City awaits ruling on gas rate hearing

No ruling has yet come out of a hearing in Austin Friday morning before Texas Railroad Commission Examiner Austin Bray, nor is one expected for several weeks.

The hearing was called by the Railroad Commission (RRC) when Lone Star Gas Company appealed following the City of Iowa Park adopting a natural gas rate ordinance which the utility company claims lowered the rates required.

Attending the hearing were Mike Hubbard, city attorney, Gene Britton, city administrator, and Johnny Crawford, mayor. The meeting was started at 10 a.m. and lasted until 12:30.

A full hearing was scheduled by the examiner on the issue for July 15, also to be held in Austin.

However, that hearing might not ever come about.

Hubbard is to file a declaratory judgment on the jurisdiction of the RRC over the rates set for Iowa Park. Depending on scheduling problems brought about by a case in Wichita Falls Thursday morning, Hubbard said he would file the case Thursday or Friday.

Originally to be filed in federal court in Wichita Falls, the plan was changed to file it in Austin, because that is the seat of the RRC office.

Iowa Park contends that Lone Star Gas should be basing its gate rate for the city on interstate prices, rather than intrastate, because the city is on an interstate line and most, if not all, gas is purchased from Oklahoma.

The RRC has jurisdiction over all gas produced and consumed in the state (intrastate), but the Federal Power Commission rules on all interstate cases. On that basis the city will challenge the RRC's jurisdiction on gate rate setting here.

Britton acknowledged that the rate set by city ordinance would be low, if intrastate rates applied. However, he insists, the rate provides the proper profit, based on interstate prices paid by Lone Star at the Oklahoma well head.

At the outset of the hearing, Hubbard pointed out that Iowa Park was not acknowledging the RRC's jurisdiction over the city, but was there only to defend itself before the examiner.

They reported that the examiner was not surprised, because he produced both headlines and copies of articles which had appeared in the Iowa Park Leader on the subject.

"I was not surprised in terms of the RRC's stand, in terms of jurisdiction. They stated the state legislature has confirmed jurisdiction on them and until the courts change it, they must assume that responsibility. To my knowledge, no one has ever questioned that authority in terms of interstate, as it relates to city gate rates charged by a utility," commented Hubbard later.

"I feel they (the RRC) would be obligated to continue their stand as to jurisdiction until the legislature or courts change it."

The city attorney went on to say, "I was surprised that they allowed us to question their jurisdiction, over objection of Lone Star Gas. Lone Star contended this was a collateral attack on their jurisdiction, and previous rulings under GUD 588 (Gas Utility Docket 588).

"In our introduction we stated to the commission that we were going to question their jurisdiction on grounds of interstate activity by Lone Star. They allowed all our questions into their hearing records, which was not their practice just a week before, during the Vernon hearing.

"In fact, Lone Star objected so strong that the examiner disallowed the entire testimony of the Vernon city manager," Hubbard stated.

The only exhibit Lone Star produced at the hearing was a comparison of receipts under the city's ordinance and from rates requested by Lone Star.

G.H. Vaughn, director of accounting for the company, said the rates under the new ordinance would produce a "negative rate of return". He pointed out the ordinance lowered the income from $411,281 to $340,775.

Britton quickly pointed out Vaughn had omitted inclusion of the pass through charge.

An adjustment on the rates could be made by the RRC examiner, should he produce a ruling before the July 15 hearing, or before any injunction is handed down by federal court, though it is not expected.

It was pointed out that the July hearing might be postponed by federal court action, and possibly never be held, depending on what action the federal judge takes.

CHANGE EXPLAINED

Britton pointed out he had received some questions on why Lone Star's billing to city customers for last month did not include two rates, net and gross.

The one rate system was put into the new ordinance because in the utility company's sample ordinance, which originally called for a general price increase, elimination of the two-price system was requested.

Britton and Lone Star also disagree on terms concerning net and gross billing. Britton calls the gross bill a penalty for not paying by a prescribed date, while Lone Star calls the net bill a discount for paying by that date.

The city administrator points out that Lone Star, in documenting for new rates, always quotes the net figure, in order to show a lower profit figure.

Britton said Lone Star is supposed to start spot digging of its lines in the city sometime next week, to determine pipe condition, which is another basis for establishing rates.

Aldermen approve re-zonings

Two tracts of land were re-zoned during Monday night's lengthy meeting of the city council, attended by more than 20 persons. The northwest corner of Block 21, Texas Addition was re-zoned from automotive convenience to light industry. That tract is to the west of Singleton Communications, on West Highway.

The northeast corner of Block N, Texas addition, was re-zoned from single family residence to automotive convenience. The site is between Third Street and the Peppy's building, fronting the access road.

Another tract was requested to be re-zoned, but aldermen requested additional information on plans for it from the prospective buyer, before granting approval.

Rezoning of the land next to Singleton's is reportedly for the future location of Mowrey Gun Works. Arguments of neighboring residents against the business was countered by Singleton who said it would produce less traffic and noise than another drive-in eating place or service station.

Pioneer Real Estate has purchased the land on the access road north of Kidwell, and proposes to construct a brick business building. Carl King, one of the owners, pointed out that the site was not suitable for residential construction and if any other businesses occupied the new building with his firm, it would be of a professional nature, such as medical clinic, etc.

One neighbor said he had no objection to a professional building, including he would like it, but objected to the rest of the tract being re-zoned, fearing another type of business might locate there.

Peanuts Wilson explained that Everett Boulware was wanting to buy a lot he owns on West Highway, between the used car lot and new business building, for a "nice eating place."

Several neighboring residents objected, stating fears of trash, noise and late operating hours.

Wilson said Boulware proposes to build a brick building, where all the eating would be inside, and protect the area with a solid fence and hedge on both sides of the fence.

He pointed out that lots on both sides of the proposed site have businesses, and no one would ever want to build a house between them, just because it is zoned single family residence.

Alderman Joe Singer said early information the council received was that the proposal was for another drive-in type business, and that was why it was turned down.

The council asked that Boulware appear at the next meeting, that members might hear directly from him on the proposal, indicating they would support re-zoning if what

Wilson told them was correct.

OTHER BUSINESS

Council members again took up the subject of the drainage ditch south of West Highway between Park Plaza and Foley Addition.

At an earlier meeting, problems from standing water, insects, and weed growth were brought up by property owners wanting to know if the city would correct the situation.

Following a study made by a soil conservationist, City Administrator Gene Britton said the only feasible recommendation was to fill in the holes where the water stands, sod it and keep it mowed.

Mayor Johnny Crawford told property owners in the audience that there was just so much the city could do financially, and they would do as much as they could, which included following the conservationist's recommendations.

A lengthy discussion was held with the members of the Planning and Zoning Commission, who were asked by Crawford to attend the meeting. Mainly, discussion centered around re-zoning to allow for progress, as well as taking into consideration what land was more usable for business than for homes.

