Lubbock Theatre Centre Presents "Life With Father"

Lubbock Theatre Centre will open its second play of the season "Life With Father," an endearing comedy/drama by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse Production dates are November 11, 12, 17, and 18. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Directory Lynn Elms is very pleased with her talented and lively cast. Many will remember Mrs. Elms' work directing last season's play "Period of Adjustment." Rehearsals began in early October, in order to present a polished production.

On the surface, the story of this comedy is simply about the epic struggle between Mother and Father to have Father properly baptized. The play delves deeper into the day-to-day struggles in an 1880s household, which consists of Father, Mother, four sons and assorted maids. The family leads a life of shadow and sunshine.

The plot revolves around Father, who lives in a world when the ERA and the modern woman still have not been invented. Father rules the house. When Father is pleasant and hearty, the children are smiling and relaxed; when Father is angry they are sober and watchful. While Father is sometimes hot-tempered, he is never bad-tempered.

The mother, Vinnie, is spirited and never a martyr. In some scenes she stands up to Father with some spunk, but she is never too sure of achieving victory. While Father is never hen-pecked, Vinnie is usually able to placate him with clever ingenuity. Vinnie is never scheming or calculating. She does try to postpone the meeting of household crises, but when they occur she uses nothing but her feminine instinct.

Mother is feminine and Father is masculine and that is the entire basis of their conflict. Once Father has laid down the law, he expects the law never again to be broken. The comedy comes in Father's indignations.

The four sons fit into this household somewhere between Father and Mother, but certainly never taking one side over the other. The children are growing up. That is their part in the story. Clarence is becoming a man, John is an entrepreneur, Whitney aspires to be a baseball player and Harlan wants to be included in whatever his big brothers are doing.

"Life With Father" is recommended for the entire family. Tickets will be on sale for the public beginning November 7. Call Lubbock Theatre Center, 744-3681, for more information.

Dual Name Listing in Phone Directories

General Telephone customers may now order dual name listing in the telephone directory, according to O.D. Hearn, division manager.

This new service allows residential customers to list two first names or sets of initials with a single last name, if both persons reside at the same address and share the same phone number. Nicknames may be included also.

Here are some examples of dual listings available:

Smith, Samuel & Sarah Jones, E.A. (Buddy), & Mary

Each customer decides which name will appear first in the listing.

If each person wishes his/her name to appear first, customers will have the option of purchasing an extra listing at a small monthly charge.

Existing customers who select to order the dual name listings will pay a one-time charge, but if other service is requested at the same time, such as a second telephone, no charge will be made.

New customers, of course, will have the option of a dual listing without charge since "other services" will be requested at the same time.

Mahon Urges Comments on Acreage Set-Aside Regulations

Congressman George Mahon called upon West Texas farmers and agricultural leaders to let their views be known in connection with proposed ASCS regulations which will govern the use of set-aside acreage under the new farm program.

Mahon expressed concern that under the proposed rules farmers would be unable to graze wheat set-aside acreage as has been the practice in previous farm programs. "I urge farmers to make their wishes known. In my opinion it would be most damaging to our wheat-growing areas for this traditional practice to be denied. I have protested to the Secretary of Agriculture in person and by letter and I hope farmers will also make their voices heard in this matter," Mahon said.

The proposed regulations were published in the Federal Register Friday, October 14, 1977, and interested parties have 30 days to send their comments to the Department of Agriculture. The proposed regulations would require that set-aside acreage be land that was recently tilled; that it be protected by a cover crop; and that harvesting or grazing of the cover be prohibited.

Those interested in sending comments to the Department of Agriculture should write Mr. Claude Freeman, Director, Production Adjustment Division, ASCS, P.O. Box 2415, Washington, D.C. 20013.

High Attendance at FBC Sunday School

On October 30, 1977, First Baptist Church recorded its highest Sunday School attendance in over 20 years. There were 314 reported to be present.

Each class, department or division set a goal for the day. The goal for the entire Sunday School was 300. The 314 reported was only 4 short of the 318 all-time record attendance set in 1955. Sunday School Director, Bob Grice, is determined to set a new record next time.

