

Council approves re-zoning, budget

With the city's progress and direction of growth as recurring themes, the Iowa Park City Council made a pair of 2-1 rezoning decisions which opened the door for construction of an apartment complex and a pizza restaurant.

At the same called session last Wednesday the skimpy quorum of councilmen adopted the city's 1977-78 budget.

Aldermen also voted to maintain the present municipal ad valorem tax rate, $1.75 per $100 assessed at 60 per cent of full value.

REZONING ISSUES

Absent aldermen C.A. Hicks and Lita Watson, the council devoted more than half of the four-hour called session to the two rezoning issues.

The controversial topics attracted about 20 persons.

It was the rezoning of Block 31, Texas Addition, that caused the most commotion.

The Bernstein Group, Inc. of Columbus, Ohio, has proposed to construct an apartment complex on the six-acre location bordered by Fourth, Third, West Aldine and West Texas.

Much of the time Richard Bernstein fielded questions from the audience, largely composed of residents near the proposed construction site.

Residents reiterated their concerns on the effect it would have on their property values. Out-of-state investors and developer in regard to the long-range condition of such an apartment complex also had residents worried.

Bernstein explained someone from Iowa Park would be hired as the resident manager.

He said the apartment's market would be among older persons and young married couples with adjusted incomes of $15,900 or less who would qualify to live in the subsidized facility to be financed through Farmers Home Administration.

"I understand what your fears are with your city and neighborhood," Bernstein said. "The apartments could become a major asset to the community...The people who are going to live there will be from your area -- not from a remote area."

Bernstein said the project was "harmless and contrary to what you might believe."

Although his position does not allow him to vote except in cases of a tie, Mayor Johnny Crawford made clear his conviction on the issue.

"We most definitely have a need in this community for this type of housing," Crawford said. "I can't see that it would be anything but a benefit to this community and area."

With plats and building permits yet to be approved, Crawford stressed the council would not relinquish its control over the project just because it rezoned the property from single family residential to general residential.

However, Crawford's plea did not alter the opinion of Alderman Bud Adams, who lives near the proposed site of the apartments.

"Basically, we're talking about spot zoning," Adams said, which works to the advantage of individuals and not the community as a whole.

In making his motion to rezone the property, Alderman Joe Singer said he had spent many hours studying the issue. "We've heard very little constructive arguments," Singer added.

He said Iowa Park's undeveloped "gray areas" do nothing to benefit the tax base.

Ross and Singer carried the decision, and Adams voted against rezoning the property to allow multiple housing.

Singer postscripted the vote saying he wished as many people would display similar interest in other municipal issues. He cited poor attendance at public hearings on budget and federal revenue sharing.

Only four visitors remained when the meeting reconvened after a short recess.

The meeting resumed to tackle another rezoning controversy, this one, Block 32, Texas Addition, along

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Leader publisher elected president

Bob Hamilton, publisher of the Iowa Park Leader, was elected president of the Texas Press Association during the 98th annual summer convention of the organization at Galveston.

Hamilton was named to succeed J.C. Chatmas of Marlin, during the business session Saturday.

The Texas Press Association is said to be the largest state newspaper organization in the nation, with 645 members, of which 557 are newspapers, 482 weeklies and 75 dailies, and 88 associates. Chatmas pointed out that only 35 daily and 42 weekly newspapers in the state are not members.

Hamilton, past president of the West Texas Press Association, has been a member of the TPA since 1960. He is past president of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce, Iowa Park Noon Lions Club, and is currently serving as a director and chairman of the information committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Elected first vice president was Fred Barbee, El Campo Leader - News; second vice president, Charles Kilgore of the Kilgore News - Herald; treasurer, Hal Cunningham, Llano News; and Chatmas was elevated to chairman of the board.

Keynote speakers at the convention were Oklahoma Lieutenant Governor George Nigh and Texas Congressman Bob Krueger.

The Texas Press Association, with its sister organization, Texas Press Service, has a staff of 19 persons and a budget for the 1977-78 year of $463,400. Association headquarters is in Austin, where Lyndell Williams serves as Executive Vice President.

WINS AWARD

The Leader was one of the winners in the annual TPA Better Newspaper Contest.

Competing in a division for weeklies of circulation between 1,200 and 2,500, the Iowa Park newspaper placed second in appearance, where judging is based on presswork, typography and page makeup.

First place went to the Stanton Reporter and third to the Makakoff News, with the Midlothian Mirror earning honorable mention.