A new study of the city is in the making for some time in the future.

During a portion of the meeting, set aside to hear suggestions from citizens on possible expenditures of Revenue Sharing money for the coming year, John Sibley asked that

Police investigating vandalism, burglary

Two schools, the bank and a residence were hit by burglars and vandals this week, according to Iowa Park Police Department reports.

Burglary of Iowa Park High School was reported Monday by custodian M.L. Hodges.

According to police reports the only item stolen was an adding machine, although burglars damaged several offices and the cafeteria.

The adding machine was removed from the office of counselor Herman Escue, according to police reports.

Burglars removed papers from Escue's desk and scattered them throughout the office. Pictures had been taken off the wall and thrown on the floor, and a speaker had been ripped from the office wall.

Burglars removed a fire extinguisher from a hallway and sprayed Escue's office, police said.

Papers from secretary Susan Biddy's desk also were spread around the floor, and a soft drink machine was burglarized although no money was removed.

Curry, Railsback wedding vows recited Saturday

At the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Curry, a host of relatives and friends assembled at First Baptist Church Saturday evening to share in the joy of the marriage of their daughter, Barbara Dale, and Robert Kern Railsback, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Railsback. The Rev. Kenneth Flowers was the officiating minister for the double-ring ceremony.

The sacredness of marriage was the theme of the service, decorations and music with each phase lending itself to the general design to achieve a total effect of solemnity and beauty.

The first glimpse of the orchid and white colors dominating the decorative scheme was seen in the church foyer where guests signed the bride's book. Centering the long table was an eleven-branched white candelabra holding orchid votive candles in white milk glass cups. Purple asters, white roses and smilax fell in waterfall style between the candles. Mrs. Jerry Gholson and Mrs. Murray Shook received signatures of guests who registered with white feather pens removed from silver holders. At either extremity was a white basket filled with orchid satin rosebud rice bags.

Mrs. Bob Ferguson of Lewisville, cousin of the bride, organist, played a medley of traditional pre-nuptial selections. These included "Love Story", "Speak Softly Love", "A Time for Us", "Edelweiss" and "Moonlight Sonata". She played the accompaniment for Glenn Schell's vocal offerings, "Twelfth of Never" preceding the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer" for the benediction. The vocalist also sang "Make Us One" by recorded accompaniment.

Mrs. Ferguson heralded the approach of the bride and groom and their attendants to the altar by playing "The Wedding March" by Lohengrin and concluded her offerings with Wagner's recessional.

Solemnity keyed the altar decorations which were focused upon the V-shaped brass prayer bench where the couple knelt for the benediction and the trinity candelabrum where they paused to light the candle symbolizing their union.

Soft lighting was provided by white cathedral candles uprising from fifteen-branched candelabra in the altar space and seven-branched candelabra in the choir loft. Each appointment was graced with plaques of emerald greenery and orchid satin bows. The couple stood before a brass arch entwined with the greenery bedecked with three orchid satin bows for the recitation of their vows. Completing the setting were two attractive arrangements of orchid mums and white gladioli supported by brass pedestals. Orchid satin bows topped the aisle pews set apart for members of the families.

The bride walked the aisle to the altar on the arm of her father who presented her in marriage for both parents. She was radiant in a formal white Chantilly lace gown over taffeta fashioned with a basque bodice and bouffant skirt. The bodice was enhanced with scattered pearls below the Sabrina neckline and fitted sleeves that tapered to petal points over the hands. The bouffant skirt formed of constant tiers of lace flowed gracefully into a cathedral train in the back.

The bride's fingertip veil of imported French illusion was attached to a Juliet cap of lace and pearls. To complete the lovely picture, she carried a circular bouquet of white daisies, gypsophila, purple statice and miniature orchid carnations centered with an orchid in the shade of the carnations.

Her bridal traditions included a white linen handkerchief belonging to her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Ada Curry, for "something old", her mother's strand of pearls for "something borrowed". Completing the rhyme she wore the blue garter and sixpence in her shoe.

Preceding the bride to the altar were a maid of honor, a matron of honor, two bridesmaids, a junior bridesmaid, a flower girl walking with the ring bearer.

The groom's attendants consisted of a best man, three groomsmen and a junior groomsman.

The feminine participants in the wedding were attired in long orchid satin gowns set apart with sheer flocked bodices over the satin and sheer sleeves. The bodices were designed with low necklines and satin bands hugging the waistlines terminating in soft bows in the back.

They wore orchid picture hats banded with purple ribbon and carried crescent bouquets consisting of white miniature carnations, orchid daisies and gypsophila.

Miss Jo Ann Curry, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Jackie Gholson was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Amy Vance of San Antonio and Mrs. Eddie Worthy of Wichita Falls, sister of the groom. Miss Lana Thompson of Wichita Falls, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid and carried a miniature replica of the bouquets carried by the other attendants.

Jennifer Bernstein, the flower girl, carried a white basket filled with the chosen flowers and wore a band of flowers in her hair.

Ray Ferguson of Lewis-ville, the bride's cousin, the ring bearer, wore a candlelight tuxedo.

Miss Linda Scheer and Miss Carol Scheer of Henrietta, cousins of the bride, lighted the candles in the nuptial setting.

Chris Adams of Coolidge was best man. Groomsmen were Bob Aulds, Bob Ferguson of Lewisville and Eddie Worthy of Wichita Falls, and the junior groomsman was Drake Paris of Coolidge. Guests were ushered and seated by Norman Flowers and Brent Patterson.

The groom was attired in an all-white tuxedo and masculine participants wore white coats, black trousers and orchid ruffled shirts.

Mothers of the bride and groom wore orchids to compliment their formal long dresses. Mrs. Curry chose a yellow crepe dress featuring a bodice with pearl and sequin trim, sheer capelet sleeves and a band of embroidered lace extending from a deep V-neckline in front around the waistline. Mrs. Railsback wore a pale blue Qiana dress distinguished with a jeweled front bodice and matching sheer capelet sleeves.

Among the special guests were the bride's two grandmothers, Mrs. Carl Scheer of Henrietta and Mrs. Ada Curry of Wichita Falls.

The newlyweds are now on a honeymoon to Carlsbad, N.M., El Paso and Juarez, Mexico, the bride travelling in a white pant suit. Upon return, they will live at Waco. Both were graduated from Iowa Park High School and she received a degree from Baylor University this month. She belonged to Texas State Teachers Association. The groom is a senior at Baylor University. He is music and youth director at Timber Crest Baptist Church and works for Firmin Business Forms.

The bride's parents were hosts for the wedding reception held on the church lawn and headed the receiving line that formed near the big iron bell, an important part of the church history. Others in the line were the groom's parents, the bride and groom, and feminine members of the wedding party.

