Mothers March Set for Feb. 3

Iowa Park will join other towns in Wichita county for the ninth annual Mother's March on Polio, to be staged Monday, Feb. 3, from 7:00 until 8:00 p.m.

Friday, Jan. 3, at a noon luncheon given by the Wichita county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, for representatives of the press and other publicity media, the date and arrangements for the porch-light drive were announced.

Presiding at the meeting were Ikard Smith and Ralph Milburn of Wichita Falls, who have served as co-chairmen of the county fund campaign for the past seven years.

Slogan for the drive will be: "Survival is Not Enough!" There are still more than 80,000 victims of the disease who need help in slaying alive or in learning to use afflicted arms and legs. The Salk vaccine has been a great aid to preventing crippling Polio, but much is yet to be done.

Iowa Park was represented at this meeting by Rollins Woodall, chairman of the Iowa Park area; and Mrs. Taylor George of the Herald.

FIFTY YEARS OF FLIGHT AND WHEELS

FLINT, MICH.—The dramatic strides made in automotive and aviation design over the past half-century are illustrated in these two pictures. The upper photograph, taken in 1908 when General Motors was founded, shows the start of a race between a stripped-down Buick of that year and a flimsy biplane of the same vintage, a race which the Buick won, incidentally. The 1958 Buick convertible and F-86D Saber Jet (below) show the racy styling and sleek lines which characterize their modern counterparts.

Tower Painter Breaks Leg

Tony Vann, employee of the Water Tank Service company, fell about 30 feet last Friday afternoon while working on the Iowa Park water tower.

Vann was near the top of the tank just under the eaves when his seat and chain broke, letting him fall. His leg hit the railing around the catwalk as he was falling. This threw him in toward the tank and he landed on the catwalk, which probably saved his life.

Two fellow workers went to his aid and lowered him to the ground after putting splints on the fractured leg. The break was between the hip and knee.

The injured man was carried to Park Clinic and later to Wichita General hospital by Tanner ambulance.

Tony underwent leg surgery and is now recuperating in Wichita General.

It would be nice if people of Iowa Park would take a few minutes to go by and visit with Vann in the hospital.

OUR NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

Happy New Year . . . in case I didn't get to wish you one in person. Here's hoping 1958 will be the best, most prosperous year ever for you and your family. Lots of folks like to take the beginning of the year to make some resolutions for the future and I have one to offer during this first week of 1958. Mr. E. M. Clark, our president, wrote it to explain the policies and objectives we try to follow in furnishing your telephone service and I thought it would make an appropriate New Year's resolution for us to make and dedicate to our customers.

WE DEFINE OUR OBJECTIVES

"Our objective is to furnish the best possible telephone service at reasonable cost—a cost consistent with financial safety and fair treatment of employees.

"Service ranks above everything else in this policy. And the only good service is one that is continually improving. To furnish this service we need the best people, the best equipment, the best methods, and the best management we can develop.

"Reasonable cost has been defined as one that produces an ever-growing public demand. Our equipment, training, and methods would not net us nothing if the cost of service became so high that people would not buy it.

"Financial safety should not be endangered by setting the price of service too low. In the long run, a price that provides profit large enough to undertake new research and development results in better cheaper service to the public.

"Fair treatment of employees means good pay, good working conditions, reasonable job security, and opportunity for advancement based on merit. It is people—employees—who are the most important element in the success of any business."

WE ACCEPT THESE RESPONSIBILITIES

To the Employees: Provide machines, methods, equipment, direction, leadership, job training, incentives to progress, selection for promotion.

To the Public: More and better service at a reasonable cost. Contributions to public welfare and national defense.

To the Owners: Run business in a sound, profitable manner.