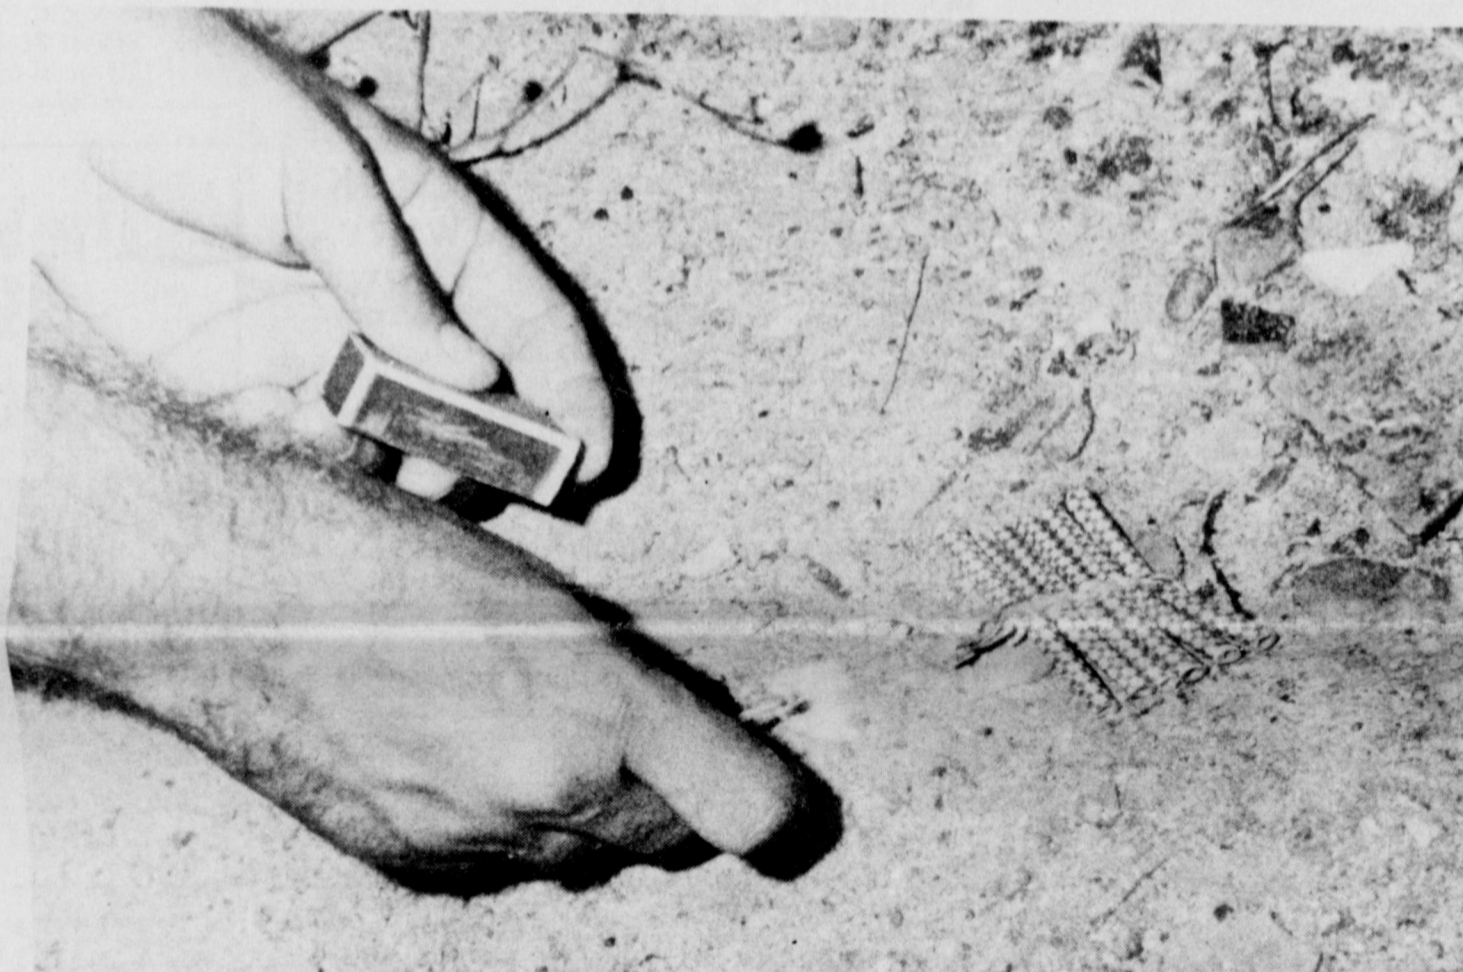

Mrs. Hamilton accepted the award for the Leader during the Friday morning awards breakfast.

IOWA PARK, WICHITA COUNTY, TEXAS 76367

VOL. VIII NO. 43 15 CENTS

DANGEROUS BUSINESS -- Lighting a wad of firecrackers with a match is a dangerous way to celebrate the Fourth of July holidays. Iowa Park Police Department reminds persons it is unlawful to explode any type of fireworks inside the city limits. Already police here are being called with complaints from neighbors of youngsters celebrating nearby. Guilty persons could be fined from $1 to $100, according to the city's ordinance prohibiting the sale or explosion of fireworks inside the city. There also is a hazard of setting grass fires, police warned.

Thar she blows!

Anyone who wants to put a touch of authenticity into his Fourth of July observance only has to venture a couple miles south of the city to observe the aging custom of shooting the anvil.

Mrs. Don Daugherty will be giving public exhibition shootings at 10 a.m., 2 and 4 p.m. Monday at her home south of Iowa Park.

The Daugherty home is located on Peterson Road, about 1 1/2 miles south of FM 367.

Mrs. Daugherty's father was introduced to shooting the anvil in 1918, and revived the tradition in 1961.

Mrs. Daugherty joined her father in the ritual beginning in 1968. Since her father's death in 1972, Mrs. Daugherty has continued the custom on her own.

Shooting the anvil requires two anvils, a 640-pound railroad anvil and a 120-pound blacksmith's anvil.

When the charge is ignited, the smaller anvil sails between 15 and 30 feet into the air amidst a cloud of dark smoke and in the wake of a tremendous boom.

TESCO seeks rate increase; largest in company history

Texas Electric Service Co. filed a request Wednesday for a 23.6 per cent system-wide increase in revenues.

The request, filed with Iowa Park, Pleasant Valley and the Public Utility Commission in Austin, would provide the company with an additional $79 million in revenues.

"We must continue building new power plants that use cheaper and more abundant fuels than natural gas. It's the only way our customers will continue to have reliable service at the lowest possible price," Texas Electric Manager Wayne House said.

He admitted this is the largest rate increase ever sought by TESCO.

Texas Electric is in the middle of a program to build lignite and nuclear-powered generating plants to reduce its use of natural gas. This year alone $243 million is needed for this construction program.

The company's new lignite-fired plants will generate 32 per cent of the electricity used by Texas Electric consumers this year. By 1983, the lignite, coal and nuclear plants will generate 81 per cent of customers' electricity.

