Vol. 29, No. 41

IOWA PARK, WICHITA COUNTY, TEXAS 76367

Thursday, June 18, 1998

IN THE GOOD OLD SUMMER TIME one of the favorite places to be in Iowa Park is the Bicentennial Swimming Pool

-- especially when the temperatures are regularly above the 95-degree mark.

Armed standoff ends successfully

A tense stand-off situation Saturday just southwest of Iowa Park ended with "definitely the best outcome," said Sgt. David Duke of the Wichita County Sheriff's Dept.

"No officers were hurt, he (the suspect) wasn't harmed," he added.

It easily could have gone the other way in light of the events that transpired during the afternoon.

According to Duke, the Sheriff's Dept. received a 911 call around 2 p.m. from Cathy Arledge reporting that her son, Trinity Lee West, 18, was threatening her and other family members at their home on FM 368 South.

West resides with his grandparents, Bob and Pat Frazier, in a home next door to his mother's.

Duke said West had been outside the home, between that house and the home of his grandparents, firing more than 75 shotgun blasts into his personal vehicle. He then broke into his mother's home, kicking at the door and using the butt of the 12-gauge Savage automatic shotgun he was carrying.

In the home were West's mother, 22-year-old sister, her 4-year-old and 3-week-old infant, and a 14-year-old relative.

Police reports said that when he entered the home, he was carrying the shotgun in a threatening manner, making threats toward his mother. His mother then produced a 9 millimeter handgun, placed the other family members in another room and ordered West to leave the house.

West left the house and went to his grandparent's home next door where, deputies were later told, a large number of firearms and ammunition and a police scanner were kept.

The Frazier's were out of town at the time of the incident.

Sgt. Duke said that as Deputies Greg Dooley and Robert Baker were getting out of their vehicle in the Frazier's driveway, they heard three to five gunshots from the back of the home. Duke said it was unknown if West was firing at the officers, or firing to gain the officers' attention.

Deputies quickly set up a perimeter which encompassed the section of FM 368 South from the intersection of FM 1206 to FM 367. The county Special Response Unit (SWAT team) was also called into action.

Sgt. Duke, the negotiator for the SRU, said the initial contact with West by phone took over an hour to achieve, and when West finally did answer the phone he showed obvious signs of defiance.

Duke said West told him he wanted to die and that he wanted the officers to kill him, something Duke said is called "suicide by cop."

During negotiations West told another officer that he wanted an hour to decide whether he would surrender or "if the police would have to kill him." Contact with West was then lost for 45 minutes.

During that time, electricity to the home was cut off.

West then called back and talked to Duke, telling him he wanted to "go outside and just start shooting." Duke said that during the final conversation, which lasted about 45 minutes, West was full of rage and his mental demeanor was up and down to the point he was depressed.

He told Duke he was angry because of the police presence, and expressed again that he wanted to die.

Negotiations progressed to the point where West agreed to surrender and the terms of surrender were discussed.

Sgt. Duke said that even then the situation was very tense because the possibility was high that there would be an armed confrontation.

When deputies entered the Frazier home to "clear it," several loaded assault rifles, handguns and many more rounds of ammunition were found laid out.

Sgt. Duke said family members told him that they suspect substance abuse and depression may have played a role in the incident.

West is in Wichita County Jail charged with two counts of aggravated assault-family violence, bond set at $25,000 each count; and two counts of endangering a child, $5,000 bond each count.

Trustees have lengthy session

Third time proved to be a charm Monday night when school trustees finally met after having to reschedule their meeting twice due to the Hawk baseball team being in the state playoffs.

Board members faced a mountain of decisions as they tackled the lengthy agenda.

They approved an interlocal agreement with City View, Electra and Holliday ISD's to purchase and operate an off-campus Alternative Education Program facility in Iowa Park.

The other three school districts had already voted affirmatively to participate in the project.

The plan calls for the cooperative to purchase the C&S Service Center building in Iowa Park. It will be staffed with a director and two teachers. Each district will furnish one aide. Students will be bused from their home school districts to the Iowa Park location each school day.

