Hansford County Youth Conference delegates will leave August 19th to join other Panhandle delegates in Amarillo for the 3rd Annual Attorney General's Conference to be held in Austin August 20, 21 and 22nd, according to Hansford County Youth Conference Chairman Randolph McClellan.

Named in May by the Gruver, Spearman, and Morse Lions Clubs to represent Hansford County were Harley Murrell and Danny Riley of Gruver; Ike Aaron Richeon of Spearman; and Mickey Cook of Morse. Delegates were selected on the basis of scholastic merit and outstanding school and community activities by the Lions Club Youth Conference committees working in close cooperation with the various school officials.

According to Mr. McClellan all details including financing for the delegates by the local Lions Clubs, housing, transportation, and other details have been completed with just the exact departure time from Amarillo still to be noted. Housing is on the campus of the University of Texas and in approved University housing and transportation for the 1,600 delegates representing 254 Texas counties will be by chartered bus from pre-designated points.

The conference consists of three Seminar Sessions and general assembly programs designed to cover areas of major concern. Seminar leaders will be students who, in cooperation with adult professionals in their respective fields, have prepared seminar materials in advance of the Conference.

Topics will include Juvenile Juries; Public Awareness; Radio Shows; and how to sponsor one in the average community; Job Opportunities; How to combat "Drop Outs," Traffic Safety; Church and Youth Activities; and Vocational Training needs for Texas Youth.

The Conference will conclude at 12:00 noon on Sunday, August 22nd, with an Awards Assembly at the House of Representatives Chamber at the State Capitol. Recreation and entertainment has been planned for the three day period to include a talent show and mixer on Thursday night, picnics, a swim session at the Barton Springs Swimming Pool with supper at Ziller Park on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. McClellan plan to attend the Conference and will attend an informal reception honoring Attorney General and Mrs. Waggoner Carr on Thursday, the eve of the 3rd Annual Attorney General Youth Conference on Crime at the University of Texas Student Union hosted by the Texas Law Enforcement and Youth Development Foundation.

GRUVER GETS NEW AMBULANCE

Pictured alongside the Gruver Clinic is the new ambulance which was received here last week.

The air-conditioned 1958 Ford, loaned by Boxwell Brothers, is radio equipped and includes a cushioned seat near the stretcher for use of family of an accident victim. Oxygen equipment for both 1 1/2 hours and 3 hour use is available plus first aid facilities.

One of the most convenient features of the vehicle is the stretcher which can be raised or lowered on extendable bars for facilitating moving a patient.

The ambulance is now equipped with two front warning red lights and two blinking side spot lights which will be augmented by the addition of a top-mounted flashing emergency light and a siren.

PRECINCT TWO APPROVES $55,000 BOND ISSUE

Twenty-six voters in Precinct 2 of Hansford County cast 26 votes in last Saturday's election to 100% approve a $55,000 bond issue levied to replace a bridge located in the Brillhart community washed out by this Spring's torrential rains.

According to County Commissioner Ed Vernon the contract for the construction of the 320 foot long concrete and steel structure was awarded to Ferriere Brothers of Seymour, Texas on Monday, August 9th, with a low bid among three companies of $49,971.

Work is slated to begin within 10 days of the letting of the contract and is to be finished within 30 days. The bridge, located 25 miles northeast of Gruver or 20 miles north of Spearman, is over the Palo Duro and is on the County highway connecting Hitchland and Spearman.

Something of a civic record should be noted for the voters of Precinct 2, according to Mr. Vemon, for this marks the second time that the voters of that area have given 100% approval in the two bond issue elections ever held in that Precinct.

Officials for the Saturday election held at the Gus Renner farm northeast of Berstein were Howard Barkley and Jody Knutson with Mrs. Harold Dondlinger and Mrs. G. C. Brillhart, Jr. serving as election clerks.