"This $79 million increase will allow us to continue raising the hundreds of millions of dollars necessary for this long-range program," House said.

The size of the increase under the proposed rates will vary with the type of customer and the amount of electricity used.

In general, residential customers will see a 25.1 per cent average annual increase with larger increases in the summer and smaller increases in the winter.

"Even with this increase, Texas Electric's rates will remain among the lowest in Texas and all the country,"

House said.

The rate increase request was filed at the same time this morning in cities across the Texas Electric service area and with the PUC. Cities set rates within their own boundaries, and the PUC has authority in all unincorporated areas. The PUC also hears appeals from cities and utilities.

"Any delay in construction just means we must burn more of this expensive natural gas in our existing plants. And that means higher prices for customers today and an unreliable supply of electricity in the near future as restrictions are placed on the use of natural gas," he said.

"Without adequate revenues, we can't raise the tremendous sums of money it takes to build lignite and nuclear power plants. And that means our fuel-changing program would have to be slowed or halted altogether," House said.

Texas Electric will spend more than $660 million on construction this year through 1979. About $375 million of that total must be raised by selling stocks and bonds, House said. "To get this money when we need

"The savings from lignite plants has already begun. Last year the savings to customers was $58 million by using lignite instead of high-priced gas," House said.

Texas Electric has five lignite-fired units in operation and five more under construction. The company also has two nuclear-powered generating units under construction. The plants are owned jointly by Texas Electric, Texas Power & Light and Dallas Power & Light.

Canadian-found check no lead to grainman

A tidbit of information that remotely suggested Bobby Johnson might have traveled to Canada caused a scramble for information Wednesday among newsmen and investigators close to the case of the missing Iowa Park grainman.

It all started when information was leaked Wednesday that an unsigned check on Robert Johnson Grain Co. was found near an airport at British Columbia, Canada.

There was another report that the check was found in Belize, formerly British Honduras, where law enforcement officials earlier searched for Johnson.

Sketchy information led the Leader to contact Kelowna Flight Craft at Kelowna, British Columbia, Canada.

Jim Rogers, who works for Kelowna Flight Craft, said he found the check about two weeks ago in the glove compartment of a Cessna 210 he was cleaning.

The check was given to Barry Lapointe, president of Kelowna Flight Craft, who mailed the check to Robert Johnson Grain Co.

Since Johnson's companies are under involuntary bankruptcy suit, the check went to the office of James Dugger, court appointed receiver in the bankruptcy suit.

Drawn on Parker Square State Bank in Wichita Falls, the check dated Dec. 16, 1976 was for $1,511.56 payable to Cook's Flying Service located east of Iowa Park for a top overhaul and oil change on the Cessna 210. The check was unsigned.

The likelihood that Johnson flew to Canada was quashed when the Leader discovered he did not own the plane when it made the trip north.

Dugger sold the plane about two months ago to Sky Sales of Oklahoma City in an effort to generate money to operate Johnson's businesses tied up in bankruptcy.

Kelowna Flight Craft, which buys numerous planes out of Oklahoma, bought the Cessna 210 from Sky Sales, according to Rogers.

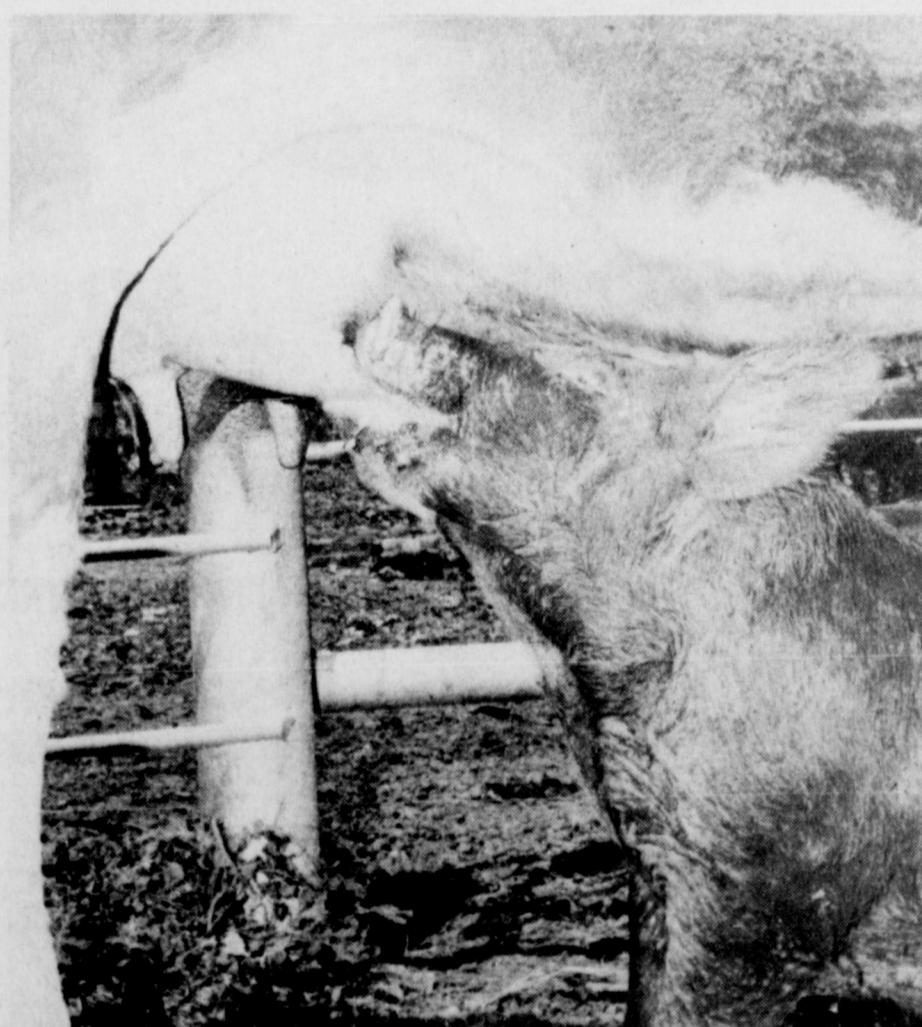

The check was found by Rogers during the process of altering the plane to meet Canadian aviation regulations.

