GOLD MINING CONVENTION

Attendance of Delegates at the Gathering Surpassed All Anticipation of its Promoters.

OPENING DAY CHIEFLY DEVOTED TO ORGANIZATION.

Governor Prince Elected Permanent Chairman.

THE VICE PRESIDENTS.

Comprehensive Report From the Committee on Credentials.

THE ADDRESSES OF WELCOME.

Governor Adams, Mrs. Bradford and Others—A Word for Cripple Creek—Committee on Order of Business Recommends that Politics Be Avoided and the Discussions Confining to Business Matters—Delegates Present from Many States and Some Foreign Countries.

Denver, July 7.—In point of numbers of delegates in attendance, the first international gold mining convention will satisfy the expectations of its most enthusiastic supporters. There are at least 600 delegates in the city, representing 20 states in all sections of the union and 200 more are expected during the day.

At the miners national bureau of information are arranged displays of rich metallic ores from nearly every mining district on the continent. Probably the richest of these came direct from the Nashville exposition. They represent the mines of North Carolina and Georgia and are valued at $1,000,000.

The Broadway theater in which the congress convened, was handsomely decorated with national emblems and banners, none of which bore any expression on the great question of the rates of coinage between gold and silver.

Called to Order.—At 10:45 this morning R. F. Hunter, chairman of the executive committee, rapped and called the first international gold mining convention to order. The first from the platform was an impressive one, showing, as it did, the handsome auditorium of the Broadway theater, which had been lavishly decorated on the occasion, filled with delegates and visitors.

The delegates represented every type of man, from the gray, grizzled miner, who had by his own endeavors dug the elusive metal from the lonesome places, to the well-dressed, prosperous-looking mineowner, many of whom were coming for the first time to see the mines from which they had derived their wealth.

There were keen, shrewd-looking engineers and experts, who had derived their information from colleges, and others just as shrewd and as intelligent, who indicated that the college in which their lessons had been learned was that of experience.

Every nationality was represented, and everyone seemed eager to begin work on the first convention of miners for practical mining that has ever been held.

At the late arrival of a large number of the delegates, the convention was late in opening, and the delegates spent the early hours of the forenoon at the headquarters on California street. Towards 9 o'clock the rush of delegates became so great that it was found impossible to admit more to the convention.

The number was far greater than had been anticipated, and long before the call to order was made, the floor of the house was nearly filled. They were a number of ladies on the floor, but the men, of course, far outnumbered them.

Seated were taken indiscriminately at first, as it was desired to get the entire convention on the committee on credentials had met before attempting to seat the delegates by themselves.

Sigels's band was in full place, and the delegates came in to the inspiring strains of "El Capitán." While waiting for the convention to be called to order, the band was not at all chary, and kept the air lively with good music.

The convention was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Ellis, after which Secretary Mahon read the call of the convention.

Mr. Hunter then told of the origin of the convention, and of the surprise that the committee had experienced in the widespread interest taken in the convention in all parts of the country.

Gov. Adams' Address.—Mr. Hunter then announced that he had received a number of telegrams from delegates now on the way, who had been delayed, but who would be here by this afternoon. He then introduced as temporary chairman Governor Adams.

Washington, July 7.—By the decisive vote of 38 to 28, the tariff bill passed in the senate shortly before 5 o'clock today. The culmination of the long and arduous struggle had excited the keenest interest, and the floor and the galleries of the senate chamber were crowded by those anxious to witness the closing scene.

Main Interest in the Vote.—The main interest centered in the final vote, and aside from this there was little of a dramatic character in the debate.

Col. Little's Remarks.—Col. Little, in acknowledging the honor done him, said: "I have been mining in Colorado for 25 years, have spent $150,000 in it, and can pledge my honor that I have never had a dollar of it back."

Mr. Little is a member of the Illinois legislature. He is a Democrat and a strong supporter of the tariff bill. He is also a member of the National Bullion Committee.

THE SENATE TARIFF BILL. At last the senate has passed the tariff bill, and the feeling of relief which will follow this action will be immediate and general.

It is worth repeating that the greatest benefit of the measure comes from the passage of a bill and the settlement of the tariff agitation rather than from any particular feature or features of the bill.

The Dingley bill is better than the Wilson bill, however. It is very much better. It is a more consistent bill, a more reasonable bill, a better balanced bill.

It comes very much nearer providing an adequate revenue for the needs of the government; it affords a better measure of protection to American industries.

would not dare to challenge the French torpedo boats. If, however, we should send 25 destroyers, it would be the French battleships, not ours, which would be in a condition of dread.

Naval authorities seem to disagree with the Admiral in many of his theories, but the plausibility of his paper is undeniable.

