Jackie Howard, Frenship Sophomore was crowned Homecoming Queen in pre-game activities at Tiger Stadium Friday night. Miss Howard is the daughter of Mrs. Marty Thorpe and was escorted by Terry Hoppe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Hoppe.

Crowning the queen was Frenship Ex Donald Preston. Flower girl was Branda Preston, daughter of Ex Weldon Preston and Mrs. Preston. Crown bearer was William Wilkinson, son of Ex Mrs. Dona Wilkinson.

by Joe Kelly

A saddened homecoming crowd watched in disbelief and near heart failure as the fighting Tigers of Frenship failed by inches to upset favored Tulia here Friday night.

The seesaw game came down to the final moments, with Frenship driving for the Hornets goal. But a fourth down effort fell short and Tulia escaped with a 20-14 victory.

This week the Tigers travel to Morton, where they hope they can pick up the momentum that was blunted Friday night.

Frenship touchdowns were scored by Davey Booher, on a 3-yard run, and Jay Depanion, who raced 60 yards for a touchdown. Depanion also kicked both extra points for the Tigers.

The Tigers simply couldn't stop Tulia sophomore Raymond Williams, who notched all three Hornet scores. Williams went 15, 3 and 2 yards for the scores that gave Tulia the victory.

Will Hutchins is Hayloft Dinner Theater Star In "Here Lies Jeremy Troy" Production

Laughing his way through an impossible situation is Will Hutchins in "Here Lies Jeremy Troy", at the Hayloft Dinner Theater.

Will Hutchins, who is probably better known as Sugarfoot originated the role of Jeremy Troy. He most recently completed a five month tour of the country with Rudy Bros. International Circus, as Patches the Clown.

A native of Los Angeles he received a B.A. in speech and drama from Pomona college. His first professional job was NBC Matinee Theater. Then, under a five year contract with Warner Bros., he starred in "Sugarfoot" for 4 years. During that time he guested on "Cheyenne", "77 Sunset Strip", "Maverick", and other Warner Bros. series.

He played Woody the landlord on NBC's "Hey, Landlord" for a year and recently completed "Magnum Force" starring Clint Eastwood, a sequel to "Dirty Harry", which will be released soon.

The play "Here Lies Jeremy Troy" is a hilarious comedy about a young man who, by tampering with the registrars records at school, manages to graduate Suma Cum Laude from law school without ever enrolling for a class. As always, one lie leads to another and Jeremy Troy's problems snowball as the play progresses.

Call for reservations to this hilarious play now.

Plans Revealed Here for Miss Lubbock Scholarship Pageant on December 1st

The Lubbock Jaycees will again sponsor this Miss Lubbock Scholarship Pageant to be held December 1, 1973. This fact was announced Friday by Mr. Wayne Hollingshead, president.