Legion slates feed on 4th

Members and guests are invited to attend the July 4th American Legion, Leo H. Smith, Jr. Post barbecue from 12 to 6 p.m.

The price for the "all you can eat" meal will be $1.50 for adults and $1 for children. The meal includes cold drinks.

Fireworks will be for sale during the day.

UNUSUAL ADOPTION -- Becky and Bruce Whitaker's 4-H project took an unusual twist this week when a three-month-old crossbred gilt decided the barnyard cow would make a fine substitute mother. The mother pig died giving birth to her litter. The young porkers were raised on bottle milk -- all of them except this little piggy who obviously prefers the real thing. Becky, 9, and Bruce, 11, are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Whitaker, who reside south of Iowa Park.

Pruett-Alley vows read Saturday in Kamay church

Wearing an original gown, the "something borrowed" bridal tradition, Miss Frances Ann Pruett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Pruett of Route One, became the bride of Daniel Jay Alley Saturday evening in a single-ring ceremony which took place at the Kamay Church of Christ.

The groom is the son of Wm. L. Alley of Marion, Ohio and Mrs. Ed Cornelison of Holliday.

Doyle Combs, minister of the Kamay Church of Christ, directed the single-ring service in a setting dominated by candelabra and greenery. Centering the space was an arch covered with commodore and baby's breath. Branched candelabra entwined with the same foliage and blossoms holding glowing tapers flanked the arch and the setting was completed with a background of greenery.

A vocal trio from the Electra Church of Christ provided the wedding music. Their selections included "Twelfth of Never", "Faithful and True" for the processional and "Because" when the wedding party entered from the church.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. Her gown created of white Chantilly lace and organza over taffeta belonged to Mrs. Don Daugherty and was her wedding gown. The handiwork of Mrs. W.I. Lynn, mother of Mrs. Daugherty, the molded bodice of Chantilly lace featured long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. The bouffant organza skirt was enhanced with a small bustle of lace at the back and extended into a chapel train. Her waist length lace-trimmed tulle veil was caught to a circlet of pearls.

The bridal bouquet was of blue and white carnations and baby's breath with matching satin cascading ribbons. Her additional sentimental accessories were a cultured pearl necklace and earrings for "something old", a new penny and sixpence, both brought to her from Singapore by her aunt, Mrs. Jack Onstead, and the traditional touch of blue.

Mrs. Mike Blocker of Holliday, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. She wore a long light blue double knit gown styled with a V-neck, empire waistline and eyelet lace bell sleeves. Miss Darla Daugherty, the maid of honor, wore an identical gown except for the sleeves which were short. Both wore white picture hats and carried long stem white carnations with blue and white streamers.

The groom, best man and groomsman wore tuxedos of blue coats, ruffled blue shirts, black pants and vests. Ushers were attired in light blue leisure suits.

Mike Blocker served as best man for his brother-in-law and Robert Bradberry was groomsman. Duties of ushering were assigned to Gordon Cornelison and Robert Pruett, brother of the bride and groom.

Steve Cornelison, another brother of the groom, and Miss Vici Sigafus lighted the candles. He wore a light blue tuxedo and she was attired in a cream-colored double knit long dress.

The bride's parents gave the wedding reception in the Holliday Church of Christ annex.

Miss Janet Pruett, sister of the bride, directed registration of guests in the bride's book which was placed on a table covered with lace-trimmed white satin. It held a crystal vase filled with blue and white flowers accented with sea shells.

Center of interest in the reception room was the bride's table draped with white lace over blue which was centered with the bride's bouquet. The five-tiered bride's cake decorated with blue confection roses and topped with a bridal couple standing under an arch wrapped with white net and lilies of the valley, and crystal punch service were other table appointments.

The groom's cake on a separate table was a sheet cake decorated similarly to the bride's cake. Both were baked by Mrs. Lorene Phillips of Holliday for wedding gifts to the couple.

Assistants were Misses Delia Lemons, Denise Lemons, Kim Stafford, Mrs. Donnie Reynolds and Mrs. Jerry Meisel. Houseparty members were Mrs. Cecil Hooten and Mrs. Clayton Marriott.

The bride is a student at Iowa Park High School. The groom is a student at Holliday High School and works for White Auto Store in Iowa Park. They will live at Holliday.

Gene Case of Brazoria was an out-of-town wedding guest.

Guests made blue and white rice bags for distribution at the wedding Saturday evening.

The honoree and her mother, Mrs. Willie Fred Hastings, were pinned with colorful corsages upon arrival at the party.

Miss Hastings and Jim Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stevens, will be united in marriage Saturday evening.

shower was given by Mrs. Edward Eichman and Miss Debbie Eischman Sunday afternoon as the second courtesy.

In keeping with blue and white, colors that will be emphasized in the couple's wedding, the refreshment table was laid with white lace and appointed with a floral arrangement in the same shades.

The honoree and mothers of the engaged couple, Mrs. Vincent Berardi and Mrs. Bill Sargent, were remembered with corsages consisting of blue satin roses combined with white spring flowers.

The honoree was presented with a corsage of peach and white daisies to harmonize with her gown and Mrs. Don Waddell, her mother-in-law, wore green and white daisies to match her dress.

Yellow and white were noted in refreshments and table decorations. Laid with white lace, the table was centered with a tall yellow candle uprising from a mass of yellow daisies.

Thirty friends of the couple composed the invitation list.

