GRUVER VOTES STRONG "NO" ON FARM PROGRAM

Voters in the Gruver area overwhelmingly voted down the proposed government farm referendum Tuesday 224-105.

A two-thirds majority or about 67 percent, was needed to approve the program. However, the Gruver area recorded only 32 percent for the referendum while the county stood at 38.6 percent for the 247 voting in favor of the program and 392 against.

The Spearman Section of the county was closer with 142 for the 168 against.

Though very decisive the Hansford county vote was far less against the referendum than its two large wheat producing neighbors to the east and west.

Sherman County has 77 percent of its voters against the program while about 76 percent went against the program in Ochiltree County.

The amount of irrigation present seemed to have some effect on the vote. The two most densely irrigated areas on the north plains are in northern Moore County and southeastern Hansford County. Moore County was the only County above the Canadian River to give the program a simple majority (55.4 for) and the Spearman area was the next most favorable "yes" area.

Lipscomb County, generally made up of smaller farms, voted 48 percent for the program.

IN THE GRUVE

In a democracy the majority rules. There couldn't be a better system, and, let's not forget it.

The proposed government wheat program has failed—not by just the required vote of about 34 percent, but by better than 50 percent.

The big issue right now is whether or not the administration will come up with a more attractive wheat program—and that issue has two schools of thought.

Those against the defeated program claim that the administration will have to come up with another plan since it couldn't afford to have low wheat prices on an election year (next year).

Others however, look at it entirely from a different view point—that if prices go down the administration will use the issue to advantage to swing many of the smaller farmers into the price support fold. After all, the Democrats can blame the Republicans if wheat prices do drop to the point that some farmers have to go out of business.

We personally feel that it would have been better to approve the program, but certainly endorse going along with the majority vote and hoping that it will work better with less government controls. And, if no new program is approved within the next 60 days we hope everybody tries to make the new system work.

Our biggest fear is a panic or bad feelings toward our neighbors. Attitudes like those don't make for a good community. We have to adjust our lives to conform to the majority rule.

Wheat isn't the only crop that can be grown here. Irrigation has opened the door to more feed grain in this section of the Panhandle and other crops are being seriously considered by some farmers.

The term "little farmer" doesn't apply too strongly to this part of the country. At least it hasn't in the past. However, it may in the future.

If wheat prices are too low, many farmers, previously referred to as "big farmers" may fall into the "little farmer" category. We hope not.

The pros and cons of this issue could (and will) be discussed until the end of time. Let's try to discuss them in a reasonable way and leave prejudice out of the conversation.

We feel like our present government is facing its toughest test in many years. We hope it responds in a manner complimentary to the majority. The government will have a big voice in saying whether or not a program with less controls can work. It might cut its own throat either way it goes.

If it does—it simply means that the people want a new form of government.

Looking from another angle, it gets a little disgusting to see so many people constantly criticizing the government—especially on the farm program.

Remember that it took two-thirds of the farmers to approve our programs for the last few years. If they were wrong (which we are about to find out) blame the majority of the farmers along with the government. They voted decide the program. They were the majority then.

AMARILLO FIRM TO EXAMINE SCHOOL TAX STRUCTURE

An Amarillo firm has been contracted to re-evaluate all city and farm improvements in the Gruver Independent School District.

McMorries and Company, Inc., city, school and county tax consultants will begin work on the project June 1 and are expected to finish this fall.

Hiring of the firm by the Gruver School Board was brought about by the recent passing of a bond for $575,000. The bond money will be used to construct a new high school building and for other school plant improvements.

The present tax structure has been adequate in the past years but was beginning to fall short and will be inadequate when payments on the bond begin.

Construction on the new school is expected to get underway as soon as all plans are completed.

Sunday the 19th the Otho Gammils and the Henry Ropers were in Amarillo to visit the Hank Stewarts Hank was in Amarillo on a week-end pass. The couple were visiting Wanda's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Ayres. Hank is stationed in Mineral Wells with the helicopter fighting squadron.