SPEARMAN SLATES WORKSHOP

A two-day workshop conducted by the Economy Company, publishers of "Phonetic Keys to the Teaching of Reading", has been slated at the Spearman High School Library, August 13th and 14th.

The Friday session, beginning at 8:30 a.m. will cover materials for First and Second grades. Third and Fourth grade teachers are also urged to attend the first day's session so they will gain a better insight of the preceding grades teaching methods.

The Saturday session will cover material on Third and Fourth grade levels with a work period to make teaching aids. Tag board, construction paper, etc. may be brought by the teachers who desire to make their own aids that day.

Mr. Allen Alford, Spearman Elementary Principal, has invited teachers from neighboring town to participate with a special invitation to all teachers in the area of the First through the Fourth grades to attend. The Grenwald dining room in Spearman has been reserved for both days.

The new approach to the teaching of reading was initiated by teachers of Spearman and Gruver in 1964-65 and this workshop will be of special value to both the teachers who have used it and those who will be using it for the first time this year.

is visiting her parents, the Roy Suttons and her brother and family, the Bob Suttons; Jimmy has been more or less in the thick of things. Recently Navy aircraft from the attack carriers Bon Homme Richard and Oriskany flew 129 sorties against Viet Cong military concentrations, dropping approximately 100 tons of bombs and rockets. The planes destroyed or damaged more than 100 buildings. Targets included, continued the official report, a communist fortification.

Mrs. Aitken plans to be in Gruver until about the first of September when she will return to her home in California.

"HOLLOW" HALLS OF IVY

The main hall of the Gruver High School two weeks before the start of School, August 30th. Officials will reveal registration dates and schedules next week. Football practice begins Sunday the 15th and Band practice begins Tuesday night the 17th.

Pictured is one of the several halls proposed to be built and murals painted in at the Magna Carta Hall at Howard Payne College in Brownwood. Painter, Osborne Robinson, of England, is to do the murals.

English Artist Commissioned To Paint Mural At Howard Payne

Brownwood...One of England's outstanding designers and authorities on historical fashions, Osborne Robinson, has begun work on a mural in the Magna Carta Hall of the Douglas MacArthur Academy of Freedom. The Academy is an honors program operating under the social sciences department at Howard Payne College in Brownwood.

Robinson, who has completed some eight months of study and research for the mural, has been a designer since 1920 at the Repertory Theatre in Northampton, and designed over 1,000 productions covering every type play from Greek tragedy to modern drama, light opera and musicals.

As a painter, his architectural water colors have been exhibited at the Royal Academy, London, the Edinburgh Academy and Victoria and Albert Museum, London and many other exhibitions in the United Kingdom.

Robinson travels and lectures often. Several years ago he designed productions at Howard Payne College in Brownwood, including the "Midsummer Night's Dream" show.

Magna Carta Hall is one of several halls at the Academy depicting the history of freedom from 4,000 B.C. to the present time, designed specifically to establish the Northern European and English tradition in the development of America. Displays in the hall will symbolize the outburst of man's desire to have individual and collective expression within the framework of a parliamentary system.

Perhaps the most significant course offered at the Academy reinforcing the drama of this hall is the one titled "Our American Heritage." This course considers freedom and man's search for it through the centuries. It traces particularly the influence of Magna Carta on the thoughts of men who came to America, and how the basic ideas of freedom developed in the minds of our forefathers. Emphasis is given to the Bill of Rights and the basic freedom, including freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, freedom of religion and church-state relationships.

Thousands of people will tour this Freedom

Shrine each year. On the top floor of the building will be the Forum, accommodating 250 visitors.

The story of our American heritage will also be presented in the evening hours to visitors seated in a small amphitheater outdoors.

The Academy of Freedom represents seven full years of planning and study by Dr. Guy Newman, president of Howard Payne, and his associates. Now in full operation it is non-sectarian and non-political. The basic philosophy surrounding the Academy program is to make freedom meaningful and real to those who follow the course of study.

