

Football Season Gets Underway Friday

The Shallowater Mustangs football season gets underway Friday, August 20th, against Meadow. The Mustangs will have a controlled scrimmage at Meadow, beginning at 5:00 p.m. This will wind up two weeks of two-a-day workouts for the Mustangs in which Coach Ed Wolskie is looking forward to the first test for his young Mustangs. All Mustang boosters are invited to attend and help back the Mustang team.

The program for the 1976-77 school term consists of 47 players. David Montieth is out for six weeks with a broken leg and Ricky Barron has a broken finger and is idle. There are three seniors, eight juniors, twelve sophomores, one freshman, and twenty-four varsity players.

Coach Wolski stated Tuesday morning, "Over all we are looking pretty good. We need to execute some more. Our line is a lot better than last year. Jesse Longoria is looking good at quarterback and freshman Pete Alvarado is looking good at back. Our receivers, Steve Waller and Lance Giles, are also looking real good. He said, "We have changed our defense this year and right now, we are looking pretty good."

Wolski went on to say, "Over all I am pleased with our offense and defense. I think the kids are picking up things quicker this year than they did last year. We are real excited about our new offense and defense. The kids are looking real good. I am proud of them."

The football coaching staff includes Wolski; Coach Baker, coaching backs and secondary; Coach Tubb, offense co-ordinator, coaching quarterback and linebackers, and the new coach, Leland Casey, handling the 2's and receivers.

New Coach, Leland Casey, Joins SHS Mustang Staff

Leland Casey has joined the football coaching staff for the Mustangs of Shallowater Schools and is eagerly looking forward to a great year with the present staff and team members.

A graduate of Texas Tech University with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Health and Physical Education, Casey is an avid sportsman, having participated in all sports while in high school at Odessa. His senior year he was chosen as the most outstanding young man of the month in Texas.

He was a blue chipper and was one of the most highly recruited football players in the state and could have received a scholarship in each sport event, but chose a favorite, football. Following three knee operations, he was sidelined and only played on specialty teams at Texas Tech University.

A baptist, Coach Casey is single and will be teaching Health and American History, will be head tennis coach and will be coaching the 2's and receivers.

The school system is indeed fortunate to have a young man with Casey's capabilities to join the school program for the 1976-77 term.

New Band Director for Shallowater School System

Looking forward to a great year in the Shallowater band program is the new band director, Eddie Hankins, who moved his family from Loraine School District into their new residence at 1003 Ave. L this week in preparation for the 1976-77 school term.

Born and reared in Lubbock, Hankins graduated from Lubbock High School in 1965. He attended Lubbock Christian College from 1965 to 1967 and enrolled in West Texas State University in the fall of 1967. He attended Sunset School of Preaching from 1968 to 1970 and Texas Tech University in 1971 where he received his Bachelor of Science Degree in Music Education in 1972. He was awarded a Master's Degree from Sul Ross State University this year. He has been band director at Loraine for the past four years.

Members of the Church of Christ, he and his wife, Gayle, have a two and one half year old son, Scott. Mrs. Hankins has a Bachelor of Science Degree in elementary education from Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

Consisting of approximately 100 students, Hankins stated he was looking forward to a great year with the Mustang Band. There is around 55 junior high band members and 50 in elementary, making a total of over 200 students enrolled for Hankins to direct. We welcome the Hankins family to the town of Shallowater and its school district and know you will have a great year with the band.

Shallowater City Council Holds Monthly Meeting

At a monthly meeting of the Shallowater City Council, La Von Meauley of the Shallowater volunteer fire department met with city council members to discuss the situation existing since Lubbock will no longer provide fire protection outside of the county.

In other business Ralph Douglas, city engineer, explained what will be involved in the paving of Ave. H between 12th and 13th Streets. He said that the city will pay a portion of the cost while the property owners will carry most of the burden in cost for the paving.

C.E. Pair met with the city council to explain the coverage and review insurance on city hall.

The yearly report on the audit by Mason, Nichols and Warner, a CPA firm was accepted and approved.

