Rogger Q. Mills.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND PEOPLE GREET HIM AT GREENUP, ILLINOIS.

Honors to the Great Tariff reform Apostle

(To the Editor.)

TOLEDO, ILL., Aug. 29, 1890.

It would be a dereliction of duty to our Democratic brothers of the country at large to omit to mention the great tariff reform rally at Greenup, this (Cumberland) county, last Monday, 25th ult.

Our people of Eastern Illinois were anxious to hear the distinguished Texan, and the solicitation was so strong he could not resist—a committee going across the State on to St. Charles, Mo., to meet and solicit him, in addition to the many strong written invitations.

On Tuesday, 3 p. m., 17th inst., a telegram was received that Mr. Mills would speak at Greenup, 25th. Bills were put in circulation Thursday evening and sent to different sections of Eastern and Central Illinois on to the day of the meeting. Railroad rates were not obtained until Wednesday, 20th; yet, with that short notice, on Monday, 25th, the idol of Western farmers was greeted with an earnest, yet enthusiastic, audience of 15,000 people.

Greenup is at the junction of the Vandalia Line and Peoria, Decatur and Evansville railways. It is a neat little village of 1,000 inhabitants, and was decorated in holiday attire—many good, sensible Republicans vying with their Democratic fellow-citizens in the splendor of their decorations.

In addition to the regular trains of these railroads, four excursions trains were run—from Terre Haute, on the east; Vandalia, on the west; Sullivan, Ill., on the north, and Olney, on the south—at least 1,000 people for each train, and eight or ten bands. The country, in vehicles, was there en masse. Everything was orderly. Before speaking, the great Texan held a levee at the Mumford House, where thousands grasped his hand and exchanged words of cheer.

At 2 o'clock, Mr. Mills, in company with Judge Hunter, of Paris, Ill., was driven to Leggett's Grove, one mile northeast of town, receiving a glorious ovation all along the line and at the grove. He spoke for an hour and a half, entrancing all who could get in hereing with sledge hammer facts and matchless logic, at his conclusion a shout going up that will revibrate throughout Eastern Illinois until November.

Judge Hunter closed the meeting with a soul-stirring appeal that cannot be exceeded.

The effect of the great Mills meeting is being felt. The Republican leaders, who are trying to make fools of the farmers' organizations, are on the run, but dare not bring out McKinley, the monopolist tool.

To show the good feeling toward the great tariff reformer, when some of the fair-ground directors refused the fair ground unless they were paid, Lem Leggett, an old Union soldier and a Republican, told the committee to use Leggett's Grove, without money and without price. And it is a magnificent grove, as its owner is a magnificent man!

Illinois sends greeting to Texas, and says, God bless Mills!

ILLINOIS DEMOCRAT.

P. S.—Let the monopolists beware. If the McKinley bill becomes a law, look out for the battle cry of free trade, pure and undefiled, from the Great West. The rumblings are becoming louder daily in that direction!

THE STAR acknowledges receipt of the premium list and complimentary ticket from the Chocho Valley Fair Association to be held at the live progressive city of San Antonio, Nov. 6th to 12th inclusive. As San Angelo never does anything by halves, the second annual fair will doubtless be a grand success. The premium list was published by the Standard Job office and it is needless to say that like everything Murphy & Guthrie do it is first class.

The executive committee have agreed on the state ticket; it reads "for the amendment," James S. Hogg for Governor, etc. Democrats will not scratch the ticket. Those who desire to vote against the commission-amendment will find a ticket to their liking headed with the anti-commission vote and Webster Flanagan for Governor, etc. You pay your money and takes your choice, boys.—Ballenger Leader.

Yes, the executive committee have agreed on a form for the state ticket, but the executive committee don't control all the printing offices in Texas by a long shot. Democrats in other counties who oppose the commission may be compelled to scratch their tickets or write on the ticket the words against the railroad amendment, but this will not be the case in Callahan county. THE STAR will print the tickets with the words both "for" and "against" each amendment.

THE BAIRD STAR says it is still for the Democratic ticket, notwithstanding the adoption of the anti-commission plank by the Republicans. All right, but isn't it just a little inconsistent to support the platform of one party and the nominees of another?—Breckenridge Texian.

No, THE STAR is perfectly consistent in supporting the nominees of the party and opposing the railroad amendment, because a vote on said amendment is in nowise a test of one's party fealty. Chairman Finley himself admits this. The amendment in question is only a very small portion of the platform, and THE STAR endorses everything in it except said plank. It is none of THE STAR's look out if the Republicans insert a plank in their platform in conformity with its views expressed long before either convention met.

THE FAIR OPENS TO-MORROW.

The Gordon Roller Mills burned last Tuesday night. Loss $30,000 insurance $7,000.

Mrs. Parrack offers the Gordon Courier for sale. The Courier is among our best exchanges, neat, clean and progressive. It is published in a good town and commands a good patronage.

COL. W. L. McGAUGHEY Democratic nominee for Land Commissioner will deliver the opening address at the Fair to-morrow. He will be in the city this evening.

WANTED.

Wanted, five or six good active boys to sell THE DAILY MORNING STAR during the Fair, $2.50 cash to the boy that sells the most papers, and a good hat to one second, season tickets to boys who will agree to sell during Fair. No tickets to others. Good active boys should make two to three dollars per day. Apply at once.

Musical Concert.

One of the principal and most attractive features of the evening entertainments to be given during the Fair, will be the Musical Concert, at the court house, on Thursday evening, Sept. 25.

The programme has been gotten up and arranged by Mrs. I. M. Onis of the Belle Plaine College. Mrs. Onis has already acquired a state reputation in preparing and instructing classes in music, and her assistance in the affair is a sufficient assurance that the entertainment will be a success to the fullest extent that time and talent will permit.

She has several of her pupils who formerly attended the Belle Plaine College, to take part in the concert.

It has been her object in arranging the programme to please every taste in the musical line. There will be vocal, instrumental and orchestra music of the best selections. There will also be beautiful tableaux representing Fairy Land, and classical works of Art, in Statuary and an Oriental Carnival. These will give the ladies of the town an opportunity of displaying their taste in imagery and the scenes of classical and oriental fancy.

RECENT FASHIONS in Egypt have brought to light woolen and leather balls, which are supposed to be 4,000 years old. There is nothing new under the sun—not even the ball game.

The eyes of insects are immovable, and many of them seem cut into a multitude of facets, like the facets of a diamond. Each of these facets is supposed to possess the powers of a true eye. Leneboeck counted 3,181 of them in the cornea of a beetle, and over 8,000 in that of a common horsefly.

