Black's Food Store To Honor Bob Warren

Bob Warren

Saturday, March 19th, is Bob Warren Day at Black's Food Store and the entire store will be turned into a play house. Bob Warren has been courteously and soberly serving his customers from behind the meat counter for the past 48 years, and to his honor this day is dedicated. Refreshments will be served all during the day and many demonstrations of delicious food will be held. Elsewhere in this issue of the Star, Black's invites all to attend and to look over the list of special bargains in grocery purchases.

Bob Warren is not what you call an old man, but he has been a meat cutter in Baird for 48 years. Beginning when he was 14 years old, that was in 1897, he remained in the market each time the business was sold to a new owner. Mr. Warren puts it, "I went with the fixtures." He was born in Baird in a house where Municipal Light Plant is now located. Mr. and Mrs. Than Warren were his parents, and during those times his father was a stage driver.

For about 2½ years Mr. Warren worked for himself, but he preferred to give all his attention to cutting meat than to spending a lot of time running a business, so the major part of his life has been devoted to the work that he liked most. Some of the men he worked for were Berry & Estes, Harry Ebert, Jesse Back, Ed Wristen, McGowan Brothers, Leon & Wylie, Olaf Hollingshead, J. F. Houston, Roy Allen, George Morgan, Glen Boyd and Blacks.

"We had a lot of fun and a lot of trouble and a lot of hard work in those early days. I can remember well when we used to sell the choicest cuts of meat for three pounds for a quarter, and we gave liver, heart, and soup bones away free. Those were rough and rowdy days in Baird, but there was never any trouble. A man's word was his bond. When the boys would get together in the butcher shop after store hours on Saturday night for a stag party with raw hamburger and beer, it was a gay party but no one got drunk.

"A lot of water has run under the bridge since the days when we used to hang beeves out in front of the meat market on Market Street," Mr. Warren told. "Today we must observe the strictest rules of sanitation to preserve our health. We eat differently and live differently, but I do believe Baird people are as fine today as ever and that no better folks can be found anywhere. They have been wonderful to me and my wife and our only child, Mrs. Hubert Ross, and our grandchildren."

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Conley and baby of Vaughn, N. M. arrived Saturday to visit Mrs. Conley's mother, Mrs. J. M. Reynolds, and other relatives.

This old-time photograph was taken in the Wilson Meat Market in 1905, which was located in the building now occupied by The Baird Star. From left to right are pictured J. D. Dallas, Sr., E. C. Fulton, who is one of the town's leading barbers today, Ben Halsted, Dick Price, Bob Warren, who is today celebrating his 48th anniversary of continuous service behind the meat counter, and W. F. (Butch) Wilson, owner.

Bob Warren is shown in this photograph as he is seen by so many Baird people every day, handing a package of meat over the counter to a customer.

Just 'Round About

As we walked up and down the street * * * Words of praise were being uttered all around for the good work that is being done by the water board in bringing about the bond election for the construction of a lake to supply Baird with water. The project is long drawn out and tedious, but gradually and surely the lake is becoming a reality.

The water board, composed of N. A. Waldrop, Roy Gilbreath, W. T. Payne, M. L. Hughes and Ben Russell, has been working with the assistance of Judge F. E. Mitchell and a law firm in Dallas and now the next step is for the citizens of the water district to vote the necessary bonds with which to construct the lake. The election has been called for April 16th. The election of the water board will be held at the same time, and plans will move forward to the final goal to supply the city with plenty of water. Read the election notice in this week's Star. It gives all the details * * * Another movement many Baird folk are interested in seeing come to a successful conclusion is that of paving streets. Harold Ray, president of Callahan County Club, is gathering data at the present time and will soon appoint a committee to carry the project through * * * With the new highway and streets that the already paved, Baird will don a brand new dress. She will lay aside her childish ways when she becomes a grown young lady, and she will command the adoration and respect that is rightfully hers. * * * Gala celebrations will take place in Baird this weekend when Brashear's Food Store observes its 10th Anniversary and Black's celebrate Bob Warren Day. With all the preparation Baird will be in full bloom of festival time and there will be plenty of fun and frolic for all who come * * * J. E. Dennis has opened a new radio repair department at Parson's Electric & Refrigeration Service, coming here from Cross Plains * * * John Bowler has erected a large sign over his lumber yard which reads: "John's Lumber Yard." * * * Some are saying March will go out like a lion, but we will wait and see how the wind blows.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY THURSDAY, MARCH 24th

The Baird Juniors will present their class play, entitled "Bolts and Nuts" on Thursday evening, March 24th, beginning at 7:30 P. M. The play will be given from the stage of the high school auditorium with the entire cast made up of Juniors. Cast of the characters may be seen in the advertisement of the play on another page of this issue of the Star.

