita Falls Police Dept. He was transported to Wichita Falls.

Police arrested Christy Galliton, 21, Friday morning after a complaint was filed that led to a charge of theft under $20. She was booked and released after paying a fine of $81.50.

Police were notified of a party being held on the west side of Lake Iowa Park shortly after midnight Saturday.

Upon investigation, Michael K. Smith, 19, was taken into custody on a public intoxication charge. At the police station, it was learned Smith faced two other charges: harrassment, issued by the county sheriff's office, and violating the seat belt law, issued by the Department of Public Safety.

Smith was released to county deputies, and the other eight persons at the party put out their bonfire after being informed it was not permitted.

Two 14-year-old girls who had been reported as runaways were picked up by police at 11:25 a.m. Sunday on Park Plaza, and returned to their parents, according to the police blotter.

Police and emergency medical technicians responded to a location on the north Access Road of US 287 Saturday afternoon, where a 28-year-old man had apparently attempted to commit suicide.

The man was in the sleeping compartment of his truck parked there, and had fired one round from a .38 caliber revolver into the left side of his chest.

He was taken to Bethania Hospital for treatment.

Three burglaries and a theft were also reported to police during the past week.

Officers were summoned to the 800 block of West Highway Friday morning, when a person called to say a storage unit he was renting had been burglarized.

Listed as having been taken were a set of drums, valued at $600, and a microwave oven, valued at $400.

Further investigation determined the locks on five other units had been broken off, but it has not yet been determined if anything has been taken from them.

Two men who told police they had been hired to install a hot water heater at a residence in the 1000 block of Foley reported they had left that location for a time, and upon return found their tools missing and evidence of a possible burglary attempt.

The men said they thought maybe they had interrupted the burglar, because when they checked the inside of the residence, found guns lying on a bed. The owner of the residence was out of town. Pry marks were found on the back door of the home.

Among their missing tools were listed a nail gun, circular saw, and a bag of golf clubs also was reportedly missing from the home.

A resident in the 600 block of West Washington told police Sunday that two tires and two wheels had been taken from a storage shed at that location.

The theft case reported was filed by a resident in the 200 block of Valley Drive, who said Halloween decoration pumpkins had been taken from in front of the residence.

WELCOMED MOISTURE - Though the rains Tuesday morning were somewhat a problem for motorists, the precipitation still was appreciated by homeowners and farmers alike. Iowa Park received 1.05, mostly from the storm that struck Monday night, .98, but an additional .07 Sunday evening, according to measurements taken at the city's waste water treatment plant.

Trustees hear report on elementary testing

Iowa Park school trustees Monday night heard a glowing report on test results of two elementary grades, and accepted a bid to purchase computer hardware for the junior high school.

Kidwell Elementary Principal Mike Hoover told trustees his first and second grade students last spring scored well above the national averages on the Iowa Test of Basic Skills.

With the national average being 50 percent, the classes' averages on reading, language, math and core total ranged from 55 to 69 percent, Hoover reported.

"These results are a good indicator of the positive learning taking place at Kidwell Elementary," Hoover wrote in his report.

"We will use these results in our instructional planning for the future. Test results are also useful in developing Individual Education Plans for students."

City's agenda is loaded

A million-dollar bond issue, annexation of almost 10 acres of property, and making land available for a new senior citizens center are on the city council's tentative agenda for Monday night's meeting.

The meeting is to begin at 7 p.m. in council chambers.

The council will consider authorizing the city administrator to advertise for proposals for the issuance of certificates of obligation for major water and sewer improvements.

Expected to cost $1 million are the construction of a new water tower north of US 287, and enlargement of a main sewer line between Smith Road and the treatment plant.

A public hearing will be held to consider annexation of a 9,758-acre tract of land, which would be the first of four phases in the development of Park Place Addition.

The tract fronts on Johnson Road, and is north of County Hills Addition.

After being approached by Friendly Door board members, the council expressed support to lease land on the north side of the Recreational Activities Center, for a new center site.

The board representatives told the council they felt assured they would be successful in acquiring grants for the new building, but needed a site where it could be located. Additionally, the city's making the site available would also indicate support for the facility and its organization.

The city is expected to join with other municipalities, in passing a resolution approving the proposed settlement agreement on a state-wide

"It must also be remembered that use of standardized achievement tests as a sole criterion to evaluate teachers, is strongly opposed by experts in the field of testing, since too many factors other than teaching competency can, and do, influence the test score a pupil receives."

"Testing accuracy also decreases with younger students, since variables such as reading skills have greater and greater effects on the ability of the student to simply take the test. We must remember that test scores are useful, but limited," the principal reported.

The first graders scored in the upper 55 percental in the nation on math, 63 on core total, 66 on language and 69 on reading.

Second grade percentals included 59 in math, 60 in core total and 61 in both language and reading.

Luk Computers' bid of $15,650 for computers and related equipment was the lowest of seven bids received for the junior high computer laboratory, and was accepted.

The equipment is backed with a one-year warranty, according to Supt. Glen Mitchell.

During his report on the transportation department, Assistant Superintendent Robert Palmer said cameras purchased for buses have greatly cut down on problems for drivers.

Palmer's suggestion that he put out bids for four different styles of pickups, which have been approved in this year's budget, met agreement with board members.

He said now was a good time to get pickup bids, with new models coming out, and the board would have a better choice of deciding which to purchase if it is known what various size and styles were priced.

The board also agreed with Supt. Mitchell's proposal that Linda Gray again be appointed to the Districtwide Site-Based Decision Committee as chairperson.

School enrollment in the district is 10 fewer than Oct. 15 of 1993, Mitchell said, though enrollment is higher at three of the four campuses.

Kidwell, with 463 pupils, is down 40 from this same time last year. Bradford and junior high are both up by seven, at 499 and 488, respectively, while the high school is 16 greater, at 573.

Tax collector Allen Shewmake told the trustees their timing in setting the 1993-94 tax rate was instrumental in his being able to get the tax bills into the mails on a timely basis.

"We're probably the only city and school district getting any money in (at this time) in the county," he said.

He was referring to the fact that the county's billing had not been received by taxpayers as of that meeting.

As of Oct. 8, the school had already deposited $14,519 of this year's payments, he reported.

United Way goal exceeded

Iowa Park has topped its goal of $70,000 for this year's United Way fund campaign, it was reported Friday.

Local volunteers reported having collected money and pledges for 1994 in the amount of $71,240, and work was continuing.

Overall, the United Way of North Texas campaign had reached 63.2 percent of its $1,792,000 goal, having collected $1,132,529.

Warren Silver, campaign chairman, said "We are working diligently to wrap the campaign up by our Oct. 29th victory meeting. We need everyone's support to successfully complete our efforts. Please help us by getting your pledges into the United Way office."

Campaign divisions other than Iowa Park reported the following results: Agriculture, $0; Business and Industry, $156,990; Burk Burnett, $40,734; Combined Federal Campaign, $300,000; City of Wichita Falls, $15,572; Commerce, $222,458; Health Care, $35,850; Metro, $14,877; Oil and Gas, $32,238; Professional, $47,999; Public Service, $104,551, and Special Gifts, $90,020.

The two agencies in Iowa Park that benefit from the United Way fund are the Friendly Door and Recreational Activities Center.

Vickie Beeman and Katie

When asked about her hobbies, Vickie Beeman mentioned horses. We soon realized that horses are more than a hobby with her, they have played a major role in her life for many years.

Vickie grew up in southern California and began riding horses when she was 10 years old. She was on the rodeo and horse show teams at Pierce College in Los Angeles, where she received a degree in large animal science.

She moved to the north Texas area about 10 years ago, and says she has come to love the open spaces, wheat fields and sky of Texas.

Vickie and her nine-month-old daughter Kate became residents of Iowa Park last April. She is employed by Lear-Siegler and works at Sheppard Air Force Base.

She also works part-time giving riding lessons to children, training horses, and does some buying and selling of horses, at Hilltop Ranch located on Rifle Range Road.

Vickie is very active in the Wichita County 4-H Horse Club in which she has been a leader for five years. Before that, she worked with the 4-H horse program in Clay County.

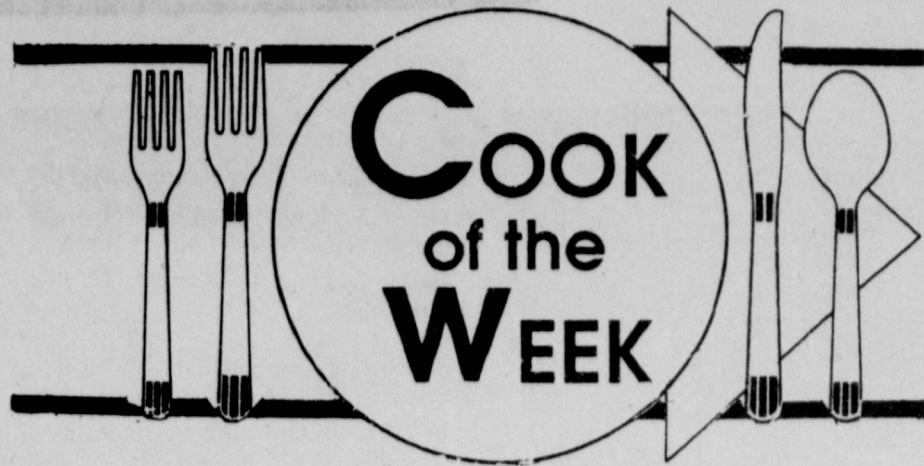

Vickie attends services at First Presbyterian Church, where she keeps the nursery.