In view of the situation in the farming world it is safe to look for what people call better times. In this connection the results of the recent silver legislation are not without significance. The demand for more money has been answered, and the beauty of the situation is that the new certificates are growing more valuable.

If a couple have always been fond of each other, and happy together through their married life, they grow to look very much alike in their old age. Take any old married couple you know, who have always agreed, and they will bear a stronger resemblance to each other than either will look like any of their blood relations.

A NEW "cure" has been invented in Germany, which may be adopted as a greater novelty than the mind cure or the faith cure. Its basis is the hardening of the human organism, which has been disastrously enfeebled by civilization. The patients imitate the noble savage and the gypsy, and the system includes going barefoot as one part of the cure.

We read every few weeks of a decent man being killed by some accident caused by that deadly weapon the pitchfork, which is always loaded. An Ohio farmer had the other day used one of these implements to kill what he thought was a black skunk, and killed instead a black convict, burglar and all around desperado, who was hidden under the hay.

It is said that one of the latest products of the inventive genius of Americans is an artificial eye made of celluloid. Imagine the effect if this eye were to flash fire, as all the novelists and dramatists are fond of representing the eyes of their heroes and heroines as doing. There would certainly be a conflagration, as celluloid needs only a spark to kindle it.

The Hag family is not American, nor is it by any means peculiar in this country. The Lady Macbeth who said with enthusiasm that she could travel without insult from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and that every American of the other sex seemed to make himself her protector, said only what is generally true of the American. He is naturally courteous and invincibly good-natured.

WOMEN are cheaper producers than men; they will do the same work for less money—and do it quite as well—and this settles the matter in their favor. In manufacturing machines do the chief work, and the demand is not so much for muscular strength as for skillful manipulation, delicate touch and patient, automatic movement—and in this field of effort women and girls are quite as effective as men.

The death of a man near Syracuse from the sting of a bee is regarded by physicians as one of the most remarkable cases on record. He was stung on the nose by an ordinary honey bee, from one of his own hives, and died within ten minutes. The sting of a bee appears to have previously affected him in a most singular manner. Thirty-two years ago he nearly died from the effects of a sting, and as a result of his illness at that time his pulse never thereafter beat faster than forty-five pulsations in a minute.

To say that any agent of death and havoc is too destructive to be used in war seems like a paradoxical assertion, but it is apparently true of dynamite. That lively explosive refuses to submit to any regulations that might make it available to warfare. To be useful in that direction it must be thrown in some other form than that of the ordinary hand grenade, and a dynamite gun has long been the dream of inventors. But no gun strong enough to hold dynamite has yet been produced. Every experiment with dynamite guns so far has had the same result—the explosion of the gun.

It is difficult to suppress a habit like that of gambling, when it appears in any form. But it is more widespread and disastrous when in the form of "policy playing," it pervades with its contaminating virus the body of that part of the community which is dependent on small returns of labor, and who find it easy to make petty investments in lottery tickets, lured on by the unfading hope that fortune will some day favor them. The evil is money and character and the temptation to small thefts are among the more demoralizing influences of this craze for luck.

MOST APPALLING ACCIDENT.

A Winchester Ball Instantly Kills Two Members of a Family.

THE HORRIBLE DEATH OF A LITTLE GIRL.

A Youth at Marion Accidentally Shot in the Breast and Killed by His Brother While Out Hunting.

MERRIVALE, Tex., Sept. 22.—An appalling accident occurred three miles south of town. During James Ledemann's absence from home his little son was found in the yard playing with his father's Winchester. An older daughter attempted to take the weapon from the boy. The gun was accidentally discharged with fatal effect. The ball entered the boy's mouth and passing through the brain killed him instantly. The screaming and distracted girl hurried into the house for a assistance, and on entering the door fell over the prostrate body of her sister. The ball after its work of death in the yard passed through the weatherboarding of the house and killed the victim's sister. Strangely enough the ball took effect in the rear part of the girl's head and was found lodged in her mouth.

Run Down by a Train.

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 18.—About midnight Tuesday night a very sad accident occurred at the International and Great Northern yards in the western outskirts of the city, by which a young boy named Dan O'Shea lost his life. The deceased was employed as a call boy at the yards, his duty being to call engineers, firemen and trainmen as their time arrived for their trains to be made up and taken out. While performing his duty on Tuesday night, and while crossing the track ahead of a train that was backing down through the yard, he stumbled and fell and was unable to extricate himself from the dangerous position before the wheels passed over both his legs, crushing them off below the knees. He was conveyed to the Sealy hospital as soon as a vehicle could be secured, but the shock was too great and he died soon after reaching the hospital. The deceased was the son of Tim O'Shea.

Death Caused by Frigate.

DREXTON, Tex., Sept. 18.—The residence of P. C. Withers was destroyed by fire last night. When the alarm of fire was sounded Grandma Helen Herndon, as she was familiarly known here, became frightened and from the shock dropped dead, thinking perhaps that the residence in which she lived was on fire. It is supposed that it was heart disease, superinduced by fright. She was the mother of Hon. W. S. Herndon of Tyler and has resided with her daughter, Mrs. W. S. Parks, in this city for a number of years. She was an old resident of this state, well known and 85 years of age. She leaves many friends in the county to mourn her loss.

Street Railroads Consolidate.

HOUSTON, Tex., Sept. 18.—For business reasons and on account of corporate rights and privileges the stockholders of the two street railway companies met and elected the following directors of the street railway company: O. M. Carter, A. E. Allen, B. F. McGregor and C. A. McKinney of the Bayou City company, W. D. Cleveland, T. W. House, O. M. Carter, E. P. Hill, A. E. Allen, H. F. McGregor. In making the purchase of these two systems the new purchasers got about 500 miles, sixty cars, fifty miles of track and all of the car stables, six in number, except the brick stable of the Bayou City company.

A Boy Killed to Death.

SNYMOUL, Tex., Sept. 19.—A. B. Hastings' 12-year-old son was thrown from his horse and instantly killed. Mr. Hastings lived six or seven miles in the country, but was working here. He brought his little boy along with him to take the horse he rode back and on the way it became unmanageable. The little fellow lost his balance and in falling his foot caught in the stirrup. He was dragged about a quarter of a mile, the horse at the same time kicking him. When the boy was picked up his body and head were horribly mangled.

Death of Her Injuries.