"Bolts and Nuts," a farce in three acts, is hilarious entertainment and all who attend will thoroughly enjoy every act. Proceeds derived from admission of 15c and 35c will be used to finance the Junior-Senior Banquet, and everyone is invited to buy tickets and support the cause. The play is being directed by Mrs. Clyde White and Mrs. Hubert Ross, with E. L. Reese as stage director. Each one taking part is working hard to make this the finest play you have seen in years.

"Bolts and Nuts" is arranged to create laughs. When Miss Rebecca Bolt inherits a spooky old mansion from an eccentric brother, she turns it into a sanitarium for patients with nervous diseases, much to the dismay of her niece Benita, whereupon the "nuts" start to pour in and the fun begins in earnest. With Lute Spinks, the man-hating maid who winks when she doesn't intend to; Gertrude Glos-spew, with contagionphobia; Cadwallader Clippy, with catphobia; Primella Figg with claustrophobia, it is simply killing. Some are real nuts and some in disguise.

JURY RULES IN FAVOR OF TROWBRIDGE

A 42nd District Court jury returned a verdict in favor of J. A. Trowbridge, defendant in a suit for damages styled Dan Raymond Pierce, by E. R. Pierce, guardian and next friend vs. J. A. Trowbridge, when the case was tried March 14 and 15.

The case of State of Texas vs. Ted Morrison, assault with intent to murder Tom Jones, has been set for Wednesday, March 23rd. W. E. Martin of Abilene is attorney for Morrison.

CLYDE EXCEEDS QUOTA IN RED CROSS DRIVE

Clyde went over the top in raising their Red Cross drive quota of $350, when the whole town turned out Wednesday to raise $438.77. Chairman H. E. Swofford received and deposited that amount in the First National Bank of Baird. Mr. Swofford stated that the Clyde people are not quitting just because they have exceeded their quota. There will probably be quite a bit more money donated by people who have not yet been contacted by the committee, he said.

COUNTY TEACHERS HOLD MEETING AT BAIRD

The Callahan County Unit of the Texas State Teacher's Association met at Baird High School Thursday night, March 10th, and the following officers for the new year were elected: A. J. McEulin, president; Bailey Johnson, first vice-president; Mr. Shannon, second vice-president; and Mrs. Archie Nichols, secretary-treasurer.

Terrell Trimble, first assistant to State Superintendent Woods, was guest speaker. He was introduced by president A. H. Pritchard.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green of Slaton were weekend guests of Mrs. Stella Smith.

J. A. Brashear and his son, Temple Brashear, are inviting the public to attend their 10th Anniversary of Brashear's Food Store, Friday and Saturday. Their invitation, extended in the form of an advertisement in this week's Baird Star, promises an enjoyable time for all who come to their store. "For the friends we have made and for the good fortune that has been ours since we came to Baird ten years ago," the father and son partners state. "We feel that we have every reason to celebrate, and we want all the folks of this community to come and participate in the celebration with us." There will be refreshments for all who come, and for the shoppers for food specials, there will be low prices that mean great savings.

J. A. Brashear came to Baird March 16, 1939, from San Angelo where he had been engaged in stock raising. Previous to that experience, he had been in the grocery and dry goods business at Tahoka. When he moved to Baird, his son, Temple Brashear, joined him in business here and as partners they have built up a clean, modern grocery in which this community takes much pride. The store, purchased from A. B. Hutchinson, is located at the corner of Market Street and Highway 80. A new 15-foot meat display case has recently been installed and Brashears are placing special emphasis on corned beef. Mr. Brashear states that the meat is corned in fact, or he wouldn't advertise it as such.

Both of the Brashears are industrious civic-minded citizens. J. A. is superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School, and Temple is a member of the Board of Stewards of the Methodist Church and is a member of the local school board. They have many friends who are extending congratulations this day upon the occasion of their 10th Anniversary in Baird.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Banks and Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Wylie, Jr., made a business trip to East Texas Saturday.

S. F. BONDS TALKS AT SUNDAY SCHOOL

Last Sunday, March 13th, Foster Bond, accompanied by Mr. Jackson of Cross Plains, met with the Ace Hickman Class of the Methodist Church and Mr. Bond, in accordance with the promise he had previously made, gave one of his characteristic philosophical talks to the Sunday School Class.

HEALTH FACTS

Austin, Mar. 15—Measles and chickenpox have been widespread throughout the State during the past few weeks, and in the week ending March 5th measles reached a total number of cases, 3909, that was the second highest in history. Chickenpox was almost twice the seven year medium, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer has stated that there is an unusual number of adults suffering from this so called "childhood" disease.

Both these diseases are extremely contagious", Dr. Cox said, "and the strictest isolation and sanitation precautions are necessary to halt their spread. Dishes, toys, towels, or anything that has been around the patient can carry the germs to other members of the household, and all such articles should be being handled by others susceptible to these diseases." The State Health Officer recommended that a physician be called immediately when a child shows any beginning symptoms of chickenpox or measles, and that his advice be followed implicitly until complete recovery. Dangerous complications often accompany or follow measles, and a child may have his entire future health endangered unless he receives competent care during his illness.