Perhaps the Admiral has since read of the launching of the Holland boat, the craft designed to go on its death dealing mission under water and unseen destroy every craft floating above water line.

Old theories will be buried and new ones will be born by the sea, should the Holland boat prove itself half the wonderful machine that claims would make it.

There certainly ought to be some way of arranging for the construction of a union sewer system for Colorado Springs.

Colorado City and Manitou. Lying in the same valley and in close proximity, the sanitary interests of the three communities are identical.

It would not be indifferent to the disposal of the refuse of the two cities which lie upstream from us, while on the other hand the disposal of that refuse can be secured much more effectively, conveniently and economically by the co-operation of the municipalities than by each one acting for itself.

The laws relating to the expenditure of the city moneys certainly ought to be observed, no matter what the temptation may be.

Disregard of them in the present instance would serve as a precedent for future violations, even if no worse harm were done.

But the advantages of the union sewer system are obvious, and it should certainly be constructed, if not this year, then as soon as possible.

The announcement of a musical festival to be given in Colorado Springs in the latter part of the summer will awaken general interest from the start.

Professor Cravens is well known in this city and will be remembered by many as the chief promoter of the excellent festival which formed a feature of the carnival celebration a year ago.

He has recently conducted a most successful chorus and musical festival at Ottawa, Kansas.

The faculty as was the Wilson bill, even the party responsible for it, its erratic and unbalanced schedules gave good grounds for charges of favoritism and improper influences.

The Dingley bill both in house and senate has been prepared and considered with openness and fairness.

Its broad principle of sufficient revenue with adequate protection has been consistently and constantly adhered to, and the result is a bill which adequately and fairly embodies the principles expressed by the Republican party in its last platform and endorsed by the country at the recent presidential election.

In the three years to come it will have time for a fair trial, and Republicans will be willing to abide by the result.

Whether willing or not they will be obliged to face the issue squarely. If the Dingley bill does not bring prosperity, protection by tariff is inadequate to that result.

If it does, the Dingley bill in its substance will stand for many years as the law and the policy of the land.

THE REAL STRENGTH. The New York Herald in its European edition takes occasion to deplore the recent naval exhibition of Great Britain, considering it an unwarlike display and all the boasting regarding naval strength in time of war as vain boasting.

The writer claims that England has not enough men to supply 165 war ships with the needed navigating strength to say nothing of a fighting force.

From figures gathered it is estimated that England has a male population of 18,000,000. Germany has a war force of over 2,000,000. Italy has 3,500,000 fighting men. Russia has a "vast army" of warriors.

The Herald says that England would be brought to bay were Russia, France and Germany to be brought against her, and adds:

"Let England remember it is disagreeable for nations like France, Germany and Russia to have 165 men of war thrust in their faces as a sort of warning boast, when they know they are merely balloon ships. If you prick them there is nothing left."

THE BATTLE SHIP VS. THE TORPEDO. Admiral Colomb has caused considerable stir among naval authorities on both sides of the water by the paper he recently read before the United Service Institution on the "Future of the Torpedo."

The Admiral does not have a high opinion of the efficiency of the modern battleship, but admits the superiority of the torpedoes by declaring that the provision of shelter harbors is absolutely necessary to preserve battleships from night attacks.

As further to the paper he states, "The require the protection of torpedo vessels, and that by producing a type of torpedo vessel which must be more completely master of the battleship than anything ever heard of before."

"Fifteen destroyers acting together," says the Admiral, "could drive one battleship off the sea. How could we speak of battleships commanding the sea when they must at night seek the shelter of close harbors?"

To illustrate the point he took the case of 20 French battleships stationed at Toulon and asserted that "we (meaning the British) could not overtake them by sending 25 battleships, because those 25

A New Street-Cleaning Plan.

Chicago News. Mrs. A. E. Paul, chief street-cleaning inspector of the city federation, has gone to New York to study a plan of street cleaning carried on by the school children.

The plan is credited to Colonel Waring, and consists of organizing the school children into leagues to assist the municipal authorities in keeping the street clean.

The little paper, chunks of coal and such other material as is found in the highways and byways of a great city. These are carried to the school premises and deposited in receptacles designed and manufactured for such purposes.

With all due respect to the masterful plan of Colonel Waring and the studious intent of the school children, the matter without a few remarks on the question of street cleaning generally.

Colonel Waring's plan will doubtless receive the approval of Chicago's street cleaning department and of the gentlemen who hold street cleaning contracts.

Indeed, it is probable that they would not object to a plan of street cleaning in which the school children are organized in this city an "Old Men's Street-Cleaning League."

