Greyhounds Ready For AA Play This Year

The Gruver Greyhounds will be in class AA this year, and Coach Steele and his hands are working hard to be ready!

According to head Coach David Steele, the Greyhounds couldn't get the job done at times last season.

This fall, the Gruver Greyhounds have the speed and quickness to make a run at the District 1-2a upper echelon. With 11 returning letterman, including six starters returning on each side of the line.

Quarterback Tim Stedje, 6-foot-2, 165 pounds, gives Gruver fans something to be excited about.

Senior Loyd Cator (5'-9", 170) will also add to the stability of the Greyhounds' I-formation offense. Joining Cator will be junior Brian Gillispie (5'-8", 150) who also started a year ago.

Seniors Steve Duncan (5'-7", 150) and Ross Renner (6'-2", 175) were both contributors to Gruver's offensive success during the 85 season. Duncan caught six passes in one game a year ago and could help to ignite the spark Steele is looking for.

Rebuilding the offensive line will be Steele's major task. Senior guard Clay Smith (5'-11, 175) is the only returning starter. The best bet to join Smith in the trench are junior center Sid Shipp (5'-11, 155) Senior guard Wayne Morgan (6'-0", 240); Senior tackle Richard Murry (5'-6", 175), and junior tackle Jacobs Moreno (5'-9", 185).

Other line prospects for the Greyhounds include senior guard Gary Murry (5'-9", 165); Junior tackle Joe Lopez (5'-8", 140), Chris Morris (5'-10" 170); Justin Harris (5'-9", 150) and Juergon Zapata (5'-10", 160) and junior guard Ron Greene (6'-0", 155).

Steele shouldn't have to worry about his line backing corps with three starters-Gary Murry, Renner, and Smith returning this season.

Other Greyhounds looking for playing time include David Terry, Tim Fletcher, Pepe Marquez, Charlie Parrish, Ty Slegler, and Clay Hobbs.

You have a or will be receiving a "ballot" from your phone company to select a "primary carrier" so you will have "equal access." If these terms are confusing to you, don't be concerned. Most consumers are having to learn a new long distance "lingo" just to understand the phone bill.

"Equal access" is the phrase describing the process by which long distance companies are granted use of the same high quality, long distance connection as AT&T, which used to be the only provider of this service. Competing companies are given equal access, but this doesn't mean they will deliver exactly the same services at the same rates as all other companies.

With equal access you don't lose any current AT&T services. The major benefit is convenience. With AT&T or any other long distance service you'll be able to make your call simply by dialing "1" plus an area code and the number. Before equal access, a consumer had to dial 13 to 22 digits to make a call using one of the other companies.

The "primary carrier" is the long distance service you select. That's where the ballot comes in. Every consumer gets to select a primary carrier by marking a ballot, once equal access is introduced in the area.

Selecting a primary carrier tells the local phone company to make the appropriate adjustments in the switching equipment. When you dial a long distance number you will automatically be put into the primary carrier's system.

After you have selected a primary carrier, you can still use other long distance companies, but you will need to dial an additional code to access a specific carrier.

Selecting a primary carrier is not a binding decision either. The first selection is free, but you may be charged a service fee each time you switch. In addition, different carriers may require installation fees, deposits and other charges.

The best way to choose a primary carrier is to ask questions of all the companies offering service in your area. Then compare your findings and make a decision based on the services you need.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages, regardless of Socio-Economic Level, Race, Color, Sex, Religion, Handicap or National Origin.

Commodities will be distributed Aug. 20 from 1-5 p.m. at the County Judges Office.

Jill McLain

Our own beautiful Jill McLain has been named Miss Wheatheart of the Nation for 1987 following competition at Perryton Saturday night.

First runner-up was Shawn Belton, second runner-up was Elaine Frederic, third runner-up was Kellie McWhirter, and fourth runner-up was Anne Marie Jarvis.

As winner of the Miss Wheatheart of the Nation Scholarship Pageant, Miss McLain will represent the area in the Miss Texas Pageant at Fort Worth next July.

Jill is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don McLain and will be in the 1987 graduating class of Spearman High School. She was sponsored in the competition by Spearman Chamber of Commerce and performed a tap dance during the talent segment of the pageant.

Miss Belton is the daughter of Paul and Ruth Belton of Borger. Miss Frederic is the daughter of Gary and donna Patton, also of Borger. Miss McWhirter is the daughter of Steve and Sheri Benton, and Miss Jarvis is the daughter of Britt and Linda Jarvis, all of Spearman.