LOOKING AHEAD

Program Chairman Curtis Sewell presented an unusual program at Noon Lions club luncheon Tuesday. He gave each member present 30 seconds to speak on a subject he gave them. It became quite humorous and was enjoyed by all. Jim Smith and S. L. Niell were awarded the prizes, with Rollins Woodall and Hazel George acting as judges. Woodall reminded club members of the midwinter conference to be held in Mineral Wells next Tuesday.

day. Pres. R. B. Faulkner called a directors meeting immediately following the luncheon. The Noon Lions are planning their annual Dixieland Follies, to be given late in February.

Sweethearts Harriett Coppock and Thelma Gay furnished luncheon music.

THIS WEEK

-In Washington

With

Clinton Davidson

The Congress which returned to Washington this week begins what is generally regarded as one of the most critical sessions since the early days of the Republic.

International problems predominate, but a score of more of serious domestic issues also demand attention. It is a session that will test the metal of the legislators of the Nation.

Events of the past few weeks have left no doubt in the minds of congressmen that the United States, and in fact all of Western civilization, are in grave peril, perhaps the most serious any of us have ever known.

This session is to be no place for weak-kneed or faint-hearted congressmen. The decisions to be made will take courage of the highest order. Fortunately we have that kind of men and women in Congress.

Some of the most important questions which Congress will debate include:

Should we attempt to appease and bargain with Russia?

How large should the budget for defense be?

Should the ceiling on the national debt be raised?

Will a tax increase be necessary to finance defense spending?

How much, and what kind, of foreign aid?

What about the business slump and growing unemployment?

Should a new farm program be adopted?

Congress already has been given positive evidence that Russia has made tremendous military gains, even that she has in some respects surpassed the United States and our allies.

The majority opinion in Washington seems to be that Russia will attempt to bargain for an easing of the cold war only on her own terms, and that those terms will be unacceptable to the Western Nations.

Our answer to Russian threats more probably will be a quick effort to build Western defenses. There is, of course, no assurance that Russia will not provoke a war if she is convinced she could win quickly. That is the chance we have to take.

Time is more important to the United States than it was only a year or two ago. We were ahead then in military strength. Then, it was Russia that wanted time to build long-range missiles to give her the advantage.

A quick recovery from our lag in missiles will require substantial increases in defense spending. To meet that increase, Congress must either increase taxes or raise the ceiling on the national debt.

There will be considerably less opposition this year than last to a substantial increase in foreign aid, both military and economic. The price of maintaining friends and allies in many parts of the world is going up.

On purely domestic issues, faltering business and rising unemployment should be watched. The feeling here, however, is that this is only a temporary dip. Rising living costs are another problem.

The farm recession that has continued for almost six years shows no sign of improvement and Congress will be under pressure to try something new. Then, too, this is an election year.

SCIENTIST CATAPULTED TO FAME

When Sputniks I and II were catapulted into the stratosphere, the United States and the rest of the world were startled into the realization that the Atomic Age had been replaced by the Space Age.

Many scientists and educators, who had previously remained in comparative anonymity, were flung on to the front pages of the country's newspapers and important magazines. Most of them shied away from the spotlight; others went front and center.

One scientist, who has earned a reputation over the years as a rocket expert, received a great deal of attention by the press. He is Willy Ley, one of the first men to shoot a rocket off the face of the earth. For the past 20 years, he has been an American citizen devoting his life to writing esoteric subjects in layman's language. Since his many contributions to the better understanding of objects in space are too numerous to be listed here, suffice it to say that, through the years, he has become one of the outstanding authorities in that field.

When the Sputniks became Topic No. 1 for the nation, Willy Ley was one of the first scientists to whom the newspapers turned for expositions as well as predictions on the future of space activities.

Ley was delighted to comply with these requests since he has been working for months with General Mills on the subject of space. To promote their cereal, Sugar Jets, General Mills had retained Ley in a dual capacity.

First, he was to write four "outer space" books to be used, as premiums along with models of rockets and space ships. Two of the four books, "Man Made Satellites" and "Space Pilots" have already been released and the demand has been tremendous.

In addition to writing the four books, Ley acted as press liaison on the Sugar Jets commercials which are seen on ABC-TV's "The Mickey Mouse Club." These commercials are completely authentic since outer space experts were called in to check each minute detail of the sets and space equipment. The commercials were introduced on July 1st, the official start of the International Geophysical Year.

