

Harvest Festival Grand Marshal Chosen

Lovely and vivacious Miss Jamie Myers was crowned the homecoming queen in half-time ceremonies at the Shallowater-New Deal game Friday night. Jamie is a senior student at SHS. Runner-ups were Barbara Thomas and Shelly Adams.

TV character, Dub Bowlus of Channel 11 who, when he is not trying to outguess our West Texas weather, likes to read mystery novels and listen to country and western music has been selected to serve as the parade marshal for the Annual Shallowater Lions Club Harvest Festival that gets underway here on Oct. 8, with a parade down the main part of town at 10:00.

A native Baird, Bowlus began radio and television work in Abilene, joining KCBD-TV in 1960. He and his wife, Jean, who is in real estate, have two children, Barry, a high school graduate, and a daughter, Shari, still in school.

The Lions Club members have a full day of events scheduled for the festival with prizes given for the best floats and prizes also for the best decorated bicycles-tricycles and three wheel bicycles.

The parade committee is urging everyone to enter the parade with floats with a prize of $25, $15 and $10 respectively for the most original float. Make plans now and begin working on a float for the parade. There will be prize money of $10-$7.50 and $5.00 for the best decorated bicycle in the parade, and something new has been added this year when a first, second and third prize will be given for the best clown costume.

Riding Club groups are especially invited to attend and enter the parade.

A delicious bar-b-que dinner with all the trimmings will be served by the members at noon. Price will be announced next week. There will be various games and entertainment throughout the afternoon and evening.

Highlighting the evening will be the crowning of the Lions Club Queen and Princess that will reign until the 1978 festival when new ones will be crowned. A picture of all the entrants will be published in next weeks issue of Suburban Today.

Make plans now to attend the all day event.

Crop Prices, Set-Aside To Affect '78 Plantings

COLLEGE STATION—Recent changes in relative prices for wheat, feedgrains and cotton and the newly announced wheat set-aside add new elements to producers' 1978 planting decisions.

"In making cropping decisions, producers should recognize the available alternatives under the new program, market price expectations, and relative production costs for their particular situations," contend Dr. Ronald Knutson and Roland Smith, economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Under the new farm program (assuming final enactment) producers will be required to set-aside 20 percent of their wheat acreage if they are to have the advantage of the price support loan, target price and disaster payment provisions of the bill, point out the economists. The loan rate for wheat will be $2.35 per bushel in 1978. The wheat target price will be $3 per bushel if total U.S. production in 1978 is more than 1.8 billion bushels and $3.05 if production is less. This year's production is estimated at 2.03 billion bushels.

Knutson and Smith list two options for a producer within the set-aside provisions. One choice is that he can set-aside 20 percent of his 1977 acreage; then he will be guaranteed a deficiency payment on his planted acreage based on the $3 or $3.05 target price. For example, if a producer planted 500 acres of wheat in 1977 and 500 acres of cotton, he could reduce wheat plantings in 1978 to 400 acres, retain cotton at 500 acres and set-aside 100 acres.

A second option is that he can reduce his wheat planting by less than 20 percent or even increase plantings, but set aside 20 percent of his 1978 wheat acreage. Again, assuming that a producer planted 500 acres of wheat and 500 acres of cotton in 1977, he could plant 200 acres of cotton, 640 acres of wheat, and set-aside 160 acres of land in 1978. If this option is chosen, the producer is only assured of receiving a deficiency payment on 80 percent of his wheat acreage planted for harvest. Of course, the program is voluntary and a set-aside is not mandatory, but the loss of loan, target price and disaster payment provisions would result from non-compliance.

Which option should a producer choose in 1978?

"With the announced grain reserve program and the fact that the set-aside program is only expected to reduce wheat production about 10 percent, we anticipate that, with normal weather, market prices for wheat

KELLY'S HEROES

By Joe Kelly

A stranger, walking into Jones Stadium Saturday night, could have been forgiven if, at the half, he had asked, is the team in white the eighth-ranked team in the nation?

It would have been a fair question for, except for two drives, Texas Tech didn't look like a champion. Tech looked more like an ordinary, average, run-of-the-mill team. Meanwhile, the Lobos executed sharply on offense and turned in strong defensive work.