Cost of the building and property is $100,000, and will be divided equally between the four districts. It is estimated that renovation materials will cost $25,000.

Cost of operation for a year is estimated at $130,000, or $32,500 per district plus the cost of a local aide.

Superintendents in the coop will meet today to look at criteria for the director and set up guidelines. The principals will be setting up procedures for administration.

In other action taken Monday night, board members approved an after-school child care program at the Kidwell and Bradford Elementary campuses.

Jo Lynn Cockrum, executive director of the Recreational Activities Center (RAC), told the board that there had been a favorable response to a survey, sent home with students, to determine a need for the program.

At the May board meeting, Leroy Threet, president of the RAC board, said that parents of 75 students at Kidwell and 40 students at Bradford had expressed interest in the service.

A committee composed of Pat Cravens, Steve Moody, LaRae Collins, Michelle Byrnes, Threet and Cockrum was formed to work out details of the program.

Cockrum said there would be about 40 kids in the program on each campus, and their parents would sign a contract with the RAC.

The students will stay in either the gym or cafeteria, possibly both, and the facility would be open until 6 p.m.

There will be an advisory council set up composed of RAC staff, school personnel and private citizens.

Trustees accepted the resignation of five teachers and hired three new ones following a closed session.

Those whose resignations were accepted include: Norene Tillman, high school/junior high assistant band director; Deloris Beard, high school/junior high choir director; Betty Carroll, junior high English/speech and drama teacher; and Jan Parkey Morris and Judy Schneider, both fourth grade teachers at Bradford.

Teachers hired include: Tracy Fry, high school journalism; Joe Duerksen, high school/junior high choir director; and Carol Newton, junior high English.

Wendy Meadows was named Director of Career and Technology for the next school year.

Mrs. Meadows will give up her middle school duties, but continue to perform her high school teaching assignments.

Iowa Park's new police chief, Lynn Collins, spoke to the board about the possibility of having a city/school cooperative and sharing the cost of a certified drug dog.

Supt. Mike Caplinger asked about the feasibility of the city and school district paying a police officer a stipend to have a trained police dog locally to be on call.

Collins said a trained drug dog would cost between $3,000 and $8,000. He said there are "active" and "passive" canines, and suggested a "passive" dog for school use.

Board President Keith Fisher told Collins that the board was interested, and asked him to get cost figures of dog and officer training and bring them back to the next meeting.

Collins recommended that if the school goes with this plan, they should put up signs in the buildings and parking lots saying that cars are subject to search.

He also said that in the future there would be a greater police presence at the schools, with officers visiting the campuses and possibly having lunch in the cafeterias.

In another move to improve security at the high school, the board approved the purchase of four security cameras. If this works well, more cameras can be added in the future.

A five-year vending machine agreement with Southwest Coca Cola Bottling Company was approved.

Total funding by Coca Cola for the five year period will be $245,000. Up-front funding of $110,000 will be divided among the four campuses; $10,000 will go for a new scoreboard at Hawk Stadium; and 5-year guaranteed commissions total $125,000.

The guaranteed commissions

April good for business

The month of April was apparently a good month for business in Iowa Park, according to the sales tax rebate reported by the state comptroller's office.

The City of Iowa Park received a sales tax rebate of $21,535.11 which was based on local sales taxes collected in April and reported by businesses filing monthly tax returns in May.

That was a 20.87-percent increase over the $17,816.37 the city received this same month in 1997.

The check brought to a total of $142,213.57 in tax rebates this far this year. That's up 4.64 percent, according to the report.

School facilities discussed

Michael Marrs, an architect hired by the school district to assist in the study of facility needs, gave his report to members of the school board during a called meeting Tuesday night.

His findings were keyed to handle growth over the next five years. Marrs gave out booklets containing drawings of each campus and the proposed additions, plus cost estimates. He used slides to illustrate his recommendations to the board.

After visiting and studying all the campuses in the district, Marrs recommended that six classrooms be added at Kidwell Elementary, and six classrooms and a computer room be added at Bradford Elementary.

He stressed the need for new kitchens and cafeterias at both campuses. "It's time to do some work - it's time to rework the kitchens," he said.

