Shallowater Co-op Gin Membership Meeting Called

Members of Shallowater Co-operative Gin Company are being called to meet at 12:00 noon, April 27, 1974 at the Shallowater School Cafeteria, Shallowater, Texas according to an announcement from Board President Doyce Middlebrook. The gin has completed its 39th year of operations with a total for the season of 13,871 bales of cotton ginned and 4,866 tons of cottonseed marketed.

The Bar-B-Que is limited to the membership, but the business meeting beginning at 1:00 p.m. is open to the public.

During the past 39 years this cooperative has ginned a total of 289,756 bales of cotton and has returned some $2,795,581.00 in savings to its farmer owners. The association's two gin plants have been steadily improved until they are two of the best in the area.

sale at the Levelland Chamber of Commerce, 1101 Ave. H.

The barbecue is one of several activities planned for April 25. The festivities begin that morning with the arrival of more than a dozen Japanese officials of the Daiwabo plant. They are scheduled to fly into Lubbock at 9:10 a.m. aboard Branif International's Flight 272. Levelland officials are expected to be on hand to give them an official red carpet welcome.

At 3 p.m. that afternoon Daiwabo officials will host a reception for 50 to 75 invited guests. The guest list includes several banking and cotton officials selected by the Japanese and other prominent South Plains and Levelland citizens.

The ground breaking will be at 6 p.m. at the site of the new spinning mill just east of Levelland. The banquet is to begin at 7:30 p.m. on the campus of South Plains College. The ground breaking ceremonies are open to the public without charge. Tickets to the barbecue, which is also open to the public are priced at $2 each.

The deadline for buying tickets to the banquet is Saturday, April 20. No tickets will be sold after that date. By setting a cutoff date, Levelland and SPC officials will be able to determine in advance the number of persons planning to attend the barbecue.

While the ground breaking marks the formal beginning of the new open-end spinning mill, actual construction is not expected to start until September. And with construction figured to take a year, official opening of the plant is projected for October or November of 1975.

Reese Air Force Base personnel will host an open house for all residents of the community of Shallowater on Monday, April 22, 1974.

Instructor pilots and some student pilots will guide visitors on tours of flying training activities and explain the difficult mission of training future pilots.

Open house tours are scheduled to begin at 9:00 a.m. and at 1:00 p.m. with a mission briefing in Simler Theater on base. Highlights of the tour will be stops at the fire station, the T-37 jet training simulators and a static display of T-37 and T-38 jet trainers on the flightline that will permit close-up examination and inspection of the aircraft. The physiological training unit featuring parachute and aircraft ejection seat training areas, gravity and motion training facilities and the altitude compression-decompression chamber will also be visited. In addition, each bus will actually drive out to the runway's edge to observe the Runway Supervisory Units controlling T-37 and T-38 aircraft being flown on training missions by student pilots.

About 700 persons, mostly school children, are expected to attend the day's event. School children will be bussed to and from Reese and these busses will be used in moving from one location to another during the three hour tour. Other interested attendees who are not riding in busses will be permitted to follow along in private automobiles.

Shallowater School Addition Report

Work is progressing on the additions to the Shallowater Schools. Foundation work is now completed and backfill work is well along. The steel, now being fabricated in Lubbock, should be on the jobsite within two weeks.

The tennis court is well on its way to completion and should be ready for summer use.

The key to getting started lies with the structural steel. If, as promised, this material is delivered about the middle of the month, we should progress rapidly toward completion. It is doubtful that the addition will be ready by the time school starts, but the contractor will be anxious to finish at the earliest possible date.

nights. He has a beautiful baritone voice and his singing promises to bless our conference.

Peggy will speak Sunday morning.

A nursery will be provided and children's services will be held every night. Plan to attend as many of these meetings as you can.

As I have been in Austin for the Constitutional Convention for the past six weeks and will be unable to see each of you personally, I am taking this method of asking your support in my candidacy for re-election as your State Representative, District 75, Place 2.

It is gratifying that Texas Tech received the largest appropriation in history during the past session; the entire state seems to recognize us as a major institution, and more importantly, that our Medical School is to be one of the nation's finest. I feel that with my seniority in the coming session, my efforts can be fruitful, but it will take another team effort and a co-ordinated push by all Representatives from this area.

