

Rising Prices of Energy May Have National Impact

Jay Stanton takes the oath of office from Shallowater School Attorney Harold Harriger at the regular meeting of the Board, Monday night.

Approximately six million acres of irrigated crop land in the Texas High Plains could be left high and dry because of rising prices of energy used in powering irrigation pumps.

Dr. Kenneth P. Young, of the Agricultural Economics faculty at Texas Tech University, said he conducted research to determine impact of rising energy prices on agricultural production in the High Plains.

The study included effect of higher energy prices on competition with other agricultural areas for production of major crops, cropping patterns, decline in irrigated acreage, farm income and land values.

Higher energy prices could have national impact, creating a new focus on the High Plains' importance as an area of production but, at the same time, eventually result in a possible decline in the numbers of people engaged in farming in this area.

The research strongly indicates that higher energy prices are causing a shift to smaller irrigation applications per acre of crop land and some movement from irrigated crops to dryland.

Smaller irrigation applications and dryland farming reduce crop yield per acre. This could have at two-fold effect: a reduction in supply of certain commodities, especially crops requiring intensive irrigation, and a lessening of farm income.

"The High Plains will be at some economic disadvantage with other production areas which require less irrigation. Farmers on the High Plains will be producing less at higher production costs due to increased costs of irrigation," Young said.

"There may even be a shift in cotton production. The High Plains has had a production cost advantage over southeastern areas because of lack of insect problems. However, rising natural gas prices may change this."

Lower farm income implies lower land values. Higher natural gas prices may discourage farmers from paying higher prices demanded for irrigated land, again decreasing land value.

"An additional problem," Young said, "is that some utility firms apparently are not accepting new customers. One report attributes this to the fact that pipelines are already operating at capacity, and the utility firms may lack incentive to invest in more pipelines because of the uncertainty of continued High Plains irrigation."

As a result, some farmers have to turn to electricity or diesel fuel, but on the High Plains electricity is derived from generation powered by natural gas. Higher natural gas prices thus affect the supply of electricity, while diesel prices are also rising, he said.

Young was assisted in his research, conducted for the Texas Governor's Energy Advisory Council, by High Plains Underground Water Conservation District One.

COME NOW, LET US REASON TOGETHER

How People Become Members Of the New Testament Church
 Baptism is a burial in water (Rom. 6:4, Col. 2:12, Acts 8:36-39). When the Eunuch was baptized, it was in water. He and the preacher preached "BOTH WENT DOWN INTO THE WATER . . . HE BAPTIZED HIM . . . THEY CAME UP OUT OF THE WATER. The New Testament baptism requires going down into and coming out of the water.

Baptism ONLY for those who: 1) Can be taught (Matt. 28:19, 20). Christ's command is to disciple or teach all nations, "BAPTIZING THEM. Who is the THEM? The ones who are taught. Infants can no more be taught about Christ and baptism than they can be taught how to observe all things AFTER baptism. 2) Can believe the gospel (Mk. 16:15, 16). 3) Can repent of sin (Acts 2:39. See also Lk. 13:3; Acts 17:30-31). Repentance is not a change of life. It will produce a change of life, but repentance from the Greek METANOEO, means "a change of mind, and includes a change of heart and will. Infants cannot change minds and hearts. No one is ready to be baptized until he has repented. 3) Can obey that form of doctrine from the heart (Rom. 6:17, 18). Man must of his own free will arise and be baptized. Infants cannot respond to such requirements.

Is Your Home Secure?

Take a good look around your home. Check doors, windows, shrubbery, lighting, garage doors, and locks. If you were on the outside of your home, could you find a way to get in without a key? About 50 per cent of all burglaries are made easy for the burglar because the doors or windows have been left open or unlocked. Another 40 per cent of all burglaries were committed because of poor quality locks or inoperative locks.