The bride's table was draped with delicate white lace over orchid satin. The focal point of interest was the romantic and sentimental centerpiece picturing a bride and groom standing before an arch of greenery. The bride was the new Mrs. Railsback's Barbie doll dressed in a white lace wedding gown, a miniature of the one that she was wearing. The doll had been dressed by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Dorothy Thompson, for the occasion. The groom, a Ken doll, was suited out in a tuxedo.

The four-tiered bride's cake was an all-white confection with two sets of dividers, and each tier was circled with orchid frosting roses. The complimentary top ornament consisted of familiar wedding symbols of bells, doves, ribbons and flowers arranged in outstanding manner on a white dais.

Miss Kellie Hamilton, Mrs. Ricky Alsup and Mrs. Johnny Roberts presided at the bride's table during the reception.

A handsome silver punch service was placed on a separate table laid with rich orchid satin. Miss Amy Stevenson of Irving and Miss Karen Caddell of Dallas served at the table.

Miss Pam Hudson and Miss Susan Ford of Waco were at the groom's table where they served the chocolate cake topped with the names of the bride and groom and their wedding date in frosting letters and coffee from the silver coffee service. The table held a white votive candelabrum with orchid candles in white milk glass cups and cascades of purple asters and white roses.

During the reception guests walked and were seated amid marble-topped and orchid satin-covered tables holding a variety of candles, floral arrangements, ceramic doves and other symbols appropriate for the occasion.

Reception assistants were Mmes. Joe Singer, Keith Aulds, Floyd Heard, Clyde Patterson, Wayne Williams and Donald Hill.

In connection with Friday evening's rehearsal for the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Railsback hosted a dinner at Underwood's in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Dorothy Thompson, the bride's aunt, was hostess for a bridesmaids luncheon Saturday at her home in Wichita Falls.

Early breakfast fetes graduate

Miss Patricia Cummings, a graduating senior at Iowa Park High School, was honored at an early morning breakfast Saturday in the home of Mrs. Alton Hunter with Miss Tammy Hunter the co-hostess.

The table featured a green cloth with yellow and green flowers and yellow candles.

Humorous incidents that had taken place in the lives of the guests were revealed and old times were shared.

Mrs. John Cummings, mother of the honoree, was present and 17 guests registered.

Breakfast honors 21 senior girls

A "friendship" breakfast honoring Cheryl Horsky and 20 senior girls was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Horsky, the honoree's parents Thursday morning.

The friendship theme was effectively carried out through handmade invitations depicting friendship, to gifts wrapped in paper accented with friendship scenes that were presented to each girl who attended the breakfast. Topping each package was a poem "What Is Friendship?"

Mrs. Horsky presented her daughter with a Tot-to-teen memory album. A "guess who" game where guests tried to match baby pictures with graduation pictures highlighted entertainment during the morning.

A fruit-filled watermelon, along with various kinds of rolls, coffee cake and beverage were served buffet-style.

The purpose of the breakfast was to give Mr. and Mrs. Horsky an opportunity to express their appreciation to Cheryl's friends that she had made since she moved to Iowa Park three years ago.

Senior girls attending the breakfast were Sandra Hammack, Elaine Cole, Cindy Francis, Laura Hubner, Dee Lynn Smith, Darla Roberts, Beckie Horton, Sherry Dozier, Kim Baca, Rhonda Barge, Cynthia House, Kathy Hines, Patricia Cummings, Dawn Billingsley, Julia Popejoy, Linda Beall, Holly Burrell, Inga Brown, Karren Brown and Cathy Baston.

MRS. RAYMOND L. GOOD

Caldwell, Good vows read in ceremony here Saturday

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H.R. Sullivan was the scene Saturday evening for a wedding ceremony uniting Mrs. Rudy Caldwell and Raymond L. Good, well known residents of the community. Officiant for the service was Mark Griot, youth minister of the Church of Christ at Springfield, Mo., grandson of the groom.

The couple stood under the handsome chandelier in the living room for the recitation of their vows. On either side white candles burned in gold and white candelabra entwined with emerald greenery and baby's breath graced with pink silk bows.

Danny Parkerson, vocalist, sang "Love, This Is My Song" preceding the ceremony.

Escorted by her son Michael, Caldwell of Toga, the bride wore a pink crepe floor length dress styled with long sleeves, a self-fabric band that extended around the waistline and raised to form a soft bow at the sweetheart neckline in front. She wore a pearl necklace and a corsage fashioned of pink sweetheart roses and rhinestone hearts.

Mrs. Roy Johnson was her mother's attendant. She wore a turquoise green Qiana gown with a fashionable multi-colored chiffon capelet bodice, complementing it with a corsage of pink and white carnations.

Bruce Good of Houston was his father's attendant.

A reception was held immediately following the wedding. The refreshment table was laid with a candlelight linen cutwork cloth bordered in lace. A bouquet of pink roses and stephanotis flanked by pink candles formed the center piece. The double wedding ring shaped cake was covered with a spray of pink frosting roses.

Miss Donna Cope of Olney, the groom's granddaughter and Miss Vickie Thompson served refreshments to the guests. They were assisted by Miss Betty Bracken, Mrs. Michael Caldwell and Mrs. Sullivan. Mrs. W.I. Lynn served at the table where approximately forty-five relatives and close friends registered.

Appropriate recorded music provided the background.

In connection with the rehearsal for the wedding, a brunch was held Saturday morning at the Sullivan home.

Mr. and Mrs. Good chose Hawaii for their wedding trip destination. Mrs. Good wore a white double knit suit and pink blouse. They will continue to live in Iowa Park.

Weedon, Sykes marriage ceremony held in Bryan

In a double-ring ceremony performed Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church at Bryan, Miss Teresa Ann Weedon became the bride of John Evant Sykes of College Station, former resident of Iowa Park.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Weedon of Bryan and parents of the groom are Mrs. Jan Sykes of Waco and W.R. Sykes of New Orleans, La.

Rev. Dale McCoy of Wharton was the officiant for the eight o'clock nuptials.

The altar of the church was decorated with a large sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and mums and tapered candles burning in branched candelabra. Wedding greenery was used at vantage points in the setting and again with white doves on the church pews.

Mrs. Jerry Nicholas of Nacogdoches, soloist, sang "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mr. Weedon presented his daughter in marriage. Simple elegance was the wedding gown designed of white silk taffeta, overlaid in silk organza and Venise lace that the bride chose for her wedding. The gown, by Ron LoVece, was fashioned with a natural waist and a fitted bodice of the lace extending into a sheer yoke and high wedding ring collar.

Triple tiers of circular cut organza formed shoulder and arm covering starting at the armseye in front and gently sloping to center back bodice. Appliques of the exquisite lace extended over the waist and down on the double layered organza skirt. The semi-circular skirt worn slipper length extended into a rounded court train at the back and covered French buttons closed the back bodice. Matching slippers completed her attire.