It was also discussed how much will be charged to property owners when the city mows weeds in vacant lots.

New hours for city Hall were approved. The office will now be open from 8-12 and 1-5.

Lubbock County Farmers 2nd in Cotton Production

Lubbock County farmers placed second in 1975 Texas cotton production with a crop of some 136,700 bales, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reported.

County farmers harvested 245,800 acres averaging 267 pounds per acre.

Planting for the state reached completion in late June about two weeks ahead of schedule, and excellent moisture and good growing conditions promised an outstanding crop in the southern part of the state. Relatively cool, cloudy weather kept growth and development behind schedule in the rest of the state, and by early September, stands in the north and western areas were two to four weeks behind schedule.

In mid-September, a cold, wet front followed by rapidly rising temperatures shocked most fields on the High Plains causing widespread defoliation. This effectively stopped growth and development and resulted in one of the poorest quality crops in recent years.

Regular classes, beginning at 8:15 a.m. Friday (tomorrow), will officially kick off the 1976-77 term for the Shallowater School system.

Buses will run in order that students will arrive on campus between 8:05 and 8:10 a.m., departing for the return route home at 3:10 in the afternoons.

The faculty has been attending in-service training since Monday in preparation for the first day of school.

The first holiday for the 1976-77 school term will be observed Labor Day, Sept. 6th.

A complete list of the faculty in elementary, junior high and high school was published in last weeks issue of Suburban Today.

Charles Hohertz is Superintendent of Schools, Beryl Harris is high school principal, Randy Barnes, junior high principal and Don G. Morris, elementary principal with around 750 students in the system.

SPORTS

by Joe Kelly

You thought it was still summer because the temperatures have been staying in the high 90s. Boy, how could you be so wrong. It's gotta be fall; football practice has started.

The Red Raiders of Texas Tech have their first workouts today and the work is going to be intensive. Three times a day the Raiders are going to don armor and do battle. That's enough to test the best conditioned players.

Tech's gridders reported for physicals Tuesday night, prepared for action Wednesday and get with it today. Workouts will be at 8 a.m., 11 a.m. and 5 p.m.

That gives them one workout in relatively cool weather, another in temperatures somewhat warmer and the third in the heat of the day. If that doesn't get them in condition, nothing will. And conditioning wins games in December as well as September.

"We think it will work out just fine," John Cropp said. "They'll get about the same workout time as in two-a-days but it should create a little better work. Sure, it's three workouts, but they'll only be about an hour each."

John agreed that the squad needs heat in which to work so that it can be conditioned. And, if you'll remember, the 1975 Tech squad was a well conditioned team.

"We're eager to get started," John said. "We're looking forward to this season. We're better organized and we have a pretty good idea of what the players we have can do."

John also allowed as to how the coaches were excited about opening drills. They want to see how much the players have grown, what kind of shape they're in, etc.

It's hoped that the anticipation of the coaches will be echoed by the players. And there's no reason to think that it won't. Even the biggest, dumbest lineman—that's no insult, linemen, I was one, too—knows that Tech has the offensive potential.

In fact, it's doubtful that the Raiders have had so many good offensive players, both backs and linemen, as they have for this campaign. And offense can win ball games.

As the Raiders embark on the 1976 campaign, the biggest worry remains defense. The Raiders put points on the board against everyone they played last year. There's nothing that would lead anyone to think they won't do the same this year.

Defense would have made the difference in two games last season, it might have made the difference in a third. The chances are good, though, that the defense will be improved.

This year's schedule, in some ways, is more demanding than 1975. Last year Tech had two relatively easy games, then had to face super tough teams like Texas, Oklahoma State, Texas A&M and Arizona in succession. The Raiders lost all four, should have had a split.

This year's schedule, as mentioned, is more demanding in a different way. The Raiders have a real bear by the tail in the opener, meeting a double tough Colorado team.

But that's just the opener. The next three games are on the road. And three of the first five games are of the non-conference variety, which helps. The league games are A&M and Rice—on the road and in succession.

It's also strange in that Tech plays a game, has an open date, plays again and has another open date. After that there isn't another break in the schedule that ends Dec. 4.