RAIN

The long dry spell ended here this week with showers visited the area Saturday and again Tuesday. Amounts for the two-day period ranged up toward three inches to the north.

Most of the rain fell to the north and northwest with small amounts south southwest.

The first good shower came early Saturday morning. Some rain gauges accumulated half an inch in Gruver with reports up to three quarters to the north. Saturday afternoon another good shower moved across the northern part of the area with Gruver getting light rain. It also rained in some places south of town Saturday evening.

Temperatures dropped to the low 40's Sunday as heavy clouds moved into the area but little moisture was recorded. Monday was partly cloudy and the rains came again Tuesday morning and a drizzle lasted much of the day. More than an inch was recorded in some sections of the area.

Temperatures dropped in to the low 40's again Wednesday with cloudy conditions again prevailing.

land would stop to camp near the Cluck ranch. The drought forced many people to move to find grass for their herds. At one time there was a Gypsy family traveling through the county and camped overnight near the ranch.

The neighbors would gather for the brandings and help each other. The women would cook for the men and help in some ways. After each branding there would be a rodeo among themselves to top the hard day.

The Clucks raised outstanding gardens which were dry land but covered several acres. They raised peanuts, pumpkins, watermelons, turnips and cantelopes and many other garden products. The garden supplied the family throughout the winter and the excess was fed to the hogs.

Mrs. Cluck recalls how the family celebrated one of Mr. Cluck's birthdays. Mr. Cluck was out looking for a last yearling at Gid Nobles while Mrs. Cluck and the neighbors prepared a big surprise dinner for him. The whole neighborhood was invited and also the school children came for dinner. The occasion was quite memorable.

Mr. Cluck passed away in 1940. After his death Mrs. Cluck remained at the home place and lived by herself there until 1948 when she moved to Gruver.

Seven of the Cluck children make their home in and around Gruver now, they are Durward, Sam, Gene, Pete, Pike, and Mary Rae Hart. Mae Bretts and Effie Hackley make their home in Spearman, Vancile Chaney makes her home in Borger and Eldon lives near Etter.

Mr. and Mrs. Cluck married at a young age and struck out on their own to the Panhandle of Oklahoma and later to Hansford County where they faced the raw pioneer life. Never becoming discouraged by the hardships which stood in their way, they are now well known as one of the prominent and outstanding Hansford County Families.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cluck and their four older children, Durward, Eldon, Sam and Vancile.

HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE PAST TO THE PRESENT

The Cluck Family is in the focus light as Highlights from the Past to the Present visits with another of the Hansford County Pioneers. This weeks story deals with a family who moved to Hansford County in 1908.

Mr. Homer Cluck was born in Tennessee and at the age of three, he and his family the Sam Clucks moved to Denton, Texas. Later Mr. Sam Cluck filed on land in Oklahoma near the town of Norman. There Mr. Homer Cluck attended school at a country school.

Pearl Davidson was born in Wise County Texas. In 1900 the Davidson Family moved to Washita County Oklahoma where Mr. Davidson had bought a relinquishment in 1898.

In January of 1903 Homer Cluck and Pearl Davidson were united in marriage in Hobart, Washita County, Oklahoma. The couple made their home in Oklahoma for several months.

Later in 1903 Mr. Cluck came west to the Panhandle of Oklahoma where he filed on land three and a half miles east of Guymon. In August of that same year the couple moved by covered wagon to their new home site. Mr. Cluck drove a few head of yearlings by horse while Mrs. Cluck drove the wagon.

Their first home was a one room dugout with a fence around the premises. Mr. Cluck had filed on 160 acres and there he began to build a herd of cattle from buying heifers one at a time. For extra money during the winter months Mr. Cluck worked at the Langston Hardware in Guymon. He would return home late at night and follow the light of a lantern which Mrs. Cluck would hang on the door of the cellar to guide his way.

The couple moved to an area with no neighbors and the country was quite new and different to them. Mrs. Cluck recalls how scared she and her husband would become as strange noises would be heard. Each night at 10:00 a loud noise could be heard and the couple finally became brave enough to look to see what it was. Mr. Cluck got his gun and the two crept up the stairs of the dugout to find the source from which the noise was coming. They found it to be an echo from the train, which passed through Guymon and was reflected by the stove pipe on the dugout.

