Blockade Breaks at Least Temporarily

With a long drawn out sigh of relief Miss Colorado sank back yesterday and thanked her stars that the railroads were open again and running, but when she looked up to see the stars she saw not the twinkling little stars, I wonder what you are, but the stars of snowflakes. Another storm was breaking.

A deluge of tourists, commercial travelers and business men who had been snowbound at the very gates of the city as it were, came down upon the community and swarmed into the hotels. This stream continued until well past midnight, but early in the evening a deluge of snow resembling the first of the late series was pouring down at the rate of six inches an hour and staying right there, unless the wind took it in hand, as is customary.

The Santa Fe was the first to get the line of commerce going again. The train opened yesterday afternoon at 2:15, making good time to Denver and others passed on later. The first passenger train on this line from the north was after 10 o'clock last night.

At the postoffice and hotels, the delayed mails from Denver and the East literally swamped the force with work last night, but as is characteristic of Postmaster Dana's men, they attacked the mass with a will and before the tired throng of travelers, and the business men of the city had retired, all box mail had been distributed. The carriers will suffer under heavy loads this morning.

The Rock Island, after one day's blockade, in which time it was unable to get any mail to Denver, was open last night. The blockade, which was held on the east side of the obstruction, was open last night.

Denver people who waited here since Sunday started for home at dark on the Rio Grande, some at 2 on the Santa Fe, with signs of relief and at the same time anticipating another blockade. The weather was threatening all afternoon. The passengers on No. 10 of Sunday afternoon, which was delayed at Colorado Springs, were Cripple Creek was ushered back into the world as yesterday. After two days cut off from the outside, save by the lower route, the Midland Terminal got a train through that had been delayed three miles east of Gillett since Sunday afternoon. Trains got through both ways, but through yesterday afternoon, the storm that hung over the mountains in that direction had not passed.

Number 3 D. & G. is classified "Special," was the first train into the city from Denver. The train was blocked Sunday night at Castle Rock and THINKS HE CAN SAVE $700,000. B. F. Stewart, the mechanical engineer, who has been investigating mining machinery hereabouts with a view to improving on it, spoke yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce in Colorado City. He is convinced that he can improve on the method and assure that he has a plan for doubling the capacity of the works can be occupied by the machinery, exclusive of the crusher and chemical departments.

LEONORA JACKSON. Third Concert in the Subscription Course of the Colorado Springs Musical Club. The Colorado Springs Musical Club will give the third of its subscription concerts on Thursday evening, April 26, in the Perkins Fine Arts building. Miss Leonora Jackson will appear. FAIR SHOW FOR COLORADO WARES That's What the Manufacturers Would Like from THE INTERSTATE COMMISSION

Meeting to be Held Tomorrow in Denver and Will Again Take Up the Kindel Case—Mr. Kindel is in the City and Expresses His Views.

Colorado Springs is interested as much as any part of the state in the sitting of the inter-state commerce commission at Denver tomorrow morning. Should the Kindel case be so amended this time as to give this city today and tonight en route to Denver from Portland and San Francisco, where it has been sitting to hear cases of late interest there.

The entire western country is affected by the Kindel case. Mr. Kindel himself is at the Alamo and will likely to leave this evening if the weather permits, to present the case in full tomorrow after the Denver chamber of commerce has had its turn at producing evidence. The long tedious fight by Mr. Kindel for better rates for Colorado industries, has been before the public at intervals ever since 1882, but the instigator believes this is the last chapter and he is anxious to get it over.

The case was taken up by the commission, amended and the railroads have been allowed to maintain points in Colorado and the Pacific coast, but would not give us the same rate from the coast as they are not grant any concessions north and south. We have been compelled to pay a higher rate in most cases than was charged from the same points to Pacific coast points.

The discrimination was entirely against Colorado. I do not know why the case is to be amended at this time—there is no visible reason—but I am inclined to get on the stand and tell everything I can in regard to the matter. Furthermore, I intend putting forward all the facts as they are or to get called upon pretty hard. There are 27 railroads named as parties in my suit, the title being "Kindel vs. the Colorado and Pacific coast, bankrupted John Evans, one of the most illustrious citizens of this state who has produced any case, and prevented his railroad to Galveston from going through. These same roads have been allowed to maintain conditions that cut us off from the water way the government has spent something like $200,000,000 on.

