Seniors Start Western Week with Assembly Program Monday

Activities for a rip snorting Western Week got underway Monday morning with an assembly program presented by members of the senior class.

Dressed in Western regalia, the senior cowpokes entered the auditorium to the strains of "Home on the Range."

Driftwood, cactus and mesquite were arranged around a campfire to form a picturesque setting for the program. Group songs included Don't Fence Me In; Old Chisholm Trail; and Deep in the Heart of Texas. Norma Ferguson and Shirley Robertson were featured in a duet in which they bewailed the fact that "I didn't know that gun was loaded!"

Judge Jimmy Copeland read the laws for Western Week. These required all students and faculty to wear something Western as part of their costume during the week.

On duty to enforce the Western wear law are Sheriff Fuzzy Bug Kellogg and deputies H. W. Singletary and Jerry Ann Holt. The first violator of the law, Aubrey Hundley, was brought in for trial. Penalty was waived when he reappeared later dressed in the prescribed clothing.

Other laws required all students to remove headgear during classes, and to keep the speed of their horses down to a moderate pace in the schoolhouse halls.

Concluding the assembly program was a pantomime hilariously depicting the escapades of Wild Bill Hickok. Parts were played by Jack Lowder, Charles Kellogg, Billie Spradlin and Jimmy Copeland.

Other seniors participating in the assembly program were Kathryn Davis, Don Hammer, Kara Herring, Jerry Holt, Rosa Bowling, Dorothy Burkett, Lynna Jo Killian, Georgia Lou Cox, Ruby Curlee, Donald Kuykendall, Lloyd Loudamy, Carol Magee, Frances Brackeen, Tom Murrain, Kenneth Phillips, Bob Price, Ada Beth Sanders, Betty Tidwell, Frieta Kay Walden, Jo Frances Yarbrough.

Mrs. Atkeison Is Dundee Club Hostess

Mrs. J. H. Power spoke recently on "Religion, the Substructure of American Democracy" during a meeting of the Dundee Study club at the home of Mrs. Hollis Atkeison. "Keep God in American History" was the subject title of Mrs. Ed Heller of Dundee.

Mrs. J. M. Hawley, president, was elected delegate to the state convention during the business session over which she presided. Alternate is Miss Bertha Taylor.

The meeting was opened by a devotional and the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Roll call was answered by giving topics assigned to each member during the year.

Refreshments were served to 10 members during the social hour.

Members present included Mmes. Atkeison, Hawley, Heller, M. E. Chiles, Dan H. Marshall, H. S. Pankhurst, J. R. Parkey, W. E. Reeves, Power, and Miss Taylor.

Mrs. Ruby McKenzie and children had as weekend guests Mrs. Ola Massengale and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Armontrout and family of Jacksboro; Mrs. J. W. Wilhoit and daughter Kathy of Midland.

Coronation Ceremony Is Western Week Special Event

Interest in the race for Round-up Queen increases as the Friday noon deadline draws near.

Colorful coronation ceremonies are being planned for her majesty and the royal court. In addition to the Round-up Queen, who is to be selected from the high school candidates, queens will also be crowned from the primary and elementary departments of the grade school.

The coronation, which is to feature a Western theme, will take place atop a throne arranged with bales of hay. Frieta Kay Walden is in charge of arrangements.

Candidates from the various grades and their escorts are:

1. Fran Mahler, Phil Johnson.
2. Sue Roberts, Bobby Doty.
3. Shirley Szenasi, Daryl Lowder.
4. Sara Hudson, Wayne Roberts.
5. Gean Godwin, Jack St. Clair.
- 5 & 6. Amelia Frey, David Neal.
6. Sue Blair, Carlos Gipson.
7. Lawana McDorman, Merle Boyd.
8. Kay Johnson, Van Hubbard.
9. Julia Ann Bates, Harold Adams.
10. Ophelia Tidwell, Jack Erwin.
11. Verdell Neimeyer, Tommy Mankins.
12. Georgia Lou Cox, Jack Lowder.

Identity of the Round-up Queen will not be made known until the grand entry.

Warren Davis of Seattle, Wash., visited his father and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Harris, and other relatives here Monday.