The bride's lace-edged mantilla that cascaded over the back of the gown to beyond the train's length was held by a matching lace camelot, giving added beauty to her costume. She carried a nosegay of white sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Miss Kim Diebel of Bryan was maid of honor. She wore a gown of mint green crisp dotted voile. The bodice featured a square cut neckline accented with scalloped Venise lace trim. A bertha cut collar fell from the neckline and formed a capelet effect over the arms, and a lace flower medallion further enhanced the bodice. The softly flared skirt fell to slipper length.

She wore a white picture hat trimmed with matching green ribbon and a large silk flower and carried a cascade of spring flowers.

The five bridesmaids and two flower girls were dressed identically to the maid of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. Jane Baker and Mrs. Susan Guest of College Station, Miss Penni Campbell of Bryan, Miss Jane Tatum of Lufkin and Miss Karen Graham of Bellville. Flower girls were Amy Woodyard of Deer Park and Denise Goehring of Bryan.

Best man was Chris Lingwall of Houston. Groomsmen were Pete Edquist, Charles Turner and Wayne Hallford, College Station, Lloyd Graham, Bryan, and Tim Bryan, Graham. Duties of ushering were assigned to John Graham, Bellville, Randy Sykes of Waco, brother of the groom, and Sgt. Joe Braden, Colorado Springs, the latter two also served as candlelighters.

The new Mrs. Sykes was graduated from Bryan High School and attended Texas A&M University. She is now employed with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service at College Station. The groom was graduated from Iowa Park High School and received a degree in animal science from Texas A&M this spring. He was an honor roll student and a member of Gamma Sigma Delta, Alpha Zeta and Saddle and Siroin at the university.

The bride's parents were hosts for the wedding reception held at Briarcrest Country Club. The all-white round cake was surrounded with smilax and topped with white doves. Assistants were Miss Ashley Woodyard of Deer Park and Miss Tracy Goehring of Bryan.

The groom's mother honored the couple at a rehearsal dinner Friday evening.

The newlyweds are now honeymooning in Acapulco, Mexico. For travel, the bride chose a three-piece white linen suit with navy blue trim and wore navy blue accessories. They will live in Bryan when they return.

Sullivans observe 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sullivan were honored at a family luncheon held Saturday in the Blue Room at Underwood's to commemorate their 50th wedding anniversary. Hosting the function were the couple's two daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schroeder.

Sixteen family members and a guest, Miss Kim Hamilton, attended the luncheon.

Carl Sullivan and Elsie Kyker were married May 21, 1927 in the parsonage of the First Methodist Church South of Waurika, Okla. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W.M. Roper, pastor.

He was employed by the Wichita County Water Improvement District Nos. 1 and 2 and the couple moved to the irrigation headquarters south of the Valley View community where they lived for six years. They moved into Iowa Park in the fall of 1933.

In 1951 Sullivan entered the building and contracting business and continued in that work until he retired five years ago. He has built many homes, commercial buildings and church property in the city and surrounding area during those years.

Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan are members of the First United Methodist Church and Christian Workers Sunday School class. He has served on the official board of the church and on the building committee.

One of his first loves is Little League and he sponsored a team for several years. He was a director of Water District No. 3 of the City of Iowa Park until the district was dissolved. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and Knights Templar in Wichita Falls.

Schnelle, James wedding held Saturday in Austin

Miss Lindsey Carlin Schnelle became the bride of Billy Dean James, Jr. Saturday evening at the home of the bride's father, Carlisle Schnelle in Austin. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Dean James of Iowa Park and the grandson of Mrs. D.O. James, and the late Mr. James. The double-ring vows were repeated on the overhanging deck of the terrace overlooking the skyline of Austin. The bride and her father, who presented her in marriage, and members of the wedding party walked a flagstone path that led to the nuptial area decorated with large banks of yucca plants with a profusion of large white blooms. To enhance the unusual setting, the deck was lined with blooming cacti. The couple knelt on a prayer bench entwined with English ivy.

Appropriate wedding music wafted through the air furnishing pre-nuptial music, the wedding marches and background music for the ceremony.

The bride designed and made her candlelight crepe de chine gown fashioned with a fitted bodice and tiered skirt that fell to casino length. The square neckline of the bodice was trimmed with embroidered eyelet which was repeated in the wide crushed sash that encircled the waistline and the narrow cuffs of the long sheer sleeves. The embroidered eyelet was thirty years old and easily furnished the "something old" tradition for the bride's costume.

She wore sprays of stephanotis in her hair and carried a wicker basket filled with roses, white and orchid daisies, purple statice, blue delphinium and baby's breath. She further observed the tradition in the bridal rhyme completing it with the sixpence in her shoe. Miss Celia Schnelle, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She was attired in blue dotted swiss styled sundress fashion with a tiered skirt and carried a smaller basket of mixed flowers like those in the bride's basket.

Billy Dean James served as best man for his son. Lee and Jeffrey Schnelle, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's father's home.

The bride's table, on the inside of the house overlooking the terrace, was covered with a white embroidered outwork cloth and was centered with the basket carried by the bride in her wedding. The special cake that she and her groom shared the joy of cutting was a white confection decorated with blue flowers emphasizing her chosen colors. The top ornament was a large cluster of white satin wedding bells nestled in puffs of blue net and lilies of the valley.

Table appointments included silver and crystal services to complete the decor.

The groom's table on the patio was laid with white linen bordered in pale blue linen and held the traditional groom's cake and a basket of mixed spring flowers. The couple will live in Austin when they return from their wedding trip to San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Galveston and other places of interest in Texas.

The bride is attending Texas University at Austin and is employed by Barton D. Riley and Associates. The groom is studying for a master's degree in architectural engineering and works in the Architectural Engineering Laboratory at the university.

A graduate of Iowa Park High School, he received a BS degree in architectural engineering from Texas University at Austin, graduating with highest honors in the department. He is a member of Alpha Phi Omega and several honor societies, Phi Eta Sigma, Chi Epsilon, Tau Beta Pi, Phi Kappa Phi and American Association of Architectural Engineers.

The bride and groom are both members of the archery team and club.

Out of town wedding guests were Mrs. D.O. James, paternal grandmother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Winkler and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Williamson, all from Iowa Park; Messrs. and Meses. Don James and Charla of Wichita Falls; Dale Hansard, Clint and Lisa of Lubbock; Donnie McManus, Mitch and Brent of San Antonio, Danny Watson and Tia of Boyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Bing D. Miller announce the birth of their second daughter Robin Jene. Born May 12, she weighed six pounds, fifteen and one fourth ounces. Their other daughter, Brandy, is four years old.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bing Miller of Wichita Falls and Mrs. E.T. Patterson of Iowa Park. The great-grandmother is Mrs. Inez Miller of Okmulgee, Okla.