The following classes or groups met their goals: General Officers, goal 7, attended 9; Preschool Division, goal 54, attended 55; Children's Division, goal 57, attended 68; Youth I, goal 20, attended 20; Youth II, goal 40, attended 41; Young Adults A, goal 18, attended 22; Young Adults B, goal 21, attended 27; Men 2, goal 10, attended 12; Homemakers, goal 10, attended 10.

Promotion for the day was under the theme, "Top o' the Mornin'." Much of the educational space of the church was freshly painted. Youth II was enlarged to accommodate their large group times. And there was a sign by Sandra Conner in the baptistry.

High Attendance Day is an annual nation-wide event of Southern Baptist churches. The next one will be October 29, 1978.

Athletic Booster Club News

by Dale Jackson

The Mustang Booster Club had their meeting last Tuesday night, Nov. 1, in the school auditorium.

School board members Jay Stanton, Newman Lusk and Tommy Pointer were present as were a lot of regular members.

The coaches took the Booster Club members to the old elementary building for a first hand look at the new Hydra Gym training equipment. This is top notch conditioning equipment and all the students should be very proud of it in the years to come.

The varsity football team is beset by injuries and we accumulated a few more in the 12-9 loss to the O'Donnell Eagles last week in the likes of Curtis Lester, Randy Middlebrook, Stacy Hohenberger, Tim Reep and Clay Dixon. We have an open date this week to get ready for the last game with the Stanton Buffaloes so maybe these five Mustangs plus some of the earlier injured young men will be ready for action again. We certainly hope so.

Booster Club President Doyce Middlebrook announced there will be a regular meeting next Tuesday night.

"Fearless Frederick's" pick for this week is: Seagraves 48, Plains 0. Go Seagraves!

KELLY'S HEROES

By JOE KELLY

Those splashes you heard about 4:30 p.m. Saturday were the fair weather friends of Texas Tech. They were leaving a ship that had floundered badly in the biggest game of the year.

Who needs 'em? The Tech program is sound. The Raiders will come back. And one game doesn't make a season. It's highly disappointing, of course, because there will be no Cotton Bowl trip in 1978, no conference championship, little glory.

What we all had believed, but had been afraid to say too loudly, was that the Raider offense was lacking. And not all of that was due to the absence of Rodney Allison. Sure, he might well have made a difference, but not that much.

After all, last year the Raiders had Allison and lost to Houston. They had him and lost to Nebraska. No, it goes deeper than the quarterback. It goes back to execution.

Watching a pre-season workout with Ed Irons and Tim Hatch, I mentioned that the disturbing thing was that Tech didn't seem to have any continuity in its offense. As the season progressed it was more and more apparent that it was missing.

The Raiders outmuscled Baylor in their opener, but the offense didn't shine. It finally got untracked against New Mexico after a poor first half. It didn't really go against A&M.

North Carolina fell in a defensive struggle and it failed badly against Arizona when it had to settle for field goals. It slumbered against Rice, until the defense woke it up.

So, you could hardly be surprised when Texas shut the offense down thoroughly, except for a brief spurt in the second quarter. The running game did little and the passing attack was weak. The Owls said that, if Tech could come up with a passing attack, it could make the Texas game interesting.

A really good team isn't guilty of the number of mistakes the Raiders made against Texas, and those mistakes numbered many penalties that gave the Longhorns life and robbed Tech of opportunities.

Meanwhile, the Steers were almost flawless. They obviously blocked well and, while the Tech defense performed superbly again, the amount of time it spent on the field eventually took its toll. It gradually weakened.

What's in store for the Raiders? They have four games left and they must be considered critical now. TCU is coming on, while SMU obviously is putting it altogether. Houston stumbled, is coming on strong and Arkansas remains only once beaten.

The Raiders are out of the conference race, but they still have a chance to go to a bowl—if they can come up with an offense. Bowls are not interested in teams that can't score.

Maybe this is the lull before the storm. Maybe Tech will go back to fundamentals, as Arkansas did successfully one year. Frank Broyles, after a losing start, scrapped his frills and went back to basics. The Razorbacks started winning and didn't stop.

It's ironic to note that this was the first shut-out in 66 games. It's even more ironic to note that the year Arkansas ended Tech's season with a 15-0 defeat, Texas had beaten Tech earlier, 28-0, almost exactly the same score as Saturday.

So, here comes TCU for homecoming Saturday. The Horned Frogs have a weapon that Tech is learning to fear, the forward pass. It alone, if for no other reason, could give the Frogs hope for a victory over the Raiders. They've beaten Tech with it before.