TYLER, Tex., Sept. 20.—A well known and prominent citizen of this place, Mr. R. Bergfeld, received a telegram from St. Louis, announcing the death of his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Bergfeld, in that city yesterday at noon. Mr. Bergfeld said several months ago his mother fell from a street car in St. Louis and the injuries she then received were the direct cause of her death. Previous to the time of the fall she had been suffering from rheumatism for a number of years. Mrs. Bergfeld was about 60 years of age.

Cruelly Butchered.

AUSTIN, Tex., Sept. 17.—James Whiteley, living three miles from Austin, down the river, came to town yesterday morning after lumber and on going home in the evening missed his wife from home and found her brutally murdered and doubtless outraged in his cotton field. Her head had been battered with a club and there was evidence of a desperate struggle. His wife was only 25 years old and leaves three little children.

Secured to Death.

PARK, Tex., Sept. 22.—Julia, the 18-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Huebner, pulled a cup of boiling milk from the kitchen stove last Friday night which scalded her so severely on the head and breast that she died from the effect of the scald last night.

Fire at Fort Worth.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 20.—A fire, which at one time threatened to be difficult to control and extensively destructive, broke out at the corner of Main and Second streets yesterday morning. A rain storm was brewing and the wind high. This lent increased violence to the flames, and although the fire company responded promptly the water pressure was so feeble that the flames had a clean sweep of twenty minutes before the fire engines could check their fury. The building in which it originated is a heavy stone. To the rear of it and across the street to the right are frame buildings which greatly imperiled the situation. The upper story is occupied by the masonic lodge of the city; beneath on the ground floor is a bakery, belonging to a Mr. Buer, and it was in this that the fire is supposed to have originated. His bakers knocked off work at 4 o'clock in the morning, and it was soon after they had retired that the blaze sprang up. Precisely how it caught is unknown, but probabilities point to the ovens of the bakery as the origin. The woodwork of this establishment was completely destroyed.

Mr. Buer stated his losses at $1800 and said that there was no insurance upon the goods. Next door to this was a confectionery store belonging to John Edwards. This soon ignited under the intense heat and was totally destroyed. Mr. Edwards had $2500 insurance on his property, but it is doubtful if this will cover the loss sustained by his establishment. The loss sustained in the destruction of the Masonic building is estimated to be about $10,000, $5000 of which the insurance will alleviate. The property of the Fort Worth commandery, No. 19, which occupied what is known as the Prescott building, had its furniture valued at $2500, damaged $200, covered by $1000 insurance in the Michigan Fire Insurance company.

The Awful Death Penalty.

QUANAH, Tex., Sept. 20.—In the district court yesterday morning the jury in the case of the state vs. J. T. Morris, et al, for the murder of Moss and Roberts in Greer county last April, after being in consultation about forty hours brought into court a verdict of murder in the first degree and condemned the accused to death.

Thursday night the jury in the case of Mrs. S. E. Taylor, charged with conspiracy to murder her husband recently at his home near Quanah, brought in a verdict of guilty and assessed the penalty at one year in the county jail. The case of Taylor's daughter, implicated in the same connection, was dismissed.

Frightfully Lacerated.

PARIS, Tex., Sept. 19.—A serious if not fatal accident happened to Mrs. Jack Gordon of this city five miles from here yesterday afternoon. She went with her husband hunting in a buggy, and it seems that he was away some distance shooting when the horse became frightened and ran away. A farmer in a field near by heard her screams and going to the place found her hanging on a barbed wire fence. Her clothing was badly torn and her back frightfully lacerated. There were ugly gashes on her head, but it is no known that the skull is fractured. She has been unconscious since the accident.

Died of Heart Disease.

BELTON, Tex., Sept. 20.—Thursday night about 10 o'clock Perry Gardner and Frank Campbell, colored men, were walking down the avenue when, in front of Heron's drug store, Frank Campbell fell upon the sidewalk, his head striking one of the doors of the drug store. Parties sitting close by first thought he was drunk, but his companion insisted that he had not been drinking. An attempt was made to raise him up, but he was too sick. A doctor was sent for and came in a few minutes. Upon examination the doctor said it was a case of heart disease. The negro died in a few minutes.

Fatally Shot.

MARION, Tex., Sept. 22.—A very sad accident happened yesterday. The two sons of Mr. E. Selligman, a prominent merchant, went out hunting. The eldest of the two boys, Julius, was walking ahead when the gun behind fired accidentally and the whole load of shot lodged in the breast of the younger brother, Menze, aged 11, causing immediate death. The accident occurred only a few feet from the creek where Mr. Selligman's brother-in-law was drowned about a year ago.

A Gun Accident.

FLORENCEVILLE, Tex., Sept. 16.—H. Jackson came down yesterday morning, sent as an expert to adjust the machinery of the Kroezer's gin. He went to the gin without seeing Kroezer or telling his business, commenced examining the machinery and in five minutes had his right arm torn to shreds from the elbow to the wrist. Doctors were sent for, his wounds dressed and he was taken to San Antonio on the noon train. He may lose his arm and possibly his life.

Kills His Brother.

BREDELL, Tex., Sept. 17.—A very sad accident happened at the residence of S. F. Marshall. His little 4-year-old boy was accidentally shot with a pistol in the hands of his brother, two years his senior, who had, by climbing in a chair, secured the pistol, which was lying on the mantelpiece. They were playing with the pistol when it was discharged, striking his little brother in the breast, killing him almost instantly.

An Irrigation Prospect.

WACO, Tex., Sept. 18.—A huge irrigation project is suggested by the extensive German and Bohemian settlement in and about West. That is no less than the irrigation of the entire delta between the Brazos and the Tebuseans, a project that is made feasible by the dam proposed on the Brazos.

Ran Over and Killed.

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 20.—A young man named Peter Nedd, of Point Blanc, San Jacinto county, section hand on the International and Great Northern, was killed near Highland by being run over by a passing train.

A woman named Annie Kelley, living in the notorious "acre" at Fort Worth, took a dose of carbolic acid. Heretic treatment brought her around, and upon regaining consciousness she denounced taking the stuff with suicidal intent.

The Fort Worth refrigerator company will begin operation on Oct. 1 and will slaughter about 200 beef a day and whatever hogs can be obtained. Work has been steadily pushed all summer so that the plant could begin work on the above date.

It is believed from present indications the State Normal school at Huntsville will open its session with fully 400 students in attendance. The new building will give ample accommodation for 500, the number is expected before the session ends.

The city council of Taylor has just closed a contract with an eastern firm for 750 single desks for scholars, teachers' chairs, desks and other school furniture for $2172. The new $35,000 addition to the school buildings will be completed at an early day.