A "Young Gentlemen's Bureau for Gathering Mud from the Thoroughfares" and a "Great Woman's Club for the Removal of Refuse from Streets and Alleys" and a "Misses' Society for Doing the Street Cleaning" would be a very desirable thing.

Anything to prevent the proper persons from earning their money and showing their work to the public would just suit the gang.

Why school children should fire themselves and their clothes, besides the armfuls of street debris when the people pay thousands of dollars to have the work done is more than the flinty brain can comprehend.

What is the matter with a contractor that would compel contractors to live up to the contracts? And what is the matter with a plan that will make the city hall authorities compel contractors to live up to their contracts or get no money?

The plan would be a novel one, but it might be worked just to see what it would do.

THE KNIGHTING OF ACTORS. New York Times. Squire Bancroft, to whom the honor of knighthood has fallen in jubilee year, is the second actor in the history of England to be thus distinguished for his services to his calling alone.

The late Sir Augustus Harris, who was some sort of actor as well as a manager and a successful showman, was knighted in due course simply because he was for a term sheriff of London.

Sir William Don was a baronet who was knighted in honor of his services to his calling, but he was not an actor.

Although thus recognized by his queen two years ago, Bancroft's services to the historic and formidable cause of the English drama are of an earlier date than Irving's.

In 1831, when London first became aware of Irving, Bancroft, as an actor and as partner in theater management of his wife, who had been long known as Marie Wilton, and his own wife have since occasionally reappeared on the London stage in noteworthy performances.

Bancroft was born in London May 14, 1811, and has been an actor since his twentieth year.

In 1837 he married Marie Wilton, who had previously been in vogue as a pretty and sprightly actress in travesty of the then current pattern and comedy of a fragile sort.

It is not likely that either the present Lady Bancroft or her young husband dreamed in those days of ever being an actor and a public eye of regenerator of art or founder of a "school."

The original plan of the little theater Marie Wilton had named in her permission to the royal personage, who then was, as now, an amiable and sympathetic patron of the dramatic art, scarcely comprehended a result so serious and important.

Undoubtedly circumstances have helped to give Bancroft more distinction than either his natural artistic talent or his discretion as a manager could have secured for him unaided.

As an actor he was best known as Captain Hawreine, and in similar roles which do not require dramatic genius in their impersonation. But he has been a gentleman and, presumably, a scholar, among actors, and his new honor will not be greatly sniffed at.

But it suggests much bewilderment for future ministers. When is this work of knighting the British actor going to stop? The claims of Beer-Johnson, Fred, and Harcourt, and the quizzical Toole now suggest themselves even on this side of the Atlantic.

And if the representatives of the British stage in this hour of its frequently proclaimed decline are to be thus honored by the recognition of royalty, what is to be done for the memory of those who uphold its dignity and give form to its heroes in the days of its greatness? Are they to be canonized?

Comments and Clippings. Sergeant Rath of the Bavarian artillery, stationed at Metz, recently stabbed to death a soldier who refused to obey an order which that non-commissioned officer had given him.

Rath has been praised officially for his act.—(N. Y. Tribune.)

A Chicago gentleman has recently built a house on the "Hill" and named it "Beautiful," which is said to be a faithful reproduction of the "charming broken palace beside the still 'eternit water.'"

The charm of the building is in the house appears a proper dwelling, and holds its own among its neighbors.

Only such alterations as were necessary to practical uses were made. The interior of the house is under the conditions a successful development of the idea.

An interesting article was recently published in Paris, giving the opinion of the foremost French actors about the emotional sentiments of themselves while performing.

Starting from the opinion of Diderot, who said that a great actor should not really feel what he portrays and should keep a clear head, because great emotional feelings produce lack of effect on the part of the actor.

Professor A. Binet, a director of the Psychological Institute of the Sorbonne, made an inquiry of the foremost actors and actresses of today as to their opinion in the matter.

The replies are very interesting, for their diversity is far nothing else. M. Le Bary describes his condition when on the stage as a sympathetic feeling, and says that in real life an intelligent and sensible man would even in the moment of great emotion, remain an observer of his own actions.

Mme. Bartet says that she often felt violent emotions on the stage, which she likened to a sentiment of sympathetic interest, but not to direct impression.

M. Mounet-Sully believes that the sentiments to be represented should be given with the intensity of actual life. This is not always possible and therefore one must when not fully disposed to be artificial and do what is a moment of inspiration he would have done from an inner impulse.

THE FUND STARTED.

FOR THE ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT.

A Spirited Session of Prominent Men and Soldiers—$4,000 Needed for the Occasion—The Subscriptions Begun and Indications of a Continuance—Orders for the Regular Troops.