One can almost taste that barbecue steaming in the pots and those brown beans simmering in the pots, as senior class members and their parents polish off last minute details for the big Barbecue and Senior Round-up to be held Saturday evening on the Eagle football field.

All residents of the area as well as those in surrounding towns are invited. Preparations are underway to feed an expected crowd of 1000 or more. With the barbecue there will be served generous helpings of brown beans, potato salad, relish and coffee. Pies, cakes and cold drinks can be obtained from food booths.

The show line is scheduled to begin forming at 5:30 with the serving to continue until 7:30 or later. Tickets are now on sale at $1 for adults and 50 cents for children 10 years and younger. These tickets may be obtained from any member of the senior class or at the entry gate Saturday evening.

Other attractions to be erected on the football field include a bingo stand and a fishing pond. A new addition this year will be a western store which will feature quality merchandise at nominal prices. All the merchandise has been donated by various stores and individuals.

Featured entertainers for the evening will be Nat Fleming and his Boys, who will provide a program of fun and western music. The program will be presented in the auditorium, and an admission charge is to be made to cover costs. Curtain time is 8:00.

Highlight of the evening will be the coronation ceremonies to be held on the football field, weather permitting.

Following the program will be a program presented for the entertainment of the royal court. Included will be a clown and donkey act by Louis Blair of Dundee and his trained mule. Blair enjoys considerable popularity as a rodeo entertainer.

The Holliday band will furnish music for the occasion.

Deputy Sheriff Jerry Ann Holt and Charles Fuzzy Bug Kellogg

SENIOR NEWS

Well we got beat—but we won't this Friday night. Go to Henrietta and see the Hawks smash the 'Cats. No kidding, let's fill the stands.

Since next week is Twirp Week, I was asked to warn the boys. When you see the gals coming at you, you'd better hit the trail.

To all ma's and pa's: Let your darling daughters have the car next week, C. H., that means you too!

We're having a Sr-Jr party Saturday night. Masquerade. The girls and boys are coming dressed as their secret desire. So, some don't come. Catch? Natch!

Remember Saturday night is Halloween. Everyone is planning a happy time. Don't be surprised to wake up Sunday morning and see your car on the front porch, or dead skunks in the house. Postscript: Sorry, kids, no fun this year, Mrs. Thompson is leaving town. (Mrs. Owens, too!)

We're still selling magazines. Be sure and take a few subscriptions so we'll have enough George to leave town on next spring. Retha Starr got a $10 bill last Thursday for selling the most magazines in two days. The stingy thing wouldn't even take us to town.

The Jrs are taking in all magazines and newspapers. I hate to say it, but give to the lower classmen too. Remember they have to take us Srs to Craterville.

Nov. 6 is Homecoming. Don't know who our lucky gal will be, but be there to see the cat crowned. Also we'll have a bonfire and pep rally Thursday night. We'd like for you to attend. Our football opponent will be Holliday.

I don't know if some girl chewed on George's face or if a Paducah Dragon is the guilty one, but anyway, George, don't let those Henrietta Bearcats get ya!

I almost forgot. To all Wichita girls: We'd hate to see you hurt, but, there isn't room in Iowa Park for us and you too, so you might better stay out.

Rooty toot toot and a snoot in a boot Be a brute. Tena.

P.S. Some dark dreary night call 5321.

P.P.S. Delores Langford, how does it feel to hit high center at the city lake?

P.P.S.S. Fooled you! You thought maybe this would say something.

Robby Wayne Limbocker, 4 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Limbocker, E Alameda street is back in his boots again. His mother came into the Herald office and claimed the lost boot.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

It's the Principal of the Thing!

Every autumn our High School has a contest to see who can get the most ads for The Recorder—the school magazine. The winner becomes honorary Principal for a day. Skip Roberts won last week, and his first (and only) official act as "Principal" of the school was to announce in a loud, clear voice: "I hereby declare today a school holiday!" Knowing Miss Gilbert, the real principal, it was no surprise to me that she laughed as hard as anybody else... and said to go right ahead.

From where I sit, it's no wonder our youngsters think Miss Gilbert's such a wonderful person (even though they know they'll have to make up that day). Her tolerance, her friendly way with people of all ages reflect in everything she does. For instance, at my house Miss Gilbert prefers tea but always respects my preference for a glass of beer. As a real person... in any community, Miss Gilbert belongs at "the head of the class."

