Defense Appropriations

After 2 days of debate, which no one would characterize as spirited, the House recently passed the major defense appropriation measure for the next fiscal year — a bill calling for expenditures totaling $47 billion. The sum represents more than half of all money to be spent by the government in the year which began July 1. After cuts were made in Appropriations Committee sessions and on the floor during debate, the appropriated amount was $1.9 billion less than the President had requested in his budget message and $1.25 billion under the actual similar expenditures for the fiscal year just ended.

The vote on passage in the House was 410 to 1. That the debate was so routinely conducted and the final vote overwhelmingly bears out what every American knows anyway: That there is simply no way around the Nation's vital need to maintain its military forces at unequalled strength. There is no alternative if we are to preserve our sovereignty.

As my colleague from the South Plains, George Mahon, said at the debate opened: "All the bills which Congress passes are important to somebody. The bill before us today is important to everybody—to everybody in the United States, and to all the peace-loving people of the entire world. This is true, because this is the legislation which, more than any other, enables the United States to maintain its position of military superiority over the Soviet Union."

Congressman Mahon said: "Our military strength will not necessarily insure peace, but insofar as military strength can avert and deter war, this Government has what it takes."

During the debate, one Congressman presented the 1962 Department of Defense payroll, military and civilian, and Department of Defense total expenditures for each state. The figures spell out just what military spending means to the Texas economy.

In Texas, the military payroll totaled $778,798,000 and the payroll of civilian workers for the Defense Department was $361,742,000—for a combined total of $1,006,253,000. Total Defense Department expenditures in Texas were $2,146,793,000. Only one other state exceeded the Texas total. California, with its heavy concentration of aircraft manufacturers, had a combined Defense Department payroll of $1,709,585,000, and that figure coupled with the enormous sums spent in California for procurement sent the total of Defense Department expenditures in that state to a staggering $7,702,829,000.

Military installations were placed in these states and military procurement contracts assigned to manufacturers there for good reasons. No one would argue that the economics of Texas and California do not benefit greatly from this situation, spent by the federal government in these two states—for defense purposes only—as is taken out in total taxes. The taxes paid into the federal treasury from Texas, for example, totaled in 1962 $3,329,247.00 on defense payrolls and contracts.

Mrs. J. C. Gardner and daughters Sharon and Jean of Sharon, Pa. spent last week visiting her mother, Mrs. Marvin Wise.

Elmer Berryhill To Attend Austin Meet Next Month

Austin, Texas—Elmer Berryhill, Vocational Ag Teacher in the Quitaque High School, will participate in the State-wide In-Service Education Workshop for Teachers of Vocational Agricultural August 6-9, 1963, according to George Hurt, State Director of Vocational Agriculture. The four-day meeting will be held in Dallas as a part of the program in Vocational Agriculture to further improve the professional competency of the state's teachers.

Vocational Education Teachers in the areas of Homemaking, Trade and Industrial and Distributive Education will also be participating in in-service education workshops and the 3700 vocational educators will have a combined general session on Tuesday, August 6th. The principal address of the combined group will be delivered by Dr. Walter M. Arnold, Assistant Commissioner for Vocational Education, U. S. Office of Education in Washington. The general conference will be under the direction of M. A. Browning, Assistant Commissioner for Vocational Education, U. S. Office of Education, Austin.

Vocational Agriculture teachers will hear an address by R. B. Hulsen, vice-president, Moorman Mfg. Co., and he has taken for his topic, "Success." The Tri-State FFA Public Speaking Contest will give Texas teachers an opportunity to observe the best in FFA Public Speaking.

The State Vocational Agriculture Education Staff will direct workshops, and the workshops this year will be staffed by Vocational Agriculture teachers who are especially well qualified in their respective areas. The full day of workshops is an important phase of the training session.

According to Ralph S. Moser, President of the Vocational Agriculture Teachers of Texas, the organization will conduct several meetings at times not in conflict with the workshop program. The Honorable Charles F. Herring, State Senator of Austin, will address the membership meeting. Officers and Board members will be selected and a program of work for 1963-64 will be adopted by the organization.

The Texas Vocational Association will conduct a meeting of all Vocational Education Teachers, according to C. Earle Wolfe, president of Houston. Dr. M. D. Mobley, Executive Secretary of the American Vocational Association of Washington, will address the group.