A number of citizens attended the meeting in the Antlers hotel last evening in an endeavor to formulate a plan by which the National Guard of Colorado could be brought here in their annual encampment.

From present indications it is safe to predict the plan will soon be perfected and the encampment secured.

Adjutant General Moses of the militia was sincere and eloquent in his speech advocating the adoption of the proposed soldierly display.

Mr. Barnett struck a key-note by spontaneously offering to stand good for his pro rata share of $4,000 which sum it was thought necessary, provided 50 others joined in the subscription.

Mr. Shields of the Shields-Morley Grocery company, immediately volunteered the same amount and at once gave proxy for the same.

Mr. Wills likewise subscribed and others catching the spirit of the movement signed their names to a paper drawn up at the time. It read:

"We, the undersigned, guarantee one-fifth of the amount necessary to secure the N. G. Co. encampment at Colorado Springs, provided the amount does not exceed $4,000. It is proposed in order to further guarantee this sum and to protect the subscribers that plans shall be perfected to erect a grand stand, from which visitors may witness the sham battle between the regulars and the guards and from it a revenue may be derived.

The Business Feature. A company will likely be formed and a manager appointed. The proposition will be executed on a plain business basis.

Mr. N. Nye will probably be given the supervision of the business part. His well-known hustling and rustling ability is recognized as a valuable factor.

Will Solicit Today. Today the Denver committee of militiamen will be introduced by another committee of leading men of this community and subscriptions asked for.

The railroads are confidently expected to provide gratuitous transportation for the troops and for every free soldier ticket, 20 paid passengers will be the result.

The plan is a practical one in the estimation of all who engaged in the discussion and it remains with the citizens as to whether it shall be made a great card for their town and county hereafter.

Success this time means a further contract for permanent encampment headquarters for this city of the National Guard of the state of Colorado.

The Regulars Ordered Out. A copy of the official orders for the regular United States troops follows:

"Special Orders No. 32. Headquarters Department of the Colorado, Denver, Colo., July 7, 1897. (Extract.)

"2.—The commanding officer of Fort Logan, Colorado, will direct a portion of the garrison of that post, consisting of one of its infantry battalions and a troop of cavalry, to proceed to its target range at Colorado Springs, starting on the 8th instant, there to engage in its annual target practice with rifle and carbine, which it will complete by August 11th.

"On August 8 the commanding officer will direct two companies of the second battalion and the other troop of cavalry to take up the march for those target grounds, and to arrive there on August 11th, when the entire force thus concentrated will engage in field maneuvers and in exercises with the state National Guard, should the state authorities desire it, during the following three days, after which the battalion and troop which have completed target firing will return to their permanent station. Upon their arrival at Fort Logan the commanding officer will put the remaining companies of the second battalion en route for the target grounds and these with the organizations retained there will finish their target firing on or before September 17, and thereupon return to the post.

"The troops will make all journeys here-in directed by marching, depending for transportation upon that available at the post. The rations required during the period of camping will be shipped from Fort Logan by rail.

"The two troops of cavalry will hold the prescribed revolver practice at Fort Logan—the one before proceeding to Colorado Springs, and the other after its return therefrom.

"By command of Brigadier General Otis, "Wm. J. Volkman, "Assistant Adjutant General."

WILKES IS GUILTY.

VERDICT RETURNED LAST NIGHT.

He was Charged with Highway Robbery—The Gillett Mayoralty Case Again—A $50,000 Mortgage Filled—Orizaba Lessees Have Troubles—Another Case where Marriage is a Failure.

The trial of Roger Wilkes, charged with highway robbery, consumed the entire day in division 1 of the district court yesterday.

Wilkes is supposed to be a member of the famous Vanek gang which has terrorized the vicinity of Victor for so long, and the breaking up of which was a godsend to the "City of the Mines."

The charge against Wilkes which resulted in a verdict of guilty was the holding up of R. D. Ellis on Bull hill on the 2nd of last August. Ellis was relieved of a gold watch and $2.75 in money.

Wilkes borrowed the money from a friend and paid it to Ellis, but this return of the money did not prevent the highwayman from falling into the clutches of the law.

Wilkes was remanded awaiting sentence. Mr. Reid Crowell and Mr. McAllister, of the district attorney's office, prosecuted the case, while W. K. Brown and George Gardner represented Wilkes.

Mayor Keith's Troubles. The municipal troubles of the little city of Gillett were again brought into court yesterday by the filing of a suit entitled, "The People of the State of Colorado et al. vs. the Board of Trustees of the Town of Gillett."