Successful graduates are assured of top flight positions in the field of diplomatic service and governmental and educational fields.

Soaring Tower Needs Name

San Antonio, Texas--A tower that will soar more than one-eighth of a mile above HemisFair 1968 is looking for a name that will be as imaginative and enduring as the tower itself.

HemisFair officials are conducting a contest to seek an appropriate name for the tower which will appeal to human interest and continue to live on as a tribute to the community of nations in the Western Hemisphere. You could be the person who names it.

The winner will get to see the tower often, since a season pass for himself and members of his immediate family is one of the prizes that will be awarded by the executive committee of the Fair, which will make the final decision.

Also to be awarded the winner will be a three-day, expense paid stay at the Menger Hotel in San Antonio, including traveling expenses for himself and immediate family, and a $100 U. S. Savings Bond. Nine runners-up will each receive $25 U. S. Savings Bonds.

A brief statement as to why the entrant feels his selection is appropriate should accompany the entry, which must be postmarked no later than September 30, and received by October 8, 1965.

All entries should be mailed to HemisFair 1968, 421 South Alamo Street, San Antonio, Texas.

Contestants, who may submit as many entries as they wish, should keep in

In that part of the West Indies renowned in tales of the Spanish Main, Port-de-Paix, Haiti, population 8,000, is accessible via a harrowing eight-hour jeep ride from the capital of Port-au-Prince. The place claims none of the comforts of East Texas, yet a Corsicana physician and his family report spending one of the most rewarding months of their lives there.

"Port-de-Paix is anything but a prosperous pirate hangout these days," says Dr. David P. Hansford, instead, "It is populated by some of the kindest, gentlest, and most appreciative people we have ever known."

The political climate in Haiti has forced out foreign capital from the country leaving the people in desperate need, Dr. Hansford, explains in the July issue of Texas medicine.

"It was not unusual for people to tell us that they had not eaten in two or three days," he says. Dr. Hansford paid his and his family's way to Haiti and worked without compensation as a part of a project sponsored by the Navarro County Medical Society.

Day to day effort to exist occupies so much of the people's thinking that they do not have time to be psychoneurotic, he writes. He saw no peptic ulcers or nervous women.

Medical working conditions there are without comparison in the U. S.

"The operating room was 13 x 15 feet, completely closed to the outside with no ventilation. By 8:30 a.m. the room was unbearably hot, and we had to change our clothes between each case."

There was no anesthetic machine and no kind of gas not even oxygen in the whole area. Local and spinal anesthesia were all that was available.

Sterilization of instruments was done in an aluminum kettle over a charcoal fire.

The dentist was the local Catholic priest, untrained except for what he had learned in the French army during his obligatory service.

Mrs. Hansford worked with her husband in the clinic and as a circulating nurse in the hospital. Their two children, 11 and 7, were cared for by a Haitian baby sitter who took them on all-day walks.

As soon as news got out that there was an American physician in town, long lines formed at the clinic. "The doctor saw 40 to 50 people daily.

Americans living and working with the people in a foreign country, asking nothing in return, pays off in goodwill for the United States, believes this East Texas surgeon.

Last year three Navarro County physicians made trips outside the U. S. to work in needy areas of the world. This year four will go, again among them Dr. Hansford who with his family is off to the west coast of Africa for a prolonged stay.

DID YOU SEE ONE? Trucks bedecked with banners are unloaded from freighter at Sealand terminal, Port of Houston, for trans-Texas delivery of one-million-pound shipment of Malathion LV concentrate insecticide. The chemical will be used in a new low volume aerial application technique developed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture

CHEMICALS ARRIVE PORTSIDE

Houston, Texas, August 11—More than a million pounds of Malathion LV concentrate insecticide landed at the Port of Houston on Thursday and is being transported inland for application on Texas cotton fields.