"It is not advisable to treat these childhood diseases too lightly", Dr. Cox said. "They are sometimes responsible for nothing more than a few days discomfort, but we cannot count on that. They should be taken seriously, and receive a competent doctor's supervision and attention."

METHODIST CHOIR ENJOYS SOCIAL HOUR

The choir of the First Methodist Church met for the regular practice session Thursday night. After the work-out, the members were invited to the basement for a social hour, with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fetterly as host and hostess. Refreshments of cake and coffee were served to the group.

Plans are being made for the Easter Service and rehearsal on the Easter music will be started next week. The choir extends an invitation to all who are interested in singing to come to the weekly practices and help with the music on Sunday mornings.

Scheduled to return to Key West, Fla., March 21 is James K. Waggoner, fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Waggoner of Route 1, serving aboard the submarine USS Clamagore, which recently participated in the Atlantic Command Exercises in the Caribbean.

The Clamagore, upon completion of her part in the war games, visited San Juan, P. R. and Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, for liberty and recreation.

Callahan Countian, Tradition Breaker, Mixes Sheep - Cattle - Cotton Successfully

Can you beat this? Here's a cattleman — a steer man at that, if you please,—who likes sheep and cotton farming. And, it's no small wonder, once you know the story.

M. M. (Morris to you) Edwards of Callahan county actually made his start with a sandy land cotton farm south of Clyde and it remained for the depression and sheep to put him on his feet. Then he turned to cattle and rang the bell last September when he sold his Kansas grass cattle for enough to get a $125,000 check.

Some of the boys call him "lucky" but those who have watched Edwards in his operations have come to realize he is both a shrewd operator and a hard-worker. At the age when many ranchers are thinking of taking it easy, Edwards thinks nothing of taking his big truck, going by Stamford for a load of cake; taking it to his Spur ranch unloading and returning to his Eula home all in the process of a day.

Edwards bought his first land in 1925 — an 80-acre sandy land farm in his native Callahan county. He continued to farm and buy and sell land and by 1932 realized he was going to have to do something to make money.

And that's where the sheep come into the picture.

Lambs were cheap. Nobody wanted them. Lance Sears of Maryneal finally talked Edwards into buying his lambs at $1.50 per head. That was the beginning.

Henry James, the conservative banker, told Edwards to go ahead and buy . . . he thought it was a good gamble. And brother, he got busy, buying 2,200 lambs from L. S. Munger of Abilene and many other bunches.

It will be recalled that 1932 was a wet year and there was an abundance of feed. Oats were 10 cents a bushel; cottonseed cake $12 a ton and the oil mills were giving hulls away to get them out of the way. Even under those conditions, there was no money in feeding cattle.

There was an abundance of grazing, the field that fall and the owners were glad to get the fields grazed down. Edwards kept moving his lambs from field to field and started selling in the spring.

When he finally got through counting his money in June, he found those $1.50 lambs had tripled their money, and he was off to the races. Edwards continued to run 1,000 to 1,500 lambs every winter for several years and still thinks they will make more money than anything.

In 1937 he bought the 5,200-acre Renfro ranch at Spur and operated several leases in that area. That was when he got in the cow business.

In 1943 he bought the 12,419 acre ranch of Clifford Jones, who had assumed duties as president of Texas Technological College at Lubbock and wished to dispose of his holding at Spur. Edwards bought about 500 head of cattle in the deal, paying $75 around for the good cows, some with calves at side.

Along about that time, Edwards started sending steers to grass in Kansas and in view of the rising cattle market, that proved profitable. The first year he sent 840 head to Kansas and the top price that year was 12 cents, which under the OPA selling was less than bulls brought.

He began to accumulate steers, starting with lightweight and keeping them until they got to be big steers. He also acquired more leases, the last of which was a 41-section spread in Kent County.

Edwards now runs around 2-500 head of steers and ships his big cattle to Kansas every year. However in view of the good outlook this spring, he says Kansas grass is going to have to get cheaper, or he will leave his cattle at home.

He still likes farming and has about 2,000 acres in cultivation in the Spur area, and has owned farming land in New Mexico since 1920.

Edwards also owns controlling interests in a farm implement business at Anson, and has other interest. — Harry Holt, Abilene Reporter-News.

BONDED BRAKE LINING IN NEW CHEVROLET

Detroit — A new method of bonding the brake lining to the brake shoe that has already proved itself in more than 3,000,000 brake assemblies has been announced by W. F. Armstrong, general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division.

The statement included the disclosure that the development already has been installed on 1949 passenger cars. Chevrolet is the first major manufacturer to adopt for its full passenger line a type of brake construction that has been the object of laboratory research for several years.