Marrs also said that Kidwell has the most structural damage of any building, due to drainage around the building. He suggested that money be budgeted to help eliminate the problem.

At the high school, the architect proposed adding 11 classrooms, a computer room, science lab, and enlarging the library.

He felt that day-to-day use of the basement for academics should be eliminated.

Marrs' findings call for a new band hall, five classrooms and a computer room, as well as re-working the library, kitchen, cafeteria areas at the junior high school.

He said that renovations in the library, cafeteria and kitchen area would only be a short-term solution, and suggested building a new structure to house these facilities on the east side of the school.

Trustees said they needed time to digest the information and look at a time line for a bond issue.

They asked Marrs to look at a few other trouble spots on the campuses, and they would schedule another meeting in the near future.

NEWS BRIEFS

Leader to print early next week

Next week's issue of the Iowa Park Leader will be printed one day early, thus moving all deadlines back for advertising and stories by one day.

Printing a day early will be necessary to allow most of the staff to attend the summer convention of the Texas Press Association, which will begin Thursday in San Antonio.

The June 25 issue will be printed on Tuesday evening, and distributed by mail to subscribers on Wednesday, rather than the customary Thursday.

Deadline for display advertising (with a border) will be 4 p.m. Monday, and classified advertising will be accepted until 12-noon Tuesday.

Monday will be the deadline for all club and social news.

The change is effective for next week only, and regular deadlines will be resumed for the July 2 issue.

City's siren problem discussed

Several residents complained of not hearing the storm-warning sirens when a suspected tornado moved over the northwest part of the city last week.

There was a reason: the storm knocked electric service out in portions of the city, making some of the sirens ineffective.

Iowa Park has two new sirens which are backed up by battery power.

And the city council is planning to purchase at least one, or two, more each year until they completely encircle the entire city, according to Mike Price, city administrator.

The sirens at city hall, in Garden Valley Addition and on First Street do not have battery packs, and are rendered inoperable when electric service is knocked out.

Near-inch rainfall last Wednesday

Yards, gardens and farm fields benefitted from a system that produced almost an inch of precipitation

Wednesday night of last week. Virgil Woodfin reported having measured .95 at his home.

GARDENING HINTS

By MARK TERNING, COUNTY AGENT - HORTICULTURE

Q. We just planted a Red Oak in Iowa Park. How can we get this tree to grow faster? We need shade as soon as possible.

A. Most homeowners don't realize that given proper care in terms of watering, fertilization and mulching that you can get even a slower-growing tree to exhibit decent growth rates.

Use a quality slow-release nitrogen lawn food such as 21-7-14 or similar ratio every six to eight weeks on your lawn making an additional pass around your new tree. This regular application of nitrogen will generate new growth.

Use several inches of mulch or compost around the base of the tree extending out several feet. The mulch will help eliminate weeds and keep you from getting too close to the tree with a string trimmer as well as moderating soil temperatures.

Water the new tree regularly and check the soil temperature level making sure that the soil is not over-watered or excessively dry at any time.

During the hottest periods of our summer (July to September), make sure you carefully check watering needs of the new tree and adjust as needed. Given proper care the growth rate of your Red Oak will be greatly increased.

Helpful Facts

The city's Board of Adjustments meetings are at 6:15 p.m. on Mondays when there is an agenda, in Council Chambers, 103 North Wall. Public notices for all Board of Adjustments meetings are published two weeks in the Iowa Park Leader, and are open to the public.

Q. My wife and I planted about 20 tomato plants this spring in our Iowa Park garden. We have carefully watered and fertilized and caged the plants. Our problem now is that the fruit that is on some of the plants is turning brown on the bottom. Over the past week, we have noticed that none of the plants are holding their blooms. What can we do to get quality tomatoes?

A. Even the best cared for tomato plants are having a difficult time retaining blooms and setting fruit. This is directly related to excessively hot conditions. Any time the daytime temperature exceeds 90 degrees with the nighttime temperature above 70 degrees, tomato plants will abort blooms and fail to properly set fruit. Hopefully, more moderate temperatures will allow the plants to produce tomatoes.