While Joel Partain, living a few miles south of Honey Grove, was riding upon a wagon loaded with three bales of cotton the wheels were thrown in a deep rut and he fell to the ground, sustaining serious internal injuries from which he may not recover.

As J. M. Williamson was driving out of Kaufman with a can of coal oil in his hand the can exploded and he severely had time to loosen the wheels from the horse before the buggy was entirely consumed. No reason can be assigned for the oil taking fire.

William Bradberry, a cabinet-maker, James Barnes, a carpenter, and Bradberry's brother-in-law, had a difficulty at Marshall, in which Bradberry was stabbed and dangerously wounded in the lower left bowels and Barnes was struck on the head with a picket.

The committee on subscriptions to the citizens' artesian well fund of Paris, supplemented to the city and county appropriations, wound up their work with most gratifying results. The amount reported by the authorities, $2300 and $4,500 was subscribed.

The famous artesian well recently dug near Postoffice, Grayson county, is the largest in the state. It is about 270 feet deep, and when its full power is on throws water through a five-inch pipe twenty feet high and requires about 100 pounds pressure to stop it.

A recent heavy rise in the San Felipe river carried away the new iron bridge at Del Rio, which had just been finished at a cost of $3000. Several houses were washed down and many families had to flee for their lives. The damage done to roads and bridges is incalculable.

Nathan Lavasier, a Baptist minister of the Gospel, has been jailed at Fort Worth charged with the theft of $25, which he does not deny. He has been preaching in the White settlement in Tarrant county, and is originally from Mississippi, from which state he brings good credentials.

Lybun McCoy, colored, who lives near Crockett, met a horrible death while digging a well a few days ago. He was down some fifty feet when he discovered there was some foul air in the well. He called to his assistant to draw him up, but when within a few feet of the top he fell back and was instantly killed.

While Mrs. J. J. Lockett, living near Leonida, was kindling a fire in the stove which kept her own child, setting fire to her clothing and that of her little child, who was playing on the floor near by. The woman ran from the house screaming and was met by her husband, who extinguished the flames when enveloped her, but too late to save her life, and she died in great agony. The little child only lived about an hour.

Willie Black, the 14-year-old son of Col. W. L. Black, the well known sheep man of McKavitt, during the absence of his father and brother went riding on a wild horse. As night came on and the boy did not return Mrs. Black became much alarmed, but could do nothing but wait. In the morning her daughter went in search of the missing son and brother, but had not gone far from the ranch when she came upon his mangled remains, the boy having evidently been killed by the vicious animal he was riding.

Jack Nicholas, colored, on returning home from his day's employment, found some persons standing on the inside of his yard near his home at Bryan, and, although he asked several times who it was, he received no answer, after which the party started to run and Jack began firing upon them with his sixshooter. The first shot brought a tremendous yell. Three more shots were fired without effect. The party proved to be another negro, and he received a flesh wound in one of his thighs.

An Indian living near El Paso, just before leaving home on some business, put his two little children, a boy and girl, between the ages of 5 and 7 years in a large box and nailed down the lid to prevent them from getting into the orchard and eating fruit during his absence. The father did not return home for two days, and upon opening the box found the boy dead and the little girl in a dying condition. The suffocating closeness of their prison, combined with hunger and thirst, had done its work. The man was promptly arrested and jailed.

ALLIANCE DEPARTMENT.

ALLIANCE BRIEFS.

The day is just approaching when the southern cotton grower can say to the milled manufacturer, "If you want my cotton, pay me what it is worth; if not, you don't get it." Thanks to the great Farmers' Alliance.—Atlanta Alliance.

The people are in debt far beyond their means of payment and their debts must be paid in dollars, and dollars are paid by law, and their distribution controlled by the creditor classes. There is no possible way out of the dilemma that is peaceful but government control of the distribution of money. If this is not established speedily, the wealth-producers of the country will be compelled to choose between slavery and revolution. It may now be settled by an appeal to the ballot box, but if long deferred forced repudiation is inevitable, as the people will not perpetually remain in debt-slavery.—Industrial Age.

Every writer on political economy who is considered worthy to be recognized as an authority agrees that it is the volume of money in circulation in a nation that controls the price of the products of labor in that country. Yet there are those who persist in claiming that the amount of money has nothing to do with such prices; but, instead, that the law of supply and demand alone controls. Such people seem to forget that supply and demand are predicated on something else of which they lose sight altogether. Supply is dependent on the energies and intelligence of the people who produce, while demand rests upon the ability to purchase, and this ability comes from the possession of money.

A Mr. Crawford, said to be State Agent for Kansas, has written a letter calling R. L. Beaumont an agitator, a poor man and no good anyhow. Well, everybody knows that Beaumont is poor, and that he came honestly by his poverty. Every one ought to know that he is not only an agitator, but an educator as well. As for his being no good, go and hear him talk; you will be better able to judge. A man who can hold an audience of anywhere from two to fifteen thousand people for three and four hours at a time, some of whom have come fifty miles to hear him, don't usually wear that kind of a tag. Give the country more Beaumonts and fewer Crawfords.—National Economist.

The question might be properly asked, what better is a national banking system whose provisions are continually set at naught than the old system of state or wildcat banks? Of what avail for the protection of the people is a law constantly violated? If the laws governing national banks were enforced as strictly as the rules governing the sale of peanuts on the streets a large number would lose their charters.

To the disciplined soldier the demand of duty is imperative; the position of the battle standard, and not the disorderly cry of the routed forwards, will indicate where that calls. The great battle now imminent is between a just public sentiment, the rightful ruler of a republic, and the debasing power of vast combinations, and at the front is the awakened intelligence of the people. The genius which must finally decide the issue in favor of the right is the strength derived from education, aided and guided by justice and morality.

It has become more evident that greater familiarity with the underlying principles of the Alliance is necessary. Therein lies the hope of the Order, and the perpetuity of its patriotic principles. That the people are in advance of the representatives chosen to make and execute laws is due in great part to the farmers' movement, and on that movement may be laid its responsibility for preserving the alignment of the forces of public sentiment. Education is discipline in the tactics of reform. The entering word to every council of reformers, should be, Educate.

There are enough competent leaders among the farmers if they will come forward and assume their proper places in this movement to cleanse the Augean stables of politics. The danger is that they will stand back and permit men who have nothing in common with tillers of the soil, nothing but selfish objects in view, to take direction and control. It requires talent of no common order to lead such movements to successful termination.—Dallas Mercury.