Farewell party given Clarys

Mr. and Mrs. Greg Clary, who will be moving to Leek City in the near future, were honored at a farewell party and barbecue dinner Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D.W. Mercer. The invitation list included members of Epsilon Eta chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha and their husbands.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Graves and Mr. and Mrs. Don Lucy from Holliday and Mrs. Dee Stafford from Fort Worth were special guests.

Mrs. Clary, who served two years as president of the chapter, was presented with a hand-painted purse, handiwork of Mrs. Roy Johnson. The design featuring daisies in a wheel barrow matched the design on the chapter's yearbook for 1976-77 which was presented to Mrs. Clary at the dinner meeting in May.

Other couples attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Charles Dudley, Roy Johnson, Bill Vanek, Bill Hrnckirk, Jean Proulx, Chester Morrison, Tom Compton, Gary Frazier, Tom Venhaus, R.B. Faulkner and Leon Biddy. Also present were Miss Alice Turner, Mrs. Dalton Bleeker and Mrs. Raymond Cope.

Decorations which stressed the color of yellow reached a peak of interest on the refreshment table which was laid with white linen. A yellow potty chair in the center of the table was filled with pastel flowers and the cake was decorated with baby rattlers, booties and other articles connected with babies.

Mrs. Eloise Snyder of Archer City, mother of the honoree, was present.

1. SOURDOUGH STARTER

- 1 package active dry yeast
- 2 1/2 cups warm water (105° to 115°)
- 1 cup instant nonfat dry milk
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 4 cups all-purpose flour

a) Stir yeast, water, dry milk and sugar in 2 1/2 quart crock or non-metallic bowl until yeast is dissolved. Stir in flour gradually until a smooth batter forms. Let stand loosely covered in warm place, 3 to 5 days. Stir down batter occasionally. Store loosely covered in refrigerator.

b) Replace exact amount of starter used for each recipe by stirring equal amounts of homogenized milk and flour back into starter. (For example, replace 1 cup starter with 1/2 cup homogenized milk and 1/2 cup flour.) Let stand loosely covered until it bubbles, overnight. Stir down. Each time this process is repeated, the starter becomes more active and develops a more sour flavor. Note: if stored as much as two to three weeks between usings, just pour off the watery layer on top and replace following procedure in (b).

2. SOURDOUGH BREAD STICKS

- 1 cup instant nonfat dry milk (105° to 115°)
- 1 cup warm water (see Recipe No. 1)
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 3 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 to 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, melted

a) Mix dry milk, water, Sourdough Starter and 2 cups flour in non-metallic bowl, cover loosely. Let stand in warm place until mixture is coarse and bubbly, at least 8 hours.

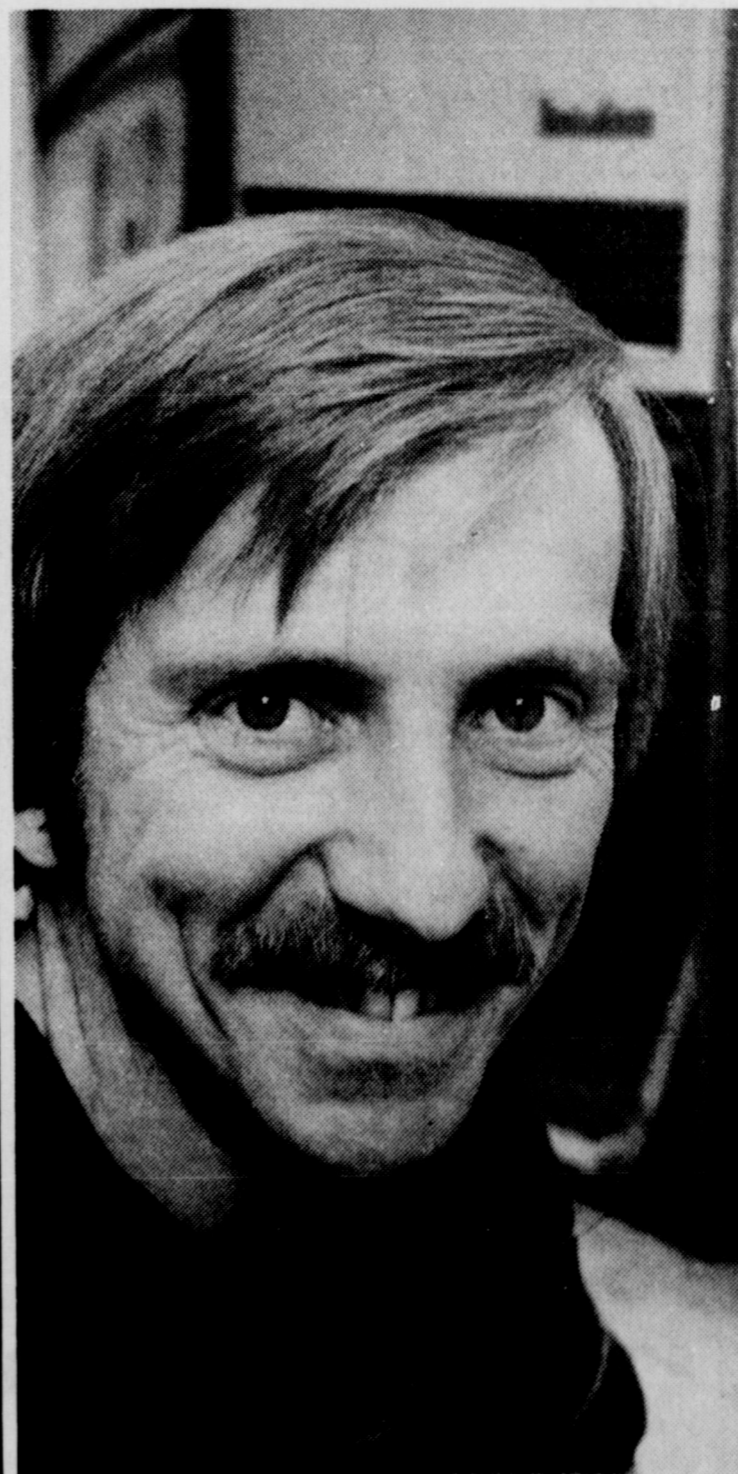

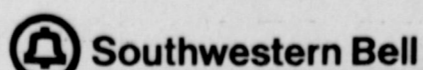

b) Mix oil, salt, sugar and baking soda into sourdough mixture. Stir in enough of the remaining flour to make dough easy to handle. Knead dough lightly on well-floured board, about 2 minutes.