JUNIOR NEWS

Trick or Treat? Yeah, I imagine you will be hearing that question Saturday night, so if you want a treat instead of a trick, have lots of goodies and we won't make it so hard for you.

All you people who have been taking magazine subscriptions from the Srs: When you finish reading them, put your magazines on the front porch and the Jrs will come get them for our paper drive. No kidding, do us a favor and if you have any, notify someone in the Jr class. Sure appreciate it.

The Jrs had a class meeting last Friday. We are getting impatient about our Jr pins. We understand we are supposed to get them soon. Don't get excited, we are just going to order them.

We Jrs sure enjoyed English class last Friday. Let's have more of those, Mrs. Owens.

Caroline Sewell and Clayton Boyd are seen together a lot lately.

Our little Junie is still hanging on to our football player. Some of the single gals would like a little advice, Junie.

Clayton and Eubs are really "achin' for a breakin'." We think we know who from. Any similarity to those living or dead is purely coincidental.

Wanda Gulley is a real double bubble gal. I understand she has got a case worked up. Better watch her, Perk!

Rose Mary, there is an ex Sr who wants to go with you.

Tubba is a gone bird. I've seen her with two or three Flockies in one night. Gal, how do you keep from getting your head shot off? What happened to Valley View?

Boys beware! Next week is our Twirp Week. Hey, ma and pa, pass out the George and hand over the car keys.

If teachers are wondering why Barbara T., Pat, Jan, Gladys, Henriann, Christina, Delores and Barbara J. slept all day Tuesday, it's because they had a slumber party Monday night. Girls, keeping late hours isn't good for you.

Jo Lindley has started early! Poor Dannie is in the hospital with a broken arm.

Donnie McManus and his Sr girl seem to be doing fine.

Hey, Garry, why do you go to Valley View so often?

We were all smashed because our pigskin heroes got clobbered last Friday night. But don't get alarmed, we are going to tame the Bearcats. Be sure and go to Henrietta to help cheer our Hawks to victory.

Well this is Little Blue Riding Hood taking a strawberry shortcut to history class. See ya at the game Friday night.

Snow Ball Crawford P.S. Here a little warning to the Wichita girls: Quit chasing the IP boys—they are NOT interested.

TRADIN' POST

Wichita Falls High School has just completed observance of their annual 'Howdy Week,' which is held early in the fall semester. The climax of the week was an assembly program on September 29 at which time Miss and Mr. Howdy were crowned. They were elected by popular vote of the student body as the friendliest in WFHS.

The chemistry students in Pampa High School are making up their own six-week tests.

The students of Pampa High School took a holiday last Monday while the teachers were guests of local business firms in observance of Pampa's first Business-Industry-Education Day.

In a recent contest the students of Childers High School selected a school slogan. The slogan selected was "Win or lose, it's ours to choose; But if we win, Let's win like men."

The printer gets the money, The school gets the fame, The students get the paper, but The staff gets the blame.

Mrs. Stegall's 8th Grade English Students Enjoy Word Study Project

We eighth graders are wondering if our readers think there is anything glamorous about grammar. Regardless of what we may think about it now, there was a time when a person with a knowledge of grammar was considered glamorous. Those were the days when Latin grammar was THE grammar, and the intellectuals who mastered it were thought to have magic powers. (We sometimes think it is not too presumptuous to believe that those who master English grammar today are nothing short of magicians!)

Nevertheless, grammar and glamour did grow from the same word, but popular usage through the centuries has caused original meanings to fade until today no one is likely to think of grammar when he looks at the glamorous Marilyn Monroe.

During the first six weeks period in the eighth grade English class of Holliday High School the pupils studied the dictionary for the purpose of improving their own literary skills and appreciation. They learned the value of guide words, of key words, of diacritical markings, of synonyms, of antonyms, and of obsolete and modern definitions.

In the study of definitions the boys and girls learned that many of our common words today had romantic and fascinating beginnings.

Publishers of Webster's New International Dictionary graciously loaned the class a delightful and highly colorful filmstrip of 45 picturesque word origins. From this film the class learned that a teacher was once a slave, that a neighbor was once a nearby farmer, and that a taxicab once meant a jumping goat.