Colored Alliances.

The National Farmers' Alliance and Industrial Union permits the organization of colored Alliances, but at the same time denies to them representation in the National Alliance and in the supreme council. The Mirror is in favor of equal and exact justice to all men, regardless of race, color or previous condition, but it wants all colored organizations to have their own state and national organizations, as well as their own schools and churches and separate hotels and railroad accommodations.—Mirror, Selma, Ala.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.
The causes that have led to the present stringency in the money market have provoked much discussion, and alarmists have seized upon the opportunity to ventilate their peculiar notions and predict dire disaster unless their pet political hobby is immediately formulated and enacted into a law. As a matter of fact, the United States was never in a more prosperous condition generally than at the present time, or promised greater returns for labor and capital when skillfully and intelligently utilized. All through the South and West one cannot help but notice the marked activity in trade, commerce, manufacturing, building, mining and every other material enterprise. The circulating medium of our country is too small per capita to carry on successfully such wonderful developments in the periods of greatest activity without a consequent disturbance and stringency at the money centers of the country. The present state of affairs has undoubtedly been brought about through natural causes and stimulated to a greater or less extent by manipulation or designing and unscrupulous men in the great stock exchange. At this season of the year there is always a brisk demand for money to move the crops of the country.

Grain and cotton must be paid for in cash and the local banks are soon drained of their ready supply and must necessarily draw on their correspondents at the money centers to supply the demand. This alone always makes money comparatively scarce and dear at this season of the year. But in addition to the money which has been required to keep up the great developments going on and to supply the channels of commerce for the purpose of moving enormous crops that are being harvested, we have an unusual factor in the problem which we believe is the straw that recently broke the back of the money market in New York.

We refer to the tariff legislation and more particular to the McKinley bill which will undoubtedly become a law. The great importers, seeing that the duty was about to be largely increased on certain classes of goods, ordered, in addition to their usual supply, enormous consignments for speculative purposes, far beyond present requirements of their trade or the legitimate demand of consumers. Now, it has undoubtedly taken millions of money out of the country to consummate these great importations, and this unusual drain at this particular time of the year has been an important factor in making money scarcer than usual.

The stockjobbers on Wall street have undoubtedly taken advantage of the situation to depress securities and realize exorbitant rates of interest on their money. Many remedies are proposed to correct the evil. One congressman would have the national banking circulation retired and a much larger issue of treasury notes in its place; another would have free coinage of all gold and silver bullion; another would buy up the outstanding government bonds until the surplus was practically exhausted, while another would have a largely increased issue of greenbacks, so that the circulating medium of the country would be 25 to 50 per cent more than it is at the present time. There is no doubt, however, that when the bulk of our present crop is moved and the McKinley bill is defeated or becomes a law so as to stop the unusual importation of goods, the money market will naturally resume its usual condition, and that there will be abundant capital for the development of all legitimate enterprises.

Until then we see no cause for alarm. The present high rates will naturally attract all the money that may be needed, and the equilibrium will be readily restored.—Fort Worth Gazette.

A LETTER.
The following was a private letter to the editor of THE STAR, but as the Gazette and Col. Malone both have many friends here we will take the liberty of publishing it:

FORT WORTH, TEX., SEPT. 19 1890.
W. E. Gilliland, Esq.
Baird, Tex.

DEAR SIR—
Your very kind invitation has been received. It would afford the writer pleasure to be with you at your first Fair, but this is a time for rustling and it will be impossible to get away from the office. If we can get hold of any of our men who are at leisure, we will try and have some one present.

We very much appreciate your cordial invitation and sincerely wish that circumstances were such that we could accept it.

Yours very truly,
DEM. PUB. CO.

BEFORE a paper attacks the record and impugns the motives of its contemporaries on party measures, it should indulge in strict self-examination and see if it has always been true to the party and its nominees. It sometimes happens that those who have the most shaky records are the loudest in their protestations of party fealty.

It is really amusing to see the way some of the country weeklies are trying to use the party lash to force democrats to vote for the commission amendment. In this enlightened age men are reading and thinking for themselves. The party lash has lost its terrors.

SHE WAS POISONED!

Not by anything she drank or took, but by bad blood. Is it any wonder she feels "blue?" In most cases blues are only another name for bad blood. A man or woman feels unhappy. Life seems dark. The heart is heavy. Bad blood is carrying its poison all over the body, and we call it "blues."

Read these experiences: Mrs. C. C. Hutchinson, of Pittston, Pa., says: "I consider Dr. Acker's English Blood Elixir the best medicine in the world, not only for blood troubles, but also for dyspepsia, with which I have been afflicted."

"Both my wife and myself firmly believe that Dr. Acker's English Blood Elixir is the best of all blood medicines, and will remove all impurities of the blood."

The Star is catching it all around because Callahan county instructed for Hogg. Well The Star did all it could against the East Texas "rooter," but he "got thar all the same." It is some consolation, however, to know that The Star is not alone in its failure to stem the tide of fanaticism that is sweeping over the State Baird STAR

This is equivalent to saying that if Mr Hogg had lived in another section of the State—had he been in other words, a West Texas "rooter,"—The Star would have supported him. Is it fanaticism, is it, to support an East Texas man for the governorship? This is patriotism and love of country with a vengeance. Rusk County News.

THERE is not a syllable in THE STAR's article to warrant the assumption that we opposed Mr. Hogg on sectional grounds. The News should not jump at conclusions. THE STAR would have opposed Mr. Hogg just the same if he had lived in Western Texas, because we did not believe him the best man for governor. It is not fanaticism to support an east Texas man for governor, but is fanaticism to support a man for office, simply because of his record in making war on railroads, as many of our exchanges did do during the campaign.

Wanted me not slow to comprehend. They're quick. They're alive, and yet it was a man who discovered the one remedy for their peculiar ailments.

The man was Dr. Pierce. The discovery was his "Favorite Prescription"—the boon to delicate women.

Why go round "with one foot in the grave," suffering in silence—misunderstood—when there's a remedy at hand that isn't an experiment, but which is sold under the guarantee that if you are disappointed in any way in it, you can get your money back by applying to its makers.

We can hardly imagine a woman's not trying it. Possibly it may be true of one or two—but we doubt it.

Women are ripe for it. They must have it. Think of a prescription and nine out of ten waiting for it. Carry the news to them!

The seat of sick headache is not in the brain. Regulate the stomach and you cure it. Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the Little Regulators.

JOVENILE CRUSADERS.