Chance for Colorado Products. "I hope the commission is taking up the case this time to bring us some good. If the arbitrary rates are abolished, the same concessions made by railroads relative to all directions as have been made going west to Colorado, the business men of the state will have a smothering cloak lifted from their heads and local manufacturers can reach out for business beyond the confines of the immediate vicinity in which they exist." Mr. Kindel has outlined the railroads' plan in a permanent fixture in the state's list of producing establishments.

Chairman Knapp to Preside. The inter-state commission will sit in the Federal court hall at Denver, opening tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. Chairman Knapp, who is in Colorado Springs at present and it is expected that he will act in person, will preside. The commission is expected to be in session for an extended session at Denver, did not bring about the result expected, but has evidently aroused interest in the case and called forth the present coming session of the commission.

A BUSY DAY. Building Inspector Roby Celebrates His Last Day in Office in a Peculiar Manner. Last days are always peculiar. Some of them are spent in regret and some of them in rejoicing. In the latter day in office of the outgoing building inspector, Mr. Roby, belonged to either class. He said that while Mr. Custer any rate it was one of the busiest that the office has experienced for many weeks. Nearly $100,000 worth of business was transacted and to the pleasure of this fact was added the pleasure of the assurance of good feeling expressed by those who have a business with Mr. Roby.

THE DOPE CONCERT A GREAT SUCCESS. Notwithstanding the fact that the snow was falling at the rate of about a million a minute, one of the largest audiences that has ever gathered in the Perkins Fine Arts building was there yesterday to hear the concert which was given by the Colorado Springs Musical Club for the benefit of Mr. Charles Doyt. Owing to the snow blockade between Denver and this city it had been impossible for Mr. and Mrs. Crampton to be present and this was a real disappointment to the people but the numbers were taken by Mr. Crampton who sang an extra, solo and encore and by Mr. Rubin Goldmark and the enthusiasm with which the people greeted them meant that everyone was well pleased.

THE SUMMER TOURISTS.

An unusually open winter has been followed by such an exceptionally stormy spring that it seems hard to realize that the tourist season is almost upon us.

Yesterday all the western roads began selling round trip tickets from Chicago to Colorado Springs and other common points in Colorado for the one fare plus two dollars.

Every indication points to an unusually large number of visitors to Colorado, in spite of the fact that the Paris exposition will draw away many of the wealthy class who have been making a practice of spending a part of each summer in Colorado.

In past years it has been very noticeable that a large proportion of our transient visitors eventually become permanent residents. Some become infatuated with the climate, others find attractive business opportunities, others linger, they scarcely know why and finally settle down to spend the remainder of their days among those who have fully decided that there is no better place to live than in Colorado.

This year there will be an unusual number of persons who will remain here permanently. The general conditions are good, Colorado Springs offers a notable example of a prosperous and growing city and for months to come people will pour into the city as fast or even faster than accommodations can be prepared for them.

There are many other cities and towns that are growing rapidly and under most favorable conditions. The cities of the Cripple Creek district are making rapid progress and offer innumerable opportunities for men of enterprise and ability.

Colorado Springs, with the fame of her prosperity spread broadcast throughout the land and that fame actively justified by the new life and new energy that are so rapidly making it difficult to keep track of them.

At the same time the other cities and districts of the state will do well to remember that in Colorado Springs this year will be their most favorable recruiting ground for settlers and investors.

It is not the indications of summer travel are realized there will be enough for all of us, and as a city we extend an invitation to all the state to assist in welcoming our visitors and in changing them from tourists to permanent residents of our state.

WELL BEGUN.

THE new council has begun its work well. It has committed the minor offices of the city men who are competent to fulfill the duties of their position, and who are properly interested in giving the city good government.

As the Republican party is in power and will be held responsible for the acts of this administration anyhow, the council has acted wisely in securing harmony in the city offices by the selection of men who add to other qualifications, that of Republicanism.

We trust that the work so well begun may be continued until the end of the year, and that the last year of the second-class city of Colorado may be its best.