Willy Ley is indeed an unusual person—a refugee from Hitler's Germany who now works in an unofficial capacity for the United States Government as disseminator of information and a vital force for national and international understanding.

Iowa Park PTA met at 3:00 p.m. January 8, with Lynda Jo Thompson playing the prelude.

Dr. LeRoy Carter, in the meditation, said: "Was the young man Absalom safe? Is the young man of Iowa Park safe? Are we opening avenues for them that guarantee their safety?"

"If he is safe," continued the speaker, "it is because a well-planned, worked out program has made it safe for him. One basic thing we can give to our Absaloms: The truth to the one thing that has to do with the creation of the great faith we have today."

As program, Oliver Kelly of Midwestern university gave a most interesting and impressive dramatization of Mark Connelly's "Green Pastures," the story of the Old Testament as understood by the young Negro child.

Mrs. Ray Watson, budget and finance chairman, announced a contest to run for six weeks. A prize will go to the person making the most sales of cookbooks. The price is now $1.50 and the PTA needs to sell many of them.

Also Mrs. Elmer Simmons was appointed to head a special committee with room mothers, to take orders for Stanley products. For a $125 order, the PTA will receive a $25 cash premium. Anyone wishing to order will call 2691.

A flower arrangement was sent to Mrs. Lucy Birk, first president of PTA, who has been under the doctor's care for several years, in appreciation of her time spent and love for PTA work.

ABUNDANT LIFE BY ORAL ROBERTS

GOD IS A GOOD GOD

God! What is He? I believe that God is the creator and sustainer of this universe; that mankind is his primary interest and concern; that God knows every one of us individually and every detail of our lives, no matter how insignificant, is like an open book to Him. I believe God wishes to share our lives with us—to assist us in every phase of its activity—that His chief delight is to make our lives "abundant" in every way. God answers prayer! Not always does He answer it with the response we wish, but always His answer, if we will let it, ultimately makes our living more joyous, more prosperous and more "abundant."

Reflections from the Bible

By Ray Marcus, Minister Iowa Park Church of Christ

Quotations of John Wesley continue: "With regard to the name 'Christian' I would like to say there is none like it; give-it to me, and in life and in death I would glory God in this name." Martin Luther, according to Michelet (page 262), said: "I pray you, leave my name alone; and do not call yourselves 'Lutherans,' but 'Christians.' Who is Luther? My doctrine is not mine. I have not been crucified for anyone. St. Paul (1 Cor. 1:13) would not that any should call themselves of Paul, nor of Peter, but of Christ. Now, then, does it befit me, a miserable bag of dust and ashes, to give my name to the children of Christ? Cease, my dear friends, to cling to these party names and distinctions. Away with them all, and let us call ourselves only 'Christians,' after him from whom our doctrine comes."

Adding Year-'Round Comfort to The 3 R's

It may be in the 90's outside, but these students don't seem to mind. In fact, the windows are even tightly shut. The answer: This new school, recently opened in Vero Beach, Florida, is one of the first in the state to have provisions for year 'round air conditioning.

Today educators and architects agree that schoolroom air conditioning offers definite advantages in counteracting the traditional "warm weather slump" in learning. Many authorities recommend that all new school construction either include air conditioning now or at least have provisions for its addition at a later date. They base this opinion on the fact that school-room temperature, air movement and humidity have a direct bearing on learning and development. That's why modern school planners emphasize year-round temperature control.

The ideal way to provide the optimum temperature range and to protect any proposed new school building from early obsolescence is to provide for immediate or, at least, eventual installation of another source for cool air when it is not available from nature. This means air conditioning as well as ventilation. Both can be accomplished readily and inexpensively by the Amervent units, manufactured by the American Air Filter Company, Inc., Louisville, Kentucky. An advantage of this

Mrs. Steele to Head 23 Club

Presenting Rev. Harold Dykstra in lecture, under the public affairs department, Indian affairs division, the Twenty-three Study club celebrated the New Year on Fremont Peak at 13,790 feet, to continue their upward imaginary trek.