The couple lived there for five years during this time three children were born, Vancile, Durward, and Jewel. Jewel died at infancy.

They sold this plot of land and moved farther south to Hansford County in 1908 where they bought a half section of land. Their home was located to the west of Hitchland. Three other children were born while the couple lived here, they were Eldon, Gene and Pete.

Times grew a little rough and Mr. and Mrs. Cluck and their children moved back to Oklahoma for a season but returned in a year. Mrs. Cluck's parents Mr. and Mrs. Davidson also moved to the county in 1909 where they bought land near Hitchland.

Mr. Cluck would break mules and horses for the Hitch's and haul cake for the family for $1 a day. During the blizzard days in the winter, he would haul the cake by sled. The children attended school at the New Hope School to the North of Hitchland.

In 1917 the Cluck family made their final move farther to the south where they purchased a section of land southwest of the present town of Gruver.

They built a tool shed, blacksmith shop, smoke house and garage which they lived in until they were able to build their home. After hauling lumber from Guymon, they erected a two story home consisting of three bedrooms living room, dining room and kitchen. The home was heated by a coal stove. The coal was hauled from Texhoma by wagon loads and placed in a huge coal bin as a supply for the long winter months. Four more children were born to the couple, Mae, Effie Pearl, Pike and Mary Rae.

While living here the children attended a country school called Woodrow located about two and a half miles east of the Cluck home. Among the teachers were Avie Clifton, Nellie Hart, and Mae Cluck. Vancile went to school at Goodwell, Durward and Sam went to high school in Spearman and Eldon, Gene, Pike, Pete, Mae and Effie Pearl finished their schooling in Gruver.

Mr. Cluck served as county commissioner for several years. He also served on the Gruver School Board.

The Clucks always had cattle on their place, but were also active in farming. Row crops and wheat were raised. The row crop usually went to the cattle in the winter for feed. The wheat was harvested and freighted to Guymon and Texhoma by wagons and horses. The wheat was harvested with header barges driven by horses. A lot of labor was involved in harvest in that day and there were usually several men around to help.

Pete recalls the blizzard of 1918 which killed many cattle along with several horses, and hogs. The men would feed the cattle cake and bring home the cattle which were nearly dead to try to save them. The calves were brought to the home by sled. Those that died were skinned and the hides were sold.

The Cluck family received their mail at the Ideal Post Office in Sherman County located at the Boney home. The mail was delivered three times a week. Their neighbors were the Spiveys, Doziers, Chambers, H.H. Jones, Jaspers and Dixons.

Their entertainment was little but was usually held at the Woodrow school house and all the families would join together. On Friday night the families would gather for the Literary Society meeting. Each family would prepare the program for each week, which would sometimes include singing, recitation and etc. Pie Suppers were also a part of entertainment. Each Sunday the families would gather at the school house for Sunday School. Church was not held for it was hard to find preachers.

Square dances were held but were called "play parties" by the parents. There was always a guitar and fiddle present to start the music for the dance.

"Eyes to the Future"

The wagon train crested a hill and all eyes gazed at the upcoming trail. The leader shaded his face from the glaring sun and put his eyes to the future.

Today we still turn our eyes to the future. School boards take a census to determine building needs. Senators plan state budgets. Farmers vote on wheat referendums to determine future farming policies.

Anxious eyes have been scanning the cloud buildups to see if rain was to burst forth in drouth breaking quantities. The farmers, with eyes toward harvest time, have seen the present crop would not survive such dry conditions.

The answer--water. Water--a clear liquid we so desperately need but so often disregard and use carelessly.

Water--for growing the vegetable laden gardens, or keeping green the dandelions mixed in with the lawn grass.

Water--to dissolve the soap detergent so our clothes can be deeper cleansed.

Water--to scrub the boys dirty elbows and to satisfy our thirst when the south-west winds blow hot and dry.