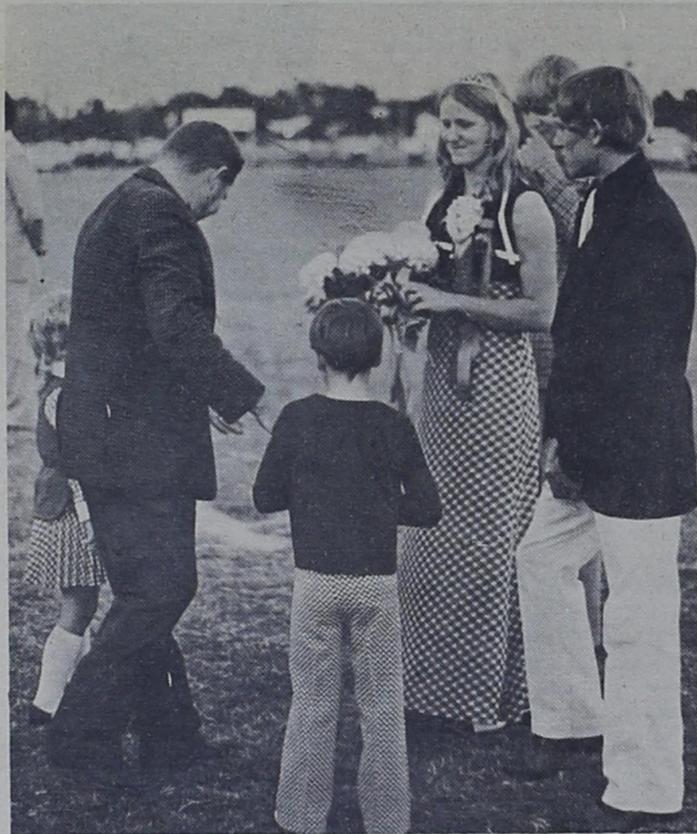

Hollingshead went on to state: "We are again serving as sponsors of the pageant since we believe it provides a valuable contribution to our community, provides an official host to our city, and focuses attention to the high calibre of young ladies in our area. We believe it serves our youth well because it provides young ladies a place in which to compete in their respective areas of training and the opportunity to gain added poise and maturity through participation in such a project. The publicity we have received through our Miss Lubbocks on a local, state, and national level has been invaluable to our fine city."

Jerry Lane, the Jaycee Community Development Director, added: "This will be a community endeavor and we in the Lubbock Jaycees are hopeful that the community will participate to insure its success by sponsoring contestants, supporting our program advertising, patronizing the pageant financially, and attending the outstanding production on December 1. All of the ticket proceeds have been earmarked to finance the annual Jaycee Children's Christmas Shopping Tour for a local children's home."

The pageant is open to members of all races, and to young ladies between the ages of 18 and 28 years as of Labor Day, 1973.

Entry forms are now being taken and can be obtained by writing Miss Lubbock Scholarship Pageant, P.O. Box 1316, Lubbock, Texas 79408.

NEWS BRIEFS

Morton and Cochran county will soon have a new and improved law enforcement system as a result of a meeting between city and county officials last week. The new system entails the movement of the city police dispatcher from city hall to the county sheriff's office in the courthouse where personnel will be on duty on a 24 hour basis. The police administrative office will remain in city hall, but there will be no dispatcher or emergency capability maintained.

A native of Slaton, Earl Kendrick joined the city force at Seagraves last week when he became director of works. Henry Thomas, long time city employee was named water and sewer superintendent.

Thirty-three of the best professional steer ropers in the county, including eight world champions and 32 of the nation's top cowboy and western artists will participate in the OS Ranch Benefit Steer Roping and Art Exhibit on a ranch 13 miles southeast of Post, Texas on Sept. 29-30.

A familiar sight in West Texas these days, as farmers work to harvest their grain crops. With prices at the elevator at all time highs, harvest at week's end should be nearing completion in many areas.

U.S. automobile industry has long stressed style, speed, power and a comfortable ride in selling cars. Rather far down the priority list in sales publicity has been miles per gallon.

Now the Environmental Protection Agency wants U.S. makers to list prominently on all new cars the miles they go on a gallon of gasoline. The EPA's interest is in reducing pollution through better milage (less gasoline burned), which can be achieved by more efficient engines and lighter automobiles.

Considering the fact that some of today's personal luxury models get only six or seven miles to a gallon, EPA is striking a blow not only against pollution but for the pocketbook of the consumer. U.S. makers should agree to the government request in the public interest, and prominently display milage performance date on new models.

Autumn, 1973

Late in the afternoon of September 22nd (11:21 p.m.) autumn arrives. And while some think of seasons in calendar months, autumn will last until early evening of the 21st of December.

Of all the seasons, autumn is by far the most nostalgic. If spring brings new life and warmth, autumn brings the end of a summer, of a growth cycle, of the hot summer days, of school holidays and many vacation freedoms. And it brings first hints of winter's harsh winds and bitter cold.

The fields turn brown or gold or tan and the trees switch to every color, yellow, red, orange, etc. Hunting begins in most areas, football causes many a heart to beat faster, food tastes better, one has more energy, the weather and skies are clearer and a walk outside among turning leaves and chill winds never fails to bring back memories of falls gone by.