As a result of this introduction to vocabulary study, the eighth graders will write a column for the Holliday News each week during the remainder of the school year. Title of the column will be "Word Origins," and each author's name will appear with his contribution. Each column will represent a great amount of time spent in study of the dictionary, encyclopedias and other reference material.

If you, the readers, like this column, we feel sure these budding young literary artists will appreciate your letting them know it.

WORD ORIGINS

CLUE by Tommie Clark From the legend of Minotaur and Theseus comes the word "clue."

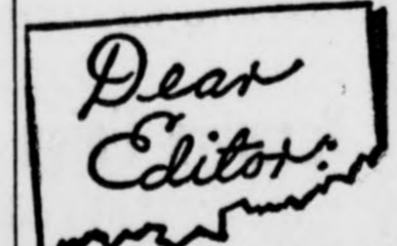

Several thousand years ago the island of Crete in the Mediterranean sea was at the top of its glory. It was more advanced than Egypt was several centuries later.

Minos, a legendary king of Crete, had displeased one of the gods. His punishment was that he lost his wife to a sacred bull. She later gave birth to a horrible monster which was part bull and part human, and it had a ferocious appetite. This creature, so the story goes, was named Minotaur because of his ferocity. Minos put the creature in a cave of so intricate design that anyone entering could not find his way out. Criminals were thrown into this cavern to feed Minotaur.

Every ninth year seven boys and seven girls from Attica (Greece) were thrown into this labyrinth because Minos' son had been murdered in that country.

When the third time for this tribute was drawing near, Theseus, the son of an Athenian king, offered himself as a victim because he believed he could kill the monster and free Attica of the curse.

Ariadne, daughter of Minos, was in love with Theseus. Before he entered the labyrinth she gave him a ball of yarn. He tied the end of

Hallow'een Hoax

Again the witches ride, the spooks cavort! This is the time of year when spooks and witches hold their annual revels. On October 31, when the clock strikes midnight you often hear wailing of ghosts, shrill piercing screams, squeaking doors moaning, and other noises of ghastly nature.

Wan'na hear a nice gruesome tale? What's that? You don't!!! Well—I'll tell it anyway.

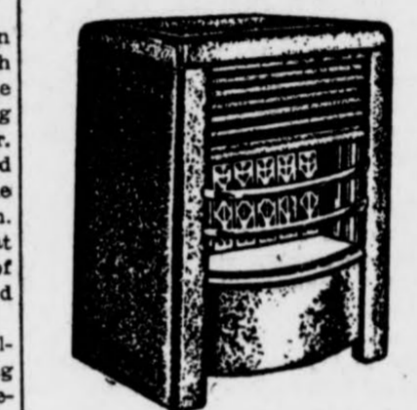

It is the truth so make no bones. That once there lived a man named Jones. Alas, it was his bitter lot To murdered be quite near this spot. Now we have his cold remains So first I give to you his brains Now next I pass as you surmise The murdered victim's mournful eyes. His veins through which flowed blood so red Are now all clammy, cold and dead.

And now your shuddering touch reveals The teeth with which he ate his meals. And next your startled nerves prepare To see the late lamented's hair. The ear with which he often heard, Alas, now hearkens not a word. His hand no longer yours can hold Alas, it now in death is cold.

The study will be concluded on Thursday evening.

The Gracia Bailey GA met Monday afternoon at the church with President Marilyn White in charge. Lynda Jo Thompson gave the opening prayer and the girls repeated their watch word and allegiance. Mrs. J. T. New taught four chapters of the mission book "Traded Twins."

Phyllis Truett presided at the Alma Jackson GA meeting Monday afternoon when 11 girls were present for stewardship study. Following the program the girls enjoyed a social hour in honor of Mrs. Leslie Clapp, counselor.

Junior High Hawks Run Over Archer City JH

Iowa Park Junior High won over the Archer City junior high team here Monday night. The Hawks scored on the first play with Tex Boyd going 35 yards on a quarterback sneak.

After the kick-off, Archer City scored with their fullback going about 60 yards. Both teams scored their extra points.

The Hawks scored again in the second quarter with Carl Tatom going for the TD from the 25. The halftime score was 13 to 7.