Keith alleges that he was duly elected mayor of Gillett in this, their time of trial, and held office from April 6th, 1897, and that he assumed the duties of the office on the 9th day of April, and continued to discharge them until about the first of June, when he was unlawfully ousted by the board of trustees. He asks the court to issue an alternative writ of mandamus compelling the board of trustees to recognize him as mayor.

Big Mortgage Filled. The Cripple Creek District Electric Railway filed a mortgage for $50,000 on the franchises, rolling stock, fixtures, etc., of the company, in favor of the Central Trust Co. of New York.

The mortgage was given to secure the payment of a number of bonds due fifty years hence, bearing 5 per cent. interest. The cash realized will be used in the construction of the new electric railway through the Cripple Creek district.

Orizaba Lessees in Court. A suit was filed in the district court yesterday entitled A. H. Rex, Wm. MacLeod, J. N. Colsher et al. vs. J. R. Darbo, F. F. Rudy, J. W. Kellogg et al. The plaintiffs claim that they own a sub-lease from Kellogg and Rudy on a portion of the east 400 feet, known as block 1, of the Orizaba claim on Beacon hill, and that their territory has been entered by other sub-lessees. They ask for an inspection and survey of the shaft, stopes, drifts and winzes of the Barbee lease.

A Divorce Suit. J. W. Dalton filed a suit in the county court yesterday against Alice Dalton, asking for a total divorce. They were married in Glenwood Springs, December 7th, 1891, and plaintiff claims that on March 16, 1896, his wife willfully deserted him and has continued to live apart from him ever since.

A CONTRACT LET.

St. Louis House Will Better the Condition of the Vault in the District Clerk's Office.

Mr. C. B. Ferrin, representing George D. Barrard & Co. of St. Louis, yesterday secured the contract for the county commissioners for repairing the vault in the district clerk's office. The old vault will undergo considerable repairs which have long been needed. New steel file boxes will be put in, insuring better protection to the important papers in the clerk's office, and when all the improvements are completed the vault will be practically burglar proof.

MANITOU.

The regular weekly hop of the Cliff house will be held tonight.

Miss A. M. Rose, a well known newspaper woman of Milwaukee, is at the Iron Springs.

Among yesterday's arrivals at the Manitou is P. C. Brashar, a street car magnate of Detroit.

Mrs. D. O. Smart and Miss Smart of Kansas City are stopping at the Barker for an extended visit.

WILKES IS GUILTY.

VERDICT RETURNED LAST NIGHT.

He was Charged with Highway Robbery—The Gillett Mayoralty Case Again—A $50,000 Mortgage Filled—Orizaba Lessees Have Troubles—Another Case where Marriage is a Failure.

The trial of Roger Wilkes, charged with highway robbery, consumed the entire day in division 1 of the district court yesterday.

Wilkes is supposed to be a member of the famous Vanek gang which has terrorized the vicinity of Victor for so long, and the breaking up of which was a godsend to the "City of the Mines."

The charge against Wilkes which resulted in a verdict of guilty was the holding up of R. D. Ellis on Bull hill on the 2nd of last August. Ellis was relieved of a gold watch and $2.75 in money.

Wilkes borrowed the money from a friend and paid it to Ellis, but this return of the money did not prevent the highwayman from falling into the clutches of the law.

Wilkes was remanded awaiting sentence. Mr. Reid Crowell and Mr. McAllister, of the district attorney's office, prosecuted the case, while W. K. Brown and George Gardner represented Wilkes.

Mayor Keith's Troubles. The municipal troubles of the little city of Gillett were again brought into court yesterday by the filing of a suit entitled, "The People of the State of Colorado et al. vs. the Board of Trustees of the Town of Gillett."

Keith alleges that he was duly elected mayor of Gillett in this, their time of trial, and held office from April 6th, 1897, and that he assumed the duties of the office on the 9th day of April, and continued to discharge them until about the first of June, when he was unlawfully ousted by the board of trustees. He asks the court to issue an alternative writ of mandamus compelling the board of trustees to recognize him as mayor.

Big Mortgage Filled. The Cripple Creek District Electric Railway filed a mortgage for $50,000 on the franchises, rolling stock, fixtures, etc., of the company, in favor of the Central Trust Co. of New York.

The mortgage was given to secure the payment of a number of bonds due fifty years hence, bearing 5 per cent. interest. The cash realized will be used in the construction of the new electric railway through the Cripple Creek district.

Orizaba Lessees in Court. A suit was filed in the district court yesterday entitled A. H. Rex, Wm. MacLeod, J. N. Colsher et al. vs. J. R. Darbo, F. F. Rudy, J. W. Kellogg et al. The plaintiffs claim that they own a sub-lease from Kellogg and Rudy on a portion of the east 400 feet, known as block 1, of the Orizaba claim on Beacon hill, and that their territory has been entered by other sub-lessees. They ask for an inspection and survey of the shaft, stopes, drifts and winzes of the Barbee lease.