Even though Vickie prefers to live in Texas, she maintains close ties with her family. This past weekend, Vickie and Katie flew out to California to attend a surprise reception for her parents on their wedding anniversary.

Most of Vickie's recipes came from family members, although the recipe for "Chicken Fajitas" is her own. She said that she likes to cook for fun, and especially likes spicy foods.

Chicken Fajitas

- 1 lb. chicken strips (skinless, boneless, breast slices)
- 1 large green bell pepper, sliced
- 1 large red bell pepper, sliced
- 1/2 large red onion, sliced
- 1 clove garlic, chopped

- 1 cup Chunky Salsa (recipe follows)
- 1 cup grated cheese
- 1 cup shredded lettuce
- 1 cup chopped tomatoes
- 1 pkg. flour tortillas

Lightly salt and pepper chicken and marinate in beer.

Saute onions and garlic in olive oil; add chicken. When chicken is half done, stir in bell peppers. If you prefer the bell pepper super done (soft) add them when you put in the chicken so that the bell peppers cook longer.

Heat tortillas.

Put hot fajita mixture in tortillas, add salsa, cheese, lettuce and tomatoes.

Chunky Salsa

- 1 can (15 oz.) stewed tomatoes
- 1 large can chopped green chilies
- 3 large over-ripe tomatoes, chopped
- 4 green onions, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, chopped
- 2 Tbsp. oregano
- 1 Tbsp. parsley flakes
- 1 Tbsp. sugar

Mix all ingredients and chill. Serve with tortilla chips.

Momma's Chicken Wings

- 3 lbs. chicken wings
- Sauce:
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1/2 cup vinegar
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3 Tbsp. ketchup
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 2 Tbsp. lemon juice
- 1/2 cup blackberry jelly

Cut wings into 2 sections, discarding tips. Flour and brown. Arrange in a sheet cake pan and cover with sauce. Bake 30 minutes in 350 degree oven, basting wings every 10 minutes.

Leesa's Beef Tamales

- Filling:
- 1 lb. beef, cubed
- 3 Tbsp. oil
- 1 tsp. garlic, minced
- 1 cup red chili sauce
- 1 - 15 1/2 oz. can beef stock
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 2 Tbsp. cornstarch
- 1/2 tsp. oregano
- Husks & cornmeal wrap:
- 2 cups Quaker masa flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- 3/4 cup Crisco shortening

- 1 1/2 cup water
- 36 corn husks

Filling: Brown beef lightly in oil with garlic. Cover with water and simmer 1 1/2 hours, until beef is tender and falls apart easily.

In small bowl, combine the rest of filling ingredients and mix until cornstarch is dissolved. Add to beef and stir until thickened. If filling is too thin, cook (with lid off) until mixture thickens.

Casing for tamales: Mix masa flour and salt in bowl. Boil water and the melt the shortening in the boiling water. Mix water and melted shortening in masa.

Soak husks to soften. Rinse well. Open husks and spread center with small amount of masa mixture. Spoon small amount of beef filling on masa spread. Fold one side of husk over mixture. Roll husk and fold over ends. Place tamales in shallow pan; cover and steam 15-45 minutes.

Seven Layer Dip (Mild)

Layer in order given, using a deep casserole dish.

1. 2 avocados, mashed with a bit of lemon juice and 2 tablespoons sour cream.
2. 1 pkg. taco seasoning mix and 2 tablespoons mayonnaise and 1 cup sour cream
3. 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese.
4. 1 cup grated Monterey Jack cheese.
5. 1 can chopped olives
6. 1 large tomato, chopped
7. 3-4 green onions, chopped

For a spicier dish, use 1 small can chopped green chilies and less cheese. Serve with tortilla chips.

Downtown focus of Clean & Green

Ways to improve the appearance of downtown Iowa Park was the main topic of discussion at a meeting Thursday of Iowa Park Clean & Green. The meeting was held in the council chamber at city hall.

Estaleen Newman, chairman of the downtown revitalization committee, explained the purpose of the group, which is to deal with the renovation of buildings, use of vacant lots, and other improvements in the downtown area.

The group walked through the downtown area and wrote down suggestions for projects, so later they could compile a list and set priorities.

When they returned, it was decided to begin with improvements to the area in the 100 block of West Highway, and make a pocket park on the vacant lot between the highway and West Cash St.

Mrs. Newman named Ruth Welch and Winnie Holmes to work on ideas for the pocket park. Frances George and Dolores Hamilton will assist her with a study on getting low-interest financing to encourage the remodeling of old buildings.

Another ongoing project of Iowa Park Clean & Green is the beautification of Oscar Park.

Saturday, Oct. 30, has been designated as the next work day. Workers will continue pruning trees and clearing brush from 8 a.m. until noon. Anyone with a chain saw or who wants to help with the cleaning is encouraged to meet in the northwest area of the park.

On the last work day, workers cleared out 11 truckloads of limbs and brush that were used in the bonfire before the homecoming football game.

Residents are urged to drive by the park entrance off the access road on the northwest side of Gordon Lake and see the progress.

A drive to raise money to fund the different projects, by selling engraved bricks, was begun in the first week of October. The bricks will be placed around a flagpole in the median in front of the Recreational Activities Center. The bricks are $25 each, and can be ordered by contacting Dolores Hamilton, 592-4431, or Frances George, 592-4197.

Also, in an effort to raise funds, members of the organization will be collecting aluminum cans on the first Saturday of each month.

Citizens and businesses who save their aluminum cans and wish to donate them to Clean & Green can do so by calling Belvin Lytle at 592-2642 or 592-4791 and leave message, or Dolores Hamilton, 592-4431, and the cans will be picked up.

MONDAY, Oct. 25

Lunch-Baked ham slice, Northern Beans, turnip greens, cornbread, apricots and prunes.

TUESDAY, Oct. 26

Lunch-Breaded chicken, potato salad, spinach, hot rolls, coconut cake with cream cheese frosting.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 27

Lunch-Meatloaf, Creole sauce, mashed potatoes, copper pennies, hot rolls, banana pudding.

THURSDAY, Oct. 28

Lunch-Lasagna, green beans, tossed salad, garlic bread, peach half, oatmeal cookies.

FRIDAY, Oct. 29

Beef stew, vegetables, lettuce and tomato salad, cornbread, Florida lemon cake.

Denny reunion held Oct. 9 in Kentucky

An estimated 190 descendants of Walter Denny of Burgin, Ky., held their "first-ever" family reunion at the Lions Club building in Harrodsburg, Ky., Oct. 9.

Walter Denny was born in 1805 on the family farm one mile north of Burgin which his father, John Denny, had purchased in about 1792 before the area was Kentucky.

He lived his entire life on this farm, and is buried in the Denny Cemetery located there. He was married to Mary A E Bonta. They had a daughter and four sons. After her death, Walter married her sister, Eliza J Bonta. Eight sons were born to this marriage. In the 1870s six of the youngest sons migrated to Texas, two of them to Iowa Park.

The six first settled near Leonard, but within the next few years, Benjamin Denny moved to Memphis and established a general merchandise store and was a large landowner in Hall County.

William and Jacob Denny operated a store on the square in Vernon many years. In about 1918 they sold the store to the Perkins-Timberlake chain.

Les and Babe Denny came to Iowa Park in 1887 and bought farms south of town in the Valley View community.

In 1990 five of the great-grandchildren of Walter Denny paid a visit to the Denny Cemetery in Kentucky and were so depressed by its appearance they decided to make provisions for its restoration.

The five great-grandchildren of Walter who met at Burgin were Cecil of Burgin, Ernest of Woodbine, Ky., Sally Denny Worth of Lexington, Elizabeth Denny Ashley of Georgetown, Ky., and H. Oscar Lochridge of Fort Worth.

In May 1991 the work was completed to make this burial ground one of the nicest family cemeteries in Kentucky. Donations were received from all over the United States to accomplish this.

As a result of this accomplishment Cecil Denny and Lochridge made plans for a reunion to bring together this family which was separated in about 1875. Lochridge said, "the result was literally a once in a lifetime celebration".

Walter Denny had 54 grandchildren and 89 great-grandchildren.

Seven of the grandchildren are still living but were not able to attend the reunion. Three of these live in Iowa Park. They are Marie Denny Callon, Earle L. Denny, and Elgin Denny.

The others are Buster Denny of Wauna, Wa.; Christina Denny Cheney and Ruby Denny Turner of Las Vegas, Nev., and Mary Jo Beadle of Poolville.

Descendants of L.C. and S.L. (Babe) Denny who attended the celebration in Kentucky were Jane Gauntt of Wichita Falls; Charles and Billye Faye Denny Neuhardt of Midland; Katrina Neuhardt of Arlington; Lee and Martha Katherine Lochridge Reed of Houston; Billie Jo Lochridge Peirce of Bryan; Janet Peirce of Austin, and H. Oscar and Evalyn Lochridge of Fort Worth.