MRS. MORRIS STEPHENS SPENDS SEVERAL DAYS IN HOSPITAL

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stephens and Mr. and Mrs. Junior Brannon of Panhandle left on July 5, for a vacation trip. They visited in Ruidosa, N. M., then drove to Juarez, Mexico. They returned home on July 9, and Mrs. Stephens became suddenly ill. She was admitted to the Lockney General Hospital that evening and required three blood transfusions. She called her mother, Mrs. Mack Truelock, Tuesday morning of this week to report that she is feeling better. Mrs. Stephens is suffering from a severe duodenal ulcer.

Mrs. Stephens returned home Wednesday morning and reports that she is feeling pretty good, tho' still weak.

Memorial Service Held Saturday For Mrs. Fay T. Taylor

Graveside funeral services were held at the Edgin Cemetery last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock for Mrs. Fay T. Taylor, 81, one of this area's long-time residents.

Mrs. Taylor died at 4:00 A. M. Friday, July 12, at her home 10 miles southwest of Quitaque. She was the widow of Jim W. Taylor, who died in 1940.

The fee for the five nights will be $5.00 if as many as 20 adults enroll and $6.00 if there are less than 20 participating. Several ladies have signed up to take advantage of the swimming lessons and Mr. Mason hopes that some men will also sign up. Each adult is asked to wear their bathing suit to the pool and meet at the schoolhouse by 7:00 P. M. each night. Each lady is asked to wear a bathing cap also.

Three Local Boys Attend State Meet

Three members of the Quitaque Future Farmers of America Chapter attended the State FFA Convention in Lubbock Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, according to Jim Saul, President of the chapter. The three day meeting of representatives of over 900 FFA chapters throughout the state included the awarding of degrees, scholarships and awards to outstanding members of the organization.

Members of the Quitaque chapter attending the convention were Bobo Morrison, Joe Charles Bedwell and Darrell Payne.

Bobo has been selected by chapter members as delegate of the Quitaque chapter to the state convention. Joe Charles will serve as alternate delegate. Bobo will receive his State Farmers degree.

Among the important business transacted at the convention was the election of a state president from the state officer nominees, who had been elected by members in the ten areas of the state. Voting delegates to the National FFA Convention in Kansas City in October were elected. In addition, delegates elected a sweetheart from the ten candidates elected by the areas and selected the top talent team in the state.

Nearly 800 members from the 38,000 membership of the organization received the state's highest award, the Lone Star Farmer Degree. The membership conferred Honorary Degrees on adults who have contributed in an outstanding way to the accomplishments of the organization. A Vesper Service was conducted on Tuesday evening, preceding the convention sessions. Vern France of Gooding, Idaho, National FFA Student Secretary and R. C. Irwin of Ford Motor Company, Birmingham, Michigan, were among the speakers to address the 3000 farm youth convened at Lubbock.

Elmer Berryhill, Vocational Agriculture Teacher, accompanied the FFA members to the Lubbock convention.

Murry Wayne Morrison will receive his American Farmer Degree in Kansas City in October. He was recognized at the State Convention. There are 36 in the state who will get this award.

Midge Threatens Grain
Sorghum in Texas

Delbert Langford, Associate Agronomist of the High Plains Research Foundation, located on the High Plains of Texas, announced that Midge is now infesting grain sorghum throughout the area. Langford has alerted farmers to take measures to protect their crops. This insect can completely eliminate a grain sorghum crop.

Midge infestations have invaded the High Plains Research Foundation. July 9 is the first this insect has put in an appearance here this year. The adult Midge itself will not do any damage, but will lay eggs in the bloom of the grain sorghum head. As the larva grows, it eats the grain; thus leaving only an empty hull.

Control of Midge can best be brought about by spraying with insecticides prior to and during the blooming stage. The first application should be made about two days after the head emerges from the boot. Some of the chemicals recommended for spraying are Endrin, Sevin, and Toxaphene. Farmers should contact local dealers for application rates and methods.