c) Roll dough into rectangle, 15 x 10 inches, on well-floured board. Cut into fifteen 1-inch strips. Roll each strip into even round strand, about 14 inches long. Double strand over and twist to form bread stick. Place bread sticks on greased baking sheet, brush with melted butter. Cover with plastic wrap. Let rise in warm place until double, 1 to 1 1/2 hours.

d) Heat oven to 375°. Bake bread sticks until golden brown, 30 to 35 minutes. (Makes 15).

Long Distance. What else is so nice for the price?

Darrell Bevelhimer, Texas Electric engineer.

"My electric bills are going up the same as yours. Here's one thing I'm doing about it!"

"At Texas Electric, where I work, our job is to provide you with the electricity you need.

But higher construction and fuel costs are making it more expensive to do.

I can tell just by looking at my electric bill.

One thing I do at home is to keep a checklist right on my air-conditioning/heating unit. I have the months listed, and every time I clean the filter I check off that month—so I make sure I check it at least once a month. I couldn't remember it otherwise, and it's important.

A dirty filter limits the air flow through there—and that uses more electricity."

Electricity. You count on it today. We're working to keep it that way.

Representatives not at fault

State Rep. Charles Finnell of Holliday maintains it wasn't the fault of the Texas House of Representatives that a state education finance bill didn't pass in the regular session of the legislature.

"Those of us who thought school financing was important were prepared to vote the last day of the session," Finnell said, sipping iced tea during an interview.

The compromise education finance bill did not receive legislative approval during the dying minutes of the regular session, and Gov. Dolph Briscoe has called a special session of lawmakers for July 11.

Although a liberal faction led by Sen. Oscar Mausey of Dallas would like to see public education financed entirely by the state with carbon copy programs in each district, Finnell is confident a bill will be passed providing 85 per cent funding by the state and 15 per cent financing by local districts.

Under current law the state pays 60 per cent while local school districts pick up the remaining tab.

Finnell said the proposal to split the cost of financing education 85-15 should lighten the load of taxpayers in local districts.

"I think it would prevent a tax increase, except for those districts which have recently enacted a bond issue," the Holliday legislator said. The House proposed the 85-15 ratio in the bill it passed early in the session, April 20.

Finnell said he felt good about the bill and its timing.

It was 30 days later before the Senate passed its version, sending both proposals into conference committee.

Finnell said he received "excellent response" from the 16 school districts in his 53rd District.

"The superintendents in these 16 districts without exception were in favor of the House-passed education finance bill," Finnell explained.

However, the compromise bill was not approved in the fading minutes of the regular 65th legislative session.

Rep. Tom Massey, chairman of the House Education Committee, will be holding public hearings on the subject July 7 and 8 in preparation for the special session set July 11, Finnell said.

Finnell expects the special session to last about 10 days.

"I hope the governor will not yield to pressures to broaden the call of the session beyond the subject of education financing," Finnell added.

Finnell said a two-thirds majority vote in each house will be necessary to pass an education finance bill in the special session.

He called "inconceivable" the prospects of not being able to garner two-thirds support for the current proposal.

Passage of an education finance bill in mid-July still would allow school administrators across the state time to prepare their budgets in time to meet the Aug. 20 deadline, Finnell said.

Council

West Highway.

Everett Boulware has proposed to build a pizza restaurant there if it is rezoned from single family residential to convenience commercial.

Jack Wells and Buddy Henderson reiterated their stands that rezoning would be unfair to nearby residents. "It's going to be a burden on the people who have homes there," Henderson said.

F.L. Costello said he wanted to go on record in favor of a restaurant being built there.

Boulware said his proposal is to build a brick, walk-in type establishment including measures to curb noise and the view from nearby homes.

Both Singer and Crawford said the property was destined to become commercial. Rezoning now offers the advantage of knowing what will be built and who will operate it.

Voting was a carbon copy as on the previous issue with Singer and Ross approving the change and Adams the lone dissenter.

BUDGET ADOPTED

Ironically, Alderman Hicks did not attend Wednesday night's special session. Two weeks earlier he had argued against rezoning for the apartments and termed "excessive" City Administrator Gene Britton's proposed budget.

Aside from the correction of some minor addition errors, the council made only two amendments to the proposed budget presented earlier.

Councilmen decided to place a $1,000 capital outlay for a pressure meter in the water department's budget rather in the fire department's budget.

Councilmen also voted to give a $1,300 annual pay increase to Britton, who had proposed salary increases for all municipal employees but himself.

"I think Gene has done a remarkable job ... he's been a tremendous asset," said attorney Mike Hubbard, speaking as a private citizen. "He's been worth every dime we paid him, maybe a dollar on every dollar we didn't pay him."

Britton was praised from both audience and council for long hours spent working for the city's betterment.

The mayor said if Britton were paid by the hour he probably would be the lowest paid person on the municipal payroll. "In fact, we're probably violating the minimum wage law," Crawford quipped.

The council unanimously adopted the budget which calls for $1,049,800 in expenditures and proposed revenues totaling $1,074,663.