Other Denny descendants attended from Kentucky; Columbus, Ohio; North Carolina; Tennessee; New York; Maryland; Michigan; Indiana; California; Nevada; Washington; Frankfurt, Germany; Vernon, Carbon and Houston.

Included in the program was an open invitation to the Texas Denny reunion to be held in Wichita County in June 1994.

Look Who's New

Morales

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Morales of Arlington are parents of a son, Alexander Paul, born Sept. 22. He weighed seven pounds, 15 ounces and was 20 1/2 inches long. He has a sister, Kaitlyn Nicole, 16 months old. The baby's mother is the former Maureen Duffey of Iowa Park.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Morales of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Duffey Sr., of Iowa Park.

Great-grandmother is Lucy Morales of Levittown, Puerto Rico.

Brandi Marie Bilyeu

Announce engagement

The engagement of Brandi Marie Bilyeu and Jimmy Dewyane Graham is being announced this week by her parents, David and Linda Bilyeu of Iowa Park.

Graham is the son of E.L. and Lonita Graham of Wichita Falls.

The wedding wedding will take place at 7 p.m., Feb. 14, 1994, at the Iowa Park Recreational Activities Center.

Miss Bilyeu is a graduate of Burk Burnett High School, and Graham, a graduate of Wichita Falls High School, is employed at Texhoma Christian Care Center.

Look Who's New

A daughter, Kaley Irene, was born Monday, Oct. 18, at Baylor Medical Center in Dallas to Mr. and Mrs. Dale Washburn of Whitesboro.

She is the couple's first child. She weighed two pounds, five ounces and was 15 inches in length.

Mrs. Washburn is the former Carol Ann Dean of Iowa Park.

Grandparents are Faye Washburn of Whitesboro and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dean of Iowa Park. Great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gessler of Bowie.

Nolen baby in Fort Worth

Luke Nolen, infant son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert (Bubba) Nolen, has been transferred from a hospital in Albuquerque, N.M. to Children's Hospital in Fort Worth.

Mary Ann Nolen, the baby's grandmother, says he is doing well.

Correction

Omitted, but not forgotten, in last week's birth announcement of a baby born Sept. 26 to Mr. and Mrs. Mike Wright-Chapman of Arlington was the baby's great-great grandfather, R.L. Good of Iowa Park.

Dillard presents program for Amity Study Club

Valarie Dillard demonstrated the art of cinnamon apple crafts for members of Amity Study Club at a recent meeting in the home of Linda Crumbliss.

Each club member sliced and dried apples prior to the meeting to make a fragrant hanging decoration.

Roll call was answered by 15 members naming a favorite craft.

Patricia Costello gave the meditation, "Come to The Garden" and "Invitation to Serenity", by JoAnne O'Keefe.

President Amy Brown reported on the Whoop-T-Do and the Santa Rosa District Workshop.

Plans were made for the joint meeting scheduled Nov. 8.

A $100 donation to the Kidwell Accelerated Readers Program was project of the month.

Members were served cheese cake, fruit and punch by Mrs. Crumbliss and co-hostess, Marilyn Hale.

Denton elected president of Arts & Crafts Assoc.

Margaret Denton was elected president of the Iowa Park Arts and Crafts Association during a meeting last week at the RAC.

Other officers elected include: Cindy Lane, vice president; Sheri Albus, secretary, and Cathy Price, treasurer.

Standing committee chairmen are: Susan Scott, publicity; Freddy Skinner, display; Sheri Kennedy, program, and Cindy Haddock, yearbook.

The program was presented by Debra Williamson, who taught the members how to make "Pumpkin Head Scarecrows."

Mrs. Williamson's work is being displayed during October at Tom Burnett Memorial Library.

Loretta Stephens won the door prize which was a towel decorated with "goblins."

The next meeting will be Nov. 9, and members should plan on meeting at the RAC unless notified otherwise. Secret Pals will be revealed, and everyone is asked to bring a favorite dish or dessert. Visitors are welcome.

As I See It . . . By Bob Hamilton

I apparently made a mistake in the phrasing of a paragraph in last week's story about Iowa Park's big football win over Vernon, and it has caused problems.

Let me first quote the paragraph: "A look at the statistics will tell any knowledgeable fan that the Lions won the game. Iowa Park just kinda' showed up."

What was intended to be complimentary has apparently upset some of the players and coaching staff. It was never intended to be taken any way other than as a compliment. And the other 16 paragraphs of the story explained just that.

My point was, any time an opponent more than doubles your first downs and total net yardage, as reported in the statistics, the team with lower numbers normally loses on the scoreboard.

In this case, Vernon had 17 first downs to Iowa Park's 7, and 264 net yards total offense to 106 for Iowa Park.

Of course, also in that statistic box was the fact that Vernon turned over possession of the ball five times, four on interceptions and once on a fumble.

But the point I had intended to make was that the statistics don't include interceptions returned for a touchdown. Nor are field goals included in the stats.

Because that one paragraph was taken out of context -- people have been attempting to prove points for centuries by taking sentences and paragraphs from the Bible out of context -- those who were upset apparently questioned my support for the Hawk football team.

People, if I were ever going to criticize our high school football team

-- and that has never happened in the past -- I certainly wouldn't do it after the Hawks recorded a victory over another team.

Maybe criticism could be justified after losing to a team Iowa Park should have beaten -- again that has never happened -- but this certainly wasn't the case.

My blood began to flow green before most of these players' parents had even met, and when our coaching staff was still in elementary school.

Were I not as devoted a fan, I likely would not have attended 262 of the Hawks' last 263 games. And I can't remember how many scrimmages there's been in these 25 seasons.

And, to remind some, I believe I had plenty of opportunity to criticize somebody during that three-year period in which Iowa Park won only one contest. But I didn't.

Now then. If you believe you read something I've written critical about any of our high school extracurricular groups, just chalk it up to my poor choice of phrasing.

And if I ever do criticize such a group, I'll certainly label it as criticism.

So, until that time, can we please just go back to being friends?

Letters

to the Editor

Hawks need your support

Dear Mr. Hamilton,

A lot of the students have noticed a problem with some of our so called "fans." The football team and coaches bust their butts five days a week and we think they deserve a lot more encouragement. Just because you go to the games doesn't mean we're not talking to you. Some of you just sit in the stands and don't say a word. It doesn't hurt anything to get up and cheer with the cheerleaders, after all they have been working on cheers since this past summer and they also take care of the pep-rallies. (Along with a few dedicated moms and dads.) All we ask is that you go to the games and not just watch, get up and give our team the encouragement they have earned. Of course there are going to be those spiritless "fans" who will ask you to sit down because they can't see, and if they do, ask them to stand up and support the Hawks or move to a lazier section. So for everyone who reads this, be at the next games and cheer the Hawks on to the playoffs!

Thanks,
Steven Parkey, David Hollis, Billy Flippin, Candi Shephard, Carissa Carroll, Rudy Hawkins, Angela Hatfield

Support Holliday's Band

I have been a "band parent" for several years, having two children involved with the band program in Holliday. What bothers me, and I'm sure bothers others involved with the band program, is the lack of support the band receives from the other groups within the school.

The band plays at pep rallies for the football team and at football games. When the season is over, the band plays at pep rallies for basketball and volleyball teams when they are held. The band program is an ongoing activity. Students perform throughout the year special concerts open to the community. Participating at parades, marching contests and sometimes invited to special community events, the band always stands ready to support our school and represent it with enthusiasm and excellence. Students audition for District, Region, Area, and State Bands.

Our school has a winning tradition, whether it is sports like football, basketball, baseball, and volleyball, or academics like UIL contest, we know how to win and we know how to appreciate winning teams. For the last three years in a row we have had a sweepstake band winning awards and recognition in Texas and Colorado. In 1992 our band won 1st place in Parade Competition in the Canon City Blossom Festival along with 3rd place in Concert Competition competing against schools larger than our own. Five students were named to Area Band and there has been one of our band members named to the All State Band each of the last two years. With all of the awards and recognition that our band has received the one thing that is missing is the most important of all.

Our band deserves the recognition and support of the groups that it has supported throughout the years. It seems a shame with all the Run Through Signs and Banners that the band has made for our teams that when we go to contest or competition the band decorates its own bus, produces its own signs, is its own pep squad.

This Saturday, October 23, our band will be competing in Regional Marching Contest at Memorial Stadium. Wouldn't it be great for the stands to be filled with football, basketball, volleyball teams, students, and parents representing our school and community giving our band the support they deserve?

Worth Quoting

One of the thrilling events of fall has disappeared. I'm not referring to football, the World Series or any other athletic event. Rather, I'm thinking about the suspense that used to accompany the arrival of show date for the various makes of automobiles.

Remember the 1950s and 1960s? This was the span of time when Detroit ruled the auto world. If someone had told you in those days that Japan was destined to be a major player in the automobile game, you would have scoffed at the idea.

Those were the days when a lot of people traded cars every year, and the general rule of getting in the mood was three years. Most cars of that time would start wearing out after three years, anyway.

By late summer dealers would start to unload. That was really the best time to trade, but who -- especially those who could come up with two or three thousand dollars, or equivalent credit -- wanted a last year's model?