Nine young women from the Texas Panhandle competed for the title of Miss Wheatheart in four categories, including talent, judges' interview, evening gown and swimsuit. Talent comprised 50 percent of the judges' consideration.

Franchised through the Miss Texas Scholarship Corporation as a local preliminary in the Miss America Scholarship program, all participants are between the ages of 17 and 26 years, single and residents of the State of Texas.

The Miss Wheatheart Scholarship Pageant is a non-profit, civic endeavor designed to offer young women of the area the opportunities of educational and professional enhancement, and is sponsored by Perryton-Ochiltree County Chamber of Commerce.

The American Cancer Society (ACS) announced recently that it invested more than $78,210,459 to support more than 785 research projects and post-doctoral fellowships during fiscal year 1985-86. This includes a $6,937,410 investment at Texas hospitals and research institutions.

These research commitments are in addition to the American Cancer Society's extensive programs of epidemiological research, its support of an ongoing program to evaluate interferon, and a program of large institutional grants for investigation of cancer cause and prevention, including a $1 million grant to the University of Texas System Cancer Center Research Science Park in Smithville. According to ACS Vice President for Research John Laszlo, M.D., they are the highest in the Society's history.

Included are 444 new grants totaling $52,319,057 and 341 renewal grants amounting to $25,891,402.

In addition to nationally-funded research, the Texas Division of the ACS sponsored six clinical fellowships for a total of $21,600. This brings the total amount of ACS-funded research in Texas to $7,959,010 for fiscal year 1985-86. During the previous year, Texans contributed $14,848,473 to help support this research and the Society's education and service programs.

Ever Wonder What it's Like in a Fire?

Why all the fuss about fire prevention such as "Get Low and Go", Edith-Exit Drill In the Home, and Wake Up! Smoke Detectors Save Lives!

Come to 204 S. Snider, August 21, 1986 around 7:30 pm. and the Fire Department will allow first hand experiences as to why.

In a first time attempt, a public education program is underway allowing citizens to participate in a controlled setting, to better understand why it is imperative to plan for home fire safety. The program purpose is three fold: (1) create interest in recruitment, (2) educate the public as to what may happen in a home fire, and (3) to train fire personnel.

The exercise will allow any individual 15 years of age or older to be escorted by firefighters through a smoke filled house. All participants will be attired in protective clothing and breathing apparatus. Precautions are being taken to alleviate dangerous conditions so that a controlled environment is assured. Spectators who do not wish to enter the structure, will witness the manner of smoke travel and how your home can become a "toxic gas chamber" in only a matter of moments.

Information as to proper precautions for home fire safety will be given and explained before and during the exercise.

All participants will be required to sign a waiver of liability and those under 18 years of age must have a parent or guardian present during the exercise.

There is no charge or obligation to either participate or watch the exercise. The fire department is encouraging all citizens to come out and witness this unusual exercise.

Friendship is something few people understand, or enjoy.

There is usually a brighter side to any bleak situation.

Texas History?

Members of the Hansford County Historical Commission have been approached by some local citizens, asking to have a class on Texas History. The Sesquicentennial Year for Texas seems to have sparked an interest for those who never attended school in Texas and want to know some of it's history.

The Historical Commission is considering such a class. If there is interest, Mr. G.W. Robinson, former history teacher in the Spearman Schools and present Chairman of the Commission, is willing to hold the classes. There would be no testing, and no cost, other than a minimal contribution to the Commission.

There are bound to be those who did not attend school in Texas who would like to learn more about the state in which they reside. If you are interested in such a class, please contact one of the members of Hansford County Historical Commission.

Classes would be held this fall, 1986, once or twice a week from 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. This is for the adults in the community.

Contact by September 1, 1986, one of the following:

G.W. Robinson, Clementine (Mrs.
B.F.) Renner, Ruby (Mrs. J.D.) Wilbanks, Sylvia (Mrs. T.Ray) Robertson, or Juanita (Mrs. J. L.) Pierce.

son (Mrs. Wm. L.), and Melba Rasor

WARNING! Use Care in Purchasing Safety Equipment

Safety is something every individual must practice daily to avoid serious injury or death. Our vehicles have safety belts, our electrical systems have breakers or fuses, traffic is regulated by rules for safety and our homes should be equipped with proper security and early fire warning devices. Most of the devices which provide safety for our everyday protection has undergone extensive testing and labeling. The labeling is required to insure that products purchased may be considered as engineered sound by the consumer.
This appears to provide all the assurance necessary for a safety device to provide protection, but this is not the case. Please consider the remainder of this article to see how you, the consumer, can possibly avoid costly misconceptions in regard to fire safety devices.