The tax rate will remain at $1.75, the council decided.

CHAMBER RENOVATION

Adams motioned to approve funds for the renovation of the council chambers which double as the municipal courtroom.

Councilmen voted to place a $12,000 ceiling on the project which will include heating and air conditioning, floor and wall covering and repaving of the front entrance.

No action was taken on a proposed new electrical ordinance or the plat for a proposed shopping center at the old Texas-Oklahoma Fairgrounds.

Councilmen passed an appropriation ordinance and a resolution on capital outlay amounts.

The council also approved a list of bad debt write offs in the water department.

The list spells a $1,732 loss to the city for 72 individuals and businesses which have had outstanding water accounts with the city since last July.

As I See It...

by BOB HAMILTON

Dolores and I took the kids with us to Galveston last week, to attend the summer convention of the Texas Press Association.

It was our first time in that island city, and we can understand why it is noted as one of the outstanding vacation sites in the state. They have about everything you want, unless you want the seclusion of a mountain top.

We had to look a long way out to see blue-green color of the ocean, however. A combination of rain, which washed silt into the water, and a southeasterly wind kept the ocean water pure mud all the time we were there. From the shore to a couple hundred yards out, I really couldn't tell much difference from the color of that water and our area lake waters.

Convention headquarters was the Flagship Hotel, built out over the ocean, so most of our activities were there along the shore drive. That route was a continuous stream of vehicles, as was the wide sidewalk built along the shore wall.

Never saw so many bicycles. Seems like a large percentage of the youths there, or visitors, wanted to travel on bikes, and they were all on that sidewalk.

I never did figure out where all those people with their campers stayed on the island. I'm sure there is a place, but I never saw it.

I'm convinced that 80 per cent of the drivers in the state were on Highway 45 Sunday, all within 30 miles north from Houston. Every kid who won "chicken" contests was there, and all on our side of the road.

Oh, you don't know about chickens? That's a stupid fad of a few years ago, where two drivers would approach each other, head-on, and the first to swerve out of the path of the other was called a chicken.

In case you've not yet read the story on the front page, I will point out, in all humility, that the membership of the TPA elected me president. I'm in awe, realizing there are many more qualified people in the organization, and having known those who have served in that office before me.

Each time we attend a TPA, or any other press group, convention, I recognize that our newspaper friends are among the finest of God's people.

Iowa Park Police Department is investigating a reported theft at the Cryovac plant and a burglary at Thompson Tool Co.

Police here received a report Tuesday from Paula Cady Condrey that two rings valued at $25 and $650 were stolen from a smock pocket at the Cryovac plant, 1301 W. Magnolia. Police received a report from Richard Logan that a snack machine at Thompson Tool Co., 612 W. Washington, had been burglarized.

Billy James reported the right rear fender of a pickup truck had been damaged while parked at 100 S. Wall. The pickup had just been repaired, according to police reports.

unusually high number of traffic accidents and fatalities are likely to occur during the July 4th holiday weekend.

The head of the DPS, Colonel Wilson E. Speir, estimated that 51 persons would lose their lives in Texas traffic from 6 p.m. Friday, July 1, to midnight Monday, July 4.

"Based on past holiday experience, we believe many of the traffic accidents during the holiday period will involve either speeding or drinking. Also, it is likely that a high percentage will occur late at night or within a few hours after midnight," Speir said.

"Hopefully, motorists will drive defensively and be thoughtful while behind the wheel. I sincerely believe that if they would keep the principle of courtesy and concern utmost in their minds that it would make for a safe holiday," the DPS director added.

Holliday without policeman, again

City policeman Lomax Campbell submitted his resignation Tuesday night to the Holliday City Council. It marked the second time in less than six months that Campbell had tendered his walking papers.

Mayor Jim Darr indicated Tuesday night he would have asked Campbell to resign if Campbell's written resignation had not been submitted.

In his short letter of resignation, Campbell said it would become effective midnight June 30. He said he held no hard feelings toward the city.

"Well, I wish he'd been here tonight because I sure wanted to talk to him," Darr said.

Darr telephoned Campbell, who later appeared at the meeting with his wife. Most of the discussion concerned Campbell's return of the city equipment.

If things had continued as they were, Darr said he would have asked for Campbell's resignation. Darr did not elaborate on his apparent dissatisfaction.

Alderman Ben Ezzell said he thought Campbell had performed well for the city, adding, "I think you are smart for leaving Holliday. You have my support where ever you go," Ezzell said.

"You don't know everything that went on," Darr replied.

Campbell, who had worked for the city since May 1976, and his wife left Holliday City Hall, and the issue was dropped.

The city council immediately began its task of finding a new city officer. With advertisements asking for applications from certified officers being published in several newspapers, the council may have some prospects for the job by its regular July 12 meeting.

WATER GRANTS

Aldermen heard reports from Andy Andrews, consulting engineer, on the city's efforts to secure federal and state money for a new waste water treatment plant and water system improvement project.

The mayor signed papers concerning both projects.

The waste water treatment plant project is in step two of the program.

"It looks like we're in good shape," Andrews said.

The project to revamp the city's water distribution system has been favorably reviewed by Nortex Regional Planning Commission, Andrews explained.

The proposal now will go to Farmers Home Administration from which the city is seeking a grant-loan program to finance the project estimated to cost $170,000.

Andrews also said the city needs to revise its sewer rates. He said the present monthly $2 flat rate to all users should be increased.

INSURANCE UP

The city council voted to renew its liability insurance policy which has increased $670 since last year.

"Unfortunately, it's more expensive than it was a year ago," Don Talley, insurance agent, said.

Liability insurance cost the city $2,877 last year.

The renewal premium is $3,547, Talley said.

Talley blamed most of the increase on a change in the rate formula applied to miles of streets in the city. The insurance policy recognizes 13 miles of streets in Holliday, Talley said.