Indeed, it took a last minute goalline interception last year for Tech to salvage a 14-10 victory. And this year's Froggie eleven is much improved. Southern Cal was the only team to shut out the Frogs.

As for the rest of the league, the biggest center of attention will be at Houston, where the Longhorns take on the Cougars, who might just be getting their confidence back now.

Houston waxed TCU last week to set up this battle. Meanwhile Baylor takes its hopes for an upset to Arkansas and the injured Bears could play the Porkers a tough game. Improving Rice is at SMU, where the Mustangs are flexing their muscles and sending out threatening noises.

The conference home team has a big advantage, doesn't it? That's what everyone says, but the records so far this season in the SWC don't reflect it. In fact, as of today, the visiting league team has won 12 times, the home team, only 7.

That could change in the remaining games, but it's an interesting note. It indicates that just possibly the caliber of teams is improving when the visiting teams has that big an edge.

*****

Observation: Were you really surprised that ABC didn't carry the Tech-Texas football game Saturday? You shouldn't have been. Any net work that foists Howard Cosell on the public, when the vast majority oppose him, must not have the best judgment.

And a tip of the Levelland Stetson to Texas A&M for refusing to change the Texas game from Saturday to Thanksgiving just to please ABC. We need more of that in college athletics.

Extension Update

by Georgia Doherty
Boots For Fall

Step into boots this fall—in fashion and with warm, dry feet. Boots lend the finishing touch to any costume—skirts, dresses, gauchos or pants.

Boots are usually expensive, so consider them an investment and choose style, height, fabric and color with purpose in mind. To wear from season to season, select a classic style and a basic or neutral (earhtone) color. For fashion wear, style is probably the first consideration, and for functional boots, look for quality—in both construction and fabric.

While suede or leather boots may be the most comfortable—because natural fibers "breathe"—boots made of rubber or vinyl are more water resistant, especially those that are molded without seams.

However, suede and leather can be treated—at the factory or at home—to repel water. Special sprays will shed light rain and snow (if we get any this year), but beware of heavy rains—the water could soak through.

For greater warmth and dryness, seams should be securely stitched, sturdily made, and lined.

Smooth tricot linings make a boot easy to pull on and off and may provide adequate warmth for mild winter weather. Pile linings provide greater warmth; the denser the pile, the greater the warmth.

Pile may be wool or synthetic. Synthetic linings may be more durable, but are not as absorbent as wool, often leaving feet with a clammy feeling.

Boots with ridged or skid resistant soles, whether leather or synthetic, are safer on ice and snow. Avoid smooth soles.

To assure fit, try on both boots. Sizes vary from brand to brand. Be sure that boot tops provide adequate width for your calves, whether pull-on or zip-up style.

Pile lined boots may fit more snugly; you may need a slightly larger size. Also remember in selecting boots:

—trim and ornaments should be firmly attached.

—back seam should be centered and firmly stitched.

—zipper closure should work smoothly and have a protective placket underneath.

—inside should be free of rough spots, wrinkles, bulky seams or loose threads.

Sheridan's Ride

By Jack Sheridan

The big entertainment lure of this week, the end of October and the beginning of a show-packed November, will be, of course, the public performance in the Texas Tech University Theatre at 8:15 p.m. Friday of the Ballet Hispanico of New York City.

The company, which is in residence (classes, seminars, demonstrations, lectures) on the campus from today until the close of their Friday performance, is a seven-year old organization from the Big Town which specializes in the dances drawn from the Spanish culture, the Church, and the rituals of magic and witchcraft and the native group (drawn from Spanish-speaking communities in and around New York City) has won high accolades for their work since their inception in 1970 under the artistic direction of Tina Ramirez.

Flamenco and folk traditions of Latin America are the keystones of the group's repertory and they have already won wide acceptance, both in their stage appearances at Lincoln Center and on the mobile stages in the boroughs of Gotham.

They appear as part of the Tech University Center Cultural Events, artists and speakers series, for the 1977-78 season.

Public tickets are $6 and the event holds great promise that lovers of ballet in this area (and there are many more than you might guess) will welcome.