"The improvement represents a definite and important contribution to automobile economy," said Armstrong. "To owners it means double life for brake linings and the elimination of rivet scoring of drums. In the case of conventional riveted linings, brakes are good only until the surfaces wear down to the heads of the countersunk rivets which attach linings to shoes. With the unitied lining, almost the entire lining thickness is usable."

According to Armstrong, the innovation marks a milestone in production techniques as well as an engineering accomplishment.

Exactng standards of cleanliness, temperature control and test procedures assure a bond between brake shoe and lining far stronger than any forces encountered in brake service. — In addition, the process involves batteries of especially designed manufacturing equipment.

MRS. EVERETT JONES HOSTESS TO CLUB

Members of the Wednesday Club journeyed to the attractive country home of Mrs. Everett Jones, near Moran, Wednesday March 9th.

A very informative program on Russia and the United States was discussed by Mrs. W. A. Fetterly and Mrs. J. R. Jackson, followed by a round table discussion by members of the club. Mrs. W. P. Brightwell was elected delegate to the National Convention in Florida. Mrs. Ace Hickman was elected delegate to the District Convention to be held in Ranger.

A delightful social hour was enjoyed by fourteen members of the Club, and Mrs. C. B. Snyder, Sr., of Moran, a guest.

Mrs. W. H. Todd and sons, Roy and Bill, of Anson, visited Mr. and Mrs. M. D. McElroy Thursday of last week.

KITCHEN MEMO BY JEAN CLARKE

If you don't feel like turning on the oven to bake cookies, try Griddle Cookies cooked over the top burner. Preheat griddle for three minutes with flame full on, then turn down to low simmer for entire cooking period. Best heat test is a drop of water which should dance, rather than steam, on the griddle surface. Put 1 egg, slightly beaten, into 1/2 cup milk. Add 1 cup raisins. Sift once 3/4 cups all-purpose flour, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 tsp baking powder, 1/2 tsp baking soda, 2 tsp nutmeg, 1/4 tsp salt. Work 1 cup shortening into dry ingredients with pastry blender until mealy. Then pour into this the milk, egg and raisin mixture. Mix. Wrap dough in wax paper, chill in refrigerator 1 hour. Roll out 1/4" thick. Cut with cookie cutter. Brown on slightly greased griddle on one side, then on the other. Makes 36 cookies.

Don't worry about bollovers on your top burners. Just wipe them up with a cloth dampened in warm water. Later, when your gas range has cooled, you can do a more thorough cleaning job.

Neither hot water nor gas is wasted when you have an automatic regulator on your gas water heater, because gas is turned on and off automatically only as hot water is needed.

The built-in towel drier and movable racks on some new gas ranges not only save precious space but also hide unsightly dish towels and cloths.

An ordinary vegetable parer is a good tool to use for grating chocolate or cheese and certainly easier to clean than a grater.

"BAD BOY" FILMED BASED ON REAL LIFE CHARACTERS

Not many motion pictures are filmed with the exhibitors of 17,000 movie houses behind it, but that's true of Paul Short's Allied Artists production, "Bad Boy" showing at the Plaza on Thursday and Friday.

"Bad Boy," starring Lloyd Nolan, Jane Wyatt, Audie Murphy, Martha Vickers, James Gleason and Stanley Clements, was filmed with the cooperation of Variety Clubs International, and is a semi-documentary picture revealing part of the good work done for young hoodlums by Variety Club members throughout the nation.

More explicitly, "Bad Boy" deals with life on the Variety Clubs' Boys' Ranch at Copperas Cove, Texas, where they get the worst kids in the country from the courts, and then try to find out what made them bad.

A 4,800-acre farm, Copperas Cove is run by Marshall Brown, his wife and his assistant. These parts in the picture were played, respectively, by Lloyd Nolan, Jane Wyatt and James Gleason. The ranch was re-created in great detail at the Janss Ranch, 40 miles north of Hollywood.

The "bad boy" of the picture, based on a real person, (whose name, naturally, is being kept anonymous), is played by Audie Murphy, the young war hero who has been officially credited with decommissioning 246 Germans, and is the most decorated soldier in U. S. history.

Before they started the picture, Audie and Nolan traveled to Copperas Cove to witness the ranch at work. Following that, they were invited as guests to the Variety Clubs International 1948 Humanitarian Dinner honoring Secretary of State George C. Marshall at Washington, D. C.

The story of "Bad Boy" is one of a youngster who proved almost too much for the Boys' Ranch and those who run it. This young tough had committed 62 felonies before they received court custody of him. Once at the ranch, he continues to use it as a front to continue his criminal doings. It was not until Marshall Brown, director of the Boys' Ranch, discovered the reason for the boy's rebelliousness, and the subject of this true story could be brought around to reason.

There's no glamorizing of gun-totin' gids in "Bad Boy." It's on the raw side, this picture, but no more raw than the case history from which it was drawn.