Arriving aboard the Sealand Service freighter, Azalea City, it is the largest single shipment of the chemical ever made by the manufacturer, American Cyanamid Company, Princeton, N. J. It is also one of the largest consignments Sealand has landed at their Houston facility. The shipment is being transported to Texas cotton country by Merchants and Herder-Curry trucking companies.

The entire million-pound shipment of Malathion LV Concentrate will be used to control cotton insects, utilizing a new aerial application technique developed in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The technique was accepted for commercial use earlier this year.

It has proven extremely effective in the control of the boll weevil which takes an estimated toll of $200 million worth of cotton each year. Farmers in Texas produced 1,975,249,000 pounds of cotton in 1964.

In the new application technique the Cyanamid insecticide is applied in concentrated form at a rate of eight ounces per acre. Previously three gallons of diluted material were applied per acre to obtain effective insect control. Actual field tests have shown that sprays with Malathion LV concentrate reduced boll weevil population by 90 per cent.

Malathion, in conventional dilutions, was used almost exclusively in a successful emergency drive to control mosquitoes during an outbreak of encephalitis in Houston last year. The insecticide was selected for use within heavily populated city limits because of its low toxicity to human beings and warm-blooded animals.

Last month the USDA warned of possible hazards in using other pesticides known to have relatively low toxicity to man and warm-blooded animals, the USDA statement said.

"Malathion is the only pesticide that has been registered for undiluted use in low-volume spraying of this type," the statement pointed out.

In another step toward commercial use, Malathion LV concentrate has also been accepted for use on the cereal leaf beetle, grasshopper and beet leafhopper.

The broad-range performance of this highly concentrated form of Malathion on various crop pests was demonstrated in major insect control programs directed by USDA in 1964. In addition to cotton, USDA used Malathion LV concentrate to treat one million acres of western rangelands during 1964 for control of grasshoppers. Some 170,000 acres in grain crops were treated for control of cereal leaf beetle in Michigan, Indiana and Ohio. Malathion LV Concentrate was also used in aerial spraying to prevent migration of the beet leafhopper nymphs to crops in Idaho.

CROP Seeks Beef

The Texas CROP Livestock Advisory Committee met this week in Austin to launch a "BEEF FOR HOPE" project as an effort to assist hungry people abroad, through the churches, with canned beef from the United States.

As an advisory group of the Texas CROP-CWS Board the committee gives guidance to the livestock appeals of the state program. The committee consists of church, ranch and CROP leaders of the central Texas area.

Hugo O. Schulze, of Mason, a dedicated CROP worker since the program's origin in 1947, led the meeting in the absence of the committee's chairman, Dolph Briscoe, Jr. of Uvalde.

Three million pounds of meat have been requested by the overseas programs of the churches through Church World Service for 1965. Reported Texas CROP-CWS Director Norman A. Sundwall of Austin. The requests have come, the Director said from the areas of the world where two-thirds of the world's population suffer from hunger and malnutrition. The meat is needed for disaster relief in areas like East Pakistan where seven million people recently lost their homes through their most devastating cyclone in history and for self-help programs in other areas where CROP food is provided as wages for those working in local development projects.

CROP is a community resources program for Church World Service and has been authorized to handle designations for other overseas church relief agencies such as Catholic Relief Services and Lutheran World Relief.

By way of the "BEEF FOR HOPE" project ranchers of Texas will be asked to contribute beef, or its equivalent, to help CROP meet the needs for meat through Church World Service. In addition to receiving tax deductible receipts for their contributions the ranchers will be given "BEEF FOR HOPE" stickers for their truck windows.

USDA Offers New Insect Control

PICLORAM--"TORDON"
Picloram, the accepted common name, or "Tordon", the registered trade name, is the herbicide 4-amino-3,5,6-trichloropicolinic acid produced by the Dow Chemical Co. Picloram was first introduced to Texas A & M personnel in February 1963 and limited amounts were made available for research testing at that time. This new herbicide is one of a new family of chemicals and is being manufactured as two formulations, the potassium and triisopropanolamine salts.