September and October in more northerly states and October and November in more southerly latitudes bring about the most beautiful days of the year, for those who love fall. These are the months to prepare for winter, for Christmas, for the end of the calendar or tax year. For when autumn ends, there are only four days until Christmas and ten until 1974.

For The Hunter

This is a note to hunters in this area, to be heeded by all sportsmen. It concerns the preservation of wild life.

Too often in the past we have heard hunters boasting of killing more than their quota, of using unsportsmanlike methods to bring back game.

Those who persist in violating legal limits are guilty on two counts: the legal count and the sportsmanship count.

Naturally, it is impossible for game wardens and federal officials to discover every violation, especially when many occur on land owned by those breaking the law.

This editorial is an appeal to sportsmen to observe limits and the law. In the long run, such a policy will pay dividends to every hunter.

Equal Rights

Stung by setbacks in many states this year, leaders of various American women's action groups say they are launching a new campaign to win ratification of the so-called equal rights amendment to the Constitution by 1976.

Having originally targeted victory by this year, this is an admission of defeat, at least in the immediate future. What hurt the movement was the growing conviction by many women that the much publicized amendment would take away many special privileges they now enjoy. They then turned against political and sociological theorizing.

As a result, the amendment was defeated in eighteen states this year, and rescinded by one state (Nebraska) which had earlier passed it. Most Americans obviously have come to agree with the vast majority of less publicity minded women, represented by Phyllis Schlafly of Alton, Illinois, among others.

Mrs. Schlafly told reporters recently: "You have an occasional woman built like an Amazon but there aren't many," referring to heavy work. The military draft, the ending of the tradition that men should support their wives, the end of women's many special privileges, all seem to have doomed the idealistic sounding amendment, and rightly so; the sexes are different and laws can't change that fact.

The current Administration, through Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, is calling for all-out production of agricultural commodities in 1974 and is taking off almost all planting restrictions to that end.

In a nine day tour of western states Butz is proclaiming that prospective world supply-demand conditions will be such in 1974 that there is little risk of an oversupply bringing on a drastic drop in farm prices. Moreover, he says the Government, under the new farm program, is accepting a part of the price risk that does exist.

"And we have to agree with the Secretary on both counts," says Donald Johnson, executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock. "There are in fact strong indications that world demand for cotton, wheat and feed grains will continue to provide good markets, assuming no further government interference with exports. Therefore the risk of overproduction and disaster prices does not appear to be great.

Nevertheless there is a degree of risk, particularly in view of the market's dependence on foreign purchases," he adds. "And the Secretary is correct when he says the Government is accepting 'a part' of that risk. But farmers too will be accepting a great deal of risk, and the respective risks of each should be clearly understood."

For cotton, the Government assumes a part of the risk under the 1974 farm program in two ways. Producers, first, are guaranteed a "target price" for the production from allotted acreage (not total acreage). Second, the Government provides producers with a price support loan of 25.26 cents per pound, basis Middling-inch, 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire at average location, on all of their production.

The target price will be 38 cents per pound. Producer payments, in the event of a market break, will be the difference between this target and the average price paid to farmers for all cotton sold in 1974.

"This of course means," Johnson cautions, "that when a payment is involved farmers who sell their cotton for a price below the national average will have a total return below 38 cents."

Should cotton prices, nationally, hold at or above 38 cents, there would be no payment. In this even the most significant provision of the cotton program for next year would be the built-in insurance feature which protects producers against total financial loss in the event of weather-induced crop failure.

If producers are unable to plant because of drought, flood or other abnormal weather conditions, they will receive a payment of 11 2/3 cents per pound on the payment yield (projected yield) from their allotment.

Also, should abnormal weather after planting reduce total production from the farm to less than 66 2/3 percent of expected yield (payment yield times allotted acres), the producer will get the same payment rate per pound on the difference.

The producer's part of the risk is obvious. If the "target price" system will not provide total return equal to production costs, he is risking the amount of the deficiency on his allotted acreage. And if he overplants his allotment, he is risking the difference between the loan value of his crop and his cost of production.