Nine Thousand Girls Under 8 Years Old Went to Free Jerusalem in 1912.

The term "dark ages" is somewhat vaguely applied to that period following the fall of the Roman empire and preceding the revival of letters in the fourteenth century.

In all it has been estimated that not less than 2,000,000 of human lives were lost in this wild attempt to keep the pagans out of Jerusalem.

The excitement caused by the workings of these boy crusaders spread like a plague; whole families of children joined the hosts already organized.

The combined number of these two armies was 50,000, about 9,000 being girls under 8 years of age.

The combined armies of Nicholas and his unknown ally lost not less than 12,000 children by heat, hunger and fatigue before reaching the first valley in Italy.

During the embarkation I was engaged separating these negroes who did not appear robust, or who had received some trifling injury in getting on deck, and sending them to an improvised hospital made by bulk-heading a space in the rear of the forecastle.

The others, as they arrived, were stowed away by the Spanish luter, so that when all were aboard there was no room for each to lie upon one side.

The negroes were now sent on deck in groups of eight and squatted around a large wooden platter, heaping full of cooked rice, beans, and pork cut into small pieces.

A Drunken Cowboy Kills the City Marshal and is Wined by Citizens.

BET TOO HEAVY ON THE LOSING HORSE.

Two Gypsy Families, Numbering Nine Persons, Are Swept Away and Drowned by a Cloudburst.

RENO, N. T., Sept. 20.—A terrible tragedy occurred here Thursday evening in which City Marshal Nevitt lost his life. A drunken cowboy named John Sparks attempted to take the town and Nevitt tried to quiet him. At this Sparks took offense and drew his revolver. Both fired at the same time. Sparks' bullet took effect in Nevitt's stomach, causing instant death. Sparks attempted to escape, but a volley from spectators halted him. One of the shots broke his arm. He was arrested.

Persecuted Voodoo King.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 17.—James Bailey, the king of modern voodoo doctors, is in jail on a charge of obtaining goods by false pretenses. He has long been the joy and sorrow of the negroes wherever he traveled. They appealed to him in sickness and distress, but those who were so unfortunate as to incur his displeasure would shun him as they would a viper for fear he would put them under the influence of the terrible voodoo spell. A few days ago he went to the home of Fannie Jones, colored, and told her there was a pot of gold and a large diamond ring buried in her back yard. He said that the queen of heaven had revealed to him the hiding place of the treasure and he had come to find it, but in order to locate it he must have gold in his hands. Fannie gave him her two gold rings and he went away with them without finding the hidden pot of gold. Then the woman, having the danger of his voodoo spells, had him arrested. The doctor says the queen of heaven will speedily punish all who do harm to her chosen girl priest.

Stowly Dying.

CARONDALE, Pa., Sept. 19.—Mrs. Adam Wutcher has now passed 173 days without food of any kind. The woman is in a critical condition and is believed to be near death's door, as internal convulsions and a slight movement of the left arm are the only signs of life manifest. The lower half of her body is cold and she is entirely pulseless at the wrists. Mrs. Wutcher suffers excruciating pains during the interim between her regular convulsions. A bandage now covers her blind eyes to hide their bad appearance and another holds up her chin to ease the pain she suffers from the cancer in her throat. Mrs. Wutcher does not sleep more than twenty minutes a day, during which there is no perceptible movement of her chest, and her complexion changes to a death-like hue. Several attempts have recently been made to give the woman nourishment, but each failed.

Took Paris Green.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept. 17.—Christopher Stanley, an old inventor, killed himself here Monday with paris green because, as he alleged, he was unable to discover perpetual motion. He had experimented for several years and spent hundreds of dollars. He was 74 years old, a veteran of the Franco-Prussian war and was a fine mechanic, but an eccentric character. He ate half a can of the poison, told his landlady he was tired of life and his struggle for fame and giving her $75 for funeral expenses, lay down in his bed and died.

Two Families Drowned.

EVANSVILLE, Ark., Sept. 20.—Two families of kyspies, numbering nine persons, camped at the foot of the creek about a mile north of here Tuesday. During the night it is supposed a cloudburst, for the following morning the bodies of six of them, who had been drowned, were recovered. Those drowned were Dunan George and two children, and Hannah Jones and child. The men saved themselves and one child by clinging to some trees. The men say they own a farm near Kansas City.

Held Up a Stage.

SAN ANTONIO, Cal., Sept. 19.—A stage from Valley Springs to San Antonio was stopped by two masked men yesterday evening about four miles from this town. Eight passengers were on board and were robbed of about $50, and the wooden treasure box of the Wells-Fargo Express company was also taken. Another box remained untouched. Immediately upon the arrival of the stage here the sheriff started in search of the robbers.

A Double Tragedy.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 17.—Word was received by telephone Monday night from Perkins station that trouble arose between A. Menker and his son-in-law, J. J. Gatella, that evening concerning domestic and business matters and resulted in a shooting affray. Menker is reported dead and Gatella mortally wounded and a son of Menker dangerously wounded, if not fatally. The parties are all prominent hop-growers.

Brotherhood of Conductors.

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 20.—The International Brotherhood of Railway Conductors yesterday practically decided two things, that Toledo will be selected for headquarters of the order and the re-election of Grand Chief Conductor George Whitford for next year. The salary of that official was formally increased by $1000, but on Mr. Howard's protest it was fixed at the same figure, $3000.

Aircoous Wife Hanged.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 18.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary J. Parsons, wife of Abraham Parsons, one of the wealthiest men in Memphis, who was supposed to have committed suicide Tuesday, was announced to take place yesterday and the body was en route to the cemetery, followed by a procession a mile long. When the sheriff's posse arrived and took possession of the remains. The extraordinary proceedings of the authorities created a profound sensation. The story circulated Tuesday and generally accepted was that Miss Parsons, daughter of the dead woman, on missing her mother on awakening in the morning, at once began search for her. In the backyard she found her mother lying in a pool of blood, dressed in her night apparel, with one side of her head almost blown entirely away and a pistol on the ground within a few inches of one of the stiff hands. Everything indicated suicide, and as Mrs. Parsons had been in poor health for some time past it was accepted as a case of suicide. After the authorities took possession of the body a post mortem examination was held which revealed one of the most atrocious murders in the annals of crime. The woman's skull was crushed in three places, besides containing an ugly bullet hole. Mr. Parsons was at once arrested and jailed on suspicion of having committed the crime. He is a man past the meridian of life and appeared to take his incarceration coolly. He protested his innocence and declared he would be able to prove that his wife died by her own hand. Enough is known to remove all doubt of the suicide and to reveal a plot concocted to murder Mrs. Parsons, who was a woman of strong will and great determination. The police entertain the opinion that there are others implicated in the murder and they have a ciew which will probably lead to several arrests.