Mrs. Cecil West and children, Sarann and Bowlus, of Crane, spent from Thursday until Sunday visiting Cecil West and other relatives.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

P. M. Ray of the Scranton conservation group, was selected as the outstanding conservation farmer by the Lower Clear Fork Soil Conservation District Supervisors in their February monthly meeting. Mr. Ray will be entered in the "Save The Soil and Save Texas" contest.

During the fall of 1946 Mr. Ray began to carry out a complete soil and water conservation plan on his farm just southwest of Scranton, after obtaining assistance from the Lower Clear Fork Soil Conservation District. The complete conservation plan was worked out in November of 1946 with aid from the Soil Conservation Service. Mr. Ray applied conservation practices along with his neighbors which made it much easier to do most of the jobs.

Mr. Ray started out on his conservation job by taking care of his crop residue. This enabled his soil to "take up" more water and be less subject to blowing. After he had taken care of his crop residue, Mr. Ray fifty-one acres of Hairy Vetch and Abruzzi rye to be utilized as a cover crop. This cover crop has been extended until all land that is subject to blowing has been seeded to cover crops of vetch and rye. He inoculated all legume seed before planting and applies 20% superphosphate at the rate of 150 to 200 lbs. per acre at the time the vetch and rye are seeded, using ten pounds of vetch and thirty pounds of rye per acre. Mr. Ray continued his crop residue management program by leaving all residue on the ground after harvesting a seed crop.

Mr. Ray has improved his small native pastures by utilizing his temporary pastures and "resting" his native pastures. He completely terraced his farm in the spring of 1947, constructing all terraces on the level so as to conserve water in addition to conserving soil.

Only a small acreage of peanuts are grown on the Ray farm, however these peanuts are stripped with grain sorghum to further guard against the possibility of wind erosion.

A list of accomplishments on his farm follows: contour farming, 192 acres; cover cropping, 130 acres; crop residue management, 185 acres; strip cropping, 60 acres, range improvement, 47 acres, terraces, 6.5 miles.

Mr. Ray has made great gains in about two and one half years and plans to leave someone a farm much better than he received it. He definitely believes that the District program is the correct approach as it leaves the responsibility about soil conservation definitely in the hands of landowners.

MELBA ANN BRYANT ELECTED BROWNIE PRESIDENT

The Brownie Troop of the Girl Scouts met Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. in the Girl Scout building. Ruth Dyer, troop leader, was in charge of activities, with assistance from Mrs. Morgan Stokes, alternate troop leader.

The meeting was prefaced by roll call and a short business session to elect Troop President. Melba Ann Bryant was elected to this position and was welcomed as an official by the retiring President, Jeanette McPherson.

The project under study at this meeting was the painting of ivy planters. After preliminary discussions of line and balance, the children did free-hand paintings in water-proof paint of ivy leaves on their planters. Ivy plants and directions on their care were then given to each child.

Refreshments were served by Martha Faye Payne to the following: Louanna Ault, Nancy Lee Bryant, Melba Ann Bryant, Jenice Brown, Donna Betcher, Jo Ann Gary, Joyce Gary, Nancy Ingram, Beverly Ann Konczak, Jacqueline Leskovitz, Jeanette McPherson, Betty Pritchard Artie Mae Stokes, Martha Faye Payne, Charlene Pendergrass, Mary Ross, Barbara Snyder, Jackie Stanley, Billie Ruth Walls.

Following the meeting a committee of Brownies: Mary Ross, Artie Mae Stokes, and Barbara Snyder, accompanied by Scout Councilor, Mrs. Hugh Ross, Ruth Dyer, Troop Leader, and committees and leaders from other troops, made personal calls upon people of the town who so generously contributed to the Scout fund. Part of Scout training is to say "thank you," and they are very grateful for the splendid cooperation given them.

CAMERA TOPICS

—by T. T. Holden*

TILTED CAMERA PLAYS FUNNY TRICKS

Linear distortion, or the convergence of parallel lines can often spoil an otherwise pleasing picture. You've all seen examples of this—usually in the form of buildings narrowing to a peak or railroad tracks seeming to come together in the distance. Occasionally this can be dramatic. Often it is just annoying.

The cause of this phenomenon is simple. It results from tipping your camera at an angle in order to get in the whole subject. (When you look up or down, your mind automatically realigns what you see. A camera can't.) The solution is equally simple: keep the film plane (the back of the camera) parallel to the plane of the subject.

With inexpensive cameras, this usually means backing away from the subject until you can get it all in the negative without tipping the camera up or down. If your camera takes interchangeable lenses, you can achieve the same effect by using a wider angle lens to increase the field of view.

Better cameras have a device which permits the lens standard to rise above the center of the film area. This rising front enables your camera to photograph areas higher than it normally sees with the lens centered, without tilting the film plane. For shooting down, the front can be lowered below center to achieve the same effect.