Lori Dawn, an eight pound daughter, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Kasperek Jr. May 17. She has a brother, Gregory, two and a half years of age.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Kasperek and Mr. and Mrs. James Beals of Iowa Park. Great-grandparents are Mrs. Edna Lemond of Iowa Park, Mrs. Josie Kasperek of Seymour and Mr. and Mrs. George Holder of Altus, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Schell of Vernon announce the birth of their first child, Kenneth Wayne, a seven pound six ounce son born May 20 at Wilbarger Memorial Hospital.

The father of the new baby is director of music and the mother is assistant organist and pianist at First Baptist Church in Iowa Park.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Kelley of Lawton, Okla. The paternal grandmother is Mrs. Bessie M. Schell and the paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Sadie Russie, both of Sycamore, Ill.

MORE ABOUT HELL.

Little is heard today -- unless it be in derision -- of the old notion that hell is a place of fiery torment somewhere below the earth. There has been a revolt from the horrible doctrine that suffering without end is a just retribution for the sins of a few years of mortal life. This has partly resulted from a state of feeling which makes light of sin; but while we would repudiate any tendency to belittle sin, we would heartily agree that the doctrine of eternal torment cannot be reconciled with the belief in a righteous and loving God. Punishment for sin there must be; but it is a punishment consistent with God's character.

The tragedy is that this doctrine, which has been such a stumbling block to religion, need never have arisen if men had confined their ideas to what the Bible teaches about hell.

Today we are likely to be told that "hell" is not a place but a state of mind, or the "consciousness of alienation from God". This idea, like the other, has no warrant in Scripture.

The truth in the case is simple and beautiful. Hell in most cases simply means the grave. This must be evident even to the unlearned English reader who considers the following passages:

1. "The mighty ... are gone down to hell with their weapons of war, and they have laid their swords under their heads" [Ezek. 32:27]. This could not be the popular hell. The supposed ghosts of wicked men do not take swords to hell with them. But the bodies of great men in ancient times were accompanied to the grave with the weapons they used in their lifetime; and this is the fact referred to in the passage, which shows the hell spoken of is the grave.
2. "Thou wilt not leave my soul in hell" [Psa. 16:10]. Peter quotes this as a prophecy of Christ's resurrection from the grave [Acts 2:27-32]. With this meaning it is possible to understand it; but how is it possible to contemplate the idea of Christ having gone to the conventional hell?
3. Jonah, referring to his temporary burial in a fish, says, "Out of the belly of hell cried I" [Jonah 2:1-3]. The fish was a living grave to him, but the conventional hell is out of question.
4. "Thou Capernaum shalt be brought down to hell" [Matt. 11:23]. The overthrow and ruin of a city may be described as a bringing to the grave; but a city cannot be pictured as going down bodily into a fiery hell; or as experiencing a mental state.
5. "The sorrows of death compassed me: the pains of hell gat hold on me" [Psa. 116:3]. David here speaks of death; and the grave is its natural associate. David could not mean that the flames of hell had begun to scorch the man after God's own heart.
6. "My church: the gates of hell shall not prevail against it" [Matt. 16:18]. The gates of the grave close against Christ's people at their death; but they "shall not prevail", because he will open them at his coming. Christ's people are never inside the gates of the conventional hell, on any theory.
7. "I [Christ] have the keys of hell and of death" [Rev. 1:18]. Applied to the grave, this is intelligible, for Christ is the resurrection and the life; it can have no meaning when applied to the old idea of hell.

Thus a glance at a few passages where the word "hell" occurs in the English translation, is enough to show that it is the grave that is meant. But now look at some other passages, where sheol, the word translated "hell" in the foregoing passages from the Old Testament, is actually translated GRAVE.

8. "O that thou wouldst hide me in THE GRAVE" [sheol] [Job 14:13].
9. "Let the wicked be ashamed; let them be silent in THE GRAVE" [sheol] [Psa. 31:17].
10. "O death, where is thy sting? O grave [hades - the Greek equivalent of sheol], where is thy victory?" [1 Cor. 15:55].
11. "Bring down my grey hairs with sorrow to THE GRAVE" [sheol] [Gen. 42:38].
12. "He bringeth down to THE GRAVE [sheol] and bringeth up" [1 Sam. 2:6].
13. "In THE GRAVE [sheol] who shall give thee thanks?" [Psa. 6:5].
14. "Like sheep they are laid in THE GRAVE" [sheol] [Psa. 49:14].
15. "There is no work, nor device, nor wisdom in THE GRAVE [sheol], whither thou goest" [Ecc. 9:10].
16. "I will ransom them from the power of THE GRAVE" [sheol] [Hos. 13:14].

These passages show clearly that the hell of the Bible is none other than the grave, the place where men and women are laid out of sight in the unconsciousness of death (compare Gen. 23:4). The English word comes from the Anglo-Saxon helan, to cover or hide, and originally meant "the hidden, unseen place". Only custom has given another and more dreadful meaning.

In the New Testament the equivalent of the Hebrew sheol is the Greek word hades. This also is probably derived from words meaning "not seen"; but whatever the derivation, in Greek after Homer's time was used to mean "the grave" or "death", in such a phrase as "death by sea". In the Bible it unquestionably means the same as sheol, being used to translate the Hebrew word in quotations from the Old Testament in cases where the context leaves no doubt that death or the tomb are meant (compare Psa. 16:10 and Acts 2:27, 31; Hosea 13:14 and 1 Cor. 15:55).

Another word, Gehenna, also translated "hell" in the New Testament, is the name of a place where refuse was destroyed outside Jerusalem. Here rubbish was burnt by fire which were never quenched until they had burnt all there was to consume; and so the word is used to describe the utter destruction of unrepentant sinners, for whom there is no further place in God's universe.

A consuming fire is a fitting symbol to consider what you do with your broken down furniture which has lost its usefulness and remains only as an eye-sore!

LARGE TURNOUT CROWDS INTO CITY COUNCIL MEETING MONDAY
...more were standing before meeting adjourned.

Re-zoning

$2,000 be put into the parks fund to finance improvements at Gordon Lake and Oscar Park.

No action was taken, but council members indicated approval of the proposal.

NEW LANDFILL SITE

The council instructed Britton to have a three-year lease agreement drafted to use land owned by Harry Crook, five miles southwest of town, as a new sanitary landfill site.

Britton explained that the owner wanted $2,000 for the first year, $2,250 the second and $2,500 the third year as lease fee. He did not want to sign a lease for longer than a three-year period, however, Britton explained.

With the apparent approval, Britton was then instructed to obtain the services of an engineer to prepare reports required by the state for a new landfill site. It will take between four and six months for preparation and approval, he said.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Bob,

You probably expect me to respond to your "As I See It" of May 19, and I shall.