"A somewhat similar situation exists for producers under the wheat and feed grains sections of the new law," Johnson says, "but so long as there is a clear understanding of the program, the producer has a good chance to make the right planting decisions."

"And in some instances farmers will have forward contract options on their crops, which will further aid the decision making process," he adds.

Tech Stuns New Mexico 41-7; Travels To UT This Week

by Joe Kelly

If anyone wants to be generous, Texas Tech is most welcome to be the recipient of any charity, the Red Raider football team that is. They made the most of handouts Saturday afternoon.

New Mexico, supposedly tougher than Utah and with the quarterback called by Coach Jim Carlen "probably the best quarterback we've faced since I've been here," didn't measure up. But then, when any teams gets down 14 points in 93 seconds, it's tough to play catchup.

Rudy Feldman, the personable Lobo coach, agreed. He pointed to Tech's maturity and poise, saying that "Tech just sat back and let us try to catch up, taking advantage of our mistakes. We have a young inexperienced team and things like that can happen."

Feldman didn't think the defense played as bad as 41 points would indicate and I tend to agree. After the joy of victory wears off a little, you look at the game in retrospect.

What I did was to look at Tech's success on third down situations, and the picture, with Texas coming up this week, is not assuring.

Tech had 15 third down plays. The Raiders scored one touchdown on 3rd and 8, picked up first downs on three situations of 3rd and 1, 3rd and 1, and 3rd and 7. Good! Four out of 15.

But, 11 times they couldn't make 5, 4, 3, 7, 6, 22, 3, 3, 9, 11, 4 yards. Generally, short yardage situations.

This echoes Carlen's complaint after the game that he was disappointed more in the offensive line than anything else. He wasn't singling out this year's line, but was analyzing Tech's progress in two years. The offensive line was the only place solid improvement hadn't been made.

At the same time, he thought that the offensive line played better against New Mexico than it did against Utah. Again, he said that New Mexico wasn't Utah, and neither are a Texas.

Now, here's Carlen at his press conference after the game. "I'm not smart enough to figure your psychology. I don't know if it (the Texas loss) made our players play any better. I don't know if it will make Texas players play any better next week against us. I leave all that to the experts. Texas is the same team you writers picked in the top five of the nation, the best in the conference. I guarantee you one thing, they won't fumble eight times against us, they won't make the same mistakes against us that they made against Miami. Leaks is a top offensive player. He's not going to be thrown for a loss and don't forget, that line is going to help him. To beat Texas, you've got to whip them in the line, and that's tough. They're big and strong."

"Something special for Texas? Oh, we'll put in a few new wrinkles this week. Their defense is a problem. We've faced two 5-2 defenses and now we have to face a split 6. That creates problems. We face the toughest three games in a row since I've been here—Texas, Oklahoma State, Texas A&M. I tell you, when we get through the next three weeks, we'll be experts on the wishbone. Diller was no Leaks and the New Mexico halfbacks don't block as well as the Texas halfbacks. There's no comparison between New Mexico and Texas. The difference between Utah and New Mexico? Utah was more mature. I still say they're going to beat a lot of folks this year. Our kickoff coverage was better tonight and our short yardage was better. But our offense is not consistent and I don't like that."

Carlen said that Joe Barnes, who got his bell rung pretty good, wasn't scheduled to play the second half Saturday anyway. "We planned to go with (Jimmy) Carmichael. He's a good quarterback and he needs to get the game experience."

Carlen also said that George Smith has been hurt by being out of action, that he needs to get his timing back and getting used to being hit. At the present, Freshman Larry Isaac of Estacado is the only healthy tailback

Tech has (out of four).

Off football and to Willie "Say Hey" Mays, one of the alltime great baseball players. Willie's aches and pains finally caught up with him and he announced his retirement last week.

Willie Mays was a credit to the game, to sports. He will never be forgotten and his enshrinement in the Hall of Fame is only a matter of waiting the necessary five years. I hate to see him leave. He was one of the most colorful players in an age when color is going out of baseball.

Lubbock-Gets-In Dept.: In the October Field and Stream is an article, "Camping" by Steve

If anyone ever tells you lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place, don't you believe it, especially if it's at Jones Stadium and in consecutive football games.

