

Cindy Cowart Joins Dusters At Western Texas College

Cindy Cowart, star forward with the Shallowater Fillies, is the latest West Texas player to join the WTC Dusters.

Cindy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack G. Cowart of Shallowater. She was coached in high school by Ms. Karen McKennon.

Miss Cowart averaged 19.5 points per game in 26 games. She hit on 68 per cent of her free throws and 42 per cent of her field goal tries. Her highest single game total was 33 points. Cindy also averaged five rebounds and four steals a game.

Duster Coach Dr. Sid Simpson commented, "Cindy comes to us highly recommended by coaches in her area."

"She has great determination and really wants to play college ball. Her high school record indicates she has the necessary quickness and strength to convert to the full court game."

Simpson indicated Miss Coward would be tried at both forward and back-court positions.

Wall and Ski Become "Wolski"

Lately, Shallowater Schools has been (and still is) the target spot for a friendly and humorous man. One has really got to know him well, in order to know whether he is teasing or if what he is saying is really what he means. Well, since only a few people have been exposed to this man, I think that it would only be fair that everyone know who that "friendly, humorous man" is. His name is Coach Ed Wolski. That last name is pronounced W-A-L-L-S-K-I; a strange name for a strange man. Humm . . . Well, to change the subject, Coach Wolski has three

Ed and Diala, Steffeny, Brad and Trey Wolski

Public Hearing On Budget Set

There will be a public hearing on the city budget Monday, July 21, at 8 p.m. in the Shallowater City Hall.

Ostomy Assn. to Meet in Lubbock

The Lubbock Ostomy Association will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, July 15, 1975, at 7:30 p.m. in the staff meeting room of St. Mary's Hospital.

Election of officers will be followed by a report from the visitation committee co-chairmen, Mary Hildebrand and Earl Holley. Margaret Pappas, R.N., will report on her recent training as an enterostomy therapist. Also, Mrs. Pappas will be program chairman for the ensuing year.

Following the program to be presented by Vicky Greer, representative from the Hollister Ostomy Products Company, refreshments will be served by the hospitality chairman, Barbara Coleman.

Anyone knowing an ostomate is urged to encourage him to attend our meetings.

lovely children and of course, a lovely wife. The children are: Steffeny, age 6, Trey 4; and Brad 2.

His wife, Diala, is so very privileged (?) in cooking, sewing, washing, and ironing for Coach. She really should be admired. Why? Well, she puts up with Coach, doesn't she? That's really proving quite a bit.

Coach Wolski and Coach Williamson are occasionally seen together and when they are together . . . one had better watch out because both of them together, well, they are like Soupy Sales and Dennis the Menace put together. They are full of laughs one minute and then the next they both have that "mischief" look in their eyes. Boy, that's when everyone has to get out of their way!

Seriously, Coach Wolski is a very warm, human being. He not only is very friendly, but he is also very talkative. Coach likes all sports and he likes to work with young people. If one decides to teach or coach, one has to enjoy kids, and believe me, Coach does. When asked what he thought about Shallowater, he answered, "I think it is a very nice town. I am real impressed with the people here; they are very friendly."

In conclusion to this article, Coach Wolski adds:

"I would like for all the people in Shallowater to get behind the football program of our school.

"I would also like for all the young men to meet the challenge and to have a burning desire to set some goals and reach those goals."

We certainly hope that everyone in Shallowater shows the desire to have a good year in 1976.

Lamesa Looses, Shallowater Gains

Roy and Theron Baker

Roy Wesley Baker was a coach and P.E. teacher at Lamesa High last year, but he will be the first assistant football coach at Shallowater High School next year.

Coach Baker graduated from M.B. Smiley High school in 1968 and received his B.S. Degree at Angelo State University in 1973. Theron, his wife, is a secretary and of course, a housewife. They have no children at present.

He is a young enthusiastic man with a good reputation. Coach Wolski and Coach Williamson will make sure that the good reputation of Coach Baker remains the same.

So, as the title indicates, Lamesa loses a reputable young man, but Shallowater gains one.

Shallowater Bi-Centennial Celebration Scheduled Friday at Powell Field

The Shallowater Bi-Centennial celebration to be held July 11th in Powell Field will begin with a band concert at 8 p.m.