If you can't avoid linear distortion in taking a picture, you can often minimize the effect in the enlarger by tilting the paper easel slightly so that the narrow lines are somewhat closer to the negative than the wider end. Be careful in doing this that you don't throw part of the picture out of focus.

Indoors, table legs, corners of the room and other vertical lines can cause annoying linear distortion when shooting down at children or other subjects below the level of the camera. This is particularly annoying in general views in which you try to show more floor than ceiling.

The best solution, if your camera has no falling front, is to avoid vertical lines in the background as much as possible. Or you can lower your camera position so that it is not necessary to tilt the camera down at the subject.

"TREMENDOUS RECEPTION" REPORTED FOR PONTIAC
 Although the 1949 Pontiac line has been unveiled nationally only a short time, the new cars have been inspected by more than four million persons in dealers showrooms, Harry J. Klinger, general manager of the Pontiac Motor Division, estimated today.
 Mr. Klinger based his estimate on figures contained in thousands of congratulatory telegrams from dealers, reporting the greatest public enthusiasm ever generated by a new Pontiac model. A substantial percentage of orders are being placed by showroom visitors, the wires reported.

 "This is undoubtedly the greatest public reception of a new Pontiac model in my fifteen years experience with the Division," Mr. Klinger said. "It is particularly gratifying in that our openings throughout the West and Southwest were accompanied by the worst weather in the recorded history of these sections.

 "Following the Waldorf showing in New York, we felt sure we had a winner. The reception across the country appears to give us a unanimous verdict."
 Pontiac now is employing 12-138 persons and is building more than 1,000 cars per day at Pontiac and in the Division's six assembly plants, Mr. Klinger said.

HOUND DOG MAN—Fred Gipson, Mason County writer, hit the big time with his first novel this week His "Hound Dog Man" released by Harper & Brothers is a January selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club. His floppy-eared companion here is Darling Duke, one of his first investments from the advance he received on the book. Gipson is a well-known Texas newspaper and magazine writer.

By Bernard Brister

Mason — Boyhood's dreams got another break for Fred Gipson, the Mason county writer of western and adventure stories, has proved that even a frustrated coon hunter can be successful.

Mother Gipson early resisted in his behalf her son's conviction that he would grow up to be an upstanding a coon hunter as ever roamed the Texas hills. But talent will out. Fred Gipson's first novel telling the story of a boy's dreams of baying hounds and big boar coons on chilly nights, went on sale at bookstores throughout the United States. "Hound Dog Man" is one of the selections of the Book-of-the-Month Club for January, and as such is Gipson's first brush with the Collector of Internal Revenue.

Harper & Brothers, his publishers, immediately labeled this first novel a "find," and claim for their new writer a touch of Mark Twain with a "clear, fluent style all his own, unsurpassed for naturalness and lyric beauty."

But Fred Gipson is no new writer to Texas. Newspaper readers in Corpus Christi, San Angelo, Paris, Abilene, Marshall and dozens of small towns over the state remember his chuckle-filled columns of a few years ago, homa, and of numerous pieces in the Readers' Digest, Colliers, Holiday and other "slick" periodicals.

In looks and manner Gipson could qualify as a typical West Texas sheepman or cattleman. He's gangly, a little bit stooped, wears the mark of a Prohibition days fruit jar across the bridge of his nose, and talks with the deliberate and scratchy voice that comes of being bred in that country west of Fort Worth.

Writing is a special brand of agony with him, and his wife, Tommie, who lives through each one of his stories with him, claims that sometimes at the typewriter he runs two and three degrees temperature. But he can never long stay away from writing. It's got him. He hardly took time to buy a hound dog of his own and a Frigidaire from the first proceeds of his novel before he was back at the typewriter.

He claims he is already well into a second novel, but about all he will reveal is that it is about "the problems of a grass widower here in the hill country."

Fred missed his heart's desire of being a coon hunter and all round woods prowler by the necessity of having to go to work when times got hard on his parents' Mason county farm.

"I've picked cotton," he says. "I have swung a ten-pound sledge hammer all day, pounding out concrete slabs. I have handled a four-up Fresno mule team in dirt pits when the heat was 110 in the shade. I've done saddle work from before daylight till long after the stars were out at night. I've built fences, clerked in drugstores, kept books for a grocer, driven a caterpillar tractor, and had a whirl at selling. And the sweat and pain and exhaustion of these jobs compares in no way to the agony of putting down words in a manner to please exacting editors."

Gipson and his family suffered two years of debt and disaster -- lightning struck and killed the milk cow -- while his first novel was being written, and more than another year while it was seeking a publisher.