A rough, violent film that has been holding forth at Showplace 4, by the K-Mart, is "Rolling Thunder." This R-rated entry is again the story of the war hero who returns to his home to find more trouble on the familiar streets than he ever did in the Vietnam scene as a prisoner of war.

The film is another in the genre of those pictures wherein the hero(?) takes the law into his own hands to revenge himself on those who have hurt him. As such it is a reasonable excursion into a violent scene but it doesn't quite make the mark. Somehow, the involvement with the problem doesn't reach from the screen to the audience and therein the picture misses its mark.

The cast, no well-known names, does very well with the material at hand. William Devane is the vengeful vet, while good turns are noted in the performances of Tommy Lee Jones, Linda Haynes and Lisa Richards, the latter especially bright as the wife.

But the whole 99-minute venture is ultimately just another excursion into blood and gore and not much more to recommend it.

I said last week that I was going to reappraise the comedy, "Oh, God" which is continuing at the Fox 4 complex. I had made a passing comment in an earlier column that I was personally offended by the title, the advertising and the premise that God comes to a supermarket manager to give him mortal awareness about the state of the world and the necessity to pay attention to the living around us.

Well, I took another look. I still can't buy the basic handling; I am a man of faith, if not particularly rigidly religious, and George Burns as God simply turns me off. Carl Reiner, the comedian-director, helmed this one and he messes around with his volatile project until he scraps whatever meaningful point he might have made. Burns is all right, if a flippant Lord, and the callow John Denver (I KNOW he went to Texas Tech!) is somewhat of a bore in his first movie role. Anyone could have played it and that's the way Denver impresses. Like Rudolf Nureyev as Valentino on the screen on the other side of the Fox wall should have stayed on his toes as the ballet master he is, so Denver ought to sing out his country/western tunes and leave to those who know.

I didn't like "Oh, God" the first time around, I still don't, though I found it a little more palatable the second look than the first. You'll have to take it from there. I have a hunch it'll be around the local scene long enough for you to do so.

I mentioned a week or so back that I was involved with the reorganization of a non-fiction work by Mary Lee Harter of Sherman, Texas, called "Kansas City Jazz." I have withdrawn from that project because of time commitments and the magnitude of the job, in favor of the second choice, the writing of my own autobiography, "The Life That Late I Led." This project seems to me to have the priority and so I shall concentrate on the "home front."

There is interesting news from the Dallas Civic Opera this week. You know that Maria Callas, the dynamic, volatile singing actress, mistress to Aristotle Onassis until he bumped her in favor of Jacqueline Kennedy, died last month in Paris of a heart attack in her early 50s.

Callas, electric and possessor of a voice that either sent one up the wall or bound an admirer into a passionate support, made her American singing debut with the Chicago Lyric Opera Company. It was headed by the late Lawrence Kelly and when he left that organization to move to Dallas and found the Dallas Civic Opera, it was Maria Callas who came to Dallas and sang a straight recital to get the DCO going. Her loyalty and support for Kelly and the Dallas company did not end there for she returned to the big stage at the Dallas Music Hall to sing three full operas, the incomparable "Medea," followed by "La Traviata" and "The Barber of Seville."

And so, with her passing, the Dallas Civic Opera is going to pay tribute to her memory by presenting an acclaimed tenor in his first American recital at 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 19, in the Music Hall in Fair Park. He is Alfredo Kraus. He has sung in the leading opera houses of Europe and in the United States in Chicago and the Metropolitan Opera and will be singing this month and next in Dallas Civic Opera's "Rigoletto" and "Manon."

In closing these remarks I want to note that Kraus' concert has been made possible by a generous donation from Elsa von Seggern. I have known Miss Von Seggern for many years and certainly the Dallas Civic Opera has no more ardent or enthusiastic supporter than this German-born, highly successful Dallas business woman.

Why Buy Mums?

COLLEGE STATION—Don't be disgruntled if your chrysanthemums (mums) aren't doing as well as they should. There may be a good reason for it.

"Several environmental conditions affect the performance of mums, and if these aren't provided, the results can be no flowers," says Everett E. Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Plant mums in a spot with full sunlight throughout the day, good air circulation and well drained soil. There should be no tree roots to interfere with plant growth. Furthermore, never plant mums where they will be affected by supplemental night lights."

Mums need a succession of short days before they will flower, notes Janne. A street light or yard lamp can upset a plant's biological clock and fool it into thinking it is still summertime even if the temperature is dropping.