J.W. Segler appeared before the council concerning water service to the Garland Ray Addition north of the city. Segler said he was planning to build a home in the addition.

Ray and the city council have been discussing water service requirements to the addition for several months.

Darr telephoned Ray to come to the meeting, and after a few minor changes, Ray's plat to provide water to the addition was approved by the council.

The council also voted to purchase a new electric typewriter and two new office chairs for city hall.

The council discussed its dog ordinance.

Discussion stemmed from a weekend incident in which a dog belonging to Eddie Bob Maxwell allegedly bit the daughter of Hershel McDaniel.

City workers captured the dog and delivered it to Wichita County Humane Society to be placed in quarantine to see if the dog has rabies.

The city will be charged $20 by the animal shelter to hold the dog in quarantine, and some councilmen think Maxwell should pay the expense as well as medical bills for the McDaniel girl.

Rains-White wedding rites held Friday in Wichita Falls

Miss Dana Rains and John White pledged their marriage vows in a double-ring ceremony held at Southside Baptist Church in Wichita Falls Friday evening. The Rev. Joe Cunningham was the officiant.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Rains of Route 3, Wichita Falls and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton White of Bowie.

The background of the altar space was decorated with an arch of votive candles accented with greenery and white bows. Seven-branched candelabra holding tapered candles and baskets of white gladioli, carnations and poms completed the altar decorations. Satin bows marked the pews.

Wedding musicians were Mrs. Roy McAllister of Holliday, organist, and Miss Laura Witt of Wichita Falls, soloist, who sang "Evergreen". The organist played traditional selections and marches.

Escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage, the bride wore a formal gown of white chiffon and Venice lace. The slightly raised bodice was distinguished with appliques and a mandarin collar of lace. The lace appliques were repeated on the full bishop sleeves at the wide cuffs fastened with tiny covered buttons.

The bride chose a fingertip veil of bridal illusion. Flowing from a cap of lace, the edges of the veil were scalloped and edged with two rows of satin cording, each scallop ending in a lace motif. The bride carried a graceful cascade of frenched carnations, cattleya orchids and trailing stephanotis on a white Bible. The bouquet held two white carnations for the bride to present to the mothers of the couple during the service, one to her mother as she approached the altar and the other to his mother as she and the groom left the church following the ceremony.

The bride's attendants wore long crepe gowns with flocked voile capes in pastel spring colors. Each carried a potpourri of silk roses, morning glories, azaleas, geraniums and baby's breath with long streamers to harmonize with the color of her gown.

Mrs. Mitchell Byas of Austin, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and wore blue. Bridesmaids dressed in green, pink, yellow and apricot, respectively, were Misses Chris McBride of Wichita Falls, Lisa Miller and Cami Potter, both of Holliday and Kathy Borland of Fort Worth.

Miss Penny Lee of Iowa Park, the flower girl, wore a long white floral imprinted voile frock and carried a white basket with petals and streamers.

Candles which illuminated the nuptial setting were lighted by Mike Miller of Wichita Falls and Randy Hamner of Bowie, and they also served as ushers.

Acting as best man for the groom was Jim Killan of Bowie. Groomsmen were Richard Rhoades and Bruce McDonald of Bowie, Larry Rains, brother of the bride, and Mitchell Byas of Austin.

At the reception given by the bride's parents in the Fellowship Hall of the church, the bride's table was covered in floor length yellow polyester graced with a swag touched with flowers. The centerpiece was a five-point candelabrum of silver holding yellow candles with white carnations and leather leaf decorations.

The four-tiered cake was topped with white doves and the table arrangement was completed with a silver punch bowl. Reception assistants were Miss Laura Serratt of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Jimmy Miller and Mrs. John Allen Rains of Iowa Park. Miss Tanya Woods registered guests.

Rice bags were distributed by Miss Jenny Lee of Iowa Park and Miss Ruth Ann Spencer.

The couple chose Dallas and Fort Worth for their honeymoon destination. They will live at Bowie.

The new Mrs. White, a 1977 graduate of Holliday, was valedictorian of her class, Who's Who Among American High School Students and a member of National Honor Society. The groom was graduated from Bowie High School and is presently employed at Nocona Boot Co. as a computer programmer.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at McBride Land & Cattle Co. Steaks.

Mrs. Don Rains was hostess for a bridesmaids luncheon Thursday at French Village Restaurant.

Rains aid cotton

By DON DECKER County Agent

There is more than "beginners luck" to the good cotton crop started by Fred Dwyer on Bacon Switch Road. His cotton is up to a good stand, making rapid growth and beginning to set squares. The rains of the last few days certainly gave the crop a "shot in the arm".

There is more than just luck involved in this crop even though this is Dwyer's first year to grow cotton. He provides all of the principals needed in good crop production - early seedbed preparation, adequate fertility, preplant herbicide with Prowl, early planting with precision equipment, adapted varieties, and rotary hoeing as needed.

He planted in 30-inch rows the latter part of May and early June with a six row unit planter. The seeding rate was 15 pounds per acre of Westburn 70 and Lankart 57. Fertilizer was applied to the seedbed prior to planting.

The next three weeks will probably make or break the crop. The overwintering boll weevils will be hit with one aerial spray application of Guthion just as the oldest squares in the field reach the size of a match head. This timing will catch the weevil in the field just before egg laying begins. A flea hopper spray with Cygon will be made only if needed.

As soon as the ground crusts, a sweep will plow the middles in an effort to reduce surface moisture evaporation. Any grasses or weeds missed by the herbicide will be plowed out; however, the fields are perfectly clean now.

After working to get good stands of cotton and grain sorghum with a grain drill, I have come to the conclusion row crop planters are essential. If conditions are just right, a stand can be obtained with a drill.