Water--how we miss it when the pressure pump is broken, or the water main is shut off. Likewise the crops miss its life giving refreshing quality.

Farmers in scores are turning to irrigation wells to secure moisture for thirsty parched land. Since we live in an area that at times does fail to provide adequate rainfall, we use our ingenuity to supplement rain with underground water.

One wonders--how long will this underground reserve last? Can we be wasteful with tail water wastefully washing the ditches?

God has made us stewards of the earth and its resources. We must not be wasteful. Our soil conservation district is seeking also to help us turn our eyes to the future that our precious water will not be wasted in careless runoff but may be stored properly in the soil.

Will you help each of us to turn our eyes to the future by careful water management at the present--that our children to may inherit a fruitful "Golden Spread".

Mrs. McCloy Awarded

Mrs. Willard McCloy, a resident of the Morse Community and Hansford County, was honored at the Conservation Awards regional banquet held at Plainview, Texas, May 17. Mrs. McCloy was the only homemaker to receive an award. Mr. Walter Humphrey, representing the Fort Worth Press, donor of the award, presented Mrs. McCloy with a beautiful silver tray engraved with her name and Conservation Homemaker 1963.

Mr. Humphrey stated he felt the award was to honor outstanding women in the field of conservation, and was not a contest. Mrs. McCloy received a certificate of recognition. Mr. Humphrey stated that $20,000 of awards have been given over the past 18 years to individuals and groups outstanding in soil and water conservation.

A banquet dinner was enjoyed by approximately 150 guests before the conservation awards were made. The Morse Home Demonstration Club can take a great deal of credit for nominating this outstanding homemaker. Mrs. Ella Parks of Morse was the club member who made the nomination that climaxed as Regional Winner. There are only five regional winners in the state each year. This was the first year for Hansford County to have an entry.

Miss Leora Shanks missionary to Costa Rica was guest in the home of the W.L. Harris family Monday night. Mrs. Shanks is home on furlow and is staying with her mother in Weatherford Oklahoma. Mrs. Shanks brought her niece along on the trip to Gruver.

Members of the Wesley Bible Class and their children met at the Winder place Friday night. The sixty five present enjoyed various out door games and a picnic supper of hamburgers and homemade ice cream.

Between the Bookend

On April 26, during National Library Week, we were pleased to have Mrs. Blankenship's second graders visit the library. Those present were Rhonda Shook, Fay Gross, Perry McGuffin, Dana Diggs, John Pat TeBeest, Jimmy White, Pat Byrd, Naomi Cordes, Reba Lowery, Deborah Beasley Bonnie Davis, Donny Gibson, Richard Hannan, Philip Gross, Eddie Goodrich, Larry Hollis and Bob Davis.

On May 15th, Mrs. McClellan's second grade came by to visit. In this class were Andy Hoel, David Evans, Billy Boone, Ronda Roper, Patty Riley, Linda Stedje, Frankie Bergin, Dustin Frazier, Kitty Sanders, Stanley Gruver, Lanny Cotten, Pam Ayres, Vicki Thoreson, Mac Purcell, Kitty Mathis, Debbie Spivey, Rhonda Hintergardt, nita Bass, and Marvin Pearson.

These little folks found a lot of good books for their summer reading program. And all are anxious to check out the "book I looked at in the library."

During April, 117 book were checked out as compared with 1961 when 191 books were checked out and only 73 books checked out in 1962.

A "Thank You" goes to Gary Winkler for two series of fine books that he has given the library. The "Ken" series in which Ken's adventures in the West on the ranch provide much wholesome entertainment. "Koko, the Wonder Dog" series has its setting in the far North and is interesting and exciting reading for the boys and girls who like to read about dogs.

New books are being added every week and those Hungry Shelves are slowly, being filled. New books for adult readers include "Comanche Land" by J.Emmor Marston and "Mary Austin Holley" by Rebecca Smith Lee is a biography of a courageous woman during the formative years of the state of Texas.

The library will be open Monday thru Friday afternoons from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. after school is out. Mrs. Dick Lee will be librarian for the summer months. Hope to see you soon in the library!