He knew for the first time the struggle had been worth it when he read the happy telegram from his agent in New York: "Better sit down before you read any further. Book-of-the-Month Club wants Hound Dog Man as dual selection some And other thousands from Main to Cape Town have found high adventure in hundreds of Gipson stories in the Western pulp magazines. He is the author of a previous book, "Fabulous Empire," Colonel Zack Miller's own story of the 101 Ranch in Oklahoma after first of year. They and Harpers tentatively schedule it for February. Your guarantee $25,000. Total will probably be around $35,000."

Even Gipson, now 40, considers that a pretty good take for any unreformed coon hunter.

In "Hound Dog Man" we take part in a classic coon hunt with the famous hound-dog man, Blackie Scantling, the hero of every man and boy with a touch of the wanderlust -- the despair of mothers and daughters and other more practical citizens.

Twelve year old Cotton Kinney wanted two things more than anything in the world -- to get a hunting dog of his own, and to run in the woods along the river with Blackie Scantling after a big Texas boar coon. Though his mother fretted, Cotton just had to go off with Blackie on Christmas week. So Cotton and Blackie and two hound dogs, Rock and Drum -- along with Cotton's fat friend Spud and his little Feist dog -- embarked on a series of wonderful adventures.

There was the time when Blackie charged the bull; and the time the hound dog Rock got caught on the catfish line and Blackie ended up in the icy water fighting a huge coon. Then there were runs through the clear cold moonlight nights with the bugle-clear cry of the hounds up ahead. There were visits with grown-folks like Fiddling Tom, who could bring the sun up with the sweetness of his music. And a glorious feast off the giant turkey gobbler that Cotton had tangled with in the woods. At Fiddling Tom's, Cotton fell in love with a coal-black hound pup and sorrowed to himself that he could not take him home. And he felt uneasy about Blackie's ways with the beautiful girl Dony and what he heard her say about wanting the "marrying papers" first.

The story comes to a swift climax when Cotton rides to fetch Doc Cole after Dave, a daredevil horsebreaker, smashes his leg and all the neighbors turn out for a leg-setting party. There Dony handles the wayward Blackie in a most unexpected fashion and Cotton grows up in the ways of mothers and fathers and people in general.

HONORED AT TEA

Abilene — Miss Theda Kerby and Miss Ruth Swim were guests of honor at a tea given recently at McMurry college Abilene, by members of Alpha Chi, honorary scholarship society, for students who made the college honor roll last semester.

Bill Gant of Merkel, president of the James Winfred Hunt chapter, made a brief welcoming speech and introduced Miss Julia Luker, professor of English and sponsor of Alpha Chi. Miss Luker stressed the importance of scholarship in campus life.

Mrs. Frank Grimes, associate professor of speech, read Tennessee William's play "The Glass Menagerie." Mrs. O.P. Thrane, wife of the vice president, and Mrs. W.B. McDaniel, wife of the dean, presided at the lace-laid tea table where approximately seventy students and faculty members were served.

The editor received a letter this week from W. P. Ramsey of La Mesa, Calif., renewing his subscription to The Star. Mr. Ramsey writes that he has been confined to his bed for the past three weeks. We hope for Mr. Ramsey a speedy recovery.

Baird Doctor Finishes Fifty Years Practice, Has Never Sent Bill For Services

A pioneer West Texas physician is Dr. R. L. Griggs, who is rounding out close to a half century of medical practice in Callahan County. This practice started with an old horse, two pill bags and a borrowed $20 bill.

Robert Lee Griggs was born Sept. 20, 1875 in Panola County, Texas. He moved with his family to Comanche County in 1880, and to May, in 1886. He was living at May when he went to medical school at University Medical College in Tennessee.

In 1900 he started his practice at Admiral and in 1901 he moved to Baird where he has been continuously.

It seems that Dr. Griggs came from a doctor "minded" family. He had an uncle that was a doctor and he was a strong factor in persuading Dr. Griggs to make medicine his life's work. The physician had three brothers who were also doctors.

"Doc" Griggs, as he is familiarly known over Callahan County, has a record of having ushered an estimated nearly 10,000 babies into the world, of having traveled miles on horseback and in a buggy to remote farm homes to perform surgery by the light of a kerosene lamp.

In 1928 Dr. Griggs opened the first hospital in the county. It was privately owned and was located in the upstairs of a building on main street. There were just 12 rooms, and they were full most of the time.

In 1939 his life's dream was realized. The Callahan County Hospital was built, a project he had worked ceaselessly and with great effort to bring about. For years he had seen the need of the county owning a hospital.

Dr. Griggs has never turned down a maternity case, no matter how poor the people were. Many times he has traveled in flood and freezing weather, knowing that he would never receive payment for his services.

In 1921 Dr. Griggs bought the City Pharmacy. This and his ranches have helped him to make a living for his family. He says that "doctoring" alone is not a paying business. His first land consisted of 100 acres. He has kept adding to it until now he has a 6,000 acre Hereford ranch near Baird. On this ranch he runs registered white face cattle and has one of the finest bulls in the nation. He also has a goat ranch of 500 acres.