WHAT JEFFERSON WOULD DO. FOLLOWING in the footsteps of other persons of greater or less prominence, ex-Governor Altgeld now comes to the front with an address on "What Jefferson Would Do?"

There is considerable difference of opinion in regard to the question thus suggested. Altgeld has his opinion, and other people have theirs.

But it is a pretty safe conclusion that one of the things that Jefferson would do, would be to get as far from Altgeld politically as possible.

A DANGER OF REFORM. IN commending the action of the municipal government of Colorado City, which is driving the disreputables out of town and closing up their resorts, the Gazette wishes to call attention of our own city officials to the fact that these resorts are not only a source of trouble, but also a source of danger.

It is quite evident that the railroads should build snow sheds or dig tunnels at Palmer Lake. A dozen rotary snow plows kept constantly ready for use might do.

The vote in favor of the Citizens' franchise at the recent election was nearly 10 to 1, the exact figures being 1,578 for and 162 against.

Boston school boys have discovered that there are microbes in their school books. A thoroughly Bostonian excuse for not studying.

The revival of insurgent activity in the Philippines is coincident with the revival of anti-expansion agitation in congress. Of course.

When Paderewski in his present tour of the country reached Sacramento, Cal., he readily ascertained from the records of the box office that only 123 seats had been secured for the performance which had arranged to give to that flourishing city. Thereupon the eminent pianist cancelled the engagement and returned their money to those who had purchased tickets, being, as we are interested to hear, generally applauded for this spirited action.

Those who tell in the future the splendid story of his life will write here the first words of apology and appeal. Millions of his fellow countrymen of today who had believed him to be safe from that mental infatuation which might turn a great admiral into a poor politician will give especially that the burden of blame rests apparently among those whose personal influences should have been ever alert to preserve, not to belittle, the splendor of his fame.

Not Yet a Candidate. (New York Sun) Admiral Dewey has yet been called a candidate for president. Whether he will make himself one by caring his pastanship, or remain as he is, at the most a collector of money outside of the pale of nomination possibilities, whose sayings and doings are thought of only as a political water, is yet to be seen. But anyway, as far as the present goes, we are sorry for the episode.

Statesman or Naval Hero? (New York Sun) It may be taken for granted that the (people) will think no less of him than they do of the other, but they will think an ingenious statesman dealing with the schemes of the politicians as desirable as an ingenious naval hero delighted with their appreciation is another of the problems open only to speculation.

Where Should the Workingman Stand? (Tribune Capital) During President Harrison's administration it was the boast of the Republican party that there was more republicanism in the country than in any other country, and that more national debt had been wiped out, that a greater foreign trade had been developed, that a larger percentage of labor was steadily employed, that a higher rate of wages was being paid, and that, in fine, more general prosperity prevailed than in any other country on the globe or that in any other country of our own history. Cleveland's free trade administration and the Democratic Populistic drive of 1892-3 had "changed all that," and changed it so radically that within 12 months the country was a mass of money, out of work, full of soup-boilers, panic and distrust, to such an extent that many people openly stated their opinion that the "good old times" were over, and that we never again could have old-fashions prosperity.

These are facts and, being known to every reader, are worth recalling and considering on the eve of another great presidential campaign, when one or the other party is to be placed in supreme control of national politics.

The latest fiscal report from Washington (for April) shows more money per capita, more gold, and not only more gold but more silver also, and a larger total of all money in circulation than at any other date in the country's history, not counting the New York administration. For the first time on record the "per capita" has crossed the line, and also for the first time the total volume of currency this year touches and passes the two billion mark, while the gold and silver in all records, notwithstanding the shut-down of the principal gold mines of the world in Africa, 1898, the year Mr. Bryan was hustling over the country warning of the collapse in money supplies by the Democrats, and other crimes that were committed there. The government debt in the resolution, offered in the house by Representative ...

ADMIRAL DEWEY'S CANDIDACY

A Candidate Without a Party. (Democratic Committeeman Shanklin, Indiana.) Months ago Admiral Dewey was reported as saying: "Being a Vermontian, I am, of course, a Republican. If I were a Georgian I should probably be a Democrat." If he said this, with that prospect in mind, he asks a Democratic national convention to nominate him?