Five of the last seven games, including power Texas and mystery team Houston, are at home. That should help. But usual jinx Arkansas, for the second year, is on the road.

John Cropp agreed that it was a curious schedule, but he pointed out that Houston's coming into play forced a lot of re-arrangement and adjustment in schedules. It will take a year or two to straighten things out for everyone.

But for now, the important thing is that the 1976 football season is right around the corner. Which reminds me that you should need no urging to buy your tickets now, if you have failed to remember to do that.

The season starts with the Buffaloes here three weeks from Saturday. That doesn't leave much time. And everything points to Steve Sloan & Co. giving fans one of the more exciting seasons. You'd better plan to be there.

Bill Morgan and Brooks Tinsley have produced the latest Southwest Conference roster and record book. It's another in a long series of masterpieces, complete with schedules and information that any real football fan should have.

You can buy a copy of the same book that is a must in the library of every sports writer. Just send $3 to: Southwest Athletic Conference, Box 7185, Dallas, Tex., 75209. You'll be glad you did.

More, later, on the usual fine record book that Ralph Carpenter produced at Tech. You'll want one, too.

Free Lunches to Be Offered in Schools this Year

The Shallowater School serves nutritious meals every school day. Students may buy lunch for 55 cents, breakfast for 20 cents, and extra milk for 6 cents.

Children from families whose income is at or below levels shown on the attached scale are eligible for free or reduced-price meals. If the children are eligible for free meals they are also eligible for free extra milk. The reduced price for lunch is 20 cents and for breakfast 10 cents. If your income is greater than those shown, but you have unusually high medical bills, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of your income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, or disaster or casualty losses, your children may still be eligible.

The school children of parents or guardians who become unemployed are eligible for free or reduced-price meals and free milk during the period of unemployment, provided that the loss of income causes the family income during the period of unemployment to be at or below the levels shown on the scale.

To apply at any time during the year for free meals and free milk or reduced-price meals for your children, complete the attached application and return it to the school. Within ten days of receiving your application, the school will let you know whether or not your children are eligible. If you do not agree with the school's decision you have a right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing: Charles R. Hohertz, P.O. Box 220, Shallowater, Tx. 79363, Ph. 832-4531.

In certain cases foster children are also eligible for these benefits. If you have foster children living with you and wish to apply for such meals and milk for them, please notify us or indicate it on the application.

All children are treated the same regardless of ability to pay. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, or national origin.

If we can be of any further assistance or if your family size or income changes during the year, please contact the school.

Cancer Victim Continues to Enjoy Life in Shallowater

Standing in front of his service station, Ben Houchin waits for his customers.

by Janice Jarvis

Fourteen years ago Ben Houchin discovered he had cancer of the larynx. After surgery he returned to his job at his service station knowing he would never say "hello" to a customer again. He would have to write it.

Houchin suffered for over a year before having surgery, although he admits that he felt no pain. The only symptom was a loss of appetite and a very miserable feeling.

Before the surgery doctors told Houchin that he would be able to talk again but during the 11-hour surgery many nerves were cut and Houchin's tongue is now paralyzed. "I can't talk because I can't form words," explained Houchin.

Despite his inability to talk, Houchin communicates with everyone by writing on a notebook pad. He is active in church and often walks 4 to 5 blocks to attend services with his wife, Reba.

Because his tongue is paralyzed, he cannot eat his food in the traditional manner. Instead, he must have his food blended. The swallowing muscles in his throat were cut during surgery making it impossible to eat or taste foods. In addition, his sense of smell was destroyed. Despite the side effects of the surgery, Houchin eats everything and imagines the taste of each food. Unfortunately, he sometimes does crave some foods when he is very hungry.

Every morning Houchin drives his bicycle to the gas station and occasionally his wife rides with him.

Married since 1918, Houchin and his wife have seven children. "I have too many grand children to count," he wrote and then chuckled. He said he believes that his wife is not bothered by his inability to talk and he manages to communicate with her with little trouble.

To pass the hours between customers at his gas station and grocery store, Houchin whittles. He considers working every day his hobby.