You might want to try one of the hormone type sprays like BloomSet which can help plants set fruit when temperatures are not cooperative.

The brown areas on the bottom of some of your tomato fruit is called blossom end rot. Blossom end rot is caused by soil moisture fluctuations (going from wet to dry). It is also related to calcium deficiencies. Your best bet for reducing the problem is to use several inches of mulch around each tomato plant and keep the soil evenly moist.

Avoid letting the plants get extremely dry prior to watering. Container grown tomatoes are very susceptible to blossom end rot because containers have the tendency to dry out so rapidly between waterings.

As I See It... By Bob Hamilton

Of course I'm disappointed in the outcome of the Hawks' loss to Dripping Springs last Thursday, but I'm more disappointed in the facilities the University Interscholastic League finds for such games.

I'm of the opinion that when a team of athletes reaches the ultimate goal of a state athletic championship level, better facilities than Austin Reagan High's field should be used.

Having followed the '93 Hawks to Austin when they played at the same field, I was apprehensive about the facilities. But I had hopes they had been improved.

They hadn't.

Surely there's a field available in a city like Austin where the stadium seating extends farther than 15 feet down the third base line, and people don't have to sit on a grassy slope to see a game.

Surely a little more planning can arrange to have more than three workers in a concession stand when a double header is being played under hot conditions.

Surely there's an outfield in our state capitol city that doesn't have a four-foot slope leading up to the wall.

These problems don't exist if your team makes it into the second day's championship game. That one is played on the same field the two larger classifications use -- TU's Disch-Falk Field, an outstanding facility.

Oh well, I'm still proud of our high school's baseball team for having such a fine season. They're a great bunch of athletes.

I've gotta set the record straight. I didn't even think about it last week.

No, the newly-named chief of the Iowa Park Police Department is not my son-in-law, though the two share the same last name, and both are law enforcement officers.

Lynn Collins is the new chief. Joe Tom Collins is my son-in-law. And no, they're not related.

Joe Tom, who was raised at Kamay and graduated Iowa Park High, is on the Wichita Falls PD.

In our story last week about the city council's action, it was mentioned that the council's vote was unanimous.

I couldn't have voted to name my son-in-law as the chief. It would have been neither appropriate nor legal.

Now I hope people won't ask me about how my son-in-law likes his new position.

Fireworks on council agenda

People wishing to set off fireworks during the July 4th period will be allowed to "do their thing" at Lake Iowa Park.

The council is to act on a resolution at its meeting Monday night, designating the lake area as the only place within the city limits where fireworks are allowed.

supplemental fire protection by the Iowa Park Volunteer Fire Dept.

City Administrator Mike Price is to ask permission to advertise for sale several parcels of surplus property.

A discussion also is on the agenda concerning a sewer system lift station project on Bell Road.

Monday's meeting is to get underway at 7 p.m. in council chambers.

The council held a work-study session this past Monday, and more are planned on Mondays when regular business meetings are not scheduled. Like regular meetings, those also are open to the general public.

The resolution covers a limited time frame, however: June 24 through July 5.

Another resolution to be considered during the meeting, if approved, would authorize the mayor to execute an agreement with Allred Correction Facility to provide

Fathers Day remembrance

Dear Mr. Hamilton,

As the time draws near to the Father's Day, I would like to acknowledge that best earthly Father I have known. He shared so much love to his children. He believed in discipline; but he was more inclined to dislike an act, rather than the child that committed the act.

He liked having strangers into his home and made them new friends. Taking the airmen to the lake or to the golf course was a joy he shared. One of his greatest contributions was the visiting of shut-ins. Many times he was younger, therefore, he went as a "son". His response to praise these visits was always "I get more out of it than they do". So many people in hospitals nowadays have roommates, and he always included the strangers in his caring.

He was an only child; sired four. He was very active with the young people in 4-H work. He bothered to learn what the Extension Service and County Agents had to teach. Where the youngsters were raising a garden, chickens, or a calf, he kept abreast of the facts. He helped them produce the best. He never asked the children to perform anything that he wasn't willing to help. He also knew when to "back off" when they needed to stand alone.