Did you know the greatest single deterrent to crime is good lighting? Are you aware that the average burglar given the right elements can enter a home, take about $2,000 in merchandise and be gone in five minutes or less? Giving the burglar the elements he needs to commit a crime is called opportunity. If you leave your house unlocked while you go talk to your neighbor, just to ask a question, if you don't use common sense in simple security procedures, if you leave valuables laying about, if you do not participate in operation identification and neighborhood watch, if you do not care enough to pick up the phone and call your police department and ask your crime prevention officer what you can do to increase your security, you can be the next victim. Crime does not always happen to the other guy. Sure, you might have been lucky so far, but will your luck hold out? Talk with your family about it at the supper

HORSE SHORE

KELLY'S HEROES

by Joe Kelly

Baseball, major league variety, has returned and is off and running. Early games are not indicative of the long run, but certainly Texas Ranger fans have something to cheer so far.

The Rangers, even without Lenny Randle, have won their first three games and have been impressive. The pitching has been strong and the hitting has been timely. They've shown good defense and those three victories can't be taken away.

It's too early for surprises. A handful of games doesn't mean much and we'll have to wait and see. Meanwhile, there's a little of everything for all fans.

We're glad that KCBF is bringing Ranger games on Saturday and Sunday. That way everyone will get to see all the teams in action and, if the Rangers keep going as strongly as they have started, the games will be worth watching.

Quick, for the record, I want to note that, this year, we didn't have our customary Easter cold spell and freeze. It may still come, although it hardly seems likely.

So many times when we had the Hubbers the first home stand, about this time of the year, was played in cool, almost cold, weather—and at night. Once a Western Union operator brought a heater to the press box and it was welcomed by all of us.

If the season started with warm weather, however, and this is a warning, the early part of May could be downright cold. It was a lot worse on the fans than the players, but even they felt it when they hit.

After the first three or four weeks of the season, things settled down. And that's true of major league ball, where it may be 65 degrees one day, 35 the next, with rain as an added pleasure.

Spring training at Tech continues, with the scrimmage last Saturday only too typical of what happens in the spring. The Raiders were rocking along with no injuries when suddenly the old bugaboo struck. Five players were felled.

It is, of course, far better to have those injuries in the spring than in the fall, but they are damaging at any time. The players have all summer to recuperate. The trouble is, will they regain the same sharpness?

Congratulations to the Tech Board for approving the improvements for Jones Stadium. They are needed to keep Tech in contention for having facilities second to none.

Good facilities help with crowds. They also help in recruiting, since prospects are impressed by first rate facilities. Tech doesn't have to take a backseat to anyone and new turf, aluminum seats, an enlarged ticket office and more staff space will help.

Like most Tech basketball fans, I hope that Gerald Myers has a good recruiting year. This is a critical year, because Arkansas will be back with a team that should be even stronger, A&M is bound to be improved, Baylor will be tough and Texas ought to make a real challenge.

Every year is critical, of course, if you want to contend for the championship and, if not becoming a champion, to place high in the standings. That helps in the tournament at season's end.

The Raiders need help, particularly at forward, where they lose Grant Dukes, and at guard, where Steve Dunn is gone. And it would help to have a big, strong center.

Height at center would make it possible to move Mike Russell back to a wing, where he could move in to play the post. It also would strengthen the rebounding game. Indeed, Texas would have a representative team without an addition, but two real key players could make a big difference.

It became apparent last week that ABC, which is becoming known as the college TV network, obviously thinks that the football battle next fall will be between Houston and A&M.

The network, which succeeded with Texas and Arkansas in past season, has gotten A&M and Houston to switch their game to a national December date. It indicates, quite clearly, that exhaustive study has come up with the opinion that this game could well be fore the championship.

There are other schools who will have something to say about that, not the least of whom is Tech. The Raiders could well be fighting for the championship again.

Tech hosts A&M this year, as well as Arkansas, and plays the Cougars in Houston. That helps. Texas and Arkansas definitely will have an effect on the final standings and don't sell Baylor short. It's risky to put all your eggs in one basket as ABC has done. A glittering example is the Texas-Arkansas game last season.

Had a telephone call from our daughter Easter Sunday. The Houston family had gone to see kin at Canyon Lake, or Canyon Dam, as it is better known, and went fishing Saturday.

The fishing there has been on the rise in the past few years after zilch up til then. A boatload caught several good bass and crappie, which indicates that things are looking up. It's a beautiful lake and one which ought to be a great fishing lake. Try it some time, or go after rainbow trout in the fast water below the dam.