Mr. Bryan Non-Committal. (William J. Bryan.) I do not care to be interviewed on the subject. Governor Smith is Sorry. (Governor Smith of Vermont.) I'm sorry he has changed his mind about the presidency. ... I'm proud of Dewey and what he has done for the country, but as the victorious admiral he stood on a pinnacle. He was the ideal American, beloved and honored, and he was doing the ideal thing in remaining content with the rank of admiral. If he should be elected president, at least to my mind, it would be no greater honor than to be known as the victor of Manila bay.

Match to be Resigned. (President Eliot of Harvard.) It is much to be regretted that Admiral Dewey has entertained the idea of resigning the platform of the White House, set in last year. Whether or not an irresistible Dewey tide can be made to set in at the present time is a question which admits of universal interest, but which brings out many and widespread differences of opinion.

A DANGER OF REFORM. (Hartford Post.) We are not sure that the admiral's stock has increased so much since the halcyon days of last September. Let's see: what was that transaction about a house? ... Did Not Take the Flood Time. (Boston Globe.) In the opinion of a multitude of his admirers, Dewey is a strong and sweeping tide, and one which would unquestionably have carried Dewey to the White House, set in last year. Whether or not an irresistible Dewey tide can be made to set in at the present time is a question which admits of universal interest, but which brings out many and widespread differences of opinion.

There does not seem to be much room for him in the platform of either of the two leading parties. "President Dewey." (New Haven Register.) But the admiral's Dewey is well. Suggests a Postponement. (Worcester Telegram.) For president, George Dewey in 1904. Senator. (New York Post.) There seems to be no doubt that Admiral Dewey wants to be president. The fact is, however, that his training has not qualified him for the responsibilities of the office, even if he were in the prime of his life. His physical condition, while his age and his health combine to render him unable to bear the terrible strain of the Admiral's willingness - over-willingness, it will seem to some - to be a candidate will be a great disappointment to that such an announcement would have produced a year ago. His reputation for good sense and his tastes then stood so high, his prestige was so great and the popular faith in his integrity was so strong, that both McKinley and Bryan might well have decried him as a competitor for the presidential nomination.

Where the Blame Rests. Those who tell in the future the splendid story of his life will write here the first words of apology and appeal. Millions of his fellow countrymen of today who had believed him to be safe from that mental infatuation which might turn a great admiral into a poor politician will give especially that the burden of blame rests apparently among those whose personal influences should have been ever alert to preserve, not to belittle, the splendor of his fame.

Internal Revenue Talks For Public Building

One of the strongest cards for Colorado Springs in the matter of the new public building is the internal revenue receipts of last year, the amount of which will be put in a memorial to Congressman Weymouth of Massachusetts, a member of the committee on public buildings and grounds. The internal revenue receipts for Colorado Springs last year were greater than any city of like population in the country, and this fact alone, should be a great argument in favor of the new structure. Including revenue stamps for stocks, bonds, conveyances, etc., the total amount was $196,000 for the year.

Cutler Academy to Debate With Pueblo

Resolved, That the British have the right on their side in the present controversy with the South African republic. This is the question, to be debated between Cutler academy and the Central High school of Pueblo. Some time ago the Hesperian society of Cutler academy challenged the debating society of the Central High school of Pueblo. The challenge was accepted and arrangements made to hold the debate. Pueblo has the affirmative of the question while Cutler academy maintains the negative. The debate will be held at the Perkins auditorium next Friday evening beginning at 7:30. To open the programme and while the judges are conferring music will be rendered by the girls glee club of Colorado college and by Miss Thurman of Pueblo.

Calm Before Storm At the Post Office

"Mails from east and north indefinite." This was the notice on the bulletin board in the postoffice Monday. "No mails from anywhere." This was the notice posted yesterday. And that was practically the situation. Never in the history of the local postoffice had there been such a general blockade of the mails as it is now. That never in the history of the local office has there been such a flood of mail as will be poured into the local office from the four corners of the earth within the next two or three days, or if not so soon, then as soon as the routes of communication between Colorado Springs and the rest of the world are again thoroughly open.