A Divorce Suit. J. W. Dalton filed a suit in the county court yesterday against Alice Dalton, asking for a total divorce. They were married in Glenwood Springs, December 7th, 1891, and plaintiff claims that on March 16, 1896, his wife willfully deserted him and has continued to live apart from him ever since.

A CONTRACT LET.

Colorado Springs Mining Stock Association.

Colorado Springs, July 7.—As compared with last week's business at the Mining Stock Association today was very dull. There was no visible improvement in the price of the stocks. Mollie Gibson again came to the front as the heavy seller of the day, but outside of this, sales were few and far between, and as one of the prominent traders said: "The whole thing was as dull as ditch water."
Over 15,000 shares of Mollie Gibson changed hands at prices ranging from 46 to 48. As has been the case frequently of late the opening price was very different from the rest of the day. The first transaction was consummated at 46 1/2 and the next three at 48 with an advance to 49 1/2. The price then began to descend again and finally it reached 46 at which it closed with a good deal of heavy selling at that figure. What little news can be picked up about the property around town shows it is at present a matter of status quo, but while awaiting results of development the stock continues to decline in price. The action of the miners relieving the miners from duty who were inclined to talk too much appears to have had the desired effect, as the talk about the property and the condition of the affairs in the district is not a matter of general talk as it was.

Cripple Creek Consolidated has over 5,000 shares at 9, showing it to be in about the condition as upon the previous day, although the sales were practically limited. Union started in at 12 1/2, but advanced a cent during the call, and was a good deal stronger at the close than at the opening. There was a big trade in Marion Gold at $2 per 100, 25,000 shares going at that figure. Elton continued steady at $1.01, and Arizonia-Junitata is selling at 36 and 37. Mr. Rosa is strong with a few sales at 8 1/2 and 9.

There was but little business doing among the unlisted stocks, the most prominent traders being Kimberly with 5,000 sales at 3, Mr. Brady with 3,500 at 1 1/2 and Ben Hur with 5,000 at 3/4 and 3/8.

The Company Now Has a New President—The Future Policy Outlined.
At the annual meeting of the Union Gold Mining company, President Johnson did not put in an appearance. He not only failed to attend and call the annual meeting to order, but neglected to receive and submit his annual report covering the operations of the company for the past 12 months. He sent word, however, through some source, that the report of General Manager C. E. Palmer, which is now being prepared, would cover anything he might say. For anything further the stockholders might wish, and had it not been for the ready tact of Director W. S. Jackson, the meeting might easily have become embarrassed. Mr. Jackson had kept himself well informed of the company's operations for the past year, and, in a large measure, was able to supply the stockholders with information should properly have come through the president's hands.

The annual meeting convened at 12 o'clock Monday. A committee on credentials was appointed and an adjournment till 4 p. m. was taken. On reassembling at that hour it was decided to adjourn until Tuesday at 2 p. m. At this hour yesterday the committee on credentials was ready to report. Out of a stock issue of 1,250,000 shares 753,728 shares were present either in person or by proxy. A vote was soon taken and resulted in the election of the following directors for the ensuing year: J. A. Sill, J. P. Pomeroy, H. Morse, W. P. Bonbright, Andy Adams and W. S. Jackson. Mr. N. O. Johnson declined re-election as a director on account of ill health and almost continual absence from the city. His retirement caused considerable regret among the stockholders.

Secretary-Treasurer C. H. Morse made a verbal statement to the meeting, explaining that his annual report would be forthcoming for several days. He stated that full returns had not yet been received for June or shipments, and that accurate figures could not be given at this time. Mr. Morse stated that the company's total liabilities, including the June pay roll, were approximately $18,000. To offset this, there was $2,000 cash on hand and about $8,000 worth of ore in transit or at the smelters still unsettled for.

After the stockholders' meeting had adjourned, the newly elected directors met and effected an organization as follows: President, J. A. Sill; vice president, J. P. Pomeroy; secretary-treasurer, C. H. Morse; assistant secretary-treasurer, H. C. Morse. President Sill, in speaking of the future policy of the company, said: "We shall conduct the affairs of the Union company in the future for the exclusive benefit of the stockholders. We have three of the finest properties in Cripple Creek and propose to operate them along lines which will give the best results. Our watchword will be 'economy,' and no pensioners will be allowed on the pay roll. If we find any dead timber in any department we will use the sharpest kind of an axe to cut it away. We propose that every man earn his salary; if he don't he can not remain with the Union company."