As Vice-Chairman of Education and chairman of two interim committees I am obviously committed to work hard for all children in the state. It's a unanimous opinion that the love and discipline they receive and the dedication they develop, will determine the future of our state and nation.

Government is difficult today and whatever we do with our new Constitution, I am confident that we can reduce our state spending by about some twenty million dollars a month! I need your ideas at all times.

We are constantly reminded of the importance of our Number 1 Priority in West Texas: Water. Even though the energy crisis has overshadowed the importance of water per se, at this time in my opinion it is crucial that all of us extend every effort and explore every possibility of assuring ample water supply in our area during the years and decades to come. Optimistically, the accent on food and fiber is building our case in other states and reality is going to bring a change in thinking in some of the people who have heretofore opposed us.

Thanks for your past friendship and support, and you may be assured that if I am given the job in Austin for the next two years then whatever backing you can give me will remind me of my responsibility to you and to our other fine people in Lubbock.

YELL LOUD AND CARRY A TWIG

Each year the voters go to the polls to elect their favorite candidate into public office. These men represent, we the people, so the constitution once read. With the Watergate scandal and the past actions of Mrs. Madalyn Murray O'Hair, I'm beginning to have my doubts about politics.

Before Mrs. O'Hair won a Supreme Court decision with her son, William Murray III, against classroom religious exercises, the Supreme Court knew a little bit about justice and how to make law enforcement rules and regulations. Law enforcement officers have a hard time getting the courts to back them up since Mrs. O'Hair came on the scene.

Our nation use to be run on the majority rule system, but it's doubtful after following the Watergate affair and the antics of Mrs. O'Hair.

Teddy Roosevelt once said, "Speak softly and carry a big stick." After Mrs. O'Hair messed up the Supreme Court, all the enforcers can do is "yell loud and carry a twig." It seems that the majority of the people go along with whatever is handed down. Now the minority that's a different breed of cats. They do a pretty good job of getting their way.

Mrs. O'Hair has carried a big stick and yelled loud, yet she had a couple of setbacks. In 1970 her son went AWOL and headed for Canada and the astronauts paid no attention to her, that year.

I don't feel sorry for you Mrs. O'Hair, since you made our children desert God in our schools. It's strange how you ever got the Supreme Court to swing your way, when the constitution states Freedom of Religion. It doesn't say anything about "no religion." Our national government was founded on the law of God.

I guess those little fellows who fought so hard to win liberty in 1776, just didn't know what it was to do without God. They came and fought so they could have the freedom of worship. It's about time we old Christian fuddy-duddies come out from behind our short haircuts and shaven faces and start cutting down your big stick. It's too bad we didn't do it when you tried to ride the afterburner of the rocket and tell the astronauts that they couldn't wear religious symbols or offer a prayer of thanks.

What was it then, Mrs. O'Hair, were you afraid they may reach heaven and prove that you're wrong?

The politicians are out again trying to get our votes, so let's take a lesson from the mistakes we made in the past decade. It was ten years ago that the Supreme Court voted prayer out of schools and the effects of Watergate is still around. Let's set the record straight, get out and vote this year. Learn all about your candidates and vote sensibly.

Shallowater Outstanding Citizens Program in Need of Participation

In an attempt to recognize the many contributions made by citizens in the Shallowater area, The Shallowater Lions Club will begin honoring an outstanding citizen or citizens each month. The Shallowater Lions Club is asking your assistance in nominating worthwhile individuals to receive this honor.

The Lions Club realizes that most people worthy of receiving this honor will be too modest to give this information about themselves, so we are asking friends and families to make the nominations and complete the information on nomination forms provided and distributed in various businesses throughout the city.

In an attempt to make this a memorable occasion for those honored, an open house and other appropriate ceremonies will be held each month honoring the outstanding citizen for that month. Contributions will be accepted by the Lions Club and the contributions will be used to purchase trees, plant and maintain the trees which will be planted along the streets of Shallowater and in other public places in the city. The trees will not be placed on privately owned property. Shrubs or other type plants may be used in addition to trees at the option of the Lions Club. Beside each tree will be a plaque bearing the name of the person being honored and the month and year it was planted. It is not necessary to make a contribution in order to nominate someone, but contributions are encouraged in order to fund the program. When contributions are made, checks should be made payable to the Shallowater Lions Club-Outstanding Citizen Fund. The Lions Club will determine the kind of tree to be planted, but requests for specific trees or plants will be honored whenever possible. Contributions will also be accepted as specific gifts honoring deceased citizens and this type gift is encouraged.