Mr. F. G. Salmon, formerly of this city, was in town yesterday. He has been spending a number of months traveling in Florida and the south. He left last night for New York. In talking with a Gazette man he said that pretty soon he was going to get through traveling around the country and would return to a good city to make his home.

Mr. Charles E. Over, secretary and treasurer of the Colorado Springs Driving association, states that the indications for the coming race meet to be held at Roswell Park are most promising. He says that the meet will in all probability be the most attractive that has ever been held in the city.

"The pooling privileges have just been awarded," said Mr. Over. There will be two books this year, instead of one, and it is expected that this will please the people. The pooling privileges have been given to the Messrs. Boyce & Co., of Denver, who also have secured the privileges for the Denver race meet, which will be held immediately until the close of the one in this city. In the meet here there will be nine harness and eight running events. The number of the best that have ever been offered here."

"The people here have taken an interest in the snow coming at this time of the year," said Postmaster Dana yesterday, "but I never saw such interest anywhere else as I saw down at Amarillo, Texas, when I was coming north a couple of months ago. We were stuck in the snow there for 16 hours. There was one bank of snow four feet deep and it was right in the cut on the railroad. There was no snow anywhere else. It was as though the snow of all the country around had just drifted in there at that point. The people of Amarillo, which was three miles from the snow bank came down there in carriages and on horse and on foot and on sleds. He needed little instruction on how the office should be run as he demonstrated the fact that he knew something about that in his term of office which expired a year ago. He began the routine work at once. Many friends dropped in during the day to congratulate Mr. Hopkins on his return.

The Building Inspector. Ed Corey, the new building inspector, passed a rigid examination a year ago under the board appointed by the council and directed by City Engineer Sawyer. His diploma showed ninety points out of a possible 100 in his favor. He was pushed by the Democratic machine at that time for the office, but declined and has since refused to countenance some of the things which the Democratic machine did in the last campaign. For this reason the machine has turned its vituperation against him. He did not seek the position; there were but two eligible ones and he was chosen. Mr. Corey is the head of a large construction company in Illinois for four years before he came to Denver. He had to be the best of his life to just such work as one must be versed in to make an efficient building inspector. The office will be turned over to him today.

Some Changes to Come. The new sewer and food inspectors did not assume their offices yesterday but will do so today. They preferred to take one day in getting acquainted with the routine work of the retiring officials before they were sworn in. Their bonds were filed last evening and they will be sworn in this morning. Both have a great many friends to wish them success.

All the changes in the police department took place yesterday. Chief of Police Henry says that he is well pleased with the new men given him by the council and that the whole department could not have been better suited to his personal choice. Captain McNew took the chair last evening and assumed the duties of that important position. The new men on the police force were given a good initiation in the storm last night but they took it as though they had expected nothing else. All wore pleasant smiles beneath their caps.

Finishing up the list of appointments which he wished to be made. The list is about completed and there will be no more changes to him today.

OFFICES CHANGE AT CITY HALL

Many of the New Appointees Assume Their Duties.

THE POLICE DEPARTMENT

New Men Took Their Beats and the Elements Gave Them a Greeting—Offices of Building Inspector Will Change Today.

There was an air of something akin to newness around the city hall yesterday—if there could be such a thing connected with the ancient edifice.

The new officials, many of them, had either taken their offices or "were being taught the ropes" by the obliging officials who were vacating. Mr. James A. Hopkins, the newly elected water superintendent, was one of the first on the ground. He needed little instruction on how the office should be run as he demonstrated the fact that he knew something about that in his term of office which expired a year ago.

The Mansion House, London. "Dear Sir:—The kind contribution of $20 by the Caledonian society of Colorado Springs to the war fund has been received here with much gratification. I shall be glad if you will kindly convey to the donors my grateful thanks for this touching manifestation of their sympathy with the sufferers by the war. Yours truly, "Alfred J. Newton, "Lord Mayor."

Always in the Lead. The grand wall paper exhibit at Merrill's Art Rooms, 125 North Tejon street, cannot fail to appeal to lovers of the beautiful in household art. Man in Justice Court Preferred to Go to Jail Under an Assumed Name—Got Ninety Days.