I won't attempt to dispute your premise that more innovative direction and substantial changes in policy may be required to bring the Postal Service to its ultimate potential. In our rapidly changing society it would be ludicrous to state otherwise.

However, your plan to have 2,000 postal customers (one person from each family) come to the Iowa Park post office each day to pick up their mail borders on incredulity. (Imagine 40,000 in Wichita Falls; 350,000 in Dallas, etc.)

We appreciate your ending paragraph regarding the timely delivery of your mail. Your experience with good delivery is the common rule. It's the delays that are uncommon. Of the average of approximately 3,000 pieces of mail dispatched from Iowa Park each day, according to our latest test, 94% were delivered within the national standards time frame - 6%, or 180 of the 3,000, experienced something less than that. Our efforts to eliminate any delayed mail are constant.

Sincerely yours,
Lee R. McQuerry

As I See It...

by BOB HAMILTON

Every city council has its problems, but this one seems to have more than its share.

One of the major problems now facing our council is re-zoning.

There appear two reasons for the problems, one is that the drafter of the city's comprehensive plan was idealistic; the other is neighbors of re-zoning areas.

An earlier council adopted the comprehensive plan's suggested area for zoning of commercial and industrial tracts. Though the council had to have somewhere to start, the author of the plan failed to take a number of things into consideration. One was the future condition of many downtown buildings, which fail to attract new businesses in that area.

The plan apparently figured on having a city with one central business location, surrounded by all homes. Therefore, all areas other than existing businesses were zoned as single family residence.

This did not take into consideration that major thoroughfares, such as the expressway and the old highway, are better suited for business than for residences. Property along such streets are too expensive for homes, builders contend.

People also like to trade at more convenient places in their neighborhood, rather than driving a mile or two to a central business location.

So this brings a problem to those already living in such areas. They don't want a business next door or across the street, and this is understandable. They built with the understanding that the neighborhood was to be for homes only.

Who gives and who takes in such a situation? Usually, if the objections are headed by the government, and the land is not re-zoned, it's the property owner who ultimately carries the burden.

A person with a valuable piece of property, on which no one would likely ever want to build a home, must continue paying taxes and maintenance, without ever realizing anything from it.

It's a very heavy burden, but certainly not one of Iowa Park's alone. Every community goes through it.

But there's one point I'd like to bring out. We've got the entire community to think about in these situations, not ourselves exclusively.

Businesses of any type not only bring in, but produce, additional taxes for the city. And the lack of tax revenue due to lack of businesses here is being shouldered by homeowners.

In many cases, homeowners who are complaining about a business locating in their neighborhood are the same ones who have complained loudly about recent tax increases on their homes.

It is argued that no individual should suffer for the good of the community. But is it correct for a community to suffer for the good of one individual?

Residents spend night in cellar

Though the city's tornado alarm never sounded, a lot of people still went to the cellars Friday night.

Threatening clouds boiled overhead for more than two hours, but all over the immediate area were under the careful watch of members of the local police, volunteer fire department, as well as county and state peace officers.

A take cover siren was sounded in neighboring Wichita Falls and Sheppard AFB, when a funnel was sighted over Memorial Stadium in the southwest part of the city, but it apparently never touched ground until it was about a mile east of the air base, traveling northeast.

A tornado was sighted on the ground between Mankins and Holliday, about the same time the funnel was reported over Wichita Falls, but no damage was reported. Numerous funnels hanging from clouds were reported to the south and west of Iowa Park during the storm.

4-H leaders volunteer time to work with young people through specific projects. Educational materials are furnished along with training to leaders. Anyone interested in becoming a 4-H leader, contact Dianne T. Townsend, Assistant County Extension Agent Home Economics, or Corky Redden, Assistant County Extension Agent Agriculture.

Traci Morton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Morton, must have had a horsefly bite her. Tracie has had a growing interest in horses in the last few months. She bought a new sorrel mare and started entering several of the Junior Rodeos. Tracie has done very well at all of the rodeos she has entered. The District III Horse Show will be June 23-24-25 in Vernon. There will be a dance for all 4-H members. Bobby Wendle and The Stardust Cowboys will furnish the music for the dance on June 24th at 8 p.m.

Roos, Dogs being moved?

Are more changes in District 4-AAA membership in the making?

According to Jim Ferguson, sports editor for the Vernon Daily Record, the University Interscholastic League is going to shuffle Burk Burnett and Weatherford into AAAA classification when it releases its next two-year realignment next fall.

The conference would then pick up Wichita Falls Hirschi, to be dropped from AAAA.

Ferguson credits a source from Brownwood for his information, which appeared in his column Tuesday.

"All of us at Texas Electric get electric bills too, and they're up. That's why I'm trying to use less."

"My electric bills have gone up like everyone's.

Of course, working for Texas Electric, I'm more aware of how expensive new plants are and how high fuel is. But that won't solve my problem at home.

That's why I'm checking the weatherstripping around all my doors and the caulking around the windows.

I mean I could feel air under the door and I'm paying for it. So I put storm doors on and that really made a difference.

Gives me four inches of dead air. And that's a lot better than nothing."

Electricity. You count on it today. We're working to keep it that way.

Mankins selected

Holliday High School student Mark Mankins has been selected to attend the 17th annual Texas Nuclear Science Symposium for High Schools June 5-8 at the University of Texas at Austin.

Mankins is son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Mankins of Dundee.

Jesse McDonald, Holliday science teacher, will accompany Mankins to the symposium.

The trip is being sponsored by Texas Electric Service Co., a member of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation which is joining with the university to present the symposium.

Some 500 outstanding science students and their teachers from throughout the state have been selected to attend the four-day meeting.

Scientists and engineers for industry and education will discuss nuclear physics, nuclear engineering and related topics.

"Hearing such notable authorities in the nuclear field and seeing the facilities at the university should be a most interesting and educational experience for the students and teachers," said Don Ruth, TESCO manager at Holliday.

"We are pleased to be able to provide this opportunity for them," he said.

SLOW GOING - Driver of a van cuts a careful trail over water-covered highway Monday in the wake of heavy rains. This section of FM 368 between the Wichita River bridge and FM 258 often sends motorists other routes when heavy rains pound the area.

CITY TAXES

All signs point upward

Available financial signs point toward the City of Holliday finishing the current fiscal year in debt, and there were strong indications Monday night that the Holliday City Council will increase municipal and valorem taxes in the coming year.

Also Monday night the council took initial steps toward annexing more than 100 acres south of the city and voted to finance street paving and resurfacing with federal revenue sharing money.

A problem hounding the city the past several years, the issue of financial woes was introduced by Alderman Fred Maier.

The city council earlier had planned on re-evaluating all property in Holliday, but because of incomplete figures available on property here it seemed apparent Monday night the task could not be completed by the time tax statements will be sent out next year.