He was a faithful board member of the Methodist Church. As a Sunday School Teacher, youth group leader and counselor, he influenced many.

This wonderful father deserved loads of love and respect. He was the Father of four 4 children and 9 grandchildren; my husband of 57 years, Roy Childers.

Police after drinkers

Apparently the summer heat was getting to a lot of people around Iowa Park during this past week, and they are using alcohol for relief.

Iowa Park police made five alcohol-related arrests during that period, four for public intoxication and one for driving while intoxicated.

The first was Wednesday afternoon of last week, when an officer picked up Harry Lee Skinner, Jr., 33, in the 100 block of West Garden, and charged him with public intoxication. He was released about four hours later, after signing a promise to appear in municipal court.

Michael David VanKirk, 40, was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated, when his vehicle was stopped at 10:10 p.m. Thursday in the 1000 block of South Wall. He was transported to the county jail, according to the police blotter.

Eugene Jackson Turner, 55, was taken into custody at 10:01 p.m. Friday in the 1400 block of West Highway, and charged with public intoxication. He was released at 3:48 a.m. Saturday after signing a promise to appear in municipal court.

At 2:10 a.m. Saturday, Monty Keith Britt, 17, was taken into custody in the 600 block of Pasadena and charged with public intoxication. After promising to appear in municipal court, he was released at 11 a.m.

Howard Joseph Chevis, 44, was charged with public intoxication following his arrest at 9:29 p.m. Saturday at Emma and Service Road. He was released at 12:58 a.m. Sunday after promising to appear in court.

Police charged Christopher Earle Williams, 17, with possession of marijuana, under two ounces, when he was stopped at 11:20 p.m. Sunday at Yosemite and Lafayette.

Williams was transported to the county jail at 3:52 a.m. Monday.

Police are waiting for an individual who reportedly resides in Holliday to ask for the return of his pickup truck.

The truck was impounded Thursday when officers located it parked, and found numerous items which had been reportedly stolen in two different theft cases.

The items included a CB radio, antenna, cellular phone, radar detector and two-wheel dolly.

Police also are investigating the reported theft of keys from a vehicle that was parked Tuesday night in the 400 block of East Valley.

Two female juveniles were taken into custody last Wednesday afternoon, when police were called to a disturbance in the 600 block of South Park.

The girls, ages 14 and 16, were turned over to relatives, and issued citations.

Girls' team headed to national tourney

The 5th Grade Lady Tornados, comprised of Iowa Parkans, has qualified to play in the National Basketball Tournament July 13-16 in Dallas.

To supplement donations from businesses and individuals, the team will be holding two fund-raising projects: selling snowcones Friday night at Red River Speedway, and a carwash and bake sale Saturday at Wal-Mart.

Players include Kathy Bartow, Melissa Bartram, Lacy Billington, Lara Clapp, Leslie Cook, Ashley Davis, Stephanie Forsythe, Shanna McCray, Lexie Nolen and Jennifer Swanner.

Coaches are Tim Bartram, Keith Dyer, Bob Evans and Jeff Nolen.

NEWS OF THE IOWA PARK GENEALOGICAL & HISTORICAL SOCIETY

It really isn't easy to sift information from the past in genealogy.

As we gather data about our families and ancestors, we look at all the evidence. There are times we draw the incorrect conclusions, because we don't know how to weigh evidence or how to resolve the frequent occurrence of conflicting evidence.

Just because we get the same information from several family members, it may be and probably is material copied from the same source which may be correct but often there are errors in dates and relationships.

Genealogists generally use the following guidance. (1) Source - the means by which information comes to a researcher. (2) Evidence - the physical form in which information is presented. (3) Proof - refers to documents used as evidence for many lineage society applications, but actually is the name for a process that takes place in the mind, not for the evidence on which it is based.

After the information is gathered go over it carefully and sort into two groups. (1) Primary evidence or sources. Usually written records; the earliest or first documents that were recorded or created at or near the time of the event. (2) Secondary evidence or source can be thought of as being second hand information that has come from some other person or record.