In addition to adding to the beauty of the community, The Lions Club, businesses and interested citizens believe this campaign is a way the citizens who have done so much for the social, economic and spiritual growth of Shallowater will receive recognition that is tangible and the trees will be around as a memorial for years to come.

Attending Fire Fighting School in Lubbock this Week

Fireman and instructors from Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas are attending a four day firefighting school in Lubbock this week.

Attending from the Wolforth Volunteer Fire Department are Jim Phillips, Junior Gattin, Gene Gibson, Norma Henry, Kenneth Clark, Joe Rosales and Johnny Joe Rosales.

Classes are on protective clothing, use of air tanks, rescue procedure in car wrecks, power tools, and all types of fires.

One interesting and informative bit of information concerns the fact that of all fires, plastics and synthetics are the most dangerous because of the lethal gas they give off which can cause lung disability and acts like heart failure and causes death.

In a survey done by Notre Dame

University, it was found that deaths of 39 firemen from one city were caused by gas from such fires.

The Frenship Young Homemakers were entertained Monday night by Mrs. Robert Rhea of Lubbock, who was one of 100 finalists in the Pillsbury Bakeoff Contest, held in Phoenix, Arizona this year.

Several million recipes are submitted each year and 100 are picked as finalists. Mrs. Rhea made her recipe for jam and crescent sweet rolls for the Young Homemakers. She also told them of her trip to Phoenix.

The tumult and the shouting have died down and Henry Aaron has been installed as the premier home run hitter of all time. His chase of Babe Ruth's seemingly impossible total of 714 home runs was reached, passed and passed again.

Only a few "Archie Bunkers" will protest Aaron's role as the Sultan of Swat. The Atlanta player generally is thought to be highly deserving of his title. He earned it with a career that has been little short of sensational.

Into every life a little rain must all and, even on the arid South Plains, Texas A&M will agree. Texas Tech took two out of three baseball games that the Aggies needed to supplant Texas as the Southwest Conference champions.

Turn about is fair play. It was the Aggie basketball team that ruined Tech's bid for a second consecutive title. Kal Segrist and Company have repaid that debt.

Indeed, when you get right down to it, Tech and A&M have one of the more spirited rivalries going—in almost all sports. The favorite often doesn't win and upset are the rule.

The rivalry is healthy, good for both schools. It's the type of rivalry that brings out the best in both schools' teams and whets the appetite of fans. And, from a gate standpoint, the two schools must be thrilled, because intense rivalry sells tickets.

The other night on a local TV station, one of the broadcasters asked where the World Football League was getting all of the money it was throwing around in profusion.

It was a good question and Eddie Clinton had no answer. The safest guess is that there is a tribe of pygmies hidden in a remote jungle of New Guinea that is staying awake nights turning out half million dollar bills.

Certainly the money that is being announced is staggering. Player after player is being announced, generally in terms of a half million dollar contract. Even those as poor at math as I am don't need calculators to total up millions of dollars.

Is there really that kind of money available? Can the owners of the new franchises really pay the huge salaries that they are claiming? Will those salaries build football teams, or will they build internal stress and strain with lower paid players?

There's no question but that it takes a lot of money to field pro football teams. It took a lot to get the American Football League operating, although it didn't pay the established NFL players what the new WFL is promising.

If the money really is available, the new league will see the light of day. If there isn't, the lawsuits are going to pile up as tall as the Empire State Building.

My personal guess is that the owners have that kind of money available. They couldn't afford to announce such salaries if they didn't. But what of the operation?

The league will have a smattering of established NFL stars. It will have a fair share of outstanding college players. It will pick up some NFL and Canadian castoffs. In its first two or three years, it will be better than college football, but not up to the standard of the NFL.

*****

The league already has a TV contract, which will help. It will have to build fans, which will be difficult. It will have to fight the NFL, far from easy. Cities with current NFL teams probably won't flock to the stadia to see the WFL teams.