Recently, and in previous years, residents of Hansford County, particularly Spearman, have been approached by solicitors selling various fire protection items. In most cases the fire department appreciates efforts to increase the public's awareness and conscientiousness of fire. However, some of these solicitors allow their eagerness of profit to overcome their sense of civic duty and misrepresent information. It is this misrepresentation or purposeful deletion of information which creates serious fire safety concern to your fire departments.

Specifically speaking, the devices of heaviest concern is the "heat detector" devices. The devices are engineered sound and properly labeled and will function as they are designed to.
The problem arises when the solicitors advise the consumers that "heat detectors" can solely protect your family in the event of fire. Heat detectors do have a place in your home, but will not provide complete protection alone. To reinforce this statement remember in practically all fatal residential fire people have died as a result of smoke inhalation and rarely as a result of direct flame contact. In addition, most accidental residential fires will smolder, creating smoke in larger proportions compared to heat. This information has been documented consistently over years of research. As a result of this research "smoke detectors" provide a greater degree of early warning to residents.

The fire department may seem to be discouraging the total use of "heat detectors" but this is not the case.
Rather we would prefer a combination of "heat detectors" and "smoke detectors" in a home, as this would provide the maximum in early warning. "Heat detectors" do have their place and should be installed in areas where rapid flame buildup can occur.
Generally these areas include kitchens, garages, attics or heater closets.
On the other hand, smoke detectors should be used in living areas or sleeping areas.

For the sake of clarification, let's see what the theory of operation of these devices are.

The smoke detector samples air in your home continuously and sounds when minute particles of toxic gases or carbon are present. This is why detectors may sound an alarm while cooking. It has not actually sounded as "false" alarm but has done exactly as it was designed to function. There are times when aerosol cans have been used near these detectors and again they sounded. This too, is as it should be because the detector has found the air to be improper for life support. If you have a smoke detector in your kitchen and it has become a nuisance, then here is a likely spot for a heat detector. Finally, smoke detectors are priced from approximately $8.00 upward and you can provide adequate protection for well under $100.00 in most homes.

Heat detectors sense an increase of heat above certain levels. Generally speaking, this level is regulated by a disc which deteriorates structurally allowing a pre-wound spring to release operate a bell manually. These devices must be located in the room or area of fire in order to operate. They too may sound false alarms, especially if the thermal disc is of too low of value for the area or room installed. Heat detectors range in price from $50.00 and upward for each.
The Spearman Fire department has attended fires where both type of devices have been installed. Where smoke detectors have been installed and properly maintained, we have never seen a smoke detector not function. In contrast, we have been to homes where heat detectors have been installed and properly maintained and this detector did not operate.

In conclusion, remember every safety device must be considered at length before purchase. Keep in mind that proper installation and maintenance as well as planning for emergency is vital. Remember, smoke detectors are capable of sensing fires remotely due to the rapid advance of smoke, where heat detectors are designed primarily for concentrated areas of rapid flame involvement. Heat does not travel as fast as smoke or as far. If you have questions regarding safety, fire or otherwise, call City Hall or the Police Department and the proper authorities will gladly find the answers. It may save you money or most importantly save you needless suffering. The fire department is not in business to make a profit, only to make a safer fire environment through the protection of your life and property. We live in this community as your neighbors and will be here when you need us. Can the solicitor make that claim?

MIDSUMMER'S EVE by Philippa Carr (Victoria Holt) is a new book just received in Gruver Library. Set against the wild and rocky shores of nineteenth-century Cornwall and the primitive outback of Australia, MID-SUMMER'S EVE is the story of Annora Cadorsen, a young and innocent girl whose love and happiness are threatened by tragedy and disillusion.

The daughter of Sir Jake Cadorsen, lord of one of England's oldest manors, Annora is raised in the warmth of a close-knit family who ardently encourage her to marry the dashing Rolf Hanson, man of her childhood dreams.

But then comes Midsummer's Eve.
The haunting events of that terrible night shatter Annora's illusions about Rolf and cause her to distrust all men.
She escapes to London where fashionable society is celebrating the accession of Queen Victoria. There she meets Joe Cresswell, whose father is vying with Annora's uncle for an important Parliamentary seat. But her romance with Joe is dashed when scandal erupts between the two politically ambitious men who have brought them together.