The "Doc" can boast that he has never sent a bill. He has worn out horses, buggies and cars, all in the interest of the sick.

In 1917 Dr. Griggs was married to Juanita Work. They have five children living. A son, Berry, died in 1943 while in school at John Tarleton, in Stephenville. He has a daughter, Becky, who is a senior in Hardin-Simmons University. His son, R. L. Jr., runs the ranch.

Dr. Griggs says he wants to practice until he is 80, then he'll retire. During the war he was the only practicing physician in the county. But always when a surgery case came up, he would call on one of the many Abilene doctors to help him. Since the war two other doctors have moved into the county and this has eased the burden from the "Doc's" shoulders.

The life of a country doctor is full of surprises. He still chuckles over a little incident that happened a few years after he started practicing. The only dentist in the county was away for a few days, and he told the doctor if any of his patients called, for him to fill their needs. Dr. Griggs was in hopes none would call, as he claimed he knew very little about teeth.

But sure enough, a man about 15 miles out in the country called the doctor to come out and pull a jaw tooth. It was giving him so much pain it had to come out. Dr. Griggs drove out, examined the tooth and prepared to pull it. But instead of pulling one, he pulled two by mistake. He dropped one on the floor, but unobserved by the patient, picked it up and put it in his pocket. He drove back home. A few days later this man came in to see the doctor. He said "Doc, the place where you pulled that tooth is so wide you could drive a wagon and team through it."

Dr. Griggs replied "Oh, they always feel that way. You'll get used to it."

In a few years this man moved to Coleman. He had had no dental trouble since the jaw tooth pulling, until about 12 years ago. He went to a dentist in Coleman. Then he found out that Dr. Griggs had pulled two teeth instead of one.—Eueda Gardner, Abilene Reporter-News.

County Agent's Column

Oliver F. Werst

WHAT IS THE 4-H CLUB?

Many people have heard of the 4-H club all their lives but many of them still do not know just exactly what is 4-H club work. 4-H club work is a national organization, supported by the United States government, the State, and the county; therefore a boy does not have to pay to join the club. Its purpose is to develop within the boy the finer things of life. The training that a boy receives along agriculture lines will help him through life whether he expects to follow agriculture or not. The club gets its name 4-H from the fact that the work trains the HEAD for clearer thinking, the HANDS for greater service, the HEART for truer loyalty and finer sympathy, and HEALTH for efficient living for his community, his country, and his God.

Every boy in the club who can is expected to carry on during the year a demonstration with livestock or crops or both. This is where the boy needs the help of his parents and their cooperation. Many boys already have good demonstrations and projects, but for the boy who does not, March is the time to select a demonstration for the coming year. Some will want to select a pig or a dairy calf, or a beef calf, or some sheep or chickens. Others may want to take an acre of corn, cotton, wheat, oats, clovers, onions, or some other crop or both crops and livestock. Some boys will want to take a garden or an orchard as their projects or demonstrations.

To get the most out of the 4-H club work, a boy needs something at home to work with and take care of throughout the year, and it would be a good idea for the parents to help the boy decide what project he can best carry on. It is the job of the county agent to assist at all times and to help each and every club boy with their individual problems. The agent will also visit with the boys from time to time.

In the fall, probably September, there will be a county show. At this show the boy will have a chance to exhibit his crops and livestock in competition with the other club boys and win prizes and ribbons.

Each boy is urged to keep records of his demonstration, and at the end of their year awards in the form of medals are given to the boy who has the outstanding demonstration in field crops, livestock, gardens, poultry, soil conservation, tractor maintenance, dairy production, forestry, health, and leadership. When a boy has been in the club for as much as three years, he is eligible to try for a trip to the National 4-H club congress in Chicago. The outstanding club boys in the state win this award.

For further information on club work contact the county agent.

Internal Cork of Sweet Potatoes

Texas Sweet Potato growers should examine around 25 potatoes from each field lot for internal cork before bedding for slip, A. A. Dunlap, head of the Texas A. & M. College department of plant physiology and pathology, warns.

When cut cross wise, a sweet potato shows internal cork as black spots in the flesh. The spots vary in size and several may be clustered together. Cuts lengthwise may show the disease as black streaks up to an inch or longer. These corky islands remain hard and bitter after cooking.

In the field, internal cork causes spots on the leaves. Reddish or purpleish discolorations form around the spots. As the leaves grow older these symptoms usually disappear.

No infested potatoes should be bedded; the virus of the disease is probably spread in the field by insects. Potatoes infected with internal cork may be used as stock feed. The disease first showed up in South Carolina in 1944 and within 2 years had spread through the southern states. The Porto Rican is especially susceptible. Texas has been free of the disease until 1948; internal cork has just been verified by laboratory test in some potatoes sent in from a farm in Morris county. The potatoes were grown from slips that came from Georgia.