Picloram formulations that are registered include two liquids--"Tordon 101" and "Tordon 22K" and two pelletized materials--"Tordon 2K Beads" and "Tordon 10K". The 2K and 10K indicates the percent strength of picloram in the pellets. The "Tordon 101" is a mixture containing 2.0 pounds 2,4 D and 0.5 pounds of picloram acid equivalent per gallon. "Tordon 22K" contains 2 pounds acid equivalent per gallon. All picloram formulations are being tested by Texas A & M Personnel. "Tordon 101" is now designated for industrial use.

USE AND NON-USE OF PICLORAM

(1) Picloram can be used for bindweed control as long as no crops are marketed from the treated area.

(2) Control of plants along fence lines and rights-of-way.

(3) Picloram cannot be used to control unwanted vegetation on rangeland or pasture land. The only way that it can be used on grasslands is for the area to be fenced or deferred so that animals grazing the area will not be marketed. These are precautions that must be taken until picloram is cleared for use by F.D.A. Picloram is still in the research stage. It cannot be used for demonstrational purposes under the present regulations. All the testing with picloram has to be designated and evaluated as research. To our knowledge, picloram cannot be used for demonstrational purposes until it is cleared by F.D.A.

Picloram, like all herbicides, will affect susceptible crops when the material drifts. Picloram reaction is in between 2,4,5-T and 2,4-

D as to its effects on cotton. 2,4-D reaction on cotton is about 10 times more than is the 2,4,5-T. Picloram is rather non-toxic to man or animals. A summary from the Spring 1965 issue of "Down to Earth" is quoted about the toxicity of picloram.

"THE WAY I SEE IT"

by Pastor Robert Cordes

As Baptism is entrance into the Kingdom of God (Church), so the Lord's Supper is food for souls. It is a sacrament of renewal, of Sanctification or Christian growth in holy living.

Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper to replace the Passover of the Old Testament. Again it is not the bread and wine that make up the Supper for they are powerless. But the promise of God's Word makes it power.

1 Cor. 10:16 "The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not a participation in the blood of Christ?" This can only mean the Sacramental presence of Christ. By this we mean There is a communion between our Lord and those who take the supper. The Lord is the host, and we are the guests.

In the Supper the Lord communicates to us. We receive cleansing. Matt. 26:28 reads, "Drink of it, all of you; for this is my blood of the new covenant, which is poured out for many for the forgiveness of sins." In Baptism we are born of God but our old nature still rises up to haunt and drag us down. The Lord's Supper cleanses sons of God. It assures us our Lord Jesus still loves us and forgives. Now we receive His real power to fight Satan and to grow in the Lord. We need not stumble if we would only allow the Holy Spirit of Christ to work completely in us.

Lest we become confused there are not three ways of forgiveness, namely baptism, Word and Lord's Supper. God offers us freely only one forgiveness but it can be ours in three ways. We can be buried with Him, or hear the spoken promises, or visible taste, smell, touch the elements of the Supper. One forgiveness, not three but ours in various ways but only through what Jesus purchased for us. Now, having received Christ's real presence (really a mystery which we cannot explain just how he is present), we consecrate ourselves. How grateful we are for His gift of Himself. Our life shows our thankful response. response.

I believe God's Holy Spirit works through certain means. Just as a farmer uses a tractor or a plow, so the Holy Spirit uses means are commonly defined as The Word of God and the Holy Sacraments. The emphasis is that both Word and Sacrament should be emphasized. The Sacraments are not magical things, nor is the emphasis only on the Word. He who belittles the sacraments belittles both Christ and the Word.

The sacraments are dependent upon the Word for the Word of God fixes the value of the sacrament. Some say baptism or Lord's Supper don't save. 1 Peter 3:21 states, "Baptism does now save us." or Matt. 26:28 says concerning the Lord's Supper "Unto the remission of sins."