John Slater was the name that a man gave when arraigned in the court of Justice of the Peace Ruby yesterday. When questioned by the judge he intimated that his name was not Slater but that he had given an assumed name. He also intimated that his real name was no business of the court. He pleaded guilty to the charge of petit larceny and was given ninety days in the county jail with the admonition to be sure and give his proper name next time.

A rather amusing story is connected with "Slater's" alleged theft. It is said that he entered the stable of Louis Stein and began to deposit a new set of harness in a sack. Stein was in the stable and saw the performance. He did not say anything but remained hidden until the harness was safely stowed away and the man had started out of the barn. Then he covered the thief with his revolver and ordered him to surrender. There was not much room for argument over the question as the big revolver forestalled any objection. The would-be thief went to the police station accordingly.

In Justice Ruby's court yesterday the case of Banning and Camp vs. Mrs. R. L. Cone was tried and taken under advisement. The case is a new set of harness claim $36 as due for labor performed for the defendant. The defendant sets up a counter-claim for $55.

THE CAMP SNOW BOUND Fuel Is the Great Necessity and Many Producers Are Idle—Great Ore from the Lonaconing.

Special to the Gazette: Cripple Creek, April 17.—Cripple Creek is snowbound for the first time in the history of the camp. Through trains on both roads succeeded in plying their way through the snow banks today, but the belated passengers for the first time saw the great coal camp at a standstill.

EXCHANGE WILL NOT BE BEAT In Spite of Many Adverse Conditions in the Stock Business, the Old Exchange Still Forges Ahead.

The business on the Colorado Springs mining stock exchange is constantly beating the record of previous years, in spite of the inactivity which is universally complained of. While it is true that the market now is much lighter than it has been in its busiest days...

WOODLAND PARK ITEMS week from a visit to her parents at Gunnison, Colo. As a finale to our townsite business, A. B. Hackman attended a sheriff's sale at Cripple Creek last week and bought in the title and interest in and to the Woodland Park townsite, as formerly held by the Woodland Park Town and Improvement company.

Mr. Geo. Minter, of 217 Thompson Street, Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "Some time ago I was terribly afflicted with rheumatism. It had been coming upon me by one of those 'Golden Medical Discoveries' and the 'Pain-killers' which I had used for some time. I took five bottles of the 'Discovery' and used the 'Pain-killers' when necessary. During the time of taking the five bottles as directed, I gained in weight 24 pounds, weighing more than ever in my life. My health and strength and removing these ailments, viz: Rheumatism of the joints, indigestion, nervousness and splitting pains in the head, ringing in the ears, loss of appetite and indigestion, depression of spirits, loss of energy, constipation, a tired feeling upon waking in the morning, and a general feeling of weakness, very nervous, etc. These 'Golden Medical Discoveries' and the 'Pain-killers' removed all those troubles, and more, and made me well as fifty as I have ever been in my life."

Mr. E. S. Dwinell has sold her ranch in the northeastern part of El Paso county. H. C. Davis has leased his ranch on Canyon road to Mr. J. H. Hobbs. C. N. Brown was a Springs visitor last week. Mrs. M. M. Morton returned last week from a winter's visit with her parents in Missouri.

Ray Walker is now located at Divide in the lumber business. Al Lennon has recently had some very encouraging returns from Denver on ore from his Trout creek claims, and is considering the feasibility of putting in a concentrating plant at his mine. W. Darnell, of Gillett, was a pleasant visitor in town last Sunday, stopping off between trains. He says the snow is coming in in the hills.

J. W. Green, formerly of this place, but now of Cripple Creek, is reported to have uncovered a bonanza lode, running from one and one-half to four miles in length in his workings on the Lone Star. We hope the rumor is correct. The successful working of the Midway concentrator encourages us to think that the future of the camp is practically assured, there being unworked quantities of low-grade ore to be had for the taking. Recent tests on the concentrates show good values, and the company now will probably settle the question definitely.

George W. Ingersoll and wife were in Denver last week on business. He and Mr. Ingersoll will start the concentrator at the Midway again as soon as the snow will permit.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO.