With her family, Annora sails to Australia, where she is further shaken by their cruel and unexpected rivalries that pursue her home to her beloved Cornwall. By overcoming these trials and hardships, Annora follows the path toward womanhood and regains at last the love she had lost but had always held so dear.

SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

In response to an economic slow-down in its service area, Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) will institute for a limited time a voluntary early retirement program that could trim its company-wide workforce by 148 employees, or about 6%.

SPS has 2,320 employees throughout its service area, which comprises parts of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas.

"We feel this is the best way to handle a situation in which we must respond to a reduction in new construction requirements, but still be fair to our employees," said W.R. Esler, SPS

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Turney of Phoenix, Arizona announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lisa Kay Turney to Chris William Dorman, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Dorman of Gruver, Texas, an August 30th wedding is planned in Gruver.

Miss Turney graduated from the University of Arizona and was employed with Ganado School District in Ganado, Arizona. Her father is General Manager of Arizona Pavement Profiling. Her mother is a Branch Manager of Bud Melcher and Associates, Realtors.

Mr. Dorman graduated from Texas Tech University. He is now Field Engineer for Hunt Building Corp. of El Paso, Texas. His parents are teachers for the Gruver Independent School District.

president and chief operating officer.

Company workloads related to expansion projects have been reduced because of the sluggish economy, Esler said. In particular, he said, a leveling in the growth in demand for electricity has put off indefinitely the need for new power plants and related facilities.

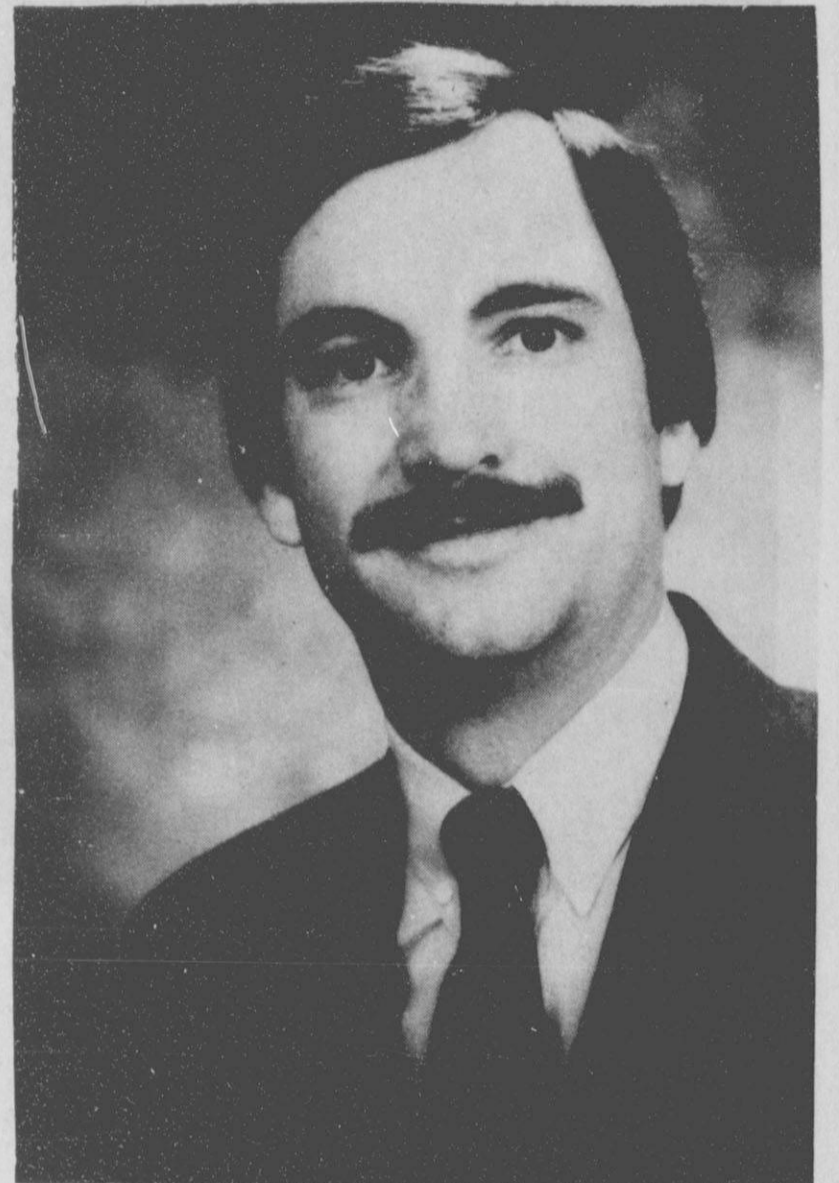

"The early retirement program is the best strategy we can have in our efforts to prevent layoffs, which thus far have not been necessary for SPS," Esler said.