The company is now ready to start the tenth level in the mine at a depth of 585 feet. The bottom of the shaft is in a big body of fair grade ore. Much of the ore which has been found during the past year, it is understood, was of low grade character. The company hopes soon to get through the low grade zone and enter the rich mineral which in the past made Union quite famous.

Colorado Springs Board of Trade and Mining Exchange.

Colorado Springs, July 7.—With the exception of some little trading in C. K. and N. business at the Board of Trade and Mining Exchange was very light, and was in direct contrast to that of the previous week. The heavy seller of the call was K. and N. which has been prominent in this particular for several days past. Close upon 50,000 shares of the stock changed hands at from $3.25 to $3.50 per share. American Consolidated made a good showing with an even 10,000 sales all of which went at 1 1/4 and the same can be said of Red Bird with 4,000 shares at 3 1/4 and Republic with 3,000 at 2 1/2.

The heaviest trader among the unlisted stocks was Cleveland, which sold to the extent of 15,000 shares at $1.25 and $1.50 per 100.

Lucky Guss Attached.
The Mining, Smelting and Supply company has attached the property of the Lucky Guss Gold Mining company for non-payment of a bill for certain mining supplies. In an interview yesterday Mr. H. D. Masters, manager of the property, said the company, said that it was true the company had not paid for the mills, and does not intend to pay unless the court orders it. The main issue involved, at the present time, is the standard recommended by the supply company. They are shut down for repairs nearly half the time, and so far as he is concerned are a every way inferior. He says, moreover, that the company represented that he could handle 15 tons a day with certain of the mills, whereas he cannot handle double that quantity under circumstances he thinks it best to let the court inquire into the matter and decide who is in the wrong.

Portland Dividend.
At the regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Portland Gold Mining company held Tuesday afternoon, a dividend of one cent per share was declared payable July 15, to all stockholders of record July 8. The stock transfer books will close on the 15th inst. The amount to be distributed is $30,000. When the dividend is declared, dividends have been paid, the total disbursements of the Portland company since it began paying dividends will aggregate $1,317,080.

Attention has recently been directed, in England and Australia to a plan of insuring the recovery of a large percentage of the gold originally existing in the ore. The main idea involved, is that of breaking up the quartz by alternately heating and cooling it, is old; but some of the details of the process are new, and it is claimed for the so-called "water" system that it is more successful than any previous attempt in the same direction. In the preliminary crushing the rock is brought down only to small lumps of convenient size, and not to actual powder. The material is then enclosed in a chamber from which the oxygen is carefully excluded, and the chamber is placed in a furnace, in which, beside the fuel, there are pieces of red hot iron. A jet of steam is directed upon the coal (or coke) and iron, and the result is the development of water gas or hydrogen. Any sulphur which may be present is also eliminated, and the gas is a mixture of sulphuretted hydrogen. After the ore has remained in the heated chamber for a time, whose length varies according to the composition of the rock, it is suddenly "quenched" by the injection of cold water. Inasmuch as the fragments to which the first chill breaks up the quartz are not as small as could be desired, the water is drained off and the series of operations is repeated several times. Finally the contents of the chamber are dumped into a tank. When the ore is cool enough to be taken between the fingers, it crumbles into powder easily. No heavy stamps are required to pulverize the substance now. It is sagged that there is absolutely no loss in the form of "float gold" or no oxidation, and therefore that all the precious metal originally in the ore may be recovered. In some experiments recently made with the ore-atomizer system in London, samples of the United States and West Australia ores were treated. Disinterested experts were present and assisted in the tests. In every respect the results were most satisfactory, and unquestionably demonstrated the correctness of the principle involved.

Electricity has been applied for boring a mine heading under most interesting circumstances. In the first place the vein was situated above the level of the sea, and the portion of the gallery that was in the course of being driven was lined with metal casing to keep back some water feeders that were entering the mine under a high head of pressure. Water from these cases dials was piped to a Pelton water wheel which was made to turn a dynamo, capable of generating 50-horse power, or a current sufficient to run simultaneously three sets of boring machines, and it appears the whole of the work was done with economy and success.—(Western Mining Record.)

ALL OVER BEACON

Shipping Ore From a Dozen or More Shallow Shafts.

SOME PRINCIPAL PRODUCERS.

The Barbee Lease—Whitney and Dustin Lease has Forty Tons of Rich Ore at the Sampler-Crooks and Jackson Shafts—Development on the Columbia.