The Iowa Park team took the kick-off starting the second half and drove some 65 yards in 11 plays, scoring when Pinson carried over from the 5. The Hawks kept Archer City with their backs to the goal line most of the second half, and scored their last TD with Boyd going over.

The entire Hawk team of 28 men played in the game.

The Junior Hawks have won 2, lost 1 and tied 3. They will play Holliday here next Monday night at 7:30. Prices are 15c and 25c. The public is invited to come and cheer these little fellows along.

Members of the band are expecting to sport for the first time new white shoes and gloves this week at the football game. Halftime program Mr. Vaughn has planned for the Henrietta game is taken from Spanish origin. We hope a lot of fans will go to Henrietta for it.

23 Study Club Program Features Indian Schools, Health, Citizenship

The public affairs department of GFWC was observed in the program of a meeting of the 23 Study club Thursday afternoon, Oct. 22, when major emphasis was placed on the Indian division of the department.

The appropriate caption for the outlined program was "Participation—the strength of democracy." The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Earle Denny.

Mrs. R. A. Tanner served as program chairman for the meeting. The pledge of allegiance to the U.S. flag was led by Mrs. R. R. Brubaker. Members responded to roll call with interesting assigned topics to precede the meditation by Mrs. King Abernathy.

Using the 23rd Psalm for a scriptural basis, Mrs. Abernathy pictured the Lord as the perfect leader and shepherd.

Mrs. G. E. Trammell, educational director and secretary of the Iowa Park Methodist church and a former teacher in the federal school for Sioux Indians on the Pine Ridge reservation in South Dakota, was guest speaker. She addressed club members on the subject, "Educational Program of the Sioux Indians." Mrs. Trammell stated that the Pine Ridge reservation school was started in 1879. The buildings on the campus at present are a combination of the old and the modern. The educational program stresses the learn by doing plan designed to turn the Indian from a hunter into a farmer through a gradual process.

Girls are taught home economics along with the regular academic subjects that students in public schools study.

Mrs. Trammell said that it was only ten years ago that the students got textbooks identical to those used in public schools in the U.S. Club members listened with absorbed interest to her version of the characteristics, customs, abilities and possibilities of the Sioux Indians. In conclusion she said, "They are typical people; some good and some bad; some energetic and some lazy."

A symposium on American Indians stimulated deeper understanding of the Redskins. Mrs. Lester E. Brooks discussed education and gave an excellent analysis of the federal schools providing high school education for Indians in America and Alaska.

In discussing health, Mrs. Sam Hill stated that there are 62 hospitals in the U.S. and 8 in Alaska for Indians owned by the federal government which is responsible for their health.

Mrs. C. J. Thurber, through questions and answers, revealed facts of great importance regarding the Indian and land.

Inspiration for a talk on citizenship by Mrs. C. J. Simpson was provided through a recent visit to Texas' Indian village near Livingston, where approximately 600 Alabama and Couhattas reside.

Mrs. C. W. Coppock, vocalist, and Mrs. James A. Sewell, pianist, contributed the fine arts numbers for the program. Attired in colorful Indian costumes, they offered "Where Sad Waters Flow" and "Enchanted Valley" (Thurlou Lawrence).

The hostess served delicious refreshments from a table laid with brown linen and appointed with a bouquet of pink queensweath flanked by pink candles. Mrs. Charles Metz presided at the coffee service. Other decorations in the reception rooms featured arrangements of autumnal blossoms.

VALLEY VIEW PTA PLANS PROJECTS AND ACTIVITIES

Projects and activities of the Valley View Parent-Teacher association were discussed during a Tuesday evening meeting in the high school. Mrs. Amer Lewis, president, was in charge.

Reports were submitted by Mrs. O. R. Moore, secretary, and Mrs. Paul Patterson, membership chairman.

Following a report by Mrs. Johnnie Birdwell, ways and means committee chairman, members voted to have a 42 party in the community house Friday, Nov. 6 at 7:00 p.m.

A project for the PTA was discussed and Mrs. G. H. Merriot was appointed proect committee chairman. Assisting will be Mmes. Euell Spruill and W. D. Collins, Mr. Spruill, James R. Taylor and Clark Wilkes.

Featured speaker for the evening was Mrs. Dan LaBorne of Electra, who discussed "Parents Till the Soil." Mrs. L. M. Carnes led in prayer and presented the devotional.