All details have not been finalized, but under this program, employees age 60 or older may retire and receive their full retirement benefits, said J. Bryan Austin, SPS senior vice president-administration. Normal retirement age is 65.

Sorry To See You Go!

The past year's 5th grade class held a going-away party for Amy Gumfory who will be moving to Ft. Worth this week. The class had swimming party and then homemade ice cream in the park afterwards. The following poem written by Holly Venneman was read to the class and then presented to Amy as a remembrance.

AMY GUMFORY

This poem is about a little girl who had black hair and curls. She was beautiful and nice and was as sweet as sugar and spice! She was a friend to everybody in school, because being a friend was her #1 rule.

I think some of the boys were a little scared of her because when we played football, she was a go-get-her!

Like the time when she lost control and tore Carey Kauffman's shirt in half.

It was so funny, even Carey laughed!

And there was a time when Michael Park called Amy a bad name; She just smiled and said, "Two can play at this game". So she walked over there and pinched Michael's skin, She wasn't about to let Michael Park win!

Amy Gumfory was sweet and brave, but yet there were a few things she was scared of...

Like, for example, the cafeteria's green carrots; wouldn't you be scared if you saw green carrots?

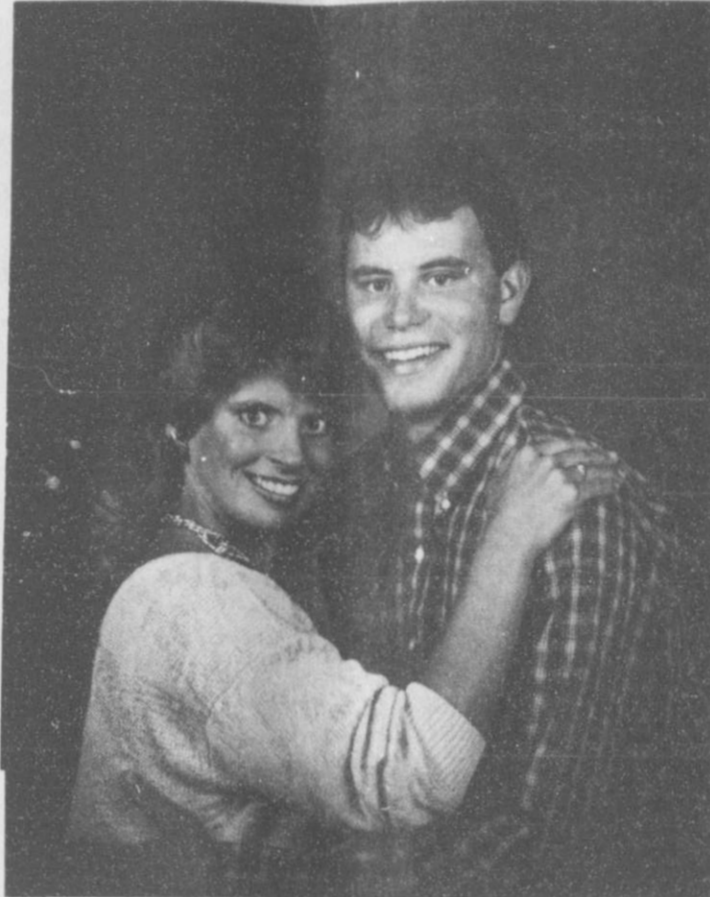

Or the cafeteria's Salisbury Steak, that'll do the trick--that steak will make you incredibly sick!

But some people will eat anything--like Brady Pool. He would probably eat a car too!

Amy left some memories in the 5th grade at Gruver Junior High. Some memories were funny and some would make you cry. The friendship we share with Amy Gumfory is special and kind, We will always remember Amy in our hearts and mind.