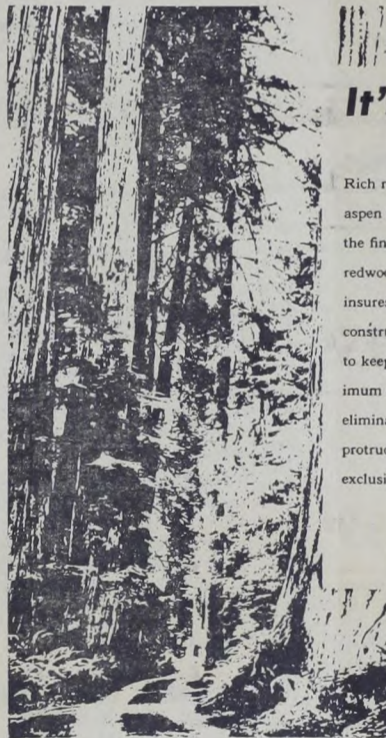

In years past with plantings of May 15, and earlier, there has been no damage to grain sorghum by Midge due to an early blooming date, and having the crop into a hard grain stage by the time Midge arrived. Some farmers have planted early this year in the attempt to get the grain sorghum past the Midge. The present infestation is about one month earlier than in 1962.

Langford says the infestation will keep building up and gaining momentum until the last grain has bloomed.

WHY do you eat healthful and nourishing food? No doubt the answer to all of these questions is that you want to live longer. You do. If you are so concerned about living longer, how can you not be interested in living still longer — even forever? Here's how: He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him. —John 3:36 Nor does eternal life merely refer to the length of life. It also has to do with the quality of life. Man was made not only for heaven, but also for living this life on earth in a unique way which Jesus called the abundant life. "I am come," says Jesus, "that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." To get in the right relationship to God is the basic problem of your life. When it is solved, you will have security, joy, peace, and happiness in this life. You will have security, joy, peace, taint, and change, over futurity and despair, over guilt and grief. Eternal life makes this life worth living. And beyond this

 Meet at 7:00 P. M., Fourth Monday every month, followed by Official Board at 8:00.

This week Lynette Taylor is taking part in her third camp as a junior high student at Ceta Canyon. The pastor is participating as a counselor, his specialized duty being dean of boys.

Next Sunday morning the pastor is to preach on the theme, "Harmony Through Abundance," the Scripture being John 10:10. In the evening the second half of the church-wide missions study on the arm of compassion is to be begun, the title being, "Unto These Hills."

A "family night" program is to be held at the church on Wednesday evening, July 24. Devotional is to be furnished by the commission on membership and evangelism. Geneva Curtis is the chairman. This is to be a covered-dish meal.

On the evening of August 4 Dr. J. E. Shewbert of Plainview is to preside at the First Quarterly Conference. Methodists of Quitaque are taking advantage this year of the triennial Homecoming to have their own sixtieth anniversary service on August 18. Guest preacher for the occasion is Rev. Delton Fisher, who was living in the parsonage here when he answered the call to preach. His father, the Rev. Marvin E. Fisher, was then the local pastor. Delton is now at Halfway and his father at Lubbock.

The general public is invited to stop in the church and meditate on what life is all about. Many a person has found the answer in one of God's quiet temples.

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to express my sincere appreciation to everyone for the many nice things you did for me while I was in the hospital.

My many thanks for the cards and letters, the flowers and visits and a special word of thanks to the blood donors. I sincerely appreciate every one of you.

Wanda Stephens

Thanks a million to each and every one for the cards and flowers while I was in the hospital. May God bless each and every one of you.

Mrs. O. E. Chandler

We would like to express our sincere appreciation to everyone for their thoughtfulness during the loss of our loved one.

We are grateful for the flowers, the food you sent to our homes, and for your words of comfort.

We are deeply grateful for your kindness.

WALTER ROGER'S NEWSLETTER

(Continued From Page One) Southern States expressed concern during the debate over what they regard as an implied threat that military installations in the South will be deactivated unless nearby cities do not act to desegregate public facilities. The objections raised by these Members of the House followed news reports that Def. Secretary McNamara had been ordered to investigate integration conditions in cities near military bases. If such a situation does develop, you can be sure I will be among Congressmen speaking out in vigorous opposition. I concur wholeheartedly with my colleague from Alabama Congressman George W. Andrews, who told the House: Military bases were selected on the basis of what was good for the defense effort and not to appease minority groups."

This past week it was my privilege as a member of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, to attend the dedication of the Saline Water Conversion Demonstration Plant at Roswell, N. M. The plant is designed to desalt brackish underwater to fresh water at the rate of one million gallons per day. Fresh water produced by the plant will be sold to the City of Roswell, and the research work to be conducted there will help show the way to solutions — at least partial ones — of the Nation's vital water conservation problems.