All ladies and girls are urged to decorate a box and fill it with supper. These will be auctioned off by the following auctioneers: Dalton Potter, Granville Doggett, Floyd Epperson and James McMenamy.

Prizes for the most attractive box and for the best dress family will be awarded.

The Lions Club will furnish soft drinks.

After some good eating there will be a program which will include some local talent: Tim and Tad Sinclair and the Anglin Boys.

This evening of observance of our Nation's birthday is being sponsored by the Shallowater Lions Club and other interested persons.

Let's all attend and enjoy some old fashioned fellowship.

Little League All-Tournament Team Named

Shallowater's Little League All-Tournament Team was named at ceremonies last week, at the same time that trophies were presented to all the players present.

Braden-Pearce Pledge Vows Last Week

Rebecca Lynn Braden and Michael Eugene Pearce pledged wedding vows during a double-ring ceremony July 5 in the First United Methodist Church in Ropesville. The Rev. Hansel Pearce, father of the groom, officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Glynn Braden are the parents of the bride and Rev. and Mrs. Hansel Pearce of Troup, Texas are the parents of the groom.

Becky was escorted by her father down an aisle decorated with votive candles and greenery. For something old the bride wore her grandmother's wedding ring; something new, her dress; something borrowed, a gold coin belonging to her aunt; something blue, her garter. The bride was presented to the groom before an altar decorated with white roses, white fuji mums and white daisy mums interwoven with greenery.

The bride wore a formal length gown of ivory organza fashioned with a high Victorian neckline of pleated organza. Long lantern sleeves were accented with a cuff of lace and a ruffle at the wrists. Bands of Venise lace extended down the front of the bodice. The softly gathered A-line skirt extended into a chapel length train. A deep flare ruffle formed the hemline of the skirt and train. A wide band of lace encompassed the waistline. A Juliet capulet headpiece of matching Venise lace held her mantilla veil of illusion which was edged in lace.

Sherri Neff was matron of honor; Kayla Odom served as bridesmaid; and Kristi Frye, cousin of the bride, served as junior bridesmaid. They all wore gowns of yellow kettle cloth fashioned with a deep scoop neckline. The empire bodice had an overlay of Venise lace. A flare ruffle formed the cap sleeve. A deep ruffle formed the hemline of the softly gathered A-line skirts. Pale yellow hats banded in ivory lace with yellow ribbon streamers completed the attire. They carried nosegays of yellow and white sweetheart roses and daisy mums.

The groom wore an ivory tuxedo with an ivory shirt. The groomsmen wore yellow tuxedos with matching yellow shirts. Randy Pearce served his brother as best man. Mr. Jimmy Neff of Plainview was groomsman. Ushers were Chuck Braden and Rick Braden, brothers of the bride.

Wedding music was presented by organist Charlsa Schwartz and soloist Doug Burton of Lubbock. As a prelude, "Twelfth of Never" was presented. During the lighting of the unity candle "Whither Thou Goest" was sung, and "The Lord's Prayer" was sung at the close of the ceremony. The processional and recessional music was traditional.

After the ceremony a reception hosted by the bride's parents was held in the church fellowship hall.

The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth and was decorated with silver candleabra. The punch bowl and appointments were in sterling silver. The four-tiered yellow and white wedding cake was served by Ann Braden and Sherry Braden, sisters-in-law of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearce are spending their honeymoon in Colorado. They will live in the Seville Apartments in Lubbock through the summer and will then move to Nacogdoches where they both will attend Stephen F. Austin College.

REMEMBERING...

By BILL D. BROOKS

FUNERAL HOME FANS

Fans were as much a part of church meetings, town hall meetings and other types of get-togethers as people were. Commonly called the "funeral home fan", they were simple in design, construction, and purpose. They were made of heavy cardboard stapled or glued to a thin wooden handle and were beautifully decorated with scenes of mountains, forests or peaceful rivers. The fans were distributed, primarily as advertising items, by funeral homes and other types of businesses. Quantities of the fans were donated to the various churches and meeting places while many were passed out to individuals for use in homes.