GM, Ford or Chrysler, the big three, had designers working full time to come up with new designs in sheet metal that would make people dissatisfied with what they had. Unlike the initialed packages of equipment of today, the models in those days came in standard and deluxe. Standard meant you got a heater. Deluxe spelled a radio as well as several hundred pounds of chrome.

Each auto maker would announce its show day, and for two or three weeks before the unveiling the new models would arrive surreptitiously. They would be hidden in the rear of the dealership or in the back yards of friends. Teaser ads would appear in weekly and daily newspapers, and brown wrapping paper would cover the show room windows the night before.

Big ads promising all sort of favors and offering a tantalizing glimpse of the handsomest of the new models would appear in newspapers when the big day arrived.

Show date was as much fiesta as the dealers could manage. Balloons, free soft drinks, emery boards, yard sticks, candy, rain caps, small soft drinks, pencils, pens -- all kinds of favors the dealer could buy cheaply by the gross.

People would do their part by flocking in, sampling the goodies, kicking the tires, admiring the new contours of sheet metal, checking on the changes in grill, tail lights and dashboard, even enjoying the distinctive smell of a new car.

Some bought, most didn't, but everyone wanted to.

I guess these grand showings are gone forever. Main reason is cars cost too much for people to trade as often as they used to.

Who would have thought that the cost of cars would be more than a home or an education?

For this reason the auto makers change looks of their products very little from year to year. It takes an expert to recognize the difference of one model from the other, even over the period of several years.

Thank goodness, they are making them better, too.

TOM MOONEY

For most of us, it might be debatable which is more important to the national economy -- lumber or oil.

But to the folks in Washington, oil is the black sheep relative that most people wish would disappear.

The lumber industry in the northwest portion of the country stands to lose some 60,000 jobs over the spotted owl. But evidently the lumber industry is one to be courted because President Clinton held a "Timber Summit" and promised $1.3 billion in federal aid to retrain displaced workers.

The oil industry in recent years has lost 10 times that many jobs, 600,000, and imports have now reached over 50% of the daily consumption in the nation.

Here in Texas we've lost roughly 130,000 workers in the oil patch during the past decade but no one in Texas or Washington has called a "summit" meeting of any kind to offer any kind of help.

Wonder if we could get the prairie dog classified as endangered as the spotted owl and perhaps wrangle a little attention out of the people in Washington?

Unemployment is tough and evidently widespread in this country.

In the aftermath of the media coverage of the public hearing here last Thursday, here at the News, we received a half-dozen calls from people outside of Andrews wanting to subscribe to the paper -- one from Cincinnati, Ohio.

Their interest is purely economical . . . they want to keep up with developments on the hazardous waste site and find out exactly where and when to apply for a job.

Hopefully, we can respond to their interest some time next year.

Christmas in April nominations accepted

Christmas in April, Wichita County, has begun accepting nominations on area homes in Wichita County.

Any low income, elderly or disabled homeowner may apply to have needed repairs performed on their homes.

Christmas in April is a volunteer organization where "neighbors help neighbors" at no cost to the homeowner.

Anyone may nominate a potential recipient by calling 855-0708 (recorder) and requesting an application.

Applicants will be contacted by a volunteer for evaluation and appraisal, prior to acceptance into the program.

Deadline for receiving applications for the 1994 project is Dec. 31.

Homes nominated will be previewed in the order they are referred.

The 1994 county-wide "repair blitz" will take place on Saturday, April 30.

Obituaries

Eva Mae Via

Mrs. Eva Mae Via, 85, a former resident of Iowa Park, died Tuesday in Pampa.

Graveside services will be held at 3 p.m. today in Highland Cemetery, with Dr. Derrell Monday, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating. Arrangements are under the direction of Dutton Funeral Home.

Mrs. Via was born July 2, 1908, in Weatherford. She was a homemaker and a member of the Church of Christ. She had lived in Pampa since moving from Iowa Park in 1971. Her husband, William H. Via, preceded her in death in 1971.

Survivors include two sons, Bill Via of Wichita Falls and Bobby Via of Holliday; one daughter, Betty Stout of Pampa; one half-sister, Evelyn Harmon of Oregon; one half-brother, Paul Babbitt of Electra; six grandchildren; and 10 great-grandchildren.

W. J. "Pete" Hall

Graveside services for W.J. "Pete" Hall, 79, lifetime resident of the Iowa Park area, were Saturday in Highland Cemetery.

Rev. Mike Grubbs, pastor of First Christian Church, officiated. Arrangements were under direction of Owens & Brumley Funeral Home.

Born Dec. 20, 1913, in Iowa Park to a pioneer family that moved here in the early 1900s, he was married to Lovella Fulmer June 4, 1939.

Hall served in the Coast Guard in World War II. He had been an independent oil operator since 1946. He was a member of the Disciples of Christ.

Survivors include his wife; one son, Larry of Iowa Park; one daughter, Bobbie Jones of Wichita Falls, and four grandchildren.

GARDENING HINTS

By MARK TERNING, COUNTY AGENT - HORTICULTURE

By MARK TERNING
County Agent - Horticulture

Few bedding plants offer the magnificent color and diversity of pansies.

Mid-October is a prime time to plan these cool-season annuals for a winter long display of color in the landscape.

October days are ideal for preparing bed areas and for planting healthy nursery-grown pansies.

Planting areas should be located in sun to partial shade. The soil should be turned to a depth of 10 to 12 inches and assured of drainage by adding organic materials such as peat moss, leaf mold, processed manures, and compost.

The bed level should be slightly raised above normal ground level to insure good surface drainage. Pansies are susceptible to several root rot diseases, therefore, they demand good drainage for best performance.

Pansies lend themselves to a wide range of usage in the landscape and are popular in large formal plantings, as borders, in planter boxes, or as filler plants in rock gardens and beneath spring bulbs such as tulips and daffodils.

Pansies colors range from white to pastel shades, rich gold and yellow and burnished orange to deep rose, violet and blue, and even deeper maroons and browns.

They may be single-colored, streaked or blotched. Local nurseries and garden centers are packed with colorful pansies for you to choose from and enjoy.

Select healthy, fresh plants for installation in your landscape.

Pansies will be widely available in transplant form as two-inch and four-inch containerized plants or in the traditional six-pack tray for easy planting.

Sprinkle the plants foliage with water prior to planting to help condition the plants and help them retain moisture.

When planting the young plants, do not allow the roots to dry out or become stressed. Space plants approximately six inches apart in the bed.

Plant masses or pockets of color in the bed area for the best visual effect. Utilizing waves of single color or perhaps two colors in an area creates uniformity and continuity in the landscape.

Plant pansies at their normal growing depth (about the depth of the container they were purchased in) and avoid planting too deeply. Pansies which are planted too deep will be highly susceptible to root and crown rot.

Water the newly installed pansies well and cover the ground area lightly with a mulch material such as shredded bark mulch. Water regularly during the fall and winter; however, be cautious not to over water, which is also a cause of rot diseases.

Planting pansies now is easy and rewarding throughout the cool-season months. There is most certainly a place for these cool-season wonders in every landscape.

'Oversight' on tax statements

Residents can in fact pay their county taxes at any of the county's substations, including the one located here in Iowa Park.

County tax assessor-collector said statements that were received this week by Wichita County taxpayers contained an "oversight."

The oversight was a computer-printed statement, "Notice. Taxes for jurisdictions listed above will now be collected at the Wichita County Tax Office located at 600 Scott Street."

Pemberton notified the Leader Tuesday that taxpayers can pay their taxes at the courthouse, at the County Agriculture Building in Iowa Park, or any of the other substations in Electra and Burkburnett.

Additionally, each tax statement mailed included a self-addressed envelope, which could be used by taxpayers wishing to pay by mail.

Help near for rural phoners

Kamay-area residents appear to be closer to lower telephone bills, according to an Associated Press story Wednesday out of Austin.

The Public Utility Commission is working on a program to change long distance call rates on short-distance calls.

"The PUC agreed to cap the charge for each telephone exchange that is added to the local calling area to $3.50 per month for residential lines, and $7 per month for business customers," the article stated.

Because the Kamay area is in the Iowa Park school district, most of those residents' bills -- some reportedly as high as $300 a month -- would be cut on calls to and from Iowa Park, residents say.

Shirley Cravens, who has coordinated an effort to obtain extended calling privileges for the Kamay area, said Monday she still had not received any details from the PUC.

JAYSON HOUSTON
INTERCEPTS A JACKRABBIT
PASS THAT LEAD TO A FIELD GOAL

Bowie outscores Hawks, 17-6

Senior Don Ellis kicked his fifth and sixth field goals of the season Friday night -- one of them a 50-yarder -- but those six points couldn't hold up to the 13 posted during the third quarter by Bowie's Jackrabbits.

Bowie put it all together during the third period, and outscored the Hawks 17-6. The Hawks dominated the 'Rabbits the other three quarters.

Ellis lit up the scoreboard late in the first quarter with a 24-yarder into the easterly breeze. With 2:44 remaining in the half, his kick from the 40 yard line easily cleared the goal post crossbar.

Both the field goals were set up by pass interceptions. In fact, it was Ellis who stole the ball the first time, ending Bowie's first possession of the ball. He returned the catch from his own 23 to the Hare's 49.

The Hawks drove to Bowie's 11 yard line, and needing five yards on fourth down, opted to call on Ellis for the field goal.