Hay Hamilton Drowned.

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 16.—Robert Ray Hamilton, whose trouble with his wife created such a sensation at Atlantic City and New York city a year ago, resulting in Mrs. Hamilton being sent to the penitentiary for stabbing her nurse, Mary Ann Donnelly, was drowned in Snake river, Idaho, about three weeks ago. He had bought a ranch on Snake river and had been living there quietly for some weeks. About three weeks ago J. A. Green, son of Norvin Green, president of the Western Union Telegraph company, was at the ranch and found that Hamilton had gone out hunting alone several days before. Green made up a party and started to find him. About thirty miles from the ranch he had evidently been drowned while fording the river, as his horse and dog were found, the former with the bride still on but turned under the belly. Green had the horse taken to the ranch and telegraphed Hamilton's friends in New York, but nothing appears to have been known of the event until Sunday, when Green arrived at Helena.

His Creditors at Work.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 23.—John W. Dunn, one of the wealthiest brick manufacturers of Chicago, has disappeared. An anxious wife, few anxious creditors and a score of anxious friends are in a state of wonderment as to what has become of him. He left indebtedness of $15,000 with the Union Trust company, $7000 at the Chicago National bank, $4000 at the First National bank and $100 with the John Spry lumber company. These, with a number of smaller accounts, will make his liabilities figure up something like $25,000. During the summer he has been a regular attendant at the west and south side races and was a heavy player. About a month ago he took a trip east to try his luck at some of the eastern courses. He returned a fortnight ago something over $40000 loser. After this he was morose and dejected. His business was in bad shape and everything seemed to be going wrong. He left several days ago, saying he was going to Milwaukee, but nothing has been heard of him since.

Dual Desperate and Deadly.

NEWBERT, Ala., Sept. 16.—A double fatal street duel occurred here Sunday between Robert Turpin and Glen Duskia, two prominent young men of this town. They had quarreled Saturday afternoon, but parted with the understanding that each should arm himself and shoot on sight. Sunday afternoon they came together in the center of the town, when the firing began and each emptied his revolver. Duskia fell mortally wounded, with four balls in his body, and the last shot from his pistol, after he had fallen to his knees, struck Turpin in the fore head, killing him instantly.

Hotel Kitchen Tragedy.

PARGOULD, Ark., Sept. 15.—Shortly after breakfast Saturday morning James Langford and James Owens, first and second cooks at the Gager house, quarreled, during the progress of which Langford threw a ladle of molten lead at Owens and then ran. The latter pulled a revolver and shot the fleeing man through the body, inflicting a mortal wound.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

The River and Harbor Bill Signed by the President, and it Eccomes a Law.

GALVESTON GASHES THE PIE AT LAST.

A Response to Senator Pumb's Resolution as to the Manner of Paying for Silver Bullion.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The news came in yesterday morning about 11 o'clock from Crossen, where the president is sojourning, that he had signed the river and harbor bill. At first there were some doubts about it, because the bill was received by his assistant secretary Thursday afternoon and would not have reached the president before this morning. Therefore there was some surprise at the report, but the doubts were quickly dissipated, as the news was verified by later reports. The president signed it almost as soon as he received it, and the bill became a law. Texas will get about $7,000,000 under it, the bulk of this going to Galveston.

The House investigation. WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—In the House investigation yesterday Mr. Cooper asked the commissioner whether there was a sub-company of the Universal Refrigerator company in this district. The commissioner objected to going into the matter, but at the request of the chairman he proceeded to answer Mr. Cooper to the effect that steps had been taken looking to the formation of a sub-company; that stock had been subscribed; that Bradley Tanner (who sat at his desk) was secretary of the company; that Tanner had subscribed for one share of stock so as to be able to act as incorporator, but that no money had been paid in; that organization was in fact inactive as yet. Tanner was absolutely the only pension office employe interested in the company.

In Reference to Silver. WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Acting Secretary Batcher yesterday sent to the senate a communication in response to Senator Pumb's resolution of Thursday as to the manner of paying for silver bullion. He says that checks drawn in payment of silver bullion pass through the New York clearing-house the same as other checks drawn on the assistant treasurer at New York. It is necessary, he says, at times since the law took effect to issue notes of large denomination in payment for silver purchases, but they will be replaced by smaller notes. He states that there has been no demand of any magnitude upon the treasury for the redemption of these notes in gold coin.

Amendments Accepted. WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Confers on the tariff bill had a two-hours' meeting yesterday morning and, it is reported, made substantial progress. The most important action was the acceptance by the house conferees of the senate reciprocity amendment on binding twine, which had not been disposed of. It is understood that the senate increase of duties on wines, spirits and beer was abandoned by senate members of the conference committee. Iron, steel and glassware schedules have not yet been considered.

The Chinese Must Go. WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The treasury department has informed the collector of customs at El Paso, Tex., that "the department has decided that the laws providing for the exclusion of Chinese contemplate the return to China of Chinese found and adjudged to be unlawfully within the United States, whether they entered from China direct or some intermediate country, and that such Chinese should be returned to China via the port of San Francisco as the most convenient point of exit from your district."

Kennedy Censured. WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—A meeting of the judiciary committee yesterday called to consider a resolution censuring Representative Kennedy of Ohio for his speech against the senate and Senator Quay and to expunge the speech from the Congressional Record decided to report a resolution directing the government printer to omit the speech from the permanent copy of the Record.

A CHEYENNE ROMANCE.