HORSE TALES

Senior Spotlight

by Alison Terry

Our super Senior of the week is Miss Robbin Mauldin. Robbin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mauldin. Miss Mauldin came into this world on December 30, 1958.

Robbin's favorite subjects at SHS are art and annual staff. Why? Because she does things in those classes which she enjoys and are interesting to her.

This week's super Senior ravishes steak, seafood, and Mexican dishes. Summer is Robbin's best-liked time of year because of all the possible activities available during that time.

Robbin's hobbies include: taking pictures for the Annual Staff, doing macramés; water skiing; and her favorite—having good times and fun with her friends.

Miss Mauldin is a member of FHA. She is secretary for that organization. The Senior Class is privileged to have Robbin serve as class secretary. Robbin is also a member of NHS.

This year the super Senior added her voice of cheer and enthusiasm to all athletic events as she fulfilled her role as cheerleader for SHS. She was a candidate for Homecoming Queen, Harvest Festival Queen, and was elected by the Mighty Mustangs as Football Sweetheart.

Post-graduation plans for Robbin included, first of all, enjoying being out of school, and the attending of Texas Tech University next fall. A job working with people is Miss Mauldin's long-term goal.

Robbin has enjoyed most this year knowing she's a Senior, cheerleading, and associating with other Seniors. She says, "It's Been Great!"

Field Trip Fun

by Alison Terry

A visit into the past; a glance at two modern library systems; a tour through a lavishly decorated building complex; and last, but certainly not least, a lunch that made taste buds giggle—all of this was included in the itinerary of the National Honor Society field trip last Monday.

A guided tour through Lubbock's Ranching Heritage Center came first on the agenda. NHS members took a glimpse of the past as they viewed houses of early pioneering settlers, line-shacks, barns, and turn-of-the-century homes.

Next the elite organization took an educational jaunt through the Texas Tech library. This was most helpful for those who will be attending college there in the near future.

After a scrumptious lunch at Gardski's Loft, the group again visited a library. This time it was educational for all involved. It was the Mahon library.

The society winded up the day with an intriguing tour through the recently finished Civic Center.

The members of the National Honor Society truly enjoyed the field trip. One member's comment spoke for the whole group: "Anything is better than school!"

School Board Members Sworn In

At the regular meeting of the Shallowater School Board Monday night at 7:30 p.m. the two trustees that were re-elected in the April 2 election were sworn in by the school attorney Harold Harriger, with Rev. Boyd Pearce, pastor of the Shallowater First Baptist Church, leading in prayer.

Jay Stanton was sworn in to begin serving a fourth term and Butch Pair will begin his second term on the board.

Stanton was also selected to serve again as president of the board with Newman Lusk and vice-president and Butch Pair as secretary.

Following the swearing in ceremonies, the group discussed the schedule of personal property for next year, approved regular business, the school calendar that will be mailed to all box and route holders in the near future and approved a PTA survey that will also be mailed within the next two weeks. The holders will be required to fill out the forms and return it to the school in the enclosed self-addressed stamped envelope.

Kenneth Carr, local vocational-Ag teacher, presented an update of the VA program to the officials.

Gary Tipton Becomes Star

by Gloria Lara

"Sparkin'" was the name of our entry into the Interscholastic League one-act play contest. The cast and crew traveled to Stanton to perform. Miss Gennaway and Mrs. Warren were the directors of the play.

The play was very good. The cast and crew consisted of Jrs. and they did a very good job. The cast included Gary Tipton as Granny, Laurie Jordon as Susy, Paul Jordon as Orry, and Robin Boswell as Lessie. Gary Tipton was chosen for the All-Star Cast, and Laurie, Paul Jordon, and Robin Boswell were all named as Honorable Mentions. The crew, behind the scenes, also had a part in it. They included Kathy Schoor, Ryn Garrett, Tanya Pool, and Jesse Longoria.

Shallowater was beat out by Stanton who performed "The Farce of Pierre Patelin" and O'Donnell who performed "Flowers for Algernon." The competition was worth it though because it was good practice and experience. We will get them next year!