The horticulturist suggests watering mums by giving them a good thorough soaking every few days. Try not to get the leaves wet as this will encourage leaf diseases.

Another problem frequently encountered with mums is that people purchase plants in full bloom, set them in the garden and then try to get them to flower again the next year. "This is fine if you purchased the early blooming garden variety," says Janne. "But frequently the late blooming florist varieties are sold. These have been manipulated with proper lighting and shading to bloom much earlier than their biological clock normally allows. The following year they fail to bloom early and frost gets them before they can produce flowers."

To get the best results with mums, buy healthy plants that are an early flowering type, plant them in the right location, and give them tender loving care, advises the horticulturist.

Senior Spotlight

by Robin Truelock

This week's Senior spotlight is two more of our great seniors. They are: Tanya Pool and Ruben Gomez.

The first senior is Tanya Pool. She came into this world on May 25, 1960. When the doctor spanked her, she laughed. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pool.

Tanya's favorites include: Home & Family Living, because she is learning how to cook different foods. She loves to meet people, I quote "especially boys". She loves the weekend nights and she loves to make all people laugh.

Tanya is very active. She is in FHA and pep squad. You will also see her smiling face at the new Dairy Queen here in Shallowater, where she works.

What Tanya enjoys about her senior year is being with her friends and enjoys doing what they do best (attract boys).

She is planning to attend Jessie Lee's Beauty School after graduation. She wants to be a hair stylist.

Her comment about her Senior year is "I plan on making it the most enjoyable of all my school years."

Ruben Gomez is the second Senior. Mr. and Mrs. Rodolfo Gomez brought Ruben into this world on August 25, 1960.

Ruben has many favorites, they are: band, because he is the Drum Major; having to get up every morning and starting an exciting new Senior day. His hobbies are playing tennis, water skiing, watching television and eating food!

Ruben is active in the Student Council. He is the Senior class representative of Student Council. He is also the Senior class reporter.

He enjoys most about his Senior year is being able to have special freedoms that the lower classmen don't have.

He plans to buy a new car and work after graduation. He hasn't decided yet what type of a career he wants. Ruben comments about the Senior year is "I think it is great because so many good things are happening."

Juniors and Seniors Get Preview

by Ruben Gomez

Last Thursday, October 27, three students from Texas Tech University came to Shallowater High to give Seniors and Juniors a sort of sneak preview of what college life was like.

The first thing they talked about was the change of going from a small school like Shallowater into a big university like Texas Tech. We had a speaker who was an authority on the subject because she came from a small town and graduated from a small school. Who was this speaker? It was none other than Nancy Thomas, a 1975 graduate from Shallowater High.

Nancy, along with her fellow classmates, told us about the warm feeling at Tech and the fraternities and other clubs which you can get into. They also told us about recreational facilities that are available at Tech, and the expenses we will have to deal with.

It was a very interesting assembly and we appreciate these Texas Tech students for coming. I am sure that they helped the Seniors that were already planning to go to Tech, and they probably have the others thinking about Tech as the college they want to go to.

Eagles Fly Over Mustangs

by Robin Truelock

Last Friday night the Mustangs went against the O'Donnell Eagles. The Mustangs went into the game fighting. Shallowater scored first, with Pete Alvarado receiving a 50-yard pass from Rodney Jackson. Stacy Hohenberger made the extra point making the score 7-0. Following: clay Dixon tackled the Eagle quarterback for a safety bringing the Mustangs 2 more points. The Eagles came back with a touchdown and made the score 9-6. From then on, it was down-hill all the way for the Mustangs. The final score was O'Donnell 12 and Shallowater 9. Rod Warren had a very good punting average. Five players suffered injuries. All are looking forward to this open week so all may heal and return to beat the Buffs, next Friday night here against Stanton. Come and support the Mustangs, Friday, November 11.

Students Are Shot

by Terri Stanton

Monday, the brave students of Shallowater schools were lined up with their slips of paper from Mommy and Daddy saying, "My son or daughter may get their TB shot." Screaming and crying was heard all over school from the brave students, but everyone recovered from the shock, and school resumed the usual schedule of another day!