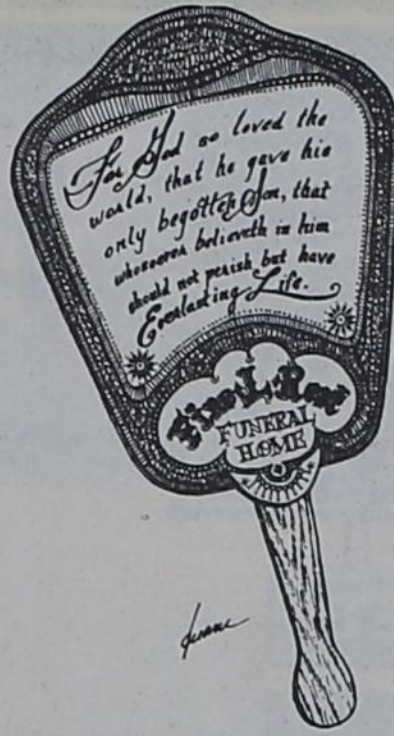

Advertisement slogans, business names and sometimes songs, poems or scripture verses were printed on the fans. One would rarely see or use a funeral home fan today because of our air conditioned public buildings and homes but they were very much a part of life only a few years ago.

I remember them most at church. Several would be scattered among the congregation, in pews and song book racks for use by the worshippers. Some would bring theirs from home. On hot summer days heat would build up in the building and, even with all the windows and doors opened wide, there would not be a breath of air moving. Out would come the fans and fanning would start.

Ima Jean was a remarkable fanner. She had six small children and somehow she was able to fan them all with only one fan. Kids would be draped over her shoulders and the baby would be sleeping in her lap. Others would be close by. She could fan for hours without stopping.

Old Miss Dermagill was the one to watch, though. She would fan in short strokes scarcely see the fan. After the point was made, the fanning and flutter would gradually slow down to a stop, her gaze never taken from the pulpit.

Snooty old Mrs. Fluancy upset the entire community with her fan once. Seems she had a son overseas in the service who sent her a genuine folding fan from Japan. It was obvious no one in our part of the country had ever seen one because when she took it out of her purse and unfolded it in plain view of everyone (though she pretended not to notice) all eyes turned her way. As a youngster, I was particularly impressed, never having seen anything to compare with its beauty. But many people condemned her for her action, like she had committed some new kind of sin, like she had slighted them in some way. "Looks like a simple funeral home fan's not good nuf fer her, did ja see that gaudy thing?" "Yea, didn't even have any advertizin on it, musta cost a fortune." It wasn't long until there were at least thirty or forty fold-up fans in the congregation, and not long after that the funeral home fans disappeared altogether.

Red Cross Water Safety School Set

The American Red Cross will conduct a Water Safety School at Balmorhea State Park, Balmorhea, Texas July 21-25, 1975 for Basic Swimming Instructor, Advanced Life Saving Instructor and Water Safety Instructor Review, according to Mrs. Gene Hildreth, Water Safety Chairman for the Lubbock Red Cross.

As in all Red Cross courses, Mrs. Hildreth stated, the instruction is free, with Courses under the guidance of approved Water safety Instructor Trainers. Students will provide cost of texts ($5), transportation, room, and meals.

According to Mrs. Hildreth the training and course content will consist of the new Red Cross Water Safety Program introduced in 1974. The purpose of the program is to train students how and what to teach when using the American Red Cross Water Safety Program.

Students must be 17 years of age at time of enrollment and better than average swimmer. Interested swimmers are requested to contact the Lubbock Red cross for details at 1811 Broadway, 765-8534 before July 13, 1975.

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

It's all over for another year, vacation that is. It's back to the old grind, with memories of a wonderful time—good people, good food, good fishing, everything.

Lynn, Frances and the kids packed up and left on July 2, Momma moved into a motel and Jack and I finished out the camping and fishing in the woods. Then, last Friday, we broke camp, took a last swim and then started the trip home.

We were blessed with perfect weather the whole stay, no rain and only four brief showers so light that they didn't even settle the dust.

The fishing, except for bass, was excellent. For some reason, no one in the group landed a bass. We caught plenty of Northern Pike, brook trout, salmon, bullheads. Cold Brook was unusually low and you had to work hard, but you could catch fish.