The type of lightning that struck Utah in Texas Tech's opening game, struck in the first minute and 33 seconds of its second contest. The Red Raiders joyfully accepted it and used two quick scores to beat New Mexico 41-7.

What happened was this: on New Mexico's opening kick-off, Lawrence Williams was stopped at the Tech 15, not the best field position. But the Lobos were offside and kicked again. This time Williams had fortune smiling. He started upfield, got some blocking, cut to his left, shook off a tackler and raced 95 yards to score with 19 seconds gone.

On Tech's kickoff, Robert Davis fumbled and Greg Waters recovered at the 26. Three plays later, Joe Barnes found Williams cutting over the middle and connected, with the swift Wichita Falls runner stretching the final five yards for the score.

In all, Tech scored four touchdowns in two games in the total time of 5 minutes, 13 seconds.

The Lobos started to come back from a 14-0 deficit, but Don Woods fumbled when hit at the Tech 26 and Aubrey McCain pounced on the first of his two recoveries at the Raider 12.

Tech didn't score on that possession, but it drove 44 yards on eight plays for its third first quarter touchdown, which came as James Mosley broke to the goal, fumbled and Andre Tillman took the errant pigskin for a six-pointer.

After that Tech notched six

Netherby. On page 162, under the subheading "Legs" is this... "This year I'm also going to try a scheme that a friend of mine, Dr. John Baker of Dallas, Texas, uses to strengthen himself for the backpacking season. John bought two 20-pound weight vests from an outfit called Elmer's Weights in Lubbock, Texas."

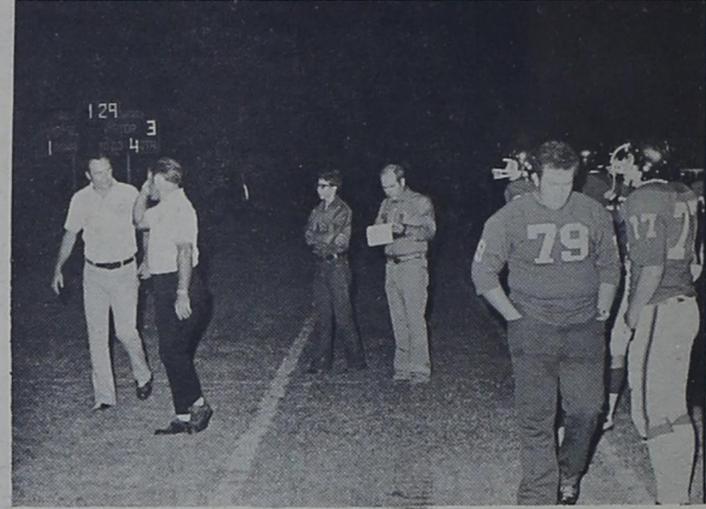

Aside to State Rep. Elmer Tarbox: Hey, Elmer, looks like the fame of the weights is spreading. My oldest son bought ankle weights and I've used them, too. They're great!

points on a pair of 41-yard field goals by Don Grimes, who also had a perfect five for five extra points to run his string to 56 without a miss; a one-yard run by Jimmy Carmichael for a tally; and a 2-yard smash by Mosley.

It hardly matters, but the Lobos averted a whitewash when tackle Edgar Bell fell on Randy Olson's fumbled punt in the Raider end zone with 6:43 left in the game.

This week the Raiders find out how real they are when they tackle Texas in Austin before some 80,000 fans. It will be the first conference game of the year and, while Tech has all the incentive it needs, the Longhorns should be like a hive of angry bees. They were upset by Miami, 20-15, in their opener Friday night and, to paraphrase the commercial, it's not nice to fool Mother Royal.

Mustangs Drop Heartbreaker to New Deal Friday Night

The scoreboard tells the story Friday night, with 1 min, 29 sec left to play, the score is 3-0, and that's how the game ended, with the Mustangs losing a close one.

Despite the heroics of Bobby James, Shallowater fell to the New Deal Lions Friday night, 3-0, and now look forward to this week's game against Sudan.