Houchin often uses his bicycle to drive to friends houses for visits. "I go to see sick folks and ask how they are," he explained.

He also likes to watch baseball and the news on television. He rarely leaves Shallowater except for his yearly visit to a doctor.

Although the adjustment after the operation was very difficult Houchin said that people in Shallowater helped him because they understood why he couldn't talk. He has never suffered with any pain either before or after the operation.

Houchin said he has no intention to retire and doesn't want a big business but enough to make a living. He said he thinks keeping busy is important to him. If he retired he would not be able to visit people, as he does now at the station. He also enjoys visits from his children.

Although Houchin did not know how sick he was when he had cancer, he warns other people that they should take care of their health. "I didn't feel sick, before they found the cancer," he said.

Now, despite his inability to talk, Houchin said he feels good, and takes no medication.

"I'm thankful for my health and my family," he explained. "I think we must serve the Lord and be happy, after all, things could be much worse," he added.

"Extension Update"

LIFE IS A LEARNING EXPERIENCE---Daily routines for an adult can be exciting experience for a young child.

In a young child's eyes, every activity, situation, pleasure and disappointment represents a new opportunity for growth and learning.

Far too often, families and teachers become too caught up with their own problems and responsibilities to take advantage of all the opportunities they have to broaden their child's experiences.

Children derive untold pleasures when allowed to "help" adults, especially their parents. Each experience they participate in helps build a strong self-concept-it tells them, "Yes, I can do that." It also enables the child to develop independence and a sense of accomplishment. Parents would also notice a decline in disciplinary problems, for a child who is occupied and not bored is less likely to be disruptive.

Parents need not be educated in child development to implement these concepts. The keys to success are imagination and creativity. Here are some possibilities.

--Let your child help with meals, setting the table, cracking eggs, turning pancakes, putting dishes away.

--At the post office, children can lick stamps, seal letters and put them in the mail box.

--At the grocery store, children can lead the cart, pick out items, pay the cashier, and collect the stamps.

--Children also like to push elevator buttons, dial telephones, clean bathrooms and run simple errands.

--An old stump or piece of wood can be used to hammer, saw, and drill holes. They may be handy with a broom or rake (though they may not be up to your standards, it is the experience that counts).

Consumer Update

(1) A hammock can be washed without coming off the tree or stand from which it is suspended. A brush, sudsy water and lots of scrubbing will do the job. Be sure to wash both sides, rinse with the hose--dry in a breeze.

(2) What is cottage cheese? It is the solid part of milk--the drained and washed curd of skim milk. It is a concentrated form of milk because one pound of cottage cheese contains as much protein as two quarts (four pounds) of milk.

(3) Eating alone is more fun if you set the table with a perky place mat, your best dishes and flatware and beside a sunny window.

(4) Dampen the brush on a carpet sweeper before using to pick up ravel and lint.

(5) The word "infant" comes from the Latin word for "without language." Because one does not possess language until one has acquired the use of its structure, a child is an infant through most of his second year.

Sheridan's Ride

by Jack Sheridan

There is a not bad, interesting film at the Arnett-Benson Theater out on University called "The Sell Out." This picture, filmed in Israel to fine effectiveness, stars veteran Richard Widmark, Oliver Reed and Gayle Hunnicutt in a tale of a man desperately seeking help because, having defected to Russia, both sides have a contract out on his life.

The theme is that there is only waste in killing for one's country. The picture is not a great one but it has fine photography of the Middle East locale and some good performances. It is rated PG and runs for 88 minutes.

Out at the Backstage Theater in the same area is a Canadian-made film, "The Breaking Point." This one stars Bo Svenson and Robert Culp and harks back to the revenge films, such as "Walking Tall" and "Death Wish." It is the story of a witness being marked for death by the Mafia. When the police prove inadequate in the field of protection, Svenson must take matters in his own hands and fight crime.

The film's not too tightly put together and while Svenson and Culp do as well as they can, the rest of the cast just meanders along. The picture is rated R and runs 92 minutes.