My biggest thrill was in losing, something about which I'm still crying. Jim Whitelaw came up Sunday, June 31, and we set out. The original intention was to go after salmon, but Jim suggested that we troll for lake trout initially.

We rigged up the Lake Clear Wabblers and headed for the Northwest shore, trailing our lures. Nothing happened. Jim swung in a slow curve until we were about 20 yards from shore.

I felt my line tighten gave a short tug and then said that I thought I was snagged.

Jim started to back up the boat when he said "hey! I've got a bite."

He grabbed for the rod, set the hook and then began to play the fish. "He's a good one!" he exclaimed. For five or ten minutes he reeled in as the rod bent. Then, there it was! Eight or 10 feet under water you could see it fight, diving for the bottom.

I got the net into the water and Jim steered the fish my way. There! In the net, in the boat. And what a beauty! A two-foot lake trout, thick and fat, full of fight. Later, when we weighed it, the fish equalled four pounds on the scale.

Then we remembered my line. I picked up my rod and started to reel in. Suddenly it almost went spinning out of my grasp. "Hey, that's no snag. I got me a fish!" I hollered.

I tried reeling it in and got a few feet before he went to the bottom. I stopped his plunge and he slacked off. I started reeling again and put a few more feet on the reel.

Jim leaned over to tighten the drag a little, then took the rod for a second or two.

"That's a big fish!" he said with a broad grin, "a lot bigger than mine. Don't lose him!"

Losing him was the last thing I was thinking about. I just wanted to get him into the net.

"This net might not be big enough," Jim remarked. "I'd say he was about a 12-pounder. He's a big one."

About that time the laker took off again and I hung on, almost with both hands. The tip of the rod bent all the way over, went under the water in a sharp "U" and I braced again.

"When a laker doesn't want to come up, you can't horse him to the surface," Jim said, reading my mind. "How does he do it? Look at those fins. He heads for the bottom and you can't do anything about it. They're terribly strong."

About that time the line yielded a little and I tried another turn of the handle. Immediately there was the resistance and the pole bent until I thought it would break.

I pulled as hard as I could, but he didn't yield. We were at a standstill. He was fighting for depth and I was fighting to horse him to the surface.

Then the line suddenly felt a little slack. I started to reel when I realized—no fish! He had spit the hook somehow and was gone.

I felt sick. My insides, which had been churning in the excitement, continued to churn. I know the feeling must have shown. To have such a beauty and then lose him.

"I think he must have found a log and wrapped around it," Jim said later, the sympathy showing. "That's about the only way he could have gotten off."

I had to buy his theory. It was the only logical explanation. But it didn't ease the pain. Nothing ever will.

"That's probably the first time that ever happened in Pine Pond," Jim remarked, "two men in the same boat hooking two lake trout at the same time. It's almost impossible to catch them here at all, and then for both of us to have strikes."

We trolled through the area twice more without a single strike, then went for salmon. They weren't feeding or, if they were, they weren't having any of us. The laker was the day's catch.

After that I fished Pine Pond only twice more. Jack and I fished Wednesday, after Lynn had left, without success. Thursday dawned threatening and we decided not to go to Cold Brook. As it turned out, the weather cleared and was beautiful.

So, Jack and I fished Pine Pond and came up with a bullhead and a mess of good brook trout. We cleaned then and put them on ice, bringing them home for the grandmothers.

Thursday night I got out a couple of pike that Frances and Darren had caught one evening. Jack skinned them with a skinner and we baked them in foil over a low fire.

The meals were wonderful. Lynn baked cornbread a couple of times, we broke the fish died with barbecue a couple of times and we had stew, a camp necessity at least once. The water was wonderful for swimming and drinking and the weather was ideal.

This year the raccoon caused no damage, even though he finally made an appearance. Jack saw it in the middle of one night and he said it was huge.

The squirrels are getting thicker and scold a lot. Chipmunks cavorted around the camp, along with snowshoe hares that weren't the least bit afraid. There were plenty of birds and some beautiful woodpeckers, owls, eagles, hawks and ospreys.

I mentioned Texas cars in an earlier column and we ran into some more. We were eating dinner in a Kingston, Ont., motel last Friday night and a lady stopped by our table. She said that she originally was from Dallas, so we talked for a while.