The Raiders were looking ahead to the Aggie game, right? Undoubtedly this entered into it. No matter what anyone says, it had to be on the minds of every football player. That's THE game.

At the same time, don't fault New Mexico. The Lobos came here intent on winning. They picked at weak spots. They probed and struck. They had Tech off-balance. And, defensively, they stopped just about everything Tech did, until late in the half.

Fortunately, a few things were accomplished at the half and it was a different game after that. In fact, just reading the score, anyone could be forgiven for thinking it was a rout all the way.

The Raiders came back to execute offensively much better, while the defense found itself. Tech piled up 316 yards total offense the last half and held the Lobos to only 84. And that pretty well tells the story of Tech's resurgence.

"I don't think I've ever seen such a turnaround game," Coach Steve Sloan said afterwards.

Steve said that even he had doubts about which team was nationally ranked in the first half.

"They came here with a good game plan and they did a good job of executing it," he declared. "We made some adjustments at the half and fortunately we were able to move the ball, as well as getting some breaks."

It was a big win for Tech, because this is New Mexico's annual "bowl" game and the Lobos play above their heads. They played well, but Tech superiority finally asserted itself.

The game did provide some useful information to the Raiders. They found that there is a need to work on the kicking game, particularly kickoff returns, where the Lobos managed to get good field position. And pass defense left quite a lot to be desired.

Fortunately, the game is behind the 2-0 Raiders. They can concentrate now on Texas A&M, which hasn't played up to its potential in the first two games. Indeed, the Aggies may well have toyed with two opponents, looking ahead to this week's battle.

The Aggies haven't had to be too potent to beat Kansas and Virginia Tech. They've had a chance to work on polishing and getting offense and defense ready.

It promises to be a game to remember. The Raiders will have to be a better club than it showed in the first half and, as Sloan said, "we'll have to make the big plays again."

Asked how this Tech team compares with last year's eleven, he opined that he thought they were about the same. He also expressed concern about big George Woodard, all "252 pounds of him."

AP's Mike Cochran said "you're about 30 pounds too light, coach," to which Sloan replied "282? Man alive, I don't know if we've got anyone who can stop him," as he raised his eyebrows.

Overall, the conference had another good week and Texas caused some rumbling with its second consecutive shutout and a big score, 68-0, over Virginia.

Arkansas also created conversation by shutting down Oklahoma State, a good football team, while Penn State's victory over a good Houston team was no major surprise.

"I'm sure it hurt Houston to play on Monday and then have a Saturday game," Sloan declared. "Especially when it was on the road. It might have made a difference to play at home."

The league now is 10-4-0 through two weeks with some top games on tap. The biggest, of course, is the Aggie-Tech clash. Baylor goes to Nebraska, winner over Alabama, while TCU is at Southern Cal.

For a time there was hope that the Tech-Aggie game might be on TV, but it apparently went by the boards. The Raiders may have caught the attention of sports writers, but ABC doesn't seem to have gotten the message. Wait until they get stung Dec. 3.

After the formal post-game conference had ended, Steve Sloan answered more questions of a general nature and one concerned the 30-player limit.

"I think it's the best rule they ever passed," he declared. He went on to say that he thought it would tend to equalize teams more.

"I predict that you'll see more upsets," he said. "I wouldn't be surprised to see 10 or more each week. It will help the weak teams become stronger, it will help the middle group and it will keep the top group from getting too strong."

The limit, of course, will prevent stockpiling of players to stop them going somewhere else and injuries will tend to keep schools more equal. It will be interesting.

Jay Stanton Administrator of Ray of Hope

By FRANK COATS
Staff Writer

Jay Stanton is a solemn man, who weighs his words to make sure the listener understands him right. He carefully oversees any notes taken and smiles with a calm benevolence when asked to repeat something.

Stanton is a Shallowater cotton farmer, living here with his wife and three daughters. But he and his wife Pat have what some may term a hobby, others may term an avocation and still others may say is a call: The Ray of Hope Prayer Ministry, Inc.