A Bowie pass was tipped into the air and snatched by Jayson Houston, who returned it to the Jackrabbits' 38. But an illegal block on the play put the ball back on the 48.

A couple of runs by Tony Lozipone followed by a pass from Lozipone to Michael Frazier picked up a first down. But three plays later, and needing three for another first, Ellis booted his 50-yarder to send the Hawks to the dressing room with a 6-0 halftime lead.

But the third quarter was virtually all Bowie's. The Jackrabbits controlled the ball, as Iowa Park was able to get off only eight plays. Besides picking up 43 yards on 12 rushing plays, Bowie racked up 91 of its 117 total passing yards on two long plays. One of those passes was a 42-yarder for the first touchdown, and the other, good for 49 yards, set up the other TD.

The Hawks, during the third period, had two big plays that gave their loyal fans heart. The first was Lozipone's breaking through the line to block Bowie's extra point kick attempt after the first TD. Matt Bowden picked up the loose ball and rambled to Bowie's 35 before being tackled, and denied a score for himself.

The other play was a 22-yard run by Lozipone that would have been good for a first down, but was nullified by a five-yard motion penalty. Two plays later, he was forced to punt.

And four plays after that punt, Bowie scored the game's decisive points. The four-play drive was highlighted by a screen pass that covered 49 yards, and put the ball on Iowa Park's two yard line.

Midway in the fourth quarter, Bowie missed a 36-yard field goal attempt, and later fumbled on Iowa Park's 35, where, with 3:00 remaining in the game, Hawk line-backer Bowie Farr claimed it.

Lozipone hit Byrd for six yards, he fumbled, but Jason Maxwell covered it. But, Iowa Park drew a 10-yard holding penalty on the play, taking the ball back to Bowie's 30. Four plays later, the Jackrabbits took over at the 35 on downs, and ran out the remaining minute on the time clock.

Throughout the game, the Hawks had their hands full of Bowie junior Jered Clark. Besides carrying the ball 30 times for 137 yards, and catching that screen pass that went for 49 yards and set up his two-yard touchdown, he also was credited with Bowie's lone pass interception.

Byrd was Iowa Park's leading rusher, carrying 10 times for 49 yards. Ellis and Lozipone each carried 11 times, and gained a net 22 and 12 yards, respectively.

Lozipone connected on three of his first four pass attempts during the first half, hitting Byrd for 15, Brent Brown for five and Frazier for four. His lone completion in the second half was an eight-yarder to Tim Denton.

Crossword puzzle produced over long distance telephone

When it comes to word wrangling, these two Abilene Christian Univ. graduates have crosswords tied and branded.

Charley, class of 1973, and Guy Orbison, class of 1971, published the first Original Texas Crossword puzzle in 1992 and it has already become a favorite across the state.

"We've had a really good response," said Guy, pulpit minister for the Durango Church of Christ in Durango, Colo. "One paper dropped the puzzle and had to bring it back because people complained."

Today the Original Texas Crossword is published in 51 newspapers across the state, including the Iowa Park Leader, sponsored by State National Bank.

"It's been exciting and a lot of fun to see this grow," Guy said. "It's sort of like a child. We've nurtured it and watched it from infancy."

But in the beginning, the two ACU alumni weren't sure the puzzle would survive. "We both liked crosswords and just toyed with the idea at first,"

Guy said. "We were flying blind in knowing how to market it."

But the Orbisons, who both have media experience, jumped in the saddle and sent more than 400 direct mail pieces to newspapers across the state. The project left the corral at a gallop.

Now each month, Charley, a professor of radio and television at Texas Woman's Univ. in Denton, fills 51 manila envelopes with four or five laser-printed puzzles each and mails them to Texas newspapers, including the Abilene Reporter News.

The puzzle is popular with weekly and daily newspapers. The dailies usually publish the puzzle on Sunday. "This gives people something to look forward to," Guy said.

"It's wonderful. Everybody loves it," said Candice Lynch, business manager at the Dublin Citizen. "We run it 50 weeks a year, and those two weeks we don't print (the Original Texas Crossword), we have people call and ask us to send them those puzzles."

In Waco, "people take the paper on account of it," said Beverly Foster, office manager of the Waco Citizen.

"The concept is to provide fun for Texans who are notoriously proud of their state -- and that includes us," said Charley. "The shape of the puzzle tells readers this puzzle is for and about Texans."

Everybody loves the shape of the puzzle. A black silhouette of the state is the backdrop to the crossword boxes. "Texas is so unique," Guy said. "We have a lot of fun promoting the puzzle. We are both Texans to the core."

The brothers, whose partnership officially is called Orbison Bros., work together on each puzzle, even though they are separated by many miles. Maybe it even works out better that way.

"If someone had said we'd form a partnership, we'd have laughed at them," Guy said.

"When we were growing up, we competed in everything," Charley explained. "For us to actually work together on something is pretty amazing, but we're a good blend."

The Original Texas Crossword has been more work than either of them imagined. And each said neither of them could produce the puzzle alone.

Charley tracks Texas news and sports. He clips articles from the major Texas newspapers and inputs words into the database that he and Guy share through computer disk and modem. The database currently holds more than 70,000 history, sports and current events entries.

Guy chooses from those entries to fill the little boxes of each Texas-shaped puzzle. He uses reference books and newspaper articles to create clues.

"We try to make every puzzle workable," Guy said. "The puzzle is visually inviting and educational -- that tends to draw people."

Guy sends his crossword and clue ideas to Charley, who constructs the puzzle and proofreads it. Guy and Charley proofread the puzzle twice more before the puzzle is mailed.

"Three proofings are necessary to keep it accurate," Guy said.

"One thing we emphasize is that this is a puzzle for everyone -- not just people who usually work crosswords," Charley said.

The newspapers that subscribe to the Original Texas Crossword know the value of the puzzle's versatility. Many newspapers offer local advertisers the opportunity to sponsor the puzzle each week.

"We've seen some excellent ads," Guy said. "Some offer a free Coke to whomever completes the puzzle and brings it in."

"We have a sponsor for the puzzle right now, and I don't think we'll ever have any trouble keeping it sponsored. It's really popular around here," said Karen Wright, editor of the Dublin Citizen.

In Boerne, advertisers who aren't the sponsors of the puzzle request that their ads be placed near it, said Daniel Zenner, ad director for the Boerne Star.

"The puzzle promotes good readership. Our competitor has a crossword, but it's not the Original Texas Crossword," Zenner boasted.

The Orbison brothers, cousins of the late famous singer Roy Orbison, recall one woman in Littlefield who told them that people sit around the coffee shop and argue about the correct answers.

And a woman in DeSoto wrote to say "I only have one problem, now I have a new addiction -- the Texas Crossword."

Probably the best Texas tale is from Dublin, where business owner and mother, Ann Keese, locks herself in the bathroom every week and works on the crossword in the bathtub.

"She's about a year behind on the puzzles, but she doesn't care! She refuses to cheat," Wright laughed. "She keeps them all in a huge notebook and she's determined to finish them all some day."

And Keese's excitement is spreading across the Texas border.

When Guy was a guest preacher at the Teton Family Encampment in Wyoming, a man asked him if he was the Guy Orbison who created the Original Texas Crossword.

"It's getting outside of Texas," Guy said. "People have either seen it while they were passing through, or a friend clipped it and mailed it to them."

With a boost of confidence like that, the brothers couldn't help but wonder if a market existed for a special club for their word-happy fans. They decided to form the Texas Crossword Club, which offers four extra puzzles and a newsletter each month to its members.

The Orbisons' parents, Sue and Guy, Sr., a retired preacher who still preaches in Megargel, tend to the mail received by the club.

"The Megargel post office loves the crossword club items to come through, because they get mail that way," Guy said of the small Archer County town.

"We wanted to have the club for those who wanted to work more crosswords or who live in a town that doesn't publish the puzzle in the newspaper," Charley said.

Guy said many of the $24 annual memberships in the club have been given as gifts for birthdays, anniversaries and other holidays.

The brothers market the club through word-of-mouth and have recently made themselves available to civic groups who are looking for interesting program speakers.

And the Orbisons are interesting! Charley, 43, was a member of the Trojans social club who earned a B.A. in journalism from ACU, and a master's in radio-television-film from the University of North Texas in 1975. He worked 11 years as a radio and television reporter, and taught radio-television at West Texas A&M Univ. in Canyon. He has a son, Tyler, 15.

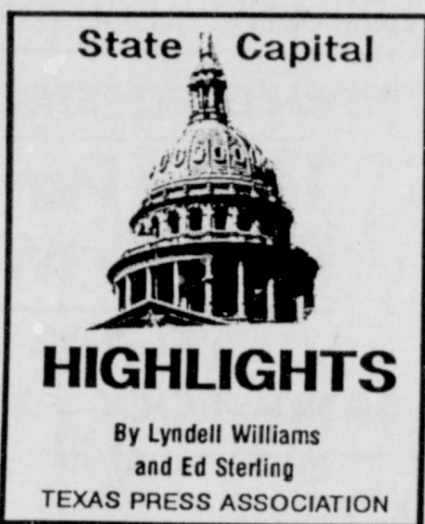

Guy earned a bachelor's, master's and master's of divinity from ACU and was a charter member of Gamma Sigma Phi. He served as pulpit minister in Texas 19 years, mostly in Brownsville and Clyde. For five years he served as publisher and editor of the Valley-Wide Christian, a publication he created. He served on the staff of the Rocky Mountain Christian newspaper and writes a weekly column for the Durango Herald.