Then, on Canadian 401, a car honked as it pulled alongside and the people started smiling, waving and making a thumbs up sign. Finally, a girl held up a small clothing sack. On it were the words "Texas Aggies!" The car had Ontario plates. On the same freeway later, going towards Montreal, we saw an oversized station wagon with the words "Houston Swimming" on the side.

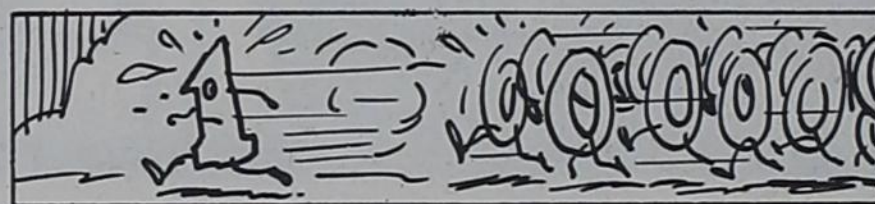

Going through customs at Detroit, an inspector said he couldn't help admiring our boat. We told him about it and he said he'd have to get his brother to get him one. His brother is in the Air Force at Austin.

Another young man, in Michigan, I think, asked if Lubbock was near Austin or San Antonio. We told him how far and he said Texas was a big state. Also, it turned out he had a brother going to UT.

And, inevitably, a car with Texas tags passed us and gave us the "Hook 'Em" sign. We replied, but with a sign of our own, one which probably wouldn't be accepted in proper circles!

It was a great vacation, as I said earlier, but it's great to be home, as usual. I wouldn't trade, for living, any place I visited or saw for Lubbock.

Too many of us, I'm afraid, don't realize how great a place this is, or how many advantages there are here. All you have to do is visit other places. When you do, you'll be proud to say "Hey, I live in Lubbock, Texas."

"Texas First" Now In West Texas

John Wright, President of the First State Bank in Abilene, and Chairman of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce's Industrial Development Committee, announced today that West Texas is first in scheduling regional information meetings to kick off the "Texas First" program.

The "Texas First" program, initiated by Governor Dolph Briscoe, is designed to create 4000 new, permanent, and unsubsidized jobs for Texans and encourage the expansion of industry. Concerning the West Texas Chamber's role in the "Texas First" program, Mr. Wright stated, "We're pleased to cooperate with the Governor in this project in setting meeting sites and promoting attendance for the program provided by the Texas Industrial Commission." The Governor has asked the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to work with government agencies to coordinate the program in West Texas. The four meetings in West Texas will be held July 7, at the Commercial Bank and Trust Company in Midland; July 8, at the Tarleton Center, Tarleton State University, Stephenville and July 11, at the Texas Electric Service Company Building in Wichita Falls. The Midland, Amarillo and Stephenville Chambers of Commerce and the Wichita Falls Board of Commerce and Industry will be the local hosts for the meetings.

Denture problems?

OraFix holds dentures better because it spreads better.

Tests prove OraFix* spreads better than the other leading denture adhesives — cream or plastic. Other adhesives can leave gaps between dentures and gums. So food particles and air can get in causing dentures to slip. But OraFix spreads better so it can fill even tiny gaps. Result? OraFix seals and holds dentures tight.

Rays of Hope

by Pat Stanton

Christians have always been admonished to watch and be ready for the Lord's return from heaven. There are 318 references to the personal return of Jesus within the 216 chapters of the New Testament.

Suppose the believer is not looking and praying. Will he suffer great loss? Will he miss the wedding feast? Will he miss the "Rapture of the Church"? Read the following verses and ask the Spirit to teach you.

Matthew 24:42, "Watch therefore: for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come."

Luke 21:34-36, "And take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with careless ease, carousing and drinking, and cares of this life, and that day come upon you unawares. For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth. Watch ye therefore, and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of man."

I Cor. 1:7, "See that you come behind in no gift waiting for his coming."

I Peter 4:7, "Be sober and watch with prayer."

Hebrews 10:25, "Not forsaking the assembling together as the day draws near."

PERSONALS

THANK YOU
On behalf of my wife, Hazel (Ma) Henry, and myself, I would like to express our deepest thanks to the many people and organizations that sent flowers and cards to her while she was in the hospital. And also to our many friends who visited her while she was confined.