Get as close to the primary records and original documents as you can. Keep in mind that they may contain errors. Birth and death certificates are only as accurate as the person giving or taking the information is in knowledge and care. Don't blindly accept information you may find in a book, CD, or on the internet.

Thomas W. Jones, a noted genealogist suggests the following guidelines; test each item of evidence with the following four "Cs", Closeness (in place and time). Credibility (of the person who made the record). Causality (why record was made). Corroboration (with other evidence).

You will not be able to evaluate information unless you carefully record and cite your sources.

ATTEND CHURCH SUNDAY

*In Loving Memory of Wayland Mills
December 22, 1923 - May 4, 1993*

Dear Lord,

Please tell our loved on in Heaven how much we miss him, and give him all our love. He bade no one a last farewell. He said goodbye to none. The Heavens just opened and a loving voice said "Come." And tho his soul is at rest, and free from care and pain, the world would seem like heaven if we had him back again.

It broke our hearts to lose him but he did not go alone. For part of us went with him, the day God called him home. A precious one from us is gone. A voice we loved is stilled. His empty chair will never be filled. God gave us the strength to face it, the courage to meet the blow. But what it meant to love him, no one will ever know.

We love and miss you, my dear

Your wife, children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren

Pat Lee, of Mesquite, Tx., born Oct. 27, 1949, in Rush Springs, Ok., went home to Heaven June 11, 1998. Pat received her Ultimate Healing and Reward from Jesus, after serving the Lord in ministry with her husband for 23 years. She and Jerry Lee were married June 17, 1967, and have lived in Mesquite, Tx., for 14 years. She is survived by her husband; daughter, Rhonda McDonald and her husband, Ronald, and their children Rebekah and Rayna, and also survived by her son, Christopher, all of Mesquite. Pat is the daughter of Virginia Henson of Holliday, and the daughter-in-law of Gracie Lee of Iowa Park.

The family requests that all memorials be freely given to All Pastors' Wives in you local church, through grateful and appreciative hearts for their faithful labor of Love. The will of God will never lead you to where the Grace of God cannot keep you.

HATSUO K. FLOYD

Completes basic training

Airman Hatsuo K. Floyd has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio.

Floyd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Floyd of Mineral Wells. His wife, Shandi, is the daughter of Gary Hilliard of Iowa Park and Regina McClure of Grafrod.

IOWA PARK POLICE CHIEF Lynn Collins looks on while Vereda Koch of Nortex 9-1-1 presents dispatcher John Hare with a certificate of completion of the TDD/TTY training school.

Iowa Park dispatchers receive training in special equipment

Iowa Park dispatchers are now trained in the proper usage of Telecommunication Device for the Deaf/Teletypewriter (TDD/TTY), should the need ever arise.

A TDD/TTY is equipment that can be used to dial 9-1-1 by citizens with hearing or speech impairments. Iowa Park dispatchers completed the requirements during training sessions hosted by Nortex 9-1-1, along with call takers from Electra, Wichita Falls and Vernon Police Departments and Sheppard Air Force Base Fire Department.

As part of the training Kathy Walters of the ACSEC instructed the dispatchers and call takers on how to recognize the signs of a silent call they might receive on 9-1-1. Walters explained that while TDD/TTY callers are not required to strike keys on their keyboards to announce their calls, it is helpful to the 9-1-1 dispatcher if they will.

TDD/TTY equipment, such as that set up at the Iowa Park Police Dept., was set up in the training room for practical experience during the sessions.

will be paid monthly, August through May, to the group or organization the vending machine is assigned to.

As part of the agreement, all wholesale products to be sold through the school district or affiliated groups must be purchased from Southwest Coca-Cola. For the next five years, Southwest Coca-Cola has exclusive rights for carbonated beverages, non-carbonated beverages, fruit juice, fruit punches and ades, isotonic beverages, frozen carbonated beverages, juice concentrate, and vended snacks.

Powerade is to be the "official sports drink" of Iowa Park schools, with Powerade cups and coolers on the sidelines.

Trustees voted to accept Tina Cusey's bid of $2,608.08 for two lots the school district obtained through non-payment of taxes. Tami Witherspoon was the only other person to bid on the property.