Stanton and wife Pat established Ray of Hope in early 1975. It started as a prayer and counseling service, eventually branching out into television and hospital visitations. Pat is the only Stanton on TV, and Jay, chairman of the Board of Directors, is the administrator of Ray of Hope.

Their television ministry evolved from Pat's appearance on "Lay Witness," a religious program shown on Sunday afternoons, about two years ago. "I shared about our office and our work," she said, and the Stantons received a "lot of calls" in response to the appearance.

Because of the response, they felt that television was their next step in carrying out their religious work.

The man who ran the "Lay Witness" program felt it was time for him to leave the air, and there was an opening available for a new show. The Stantons filled that opening with their show, which Pat says is a "different concept" from "Lay Witness."

Pat describes the program as a 30 minute religious program, with lots of testimonies geared to help people to have faith and believe that they can be helped with any problem. She advocates peace and healing for the total being—spiritual and physical.

The show is shown locally on Channel 13 and on cable Channel 39 out of Dallas. Pat goes to Dallas once a month to tape four shows, and the local station uses these tapes, Jay said.

"We just want to help other people as God has helped us," Pat said.

"I believe in doing whatever you do the best you can and committing the results to the Lord," Jay said.

Marriage Vows Repeated

The Jack DuLaney home provided the setting Monday night, for members of the Church that wished too, to recite the marriage vows over again, bonding them closer together as man and wife, with the pastor, Rev. Boyd Pearce presiding over the original vows, led by Bro. Boyd and his lovely wife, Syd.

The "Wedding Prayer" was presented beautifully by the music director, Robert Cooper with Mrs. Tommy Pointer leading the discussion on the "Values of Christian Marriage."

Couples participating were Messrs and Mesdames L.E. McMenemy, Jack DuLaney, Tommy Pointer, Bill Johnson, Mike Johnson, Hap Covington, John Anglin, Bill Masten, Boyd Pearce and the music director, Robert Cooper, who is still single and for reasons unknown (but vowing he will catch the culprit) went to his car to go home and found some one had painted "Just Married" on all the car windows.

One of our dearest couples who has celebrated 63 years of happy wedded bliss, the McMenemy's were presented and repeated the vows, that brought happy memories back to them (we are sure) of that special day, so many years ago when they walked the isle to join them together as man and wife.

Meeting on Field Storage of Cotton To be Held Sept. 26

Field storage of cotton will be the featured topic of a public meeting at 2:30 p.m. Monday, September 26, at the South Plains Electric Co-op in Lubbock.

The large cotton crop in this area will prolong the ginning season, causing increased exposure of cotton to weathering losses unless field storage is used. Steps to protect the lint and seed that is stored in the field are inexpensive insurance policies.

The program will feature discussions on techniques of moduling and ricking cotton, economics of field storage, and preservation of quality in stored cotton by specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Reeds Visit Son in Seattle

Mr. and Mrs. Jack J. Reed returned home Thursday from visiting their son, Mr. and Mrs. Jack G. Reed in Seattle, Washington and were accompanied back home by their son and his wife, Norma to attend the Shallowater homecoming and to visit other relatives.

While the Reeds were in Seattle they spent Labor Day week end at the Bay of Juandefuca at Sekui where Mrs. Reed caught a 13½ pound salmon and Jack and his daughter-in-law wouldn't be beat and pulled in a 14½ pounder each plus the Reeds reported catching lots of fish.

The Jack G. Reeds left Sunday for Snyder where they will visit Norma's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cary and in Abilene with their son, 2nd. Lt. Weldon Reed, who is stationed at Dyess Air Force Base. Reed is a retired Air Force Lt. Colonel and is employed with Boeing Air Craft in Seattle. He was recognized for coming the farthest to attend homecoming.

Enroute home, the Reed couples toured the Yellow Stone National Forest.

in 1978 could be at or below the loan level," note Knutson and Smith. "This may also be true for feedgrain prices much of the year. If the cotton crop materializes according to estimates, it will also likely be priced near the loan level—although more uncertainty exists in cotton than in either wheat or feedgrains."