On the Go with Joy

Around here, August is getting to be known as the month for "having the grandkids for a visit" at the end of summer, that is the only thing left for them to do before school starts after traveling to various vacation spots and summer camps, our two long-distance kids prepared for a visit to grandpa's farm where they hoped to help plow, doctor cattle etc, but mostly try out the swimming pool with the cousins.

This year is a little different though, from the daily chores of increased cooking and triple piles of laundry. It seems that Grannie will have to get in touch with the mystical tooth fairy. For two months the 5 year old grandson has had a loose tooth (seems kind of young, doesn't he?) and all kinds of promises have been uttered to persuade him to pull the tooth. The fact that there are two more teeth just waiting for room to grow had nothing to do with it. Any how, after enlisting the aid of an older Cousin, the tooth came out. Even though the tears flowed momentarily, they were tears of happiness, not of pain.

Grannie hunted a small bottle to keep the tooth in for safe-keeping for the "under the pillow that night", but guess what? He forgot! So the tooth had a trip for Show and Tell at Sunday school and then "J." kept him self entertained during church by tossing the little bottle up in the air and cousin "A" had to retrieve it from under the pew anyhow, it is a good thing that the tooth didn't get put under the pillow because the tooth fairy forgot also.

The next night, the grandsons spent the night at their cousins house and the fairy had another reprove cause of loss of memory but that third night, the little bottle finally got under the pillow. So I was notified secretly by the big brother "W." So while we were waiting for everyone to go sound asleep, I had to scout around for some pocket change. Since I only had a $5 bill which I thought was a little much for a tooth, I dipped into my valuable supply of Kennedy half-dollars and settled down for a little nap until he was sound asleep. (I felt a little like Santa Claus).

The moment finally arrived for transferring and the fairy quietly entered the boys' bedroom. Since the room was very cluttered with a suitcase, a large wooden foot locker, paper, toys and clothes, the fairy stumbled around the mess, (can you imagine the noise that could have been made by the lid of a wooden box if it had dropped shut?) banged her shins, rattled the paper. But the fairy had to leave the tooth because "J" wanted to show it to his Mom & Dad. He also planned to keep the tooth forever and put it under his pillow every night first to get money every night. That little hustler!! Well, I had to explain to him that the rules of the game required the tooth fairy to take the tooth with her sometime after Mom & Dad saw the tooth. Boy what a let down.

"Bind Us Together" was performed by Miss Nelson during the lighting of the unity candle. "A Parting Blessing" was sung by Rod and Les Barkley.

The mother of the bride wore an intermission length rosebud silk dress with an overlay of Schiffli embroidery. The dress featured a blouson bodice of appliqued embroidered medallions, a beaded embroidered collar and bishop sleeves. The mother of the groom wore a turquoise tea length dress of silk with a chiffon overlay. The dress featured a tucked bodice, full sleeves and a softly gathered skirt. Both mothers wore gardenia corsages.

The church sanctuary was decorated with a large arch intertwined with grape ivy and lemon leaf. A large arched shaped bouquet of gladiolas, pink roses, pixies, freshia and ivy filled the center of the arch. Two arched candelabras with ivory tapers were on each side of the center arch. Tree candelabras with ivory tapers were in front of the arched candelabras. Each candelabra was decorated with garlands of smilax and flowers of roses, pixies, freshia and baby's breath. The church aisle were decorated with hurricane candle lamps and bouquets of roses, pixies, freshia, baby's breath and smilax. A unity candle completed the altar scene.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. The bride's table was covered with a white floor length cloth with garlands of smilax, caught with five cascade bouquets of roses, pixies, freshia and baby's breath. The centerpiece was a footed silver epergne holding ivory tapers and the same floral combination used in the cascades. The four layered cake had a cloverleaf base with fresh flowers on the face and top of the cake. The cake was made by Opal Wallin. A silver punch service completed the bride's table. The groom's table had a floor length white cloth with smilax garland. A square chocolate cake decorated with grapes and a "B" was the focal point. A silver coffee service completed the groom's table service. The hors d'oeuvre table was covered in a floor length white cloth. A large fresh fruit centerpiece and a variety of hors d'oeuvres was served. The reception party included Darla Ford, La Von Reid, Dana Perkins, Cindy Barkley and Kayla Allaway.

For her going away outfit, the bride chose a navy two piece dress with a large white lace collar. Her accessories were navy and white. The couple left the church in a white limousine decorated with pink, white and silver balloons. Balloons filled the air as they departed. After a honeymoon to Paradise Island in the Bahamas, the couple will be at home in Amarillo.