Thus in the sacraments there is an inter-communion, an inter-action between God and man. It is God who reaches into our lives and creates faith and maintains it. Without the Word, baptism is simply water and not baptism. Or the bread and wine are simply that without the Word. But God's Word makes them means, ways that the Holy Spirit reaches into our lives to strengthen, guide, forgive us. They in no way limit Jesus, in fact it is still Jesus and His Word that bring power to the Word and Sacraments.

Thus it is the work of the Spirit to make us partakers of salvation. This is alone God's work and He uses means to bring this to us.

If the sacraments are under-estimated. Salvation becomes something I help achieve by a particular kind of conversion. It can easily become a form of legalism where there is only one way to approach God. How we need to guard against extremes of magical sacramental formulas or underestimate their value.

Most of the world lives in darkness

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Allen and daughters of Perryton and Manager of the Equity accompanied the girls, leaving on Sunday. This trip was given to the girls, because of their interest shown in cooperatives.

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Kelly, the Wayne Kellys of Lubbock, Danny Barkley of Gruver and Elaine Kelly had their first view of Lake Meredith at Sunset. The group later had supper in the Borger Park.

On Sunday afternoon this same group and also including Harold Kelly and Mrs. Roberta Kelly, drove to the Adobe Walls Battleground.

Friends of Mrs. Roberta Kelly will be interested to know that she is now staying in the Pioneer Manor in Spearman, Texas while recuperating from a bad fall, which hurt her hip and also while her son, Harold Kelly, who lives with her takes a vacation. She would appreciate cards and a visit.

The Big Inch

The ruled box above is a one-inch ad. It measures one column wide by one inch deep. It costs advertisers 65¢.

It looks kinda lonesome by itself.

But look at it this way.

What you get when you buy a one inch ad in The Independent is not just a single inch of space in the paper, but one inch multiplied by approximately 1000 copies weekly.

So you are really buying 1000 inches, which at 168 inches a page would be approximately 6 full pages of printed newspaper.

That's a mighty big chunk of space for a cost of only 65¢. And that price includes delivery to the reader. Just imagine the cost of reaching all those Independent families by postcard. It would amount to $40.00 just for postage. But The Independent does it for a mere 65¢.

So you can see that a little one-inch ad is really a pretty BIG inch when it's advertising space in The Independent. And the figures show that it's the most effective and economical way possible to let people in this area know that you have wares and services they could use.

Call FI 7-2416 and let us show you how a little BIG inch can wake up sales for you.

Water Use Shown for Grain Sorghum

Above you will see the daily water use in inches for grain sorghum. We have simple soil moisture now but later you will have to irrigate in order to make maximum yields. It is very important that you not try to water more grain sorghum than your well can handle. You say how much can my well handle. Let's assume your well is a 100 gallon per minute well. In 24 hours you pump 48 acre inches. If you apply 4 inches per acre you can irrigate 12 acres in 24 hours or 120 acres in 10 days.

If you look at the chart above you can see that grain sorghum in the boot and bloom stage will use over .3 of an inch per day. If this is the case, the 4 inches you applied will be used up in 10 to 2 days, depending on climatic conditions.

If the grain sorghum suffers or moisture during this critical boot to bloom stage, your yield is greatly reduced. You can determine how much grain sorghum you can adequately irrigate if you know your well output in gallons per minute.

COUNTY AGENT'S REPORT

by Robert Adamson

Two years of intensive and successful testing by the USDA, including a boll weevil control program in 1964 on a million treatment acres in the Texas high plains, preceded USDA approval for commercial use of Malathion LV concentrate.

According to Kenneth Messenger of the USDA's plant pest control division, the new technique makes aerial control more efficient than ever before. The test program last year revealed these advantages for low volume aerial spraying:

---Excellent control of the boll weevil over hundreds of thousands of acres was achieved with extremely small amounts of Malathion LV Concentrate. Total material applied per acre of cotton was reduced 97 per cent. This was achieved by eliminating the heavy water load. Instead of spraying 3 gallons of diluted insecticide per acre, planes sprayed 8 ounces of concentrated insecticide per acre. Follow-up counts indicated a 91 per cent reduction in boll weevil infestation.