Guy and his wife, Mary, class of 1971, have three children, Mikie, an ACU sophomore; Gabrielle, a high school senior, and Joshua, 13.

"Our last two kids will be at ACU soon -- if the puzzle does well," Guy joked.

The Orbison Bros. plan to continue producing their Original Texas Crossword puzzle and promoting their crossword club. They enjoy it.

"Just to do something that people enjoy that much is really rewarding," Charley said.

AUSTIN — Three former Texas Agriculture Department officials were found guilty last week by a federal grand jury on charges of conspiracy and bribery in a scheme to trade public funds for the solicitation of campaign funds.

The defendants were aides of former agriculture commissioner Jim Hightower, who was defeated in his 1990 re-election bid. According to testimony, former deputy agriculture commissioner Mike Moeller, his assistant Peter Thomas McRae and division chief Billie Quicksall hired consultants with public money to travel the state soliciting political contributions for Hightower's campaign.

Moeller was found guilty on a charge of conspiracy and six other counts of misappropriating or theft of public funds. McRae was found guilty on five counts and Quicksall was found guilty on four counts. The three face 36 to 48 months in prison and fines under federal sentencing guidelines. A sentencing date of Nov. 19 has been set.

Jurors heard how $173,000 in public funds was misspent. The bulk of the money was said to go to consultants Bob Boyd and Russell Koontz, both retired long-time agriculture department employees.

Agribusiness owners whose livelihoods are regulated by the agriculture department testified that Boyd and Koontz pressured them for campaign contributions during business trips. Boyd and Koontz were excused from the trial because they suffer from ill health.

Hightower said he returned all of the improperly raised campaign donations after reading a 1990 report in The Dallas Morning News concerning the actions of the consultants.

Hightower was not accused of any wrongdoing, but Assistant U.S. Attorney Dan Mills said charges against the former commissioner could emerge as a result of the verdict. Mills suggested the defendants might come forward with more information because they are facing a prison sentence.

Moeller's attorney, William Allison, said his client would appeal the verdict.

Schools and Income Tax

A state personal income tax is part of the solution to Texas' public school funding troubles, a Texas Association of School Boards official testified last week in an education finance trial.

Billy Walker, TASB executive director, testified that equity in school funding will occur only when the state comes up with a better tax system.

"A personal income tax is part of that solution," Walker told state District Judge Scott McCown, presiding judge in the nine-year-old school finance case.

"You must solve the state revenue problems before you can solve your school finance problem," Walker said. "If the state does not solve the revenue problem, then the school finance problem may well be insoluble."

Walker's comments came in response to a question by McCown, who asked the school finance expert how he would improve the education funding system. Walker said he and the association have no position on whether the school finance law is constitutional. But whatever system is used, he said, there must be more money for education.

Professor Calls Plan Fair
In later testimony, a New York University professor said Texas would have one of the most equitable school funding systems in the nation under its new education finance law.

Robert Berne, associate dean and professor of public administration at the university, was called to testify by state attorneys defending the law against challenges by property-rich and property-poor school districts.

"I think if it plays out the way we've anticipated, it will produce a system that is the most equitable in the country," Berne said.

Local graduate a published poet

By MYRNA SMITH

George Bernard Shaw said, "The man who writes about himself and his own time is the only man who writes about all people and about all times."

According to Shaw's theory, Laura J. (Meador) Levell is doing just that.

Laura is using experiences of her short lifetime of 28 years as a basis for the prose and poetic verse she puts on paper.

Laura wrote her first and second poems while a student in Iowa Park High School and both have been published. The first poem Laura ever wrote, "The Fence", was published last year, almost 10 years to the day after she wrote it. It appears in an anthology called, "A Question of Balance".

The second poem she wrote while still in high school was published just recently in Distinguished Poets of America, a treasury of today's poetry compiled by the National Library of Poetry.

The poem, "Where Did We Go Wrong?" also received the Editor's Choice award.

The National Library of Poetry seeks to discover and encourage poets like Laura by sponsoring contests that are open to the public and by publishing poems in widely distributed hardback volumes.

Laura has many other poems she has written through the years. Her favorite subjects and ideas are writing about love and her life experiences.

What young person has not been disappointed in what they think is "true love"?

Her first poem was the dramatic type. Laura said, "As you know, you usually have your 'first love' in high school. 'The Fence' is about that first love and breaking up. The fence represents the 'other' girl."

The second poem of Laura's is about a broken friendship. When she was a senior she began getting serious about religion. "After I became a Christian, I didn't want to do the things I had done before," Laura explained.

"The poem was written about my best friend. I wanted to change my life, so we began drifting apart," Laura said.

One of the verses in the poem reads,

"We'd draw the final line
She'd have her world,
I'd have mine,
The times we had together,
Time could never sever."

Laura said she was encouraged by her English teacher in high school to continue writing poetry. "I have many poems, but most of them are too long to send to the National Library of Poetry." She plans to find a market for her longer poetry.

"You know how people always make New Year's resolutions? Well, I don't always keep all I make, but I made one on New Year's Day in 1992 that I was going to have a poem published before the end of the year. I reached that goal and I was very excited."

One poem she wrote after high school places as one of her favorites. It also is one of the longer ones. After she graduated in 1983, she was working in Wichita Falls. She was especially fond of a young man co-worker. "We were just real good friends", she explained.

Laura did not realize her friend was dealing with so many personal problems. When she got to work one morning she was told he had committed suicide. She expressed her feelings about the tragedy through poetry.

Laura and her husband, Ricky, a 1984 graduate of Holliday High School, are youth pastors at Lakeview Church of God.

As she talks to young people and others about "witnessing" she gleans inspirational thoughts for some of her poetry. "Sometimes when I'm doing my housework, resting, or whatever, rhyming lines just come into my mind," Laura said.

"Most of the poetry I write is simple rhyming. I guess I am just a simple person, but I like to tell a story, one that is touching, serious or comical. I usually take the title for my poems from the last line," Laura commented.

She says Helen Steiner Rice is her favorite poet. At some point Laura would like to write greeting cards.

She added that she has always wanted to study journalism, but has never had the opportunity to do so.

Laura was born in California and moved to Iowa Park with her parents when she was in the second grade. She was raised in the Church of God and her great-grandfather was one of the early pastors of Cash Street Church of God.

"We had pretty much an up and down life while I was growing up," Laura said. "When I was little my parents felt they were called into the ministry, but they did not heed the call."

Her father was a geologist and did surveys for oil companies in the area. He lost an arm and a leg in a construction accident and could only do some type of desk work. Her brother also had a very serious illness.

Laura's parents now live in Tucson, Ariz., and her father is an evangelist. Her brother has been in military service and has been trying his hand at writing poetry.

When Laura and Ricky married he was youth leader at Lakeview Church of God. They later moved to Tucson, where they lived a little more than three years.

Both Laura and Ricky continued to pursue a career in the religious field.

Ricky worked three years with a church in Tucson as a Sunday school teacher and youth pastor. Ricky and Laura took an intensive nine-month study course and he became a licensed pastor.

The couple moved to Fresno, Calif., where they both attended West Coast Christian College. Ricky attended on a basketball scholarship. He majored in vocal and instrumental music, attending full time and Laura attended parttime. She also studied music.

They have two daughters, Victoria, 9, and Kendra, 6.

Laura was a cheerleader in college. "The kids thought that was pretty neat for their mother to be a cheerleader," Laura said.

In Fresno Laura was church secretary and Ricky was interning at the church. "We did a lot of fun things in California," Laura said.

Laura quit writing poetry for a while. But her latent talent was stirred again when she was working for the church. There she composed her first poem since shortly after high school.

"I had started writing a book when we lived in Tucson, but I got so involved with the children and the youth group at the church there wasn't time left to work on the book."

While Ricky and Laura were in Fresno he received a telephone call from Rev. Ole Olds, pastor of Lakeview Church of God, asking them to return to Iowa Park as youth ministers. They accepted and moved here in May 1992.

Ricky also works for Woodco, building windows and frames.

Now, Laura is looking forward to writing more poems and has given some thought to writing a series of children's books.

Her husband is a great supporter of her writings, which is a real encouragement to Laura.

Laura is in charge of skits with a message to be performed by the junior high and high school classes at the church.

She is excited about one she is working on now. "It will make a great

Ricky and Laura Levell

Christmas play if I can get it finished in time," she said. It is about an orphan boy who finally is adopted and picked up on Christmas Day. The plot is almost complete, but she has to dramatize it.

Laura also is in the process of writing a book. She said it is basically a manual for young people.

"I have had no training in theology, but I want to help teenagers avoid some of the pitfalls of growing up. I have had personal experiences that I believe can help young people avoid some of the things I experienced," said Laura.

Title of the manual is appropriately titled, "A Choice for Life."

Chamber plans meeting

The annual membership meeting of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce will be held at 12-noon on Monday, Nov. 15, at the Recreational Activities Center.

Plans for that event, and several others in the coming months, were discussed during Monday's monthly meeting of Chamber directors.