The city currently taxes on 33 1/3 per cent of full assessment value.

It was suggested the city raise taxable valuations to 50 per cent of full value to generate additional operating revenues.

Aside from the new homes and businesses that will go on the tax rolls next year, the valuation hike on present property would boost municipal coffers by about $11,000 annually, Maier estimated.

No formal action was taken on the tax proposal Monday night by the council which indicated it would hold a full public hearing in the future on the issue.

PLAT APPROVED

It seemed apparent the city would gain a measure of financial relief when the council approved the plat for the first phase of Holliday Estates, a residential area located south of town on FM 368 and FM 1954.

Don Talley presented the plat which was approved unanimously by the council. With only one land owner in the area holding out on signing the annexation agreement, it did not seem there would be any major stumbling blocks in bringing the property into the city limits.

The subdivision includes well over 100 acres and already has homes on it valued at about $500,000, Talley said.

As in other area of the city where alleys do not exist, the council voted to charge Holliday Estate residents $2 a month for garbage pick-up. The charge only will be made to homeowners who desire the garbage service.

STREET PAVING

Maier also presented the council with a proposal to pave or recoat two miles of city streets.

With the help of Archer County Commissioner Arthur Carter, Maier said the city council undertake the project for about $8,500.

The council voted to finance the paving with federal revenue sharing money.

Councilmen also signed an application to the Farmers Home Administration for a grant to help finance a water system improvement project.

Andy Andrews, city engineer, said the application now must go to Nortex Regional Planning Commission for approval.

The council tabled action on taking out workmen's compensation insurance to allow each councilman time to study a contract offered by the Texas Municipal League (TML).

It becomes mandatory under state law that the council cover its employees for workmen's compensation by June 30.

Talley told the council could take one of three avenues for coverage: assuming the risk by being self insured, by taking out a policy with an insurance company or by joining the TML plan.

Talley did not advise the city assuming the risk itself and explained the TML proposal was cheaper than going through an insurance.

TML coverage would cost the city $94 a month, while an insurance company would charge $124 monthly, Talley said.

It seemed apparent the council would approve the TML coverage, but Alderman Red Denney suggested the council postpone final action until all councilmen have had time to study the four-page contract.

Freddie Rowch approached the city concerning the purchase of land on the east side of the city.

Municipal employee Junior Akers talked to the council about the garbage collection problem at Snoopy's Hickory Inn and conditions of the road to the city sewer plant.

The council also announced it is accepting applications for two persons under the CETA youth summer work program.

The council voted to raise the rates it charges for mowing and cleaning up vacant lots where property owners will not assume the task.

With letters scheduled to be mailed to several property owners, the council voted to charge $10 to clean-up a lot and $15 to mow it.

Newly elected councilman Melvin Bills was elected mayor pro tem.

Because of a conflict with regular school board meetings, the council voted to change its regular meeting dates to the first and third Monday of each month.

Mayor Jim Darr and the full city council was present Monday night, and visitors included Glen Woods, fire marshal. The meeting lasted about 2 1/2 hours.

Little League needing help

Holliday's Little League association is seeking donated labor and materials needed to complete the baseball diamond at Camp Stonewall Jackson.

Rodney Hodgkins, Little League president, explained the city has donated the land at Camp Stonewall Jackson.

The league needs labor, pipe, fencing and welding to complete the facility here, Hodgkins said.

Holliday has four Little League teams and a men's softball team that could utilize the facility, Hodgkins said.

Holliday's baseball teams currently compete in the YMCA league in Wichita Falls.

Hodgkins estimated between 75 and 100 Holliday youths are involved in the summer program.

Holliday man killed Wednesday in wreck

Curtis Lee Cox of Holliday was killed in a two-car accident early Wednesday morning in Wichita Falls.

Eddie Trew is promoted

Eddie L. Trew of Okmulgee, Okla., former Holliday coach and teacher, has been named chairman of Oklahoma State Tech's building trades department.

His selection was approved by regents for Oklahoma State University and A&M Colleges. Trew will assume the new job June 1.

Trew joined the Tech faculty in 1972 and has been instructor and supervisor of Tech's building construction program of study.

The trades department includes two instructional programs, building construction and plumbing and pipefitting.

After receiving his bachelor's in industrial arts from Panhandle A&M College at Goodwell, Okla., Trew taught mathematics and industrial arts 11 years and also coached at Holliday.

In 1976, he earned his master's in trade and industrial education from Oklahoma State University.

Trew and his wife, Grace, have a son, Steven, 12.

The mishap occurred at 12:15 a.m. Wednesday on the Red River Expressway near the intersection of Old Iowa Park Road, according to Wichita Falls Police Department.

A passenger in Cox's vehicle, Cecilia Ann McDaniel of Wichita Falls, was injured in the accident.

Also injured was Billy D. Jones of Electra, driver of the second vehicle.

A 1976 graduate of Holliday High School, Cox was born July 23, 1957, at Fullerton, Calif.

He was employed by Cox Pipe and Equipment Co., and was a member of Holliday First Baptist Church.

Burial will be in the Holliday Cemetery.

Survivors include his parents, Hollis Cox of Wichita Falls and Ruby Cox of Yorba Linda, Calif.; a brother, Kenneth Cox of Wichita Falls; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O.T. Cox of Holliday.

Holliday Happenings

The junior class of Holliday High School will honor the graduating class of 1977 with the annual Junior-Senior Banquet slated for tonight at the Wichita Falls Country Club. Special entertainment will be provided for the 34 seniors and 46 juniors expected to attend.

The 1952 graduating class of Holliday High School will hold its 25th class reunion at 7 p.m. June 4 at Luby's in Wichita Falls. James Bennett of California, president, will be master of ceremonies.

Holliday City Hall will be closed Monday in observance of Memorial Day, according to Evon Carter, city secretary.

A total of 67 dogs and cats were vaccinated Saturday during the annual rabies clinic at the Holliday Fire Station. City Sec. Evon Carter indicated there was an increase over the number of pets vaccinated during the clinic last year.

Family day homes must be registered

All family day homes must be registered in order to be in compliance with the law, according to Mary Hardin, program director for day care licensing in Region 4 of the Texas Department of Public Welfare.

"There are currently 367 registered family day homes in the region," said Mrs. Hardin, "and another 96 in the process of being registered. But there is also an additional number who have neglected to register."

A "registered family day home" is defined as a child care facility which regularly provides care in the caretaker's own residence for not more than six children under 14 years of age, excluding the caretaker's own children.

It also provides care after school hours for not more than six additional elementary school siblings of the other children given care, provided that the total amount of children including the caretaker's own does not exceed 12 at any given time.