James picked up 63 yards on 18 tries for the Mustangs in their losing effort against New Deal and it seemed as though the rugged fullback was going to pull victory out of defeat almost by himself.

But footballs take funny bounces and it was a not so hilarious one that cost the Mustangs victory. Shallowater had staged a 65-yard drive for what appeared to be a game winning march. But a back fumbled into the end zone and a New Deal player claimed the errant ball to stymie the Mustangs.

Bill Bingham's 31-yard field goal, with two minutes left in the first half, were the only points in the game and evened both teams' records at 1-2.

Shallowater showed offensive heft, smashing New Deal's defenses for 186 rushing yards and adding 63 yards through the air.

Home Highlights

by Jewel Robinson

Mrs. J.K. Wright of 310 Avenue I has shared with us a new relish recipe or at least its new to me. This recipe sounds good and it is a unique way of using zucchini squash. Thank you Mrs. Wright for sharing this recipe with Hockly County:

Squash Relish

10 cups unpeeled zucchini cut in chunks for soaking
4 cups onions
3 to 4 bell peppers, chopped
1 red pepper, chopped or 1 can pimentoes
5 tablespoons salt

Cover the above with cold water and soak overnight. Next morning drain and rinse in water. Then grind squash and onions and add:

4 1/2 cups sugar
2 1/2 cups apple cider vinegar
1 tablespoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons tumeric
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons celery salt
1 teaspoon nutmeg

1 tablespoon black pepper
Pour vinegar solution over relish and cook 30 minutes.

Tweedy Texans

Autumn northers blowing in will find tweed-clad Texans. Tweed fabric surfaces are big news, according to Mrs. Robinson, County Extension Agent.

Fabrics and garments currently available in Texas stores indicate this new fashion emphasis for Fall and Winter '73.

Named for the Tweed River in Scotland where first produced, today's tweeds include an assortment of light to heavy weight, rough textured, sturdy fabrics.

Although originally a woven woolen fabric, they're currently available in a wide variety of fibers and blends, offering ease of care and a wide range of styling possibilities. There's a cost for every pocketbook, plus a natural look and hand.

Traditionally, tweeds are characterized by their mixed color effect, such as Donegal tweeds. They also may be the same color, checked, plaid, striped and patterned.

Tweeds combine well with other patterns since their subtle coloring is easily repeated, producing a unified effect.

Tweeds tailor exceptionally well in suits and sportswear for both men and women.

This fabric offers "plus" features for every individual if selected accordingly. Depending on boldness, it projects self confidence and sophistication. Tweed texture can minimize figure faults and irregularities. For example, texture dullness absorbs light, reducing effect of size. Bulkier tweeds, on the other hand, become slender figures. However, petite persons should not choose an extremely large scale tweed since the contrast would be overpowering.

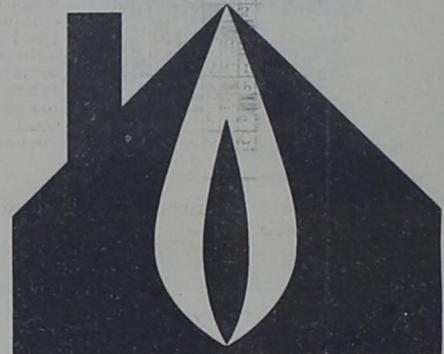

When in doubt of the overall effect or appearance, stand in front of a mirror and hold the garment or fabric to your body in the area it will be worn. Does it make you appear larger or smaller?

Observe effects on the skin and eyes when worn near the face. Coarse or fine features can be complemented by the proper textured tweed. Avoid extreme contrasts and similarities.

A Natural Energy Home uses natural gas for heating, cooling, water heating, cooking and clothes drying to save you money and help conserve our cleanest natural energy resource . . . natural gas.

That's because electricity in West Texas is generated by burning natural gas, and in the process of generating and transmitting electricity to your home, 2/3 of the gas energy is lost.

So, by using gas directly in the home for the jobs it can do, you're helping to conserve it and you're getting more energy for your money.