Besides the catered luncheon, all members of the Chamber will cast ballots for a new slate of officers, as well as nominees for directors, at the all-membership meeting.

Though the discussion on the meeting did not include a guest speaker for the luncheon, one has appeared at each of the meetings in recent years.

The newly-elected officers will be installed at the Chamber's annual meeting, which will be held Jan. 8, according to Larry Dutton, president.

Directors voted to again ask the Iowa Park MuleSkinners to cater the meal in January, which would be steak, baked potatoes, salad, rolls and fruit cobbler.

Several residents also are recognized at the annual banquet, for their contributions to the community.

The board also decided to follow the same holiday promotions as were observed last year, including merchants holding drawings for Thanksgiving turkeys and hams for Christmas.

Registering for the turkeys will begin Nov. 1, and the drawings will be held Nov. 17, the week before Thanksgiving. Registrations for the Christmas hams would commence the Friday following Thanksgiving.

Other discussions included the football game between Midwestern State Univ. and McMurry Univ., to be played Oct. 30 in Hawk Stadium, and a reprinted community information booklet being prepared by Bankers Publishing that is to be delivered by the first of November.

Board members also voted to not allow future Whoop-T-Do booths to sell confetti-filled eggs, because of problems experienced during this year's annual event.

Schlaud earns scholarship

Iowa Park High School senior Chris Schlaud is one of four state-wide winners of the "Chief Auto Parts Outstanding Vocational Student Awards," in which 418 Texas school competed this year.

He received a $500 scholarship, along with a commemorative plaque from Chief Auto.

In addition, Schlaud also received an expense-paid trip over last weekend to Ennis, where the Chief Nationals Drag Race was held. That is where Wichita Falls' Eddie Hill was named national drag race winner.

The contest in which Schlaud competed was based on essay questions in which the instructor and student sent their answers.

Schlaud and his automotive instructor, Tim Bartram, were selected to attend the race, where Chris served on the world class McDonald's Restaurants racing team pit crew for drivers Cruz Pedregon and Ed McCullough.

When asked how it felt to win the award, Schlaud replied, "It was an honor to win the award and to be able to represent Iowa Park High School and the automotive department."

NEWS FROM THE HALLS OF THE HAWKS

JUNIOR HIGH

Red Ribbon Week activities planned

The week of Oct. 23-31 has been set aside across the United States as "Red Ribbon Celebration Week." Each year the National Federation of Parents for Drug Free Young and its affiliates encourage people to wear the Red Ribbon during that week to create awareness and show support for drug prevention.

The students at junior high will receive their red ribbon as a bookmark during their library day next week. In addition, each day will have a special emphasis, and students and staff members are encouraged to participate.

Monday, Oct. 25 - Teacher in-service, NO SCHOOL.

Tuesday, Oct. 26 - Hawks Don't Need Drugs and Alcohol to Soar! - (wear Hawk shirts - green day!)

Wednesday, Oct. 27 - IPJH Hawks "Shade Out Drugs!!" - (wear sun shades!)

Thursday, Oct. 28 - Put a Cap on Drugs!! - (wear a cap/hat! Remember, slogans and pictures on caps must follow school dress code just as for shirts, etc.)

Friday, Oct. 29 - Hawks say, "Give Drugs the Boot!" - (wear boots/western attire!)

BRADFORD

Visually Handicapped program given

Tricia Lee, Region IX Education Specialist-Visually Handicapped, presented a program Friday for all third grade students at Bradford Elementary School.

The special program presented by Lee related to a story the students recently had in their reading classes. The story was about a visually impaired person.

Kelly Hill and her seeing eye dog, Vesper, were introduced to the students. Kelly is a senior at Midwestern State University.

Lee had names of the students and their ABC cards done in braille. She brought a brailler to demonstrate to the students how the machine produces braille printing.

In art class, following the program the students took glue and made glue dot names for themselves, simulating braille.

No school Monday

Monday, Oct. 25, has been set aside for teacher in-service, and students will not come to school on that day.

Bradford to observe Red Ribbon Week

Bradford students will join with others in Iowa Park and across the United States in observing "Red Ribbon Celebration Week." Activities during the week are aimed at creating awareness and a show of support for drug prevention.

Activities include one day on which students may wear caps in the building, and another day on which they will wear red ribbons. Then on Friday, the crime fighting dog, McGruff, will present a program for the students.

Quick facts about children of divorce

1. Regression is the most universal reaction of pre-schoolers to divorce. By resuming the behavior of a previous age, the child hopes that returning to a time when he felt better and people treated him better he can survive the pain of divorce.

2. Of all the age groups, the rate of divorce is highest in the age range of 30-44.

3. More men remarry than women.

4. The divorce rate for remarriages is 60 percent compared to 50 percent for the first marriage.

5. The worst time for parents to remarry is when the children are between the ages of 9-15.

How parents can help:

1. The parents should, if at all possible, tell the children together that they plan to separate and divorce. Try to give the children a week or two before the actual separation to adjust to the news.

2. Admit to the children that you, the parents, are sad that you cannot live together happily.

3. After the separation, both parents need to take special care to make time everyday for the children. For the noncustodial parent this can be a phone call to inquire about the child's daily activities.

4. Expressions of love and concern by the parents for the children should be overt and often.

5. Routine and structure in the home should not be abandoned, as such enhances the child's feelings of security. Parents should reassure the children that one parent will have breakfast and dinner with them "just like always", and that there will still be bedtime stories.

6. Keep the lines of communication open and be civil with each other for the children's sake. DO NOT use the child as a messenger between parents, and find your own outlet for your grief and stress due to the divorce. DO NOT tell your children your worries and concerns.

KIDWELL

Teacher of the Week

Lee Ann Bryant, first grade teacher, has been selected as Kidwell's Teacher of the Week.

A native of Electra, Mrs. Bryant received her degree from Midwestern State Univ. She has taught in public school 12 years, 10 of those at Kidwell Elementary.

She and her husband, Russell, have a son, Michael, a seventh grader at McNeil Junior High.

In her spare time, Mrs. Bryant enjoys crafts and reading.

Labels for Education

Kidwell Elementary is in its third year of participation in Campbell's Labels for Education Program, wherein the school may receive a choice of educational tools for turning in labels from various products.

Mrs. Lynette Husted, coordinator for Kidwell's effort, said the school may choose from items such as computer software, tape recorders, even a minivan, depending on the number of labels turned in by students.

It costs the school nothing more than postage to send the labels to the company, she said.

Since beginning the program, only 6,000 labels have been brought in by students. Mrs. Husted said she is hoping for a great response this year.

Parents, grandparents, relatives and friends of Kidwell students are encouraged to save the labels.

Some of the food item labels to save include Campbell's soups, beans, juices and sauces, Mrs. Paul's frozen food, Swanson frozen and canned food, Pepperidge Farm products, Le Menu frozen dinners, and Vlasic products.

Students may turn labels in to their teachers or place them in a large receptacle at the front of the school.

Thanks to Amity Study Club

Kidwell Elementary would like to thank Amity Study Club for their donation of $100 to be used in the SHARK (Super Happy Accelerated Reading Kids) Program.

Coloring Contest

Many Kidwell students entered the Halloween coloring contest sponsored by State National Bank.

Finalists' pictures are on display in the lobby of the bank. Winners will be announced Oct. 29.

HAWK Play

A second grade HAWK (Higher Academic Works and Knowledge) class, Kidwell's gifted and talented program, presented a play Wednesday morning for their parents and kindergarten classes.

Under the direction of the program's teacher, Mrs. Keven Robertson, the cast included Emily Patty, Kristine Jackson, Mandy Collins and Karilea Collins.

Another second grade HAWK class will present a play this morning. Cast members include Hunter Davis, Zane Fulton, Michael Grubbs, Sandi Jordan and Shelly Minderman.

Kindergarten thanks readers

Kidwell's kindergarten classes would like to thank the following individuals from Iowa Park Friendly Door for taking time to come into their classrooms and read to them.

Thanks to Vivian Lilly, Mildred Moore, Margaret Sheets, Gene Rice, Rowena Rice and Ellie Bell.

More senior readers are being sought for the first and second grade classes.

Amelia Bedelia comes to visit

Janet Bowling, Kidwell counselor, will visit the classrooms beginning Friday, dressed as Amelia Bedelia, a storybook character.

She will read Amelia Bedelia books, authored by Peggy Parish, to the students.

No School Monday

There will be no homework given on Monday, because the students won't be there.

Red Ribbon Week

Tuesday through Friday of next week promises a host of activities for the students of Kidwell Elementary.

Oct. 25 through 29 is Red Ribbon Week, and activities contributing to a drug-free message are scheduled each day.

Tuesday

Students will wear red ribbons, provided by the school. The ribbons will be signed by the students and their teachers and sent to Washington D.C. where they will be presented during an annual drug free conference.

Also, the students will sign pledge cards to display in their classrooms.

Wednesday

Each student should wear red clothing on this day. Also, each will sign a "drug free" poster, promising to stay healthy, and receive a "hug coupon." The coupons can be redeemed any time during the day.

Thursday

Thursday will bring the Trooper Bud program, with the DPS robot visiting the school. K1-4 classes and first graders will attend the program from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m., and SPH, K5-7, and second graders will attend 9:30 to 10:30.