Memorial Building Information

There has been some discussion concerning the Memorial Building in Gruver. Mrs. Elmo McClellan has collected information taken from the Deeds recorded in the office of the County Clerk of Hansford County.

To the Trustees, Coy Holt, S.R. Cluck, P.H. Westerfiel and the present Commanders of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars and their successors in office in Trust the Hansford County Memorial Building is erected to the memory of those soldiers of Hansford County who died in the service of their country in World War II and to be dedicated to the use of the two service organizations, the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars and their successors in office of which are constituted trustees with equal rights and opportunities to use and enjoy for their purposes.

These Deeds recorded in September 1948, Block 37 in the city of Gruver. Lots 2 and 3 granted by R.C. Chase and Lillie May Chase, Lot 4 granted by R.T. Correll of Perryton, Texas. Lots 1 and 5 granted by Gertrude Ogle, Ila Jo Hart, and Jack Hart.

If the above described real estate is abandoned or ceases to be used in connection with the Hansford County Memorial Building, then, in such event the titles to such Real Estate will revert to the grantors, heirs and assigns.

Conditioned that any improvements placed there on may be severed from said Real Estate, moved or otherwise disposed of by said Trustees, Commander of American Legion, Commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars, or other War Service Organization at the time of such disuse or abandonment.

Further that they have reasonable time to remove all improvements.

Since the Veterans of Foreign Wars uses the Memorial Building in Spearman, the American Legion has sole custody of the Hansford County Memorial Building.

RECREATION LEADERS LABORATORY

Last week I took a week of annual leave to attend the Southwestern Recreation Leaders Laboratory that was held at Brush Ranch just Renner were the last Sherman County Farmers to develop Great Plains Contracts in October 1962. Sherman County Farmers and ranchers may make application for this program at their ASC Office.

He may receive free assistance on working out his Engineering, Soils, Range, or Agronomy problems from Soil Conservation Service Technicians, the County Agent, or other agriculture departments.

After he works out what he plans to do to solve his Soil and Water Conservation Problems he submits his plans to the Soil Conservation Service. If his plan is acceptable as one that treats all the conservation needs of his place, he will receive guaranteed Cost Share Assistance to do the complete job.

Cost Share Assistance varies from 50% on practices such as Cross-fencing and Dams to 80% on practices such as building waterways and planting grass etc.

north of Pecos, New Mexico. This Laboratory is for leaders of youth groups to develop leadership and to learn new crafts, games, songs and folk and square games.

This lab will be held next year from May 4-9 at Brush Ranch. I would encourage anyone working with youth to attend if possible. I would be happy to answer any questions concerning this laboratory.

WHEAT REVERENDUM VOTE MAY 21

On Tuesday, May 21, farmers will be going to the polls to vote on the 1964 Wheat Program. There has been a lot of information put out concerning this program, so the farmers should be well informed. So much information has been put out that it is hard what to believe. I would encourage, you to study the pros and cons of this program and make your own decision. I would vote as if your vote be the vote to decide if the program carries or fails. It is important that you vote.

WHEAT STREAK MOSIAC

F.W. Thomas had some spots in his wheat that were not growing and turning yellow. I sent off a sample of this wheat and it was infested with the eriophyid mite. This mite is the vector of Wheat Streak Mosaic virus and the plants showed symptoms of this disease.

The control for this is late planting, clean tillage to remove volunteer wheat and grasses which harbor the virus and mite in summer.

LICE FREE CATTLE HERDS POSSIBLE

Cattle Lice have been eradicated on a herd basis by scientists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Success of the new eradication method, proved over a five year period is an experiment on a herd at the Beltsville Research Center, depends on the proper timing of insecticide applications to break the life cycle of the lice, plus quarantining and treating all cattle added to the herd.

Before the study began, the herd was infested with three species of cattle lice short-nosed, long-nosed and biting lice. To eradicate these lice, the herd was thoroughly sprayed twice, 14 days apart, with malathion. Cattle to be added to the herd were placed in quarantine and given the same 2-spray treatment.