JV Eggs Eagles

by Cindy Jackson

The Mighty Mustangs gave the Eagles an Egg of Defeat to sit on. The J.V. exploded in the first half to score 40 points. The final score was 40-16. On the Eagles next visit they won't bring their nest to the Mighty Mustangs field without a little despair.

In the first quarter the Mustangs began their attack. Rufino Maldonado scored first, he was shortly followed when Huey Wooten went over the goal line again. Steve Waller struck again by running over the goal line once more.

In the second quarter Angel Maldonado kept up the pace. He intercepted a pass for a score and also caught a bomb. Huey Wooten used his hands once more for another score.

The halftime score was 40-0.

The second half the Mustangs didn't score again and the Eagles fought a losing battle. The final score was 40-16. The Eagles sure laid some slow hatching eggs that night!

Movie Makes Money

by Laurie Jordan

The Junior class sponsored a film for the school Monday, October 31, 1977. The Junior class did this for a fund raising activity. Each student was required to pay $.50 to see the movie. Many students chose to attend. The Junior class made $125.00 on this function. The money will go for the Junior-Senior Prom which will be held next May.

The film was titled "Ten Little Indians" by Agatha Christie. It was a story of ten people who were invited to a house party. When they arrived they found that their host was not there. They were informed that their host would show up later. He never arrived. We are all familiar with the story of the Ten Little Indians. The story became true, almost. They did not all die. They found that their host was really among them. He was under cover so he could kill them. It turned out that it was the judge and he had always wanted to kill someone. Well, he succeeded in killing eight of ten. He killed himself. There were two survivors. It was a very interesting and fun film.

Fruit, Turkeys And Sausage

The Shallowater FFA is now selling fruit. It can be bought in 20 and 40 pound quantities. A 40 lb. box of oranges or Ruby Red grapefruit is $7. A 20 lb. box of oranges or grapefruit is $4. 40 lb. boxes of 1/2 oranges and 1/2 grapefruit can be bought for $7.50.

The FFA is also selling Red Delicious apples this year. They are priced at $4 for 20 lbs. and $7 for 40 lbs.

Smoked turkeys can also be bought from the FFA. The price is $17 for an 8-10 lb. turkey.

As a final reminder the FFA is still selling sausage in 2 lb. bags for $3. You can purchase these delicious items from any FFA member and the FFA appreciates all of your business.

Final Football Spotlight

by Terri Stanton

The Football Spotlight makes its final shine on three Sophomores; Rodney Jackson, Neal Luck, and Pete Alvarado.

Rodney Jackson has helped the Mustangs greatly! He has played the positions of quarterback and halfback well. Rodney stands at 5'9" and weighs 150 lbs. #22 can be seen on Rodney's back, running for that extra needed yardage.

Neal Luck is proud to wear the #23. He tips the scales at 140 and stands at 5'8". Neal plays the position of defensive back and does a fine job at stopping his opponent.

Last, but not least, is "Super Nat" Pete Alvarado. Pete is 5'2" and 115 lbs. Pete is sometimes hard to see, but when you do see him, you had better look quick or he'll already be gone for another touchdown.

Ponies Out-Matched

by Donna Evans

The 7th grade lost another game last Thursday night against the O'Donnell Eagles. The Ponies were out-matched by the Eagle players. They lost the game 26-0.

The 8th grade also had a tough game against the O'Donnell Eagles last Thursday night. The Ponies tried but couldn't quite prevent the Eagles from scoring. They lost the game 46-0.

The Ponies will not have a game this Thursday, but will be playing Stanton November 11, there. Come out and watch the Ponies as they play Stanton next Thursday night.

A Kapok?

by Melissa Epperson

This week I began asking the students of good ole S.H.S. what they would do with a KAPOK. Now the students here are pretty smart but not one of these brainy souls could give me a satisfactory answer or one even resembling the true definition.

I asked several of the people, "What would you do if you had a KAPOK in your hand?" Here are some of the responses I received:

Jeani Roberts—"I'd hit someone with it!"

TIP—"I'd drop it. If it made a mess in my hand..."

Mrs. Kulm—"I'd stuff my coat with it."

Mr. "G"—"I'd drop it and step on it."

Dawn Hutchings—"I'd flush it down the commode."

What would you do with a Kapok?

Oh, by the way, a kapok is a fiber used to stuff pillows, mattresses, and life preservers. You may have been around a kapok all your life and not known it.