---Spraying planes can fly higher---at 25 feet instead of 5 feet on cotton---and make wider swaths---100 feet instead of 35 feet. Because of increased swath width and minute amounts of pesticide used, an aerial applicator can cover four times more area per hour of flying time than in the past.

---Cotton farmers will receive faster service than before with LV aerial spraying because of savings in time for loading, ferrying, turning and spraying.

---Low mammalian toxicity, non-persistence and broad-range effectiveness make Malathion an ideal pesticide for use in LV aerial spraying. Used at recommended rate, farmers will not have to worry about residue hazards in their crops, meat or milk. In fact, use of Malathion LV Concentrate---with its higher safety factor for mammals---permits its application to hay and grass on the day of harvest or grazing.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE BIOLOGICAL POLLUTION PROBLEMS SUCH AS ALGAE IN WATER WELLS

A well showing an above normal decrease in yield or an out-of-the ordinary odor, taste or color of water is a prime suspect for pollution. A tea strainer held over the flow pipe, after back washing two-three times, will sometimes collect some of the material. Also, if one would put a burlap screen over the flow pipe during the pumping season a continuous strainer would be available to check for growths. Some established water-well treating companies also offer a free service to check for growths in municipal, industrial or agricultural water wells.

HOW TO DESTROY ORGANIC GROWTHS SUCH AS ALGAE IN WATER WELLS.

Two ways have been used to try to destroy the growths; pulling the well and chemical treatment. Pulling a well is never successful in destroying the growths because the organisms live on the casing and in the screening material behind the casing as well as on the pump and column pipe. Chemicals are the most effective, by far the least expensive, and the only sure way of killing the organisms. If a well is pulled, and growths are present, the hole should be treated with a chemical to kill the growths still in the hole. If this is not done, the growths will surely reappear.

WHEN TO TREAT A WATER WELL FOR ORGANIC GROWTHS SUCH AS ALGAE

This question has several answers depending upon the circumstances. Anytime a well is polluted it is advisable to kill the organisms. However, it is not of such dire necessity, time wise, that the well be shutdown when badly needed, unless of course reduced flow due to plugging should dictate such measures. On the other hand, a polluted well should be treated as soon as possible because algae and bacteria are capable of multiplying at phenomenal rates. When not in use preventive treatments during lay-over or between pumping periods? And by all means, treat a pulled well if growths are present on the column pipe.

The common use of polluted water and surface mud-pits during drilling of a well also would seem to indicate the need for sterilizing a new well.

In recent months several North Plains farmers have encountered salt water when drilling irrigation wells

The answer to these problems are not know at this time, but a sincere effort is being made by the Water District as well as other interested parties in finding a solution to these problems.

It is advised, that when a deep well is drilled, a water quality check should be made before completion of the well. This precaution could save a considerable amount of money.

This information was obtained from Dr. William D. Miller of Texas Tech College. For further information contact The North Plains Water District Office in Spearman or Dumas.

FAST GROWTH - The walleye pictured here is seven inches long by actual measurement. It was about three months ago these newly-hatched walleyes were stocked in Lake Meredith.

MEREDITH WALLEYE GROWING

San Angelo--Tiny walleye fry released in Lake Meredith north of Amarillo two months ago are already three inches long, reports Aquatic Biologist Lonnie Peters of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

On May 10, a half million walleye about one-fourth inch long were flown from Spirit Lake, Iowa, to Borger, Texas and released in Lake Meredith.

Meredith, one of the three Texas lakes recently stocked with walleye, now impounds 6,000 surface acres. When full, the lake will cover 20,000 surface acres.

The three-inch walleye recently captured were in excellent condition indicating the 500,000 walleye released are growing rapidly in their new home.
