To Local Church Men COMMERCE —

Empty pews and empty lives are the main weaknesses of modern life, according to Judge Paul Donald, Bowie attorney. This statement was heard by members of the city-wide Men's Brotherhood of Iowa Park when they met at the First Presbyterian church, Monday evening. He suggested as a remedy for these conditions that the men give a tenth of their income and a seventh of their time to the work of building stronger churches.

During the busines session of the organization, presided over by Locke Lowrance, a nominating committee was appointed. The committee includes representatives from each of the participating churches and is composed of R. R. Brubaker, V. A. Wilson, Bill Sawyer and C. E.

The committee will report at the ext meeting of the brotherhood. Attendance of the members was exceptionally high this week, and all expressed appreciation for the uest speaker and the hospitality f the host church.

Said Mr. A: "Where's your Chamber of Commerce?"

"Chamber of Commerce" said Mr. O in a bewildered sort of way. 'Well, let me see now." He searched his sparse hair with his fingertips. "We don't have one of those things, but if it's information you want you could see Lem, he's a member of the Lions club, or maybe-Henry over there, he knows the town pretty well. Ought to, lived here all his life."

Well, maybe that could happen in Iowa Park, but we hope not. We believe that there are people who are pretty proud of the fact that Iowa Park shows its progressiveness by supporting a Chamber of Commerce

One of the things that impressed the manager at the Dallas Chamber of Commerce Institute was the suprise of other managers on hearing that a town the size of Iowa Park had such an organization. They were genuinely astonished at the size of the membership and almost skeptical at the size of the budget with that size membership. Some of them were downright envious at the very excellent co-or maybe because it is is so large, Park. There was a time when Dal-Park, and Houston was just a wide place in the road, and Fort Worth was a cow trail and Wichita Falls was just a falls.

And we'll bet you a cooky (Oh no, we can't do that-we haven't a cooky). Anyway, we feel reasonably sure that these towns' real progress started with the organization of the chamber of commerce. Because when thoughtful, progressive, civicminded men band together to promote their town, there is always

Each man, though thinking of his own business, thinks also of the advantages that combined efforts will bring to all. And the things that bring benefit to the town at large, will most surely bring benefit in one way or another to you.

The '51ers will be seeing each other quite often in the future. Saturday morning we will march to the high school building and see many familiar faces and a few new ones. We will work out our schedule, get our books, and march back down the hill to wait for the real big day, Tuesday, when we meet our old and new teachers and start studying. Doesn't that sound

The '51ers have quite a bit to do to get started off. For one-we have to elect our class officers and get things ready for the fair. M. & G. Oil Company

You're not going to pay more to buy from us ... and we don't blame you

So, to get your business, we're going to try to supply you with all the petroleum products you need and with the best petroleum products we can make, at prices that are no higher than those of other companies. Every other oil company in the industry is trying to do the same. They are our competitors; we are theirs.

We compete in the search for oil, so that we can be in a better position to supply your demands. Our geological and geophysical crews are in the field 365 days a year seeking subsurface reservoirs which may contain oil. So are the crews of other oil companies. Sometimes we find oil where others couldn't; sometimes they get production where we have failed.

Competition within the industry finds more oil than any other system. We compete in production, and the oil company with the most efficient production and conservation methods has more oil to sell.

And we compete in the manufacture of the petroleum products you use. In our laboratories, and in those of our competitors, some of the world's foremost scientists are working at a never-ending task of improving gasolines and motor oils for your car, and the other petroleum products you use every day; and to discover new oil products which will be equally as useful to you. A good many of these scientists only recently have returned to their peacetime laboratories; during the war, they were on loan to the government for important and secret wartime scientific tasks. You are the beneficiary of this competition within the oil industry.

It assures you the lowest possible price for petroleum products (the increase in the price you pay for gasoline is less than half the increase in the price of food and clothing); it gives you more and better gasolines and motor oils; it gives you improved service at

In Humble's research laboratory at Baytowh refinery, scientists work to improve the petroleum products you use, and to find ways to make new products for you. Humble Esso Extra gasoline was developed in Baytown's research laboratory.