Friday

Friday is "Don't Be A Sucker For Drugs" day. All students will receive red suckers donated by Kidwell PTA.

CAMP FIRE NEWS

A bike rodeo for all Iowa Park Campfire clubs will be held Saturday from 9:00 - 11:30 a.m. at Lakeview Church of God. The event will include bicycle safety, obstacle courses, a 2-mile ride, refreshments and song session. Beads will be awarded to each participant.

SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS are an important aspect of retirement planning. One part of deciding when to retire is deciding whether you are better off to take reduced benefits at age 62 or get 100% benefits at age 65. Generally it takes many years for the future value of full benefits begun at 65 to equal the future value of reduced benefits from the age of 62.

Another consideration is that earnings during retirement are limited, depending on your age. If you are under age 65 you may currently earn $7,680; if between 65 and 70, you may earn up to $10,560, without effecting your benefits. Proper planning will help you maximize your social security retirement benefits.

Gov. Richards declares this 'High School Activities Week'

With almost two million Texas high school students in grades two through 12 taking part in University Interscholastic League (UIL) programs, Gov. Ann Richards has declared the week of Oct. 17-24 as Texas High School Activities Week.

"Both academic and extracurricular achievement contribute greatly to the social development and interaction of all high school students," Richards said when announcing the special week.

"Development directly benefits local communities by channeling young people's interests and talents into positive efforts and by instilling them an early sense of civic duty and community pride," the governor added.

This year's event marks the 14th observance of National High School Activities Week, which was developed by the National Federation of State High School Associations as a means to increase the public's awareness of the values and needs of activity programs.

Six special days have been set aside during Activities Week: Oct. 18 has been designated "Officials Day"; Oct. 19, "Speech and Music Day"; Oct. 20, "Youth Health Awareness Day"; Oct. 21, "Be A Good Sport"; Oct. 22, "Coaches Day"; and Oct. 23, "Fund Raising Day."

The UIL is the oldest and largest state high school organization of its type in the world, and is the inspiration for similar groups nationwide.

In its 84th year, the UIL offers programs ranging from picture memory in elementary school, to calculator contests and girls' softball in high school.

Remarkably, one of every two high school seniors in Texas participates in a UIL contest prior to graduation.

In the area of athletics, Texas fields more high school football, baseball, basketball and track and field teams than any other state, and is second highest in volleyball.

An unique aspect of the UIL athletic program is its rebate structure, whereby schools are assisted in defraying expenses at state tournaments and meets. Texas was the first state to institute such a system.

The philosophy of the UIL is and has been to return income earned by school activities to the participating teams.

In addition to the athletic program, the UIL offers the most comprehensive literary and academic competitive program in the nation.

Contests exist in accounting, keyboarding, calculator applications, mathematics, number sense, science, computer science, current issues and events, literary criticism, ready writing, spelling and vocabulary, one-act play, extemporaneous informative and persuasive speaking, poetry interpretation and prose interpretation.

In addition, the League offers activities in fine arts, social studies, math, science, and language arts for students in grades two through eight.

The Interscholastic League Press Conference, another part of the UIL academic program, is an association of junior high and high school newspaper and yearbook staffs.

One of the largest state high school press associations, ILPC, sponsors summer workshops, a spring convention and numerous special-interest seminars. Each is designed to raise ethical, professional and mechanical standards of junior high and high school journalism.

The Texas high school music program is the envy of the nation.

The Prescribed Music List is used by more than 30 states and seven foreign nations as a guide for music competition.

Recent figures indicate that 351,712 students participate in UIL music activities, including 84,000 in marching band, 120,720 in concert and sightreading, and 73,477 in solo-ensemble competition.

In addition, 52,465 high school students participate in choir and 21,050 in orchestra contests.

Finally, the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation was founded in 1958 to furnish UIL Academic State Meet participants with scholarships to attend colleges and universities in Texas.

Since its inception, the Foundation has provided over $8.5 million to approximately 8,300 students through scholarships funded by grants and donations from foundations and individuals.

From young elementary students to the parents, administrators, teachers, coaches and officials who determine the course of education in Texas, the UIL positively affects the lives of millions of Texans each year.

Texas High School Activities Week is a time to recognize these individuals who participate throughout the year in the various UIL activities.

McJilton explained that because new local dialing prefixes that resemble area codes will be created to make new phone numbers available to meet the growth in the 817 area, the dialing of the 817 code will become a requirement in January.

"The new prefixes will have an '0' or a '1' as a middle digit, as do area codes. Local number prefixes in the area do not have such a configuration at this time," he said.

"We'll put out additional information through the news media, in bill messages and letters to long distance companies and cellular telephone vendors about the change," added McJilton. "In many cases telephone equipment will have to be reprogrammed to enable the new dialing arrangement."

Long distance dialing to require more digits

The first phase of Southwestern Bell Telephone's plan to meet the growing need for new phone numbers in the 817 area code non-metro area has begun.

All telephone numbers in the 817 area code now may be dialed "1+817+seven digit number" or "0+817+seven digit number" on long distance calls within the 817 area.

Bob McJilton, area manager, explained that in the past customers in the non-metro area of 817 did not have to dial the area code for long distance calls within 817.

"However, we are now encouraging our customers to start dialing the area code, while it is still optional, to ease them into the process," said McJilton.

"When the dialing change becomes mandatory in January, a recording will notify customers who have not dialed the area code that the call cannot be completed. Customers also are encouraged to reprogram automatic or speed dialing equipment at this time.

"We are developing a new dialing plan as we near the point where we will be running out of new phone numbers in the 817 area. This step is just a measure to keep up with growth without creating a new area code," said the area manager.

The Junior High game at Breckenridge was called off just a few hours before the teams were to play Tuesday, apparently because of bad weather or field conditions.

ss ss ss ss ss

Friday's varsity game between Iowa Park and Breckenridge is almost a tossup, according to JBC Pigskin Prep. The Buckaroos, with a 125.18 power rating, is a one-point favorite over the Hawks, even though they have a power rating of 127.03.

Lady Hawks place 4th

The Lady Hawks' golf team continued to score well against major competition, with a strong, fourth-place finish out of a field of 15 schools in Tuesday's Pepsi-Boswell Girls' Golf Tournament.

The event was played on the Eagle Mountain Lake Country Club.

The fourth-place finish was especially significant, because the competition was mostly larger schools and play was over a tough, championship course.

Representing the Lady Hawks were Kari Bauer, Kacey Gray, Sarah Kennedy, Brianna Stalker, Tiffany Phillips and Christy Matthews.

Bauer was team medalist. The team's next competition will be Feb. 21 at Bowie, in the Top of Lakes Girls' Tournament.

This is the third year girls' golf has been in Iowa Park High's athletic program.

Robert Palmer, the coach, said the program is well ahead of his schedule to eventually field a team that can consistently teach a large number of ladies to play the game, and at the same time be a state playoff caliber team.

Twenty four players have signed up for the 1993-94 season. A varsity and junior varsity team will be fielded.

Graham's returning state playoff team is the Dist. 4-AAA favorite, with the Lady Hawks expected to be a strong second. First and second place teams qualify for the regional tournament.

Top teams finishing at Boswell were:

1. Richland Hills HS 397
2. Burkburnett HS 414
3. L.D. Bell HS 445
4. Iowa Park HS 462
5. Arlington Martin HS 471
6. Northwest HS 518
7. Grand Prairie HS 550
8. Haltom HS 551

Other teams competing included Trinity 1 and 2, Boswell 1 and 2, Duncanville, Trimble Tech and Lexington Academy.

Former coach a champ

Bill Carter, the man who guided Iowa Park High's track team to the state championship in 1960 and second place the following year, is still involved in the sport.

In fact, he's a three-time pentathlon champion in his age group, according to an Aug. 26 issue of the Marlow (Okla.) Review.

The article stated: "Bill Carter continues to put Marlow athletics on the map nationally.

"Last weekend, Carter, who is 70, captured his third national pentathlon championship in his age group. He picked up his most recent trophy at the National Masters USA Track & Field Championships held in Provo, Utah on the campus of Brigham Young University.

"The now three time All-American, also won the pentathlon competition in 1989 and again last year in 1992.

"Carter finished first in three of the five events, and second in the other two. He finished first overall with 3,278 points.

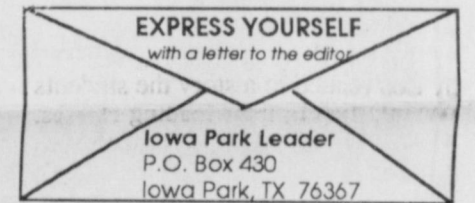

"Carter won the discus with a toss of 127'8", finished first in the javelin with a throw of 114'8" (his best ever), first in the 1500 meter run in 6:30, was second in the 200 meter dash, and second in the long jump.

"A French guy beat me in the 200 and long jump," Carter said upon his return this week. "I just couldn't push myself any harder on my leg. That's not an excuse, I still beat him over all."

"The 1993 track & field championships was the fifth such competition for the ageless Marlow athlete to compete in."

At Tuesday's weekly meeting of the Iowa Park Lions Club, members voted to honor Carter at next spring's running of the Iowa Park Lions Club Hawk Relays, which the organization sponsors, with a special plaque.

The date for the meet has not yet been set.