On a prominent eminence in the prairie overlooking the town of Tahlequah, I. T., has been a solitary grave or sixteen years. It contained the remains of Mary Dowling, the wife of a full-blood Cherokee chief, Lewis Dowling. At the time of her death the place was her home, and it was her dying request that she should be buried on the summit of the hill. Since then the property has passed into strange hands, and the grave has been in the midst of a corn field. The present owner, a gentleman from Georgia, hearing that she was a chief's wife, thought it was due her to rest in a more sacred place. So her remains were exhumed recently and taken to the Tahlequah cemetery. Her maiden name was M. Ayer. She was born in Bethlehem, Pa., was highly educated and accomplished and a woman of wealth. She had very romantic ideas, and her infatuation for Indians was extreme. In 1863 Chief Lewis Dowling was sent to Washington, D. C., on business for the Cherokees. Though a full-blood, he spoke English quite well. While at Washington he had occasion to visit Bethlehem, and accidentally met Miss Ayer, who fell desperately in love with him. The chief lingered longer in Bethlehem than he had intended, not being able to tear himself away from the charms of so fair a lady, and ere his departure had won her consent to be his bride and share a place in his wigwam. It was agreed between the two that she would follow him to the territory and be married at the capital. She required six months to dispose of her property and convert her valuables into cash. Chief Dowling returned to his nation, and with him it proved "out of sight out of mind." The ardor of his love for Miss Ayer soon cooled, and he wrote her withdrawing his engagement. She, a ter reading his letter, remarked that "it took two to make a contract and two to break it," and so wrote him. Before this letter reached the chief he had married a dusky maiden of his own tribe. Miss Ayer having gotten everything in readiness started for the territory. According to contract she arrived at Tahlequah, and on hearing of his marriage made up her mind to make her home among his people, devoting her life to their advancement. Years elapsed and the chief's wife died. Miss Ayer being still single, he renewed his broken vows and was again accepted. They were married and went to the house she had built. The life she had so long dreamed of was realized, but not long was she permitted to fill his house with light and love ere death claimed her. On her deathbed she told the chief that on the third evening after her burial she would return to him at her home. But he, inheriting the superstition of his race, closed the house after the funeral and returned to his home, about thirty miles distant, on Grand river. It is said that on the third night after her burial lights were seen moving from window to window, and the Indians firmly believe to this day that she reappeared on that night.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

They Go by Contraries.

The Japanese books begin where ours end, the word fins coming where we put the title page; the foot notes are printed at the top of the page and the reader puts in his marker at the bottom. In Japan men make themselves merry with wine before dinner, not after; the sweets precede the roasts. A Japanese mounts his horse on the right side instead of on the left. The mane of the animal hangs on the left side instead of on the right; the horse stands in the stable with his head where his tail ought to be. Benches are hauled upon the beaches stern first. The Japanese saw and plane toward them instead of away from them. Keys turn in instead of out. The best rooms of a Japanese house are always at the back, and architects, when building, begin with the roof.

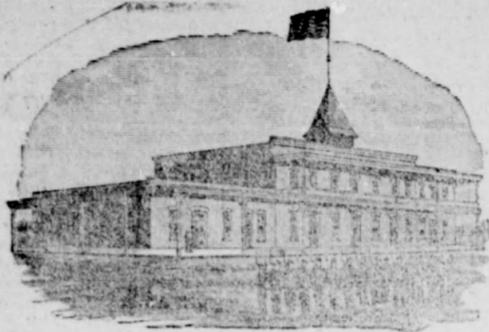

How the Tongue Tastes.

Of taste, a medical journal says that it is not equally distributed over the whole surface of the tongue. There are three distinct regions or tracts, each of which has to perform its own special office or function. The tip of the tongue is concerned mainly with pungent and acid tastes; the middle portion is sensitive chiefly to sweets or bitter, while the back or lower portion confines itself entirely to the flavors of rich, fatty substances. This subdivision of faculties in the tongue makes each piece of food undergo three separate examinations, which must be successively passed before it is admitted into full participation in the human economy.

A Diphtheria Epidemic.

An epidemic of diphtheria does not create half the panic that one would from cholera or yellow fever, and yet the mortality from it in many cases is three or four times as great. In Jacksonville, Fla., during the yellow fever epidemic there a couple of years ago, the mortality amounted to only one in eleven; in Boston in the same year there was a diphtheria epidemic and the mortality rose to one in three. In eleven years there have been 14,000 cases of diphtheria in Boston, 4,000 of which proved fatal.

INFANTS JUSTIFIED.

TO THE STAR:

In my last trip to Baird, I paid a visit to THE STAR accompanied by little Joe. There I found your two girls with smiling faces and pleasant manners. In the office I found everything in its place and a place for everything, so neat, so clean, it showed the girl's handi-work. The girls show a good mother's training, they are in a good training school, they expressed themselves as being highly pleased with their work. Now to my subject. In a discussion some time since, the question was noted: "Are infants and children in a justified state?" that is when they die, are they saved? Infants are justified because they are innocent before the law of any culpable transgression of law civil or divine. They are in a justified state because Christ taking little children in his arms said, "Of such is the kingdom of heaven." Infants are in a justified state because Christ justified unto hope all who fell in Adam. "Even so by the righteousness of one the free gift came upon all men unto justification of life" (Romans 5:18) "As in Adam all died, so in Christ shall all be made alive." Christ had power, and did, redeem and justify all from condemnation from the first offense or original sin, thus the infant or child being delivered from primeval law, came under the law to Christ. Man can sin against his maker and without repentance perish in his sin, but the infant could not thus sin, because it not only has the capacity to understand, but it is not a subject of law and cannot be held responsible for its conduct. The Apostle says, "Where there is no law there is no transgression" therefore to the infant there is no law; therefore to the infant there can be no transgression, where there is no transgression there can be no condemnation, where there is no condemnation there must be justification, therefore to the infant there must be justification. Where spiritual justification is there must be spiritual salvation; therefore to the infant there must be spiritual salvation. Hence we conclude that all infants are born, not in a dead state as some may say, but in a living justified state. Live in a justified state, dying in a justified state and are saved through the Redeemer's love. Oh, how gently the kind Shepherd carries the lambs in his bosom o'er the troubled waters into that land of pure delight, where saints immortal dwell.

THE FIGURE '9'

The figure '9' in our dates will make a fine stay. No man or woman now living will ever date a document without using the figure '9'. It stands in the third place in 1890, where it will remain ten years and then move up to the second place in 1900, where it will rest for one hundred years.

There is another '9' which has also come to stay. It is unlike the figure '9' in our dates in the respect that it has already moved up to first place, where it will permanently remain. It is called the 'No. 9' High Arm Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine.

The 'No. 9' was endorsed for first place by the experts of Europe at the Paris Exposition of 1889, where, after a severe contest with the leading machines of the world, it was awarded the only Grand Prize given to family sewing machines, all others on exhibit having received lower awards of gold medals, etc. The French Government also recognized its superiority by the decoration of Mr. Nathaniel Wheeler, President of the company, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

The 'No. 9' is not an old machine improved upon, but is an entirely new machine, and the Grand Prize at Paris was awarded it as the greatest advance in sewing machine mechanism of the age. Those who buy it can rest assured, therefore, of having the very latest and best.