If a producer's production patterns in 1977 were reasonable in line with relative costs of production, a 20 percent set-aside on the basis of 1977 wheat acreage likely is the best strategy, believe the economists. If, however, a producer planted more cotton than normal in 1977, he may want to increase wheat acreage in 1978 back to normal levels based on the target prices of $3 per bushel for wheat and 52 cents per pound for cotton. The advantage here is that in 1979, the producer will be eligible for 100 percent participation based upon optimal cropping patterns. Winter wheat producers will have until next spring to declare their actual set-aside intentions for 1978.

"While a USDA set-aside determination is made independently each year, current conditions indicate cropping and set-aside decisions should be based upon the assumption that there will be set-aside requests for the next several years," contend Knutson and Smith. "With target prices based on U.S. average costs of productions, wheat land normally should be planted to wheat, cotton land to cotton and sorghum to sorghum even if it means less price protection in 1978. If a feedgrain set-aside is announced at the anticipated 10 percent level, the same reasoning likely will apply.

Detailed regulations for the set-aside program have not yet been made public. Therefore, producers should check whatever option they choose to be sure it is in compliance with current interpretations of the program.

Choir Schedule Announced

First Baptist Church has announced their choir schedule for Fall rehearsals. Choirs are formed for grades 2 through Adults, with a Kindergarten-1st grade group yet to be formed.

Music Makers for grades 2 and 3 meets on Thursday afternoons. The children walk to the church as soon as school is over, except for rainy days, when a van picks them up. They finish at 4:30. This group is more of an activity than a choir. They spend much of their time working on musical and choral skills. Emphasis is placed on singing with joy.

The choir for grades 4, 5, and 6 is called Young Musicians. They will meet on Friday during September, but move to Monday beginning October 3rd. They took walks from school, and finish at 4:30. More emphasis is placed on being a choir, and practicing those skills needed to lead a worship service. Caroline Deavours assists with this choir.

Youth in grades 7-12 rehearse Sundays at 5. They are the regular service choir for Sunday evening services at First Baptist Church.

Adult Choir rehearses Wednesday evenings from 8:15 to 9:30. This is the regular service choir for Sunday morning services.

Robert Cooper invites interested members of the community to enroll in these organizations. Robert may be contacted at 832-4241.

Spirit Chain

By Terri Stanton

The Student Council had a great idea of how to get spirit going throughout the school. Competition against each class to buy the most links to form the longest chain was the main idea.

The Sophomore Class won the spirit stick by buying $42.05 worth of links. At the pep rally and the game Friday night the sophomores displayed their chain. The seniors came in second place buying $18.30, juniors $15.40, and the freshmen bought $12.55.

All together the Student Council sold $88.30 worth of links. We want to thank the entire student body for helping promote spirit in Shallowater High.

Lions Roar Over Mustangs

By Robin Truelock

Friday night the Mustangs met their match against New Deal. Each quarter the Mustangs strived to stop the Lions. First quarter the Mustang's defense held them to 6-0. The second quarter another attempt was made but the Lions scored with the quarter ending 14-0. The game ended with the score 22-0.

New Deal was penalized for passing interference and the Mustangs drove to the one yard line but failed to make a touch down.

Curtis Lester, Andy Blackmon and Harold Hance did a very good job of defense. The specialty team did a good job and outstanding was Pete Alvarado and Rod Warren.

Coach Wolski was pleased with the efforts of the whole team. He is looking forward to Hale Center. Come to the Hale Center game, Friday Sept. 23 and watch the Mustangs stomp the Owls.

Mustang Trio

By Robin Truelock

This week's spotlight shines on three seniors: Paul Jordan, Louis Caballero and Lloyd Price. All three are very hard workers and hope to make this year's team the best.

Paul Jordan is 5'9" weighing in at 165 pounds. He plays the position of center and you can find him wearing the number 52. Paul moves quickly with the snap of the ball.

Louis Caballero is 6'2" weighing in at 185 pounds. Louis plays on the specialty team. He is the one who starts the game with his mighty kick off. Louis wears the number 73.

Last but not least is Lloyd Price. He is 5'9" and weighs 160 pounds. He plays the position of end. You can see him wearing the number 83 and receiving passes.

These three give the opponents a very tough time.