Most louse-control chemicals that are safe for use on livestock will kill the crawling lice, but they may not be completely effective against lice eggs, especially under pasture conditions. Some lice usually hatch after the first malathion spraying but the properly timed second spraying kills the newly hatched lice before they can mature and produce eggs.

The Beltsville herd was first treated in October 1957. No lice were found on the animals during the following months but in April 1958 they were treated again. Regular checks of the herd showed no lice until October 1959 when a yearling heifer became infested. Although other cattle in the same pasture and a group in an adjoining one were not infested, both groups were given two sprayings. No lice have been found on the herd since, though about 90 animals have been added each year.

A part of the herd in 1961 was shipped to the National Animal Disease Laboratory in Ames, Iowa. Scientists there are using the Beltsville method to keep the cattle free of lice.

The scientists say the method offers cattle producers a practical procedure for completely freeing their herds of these pests and then keeping them free.

Sherman and Hansford Farmers Use Conservation Program

Wm. Murrell, Don Robinson, Joel Stavlo, Eugene Wood, and F.K. Banister have recently developed Great Plains Conservation Program Contracts. This brings the total in the Hansford Soil Conservation District to 51 contracts. The contracts cover 70,000 acres and have $125,000.00 cost share obligated to these 51 farmers and ranchers.

Sherman County Farmers have developed a total of 8 Great Plains Contracts covering 8400 acres with $24,000.00 cost share obligated. N.F. and Ralph

IS GAMBLING A SIN?

Many times I am asked this question from people who gamble and use the cards or dice or other shady means of getting gain. I hope I can make it as plain as God intends, that this is sin of the highest order and completely contrary to the teaching of the scriptures.

Paul said, "Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work" (Titus 3:1). Again, "Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation" (Rom. 13:2). If, for no other reason than for obeying the laws of our land, gambling would be considered sin. The law under which we live forbids gambling in any form and prosecution by the state will be for the violator. God states that we are to obey the laws of the land as long as they do not violate His laws. (See Acts 5:29) Gambling is a violation of the law and is sin in God's sight. Sin when finished produces eternal death. (James 1:15).

Again the writer declares, "Prove all things; hold fast that which is good. Abstain from all appearance of evil" (1 Thess. 5:21-22). I need not enlarge very much on this point. The Lord tells us in this passage that even the very appearance of evil must be fled from. Only a fool can stand in the face of this passage of scripture and say that gambling does not have a stigmatism attached to it. Gambling always is associated with every other form of evil. You nor I have never seen any thing good come from gambling. Broken homes, suicides, slavery, fraud and other crimes are committed from its influence and effects.

Christians are told, "That no man go beyond and defraud his brother in any matter: because that the Lord is the avenger of all such, as we also have forewarned you and testified. For God hath not called us unto unto uncleanness, but unto holiness" (1 Thess. 4:6-7). Fraud is when you take something that belongs to another by deceit or trickery. Gambling does this very thing. It offers, but does not give gain to the deceived and ignorant. It does offer the cheat and rake the opportunity to steal by deceptive trickery. It is deceitful to offer something for nothing, knowing you are only waiting to fleece the sucker. Christians are told that God is an avenger of all liars. Gambling is a form of lying.

Last but not least, the Christian is told to work for his or her own living and those who would not should not eat. Paul said, "Let him that stole steal no more: but rather let him labour working with his hands the thing which is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth" (Eph. 4:28). Again, "For even when we were with you, this we commanded you, that if any would not work neither should he eat" (2 Thess. 3:10). Gambling is not working the thing that is good. It is trying to get something without effort. To get from someone else what does not rightly belong to your is cheating your fellowman of his rightful ownership or possessions you covet. Covetousness is idolatry (Col. 3:5). Such ill-gotten gains are "witnesses against you, and shall eat your flesh as if it were fire" (James 5:3).