A quotation from George Washington aptly expresses the attitude of Federated Club Women on this subject: "Let us impart all the blessings we possess, or ask for ourselves, to the whole family of mankind."

Mrs. R. R. Brubaker and Mrs. Homer Thompson were hostesses for the occasion, and received their guests at the sanctuary door of the First Baptist church. Prelude music featuring piano and organ was presented by Mrs. W. G. Steele and Mrs. O. E. Lochridge. Mrs. King Abernathy was leader for the program. She presented Mr. Dykstra, former missionary to the Indians, who gave an outstanding lecture with films, telling of life among the Omaha Indians in Nebraska and the Jicarilla Apache in New Mexico. Handmade articles were also displayed.

Business meeting following the lecture featured election of officers for the next club year, as follows: President, Mrs. Steele

Vice-president, Mrs. Noel Troutman. Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. C. J. Simpson. Corresponding secretary, Mrs. Homer Thompson. Parliamentarian, Mrs. Sam Hill. Historian, Mrs. Richey Abernathy. Federation counselor, Mrs. King Abernathy. Custodian, Mrs. C. E. Birk. Reporter, Mrs. Homer Blalock. Executive committee, Mrs. R. R. Brubaker and Mrs. S. L. Denny.

Decorations for the hostess table combined a New Year and Indian motif, including miniature moccasins sent from Louisiana by a daughter of Mrs. Brubaker, and used for favors.

Fashion Drapes the Sheath

It's the "Relaxed" mood of the daytime dress that counts for Spring. Combine the sheath with feminine softness and you have a flattering dress to see you through the day. The softly draped cummerbund emerges from side seams to give quiet elegance to bodice and skirt draping. The smooth fit of the midriff is achieved by the 14" Magic-Tab Talon dress zipper which is so easy to apply when following the instructions on the zipper package. Bracelet length sleeves and jewel neckline lend accessory appeal. It's Modes Royale pattern No. 1570, featured in easy-care fabric, a blend of Dacron and Worsted.

PAPER COMES INDOORS

Many homemakers who have been using paper cups, dishes, and plates for parties and picnics during the summer months are finding that these convenient items have special value in the cold and flu season. Not only are they being used to eliminate dishwashing, but as a sanitation measure when there is sickness in the home.

You will want to keep the rest of the family from catching the infection . . . and—just as important—protect the patient, whose resistance is weakened, from getting other infections which might be brought into the home by other members of the family.

So, place the patient in a room by himself and bring out the paper cups, dishes, plates and other disposable food service items. And, above all, avoid using a common kitchen or bathroom glass. Set out convenient stacks of cups, or better yet, get the new paper cup dispensers for the kitchen and bathroom.

WINTER HARNESES A BEAUTY!

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y.—Mountains of ice in a winter wonderland spellbind those fortunate enough to visit this place of wonder. Huge blocks of ice form a natural, linking bridge to Canada, and as the mist is blown inland, the trees in the surrounding park area are turned to crystal chandeliers. Niagara Falls succumbs slowly but never completely to low temperatures. At night for nearly three hours the great lights spill 440 million candlepower to illuminate every inch of the crests of both American and Canadian Falls, penetrating the banks of heavy mists and drawing the cataracts into bold relief against the darkness.

Tips for White Sales

NOW'S THE TIME to check your linen closet, to be ready for bargains in household textiles at the White Sales. You'll be wise to select your towels in matched ensembles of harmonizing colors, points out The Cannon Homemaking Institute. This not only enhances your bathroom's decoration, but also helps each member of the family to identify his own towels.

Don't forget plenty of sheets and pillow cases, especially fitted ones with new ezymatic corners. They come in solid colors and white. Also, you'll want some regular flat type sheets in smart candy stripes or in solid colors with dainty flowered hems.