Again, my guess is that the league will open if only because it has so much money at stake. Whether it can exist in the pro football jungle is anybody's guess.

One personal reason why I hate to see the new league is the saturation of football, which is in danger of going the same route that baseball took.

We have CFL games in the summer now and the WFL will be added. We have two to four pro games on Sunday, plus Monday night, and soon the WFL will be aired on another night. The college game is booming, as is the high school brand.

In short, there is almost too much football now and complete saturation will kill football, as it did baseball.

*****

There's an old saying, used by many people to express disbelief, that "that's a crock...."

It's appropriate in the case of the San Diego Padres' owner, whose name happens to be Kroc—and pronounced the same way.

The eloquent Mr. Kroc grabbed the PA mike in the Padres' home opener to say that he had never seen such stupid baseball. Since the Padres were losing, it is assumed he meant his club. Owners may think this, may tell their managers so, but they don't generally tell the world.

Coaches use many stratagems to get their players in a mood to play, like the late Knute Rockne, whose Notre Dame team was being beaten at the half.

Rockne never said a word during the halftime, but when it was time to take the field, he stood by the door and called out, sarcastically: "Let's go, girls."

Anyway, it's regrettable that the Padres owner has the name he has, because you won't hear anyone saying "That's a Kroc!" if someone makes a mistake on the field. The name already has other connotations. On second thought, maybe it is an apt double twist!

Tech is almost halfway home on spring football training and the Raiders are going the way of Texas. The Longhorns had an injury-plagued spring that all but closed down workouts.

Loss of Tommy Duniven is serious, but not as bad as losing Roosevelt Leaks, because Duniven will be back in the fall. Still, when you have four quarterbacks with no game experience, the loss of spring training is a severe blow.

The Roundup—Jack Kirkpatrick, former Tech football star from Post, has an eldest son who is outstanding in basketball, with another son, a 7th grader, outstanding in football. . . . If you operate a canoe at night remember this, it must have the same lights as a Class A boat. . . . Parks and Wildlife biologists recently checked walleye fingerlings stocked in Canyon Lake in April, 1973. They netted walleyes that had grown from two inches to 16 inches. They also netted some striped bass.

Track Results

The Mustangs won the mile relay by 15 yards and also won the District meet over O'Donnell by a slim 3 1/2 points. The Mustangs, behind both Plains and O'Donnell going into the final event, the mile relay, showed their desire and top and sprint relays to regional along with 4 individuals.

Those qualified for regional are: Spring Relay, Bobby James, Jon Gates, Malcom Terry, William Taylor; 880, Bobby Reeves; 440, Jon Gates; Mile, Kim McMenemy; Discus, Jon Gates; 330 inter. hurdles, Grantly Adams; Mile Relay, William Taylor, Bobby James, Bobby Reeves, Jon Gates.

Career Day Set April 18th Here

Shallowater High School hosted representatives of 18 different area colleges and technical schools on Career Day, today, Thursday, April 18. Activities began at 12:55 with a short general assembly in the auditorium and continued until 3:20 for all high school students.

Each student had the opportunity to visit as many as four different sessions to learn more about career opportunities that exist in each field.

For freshmen and sophomores, Career Day presents the opportunity to open new horizons to learn about occupations they may know nothing about.

For juniors and seniors Career Day is the chance to narrow choices, to begin eliminating far-out dreams and to begin the process of finalizing realistic plans about their future.

Because many students will have the chance to enroll in a new course, Distributive Education, which will be offered for the first time in the 1974-75 school year, a teacher from Lubbock will conduct a question and answer session for interested students.

NHS News

The NHS students for the month of April are Jeanye Hunter and Alex Grice.

Jeanye is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Hunter and is a sophomore at Shallowater High School. Jeanye heads her class as president and represents them well as a member of the High School student council. She was also elected as class favorite and represented her class as a maid in the Homecoming Queen's Court. For a change in pace, Jeanye was on the varsity basketball team and she played the position of guard. She is also on the tennis team and runs track.

Alex is a junior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Grice. Alex is a well rounded athlete and is involved in many school activities. During the football season Alex played offensive and defensive end on the varsity squad. He played the position of guard on the varsity basketball team. He also runs the 880 on the junior varsity track team.