To all of the good people that stopped in the station and gave me their kind words of encouragement, all I can say is "Thanks, I needed that." You'll never know how much it helped me.

It gives me a warm feeling in my heart to know that in this world of strife and misery there are still people who go out of their way to show genuine concern for their fellow human beings.

Thank you all and God bless you.
Mr. Frank A. Henry

Outdoors in Texas
By J. C. Roberts
Chiggers and Ticks
Outdoors in our great state during the summertime is a good place to be, but be careful! Chiggers and ticks are waiting to attack, literally by the millions in many parts of the state. These tiny troublemakers are not insects, but members of the Arachnida class, which includes spiders. Ticks can bury into the skin, and can carry Rocky Mountain spotted fever, theileriasis, tularemia, and Texas fever. Embedded ticks should be soaked in rubbing alcohol, and gently pulled off. Give the tick several minutes to release its grip. Portions of the tick could remain embedded in the skin, causing infection. Chiggers can usually be removed by a hot, soapy bath after a trip thru grass or weeds. Insect repellent or eating a sulfur-cream of tartar tablet before your trip can help. Repellents or rotenone dust should do the trick for ticks. Tip of the Week: Don't scratch those bites... it irritates the skin and causes infection from chigger and tick bites.

Austin—The row over medical malpractice insurance has landed in district court here.

Argonaut Insurance Companies, one of the largest carriers of malpractice insurance, filed suit to enjoin the State Insurance Board from freezing rates at the June 3 level.

Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie charged insurance companies appeared to have inflated their rates when a new law required them to file with the Board.

"It's beginning to look like the classic case of weighing the butcher's thumb along with the hamburger," Christie said. He said one company nearly doubled quoted mid-May rates after the legislature ordered filing with the regulatory agency.

A Board order of June 27 put companies on notice that only premium rates in effect June 3 may be charged for renewal of policies for doctors and hospitals unless a 90-day notice of increase is furnished the insured.

Argonaut went to court and got a temporary restraining order effective until a July 10 hearing, blocking the 90-day notice provision.

The provision, Argonaut attorneys claimed, imposed a past duty they could not have anticipated. They also contended that re-issuing policies at pre-May rates even though inadequate would "result in irreparable damage" to companies.

Press Buy Protested

Texas printers are strongly protesting a proposal by Secy. of State Mark White Jr. to explore purchase of a large web-offset printing press to print copies of the proposed new state constitutions.

White said press dealers informed him the state could save $150,000 by doing its own printing of the document and the new official "Texas Register."

Printers, backed by an auditor's letter, claim the press purchase would cost the state far more than commercial printing of the constitution and register, and would lead to additional government competition with the printing industry.

Austin State Sen. Lloyd Doggett requested an attorney general's opinion on constitutionality of the purchase. Printers threatened a lawsuit to stop it.

White said no purchase will be made unless bids clearly show money can be saved.

Five and a half million copies of the constitution document must be mailed to voters by October. About 100 editions a year of the Register will be printed, containing official state orders, proposed regulations, notice of hearings and attorney general's opinions.

Jobless Payments Drop

Jobless benefits dropped $1 million—to $22 million—in Texas during June, according to Comptroller Bob Bullock.

But a total of $118.7 million in unemployment benefits have been paid January-June, compared with $79.1 million in all 1974.

Helps Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues

caused by inflammation

Doctors have found a medication that in many cases gives prompt, temporary relief from pain and burning itch in hemorrhoidal tissues. Then it actually helps shrink swelling of these tissues caused by inflammation.

The answer is Preparation H®. No prescription is needed for Preparation H. Ointment or suppositories.

Canning Time is Here!

Capture the fresh flavor of summer fruits now, by canning or freezing them. Be sure to use ripe, perfect fruit and follow the instructions carefully. Your results will stretch your food dollar, provide delicious treats you can enjoy all year long, and give you a real sense of accomplishment.

Use pint or quart jars for canning fruits, and pints or half-pints for jams, jellies and pickles. Choose the jar size to fit your family's needs.

To get you started, here's a recipe for a bright-colored, true-flavored Strawberry Jam, taken from the new C and H Sugar canning leaflet.