Along with rats and other denizens of the rodent, reptile and insect worlds and their invasion of human habitation, now comes a creepy little number about some rampaging sand worms in the Georgia inland.

The picture is called "Squirm," happily enough, and tells of an electrical storm that knocks down power lines and sends the juice into wet mud, forcing the 10 to 18 inch worms to flee. These little babies are hungry, resentful and angry. The film claims credibility through an actual occurrence in 1975 in Georgia. For what it is, "Squirm" is not all that bad. It rates an R and runs 93 minutes. It's at the South Plains Mall Cinemas I-II.

For the past couple of weeks or so, Burt Reynolds has been holding forth as the robust hero of a film called "Gator" at the big Winchester. This is a followup to a prior film of Reynolds' called "White Lightning." There is action of a sort, choppy sequences and some raw humor. Incidentally, Burt Reynolds makes his directing bow in this one, but the accomplishment is dubious and does nothing to help his screen image, either. Jack Weston, Alice Ghostley and Laren Hutton help out, but the whole venture is on the ho-hum side. Rated PG and goes for 115 minutes.

There is a rare and fun date for all kids and grownups at no admission charge set for the Community Room of the Mahon Public Library downtown on Saturday. At 9:15, 10:15 and 11:15 a.m. there will be performances of Tom Tichenor's Puppets in "Hansel and Gretel."

Tichenor, who is author, artist and professional puppeteer, is in town to conduct a workshop for the Children's Department under the Federal Grant Program to share children's literature through puppetry.

Tichenor is widely known nationally through his shows on WNBC-TV in New York, on radio and with the Broadway musical "Carnival." He was director of children's programs on National Educational Television in Memphis, Tenn. and has been for the last nine years a member of the children's staff of Nashville Tennessee Public Library. There his puppets are a part of the weekly story hour programs and he also performs in the larger Marionette Theatre which bears his name. He is the author of five books on puppetry.

I think you'll find Tom Tichenor and his superb craft both interesting and entertaining. That's Saturday morning at the Mahon Library and it's for free.

I sat no little irritated the other night watching the film version of the Broadway musical "Paint Your Wagon." Heavens, this film was and is an unforgivable bastardization of a fine stage piece, a caricature of the original to accommodate three box office stars, Lee Marvin, pitiful in an embarrassing wig, Clint Eastwood, who is out of his class in an A film, and Iowa's Jean Seberg, founding in the mire.

Only the music survives and that out of context. "Paint Your Wagon" as a movie is the most counterfeit film treatment of a genuine American musical that I have had the misfortune to witness. Paramount films and the ABC network that screened it the other night should hang their heads in shame. The film was so sadly inferior to the gentle Broadway production with James Barton that I remember so warmly and well. Aiming for box office receipts (which fell short of expectations) "Paint Your Wagon, film version, utilized the merciless expansion of the wide screen and is guilty of casting and "dubbing" of name actors and plot expansion that destroys the original intent and concept of the whole.

Next week well be talking about the new Hayloft Dinner Theater play, just opening. It is "10 Little Indians" a tried and true whodunit from the pen of the late Agatha Christie. It'll be at the rustic dinner theater through Sept. 18.

Down at the Lubbock Theatre Centre Playhouse on Ave. P these days Director J. Richard Waite is putting his just-cast performers through rehearsals of the musical "George M!," in preparation for the season opener which will play Sept. 24-28, Sept. 30-Oct. 2. In the title role will be Wayne Jennings. On the 1976-77 slate for LTC also are Tennessee Williams' "Period of Adjustment" in November, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" in February, the musical "I Do, I Do" in April and the concluding "Dark at the Top of the Stairs" in May.

By now you know that the Panhandle South Plains Fair is almost upon us again. This will be the 59th edition and in the Fair Park Coliseum the show line-up looks most promising for the country western fans. Always a winner, Charley Pride opens the weeklong run on Sept. 26. He is followed by Freddy Fender and Barbara Mandrell, Sept. 27-28; Charlie Rich, Sept. 29-30; and veteran Neil Sadaka on Oct. 1-2.