Colorado Springs, April 13, 1900

CONSOLIDATION is to be the future policy of the more important Cripple Creek companies. The merging of conflicting interests into a harmonious whole will be the means adopted to make the great mines greater and give the smaller mines a larger field. This consolidation movement has already been inaugurated, and the feature of our nation-let this week was the official announcement that the Elkhorn, Tornado and Raven companies will soon be consolidated under the name of the Elkhorn Consolidated Gold Mining company. Full particulars of this consolidation will be found in the newspaper excerpts printed on the second page of this letter. On the strength of this consolidation Elkhorn stock advanced to $1.25, Tornado sold up to 50, and Raven sold at 70, but all had slight reactions. The new stock, in our opinion, should be an excellent investment that should pay dividends for years to come. The new company will pay one cent per share, or $25,000 per month, for the present, in dividends.

This is probably the opening wedge for a number of future consolidations of Cripple Creek mines. These consolidations are made almost imperative by the many legal complications that arise from time to time. It has been the history of Cripple Creek that it is only necessary to find good ore in order to become involved in legal troubles. The question of apex rights is constantly making trouble, and a lawyer with a fair practice is more to be envied than the possessor of vast sums of money, and it means the tying up by injunction of properties that could otherwise be adding greatly to the production of the camp. The quickest and surest adjudication of legal troubles is consolidation, and we expect to see all the important properties collected into a few groups and companies, ably managed, economically operated and paying substantial dividends. All this will, we think, be a good thing for the district, and for holders of Cripple Creek stocks. It will enable the consolidated properties to be opened up more rapidly and at less expense. It will hasten the coming greatness of Cripple Creek, and it will be an encouragement to all who are working in the hope and expectation of opening up new mines in the district.

We desire specially at this time to call attention to the fact that the Burlington and Fulton claims of the Fulton-Marguerite company, and the property of the Constantine Consolidated company, lie adjacent to the properties of the new consolidated company just mentioned. We consider Fulton-Marguerite at 4% and Constantine at 5% excellent investments. We believe that anyone who will buy these stocks and put them away, awaiting the inevitable favorable results of the work now being done, will come out with handsome profits.

We also particularly recommend Progress and Goldfield & L. L. The Progress company owns the valuable Gold King claim on Gold Hill, adjoining Anconia-Leland properties, and a recent discovery of high-grade ore in the Gold King claim promises a brilliant future for this stock. An important lease has just been granted to the Good Will tunnel, which will prospect the claim at a depth of over 800 feet and which will reach the claim in about three months' time. The Goldfield company owns a fine claim adjoining the famous Little mine, and next to the well-known Christmas properties. A large amount of development work is now being done on this claim, with most encouraging results. For investments that are safe and that give the promise of excellent profits, we strongly recommend Progress, Constantine, Fulton-Marguerite and Goldfield.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Colorado Springs, April 17.—The market this morning on the Colorado Springs mining stock exchange was about in the same condition that it was on both calls yesterday. The trading in the prospects list was slightly better, but in the unlisted department and the mines list business was very poor, and the trading that was done characterized the market as spotty and not as improving in any way. The severe storm which has visited the Cripple Creek district and will injure the camp's interest in many ways, may be somewhat responsible for the depression which continues to hold sway over the stock exchange. The predictions which have been advanced so often that the market would improve at this time or that, have all proven to be incorrect, and it has continued in the same condition in spite of easier money in the East and the continually growing activity among the mines which the stocks on the local exchange represent. It is felt that a succession of causes must conspire to keep the trading list and prices down where the market might recover from one. First there was the South African war, then the smelter situation, which still has much to do with the market, and now the serious handicap which the camp is suffering from this extremely severe storm. Among the features of the day, Isabella stands at the head, being noticeable for its recovery to $1.25, to which price it advanced on the afternoon call. On the morning call it sold around $1.15. It has been predicted on many sides that this stock would go up and carry the rest of the market with it. Isabella is surely advancing, but it remains to be seen what the rest of the market will do. Considerable attention was given by selling up to 58, and 58 was bid for the stock in the afternoon, held at 60. So far as can be learned, however, there is no real reason for the strength in this stock, but it is thought that it has been selling too low for some time and that a few large orders have naturally sent the price up.

The sales for the day amounted to 512,000 shares exchanged, the total cash value being $77,847.