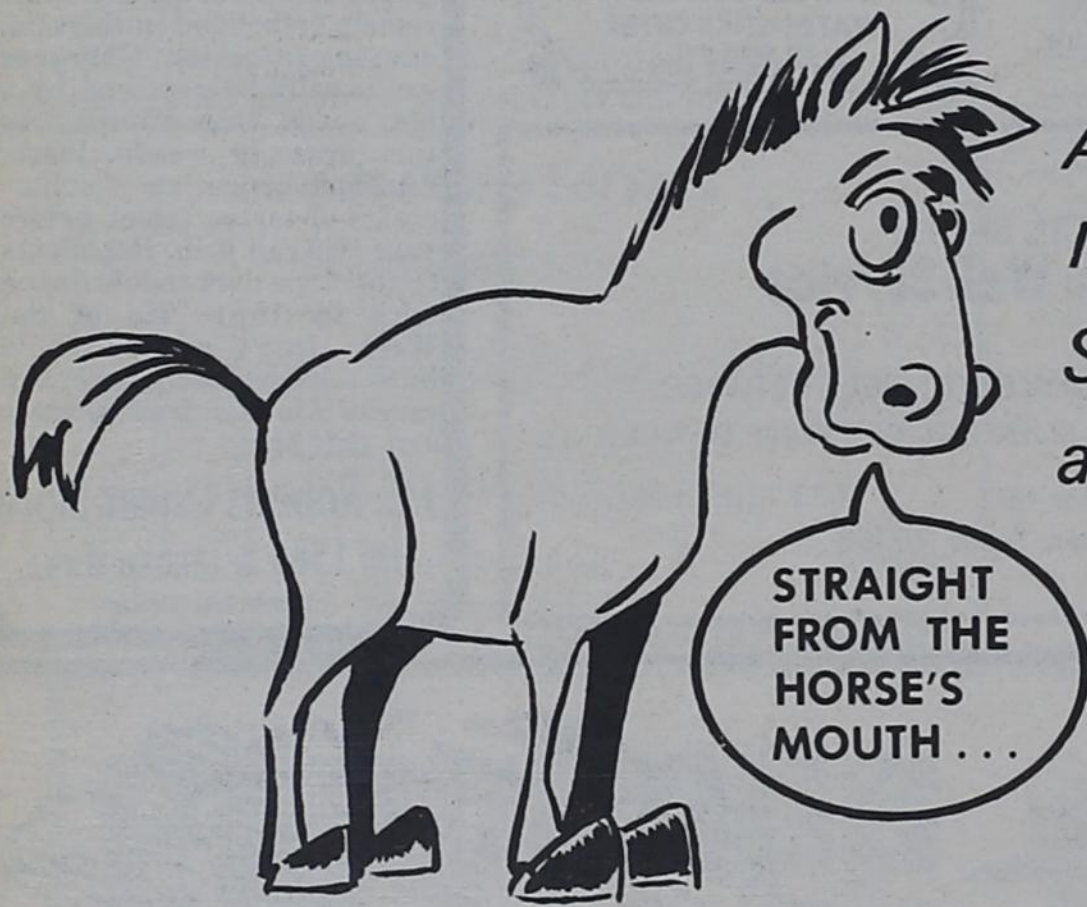

STRAWBERRY JAM

- 4 cups prepared strawberries
- 4 cups C and H Granulated Sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice

Wash, hull and slice strawberries, then measure into large saucepan. Add 2 cups of sugar. Heat and boil hard 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Add lemon juice and rest of sugar. Bring to boil and boil hard, stirring constantly until ready to jell. Pour into shallow dish, and stir occasionally while cooling. Let stand overnight to plump fruit. Pack cold in sterilized glass or jars, and seal. Makes 2 pints.

Jell Test: Dip a clean metal spoon in boiling jam; hold up edgewise. When 2 heavy drops form and slide together at edge of spoon, jam is ready to jell. (Takes from 2 to 20 minutes, depending on pectin in fruit.)

For more delicious, tested recipes like this, and a complete guide to canning, freezing and jam and jelly making with fruit, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Sugar Kitchen Canning & Preserving, Dept K, C and H Sugar Co., One California Street, San Francisco CA 94106.