Playing to bingo for prizes, betting on domino

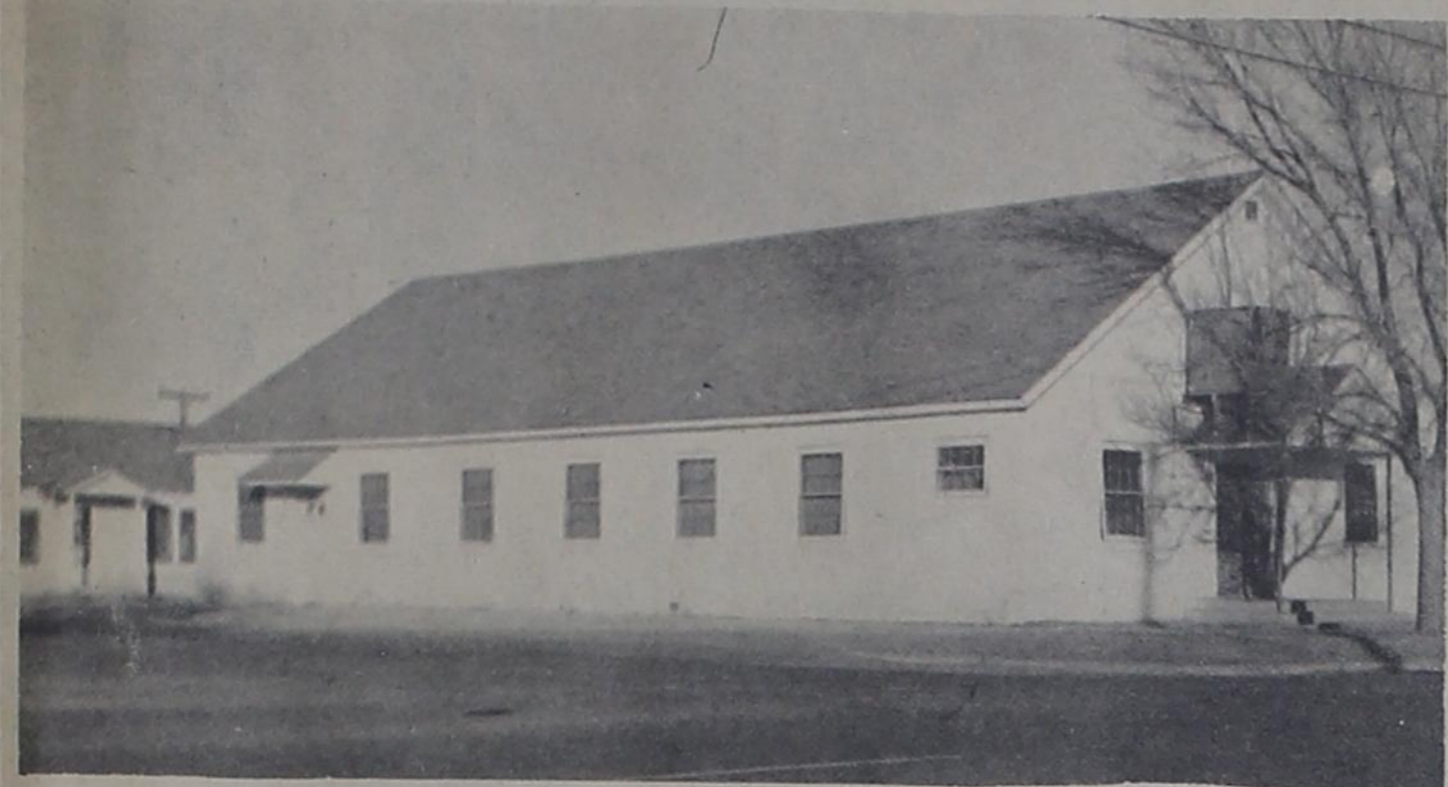

Paying to play bingo for prizes, betting on domino games, matching to see who pays for the coffee or cokes, etc. are just as much gambling as the dice and card games. Gambling in any form is sinful. It is a shame but some professed followers of Christ use these very things to raise money. May God open the eyes of the world to see this ungodliness which blights so many of our citizens. Shun gambling, it is immoral.