Cripple Creek, July 7.—Beacon hill was never more prominent since its history began than it is today. Beginning with the Rocky Mountain claim on the southwest slope, there are along the west side of the hill nearly a dozen shallow shafts, from which shipping ore is produced, some of it the finest the camp has ever seen. Besides the shippers, there are scores of lessees at work on blocks of ground all over the hillside and valley below, and many of them are expected to enter the ranks of the shippers at any hour.

A Chief Producer.
Chief among producers on this slope of Beacon hill is the Barbee shaft on the Orizania No. 2. This lease has produced some of the finest granite ore ever seen in camp; some specimens are almost solid. Returns are expected tomorrow from a shipment made to the Pueblo smelter a few days ago. Four hundred pounds were shipped and while Mr. Barbee does not care to put an estimate on its value, it is expected that the record for high grade shipments will be broken.

Mr. Barbee will have about a carload to send out in about a week that will run in the neighborhood of $1,000 to the ton. His last shipment of medium grade rock ran $170 to the ton.

Whitney and Dustin.
Only a few feet away from the Barbee shaft is the Whitney and Dustin shaft, which is sunk on the same rich ore chert. Forty tons of granite ore are now at the Taylor and Brunton sampler, from which returns have not yet been received. These lessees, too, are saving up ore for a high-grade shipment. Seven sacks are now on hand which are high-grade ore, and the Taylor and Brunton sampler, from which returns have not yet been received. This ore comes from a drift north at the 90-foot level. No sinking is being done, but the ore body is to be cut at a depth of 100 feet, by a drift run south from the Beacon shaft. This will give the lessees 50 feet more of stopping ground, and will hasten production amazingly.

To the north of the Barbee shaft, Buckley, Crooks and Noble have opened up the same vein, and have just sent to the Cripple Creek sampler an initial shipment of Square Rock granite ore. Preparations are being made to push the production to the limit. A steam hoist will be on the ground tomorrow, and a new shaft house will be erected as soon as the machinery is in place.

Jackson Shaft.
Just north of the Crooks shaft, the Jackson shaft has attained a depth of 100 feet, and sinking has been stopped while a cross-cut is being run east to cut the vein. This cross-cut is now in four feet and is expected to be completed in a few days. The vein is 5 feet between walls and granite. The Hickman lease on the Australia now has an 85-foot shaft well timbered, and the lessees have begun to hoist ore again. The mine has been in operation for a better than three ounces. A shipment of 800 ore tomorrow. Arrangements will be ready in two or three days, and from this time on the shaft will produce steadily.

The Smith and Gladden lease on the Aregua townsite will send out a carload of 800 ore tomorrow. Arrangements are now being made to send about 50 tons of accumulated low grade rock to the stamp mills. The Tabor Pierce lease on the Mabel Hill, on the east slope of Beacon hill, sent its initial shipment to the Victor sampler yesterday. The entire lot consisted of about eight tons of ore from the north extension of the vein opened up by C. I. Smith, Gladden & Co., and comes from a depth of 75 feet.

WEEKLY MARKET LETTERS.

Mollie and A-J.
In their last weekly letter Messrs. Clarence Edsall & Co. say:
"Mollie Gibson has again caused a sensation, advancing rapidly from 31 cents to 78 cents and declining to 60. A rich strike was made in the thirteenth level of the day shift Sunday. Monday the officials of the company were aware of the strike. Consequently the entire day shift was discharged, and it is safe to say news from the mine press will be given out by the owners and not by the employees. The formation in which the ore has been found is identical with that

THE SULTAN'S BLUFF.

Will Test the Ability of the Powers to Apply Coercion. London, July 7.—Greek-Turkish affairs are re-entering an interesting stage. The Porte dispatched a circular to its representatives abroad, containing a skillful defense of the Turkish case and declining to consider any frontier line in Thessaly north of the river Peneus, which it regards as its natural boundary.

May Resume War.

The minister of war sent telegrams to Edham Pasha announcing the decision. It was not until after the London news for the last 10 days. The Turks are rapidly strengthening their positions in Thessaly, massing troops at Demokos, fortifying Velesino and in other ways, intrenching themselves more firmly.

What the Sultan Says.

According to a circumstantial report of a conversation between the sultan and an officer of his household, Abdul Hamid complained that the war had been forced upon him, and that when he was victorious, Europe refused him either territory or indemnity, therefore, he intended to resist to the utmost.

A QUEEN VICTORIA TUMBLER.

One of the earliest that appeared, combining both beauty and utility, is a Queen Victoria tumbler, made by the same process as the cup given by the czar of Russia to CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 7.—In wheat the foreign markets gave a good start in an upward direction to the price of the article here. New York had buying orders from abroad to begin the day with and commission houses here had also direct orders on the same side of the market both from the United Kingdom and continent.