Mary Helen Thames and Ann Norris spoke to the board, during the open forum portion of the meeting, about the lower number of first grade students expected next fall. Thames said she hoped the board was not considering shuffling the first grade teachers around, and would consider hiring another kindergarten teacher.

She suggested letting the seven first grade teachers have a smaller teacher/student ratio in their classrooms and leave them in the grade where they are best capable of working with the students.

Reviewing the summer projects proposed for workers from the local prison, Supt. Caplinger said the inmates will help in painting the halls, classrooms and restrooms, starting at the high school and working through as many buildings as possible.

They will also help with renovation of the restrooms at the football stadium, painting and installing marlite stalls/walls. Work is expected to start within the week.

After board members went over the May, 1998 TAAS scores, Caplinger told them, "It is so refreshing to have scores like this. The kids, teachers, and administrators did a great job." The superintendent said he expected some campuses to be classified as "recognized."

Alan Seay, high school principal, addressed the trustees, and suggested adding a course, "Teen Leadership," to the high school curriculum.

He said the course, to be taught in speech classes, teaches honesty and responsibility. When they began teaching the course at Hamlin High School, where Seay was principal before coming to Iowa Park, he said it played a large part in the attitude of the student body.

Costs would include the reproduction license for a manual, and hiring a teacher certified to teach the course. The board has given its general approval for the course.

Lee Pelz told the board that the school district qualifies for an $88,000 TIF grant, that would be used for networking schools and getting up to date on technology.

Other action, in addition to the regular business and reports, include:

- * a public hearing on Title I, Title IV, and Title VI was conducted by Sharon Powell, business manager;
- * approved the student transfer list for the 1998-99 school year;
- * approved submitting a request to the Texas Education Agency for approval of an innovative course, Diversified Career Preparation, which would take the place of the previously taught course, Multi-Occupational Cooperative Training (MOCT).

- * approved the Credit by Exam dates for 1998-99;

- * adopted Iowa Park CISD Board Policy Up-Date 58;

- * approved a change to Board Policy DEE (Regulation) concerning reimbursement mileage for three-quarter ton or larger trucks;

- * accepted bids on athletic supplies and equipment for 1998-99; and,

- * accepted bids on general maintenance supplies for 1998-99.

Hawks edged out in state semifinal

When you get to Austin, any of the four teams down there are capable of winning it all. What separates one team from another is sometimes talent and other times it's the team that has the ball bounce the right way that comes out on top.

For the Hawks it was the latter of the two that caused Iowa Park to fall in the State Semi-Final game on Thursday at Nelson Field.

Dripping Springs withstood a seventh-inning comeback by the Hawks, then scored the winning run in the bottom of the eighth to prevail 5-4. The winning run scored without a hit, thanks in part to a couple of bad bounces.

The Tigers were the team that started out on fire as their ace right hander Zach Watkins retired the first three batters he faced, all on strikeouts in the top of the first.

In the bottom half of the inning, the Hawks started off a bit shaky. Jason Wells led off with a single back up the middle. Two-hole hitter Aaron Frederickson then tried to bunt him over to second. Pitcher Justin Terry fielded the bunt and as he attempted to throw to first, he slipped on the wet grass causing his throw to sail over the head of the first baseman, putting runners at second and third with no outs. Ron Beauford delivered the game's first run on a sacrifice fly to left. Clean-up hitter Rhett Eickenloff tripled home the second run with a shot over the head of the right fielder to make it 2-0. Iowa Park settled down after that and left Eickenloff stranded at third, after a groundout to the pitcher and a strikeout ended the inning.

The Hawks opened the top of the second with a leadoff single by Jonathan Clubb. Perry Green then reached safely on an error to put runners at first and second with no outs. A passed ball moved the runners to second and third, but two strikeouts and a short fly ball to left ended the threat with no runs crossing the plate.

Terry retired the Tigers in order in the second and third innings to keep the score at 2-0 heading into the fourth inning.