To become registered, the operator of the family day home should first contact their local DPW licensing office for registration materials. The materials will include The Child Care Licensing Act of 1975, Minimum Standards for Registered Family Homes, Parents Guide to Registered Family Homes, Fire Inspection Request Card, Emergency Medical Care Forms, Sanitation and Safety Check List, A Guide for First Aid and Emergency Care, Registration Form and Addressed Envelope.

The operator should keep one copy each of the minimum standards, the parents guide and the emergency medical forms and give one copy of each to a parent of each child in care. Each operator must also request a fire and health safety inspection prior to registration.

A local fire marshal may conduct the fire inspections, and a local sanitation officer may conduct the health inspections. If fire and health inspections are not available locally, the operator can conduct its own inspection according to state specifications. Once the minimum standards have been met, including the fire and health inspections, the operator should send the registration forms to the local DPW licensing office.

"If there is a standard the operator cannot meet because it would cost too much money or for any other reason," said Mrs. Hardin, "please let us know, because the law lets us waiver or not require a standard to be met for just cause."

She noted that some of the standards such as immunizations for the children and the maximum number of children (12) you may have in care cannot be waived.

All registration forms should be returned within 30 days after the operator has received the packet of materials. After the registration form is returned and all standards have been met, the operator will then be mailed a letter of notification that the day home has been officially registered by DPW. The registration certificate is valid for two years from the time of issuance, the fire and sanitation inspections must be then completed again each year.

One the home is registered, it can begin accepting children for care. The Department of Public Welfare then requires that the child care provider give the parents of each child a copy of the minimum standards and to have each parent read and sign a statement certifying that they have inspected the home and are satisfied that it meets the standards. The provider retains the form.

A DPW representative is not required to visit the facility. However, if a complaint is received regarding violations of minimum standards or allegations of child abuse or neglect, a DPW representative will then come to the home and talk with the operator. Also, visits may be made to the home as part of a statistical sampling.

Registration of family homes also offers some benefits to the community, providers of care, parents and children in care. DPW keeps lists of all child care facilities in each community. These lists are available to parents seeking child care.

The Department will also provide consultation services to providers on nutrition, health, equipment, discipline and other aspects of child care. All family homes are on the DPW mailing list for the day care newsletter which contains current information on what is happening statewide in day care.

"If someone refuses to become registered," said Mrs. Hardin, "they will be subject to the Child Care Licensing Act of 1975. Those in violation will be referred to the county or district attorney for legal action."

The Licensing Act provides for a civil penalty of not less than $50 nor more than $1,000 for each day of violation, as the court may deem proper. It also provides for a criminal penalty of a Class B misdemeanor for operating a child care facility or child placing agency without a license; or a Class C misdemeanor for persons placing a public advertisement for an unlicensed facility.

Win trip

Chuck Chadwell and his wife, Suzanne, of Iowa Park received an expense paid vacation to Mexico City and Acapulco recently for his sales accomplishments in 1976.

The Chadwells attained an insurance conference, The Farm Bureau Round Table, while there.

Cook of the Week

Colonial housewives frequently served a variety of desserts at one meal - pies, cakes, cookies, puddings, etc., but puddings were the mainstays of colonial menus. Sauces have long been the finishing touch that could make even a basic pudding recipe emerge to "king's" taste.

Puddings, both plain and fancy, continue to be the answer to "What's for dessert?" in many households. Mrs. Dennis Sorey's mouth-watering recipe for Date Pudding with Sauce will surely find its place in many recipe files, just as she herself has won a place in the hearts of many people in the community.

A meat wrapper at H&S Food Store, she generates sunshine in the lives of all who pass by the meat department. Friends of the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Sorey consider their home next to their own because the welcome mat is always out for them, whether they drop in at mealtime or just anytime they feel the urge.

A graduate of Brush, Colo. High School, Mrs. Sorey has lived in 28 states since their marriage because his work for so long necessitated moving frequently. They have lived in Iowa Park 12 years and his present work as driller for Bradley Exploration does not require so much moving. They are members of Faith Baptist Church.

Mrs. Dennis Sorey

Mrs. Sorey is nursery coordinator at the church, a job she is well qualified for since children are one of her hobbies. She operated a day nursery in her home for a number of years and she is one of the Little League mothers this summer.

Former missionaries support effort of blacks

Rev. and Mrs. Larry George, former missionaries to Mrewa, Rhodesia, Africa, presented the program for the United Methodist Women Tuesday. He is presently associate pastor of First United Methodist Church at Denton.

The program was relevant to the current study of "From Torment to Triumph" which has been directed by Miss Ethyle Kidwell, who introduced the guests.

"The black majority in Rhodesia is 95 percent, white minority four percent and one percent in-between racially, but, unfortunately, the minority whites live the blacks and as of now it looks discouraging for a change for the better", Rev. George stated.

He mentioned that Rhodesia is land locked, completely surrounded by African countries who are almost all black controlled, out of which come the Freedom Fighters.

Mrs. George was narrator for a film of Rhodesia which gave visual impressions of the land. The narration showed how blacks live in fear and mistrust, tension and anguish because of the Law and Order Maintenance Act of the white regime, and how the Land Tenure Act had destroyed the African family.

The speakers said that it was virtually impossible for the blacks to get into government and change conditions because of their ineligibility to vote due to lack of education and inability to own property.

Rev. George referred to a letter entitled "Easter of 1977" written by Bishop Muzorewa, who now is self-exiled and free to write about black Rhodesia telling how ministers of the gospel are imprisoned and shot, blacks herded into concentration camps, etc. He also praised the black Christians and members of United Methodist Church for their faithfulness in spite of severe hardships.

Those who attended the meeting were urged to keep informed and to give through the Board of Global

Time for pecan tree spraying

By DON D. DECKER County Agent

The predicted dates for spraying pecan trees in the control of the pecan nut casebearer is May 28 through May 31. These spray dates are based upon moth emergence reported by Virgil Woodfin at the Iowa Park Research Center.

Timing of control measures for the casebearer is critical. The spray must be applied after eggs are deposited on the tips of the pecan nutlet, but before the tiny worm enters the small pecan.

Growers can "double check" for the casebearer by examining the tips of the pecan nutlets the latter part of the week. The eggs are white in color and about the size of a small pinhead. Usually the eggs are deposited on the brown tip of the nutlet.

You have a few days to get everything ready for spraying which starts next weekend. Homeowners can spray with Malathion, Sevin, NZN, and Benlate. All four of these chemicals can be mixed together for one application.

We have obtained a uniform emergence of the casebearer moths at the Iowa Park Research Center.

Senior feted

A patio dinner in honor of Miss Sandra Hammack, who will graduate from Iowa Park High School Friday night, was given Wednesday by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice McGinty in Wichita Falls.

The high school colors were featured in decorations. Sixteen friends of the honoree were guests at the party.

Miss Hammack is the daughter of Mrs. Ruby Hammack of Iowa Park and Clay Hammack of Wichita Falls.