In the top of the fourth inning, Iowa Park cut the lead in half, scoring a run with two outs. After a flyout by Terry to start the inning, Clubb was hit by a pitch and then stole second only to be picked off for the second, out of the inning. Perry Green followed with a walk, then right fielder Scotty Mitchell drilled a triple over the head of the Tigers' right fielder, scoring Green to make it 2-1. Chase Wright flew out to left to end the inning.

In the bottom half of the fourth, Dripping Springs pushed the lead back up to two runs when the Tigers scored with two outs.

With two outs, Eric Frederickson led off with a bunt single, then stole second. He later scored on an error by the shortstop to make it 3-1 after four innings of play.

The Tigers made it 4-1 in the bottom of the sixth inning with the run, scoring after an error and a wild pitch.

With only three outs left in Iowa Park's season, the Hawks showed the true champions that they were.

Chase Wright led off the top of the seventh by reaching on an error by the shortstop. Tyler Pulley followed with a single to right to put runners at first and third with no outs. The next two batters struck out, bringing the Hawks to within one out of ending the season.

Chad Wright kept the inning alive with a single that scored his brother to cut the lead to 4-2. Then Terry delivered the blow of the game, a two-run single back up the middle that tied the game at 4-4.

The momentum had shifted to the Hawks and in the bottom of the seventh, Chase Wright, who came on in relief of Terry in the sixth, retired the Tigers in order with three ground ball outs.

In the top of the eighth, Green flew out to left, Mitchell caught the third baseman off guard and layed down a perfect bunt for a single. The next two batters were retired to end the threat with no damage.

Disaster struck in the bottom of the eighth inning for the Hawks.

Dripping Springs leadoff hitter Beauford struck out, but advanced to first when the catcher failed to catch the third strike. Beauford then stole second. The number four hitter popped out to the shortstop for the first out of the inning, bringing up Kemy McMullen.

McMullen worked the count to 2-2, but the fifth pitch got passed the catcher Kevin Park.

Park was unable to locate the ball and with the runner dashing all the way from second, Beauford scored just ahead of the tag to win the game for the Tigers.

"That was a tough way to lose a ballgame," said dejected head coach David Fuhrman. "I'd just as soon lost 7-0 than to lose one like that. Our kids had battled back in the seventh to tie the game and things looked like they were turning around for us. It was just an unlucky break that's all."

"I know that this is tough on all the kids right now," said Fuhrman. "But I told them that a couple of weeks from now that they will look back on the season and realize what a good year they had. We came a long way from where we were in the middle of the season. We had that losing streak and we overcame that. We battled back against Eastland, we beat number one ranked Aledo, we beat Abilene Wylie and we came back with two outs and almost made it to the State Championship game. That's a great season. I know that they will not look at it like that right now, but after the pain of the loss goes away, they will realize what a year they had. It was a great run. That's the only bad thing about the State Championship. Only one team in the state is going to go out winning their last game."

The Hawks finished the season with a 22-10-1 record.

Iowa Park will have most of the players back from this year's squad, having to replace only three starters, and will have its top three pitchers returning for next season.

SUFFERING IN SILENCE - Michael Swenson silently sheds tears of disappointment, following Thursday's loss of the Hawks to Dripping Springs in the state baseball tournament.

ENTHUSIASTIC SUPPORT is shouted by the young, unidentified Hawk baseball supporter.

Bean receives Region 9 honor

Michael Lee Bean, a former teacher at Bradford Elementary, has been named the 1998 TASSP Outstanding Assistant Principal of the Year for Region Nine.

He was presented with the award June 10 during the general session of the Texas Assoc. of Secondary School Principals at the Austin Convention Center.

Bean was a third grade teacher in Iowa Park until 1996, when he accepted the position of elementary school principal in Paradise.

He was named vice principal at Graham Junior High School in 1997.

His accomplishments at Graham Junior High, which helped Region Nine directors in selecting the TASSP award recipient, have been numerous.

During his tenure at Graham Junior High, Bean has successfully implemented a new discipline school climate program; reduced school disciplinary problem areas by 90 per cent; provided technology training for faculty on a monthly basis; promoted the school through the media; and implemented a new academic booster club for the district, among other things.
